After a month of outdoor sports in the physical education classes, indoor [illegible] has been resumed. Plans are now under way for the annual indoor [illegible].

The class basketball teams are being [illegible] again.

[illegible] Gifford will give his second [illegible] the freshman women on [illegible] this afternoon.

[illegible] Shaw, '30, now holds the [illegible] bowling record on the Regal [illegible]. Her record score was 115.

[illegible] be two more practices in [illegible] final tournament will [illegible].

[illegible] rifle team won its first [illegible] season by defeating the [illegible] South Dakota by a score [illegible].

[illegible] last week were [illegible] and 99; Robelin, 100 [illegible], 99; Hubert, 99; [illegible].

[illegible] members of the home [illegible] are in charge of [illegible] this week: Seniors—[illegible] hostess, and Frances [illegible] hostess; juniors—[illegible], and Edith Pitchard, [illegible] sophomore waitress—[illegible] freshman assistant—[illegible].

FINAL FRAT GAMES ARE SET FOR TOMORROW

Winners of Semi-finals Tonight to Fight for Championship Honors Tomorrow Evening

As a result of the second round of games played this week in the interfraternity basketball tournament, Kappa Sigma will meet Phi Delta Theta tonight at 6.30 in the semi-finals while the A. T. O. quintet will battle the winner of last night's Independents-Phi Sigma Delta contest at 7.45. The winners of the two games tonight will fight for the championship tomorrow night at 6.45 preliminary to the Vermont-Holy Cross game.

Monday night in a game characterized by 28 fouls the speedy Kappa Sig five trounced the Tau Ep quintet 34 to 19. The first half of the game was closely contested, the score at half time being 17 to 12 in favor of Kappa Sigma. In the second half, the offense of the Tau Eps wilted and they were able to score only seven points while their opponents were duplicating their first half score. The game at all times was featured by close guarding, and as a result I. Agel, Elowitz, Pires and Newcomb left the game on fouls. Allerton, with 15 points to his credit, was the outstanding performer for the Kappa Sigs while Greenblatt's consistent work in the backcourt made him the stellar performer for the Tau Eps.

KAPPA SIGMA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Newcomb, r.f.	0	1	1
McKay, r.f.	0	0	0
Jay, l.f.	2	2	6
Allerton, c.	6	3	15
Meehan, r.b.	2	1	5
Pires, l.b.	2	1	5
Cummings, l.b.	1	0	2
Totals	13	8	34

TAU EPSILON PHI

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
M. Agel, r.f.	1	1	3
Elowitz, l.f.	1	2	4
Schuman, l.f.	0	0	0
I. Agel, c.	1	2	4
Schectman, r.b.	0	2	2
Greenblatt, l.b.	1	4	5
Nathanson, l.b.	0	0	0
Totals	4	11	18

Wednesday afternoon in the most interesting game of this year's interfraternity basketball tournament the A. T. O. quintet eliminated the Sigma Nu five by the score of 21 to 18. The game was close at all times with neither team ever having an advantage of more than two or three points. The score at half time was A. T. O. 10, Sigma Nu 9. In the second half both teams tried in vain to pile up a substantial lead. With a minute to go in the last period and the score 19 to 18 in favor of the A. T. O.'s, the game assumed an especially thrilling aspect as the players worked frantically in an effort to cage the winning basket. Finally Chiolino pushed the ball through the hoop just as the whistle blew to assure victory for the A. T. O. team. Chiolino, Mahoney, and Baldwin were the stars for the winners because of their all around work, while Buzzell's shooting and Maynes' defensive work featured for the losers.

SIGMA NU

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Bove, l.f.	0	1	1
Aiken, l.f.	1	1	3
Buzzell, r.f.	3	1	7
McGowan, c.	0	2	2
Newton, l.b.	0	0	0
Maynes, r.b.	1	3	5
Totals	5	9	18

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Baldwin, l.f.	2	2	6
Dorey, r.f.	0	0	0
Mahoney, c.	2	2	6
Donnelly, l.b.	0	2	2
Bond, l.b.	0	0	0
Chiolino, r.b.	3	1	7
Totals	7	7	21

In the preliminary to the Middlebury game Wednesday night the Phi Delt basketeers placed themselves in the third round of the interfraternity basketball tournament by defeating the S. A. E. five 19 to 15. The game was rather rough with both teams playing haphazardly. Hebb, S. A. E. center, broke his arm in the second half and had to be helped off the floor. Jackson led in scoring for the winners with five points, while Massuco obtained the same amount for the losers.

PHI DELTA THETA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Hawley, r.f.	1	2	4
Jackson, l.f.	2	1	5
Prouty, c.	2	0	4
Armstrong, l.b.	1	1	3
C. Grant, r.b.	0	1	1
Louden, r.b.	0	0	0
E. Grant, r.b.	1	0	2
Totals	7	5	19

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Valerio, r.f.	0	4	4
Calcagni, l.f.	0	0	0
Burr, l.f.	1	0	2
Hebb, c.	0	0	0
Janke, c.	0	0	0
Tomassetti, c.	0	1	1
Crockett, r.b.	1	0	2
Moore, r.b.	0	0	0
Massuco, l.b.	2	1	5
Gladding, l.b.	0	0	0
Totals	4	6	14

FEW TRACK CANDIDATES RESPOND TO FIRST CALL

Only a handful of veterans answered Coach Archie Post's first call for candidates for varsity track Monday afternoon at 4.00 p.m. In view of the small interest the coach asks for a larger collection of prospects especially from the first and second year men. To date only three varsity letter men including Capt. Charlie Mace, have reported for work.

Practices will take place every day except Saturday. Track events will be held from four o'clock until five and training for field events will follow at five o'clock in the cage.

In regard to interfraternity relay meet it is to be recalled that no men will be allowed to compete unless they have attended six practices spread out over a period of two weeks previous to the events, which will be held on March 10 and 11.

PLAYOFF FOR ENTRANCE IN JUNIOR TOURNAMENT

Seventeen applications for admittance to the State junior basketball tournament were made to the athletic committee of the Headmasters' Club at the Bellows Falls meeting Saturday and so closely were the teams matched that the committee chose but four for places in the tourney and then chose eight more to playoff for the right to enter the meeting which is to be held at the University of Vermont gymnasium on Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8.

St. Michael's High school of Winooski will play Swanton High school at Burlington in one of the playoff games while Winooski High school will meet Waterbury High school in the second play-off game at Montpelier. The winners of these two games will clash in the first game of the tournament. Burr and Burton Seminary of Manchaster will meet St. Michael's High school of Montpelier in the second game while Hardwick Academy will meet Brandon High school in the third game.

In the fourth game the winners of two more play-offs will meet. Newbury High school, winner of the Twin-County League, meets Barton Academy at St. Johnsbury in the first game of the playoffs while the other game will match Orleans High school against Craftsbury Academy at Barton.

A New Line of College Novelties
Isham News Agency
102A CHURCH ST.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

Catamount Five in Final Game of Season Tomorrow

Holy Cross Here in Return Game after Defeating Green and Gold on Home Floor—Vermont to Make Last Bid for Victory with Team at Full Strength

VERMONT RIFLEMEN TO MEET NORWICH TEAM

Cadets Here Tomorrow in First Shoulder-to-shoulder Match of Season

Tomorrow the Norwich sharpshooters will come to Vermont and take part in a shoulder-to-shoulder match against the Green and Gold marksmen. This method of contest has been inaugurated only recently and tomorrow will be the second time that Norwich and Vermont have engaged in such a match against each other. The Vermont riflemen will have two more shoulder-to-shoulder matches—one against McGill two weeks from tomorrow and the other a return match with Norwich on March 22. This year the Norwich sharpshooters have an exceptionally strong team. In the fifteen matches in which they have competed this season they have suffered not a single defeat. The competition tomorrow should be very interesting and close.

The scores of the five highest Vermont men for the first stage of the Corps Area intercollegiate gallery match are as follows out of a possible 200: Joslin 193, Sheldon 192, Donalson 191, Beaman 191, and Burke 190.

SANDBURG TALKS OF ART, POETRY, LINCOLN

(Continued from page 1)

more, as incentives to read more of this poet's amazing works.

"1. Poetry is a projection across silence of cadences arranged to break that silence with definite intentions of echoes, syllables, wave lengths.

"6. Poetry is a puppet show, where riders of skyrockets and divers of sea fathoms gossip about the sixth sense and the fourth dimension.

"28. Poetry is a pack-sack of invisible keepsakes.

"37. Poetry is a mystic, sensuous mathematics of fire, smokestacks, waffles, pansies, people and purple sunsets.

"38. Poetry is the capture of a picture, a song or a flair, in a deliberate prism of words."

The beautifully simple folksongs that Mr. Sandburg rendered in a voice remarkable for its wealth of expression, represented different sections of the nation. One of the best was "Illinois," which he included in a section called "Pioneer Memories." Mr. Sandburg accompanied himself on the guitar during all of his songs. He concluded the program with an arrangement of spirituals, which comprised the three essential types of the spiritual.

Previous to the lecture, the Men's Glee Club, which is to sing in the intercollegiate glee club contest in Springfield, Mass., tonight, sang two of the selections which will be rendered there. Professor Tupper presided at the lecture.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

HOME-MADE CANDIES
SODAS

Corner Main & Church Streets
LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

CRUSADERS CAN BOAST LONG LIST OF VICTORIES

Tomorrow night brings the Catamount quintet's schedule to an official close when the strong crusader five representing the Purple of Holy Cross, is entertained in the U. V. M. gymnasium in a return contest which promises to provide a stellar attraction for the fans who realize the calibre of teams put out at Worcester, home of the visitors. Sport enthusiasts will recognize many familiar names in the Holy Cross lineup which numbers among its regulars "Bill" Clancy, known for his feats on the gridiron as well as on the diamond. Fighting for the honors as high point scorers are Desautels and Driscoll whose combined efforts resulted in their scoring twenty-seven points in the recent U. V. M.-Holy Cross debacle.

The Worcester collegians after a rocky start up to mid-years, due to the absence of their coach, have been putting up a brand of basketball which has carried them through a prolonged winning streak. Noteworthy achievements of the quintet have been its defeat of Harvard, recent conquerors of "Dolly" Stark's Dartmouth five, and its victory over the Springfield gymnasts who provided the opposition with a terse struggle. In retrospection Holy Cross has enjoyed one of the best seasons in the annals of the sport and feels confident of annexing another scalp to its collection.

The play of the Green and Gold has resulted in decreasing attendances but all hope that a revival of bye gone memories will ensue when the Catamounts battle their visitors in a contest which should provide a fitting climax to an otherwise discouraging season.

FENCERS WILL MATCH FOILS AT DARTMOUTH

Tomorrow afternoon the varsity fencing team meets Dartmouth at Hanover. The Vermont team will be composed of Perelman, Aiken and Wadsworth. Captain Basilicato will not go on the trip because of a lame arm. So far this season Vermont has broken even by winning from Norwich 9 to 8 and losing to Montreal A. A. 13 to 12. A hard battle is expected tomorrow but with the improvement recently shown in the team as a whole, there are hopes of a Green and Gold victory.

SPECIAL VALUE!
Writing Paper
"STERLING"
CRUSHED BOND
60 Sheets 60 Envelopes
Single Sheet Paper
ONLY 69c
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

ATHLETIC and SPORTING Equipment
Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.
L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

Second Revelations From "College Maul" Show Libelous Spirit Strong

Campus Publication Which Printed Only Single Issue Took Huge Delight in Libelling Fraternities of Last Century in Strangely Irresponsible and Burlesque Style

[illegible]

Sigma Phi

[illegible]

Delta Psi

Some years ago the faculty petitioned that there was a class of the entire group as to speak outside the pale of society. In utterance of all forms of decency for the sake of the reputation of the college presented a memorandum setting forth what the society was termed Delta Psi. But notwithstanding all the efforts of the faculty it has ever since been a thorn upon the name of the U. V. M. At the present time it is composed of as unique a crowd as has ever been assembled under the organization. A set of grotesque pranks and mere jests. As an example of the latter class we have [illegible] This supposed completion [illegible] girl just dead gone [illegible] Mc Farland whom the Delts got forward as their choice Much to [illegible] dismay. His passing to appreciate how much more he likes [illegible] and shortened up before. After this incident taken in the hopes that he might prove useful in petty hazing the Greek. Shaving upperclass and doing the menial dirty work of the society. It has been decided that if Alice has a date it is so minute that the creature will need to don his spectacles to find it at the day of gathering. Cowboy is a gentleman [illegible] and Pharaoh. Dumpy is a well-padded [illegible] dressing specimen of humanity. A notorious dormitory the most profane man in college this despicable groveling crawl attempts to pass himself off as a model young man. His [illegible] nature is indeed a characteristic of the entire Delta Psi Society. But further time and space will permit and taking each unit of the society individually we will only say that those spoken of are fair representatives of the whole organization. With all the interesting way the world we have never met such a disheartening unreasonable raw nature and but for the passing of the Maul laws to silence the carnival cries we should have passed it by in silence.

Lambda Iota

"Vice is a monster of so frightful mien,
As to be hated needs but to be seen."

We invoked the Muses to sing even the slightest praise of this society but having failed to get a response it is now with infinite reluctance that we set with fear lest we should fail to perform our duty that we undertake this subject. In our private judgment this society is even beneath the dignity of formal abuse. Yet our duty to those who are not familiar with [illegible]

We begin with January 1931 [illegible] the chief head from which emanates [illegible] spirit of virtue in the society [illegible] the least he is an overbearing snob [illegible] by none except mediocre of his own society who look up [illegible] as their God. His nature can best be seen from the fact that he [illegible] the one in his room but those who went [illegible] Brimstead is a drunken sot for drinking he has no equal and this as by means his worst vice. McLaughlin is a conceited ass. He is generally considered the [illegible] of the society. We can [illegible] to notice Patten their only senior member as he is known to be an idiot. Sheldon spends most of his time in drinking rum and corresponding with [illegible] school girls. He did no more of this last year that [illegible] examinations proved him deficient in no less than four studies. Mathews at present is little less than a drunkard. Under the garb of religion he tries to get the favor not only of the Faculty but of people in general. He can drink more rum tell more lies and do more sweating than any other man in college yet tries to pass for a saint. Under Moody's logical preaching he was converted spoke in prayer meetings and went so far as [illegible] to become the leader of a praying band but since that time he is known to have been drunk no less than four times. Mitchell is a typical representative of the Owl society. And now critical reader without saying anything more of this inebriate set we leave them to your careful judgment, only reminding you that it is from their best members that we have made our selection and upon this ground we ask you to be merciful in your judgment.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Eleanor Hobert Harriet Woodruff and Catherine Bassett '29 were in town over the week-end.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Eleanor Taft and Marjorie Teats '29, Helen Prentiss and Genevieve Hoag '29 spent the week-end in Burlington.

PI BETA PHI

Belle Randall Guild '26, Lucy Bracken, Dorothy Wheatley, Mary Palmer and Agnes Wheeler all of '29 were in Burlington for a few days last week.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Lucille Gates and Hilda Martinson, '30, Marion Cleveland '28, Miriam Lawrence '27 and Marion Potter '29 were in town over the week-end of Kake Walk.

Mrs. Dorothy Bryan Dench, the province president visited the chapter on February 26 and 28. A tea in her honor was held February 28 at Mrs. Bacon's home on South Willard street.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Marjorie Perrin '31, Flora Emerson '30, Doris Harrison '27, Mary Davis, Cynthia Pitts and Lucy Morgan, all of '29, were week-end visitors.

SIGMA GAMMA

Dora Chamberlin '29, Louise Provost '29, Minerva Rocket and Eliza Kelly Brown '29 spent the week-end in Burlington.

KAPPA DELTA

Miss Pierce Nicolai, the financial inspector visited the chapter over the week-end of February 28.

The following officers for this year were chosen at a recent meeting: President Winona Spencer, vice president Evelyn DuPuis, secretary, Isabella Graham, treasurer, Lorraine Hopkins, editor Winifred Stone, registrar Hilda Wilde.

Alpha Theta of Kappa Delta announces the pledging on Saturday February 28 of Helen Don Leavy '31 of Rutland.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB WILL MEET TONIGHT

The Home Economics Club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Practice House.

GLEE CLUB COMPETES WITH ELEVEN COLLEGES IN SPRINGFIELD TONIGHT

Seeks Honors in Annual Intercollegiate Meet—Will Sing Prize, Choice and College Songs

Singing in the 63d annual contest for the New England intercollegiate glee club championship 37 members of the Men's Glee Club will represent the University of Vermont in Springfield, Mass., tonight.

"On the Road to Mandalay" will be the opening song. All the glee clubs will sing this together. Following this the various clubs will sing their choice songs. Vermont's choice song is entitled "To All You Ladies Now on Land," a composition of Doctor Gounod. Each college then sings the prize song. Hark Jolly Shepherds," an old English madrigal by Morley. A college song from each glee club brings to a close the singing by single clubs. Vermont will sing "Champlain."

The order of singing is as follows:

1. Choice song: Wesleyan, Middlebury, Northeastern, U. V. M., Bowdoin, Williams, Clark, M. I. T., Boston U., Amherst, Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

2. Prize song: Bowdoin, Boston U., Northeastern, W. P. I., Clark, Wesleyan, M. I. T., Williams, U. V. M., Amherst, Middlebury.

3. College song: M. I. T., Wesleyan, Bowdoin, U. V. M., W. P. I., Williams, Clark, Boston U., Northeastern, Amherst, Middlebury.

Jenks Leads

Tuesday evening at the Carl Sandburg lecture the Glee Club rendered the choice song and at chapel Wednesday morning a special arrangement of "Champlain" was sung most impressively. Major Jenks led the club both times as he will at Springfield tonight. This morning Vermont's Glee Club is holding a private rehearsal in the audito rium. However, all the glee clubs will rehearse late this afternoon as a group. Ribbons of green and gold will adorn the members of the U. V. M. club and Vermont banners will be displayed on the stage.

Station WBZ at Springfield will broadcast the whole affair.

The evening's program will be brought to a close by the combined clubs singing "The Lost Chord" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

There will be three judges present to pick the winner according to a percentage plan which values the prize song at 50 percent, the choice song at 30 percent and the college song at 20 percent. The presentation of a song is valued upon five basic points of equal worth: pitch, tone, interpretation, diction and ensemble.

1931 ARIEL FORM NOW IS NEAR COMPLETION

(Continued from page 1)

in to the Ariel management should be passed in immediately. The editors of the Ariel also desire that snap shots should be handed in at once. All senior and junior questionnaires must be in the hands of the Ariel editors within the next few days, if they are to be counted.

A fine display of cooperation and unlimited backing has always been shown on the part of Vermont students toward the Ariel. Complete cooperation is necessary again this year if the 1931 Ariel is to have the success planned for it.

A meeting has been called of the entire cast of the fall play, "Dear Brutus," as well as of the managers of the production for tomorrow afternoon at two in 8 North College.

Pond, of Vermont Baseball Fame, Freed Philippines From Plagues

The S. S. Pasay pulled up to the wharf at Cebu in the Southern Philippines before daybreak. As the first streaks of dawn appeared, I went out on the deck to size up the "Shamrock Hotel" located not far away. Someone touched me on the arm.

"That man," said an American, "is Dr. Arlington Pond's chauffeur. He is waiting to drive you to Dr. Pond's."

I hesitated. My mind was working but it had to travel fast and far.

"You don't mean—" I began.

"Yes, yes, your old college friend, and famous baseball pitcher is looking for you. Even if your steamer is early, you must go right up to his house."

We left the main avenue of Cebu as daylight was awakening the birds and fowls and entered a palm-bordered drive. The motor stopped in front of a tropical plantation home. As I walked up the steps to the second story—no one lives on the ground floor in the tropics—I heard a man bound out of bed. "Bob, is that you? Come right up, if that's you, Bob."

In the dim light of dawn on that spacious veranda, with all the rooms opening wide off it, we [illegible] face. Neither of us looked [illegible]

Pond said: "Who are you?"

I said, "Arlie, would you believe it?"

Then I was directed to [illegible] and presently we had coffee [illegible] and eggs. They rise early [illegible] tropics. The forenoon is [illegible] before the heat mounts up [illegible] one wilts.

Mrs. Pond joined the group [illegible] the manager of a cattle [illegible] Island of Mindanao, in which Pond is interested.

During my visit to Cebu I [illegible] occasion to learn more of [illegible] than he or his wife would [illegible] went about my mission. I [illegible] ing two years or so studying [illegible] Nationalism of the Far East [illegible] tries in its political, economic [illegible] cational, and religious aspects. [illegible] terviewed Filipino educators, [illegible] importers, manufacturers, [illegible] secretary of state, chief of [illegible] lary, chief of public health, [illegible] Americans in the judiciary, [illegible] and business.

From various sources I [illegible] other facts. After Arlington [illegible] was mustered out of the military [illegible] ice, twenty-five years ago [illegible] could have returned to America [illegible] penses paid. But he and Mrs. [illegible] decided to remain in the Philippines [illegible] and fight disease. The [illegible] plagues of bubonic, cholera, [illegible] and leprosy, the Spanish regime [illegible] done nothing to check. The new American government knew that it must clean up the Philippines [illegible] nothing permanent in colonial [illegible] provement could be accomplished. By R. E. LEWIS, '92, in the Evening Free Press.

WINNOWINGS FROM THE MILL TO APPEAR SOON

(Continued from page 1)

Germain is his first to the magazine. Germain is on the Cynic board and is prominent in Grey Friars.

"Life Looking Out Attentive," written by Geneva Cook, will not be her first article to appear in the Winnowings. Miss Cook is a graduate of Mount Holyoke. She has been on the Mount Holyoke News; contributed to the literary magazine of Mt. Holyoke and is a graduate English student of this University. She publishes short stories for syndicates and writes for a number of magazines. Lois Taylor, author of the poem "Lines," has also written for the magazine before.

Hope Ranslow, author of the story "Parrots," is a new contributor to the magazine. She is a member of the Cynic board, Masque and Sandal, and Press Club.

Priscilla Campbell, author of "The Lantern," a one-act play, will make her first appearance this year in the coming issue of the magazine. Miss Campbell is former editor of the women's department of the Cynic. Because of her numerous other activities, the Literary Magazine has been deprived of her services this year. She is an associate editor of the Winnowings.

Short of Material

The magazine has had a shortage of material, especially of poems and essays. Janice Goodrich, editor of the magazine, is willing to receive at any times any material of this kind [illegible] also such articles as contain originality and are well constructed.

The editor has been considering the institution of a forum for the students, in which they may discuss subjects of any interest, [illegible] not only the Vermont campus but also topics of universal concern. It is the next succeeding issue, it is understood that Dorothy Canfield [illegible] prominent Vermont novelist, will publish an article on "Why I do not think a writers' guild would be a good thing for Vermont."

BOYS AND GIRLS FROM ALL FRATERNITIES
I patronize the Cynic for [illegible]
WHY NOT ALL PATRONIZE ME?
TRY A BOTTLE OF CHRISTY'S
CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
97½ Church St. One flight up

SPORT SWEATERS
The new shades for Spring and in the popular Crew Neck Style.
$5.00 TO $12.00
Golf Hose to Match
HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

BRIDGE TALLIES
BRIDGE SCORE CARDS BRIDGE PRIZES
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE
In the
LENDING LIBRARY
The Mystery of the Open Window
by
ANTHONY GILBERT
Here is a splendid detective story we wager you won't guess. It is a wholly ingenious plot, that requires the utmost in deduction for its solution and will delight the connoisseur of detective stories. A Detective Story Club Selection.

Queen City Cafe
CHURCH STREET
REGULAR DINNER AND SUPPER, Pie or Ice Cream for Dessert 45c
SUNDAY DINNER 75c

THE BEST SOUND IN TOWN
MAJESTIC
Monday Tuesday
She clowns—
She sings—
She dances—
She's marvelous!
Marion DAVIES
MARIANNE
her first TALKING picture!

A Delightful Musical Comedy Romance!
Grand Song Hits!
A Thousand Laughs with Marion at her Best!
ATTEND THE MATINEES
THEY'RE LESS CROWDED

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MARCH 4, 1930 | NUMBER 39

Orators Conquer M. A. C. Debaters By 3-0 Decision

Nelson and Lisman, in First Home Contest of Season, Overcome Opponents as Judges Vote Unanimously for Vermont in Oregon Type Affair

VERMONT SPEAKS FOR WORLD DISARMAMENT

A unanimous decision gave Vermont a victory over M. A. C. in the first home forensic encounter of the season last Thursday evening. Vermont upheld the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that the nations should adapt a plan of complete disarmament except such a force as is needed for complete police protection." George Nelson and Louis Lisman, both veterans of intercollegiate debate, spoke for Vermont, while Theodore Marcus and Salter debated for M. A. C.

Can, Should and Will

As the Oregon style of debate was used, Nelson, opening the debate for the affirmative, stated the complete case. He declared that competition in armaments is a constant menace to the peace of the world.

We, the world, can disarm, should disarm, and will disarm, because the world today is in a state of mind that is ready for constant peace," asserted Mr. Nelson. He pointed out further the tremendous cost of armaments and showed how the world has never been so ready for disarmament as it is now. The Kellogg Pact, which has practically outlawed war, the efforts of the League of Nations, disarmament conferences, and other movements to reduce arms and establish peace, prove the widespread aspiration toward it. Proportionately as we disarm," said Nelson, "the League gains in power. Thus national security would be an absolute fact."

Marcus, presenting the entire negative case, denied that the men who guided the destinies of nations are desirous of peace, showing how at every conference thus far, no real action has been taken because every nation has been seeking to further its own interests. He doubted that disarmament would bring peace.

The enormous debt of the European nations," declared Marcus, "will keep them sober, and another war is today improbable because the nations cannot afford one." Mr. Marcus held that in the future peace will be enforced by some international society with the sanction of an international police force, but that at present there is no security in disarmament, and that the world is not ready for peace.

On the Stand

George Nelson now took the stand for Vermont, and Salter of M. A. C. proceeded to cross-examine him. Nel-

(Continued on page 4)

EX-CONVERSE TO STAGE ANOTHER COLLEGE NITE

Three Acts of All-College Talent Go On Boards at Local Theatre at Both Performances On Friday Night

Another of Ex-Converse's popular College Nights, with Holbrook's Harmonians as the feature orchestra, Dick Shipard's melodious Hawaiians, and Fred Douglas in a little eccentric soft-shoe dancing, comes around this Friday at the Majestic.

College men remember the quality of former "nights" and college men will come to see this one.

Holbrook's Harmonians is an orchestra composed entirely of college men, who are known around the campus. They have previously played jobs around Burlington and in New York State.

Dick Shipard brings the Hawaiians to the stage for the first time. The accompaniment of Hawaiian guitar, Spanish guitar, tenor guitar and ukelele with an occasional singing is one idealy suited to Hawaiian music, and these boys have got "it."

Fred Douglas, whose spontaneous style of dancing is not new to Burlington audiences and of course, "Art" Ex-Converse at the mighty Wurlitzer organ and songs by Ex-Converse, the show promises to be a big success.

CHINESE HAVE RESPECT FOR AMERICAN, FORMER MISSIONARY TELLS CLUB

Howard C. Bennett, International Relations Club Speaker Last Thursday, Tells of Student Life In the Orient

"The American is respected more than any other foreigner in China," asserted Mr. Howard C. Bennett of Williston at a meeting of the International Relations Club last Thursday.

Mr. Bennett has previously been a missionary in China, having taught at the Uauchang Academy for Boys. Mr. Bennett's five years in that land and his association with Chinese students have given him many interesting views of their life and habits. "The Chinese student dominates the country's political and social life," declared the speaker further, in a review, "Some personal Reminiscences of the Chinese school system."

Mr. Bennett indicated that what China will be years from today is what the University students think today. University students hold the highest rank in China. The thought life of China is the student life.

The Ancient in China

The culture of China is a marvel to the world at large. The ancient methods of the Chinese date back to the old culture, which is still predominant today. The modern Chinese schools began with the Christian missionary invasion of China. At that time the important idea was to implant the American school system, in mass, into China. This was a serious undertaking and even the missionaries saw the lack of wisdom in such a scheme. In the attempt to transplant our American school sytem into that nation, the missionary ran up against the greatest obstacle, language. Students were attempting to learn high school subjects when they contained only a fourth grade command of the English language. It was impossible to use the Chinese language system to teach modern subjects. Therefore the mission schools used the English language.

Since then there has emerged what is known as the "White Language." It is an understandable tongue and uses a new system of characters of a few thousand in number instead of many thousand as in the old system.

The new educational system is a synthesis of the old Chinese education, the Christian teachings, modern thought, and the Russian Soviet Communism. Russian Communism has been the successor of Christian acceptance since the World War, but today the tendency is toward a return of the latter.

Cleaning House

When Russia attempted to convert China to its ideas through its missionaries, it also sent its generals to use force, if necessary. When China became free of other nations, she attempted to oust the Russians as well as the Christian missionaries, endeavoring to "clean house."

The difficulty with Chinese advancement is evident in the situation of students who become engineers but have no factories to go to, and no jobs to be obtained.

The Chinese student is not unlike any other student. The speaker told a story of a Chinese girl, two years of age, who was adopted by a missionary and brought to the United States for an education. At the age of eight she was a girl with American ideas, speech and habits. When she returned to China it took her more than a year to accustom herself to her new environment. In China an educated person from one section of the country, when coming together with an educated person from another section, speaks the English language, since he finds it easier for conversation.

The proportion of Chinese under the Western educational system is small.

(Continued on page 6)

MEDIC CLUB HERE JOINS NATIONAL FRATERNITY

Phi Delta Epsilon, national medical fraternity, has formally installed the Phi Club of the University of Vermont as its Beta Lambda chapter. National officers from Boston and New York were present at the initiation ceremonies.

A banquet on the roof garden of the Hotel Vermont climaxed the affair. The speakers included John E. Weeks governor of Vermont, Dr Aaron Brown of New York city, founder of the fraternity and president of the board of trustees, Dr Eli Romberg of Boston, Dr Samuel Levine and Dr H Harris of New York City, Dean J L Hills of the College of Agriculture, and Dr E. D. McSweeney.

"Dear Brutus" Soon To Travel

Fall Production Will Go to Rutland This Month for Presentation Under Auspices of Dramatic Societies

PRESENTATION HERE WON MUCH PRAISE LAST FALL

"Dear Brutus," fall production of the combined dramatic societies, will be presented in Rutland before the end of March. The decision was made at a meeting of the club last Saturday afternoon.

Prof. J. T Metcalf will direct the revival. The cast of the play will be the same as that which presented the comedy in Burlington last December. Robert Jenks will take the part of "Lot"; Sam Barker will play "Coade"; Harvey Butterfield, "Purdie"; Herrick Macomber, "Dearth"; Robert Aiken, "Matey"; Doris Kibbe, "Mrs Coade"; Margaret Martin, "Mabel Purdie"; Kathryn Rauh, "Alice Dearth"; Annette Rosenberg, "Joanna Trout"; Beverly Householder, "Lady Caroline Laney"; and Isabel Holmes, "Margaret."

Said the review of the play when it was presented here:

"Well cast, well acted, well costumed this is a concise summary of the latest venture of the University dramatic clubs which last night, at the Strong Theater, presented Sir John Barrie's well-known play 'Dear Brutus.' The performance ran smoothly from beginning to end, holding fast the interest and attention of a large and appreciative audience. The performance was deserving of great praise in every respect. The entire company maintained a commendable standard of acting; and throughout successfully interpreted the mood of the play which was one subtly combining the plausible and the fantastic.

"The performance throughout won the admiration of the audience. The players never for a moment lost the moods of their rôles and were extremely happy in bringing out the appealing humor in the play."

CO-EDS WILL DEBATE MIDDLEBURY WOMEN

Will Meet Opponents in Middlebury Tomorrow Evening in First Co-ed Forensic Encounter

A women's debating team will face the Middlebury College women tomorrow evening in Middlebury, debating the question, "Resolved, that the emergence of woman from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life." The debate is the first co-ed forensic encounter of the year.

Janice Goodrich, veteran of three years of debating, Roberta Powers, who participated in her first varsity debate last year, and Laura Johnson, of the freshman team will debate for Vermont. Caroline Taft, another freshman debater, has been chosen alternate.

Both teams expect a close contest. The Middlebury women took a unanimous decision from the men's team on the same question that will be used tomorrow night, and out of two intercollegiate starts have two victories to their credit. The Vermont women have not yet debated this year.

International Institute To Open Sessions Tomorrow

Will Include Four Lecturers on Two-day Program—Samuel Lavincount Speaks Tomorrow; Other Speakers Are Tucker P. Smith, Herbert Elvin and James Rettie

CLUBMEN HEAR U. V. M. DEBATERS IN AMUSING FRACAS AT VERGENNES

Women Are Also Present and Vote Unanimously For the Affirmative On Emergence From Home

"Resolved that women's emergence from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life" was the subject of a highly humorous debate before the Vergennes Men's Club last Thursday evening.

A vote taken before the debate showed that all the eighteen women present were in favor of the affirmative side of the question while 23 men voted for the negative. After the debate neither men nor women had changed their minds.

Paul La Crosse, '32, of Burlington, and James Bigelow, '33, of Fair Haven, upheld the affirmative, while Peary Berger, '32, and Donald Frazier, '32, both of Burlington, argued the negative. Dr. Cole of Vergennes presided before an audience of about 60 townspeople.

Fire and Humor

La Crosse opened the argument for the affirmative and immediately won favor with a fiery and eloquent appeal in which he stressed the disadvantage to woman herself directly resulting from her emergence from the home. The speaker amused his hearers by frequently quoting from several well known works of English poets.

Berger, starting for the negative, waxed amusingly eloquent. His side maintained three things, he said: first, that woman's emergence has given her a broader outlook on life, second, that woman by emerging has opened for herself a great field of literature and art, and that opportunity gives her a great benefit economically.

Then Bigelow, behemoth of debate, arose and took possession of the floor.

(Continued on page 6)

CITY HALL AND CLASSES SCENES OF LECTURES

Four lecturers are coming here Wednesday and Thursday of this week to speak before University students and townspeople, appearing here under the auspices of the International Institute. The lecturers are Samuel Lavincount who will be here Wednesday, and Herbert Elvin, James Rettie and Tucker P. Smith, all of whom talk on Thursday.

Samuel Lavincount will be Wednesday morning's chapel speaker and will also give a talk at four o'clock in the afternoon of the same day in the Old Mill Chapel. James Rettie will speak, also in the Old Mill Chapel, on Thursday afternoon at four. Thursday night, beginning at eight o'clock, Herbert Elvin and Tucker P. Smith will lecture in the City Hall Auditorium. Herbert Elvin will also talk to the class in History 3 on the same day.

Backed by V. C. A.

The Vermont Christian Association is bringing these lecturers to this campus and to Burlington to arouse an interest among the students and townspeople in the international problems of the present time. Attention will be focused upon the racial, economic, and political aspects of world affairs. The subject of war and military training will be discussed.

Samuel Lavincount, Wednesday's speaker, is a colored clergyman from Boston, Mass. He comes here very well recommended. In his talks, he will touch upon racial prejudice and related topics.

Herbert Elvin is a Commonwealth Scholar from Cambridge University, England. In 1927 he was a member of the Cambridge debating team which toured this country. At the present time he is at Yale University. Before the History 3 class on Thursday, he will speak on the "Home and Foreign Problems of the British Labor Government." In the evening at the City Hall Auditorium, he will speak on the "League of Nations and the Kellogg Pact."

Tucker P. Smith, who speaks with

(Continued on page 6)

Education For Peace Is Crying Need Asserts Stewart in Cynic Interview

"What's this International Institute business all about?" inquired a Cynic reporter, as he dropped in to see Bob Stewart, '30 who is the executive committee chairman of the Institute.

"Well," laughed Bob, leaning back in his chair, "on the surface it appears to be a philanthropic enterprise sponsored by the Vermont Christian Association, though that may be a rather pessimistic way of looking at it."

"But what is the purpose of it, or, to use your own words, why are you indulging in philanthrophy?" asked the reporter.

"Ah, that is more to the point," replied Stewart, "here's the reason why we are having an International Institute. It is because we firmly believe that the only way to realize peace in our present world community is to educate for peace and to engender greater understanding between the nations and races of the world. It is the young people of today, and above all, the college-bred men and women, who shall determine the future of civilization. Insofar as we believe we can aid in this great international movement it is our duty to do so."

"That is certainly clear enough," the reporter smiled, but do you think the average student appreciates the responsibility which you assert weighs upon him?"

"I do not think our present educational system succeeds in impressing upon the student the importance of his function in society. What little bit the Vermont Christian Association can do along this line, it is only too willing to perform."

"Hasn't this Tucker P. Smith, who is going to talk at the City Hall, been up here before?" asked the reporter.

"Yes," Bob answered, "he was at the International Week-end Conference, held last October, and debated Major A. B. Simmons, representative of the National Security League, on the subject of Compulsory Military Training. That sure was some debate. The Major didn't have a show!"

"Bob," the reporter said rather thoughtfully, "The Cynic has heard a rumor to the effect that you are holding your meetings down in the city hall, especially the one in which Smith talks, because you fear that the military department will raise a disturbance if he talks on the campus. Just how much is there to this rumor?"

"Ha' Ha' Ha'" laughed Bob, that is a good one. "Now look here," and he spoke seriously, "just get any such ideas out of your head. I have too high an opinion of Colonel Black to think that he would lower himself to do such a thing as that. Moreover, I know that a more fair man than President Bailey doesn't exist, and as long as the main tenets of decency are observed, I do not believe that he would prevent any man from speaking to the students. Such rumors do more harm than good."

Well, Bob, thanks a lot for the dope. I'll shoot over and write it up now."

"O. K. And please don't forget to tell the students that we are engineering the Institute mainly for their benefit, and we hope that they will cooperate with us. We are holding one session in the City Hall because we believe the acoustics at that place are much better than at the University gymnasium. Moreover, we want to give those people of Burlington who manifest an interest in international affairs a chance to hear these two worth while men."

Right O, see you later."

"So long."

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

EDWIN L. GILMAN, '31
Editor-in-Chief

CHARLES B. DOLGE, '31
CHARLES B. NELSON, '31
Managing Editors

HELEN S. SMITH, '31
Women's Editor

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '31
Sports Editor

ALLARD S. CHERIN, '31
Business Manager

News Editors
RAYMOND W. [illegible], '32 — ALBERT C. [illegible], '32 — FRED W. HOUSEWRIGHT, '32

Feature Editor
EDMUND A. GOSSMAN, '32 — ROBERT I. STEWART, '32

Intercollegiate Editor
[illegible] — Literary Editor
EDWARD J. FITZGERALD, '32

Assistant Editors
E. P. Dodge, '32
J. D. [illegible], '32
C. [illegible], '32
H. [illegible], '32
F. [illegible], '32
C. [illegible], '32
S. N. Spencer, '33
T. I. Taylor, '33
J. S. Woodside, '33

Assistant Sports Editor
LAWRENCE M. PORTER, '32

Assistant Sports Editors
J. S. Leam, '32 — A. A. Mackie, '32 — F. Tupper, '32

Assistant Editors
J. H. Tarrant, '33 — R. S. Jenks, '32 — S. Pendahy, '32 — R. W. Ryan, '33

Women's Associate Editor
[illegible]

Dorcas Wright, '31
Women's Athletic Editor

[illegible] Pease, '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Margaret Cox, '32 — Marietta Hastings, '32 — Margaret M. Moser, '32
Hester Tarbell, '32 — Margaret Ann Martin, '32 — Hope Ransom, '32

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
R. A. Hurlburt, '32 — [illegible], '32 — G. F. Wilder, '32

Subscriptions price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 1621 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday Preceding its date of publication. Published every Tuesday and Friday during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other communications to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing to special rates of postage at Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 6[illegible] P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1[illegible], authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 60 — March 4, 1930 — No. 39

A University of the State

We regard the decision of the dramatic clubs to revive the fall production in another Vermont town as one of a piece with the policy of the Vermont debating teams in appearing before organizations throughout the state. It is a policy of education which cannot fail to bear fruit.

The University of Vermont has long been regarded as a sort of necessity by the state at large. Although it inscribes on its seal "Universitas Montium" although it is the center of the whole educational system of the state although it has given Vermont almost all of her foremost sons, nevertheless the University continues to be regarded as a thing apart by many citizens of the Green Mountain state. Even to those who have sent their sons and daughters here, even to those who come in constant contact with the work of the Extension Service the University is still so far away as to be, in their minds, but a vague assemblage of professors, students, buildings and football games.

A debating team appearing before a Grange, a dramatic club appearing before an audience of townspeople, alone can dispel this sensation of unreasonable interests. It is bringing the University to the people. It is showing them what the University really is.

A dozen buildings never made a university. Not all the football games in the world can create a college spirit. We conceive a university as something living, vivid, actual, as a part of our lives. The eve of a prom, the anxieties of an examination, the events which come but once a year and rouse in the whole student body a very fever of anticipation these are among the components of a University. And if the citizens of the state are given no conception of so vigorous an institution save what they can glean from the humor magazines and the meagre notices in the press, we have no right to expect them to regard their state university as a real and integral part of Vermont.

The debaters who have spoken before fraternal organizations, clubs and granges have made more people laugh than a whole troupe of professional performers could have brought to the verge of smiles, and there is no surer way than laughter to indicate a common bond. The players who will present "Dear Brutus" in Rutland will draw, not laughter, but admiration and applause. And admiration for a University production is tantamount to admiration for the University.

Again we congratulate the debating teams and the dramatic clubs. They are bringing a bit of the University to the state. They are showing Vermont that this is the University of Vermont.

In College of a year or so ago with his crushable hats, nail-studded heels that scraped, dragging pant-legs and his month's College Humor [illegible] has been replaced by a sedater conservative individual. This new figure appears, spatted and woolly-vested, at his eight o'clock, comes in quietly and does not guffaw during the entire period.

A significant straw in the wind is the fact that local haberdashers are beginning to suggest silk hats for college functions, though not without some temerity. And in conversation over the counter, suspenders have become "braces." Now and then one even overhears the name of a book figuring in social conversation. Life has begun to be a rather serious affair, and the word "job" no longer means a committee membership. A few still cling to the old order going their blithe way and cutting classes up to the hilt. But their day is fast going. It has become the fashion to be conservative, and conservative they must be, or be relegated to the realm of the Charleston and bell bottomed trousers.

Not without regret do we watch the disappearance of Joe College. He had many good qualities not the least of which was a refreshing insouciance in the face of all difficulties, from a flat tire to a broken date. It is not good to take one's self too seriously—it dulls the most formidable weapon which youth can wield against the world, a sense of humor. —Daily Illinois.

Smith College girls never ride when they can walk, and they never walk when they can run. They may start for class by walking soberly and sedately, but they are more than likely to wind up by running the last block or two. The yen to run is so strong that they will speed up when there appears to be plenty of time on hand. —Exchange.

Ten Timely Topics

TARA TANTARA TRIBO

We wish some benevolent alumnus would give us a sidewalk between the Library and the Science Hall, extending to the back campus road. And while they are about it we have already suggested that something be done for the poor pedestrian on that road.

Another honor society has gone under fire. Twenty seconds before the opening of the Dartmouth-Brown hockey game at Hanover, the Brown goalie received a telegram announcing that he had been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. This was too much for the nerves of even the best of goalies and well Dartmouth won.

We noticed recently that at Middlebury a student committee co-operates with the faculty in considering questions pertaining to curricula. It's a scheme that has its good and bad point among the latter being the possibility of its becoming a group of figureheads, such as some of our student governing bodies are accused of being. Still, colleges are run for the student, and not for the faculty; it is not unreasonable to invite their suggestions in matters of this sort.

We have long maintained that students should be given a course in answering written quizzes; now we wonder if there should not be a course in giving oral ones. It has come to our observation that most oral questioning concerns itself, not with the important facts, and the facts which the student is expected to remember, but with unimportant details. Details may have their place in a lecture or a text book, but to emphasize them in recitation is to make a little more inevitable the disorganization and isolation of facts in the student's mind.

Personally we favor Military. We took our two years, and seriously considered the advanced course, and we feel it did us more good than harm. But we have to admit that not everybody feels as we do; some people don't like it. Why should they be made to take it? Wouldn't Uncle Sam profit by having fifty willing recruits rather than a hundred who are half-hearted, indifferent, or conscientiously opposed to the work in which they are engaged?

Some people even doubt the efficacy, sincerity, and advisability of two neighbors, be they men, or nations, going to talk over boundary disputes, or fence lines, or rights of way with a gun in one hand and a knife in the other. They say that there is less likely to be trouble if you don't have a gun, and from what we have heard of Tennessee mountaineers, and European diplomats, we're not so sure but they are right, after all.

We heard a fellow, the other day, offer to bet that in two years Senior Debate and Argumentation would go the way of Public Speaking.

At North Central College, Illinois, a ten minute organ recital is given before chapel formally opens; the faculty are seated with the students; attendence, which is voluntary, averages 85 percent of the enrollment.

Sometimes it is hard to tell bitterness from humor; sometimes it is hard to tell the most profound truth from the most perfect nonsense; sometimes it is hard to tell word music from discord. Those whose heartstrings were touched by the melody of Carl Sandburg's speech know this to be true.

A professor chuckled delightedly throughout the lecture; a girl leaving the gym said, "I liked it awful much—he had such a dry humor." Was it humor or was it soul-music? We may not like his poems. We may not even admit that they are poetry. But that the man put his life, his beautiful and indomitable spirit into the music of the words which he spoke, we cannot deny. To laugh at his phrases as a cultured though intentional jest is a sin far worse than to hoot it as nonsense for somewhere at the back of the world nonsense shades into the most profound truth)—but it is a sin against the sinner.

A unique feature appears in the McGill Daily of McGill U., Montreal, Canada, dealing with the varied surnames of the students at the northern college. It is brought to light that there are three Bishops, a Pope, an Abbot, and two Parsons to say Grace. There is even an Angel but there is no devil. Democracy seems to be in danger as there is a Castle, and a Crown, a Baron, a Duke, and two Peers.

There are also a Bigger and a Littler. Paradoxical as it may seem, the Littler is bigger than the Bigger, and the Bigger is littler than the Littler.

The most recent example of a perfect pessimist is the man who bought cork-tipped cigarettes for a sea voyage.—Yale Record.

Alumnus Recalls Old Construction Days of the Late-Victorian Eighties

The autumn of 1882, in which I entered the college, was the turning point from old things to new. The munificence (for that day) of John P. Howard of Burlington had made possible the reconstruction and modernization of the main building, from its external appearance appropriately enough called by the students "the mill," and the new building was not yet ready for occupancy. The improvement, outside and in, was great; though not a few regretted the passing of the shiny dome that for over a half a century had been a striking landmark and an object of affectionate memory. For the first few weeks classes were held wherever they could be, but chiefly in the old medical college at the south end of the green, and in the old art gallery, since moved to make room for the Williams Science building. At the rear of the main building were two ancient structures; the one which resembled nothing so much as a large wooden barn, was called a gymnasium, though it had no apparatus but a few Indian clubs and dumbbells, and not for years had anyone been known to take his exercise in it; the other was a low brick structure containing a battery of what would now be euphemistically called "rest rooms," which with the reconstruction of the college had become entirely superfluous. Both were undoubtedly eye sores; but as the authorities showed no disposition to eliminate them from the landscape, the students determined to take the matter into their own hands. A plot was hatched between some of the medics and some of the more mischievous undergraduates. In pursuance of this it fell out that one morning the brick building was discovered to be in ruins, the roof having been pulled off by ropes, and the walls broken down; and not far from this time the gymnasium was discovered late one dark night to be a roaring mass of flames. The janitor, who lived nearest, singularly enough did not wake until it was too late to sound an alarm. I believe a feeble gesture of discipline was made by the faculty toward certain suspected students; but no one really regretted the occurrence. Later in my course the Billings Library was finished, and we boasted of it as one of the handsomest libraries in the country. Thus the College proper had when I graduated in '86 three buildings for all purposes.

Student Body "Increases"

It was doubtless the publicity which the college received through its new buildings that caused a notable rise in the student population. Previous classes had averaged from a dozen to twenty, when the class of '86 by a sensational jump registered forty-five in its first year, and graduated thirty, quite the largest number hitherto. Its size made the class overestimate its importance to the college, as an incident will illustrate. The great athletic event of the year was the football game between the two lower classes. It was a very primitive form of the sport. All the members of the two classes participated, and it was purely a game of kicking, full of action of course, and frequently spectacular. The only strategy employed was not during the game but before it, and it traditionally consisted in the sophomores stealing the freshmen's ball. As no local dealer carried balls in stock, and a new one had to be ordered from New York, the interruption in practice was a serious matter, though it was usually borne without undue complain. But when a certain member of '85 stole our ball three times in rapid succession, it was deemed that the joke was being carried too far, and leading spirits in the class planned revenge. With the collusion of two juniors who lodged in the same house, the culprit was waylaid late one night as he was returning from a show, and his face was thoroughly painted with nitrate of silver. The treatment was effective, but the faculty felt bound to take notice of the case. The avengers, six of them, were easily identified, and the punishment awarded was suspension from college, and loss of scholarships. The rest of the class, reasoning that the six had acted only as their agents and in their behalf, voted that it was no more than right that they should share the punishment as far as possible, and they unanimously went into voluntary suspension. Three days we stayed away from our classes, confident that the faculty would soon see that they could not afford to lose the largest class in history and would rescind the punishment. Then one of the students heard from home and broke the line, others soon wavered, and the next day we were all back again. When in more recent years I have read of students' strikes in other institutions, I have smiled as I recalled those heroic days of '82.

Greek Supreme

Our curriculum was of course old-fashioned enough, a culture course pure and simple, designed to give one a broad but not too deep acquaintance with the main fields of learning. It was not until the year after I graduated that the first elective was offered. Our course was wide in its range, but wholly prescr[illegible] the whole very wisely [illegible] chief grievance against it [illegible] to take mathematics during [illegible] of the first two years, and [illegible] but one possible year of [illegible] language, though upon [illegible] class was permitted to [illegible] German a ten-weeks' [illegible] French during the spring [illegible] spoken only of the class[illegible] and it must be confessed that [illegible]sics looked down rather [illegible] on those who took no Greek [illegible] only a Ph.B., as persons of [illegible]rious culture, and on the [illegible] hardly more than men learn[illegible] So far as the content of our [illegible] concerned, it was in many [illegible] nearly so thorough as good [illegible] offer today, and for the most [illegible] learned lessons in second[illegible] fashion rather than investi[illegible] jects or worked out projects [illegible] a term in each of six scien[illegible] far as these could be learned [illegible] books, but were given not [illegible] laboratory work in any of [illegible] work in English was outstan[illegible] says were required throu[illegible] course, and upperclassmen had [illegible] pare an "oration" each term [illegible] nounce it upon the chapel [illegible] admirable practice, possible [illegible] small college; while the best [illegible] tions were presented to a larger [illegible] in the College Street Church [illegible] Opera House at the annual [illegible] exhibition and junior exhibition [illegible] occasions at which the whole [illegible] turned out.

Expenses were modest. Tuition was but $45 a year, and the total [illegible] expenses were estimated at [illegible] College activities and social [illegible] tions were few, and standards [illegible] were simple. It was the unu[illegible] dent who did not attend chur[illegible] larly on Sunday, and the [illegible] Bible classes were popular, th[illegible] ly church sociables even [illegible] Freshmen, desiring to appear [illegible] best at these, often wore their new tailored uniforms. Fraternity [illegible] of a type now extinct. There were [illegible] houses, in which members [illegible] the manner of older men in their [illegible] of leisure, but each chapter [illegible] hall in some business block down[illegible] Rivalry was keen, and needless [illegible] ter. The meetings were often [illegible] to "literary exercises," which [illegible] to supplement the English [illegible] the college courses; and on the [illegible] the contribution of fraternity [illegible] student experience was perhaps [illegible] as wholesome as it is today, at a [illegible] fraction of the expense. Students of my generation will remember three great events of the college year [illegible] served as discharges for [illegible] usually pent up—the "nigger show" preceding the annual fotball game and the freshman supper and the [illegible] more supper toward the end of the year, the last two prepared with [illegible] secrecy lest the rival class [illegible] At these events mny things were said and some done, that were best forgotten. They belonged to a tradition of vulgarity that, so far as I know has now passed away.

—E. M. WIL[illegible] '8[illegible]

SPRING CLOTHES

are ready!

"CHARTER HOUSE"

Suits

AND

Topcoats

GOLF CLOTHES

SPORT SWEATERS

TUXEDO SUITS

NEW FURNISHINGS

MILES & PERRY CO.

QUALITY CLOTHIERS

Established 1898

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

Kappa Sigs Win Basketball Cup

Defeat Phi Delta Theta in Semi-finals While A. T. O.'s Eliminate Independents

SCORE IN FINAL GAME SATURDAY IS 22 TO 16

In the quarter finals of the interfraternity series the Independents defeated the Phi Sigma Delts, conqueror of the Faculty aggregation, by the score of 21 to 14.

The game was close throughout, with the Independents leading 7 to 6 at half and finally, through the efforts of Ryan and Farwell, piling up a margin at the finish. Dinniman was the outstanding man on the losing team.

PHI SIGMA DELTA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Dinnitman, r.f.	2	3	7
Fienberg, l.f.	1	0	2
Schwartz, l.f.	1	0	2
Hausman, c.	0	0	0
Perelman, l.g.	1	0	2
Bernstein, r.g.	0	0	0
Berry r.g.	0	1	1
Totals	5	4	14

INDEPENDENTS

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Rich, r.f.	1	1	3
Ryan, l.f.	5	0	10
Farwell, c.	4	0	8
Blanchett, l.g.	0	0	0
Codding, l.g.	0	0	0
Riani, r.g.	0	0	0
Totals	10	1	21

Semi-finals

In the first game of the semi-finals the strong Kappa Sig team emerged victorious over the Phi Delts in one of the hardest fought and closest games of the entire tournament. Beatty and Hawley shone for the Phi Delts while the Kappa Sig team functioned so smoothly throughout that credit for the win belongs to the five as a whole. Pires succeded in gathering twelve points for the victors.

In the other semi-finals played Friday night the fighting A. T. O's, whose team had been the chief surprise of the tournament, nosed out the Independent Club, 16 to 10. The passing combination of the fraternity team bewildered the Independents, although Ryan and Farwell managed to get loose for shots often enough to make the fracas close. Dorey, stellar guard, touched most of the fireworks with two beautiful shots in the second half.

Kappa Sigs Win Final

On Saturday night as a preliminary to the closing battle between Vermont and Holy Cross, the Kappa Sigs and A. T. O.'s met in the final to determine the fraternity championship of 1930. Neither team was playing good ball the first half, both missing innumerable slop shots and passes. Beatty Jay put the Kappa Sigma team into the lead with three pretty shots, making the count 9 to 7 at the half.

The A. T. O's came back strong in the beginning of the second, and Baldwin sleuthing and feinting cleverly, sank two shots to give them the lead, 11 to 9.

At this point the Kappa Sigs snapped out of their lethargy and passed and cut with precision. The score mounted rapidly with the Kappa Sigs leading, 22 to 16 at the gun, to give them the cup and championship.

KAPPA SIGMA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
McKay, r.f.	1	2	4
Jay l.f.	3	1	7
Overton, c.	1	2	4
Morgan, r.g.	0	2	2
Beatty, l.g.	2	1	5
Cummings, l.g.	0	0	0
Fraser, r.g.	0	0	0
Totals	7	8	22

ALPHA TAU OMEGA

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible]	0	2	2
Ryan, r.g.	1	1	3
Baldwin, [illegible]	2	2	7
Mahoney, [illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	2	0	4
Totals	5	6	16

Referee, Post; scorer, McBride; Time, two 20-minute periods.

NORWICH RIFLE TEAM WINS BY CLOSE SCORE

Saturday afternoon the Vermont rifle team went down to defeat by the narrow margin of five points at the hands of the Norwich sharpshooters. The final record showed 1,269 points for Norwich and 1,264 for Vermont. The ruling is that the five highest out of the six scores count but it is very interesting to note that if the six scores had been counted, the U. V. M. team would have won. A return match with the Cadets will be held at Norwich, March 22.

Summary: Vermont—Wardwell (Capt.), 270; Donaldson, 260; Perry, 251; Eliot, 242; Sheldon, 241; total, 1,264.

Norwich—Ponko, 267; Brown, 258; Bullock, 253; Viles, 251; Hartwell, 240; total, 1,269.

BASEBALL CANDIDATES START FIRST PRACTICE

About thirty candidates answered Coach Larry Gardner's first call for indoor baseball practice, Monday afternoon at three o'clock. The squad, consisting chiefly of battery candidates, included "Lefty" Cummings on whose shoulders will fall a greater part of this year's pitching duty; another portsider, "Chief" Rutkowski, a veteran letterman from last year's team; and McBride, a right-hander, who made the southern trip last year. Among others who show promise are Cunningham, Benway and Zambou.

Among the catchers the only two available with any previous varsity experience are "Charlie" Stroh, who made the southern trip last year and "Max" Kendall of last year's junior varsity. Among other backstops reporting are Heaton, Tomassetti and Towne.

Practice will be held every afternoon from three until five. "Doc" Newton, ex-Vermont star, will handle the pitchers in addition to coaching the junior varsity.

PHYZ ED NOTES

A new game has taken the campus by storm. It is called "Wince." The rules of the game are as follows:

1. You make a threatening motion and if your opponent winces, you give him three punches on his arm. If he does not wince there is no penalty.
2. If you hit him while making a threatening motion, he is entitled to take seven wallops at you.
3. If you hit him and say "I meant it," there is no penalty and your opponent cannot take seven socks in return. However, should you wince while he hits you back he is entitled to take the equivalent of 4-4 which simply means no whacks.

A pleasing game took place between professor and student the other day. The prof threatened to throw an exam and the student winced. The professor claimed his penalty, but the student counter-claimed that throwing an exam on a Monday morning was hitting below the belt. They compromised by the prof taking a cut and the student a flunk. Thus both the contending parties tied for honors.

It is rumored that the faculty will choose a team and challenge the students. Here's hoping they do better than they did in basketball.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

Have you chosen your life work?

In the field of health service The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers thorough well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.

Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean

HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Dept. H Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

Green and Gold Five Drop Last Two Games of Season

Norwich Wins by Narrow Margin of 28-27 in Overtime Battle Thursday—Captain Halligan, Manning and Bernstein Play Last Game in College Careers

HOLY CROSS DEFEATS CATAMOUNTS 23 TO 17

Last Thursday night the University of Vermont basketball quintet lost the final Green Mountain Conference game of the season to Norwich on the Cats' own floor, 28 to 27. A foul shot by Holmes in the final minute of an overtime period gave the Cadets the victory. The Catamounts played by far the best game they have shown this season and kept the fast Norwich five at top speed to keep up in the competition.

"Dink" Bernstein, high-point man for the Cats, played a stellar game in his forward berth, piling up ten points for the Cats' advantage. Captain Halligan, crack Vermont guard, came down hard on his trick knee early in the game and was forced out to be replaced by Collins, who kept his man scoreless for the rest of the time. "Phil" Manning, in spite of his playing an air-tight defense game, came through with nine points. Winant, who has played almost every position on the team this season, performed like a veteran by keeping Fanos, star Cadet center, to a single field goal.

Soon after the beginning of the first half, Sispey, star offense man for the Cadets, rang up the first tally, but Durfey immediately equalled the shot and the battle was on. The Cats took advantage of their free tries and four points were soon added to their score. Durfey and Bernstein collected a couple of goals a piece and the two teams kept on even terms, with Sispey doing the bulk of the Norwich scoring. It was just before the end of the half when Capt. "Tim" Halligan was forced out of the contest because of his trick knee. Norwich held the edge over the Cats at the rest session, 16 to 14.

The Green and Gold defense kept track of Sispey in better fashion in the second period, and Manning and Bernstein each collected from the distance to put Vermont ahead. An ambitious Cadet got a couple of nice heaves to return the lead to the horsemen, but "Eddie" Winant's free heave tied the count and the game ended, 25 to 25.

In the overtime period, "Phil" Manning put the Cats ahead with a double-decker from the side center, but Captain Grandy of Norwich tied the count when he came down the floor and took a swift pass from Fanos. Grandy, however, went out of the game on personals just before the end of the period and Viether, his running mate, sank the winning point.

VERMONT

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Durfey, r.f.	2	1	5
Bernstein, l.f.	4	2	10
Winant, c.	0	1	1
Manning, r.g.	4	1	9
Halligan (Capt.), l.g.	0	2	2
Collins, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	10	7	27

NORWICH

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Hartford, r.f.	1	0	2
Sispey, l.f.	6	0	12
Bate, l.f.	0	0	0
Fanos, c.	1	5	7
Grandy (Capt.), r.g.	2	0	4
Holmes, r.g.	0	0	0
Viether, l.g.	1	1	3
Totals	11	6	28

Referee, O'Brien.

CAPT. "TIM" HALLIGAN

Who concluded a brilliant basketball career with the Holy Cross game Saturday night

HOLY CROSS WINS

Saturday night the Vermont basketball fans received another surprise when their representatives on the court were defeated by the strong and fast Holy Cross five by the narrow margin of 23 to 17 after having outscored the Purple 10 to 5 in the second half. This game marked the close of the most unsuccessful basketball season for the Cats in recent years. In this contest Captain Halligan, Manning and Bernstein appeared for the last time in a basketball game for Vermont, for these three men formed the backbone of the Catamount team this year, will graduate in June.

The first half was rather uneventful for the Green and Gold and the Holy Cross five threatened a wholesome whitewash before the end by their swift passing and brilliant shooting. The score at the rest period was 18 to 7, with Holy Cross holding the upper hand. Manning did most of the scoring during this period by making four points in all and Capt. "Tim" Halligan, star defense man for the Cats, made the other three. Farrell tallied four times for the Purple and Dessureis twice. Winant played a stellar game in his forward berth, holding his man scoreless.

The second half had a much different story to tell for the tables were turned. The Cats came on with great spirit and the fight began. Manning came through with two twin-counters again and Sargent also tallied twice. The once ambitious and threatening Holy Cross forwards no longer reigned free and no longer met with the freedom which they boasted of during the first half. Only one field goal was scored for them, the other four points being free tries. The final score was 23 to 17 in favor of Holy Cross.

Coach Post is working on his track squad now. Every boy, the least bit athletically inclined, should go out for track. No one knows what he can do on the cinders until he practices and tries.

SPORT SWEATERS

The new shades for Spring and in the popular Crew Neck Style

$5.00 TO $12.00

Golf Hose to Match

HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

CAT'S MEOW

SPORTING EDITOR

For the interfraternity all-tournament teams we have picked the following:

First Team

Grant, f.	Sigma Phi
Agel, f.	Tau Epsilon Phi
Allerton, c.	Kappa Sigma
Mahoney (C.), g.	Alpha Tau Omega
McGowan, g.	Sigma Nu

Second Team

Hawley, f.	Phi Delta Theta
Valerio, f.	Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Farwell, c.	Independents
Dinniman (C.), g.	Phi Sigma Delta
Cheolino, g.	Alpha Tau Omega

Two important considerations entered into the choices. Those men who played on teams which came through the first round successfully were given the advantage over those who played with teams which were eliminated. Consistency of performance was thus taken into account. In the second place, the value of a man to his team was a deciding factor in several cases. One man, although of inferior ability, may have been of much more value to his team than the second man and, therefore, was given a place.

Some will be more than satisfied and others may be disappointed, but picked "all" teams is only a pastime. If you don't like these, pick your own.

The varsity basketball team played good basketball in the last two games against Norwich and Holy Cross. Superior long distance shooting won for the visitors. Vermont outscored her opponents in the second halves of both contests. The Norwich games was a heartbreaker. The Holy Cross fracas was an altogether different looking affair than the one at Worcester.

Coach Reed of Holy Cross said that he's always afraid of Vermont on the latter's home court. Holy Cross played excellent basketball, but Vermont fight was too much for them. The Crusaders even had "Tubber" Farrell, star guard, who was out of the Worcester game on account of illness.

Holy Cross scored from the floor only once in the second half. That's just what Vermont did in the first half at Worcester.

The Frosh-Mercury Club game scheduled for last Thursday was cancelled by Mercury on account of the inability of the management to get a suitable floor.

And now we turn from one of the poorest, if not the poorest, chapters in the history of Vermont athletics, to what we hope will be a much more brilliant spring, full of good baseball.

To watch the "nine" candidates in the cage is a treat. Larry Gardner calls out battery candidates and nearly every baseball player in school turns out daily, regardless of position. The boys certainly are anxious. Those are the kind a coach can do something with.

Manager Martinetti would appreciate more track scrubs. Sophomores should report to him or one of the assistants.

PARTY FAVORS

Here you will find a wide choice of gifts which may be used for dance favors.

If it comes from PRESTON'S you are assured that your gift will be of finest quality, correct style and prettily cased for presentation.

Your fraternity seal or letters may be put on each favor whether, local or national.

F. J. Preston & Son
Jewellers
17 Upper Church St.

DEBATERS OVERCOME M. A. C. FORENSICISTS

(Continued from page one)

Destroying a Case

OFF-CAMPUS DEBATES ARE BECOMING POPULAR

University Teams Will Conclude Fifth in Season's Series with Encounter in Colchester and Burlington Organizations

That the Emergence of Women from the Home is a Deplorable Episode of Modern Life is the topic which a debating team will put before the Community Grange in that town Friday night. This will be the fourth of a series of off-campus debates between university organizations in the state this season. The affirmative is to be upheld by Vermont debaters before the Knights of Pythias on the question of prohibition.

Off-campus debates have been practiced all this year. The teams used are composed entirely of University debaters. The first of the series was held before the local Grange. The second debate was before the Champlain Lodge of the Knights of Pythias in both Vermont used a two-man team for each side.

Last Thursday night the third in the series was presented at Vergennes before a local club.

Off-campus debating has never made such progress at Vermont as this season. Instances of such encounters have always been rare. Two years ago a Vermont debating team met Bates College in Brattleboro in the only collegiate engagement in Vermont ever to be held outside of a college town. Last year two varsity debaters appeared before the Burlington Rotary Club.

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

• • •

Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

ELZADA FISKE CHOSEN TO COUNCIL OF W. A. A.

Elzada Fiske has been appointed senior representative of the W. A. A. Council in place of Natalie Owsley, '30.

Co-ed Notes

Miss Cummings will lead a hike tomorrow at 4 p. m. At this time winter sports classes may be made up.

Hygiene tests on feet and shoes which have not been taken yet may be taken Thursday at 4.00 p.m. in the gymnasium office. This will be the last opportunity to take the test which will count as one question on the final exam.

Home Economics Club will meet tonight at Practice House at 7.30. Mrs. Mayforth of the Old Bee Hive will speak on the spring wardrobe.

There will be a meeting of the Dramatic Club, Friday evening, at the home of Lilian Cohen.

Irate Customer: When I put the coat on for the first time and buttoned it up I burst the seam down the back!

Tailor: Yes, that shows how well our buttons are sewed on.

Short: My big brother throws the discus for Penn State.

Pants: 'Snothin', my ol' man throws the switch for th' C. & O.

SPRING
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES
NOW HERE

PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

COLUMBIA LAW OFFERS VERMONT SCHOLARSHIP

Natives of Vermont who are eligible for the George Adams Ellis scholarship this year, according to announcement received by President Bailey from the Columbia University School of Law. Vermont students of marked ability are advised to apply for this scholarship, which provides tuition for the first year at the Columbia Law School.

The George Adams Ellis scholarship is designed for students of ability in the State of Vermont who desire to pursue a course of study in law and are unable to bear the expense of instruction. Candidates must possess strong character and good health as well as a good scholastic record.

Any student interested in pursuing such a course should apply at the comptroller's office where he may obtain a copy of the current law school bulletin, which contains an outline of admission requirements and the necessary procedure. Blank applications for admission and for scholarship aid may also be secured at the comptroller's office. These blanks, in addition to general information about the application ask for his scholastic record in detail and a statement concerning his reason for taking up the study of law, his extra-curricula activities, personal hobbies, plans for future major fields of study, special aptitudes and shortcomings, important friendships and associations, experiences in travel or work, and special likes and dislikes in academic work.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

Pipes save no midnight oil

IF PIPES made the man, anybody at all could rise in the world just by smoking a few pounds of Edgeworth. But pipes do not make the man.

Men make the pipe—most men do. Somewhat depends on the individual, more on the pipe, and the tobacco is most important of all. Things must be congenial.

Edgeworth is a congenial tobacco, cool, slow-burning, fully flavored. Edgeworth has poise, kindly good nature, real tobacco personality—Edgeworth welcomes new friends. Many a good man has been pledged to pipes by Edgeworth alone.

Like to meet Edgeworth? Just ask with the coupon—and the postman will bring your first few pipefuls of the genuine, three years seasoned if it's a day. Our treat, if you please.

Others have found Edgeworth and quit their discontent.

So may it be with you!

EDGEWORTH

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—sliced especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy it anywhere—"Ready Rubbed" or "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.
I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll try it in a good pipe.

(Witness my seal)

(and my seat of learning)

(and my postoffice and state)

Now let the Edgeworth come!

"YOU WOULDN'T TURN A DOG OUT ON A NIGHT LIKE THIS!" wailed NELL

"But father, with his slick city ways and perfumed hair, he turned my head . . ."

"Out ye go!" roared the irascible old yeoman . . . "any gal of mine that gives away the last of my smoother and better OLD GOLDS suffers the consequences. Down to the corner store with ye, and bring back a fresh carton or never darken my doorstep again!"

OLD GOLD

FASTEST GROWING CIGARETTE IN HISTORY . . . NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR. Paul Whiteman and complete orchestra . . . every Tuesday, 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time

"College Maul" Has No Compassion For Any Class, Not Even Sophomore

[illegible] and last installment will print from the [illegible] sheet of the [illegible] but one issue of [illegible]

And the Classes

[illegible] in for its share of [illegible] but we have space [illegible] section of the Lampoon [illegible] the sophomores, prefaced with the following delicate [illegible]

[illegible] and verge enough, [illegible] of hell to hate."

The sophomore class contains all the ugliness and roughness of the College besides combining the ugliness and the clumsiness of a drove of mules. The following lines said all that can be said of them as a class we proceed to a much more extended subject, a discussion of the individual animals. At first on the catalogue of crime stands G(ubernatorious) W(addling) Barrow, though better known as "little Willie." Concerning this sneak, little is said, and indeed not much more need be said than to remid our readers that he can be found almost any evening walking the streets, for what purpose we need not say. The most prominant feature in Bailey's character is his love for women. Closely allied to Bailey in character is (Faculty) M(ule) Barstow. This conceited little upstart came to College, we are told, with good resolutions; but through the influence of his Sig brothers, he has now become so depraved that his father seriously contemplates removing him from College. He! who comes here! The G(allic) Bearing Bertrand? 'Tis he, we smile, but let us dip our pen and get ready. Bertrand the traitor, the Faculty spy. This curly headed, low-lived degenerated sneak originated in Harrisburg and after living there twenty years or so, crossed over to the U V M and hired himself out to the Faculty. People generally suppose that he is one of Rebecca's suitors, consequently Camp's and Tuttle's rival. But this is false, for Bertrand has not courage enough to contemplate matrimony. He—but really we cannot do justice to the subject, let us leave him and take up our cologne bottle and the G(ravelling) B(iped) Catlin. This obstreperous granger came to College dressed in a green necktie, a layer of hair oil and in this condition he will figure at the exhibition for he has made no change in his costume with the exception of a pair of pants, which Professor Rice gave him; but these he only uses in examinations and then on account of the pockets. Probably no man in the class, Wheeler excepted, can surpass this man in lying and cheating. W(hiskey) P(lug) Dennison. "Come you virtuous ass" as Shakespeare would say. Now really, speaking fairly and candidly, don't you think a man with such a mouth as yours ought to be used for a coal scuttle? Bloated with conceit, you imagine yourself one of the biggest men in your class; but if you could read the minds of your fellow students you would then know that no one is more unpopular than yourself, Hibbard excepted. But without saying anything about your visits to ——— or about that night that you were put to bed in a helpless condition, or about the number of bottles which may be found in your room, though empty, we leave you hoping you will mend your ways before another year has passed. A(dolescent) D(octor) Dyer. This skillful horseman is the lowest type of humanity. We leave him for (Laying) A(varicious) Merrill, wherever there is anything low, mean or disgraceful going on, there he is to be found. All that has been said of Bailey will apply to Merrill as well, for they are always together. J(ug) Squeezer Morrill, whose prae-nomen and nomen indicate the tenor of his life. Notwithstanding Merrill's great bulk and apparent ruggedness, he is physically and mentally an imbecile, and the attentive reader would once perceive the reason of this if he knew his habits. But we leave him without mentioning the fifty dollars which he squandered freshman fall in his immoralities, or his many midnight rides this year, and take up F(amiliarizing) Stinson. This is the biblical personage with crumpled horn and may be put in the proportion, as Stinson is to the "Mill" in general, so is Sattley to the Juniors. When a freshman, Stinson tried to get in one of the societies, and upon finding that neither Owl, Delt or Sig would take him, he attempted to found a society for himself, therein making a most miserable failure. Stinson is immensely popular (with whom we have not discovered, but got the statement directly from himself) and the secret of his popularity lies in his winning freedom and loquacity, hence we advise the would-be popular freshmen to zealously regulate their conduct according to Stinson's rules. H(ouse-maid) K(issing) Tenney. This thing was brought here in a band-box together with a bottle of cologne, three neckties and one silk handkerchief, and two kid gloves, not mates. Tenney had a great partiality for "wine, women and song," considering himself an excellent judge of these articles, but the fact is, his love for the first often renders him unable to form a correct estimate of the second, and as for the third the audience tonight will perceive his limited knowledge. We announce his engagement with Miss S. L(antern-jawed) E(lephant) Tupper first saw light in Bakersfield. Having reached the age of twenty-two he entered this diabolical mass of infamy. We desire not to soil our virtuous sheet by narrating his career. All we can say in his favor is that Tupper is the moral man of his class, inasmuch as he has not been drunk since the football match, when he drank so deeply of the class cider. J(ackass) R(abbit) Wheeler. By far the most arrogant, supercilious egotist we know of. A mere hypocritical plug, whose only aim is to get high marks, and to further that aim he plays into the hands of the faculty. Wheeler has nothing in common with the rest of his class; they bear no love for him, nor he for them. Never does he engage in any class action which he thinks is likely to offend the faculty, and so lower his marks. Let him talk with you for five minutes and within that time you will hear "When I was abroad," or "when we were in Switzerland," or the like, so mortally afraid is he that the fact of his foreign travel will not be known. Now he is on the stage, regarding the audience with his contemptuous, pitying smile, to the disgust of all intelligent people, who feel like addressing him in the words of Hamlet, "Begin murderer, leave off thy damnable faces and begin." H(yponchondrical) M(isanthropical) Woods, a religious recluse of whom nothing can be said. S(omnolent) H(armonist) Wright is unworthy of our notice.

Wright's name ends the list and now we close. We have attempted to portray a picture, which for the proper exposition, would require the tail of a devil dipped in brimstone, and wielded by the "Arch Fiend."

There is much more illuminating and edifying material in The Maul, including a sophomore class song, but as it was written in Latin, we shall, if for no other reason, omit it. All the other classes, the "out-damned-spot" freshmen, the "blue-tail" juniors, the idiotic seniors all come in for ribald comment. The neutrals are not forgotten. Neither are members not hitherto mentioned of the dismembered faculty. There is a little sketch, done in playlet form, entitled "Investigation." John Dewey, our eminent philosopher, who was a luckless junior at the time, is characterized as: "The embodiment of obstinacy, John Dewey, not deeming him worthy our attempts of reformation, we pass by. And the women—God bless them—are introduced with the following lines:

"Through shadows and horrors,
In world underground;
Through sounds that appall,
And through sights, that confound
I sought the weird women."

U. V. M. Negotiates Woods Purchase

The University of Vermont may purchase East Woods park, located on the south border of the city, according to a communication from Edward Hatch of Willsboro, N. Y. The property includes 91 acres and was owned by the late Edward Hatch of Lord and Taylor, New York city. Speaking of the former owner, Mr. Hatch of Willsboro Point says:

"By his vigilant supervision he was able to retain it in the primitive and natural state despite the environment of civilization. It contains a grove of primeval towering pines and hemlocks that arise like giants on a plateau overlooking Lake Champlain and the Adirondack Mountains. These venerable trees are said to be the finest specimens of their kind in the State. A picturesque glen is contained within the park, through which a spirited brook winds its way to Lake Champlain.

"The park is considered a valuable acquisition to the University and is only a short distance from the college grounds. It will be held in perpetuity on the same plan as adopted by Girard College in Philadelphia. It will be used by the students as a recreational resort and for outdoor classes in nature studies.

"The property was owned by Livingston and Van Note Hatch, who were the sellers."

President Guy W. Bailey of the University of Vermont, when interviewed concerning the purchase, said that negotiations had been under way for some time and the University had made an offer for the property, but that so far as he knew it had not been accepted. No deed had passed for the property, he said, and it was difficult to say when the purchase would be completed, if at all.

EDUCATION FRATERNITY ADMITS NINE MEMBERS

Alpha Gamma Chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, national honorary education fraternity, announces the initiation of nine new members to the society, five of whom are seniors, three juniors, and one sophomore. The initiation took place last Friday evening in the Education office of the Old Mill.

The following are those who were initiated: George Watson, '30, of Waban, Mass., Jerry Bullis, '30, of Oelwein, Iowa; John Moore, '30, of East Peacham; Bruno Lucarini, '30, of Burlington, Philip Manning, '30, of Worcester, Mass.; Maxwell Kendell, '31, of Newport; Donald Pierce, '31, of Lyndon; Kenneth Stevens, '31, of West Glover; and Willis W. Howard, '32, of White River Junction

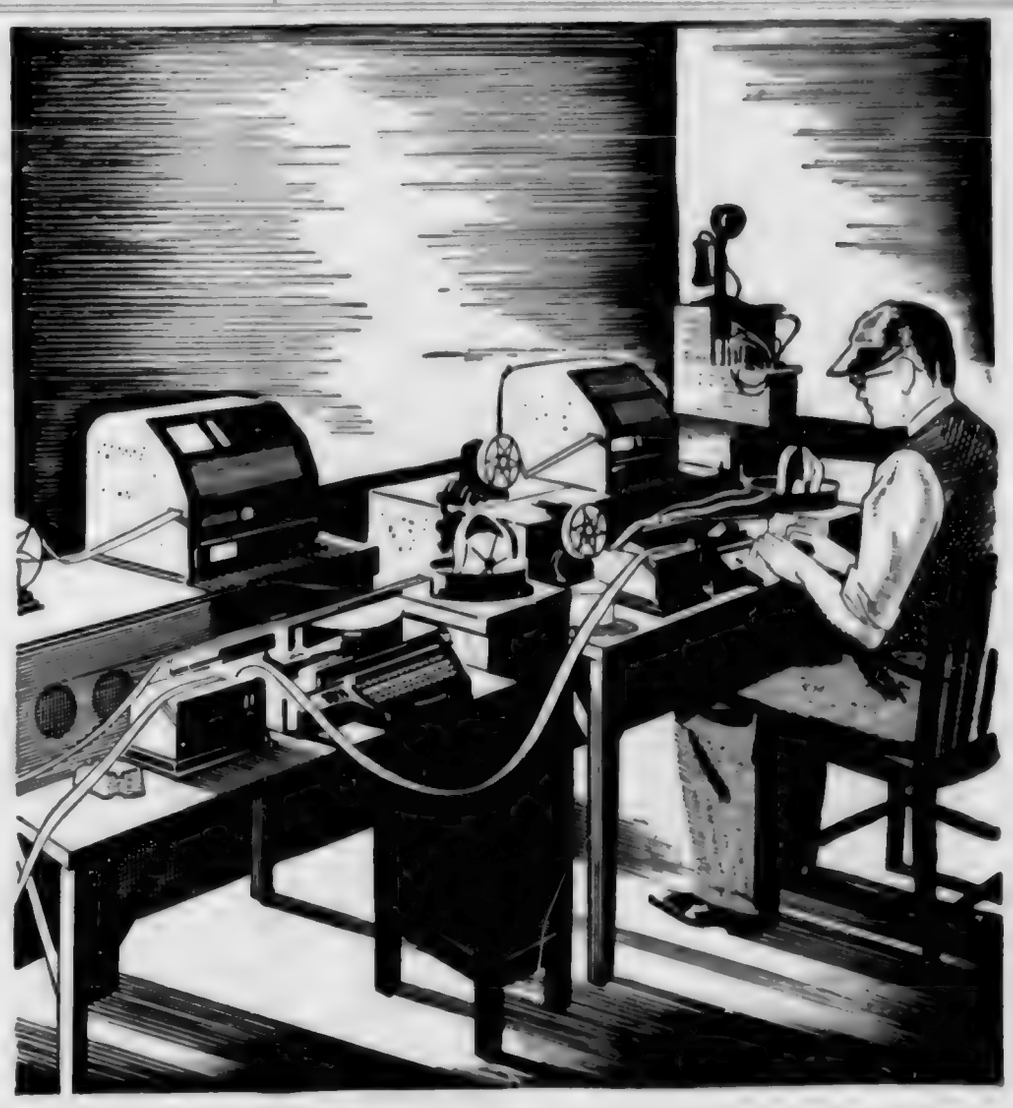
Kappa Phi Kappa is a fraternity for those who especially plan a career of teaching. It was established at U V M on May 13, 1927. The present officers of Kappa Phi Kappa are: P. S. Robbins, '30, president; Charles Mace, '30, vice-president; O. A. Martinetti, '30, treasurer; K. G. Hooker, '30, corresponding secretary; and Robert Lee Stewart, '30, recording secretary.

Men who were truly instrumental in the founding of Kappa Phi Kappa on the hill were: Prof. B. C. Douglass of the Education Department; Floyd Somerville, '27, Dean Rowe, '27, and Edmund Royce, '27.

"Oh, no, dear. I'm sure he's a kind man. I just heard him say he put his shirt on a horse which was scratched."

GIFFORD LECTURES ON EMOTIONAL CONFLICT

Discusses Prevention, Cure and Readjustment In Connection With Problems Of Emotional Life



Professor A R Gifford spoke for the second time on mental hygiene to the freshman women Friday afternoon. The subject included problems of emotional life and conduct during adolescence, their prevention, readjustment, and cures.

Under the topic of emotional conduct Professor Gifford explained three major problems. Suppression of natural impulses, conflict of impulses, and obsessions. These major problems, or repressions and conflicts, often leading from a small source, may result in their complements: Defense reaction, compensation conduct, and rationalization to save appearances.

The first consideration, under the heading of prevention, readjustment and cures, is "insight," or the individual self valuation and estimation, to result in the development of resistance. The second method is called "reconditioning," which involves the development and substitution of new habits for old.

As a parting note, Professor Gifford strongly advised what is technically known as "Catharsis of Conversation." In simple language this term means the "ventilation of difficulties" or the unburdening of a troubled mind to a confidante, confessional, or hygienic consultant.

According to Miss Cornelia Anderson of Vassar College, fifteen out of forty colleges permit women to smoke in dormitories. She presented statistics at the meeting of the National Student Federation of America held at Palo Alto, Calif.

Typing by wire—an adventure in communication

The telephone typewriter, a new Bell System service, has commercial possibilities as yet barely realized.

For example, a business house can typewrite a message over telephone wires, and this is retyped instantaneously and simultaneously in any number of branch offices. The advantage is obvious — in knitting together far-flung organizations and in quickening the pace of business.

Here is still another extension of telephone service which has already proved its value. The telephone typewriter promises even greater things as industry discovers new uses for this instrument of convenient communication.

BELL SYSTEM

A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

A BOOK NO ONE SHOULD MISS

NOW IN THE

LENDING LIBRARY

at the

UNIVERSITY STORE

GRANDMOTHER BROWN'S HUNDRED YEARS

by

HARRIET CONNER BROWN

This is the life story of an American woman who lived from 1827 to [illegible] which embraces most of our history as a nation. Her early [illegible]nations and the talk of her elders take us back before the [illegible] and in the happenings of her full and many years we see as [illegible]ry book could show us, the intimate and personal side of what [illegible] now come to be landmarks in the country's growth.

International Institute Will Open First Lecture

(Continued from page 1)

Herbert Elvin, at the Old Mill Auditorium, Thursday night marks the beginning of the University of Vermont's International Institute. Last fall the Institute was established by the University Council on Social Relations for the purpose of bringing to the campus and into the community a knowledge of the present and the background of the present world situation. Interest in the Institute has been keen and the response enthusiastic. The Institute is the culmination of the efforts of the Council and the interest of the audiences which have been invited to the lectures. Professor E. Gould Beckwith, Director of the Institute, has been untiring in his efforts to bring to the campus the finest speakers obtainable. Tucker P. Smith is the executive secretary for the National Committee on Mobilization of Education. At the City Hall Auditorium, Thursday night, Tucker P. Smith will speak on "Breaking the War Habit."

There is no admittance charge for the lectures at the Old Mill Auditorium on Thursday nor for any of the other lectures in the program of the Institute.

James Bertie will speak in the Old Mill Chapel, Thursday afternoon at four o'clock on "Student Responsibility for World Peace." James Bertie is at the present time doing graduate work at Yale University. He is a graduate of Williams College and has been prominent in peace activities. He was a member of the American Friends Service in 1917 studied the social, political and economic conditions of England, Germany and the Balkans.

A program of the lectures follows:

PROGRAM OF THE INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE

Wednesday, March 5

8:00 a.m. Chapel. Samuel Lavington

8:00 p.m. Old Mill Chapel. Samuel Lavington

Thursday, March 6

8:30 a.m. Class in History 3. Herbert Elvin. Subject: "Home and Foreign Problems of the British Labor Government."

4:00 p.m. Old Mill Chapel. James Bertie. Subject: "Student Responsibility for World Peace."

8:00 p.m. City Hall Auditorium. Tucker P. Smith and Herbert Elvin. Subjects: Tucker P. Smith—"Breaking the War Habit." Herbert Elvin—"League of Nations and the Kellogg Pact."

All of the lecturers who are appearing here are men of a liberal and pro-pacifistic mind who have won some degree of distinction from their activities in world movements. The following quotation from an article entitled "To a Rebel" by James Bertie which appeared in the October 1919 issue of the Survey Graphic Magazine will give some idea of the attitude of the lecturers and the approach which they will take to the various problems they will touch on.

"Most of this talk you are hearing about the education which you are to receive in the four years of college is an illusion. The brutal facts of the case are that college is a preparation for life. It is a training school for the ruling class. It is a finishing school for the sons of the well-to-do. It is a place where the sons of the middle class are taught to be content with their lot in life. It is a place where the sons of the workers are taught to be ashamed of their class and to look down upon their fathers and mothers

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1930 NUMBER 60

"Scatter The Negro," Says Pastor In Institute Talk

Colored Minister, In Address Before International Institute, Insists That Scatteration Is Only Solution To Race Problem In the United States

ATTACKS RACE HATRED AT WEDNESDAY CHAPEL

[illegible] Distribute him [illegible] ay of America and [illegible] on the continent, and every [illegible] him every privilege [illegible] discrimination. That would [illegible] say toward solving his prob- [illegible] declared Samuel Laviscount, ne- [illegible] minister, last Wednesday [illegible] at a lecture dedicated by the [illegible] Institute to a discussion [illegible] racial prejudices that particu- [illegible] affect the American negro.

A tremendous blunder was made de- [illegible] Mr. Laviscount by those who [illegible] the negro into slavery with no [illegible] for posterity; and, the [illegible] pointed out, America is fur- [illegible] complicating the race problem by [illegible] Mexican labor to supplant ne- [illegible] labor in our Southern states. Yet [illegible] blunder was made in the un- [illegible] emancipation of the negro. Hun- [illegible] of thousands of negroes were [illegible] turned loose, after 250 years [illegible] forced labor, without any possible [illegible] in sight. England had wisely [illegible] her slaves in stages, and suf- [illegible] no such consequences as those [illegible] America after the Civil [illegible] consequences also engendered a [illegible] hatred between the North and [illegible] South.

Remedies?

"The embarrassing situation today," [illegible] explained, "is what shall [illegible] with the American negro." He [illegible] proceeded to give four solutions [illegible] be admitted to be possible, but [illegible] to be proved to be hardly feasible. [illegible] not repatriate the American [illegible] asked the speaker. "Why not [illegible] him back to Africa?" Replying [illegible] own questions he showed such [illegible] to be impracticable, [illegible] enormous expenditures of [illegible] also that Africa in a real [illegible] belongs to Europe, and that [illegible] is in no way desirous of having [illegible] problems complicated to any [illegible] extent. "It would be a mat- [illegible] further declared Mr. Laviscount, [illegible] having forced the negro to slave [illegible] compensation, and then because [illegible] not pertinent to some ideas to [illegible] to get rid of him. Truly, the [illegible] forces of the world could not [illegible] it."

The second possible solution was the [illegible] of the negro in America. [illegible] reminded his hearers how the [illegible] Indian has been practically [illegible] eliminated, now he is dwindling into [illegible] significance before the onslaughts of [illegible] Anglo-Saxons. But, on the other [illegible] he showed how vastly different [illegible] the negro from the Indian. The [illegible] enforced labor, his defense [illegible] had not been developed, [illegible] the world not submit to the in- [illegible] imposed by the white man. [illegible] contrast is the nature of the [illegible] who will smile when he is in- [illegible] and will laugh and sing through [illegible] considerable pain. His un- [illegible] spirit is buoyed up by the [illegible] that burst forth from the [illegible] The negro can be destroyed by [illegible] boycott, but in such event [illegible] into a criminal class. [illegible] possible to segregate [illegible] outskirts of civilization," [illegible] Laviscount, bringing out [illegible] possible solution, "although [illegible] would become local dis- [illegible] and as disease is not par- [illegible] whom it takes effect, it [illegible] spread and take root out- [illegible] segregated group."

Amalgamation a Solution

[illegible] solution that Mr. Lavis- [illegible] viewed as possible was amal- [illegible] although he pointed out [illegible] that this was unwanted by [illegible] negro should preserve [illegible] as far as the white per- [illegible] The negro has been chal- [illegible] has been asked what he [illegible] He answers by [illegible] civilization and culture [illegible] a nation of blacks that [illegible] with Egypt, to negro [illegible] that flourished in the [illegible] Africa, and to negro [illegible] authors and educators of

The Anglo-Saxons, he pointed out, [illegible] always the most powerful [illegible] the world, they too were

(Continued on page 4)

GIFTS MAKE POSSIBLE CONSTRUCTION OF NEW MUSEUM THIS SPRING

Contributions of Late Mr. Wilbur and Others Will Provide Place to House University's Collections

Plans have been announced for the new University museum which will be built in the spring near the site of the building now being used. It will replace the present museum which is inadequate in size and equipment for the keeping of the collections and exhibits in the possession of the University.

Funds have reached a total in the vicinity of four or five hundred thousand dollars, made up of the generous gifts of Miss Wolcott and the late Mr Wilbur and of several smaller contributions. Mr. Wilbur's purpose in sponsoring the erection of a new museum was to provide a suitable place for housing his large collection of Vermontiana—books, manuscripts, deeds, maps, and letters concerning the history of the State. Miss Wolcott, whose uncle, Robert H. Fleming, graduated from Vermont in the '60's, was chiefly interested in giving the University an adequate building for the sculpture, pictures and works of art which it possesses and for those it is likely to acquire in the future.

To Build In May

Construction of the new museum will begin in May and will probably be finished in the course of a year. The building will be erected on the site of Commons Hall, which will be torn down at the time. It will be a T-shaped, two and three story structure, one hundred sixty-seven feet long with a full height basement. The central part will run up into a third story.

The building will be completely fireproof, constructed of brick, steel, hollow tile and concrete. It will be fitted with many conveniences such as a vacuum cleaning system, photographic rooms, artificial ventilation, and a network of lighting wires imbedded in the floors with outlets available at all parts of the rooms.

The entrance hall will be a beautiful room two stories high with a gallery at the top and will be known as the hall of sculpture.

One wing of the basement will contain the geology and mineralogy collections. The other will be an auditorium with seats for two-hundred and seventy people and fully equipped with a projection booth and raised platform.

Will Consolidate Exhibits

The offices of the director and curator, the reference library, and the conference room will be located on the first floor. The present Cannon collection of Oriental weapons and art will be transferred in much of its present araringement to a room on this floor, and the ethnology and archeology exhibits, now scattered over the old museum building will occupy two large rooms adjacent to the Cannon collection. This will bring together all exhibits of human races, past and present, in one group. The birds and mammals will also be quartered on the first floor.

Another feature is the children's room for the benefit of the large number of school children who come to study the collections. The directors plan to arrange special talks for the children and a variety of questionnaires on the exhibits, as is the modern practice in children's museums.

The second floor will contain the exhibits of fishes and other vertebrates, and such invertebrates as shells, insects and corals. Rooms for the preparation and repair of the exhibits and storage of duplicate material will be grouped at one end of this floor. These rooms will be provided with hot

(Continued on page 2)

METCALF WILL SPEAK BEFORE GERMAN CLUB

The German Club [illegible] will hold a meeting at the [illegible] members Club House on Thursday evening, March [illegible] at 8 o'clock. Professor T. J. Metcalf of the Psychology Department of the University will be the speaker. His subject will be the German theatre.

The German Club has been functioning as one of the most active organizations on the campus during the past few months. At a meeting of the club last week Dean Swift spoke to the members in the German language.

Few Flunked, Dean Indicates

Dean's Report Shows Fewer Failures Last Semester Than for Same Period Last Year

SMALLER NUMBER ARE UNDER WARNING NOW

That the number of students dropped for low scholastic standing during the past semester is lower than the number of failures for the same period last year, is disclosed by statistics released from the office of the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences yesterday. Twenty-eight students, in all, flunked out.

The same report indicates that the number of students under warning, 103, is less than that in either of the past two years. The percentage of freshmen under warning, however, remains the same as last year, 28.6 percent being involved in scholastic difficulties.

Lower Classes Improve

More students in the freshman and sophomore classes attained an average of B or better than last year, but in the upper classes the percentage declined this year.

The full report follows:

Number of students attairing an average of B or better:

	'30	'31	'32	'33	T. T.
A average:
Men	3	1	3	1	..
Women	5	..	..	..	..
90% average:
Men	4	2	1	1	..
Women	10	3	3	3	1
B average:
Men	8	11	4	9	..
Women	16	7	15	10	18

Total attaining an average of B or better:

(Continued on page 2)

ETA SIGMA PHI HOLDS OFFICERS' INSTALLATION

At a meeting of Eta Sigma Phi, honorary classical society, last Tuesday evening at Professor Bassett's home, the following officers for this semester were installed: President, H. M Macomber, '30, of Burlington; vice-president, Verna Carrier, '32, of Bennington; secretary, Elisabeth Mandigo, '32, of Randolph; treasurer, C. W Knapp, '31, of Burlington; sergeant-at arms, C. K Bush, '32, Sheldon; reporter, Natalie Carleton, '32, Burlington.

After the installation of officers the following were initiated into the society: Alberta Berry, '31, Livermore Falls, Maine; Dorothy Nash, '31, Concord, N. H.; Mary Colpitts, '31, Wallingford; Lucy Hope, '32, South Royalton; Agnes Parsons, '33, Gloucester, Mass.; Sylvia Boyd, '33, West Newton; Leah Gowan, '33, Milton; and Grace Johnson, '33, Swanton. These students received election to Eta Sigma Phi due to their high average in Greek.

The members discussed the presentation of a play from the Idyl of Theocritus, "The Festival of Adonis".

W. A. A. COUNCIL CHOOSES NEW CO-ED GYM STYLES

A different style of gym suit for the incoming freshman class was chosen at a W A A Council meeting Monday afternoon in the gym office. The suit will consist of a sleeveless green jersey, green serge circular bloomers, a white blouse with a pointed collar and long sleeves and white ankle socks.

138 In Arts College Earn Honors On Dean's Lists

Ninety-One Are Women and 47 Men—Seniors Lead All Classes—Literary-Scientific Course Best Represented Among Highest Standing Students

DEAN CLASSIFIES BY A, B, AND 90 PERCENT AVERAGES

Of 730 students enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences 138 91 women and 47 men, have placed on the Deans List for the last semester with averages of 85 percent or better. Thirteen students, including four out of the six undergraduates in Phi Beta Kappa, attained averages of 95 percent, while 28 others presented records averaging at least 90 percent.

By Classes and Sex

Seniors lead all classes represented on the Dean's List with a total of 45. Women lead men in virtually every classification, while, in the two upper groups, literary-scientific students predominate, with seventeen averaging at least 90 percent.

The table below shows representations by sex and class:

	95 pct.		90 pct.		85 pct.
	M	W	M	W	M	W
1930 ..	3	5	4	10	8	15
1931 ..	1	0	2	3	11	7
1932 ..	3	0	1	3	3	16
1933 ..	1	0	1	3	9	10
T. T. ..	0	0	0	1	0	18

The table indicates that of the 13 with a 95 percent average, 8 are men and 5 women, while of those attaining 90 percent averages, only 8 are men and 20 women. Of the B average students 66 are women and 31 men.

The classes of 1931 and 1933 have equal representation, each placing 24 on the list. In the sophomore class 36 earned scholastic honors. Teacher-training students list 19 with B-averages or better.

In the upper classifications 17 are enrolled in the L.-S. course, 13 in the Classical, 5 in the General Science, 3 in Chemistry, and 1 each in Commerce and Economics, Teacher Training, and Education.

In making out the lists an A is counted as 95 percent, a B as 85 percent, a C as 75 percent and a D as 65 percent. An A average means a record with no grade below A; ½ A-½ B is an average of 90 percent or the equivalent of a record in which half the grades are A and half are B or better. A B average is an average of 85 percent. Nothing below 85 percent is regarded as a B average. A student may, however, have grades below B, provided these are balanced by a sufficient number of grades of A, and still attain a B average.

The full lists follow:

A AVERAGE

1930

Lillian Cohen, A. S. Cohen, Alice Dean, Harriet Howard, H. M. Macomber, F. V. Rich, Annette Rosenberg, Mary Waddell.

1931

C. W. Knapp.

1932

C. K. Bush, F. W. Householder, H. I. Varney.

½ A-½ B

1930

H. K. Borreland, Georgia Bostwick, *Pauline Burridge, T. C. Crawford, Dorothy Dailey, Anne Edmunds, Phoebe Flint, Mabel Freemann, *Susan Howard, M. B. Jenks, Doris Kibbe, Irene Marcotte, F. A. Sears, Anna Tracy.

1931

E. J. Desautels, L. Lisman, *Esther Mandigo, Dorothy Nash, Jean Wappler.

1932

R. T. Connor, Elizabeth Mandigo, Elizabeth Mosher, Roberta Powers.

1933

Sylvia Boyd, Norma Carder, Genevieve Petze, L. L. Woodward.

T. T.

Gertrude Kilgallen.

*Taking less than 15 hours.

B AVERAGE

1930

P. G. Andrews, Doris Barrett, Joyce Brown, E. O. Bundy, Belle Church, Ella Cummings, Doris Duprat, Edith Fishman, Dorothy Kimball, H. B. Levine, Evangeline Masse, J. M. Moore, Cornelia Mould, Zelta Norcross, Magdalene Orvis, Clarissa Peters, E. H. Powell, Joyce Richardson, Elizabeth Robelen, P. T. Scutakes, R. L. Stewart, R. M. Tracy, Ruth Wedell.

1931

R. B. Aiken, Alberta Berry, Dorothy Brown, G. R. Brush, Elizabeth Clark, Jane Corwin, R. H. Cowles, Helen Drugg, L. M. Foster, J. F. Lynch, G. R. Nelson, E. B. Rand, R. J. Roche, A. Sharples, G. H. Smead, Constance Stone, Winifred Stone, T. S. Webster.

1932

S. B. Barker, Cornelia Bayliss, Edna Blackwood, Christine Bliss, Natalie Carleton, Evelyn DeBrune, Rosetta Harlow, Caroline Howard, R. S. Jenks, Crystal Lawes, Lillian Mount, S. S. Mudgett, Katrina Munn, Florice Murch, Donna Oakes, Agnes Parsons, Eleanor Smith, H. C. Torrey, Margaret Watkins.

1933

M. L. Bergman, Pauline Bigelow, W. W. Bryan, E. R. Carter, R. F. Colburn, R. P. Donaghy, Elizabeth Eckhard, P. P. Fischer, Leah Gowen, Mildred Hastings, Dorothy Jackman, Grace Johnson, M. R. Levin, Shirley Nichols, Charlotte Odell, Mary Petras, E. J. Swinyor, Marion Urie, A. F. Whiting.

T. T.

Mildred Akins, Ara Armstrong, Esther Barton, Florence Green, Helen Harvey, Mazy Higgins, Cora Hutchins, Frances Ladd, Erlene Little, Lucy Manley, Jennie Needham, Anna Orlowsky, Mildred Reed, Emma Rock, Ruth Savage, Helen Taft, Roberta Thayer, Marion Tower.

While the records of the following students are incomplete, the grades so far reported warrant provisional inclusion in this list:

1930

Natalie Owsley.

1933

F. B. Drew (A average)

GREY FRIARS MEMBERS PRESENT MANUSCRIPTS

"Tramping through the Vermont Woods," was the title of a paper read by Edmour Germain at a Grey Friars meeting last Sunday night. Paul La Crosse presented two poems, written in classical style, at the same meeting.

Germain was peculiarly well-fitted to write on his chosen subject, having served as caretaker of Taft Lodge, a hiker's haven on the Long Trail, the past few seasons. Figuring prominently in Germain's paper were the Cave of the Winds, which has been penetrated only three times in 1870, 1911 and 1929, the Mansfield Subway, an agglomeration of caves in the side of the mountain, Bear Lake, which only a very few have ever seen, Mansfield Lake, one of the most beautiful bodies of water in the State, and Sterling Lake, which never freezes over.

LaCrosse read an elegy, "On the Death of My Dog," and a short poem, "Narcissa."

BLUESTOCKINGS HEAR CENTURY-OLD LETTERS

"Letter writing in the Nineteenth Century" was the subject of an address by Professor W. E. Aiken before a Bluestockings meeting last Monday afternoon at Grassmount. He read excerpts from letters of the last century, punctuating the reading with witty remarks, and contrasted the formality of their style with the informality of present-day letters.

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editors

Associate Editors

Sports Editor

Business Manager

Assistant Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Four Cents.

Contributions and communications are welcomed by the editors. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. Anonymous communications should be addressed to the Editor-in-Chief. Business communications and subscriptions should be addressed to the Business Manager. Delta Pi House of publication, corner of Pearl and Prospect streets, Burlington, Vt. Entered at the Burlington Postoffice as second class matter. Publication during the college year on Wednesday and Saturday mornings. Subscriptions may be ordered at the Business Manager's office, Delta Pi House, corner of Pearl and Prospect streets, Burlington, Vt. Entered as second class matter at the Burlington Postoffice. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized December 14, 1922.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 40 March 1, 1930 No. 40

The College Student and the World

The coming of the International Institute to the campus of the University should serve as a reminder, and by no means a gentle one, that the college student is secluded in no isolated cloister but that as an intelligent human being he must accept the responsibilities that world problems throw upon the inhabitants of the planet.

The world of the college student has too long been confined to campus interests and the sport page. Prohibition and the stock market alone have had a sufficient element of personal interest to rouse him to a response to problems of national import. To those of undoubtedly superior brawn to such factors as influence basically the lives of millions and events dynamic enough in them to shake the world to its very foundations, he has no thinking response to make.

Like the reader of the tabloid sheet, the college student craves sensation and color. In gossip and in scandal-mongering he is in his element. The love constitutes his most absorbing reading and superficial impressions him as much as a football victory delights him.

Such defects in the make up of the college student we ascribe to his intellectual laziness. He likes things ready put which he can absorb with a minimum of effort. Nor will he look with favor on any attempt to make him search that which is too abstruse for his comprehension. To extract anything of interest to thinking beings which requires close application of intellect to grasp. In fact, the abysmal ignorance of college students in problems involving national or international consequence is as real as his antipathy to the final examination.

We have however noted a slowly rising interest in world affairs among the student body of our University. In the lectures[illegible] brought to the campus by student groups dedicated to the discussion of fundamentally important problems we see its logical culmination.

The Institute was devoted largely to a study of the problems of world peace. The students who profess to rise above the commonplaces of ordinary mortals when they learned of the theme of the Institute we assume not to a Monchester person but to an indolent spectator. To their "What good does it all do?" we reply "The student of today is the leader of tomorrow. As he thinks so the world will go." The sentiment is trite but here we have an instance where triteness and actuality are not incompatible.

We were proud to see the names of our president and of a member of our faculty on a mammoth petition for world disarmament. We were just as pleased when, a short time ago, a group of our students protested the building of a battleship and again when we learned that a group of our own boys were among those who subscribed to a resolution condemning militarism in our educational system.

That groups of intellectually alive students do exist on our campus is testified to by the activity of those who have exhibited such interest in the problem of peace. That these groups may expand until they have removed the last rah rah boy from the University and have made the traditionally loved and superficial collegian a joke is our most earnest wish.

OMICRON NU ELECTS THREE TO MEMBERSHIP

Helen Wilson '31 of Brandon, Janice Davis '31 of Wallingford and Agnes Shaw '31 of S Londonderry were elected to Omicron Nu, honorary home economics society, according to an announcement made last Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Home Economics Club at the practice house. The only other undergraduate member is Nancy Goddard '31.

GIFTS MAKE POSSIBLE MUSEUM CONSTRUCTION

(Continued from page 1)

and cold water, compressed air, gas and an abundance of electric outlets.

The third story in the central part of the museum will be illuminated only by skylight and will be used for pictures and other art objects.

Visitor (Class — Sir, have you a reser[illegible]

Guard — What do you think I am—an animal?

Campus Comment

[This letter is written in protest against a recent editorial in the Cynic which quoted professors there as crazy, old fossil goats out of uniform. The author requests comment for the press.]

To the Editor of the Cynic:

We have heard much discussion on the subject of compulsory military training, but the heroism of the meeting that took place in favor of abolishing this so-called evil and I do not remember hearing much the other side of the question. To my mind there are two sides of the question and I propose to give a few arguments in favor of it.

I suppose it is understood that compulsory military training at the University of Vermont is but a requirement of the University imposed upon the students but rather one placed upon the University by the federal government, since Vermont is a land grant college and as such is required to give a compulsory course in military science to its students. However if the University wished to abolish this training it would smother an annual appropriation made by the national government for land grant colleges. I will not use this argument in my discussion.

In a recent issue of the Cynic great grief was expressed over the fact that the New England student conference at Northfield adopted a resolution condemning compulsory military training. I wonder just what significance this has. Many of the delegates were probably from colleges which do not require military training and others where women who have had no experience in the military field. I do not wish to deny however the value of the leadership of the church in the peace movement but I do not think this move against compulsory military training is one in the right direction.

It seems to me that compulsory military training is one of the surest movements for peace now in operation. I think that if every man who went to college were required to take as much military as we are and had a chance to catch a little glimpse of what war is like, his slightest desire for war would be tempered. As a class men in the army are the ones who want war least, and I think it would be a hard task to find many military men who would say they would like to have a war. I will not say anything as to the physical and moral benefits derived. If there are any except to say that I fail to see how any man can be harmed by military at this University.

In military as in any other thing, we get as much out of it as we put into it. If we keep our eyes open we can't help but pick up things in this course as in any course, which are of some real value if we are not prone to overlook them. We aren't taking military to be soldiers, for few if any of us will be, but more to get a sight of what does go on in war and to be that much surer of not getting into it.

As far as the idea that carrying a gun suggests taking life goes, I consider that 100 per cent bunk. I doubt if any man who has carried a gun in this battalion ever thought of shooting anyone and he couldn't if he wanted to.

I agree that this is a good time for the colleges to counteract the psychology of militarism and that colleges should prepare men to think in terms of peace. But I think nothing is doing that more efficiently than this little compulsory military training.

As for the fact that military drill at the University takes time and strength which should be given to students, this may be true, but I doubt if many students would get up at 7:30 to study if that subject were abolished.

Again it was stated in the Cynic that it was an objectionable spectacle to see members of the graduating class going to the platform on commencement day in military uniform to take the oath and receive commissions as officers in the government service. Allow me to point out that these relatively few men are those who elected to take advanced military training and who were in no way required to take it. Also their commissions as officers in the regular arms are good for only five years unless a small amount of additional training is taken each year.

Federal inspection each year is nothing more or less than practical application of knowledge gained in the course. Why any one should get the idea that it is a demonstration against the peace movement is more than I can see. The inspection is looked upon more a picturesque spectacle or exhibition and the underlying motive is certainly remote from any purpose of war.

I am willing to admit that there are two sides to the question but let's look at both sides fairly before making any rash decisions and admit that military training isn't all worthless.—A. B. C.

One Junior: Has anyone commented on your driving last week?

Another Junior: Yes one man said, briefly, "Twenty dollars and costs."

A social meeting of the Dramatic Club will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Lilian Cohen's home, 82 Grant street. Entertainment and refreshments will be provided.

Bailey and Mower are Among 1200 Signers of Appeals for Disarmament

That Vermonters and Americans in general want a real reduction in armaments is evidenced by the appeal signed by President Guy W Bailey and Prof E C Mower among others, and cabled Sunday, March 2nd, to the American delegation at London.

Bearing the signature of more than 1,200 men and women recognized as leaders of thought throughout the United States, this appeal indicates a widespread and growing sentiment for the renunciation of war in favor of settling disputes by peaceful means.

The appeal which appears in full below was sponsored by Raymond B. Fosdick, James T Shotwell, James C. McDonald and Carrie Chapman Catt. The Vermont signatures include the Rev G E Robbins of Burlington, secretary of the Vermont Council of Religious Education Rev W G. Towart of Bennington, Paul P Jones, J. Windrath and President Paul D. Moody of Middlebury College. The list contains such well known names as David Starr Jordan and Kathleen Norris of California, Dr Irving Fisher of Yale University, Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago and William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette.

Text of Appeal

The text of the Appeal follows.

"Upon the reconvening of the naval conference we, the undersigned, reiterate the hope that the remaining negotiations be conducted in full remembrance of the fact that all of the powers at London have agreed in the pact of Paris to renounce war in favor of settling disputes by peaceful means.

"We base our expectations upon President Hoover's Armistice Day speech in which he declared: 'We will reduce our naval strength in proportion to any other. Having said that it only remains for the others to say how long they will go. It cannot be too low for us.' This policy of reduction has had and continues to have the overwhelming endorsement and support of the American people. We protest against any possibility that this policy of reduction may be abandoned.

"As a fundamental basis for the reduction of armaments, we urge the importance of taking steps at the London Conference to utilize the principle of joint conference in the case of disputes which otherwise might lead to war.

"We pledge to the President and American delegation our active and continued support for the conclusion of such agreements as embody the principles of reduction and conference and at the same time meet the justly aroused expectations of the entire world. We cannot impress too strongly upon the American delegation the calamitous effect which the failure of the London Conference to achieve those principles would have upon American opinion."

Battleships or Schools?

No one can doubt that [illegible] public opinion has made great [illegible] on the road toward world peace [illegible] the leadership of President [illegible] during the past year, stimulated [illegible] visit of Ramsay MacDonald [illegible] United States and by the prosperity of the nations in accordance [illegible] terms of the Kellogg pact.

If the money which the United States has felt obliged to spend [illegible] battleships and into other projects [illegible] for national defense in order to compete with other nations could be [illegible] into the appropriations for [illegible] better highways, or left in the pockets [illegible] of the taxpayers, it would be a great [illegible] help to everybody concerned.

This does not mean that we should [illegible] junk all our battleships, but that [illegible] we should stop entering [illegible] competition with other nations in the [illegible] building of great navies. If [illegible] our navy is only for national defense [illegible] we can well afford to reduce [illegible] of that defense in proportion to the [illegible] reduction of other nations in the [illegible] aggression.

FEW FLUNKED, REPORT OF DEAN INDICATES

(Continued from page 1)

	'30	'31	'32
Men	15	14	8	[illegible]
Women	31	10	18	[illegible]
In class	46	24	26	[illegible]
Percent of class	33	15	15	[illegible]
Last year percent	46	22	10	[illegible]

Number dropped February [illegible] Christmas including a few [illegible] with records which would have [illegible] them under the dropping rule.

	'30	'31	[illegible]
1929-30	2	0	[illegible]
1928-29	0	1	[illegible]

A summary of the number [illegible] warning in September, showing [illegible] happened to them, is given below. The numbers refer only to those [illegible] warning.

Under warning September, [illegible] left college first term, 9; dropped [illegible] removed February, 1930, 46; [illegible] February, 1930, 64; placed [illegible] 1930, 39; under warning [illegible] 1930, 103; under warning February, 1929, 3 (srs.), 17 (jrs.), 28 [illegible] (frosh); under warning February, 1928, 3 (srs.), 15 (jrs.), 38 [illegible] (frosh).

Miss Helen Nichols asks all girls who wish work in the dormitories next year to sign up before the Easter vacation. Slips for this purpose are posted in the Y room and in dormitories.

New

Powder Puff design box. Favourite Coty shades and odeurs. $1.00.

COTY COMPACTS

SMARTER—MORE ADORABLE—THAN EVER

THE famous beauty-giving quality of Coty Face Powders slenderly encased for little "purse editions".

COTY

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

EIGHT QUARTETS ENTER INTERFRATERNITY RELAYS

Rules Prohibit Late Entries—All Races to Be Run Off Next Week—Final On Friday

... will start Mon... track in the Uni... under the auspices ... of Physical Educa... tion of A. T. Post, ... Director

... rules stated below ... will have completed ... participation and ... date has been ar...

... 4 p. m., preliminary ... Theta (1) versus ... Delta Psi (3) versus ... Sigma Phi (5) ver... Epsilon (6), Alpha ... versus Sigma Nu (8). ... 12, 4 p. m., semi-... 1 and 2 versus win... ner of 5 and 6 ver... and 8.

... 14, 4 p.m. final ... heats races will com... championship.

... the students of the ... medical colleges may ...

... men who have re... ing at least six (6) ... Monday, March 10th, ... complete.

... that intend to enter ... must have signi... of so doing by ... entries not later than ... March 5th.

TRACK MEN WORKING OUT UNDER COACH POST

... make up the squad ... responded to the call of the ... A large number of this ... consists of men who are out ... practice for the inter-frater... which are to be held dur... next two weeks.

... had determination ... out for track Coach ... but a very good track ... is not a good runner ... a good jumper or weight ... "Archie" Post could have ... one hundred men out ... each year, by developing it, ... soon have track teams ... make exceedingly good ... against any college on its ...

... the Green and Gold team ... meets besides the an... Mountain Conference event. ... team will be built around ... letter men: Captain Mace, ... Child, Wilder and ... outstanding men in the ... Berry, Mercier, Val... Young and Cohen. The ... men are composed ... cross-country men who ... Wilder, Maynes, Colburn, ... and Huey. In the ... Cats will have Mace, ... and Bedell. The high ... of Franceschi, Bedell, ... and Swain. Swain, ... defense on the hockey ... the best pole vaulter ... In the weights Mace, ... and Manning look ...

... at Amherst. ... Agricultural College at ... ington. ... A. A. A. at Burling... ... Mountain Conference ... Northfield.

BOYS AND GIRLS FROM ALL FRATERNITIES

... the Cynic for courtesy

WHY NOT ALL PATRONIZE ME?

TRY A BOTTLE OF CHRISTY'S

CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP

... Church St — One flight up

For Your Dance!

CREPE PAPER DECORATIONS

BALLOONS CONFETTI,

SERPENTINE, FAVORS

McAULIFFE'S

Church and College Sts. Phone 625

INTRAMURAL WRESTLING TOURNEY NEXT MONDAY

The second annual intramural wrestling tournament will take place Monday afternoon and unlike the six day bike race will be completed in one afternoon. The winners will be awarded gold medals, to hang on their watchfobs, or their sweeties necks.

A very large and excited throng have already made rererations for this gladiatorial contest. If you haven't don't worry, you can sit on the roof.

The contestants have proven their ability in the tryouts and are ready to show their worth.

The bouts will be held in the wrestling room in the University gymnasium at 4 p. m. under the direction of H. B. "Bump" Levine, instructor in wrestling and ex-captain of the football team.

Rules of the tournament:

1. Contestants eligible:
   (a) Any person in college not having received an academic degree.
2. Contestants must weigh in the day of their bout.
3. Length of bouts:
   (a) Preliminary bouts shall consist of ten minutes.
   (b) Two extra three-minute bouts shall also be wrestled if no decision can be reached after the first ten minutes.
   (c) Championship bouts shall be twelve minutes and two extra periods of three minutes to decide the winner, if no decision can be reached at end of regular match.
3. Legality of holds:
   (a) Shall be decided by the referee and explained to the contestants before bout.
5. In case of injury (accidental):
   (a) Bout shall stop for three minutes and after expiration of period shall be forfeited if injured contestant is unable to continue.
6. Default:
   (a) If contestant fails to appear five minutes after scheduled time he shall forfeit the match.
7. Falls:
   (a) Pin fall only shall count. Flying or rolling falls shall not be considered.
8. The referee and the judges shall render a decision in case of no fall. Aggressiveness and wrestling ability shall be the main considerations.
9. The referee's power:
   Shall have power to render any decision not covered in the above rules.
10. Medals, properly inscribed, shall be awarded the winners of each class.

University tea to be held at Red Stone, Sunday, March 9. Everyone invited from 4.00 to 5.30 p.m.

All candidates for varsity and freshman tennis teams should report as soon as possible to Coach Carpenter in the baseball cage. Practice is held daily between 1:30 and 3 p. m. Sophomores wishing to scrub varsity tennis should see Manager Reed.

Coach Gardner issues a call for fielding candidates to report in the baseball cage on Monday afternon, March 10, at three o'clock.

Meeting of Independents Tuesday, March 11, at 7:15 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. office in Old Mill.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2870, 2871, 2872

School of Nursing of Yale University
A Profession for the College Woman
interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.

The twenty-eight months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method, leads to the degree of BACHELOR OF NURSING.

Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.

The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.
For catalog and information address:
The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN CONNECTICUT

COACH GARDNER CALLS FIELDING CANDIDATES

Large Number of Pitchers and Catchers Under Scouting of Gardner and Newton

All candidates for the infield and outfield of the varsity baseball team will report in the baseball cage Monday afternoon, according to a call issued by Coach "Larry" Gardner. This will bring the whole squad into action because the battery men have been working out for the past two weeks.

Last week about 60 men answered the call for battery candidates. However, many of the men who reported were not battery men, but infielders and outfielders, who wish to get in condition early, in preparation for this year's stiff schedule. During the past week the work has consisted mainly of throwing, with a little running and leap frog to get the athletes' legs in condition.

Prospects are very bright this year for a championship team as Vermont will present a veteran lineup, having out only a few men through graduation. Veterans of last year's team are Capt. Howard and Dinniman, outfielders; Winant, Traynor, Joy and McKay, infielders; Sargent, Rutkowski and McBride, pitchers. Charley Cummings, Syracuse transfer, and last year's jayvee star pitcher, and Stroh and Kendall, catchers on the junior nine outfit are prominent battery candidates. This team reinforced with frosh and other aspirants should enable U. V. M. to play through its schedule successfully. Probably the most outstanding freshman is Pires, an infielder, who showed up well in fall practice and is giving the veterans a stiff battle.

Other candidates for the catching berth are Berry, Heaton, Tomassetti and Towne. A few of the men who are out for mound duty are Albert, Baldwin, Benway, Coburn, Farmer, Flenberg, Hoyt, Pfenning, and Cunningham.

VERMONT AND MONTREAL MEET IN RETURN MATCH

Green and Gold Looking for Second Victory of Season Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon the varsity fencing team engages in a return match with the Montreal A. A. A. in the University gymnasium at 2.30 o'clock. A hard battle is expected due to the fact that the Canadians have previously recorded a 13-12 victory over Vermont at Montreal. However, with the expected return of Captain Basilicato to the team, it is expected that the Green and Gold today will turn in their second victory of the season. The remainder of the Vermont team will be composed of Aiken, Wadsworth, Perelman, and Shuman.

The following members of the Home Economics Department are in charge of Practice House this week: Rosena Allen, senior hostess; Juniors—Harriet Wright, cook, and Carolyn Whitney, household manager; sophomore waitress, Alice Gay; freshman assistant, Elizabeth Baker

A New Line of College Novelties
Isham News Agency
102A CHURCH ST.

ATHLETIC and SPORTING Equipment
Athletic Outfitters for U. V. M.
L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

Junior Interscholastic Hoop Tournament Starts Today

Eight Outstanding Small High School Teams Play Today and Tomorrow For Privilege of Meeting Burlington High For State Championship

FIRST GAME IS THIS AFTERNOON AT 3 O'CLOCK

Friday afternoon the outstanding performers of the small high schools of the State will meet in the University Gymnasium to determine the Junior Champion.

The winner has the privilege of challenging Burlington, State Senior Champions, for the state title in a game on March 15, at the U. V. M. gym

There has been such close competition this year that preliminary games were necessary in order to limit the contenders to eight.

In the first of these St. Michael's of Winooski defeated Swanton 31 26 while Waterbury won the second. As a result these two teams will clash in the first set-to Friday at three o'clock

In the second game which takes place at 4.00 p.m. the strong St. Michael's High of Montpelier, led by Halligan, Brother of Captain "Tim" Halligan of Vermont, sprang the season's big surprise in defeating Cathedral High of this city. They will battle with Burr and Burton Seminary the newcomers from the southern part of the State. Burr and Burton Seminary received two bad beatings from Rutland early in the season and does not promise to be a prominent contender

Friday night at 7.30 the best game of the preliminary session will take place. The redoubtable Hardwick five, always a leading team in the past has lived up to expectations by severly trouncing many of the state senior teams, including Montpelier and Spaulding, Brandon, their opponent, has a fairly strong well-rounded aggregation which defeated the Red and White of Rutland and other contenders in the Marble Valley. They have come along well toward the end of the season, due to the able coaching of their mentor, "Shanty" Goldwick, Middlebury quarterback in 1926.

In the final preliminary game at 8.30 the "Yellow Peril" from Barton, one of the outstanding Northern quintets, should find an easy victory in their game with Craftsbury. Little is known of the latter team. Their record is unimpressive, but so many dark horses have sprung up in the past to prove formidable contenders that no perdiction can be certain.

The semi-finals will start Saturday at 1.30 p.m and the finals will take place that evening at 8.30 p.m. A large delegation from each community will be at hand to support their respective teams and tickets are already at a premium due to the limited capacity of the gymnasium. Admission to all games can be had for $1.25. Reserved seats for a single performance are $1.00 and general admission to a single performance is fifty cents. A performance is an afternoon or evening program, which in the preliminary and semi-final rounds, includes two games

Tickets may be purchased at the University from the office of the Graduate Manager in the gymnasium

Friday afternoon: St. Michael's of Winooski and Waterbury will practice eleven minutes before their game at three o'clock

Burr and Burton Seminary and St. Michael's of Montpelier will practice eight minutes between halves of the St. Michael's of Winooski Waterbury game, and three minutes before their game at four o'clock or thereabout.

Friday night: Brandon and Hardwick will practice eleven minutes before their game at 7.30 o'clock

Barton and Craftsbury will practice eight minutes between halves of the Brandon-Hardwick game and three minutes before their game at 8.30 o'clock or thereabout

Semi final games: Saturday afternoon at 1.30 and 2.30 o'clock

Final game: Saturday night at 8.30 o'clock.

HARMONIANS, HAWAIIANS PLAY AT COLLEGE NITE

The most ambitious night yet staged by Ex Converse will come off tonight at the Majestic theatre. The program will feature Dick Holbrook's Harmonians, Dick Shepherd's Hawaiians, Freddie Douglass, the soft shoe wizard, and "Red" Negri. These features will be given at the beginning of both evening shows, 6.45 and 9, and will be followed by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer's all talking, singing, dancing, laughing production—"So This is College."

Holbrook's Harmonians is an all-college orchestra with a personnel of eight first class music makers. Dick's way with a banjo is famous and he will be ably seconded by Stanley Flagg at the piano, Bob Hendrick at the drums, Fred Householder and Dick Arms with their saxophones, Harvey Smith with the trumpet, Francis Colburn with the violin and Ralph Percival with the bass. This orchestra has played many times around Burlington and in New York State.

Dick Shepard's Hawaiians are new to the stage. Dick strums his uke with Bob Hendrick playing the Spanish guitar. Everett Doten will have the Hawaiian guitar and Dick Holbrook and Win Brazor, tenor guitars.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

HOME-MADE CANDIES
SODAS

Corner Main & Church Streets
LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

Spring is in the air. Spring tonic of ORANGE JUICE and LETTUCE SANDWICHES at the Coffee Corner are what you need.

In the
LENDING LIBRARY
at the
UNIVERSITY STORE

THEN I SAW THE CONGO
by
GRACE FLANDRAU

"Pushing up the Congo in a river-boat; tramping by safari through the pygmy forests, shooting rapids in long dugout canoes manned by forty paddlers; motoring over the big game veldts of East Africa; the author saw half-civilized town natives and their Belgian rulers; the wild tribes of pygmies and cannibals; elephants farms and big game, and of special moment, visited the Mangbetus, the most highly cultured and least known savages of the Congo."

WESLEYAN TAKES FIRST AT ANNUAL GLEE CLUB EVENT IN SPRINGFIELD

Gains Permanent Possession of Cup in New England Competition—Vermont Places Last in Annual Contest

Wesleyan University was [illegible] permanent possession of the cup [illegible] Glee Club Association [illegible] Springfield Auditorium [illegible] Wesleyan, Amherst, M. I. T., Middlebury, Boston University, Boston College, Clark University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Massachusetts Agricultural College, University of Vermont, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, and Worcester Tech. [illegible] in a concert of more than two hours to sing two selections. "On the Road to Mandalay" and "The Long Day Closes" were [illegible] Wesleyan.

The Association selects the third in [illegible] to compete in the Intercollegiate Contest to be held at Aeolian Hall in New York City. [illegible] gives the University permanent possession of the cup awarded by the University Club of Boston.

3,000 Hear Songs

The New England college glee clubs were represented by the contest which was the first of its kind to be held in Springfield. Wesleyan was a popular favorite with the audience of more than 3,000 and received a score of [illegible] out of a possible 100 points from the judges with Williams in second place with 96 points. All of the clubs were heartily applauded throughout the competition.

The glee clubs of Amherst, Boston University, Bowdoin, College Clark University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Massachusetts Agricultural College, University of Vermont, Wesleyan University and Worcester Polytechnic Institute competed in a contest that began [illegible] and lasted for two hours to sing two selections. "On the Road to Mandalay" and "The Long Day Closes" were [illegible] Wesleyan.

[illegible] the last three competing clubs were given their [illegible] Harry [illegible] Middletown, in traditional "Cheerio," a [illegible] song of the Wesleyan [illegible] Williams [illegible] Amherst [illegible] Wesleyan, although all of the clubs scored heavily [illegible] the contest.

"Champlain" Popular

[illegible] the judges rated the Worcester [illegible] the outstanding [illegible] and was among the [illegible] winners. The audience gave a [illegible] of [illegible] to the [illegible] of the [illegible] Jeffery [illegible] of the Amherst [illegible] Champlain" by the University of Vermont club, were the most popular with the audience.

John J. Bishop of Springfield, Mass., was chairman of the committee of judges and acting with him were Roger Lyman Barbour of Hartford, Conn., and Thompson Stone of Boston.

The judges were introduced by Dr. John Erskine, president of the New England College Glee Club Association, who expressed his appreciation to all who assisted in the contest and to the University Club of Springfield on behalf of the Association. Mr. Bishop termed the contest a "genuine battle with everyone entered with the will to win if they can win fairly," and congratulated the contestants on their sportsmanship and diligence.

Xylophone selections by Hildreth T. Winton, soloist, and Samuel Levenson, accompanist, both of Clark University, were the instrumental musical features of the program. The audience called for several encores from the talented collegian xylophonist and were generous with their applause for his playing.

Dean W. Hanscom conducted the combined glee clubs in selections before and after the contest.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

[illegible] was held at the [illegible] Mass. Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Prof. C. S. Parkhurst [illegible] Mrs. C. E. Braun chaperoned the [illegible] Music was furnished by Freddie Lynch's orchestra.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Mr and Mrs A B Rooney and Prof and Mrs P H Van Dyke will chaperone the [illegible] Saturday, March 8, at the Elks' Rooms. Carl Ramm's orchestra will furnish the music.

PI BETA PHI

Helen Willard, ex-'31, of Hartford, Conn., has been in Burlington for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Abell and Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Braun chaperoned the pledge dance which was held at the Elks' Rooms on Saturday, March 1, to the tune of Frank Flagg's orchestra.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Bertha Hazen and Jacqueline Lanou, '29, of Pittsford were week-end visitors in the city.

Carl Ramm's orchestra played for the pledge dance on Saturday, March 1, at the Catholic Daughters' Rooms. The dance was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. L. W. Dean and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The senior members were entertained at a dinner on Wednesday evening, March 5, at the fraternity rooms.

Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Braun and Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke will chaperone the pledge dance on Saturday at the Elks' Rooms. Carl Ramm's orchestra will furnish the music.

SIGMA GAMMA

Miss Pansy Blake, national expansion secretary of Gamma Phi Beta sorority, was entertained as a guest of the sorority at the home of Susan and Harriett Howard over the week-end.

Frank Flagg's orchestra will play for the pledge dance which is to be held on Saturday, March 8, at the Eastern Star rooms. The chaperones will be Prof. and Mrs. M. H. Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Doane.

KAPPA DELTA

The pledge dance which takes place on Saturday, March 8, at the Catholic Daughters' rooms will be chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. L. W. Dean, Mr. H. G. Carlson and Miss Charlotte DeVolt. Freddie Lynch's orchestra will provide the syncopation.

"Scatter The Negro," Says Pastor In Talk

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] slaves, and as evidenced by one of [illegible] Athens, very poor [illegible] record.

[illegible] for some half [illegible] has accomplished himself. His [illegible] progress in so short a time is [illegible] on the annals of history. How much, it might be asked did the [illegible] accomplish in the first fifty years after Rome freed him? "The negro does not need amalgamation," contended Mr. Laviscount. "He should [illegible] assimilation to the world as a separate race."

Mr. Laviscount on the other hand firmly believes that a feasible solution exists. And that that solution lies in a policy of "scatteration." He strongly believes that the negro should be distributed throughout the nation, and that he should have every privilige that is accorded an American citizen. He admits that there probably always will be a racial antipathy, but that prejudice can and should be done away with. The South is forced to intimidate and browbeat the negro because in many towns a population balance is destroyed, the negroes outnumber the whites, and the latter, in order to retain their superiority must resort to a display of force.

"I cannot carry through such a policy," concluded the speaker. "You can."

Mr. Laviscount spoke [illegible] same morning. "What [illegible] of propaganda we [illegible] hate," he declared [illegible] day morning audience.

The speaker went on to [illegible] reactions of people who [illegible] time have come in contact [illegible] gro. He offered an illustration [illegible] woman who had never seen a negro person. The woman, evidently a gentle[illegible]ener, shook the hand of the negro and informed him that [illegible] fought for the emancipation of the race, and that she was happy to make his acquaintance; but nevertheless she eyed him over as one would a novelty.

The negro is not wanted in residential white sections. The speaker told of a man whom he knew who was delighted with Booker T. Washington's works, was heart and soul for the negro; but when the negro across the street was sold to a white he revolted.

Not only in residential sections is the negro unwanted. "A woman applying for a job in a store was standing with her back to the approaching employer. As she turned to present her request, the man said, "I [illegible] thought you were white." Such instances are of every day occurrence.

The speaker went on further to explain that those whom we do not like are those whom we hate. In a long list of races, including the Turk, Armenian, Indian, Jew, Pole, Chinese and Japanese, the speaker enumerated those traits which the Anglo-Saxon race attribute to and despise in them. These traits have been obtained through unjust means by propaganda or ignorance.

Because of overcrowded [illegible] at popular lectures at the University of Leipzig, loudspeakers are [illegible] in nearby rooms in order that [illegible] students may imbibe the professor's talk.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

64 COLCHESTER AVE.

Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music

CLOSE OF THE CONTEST

THE WINNER OF THE STETSON HAT IN OUR RECENT CONTEST IS

L. O. POUCH

HAYES AND CARNEY

186-7 Bank St. Near Majestic

Open Evenings

"Where Vermont Men Meet"

H. O. Sweetser

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

A sale of Silk Crepe-de-Chine Step-ins $1.19 Pr.

The $1.98 grade

Lace trimmed, carefully made and finished of good quality Crepe-de-Chine.

...on the track it's SPEED!

...in a cigarette it's TASTE!

"A BIRD IN THE HAND is worth two in the bush." Good taste—what smoker would trade it away for any number of cigarette claims?

No Chesterfield smoker would. For its mild fragrance, its deeply satisfying character—in short, its taste—has always been the one thing smokers wanted:

"TASTE above everything"

MILD . . . and yet THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield

FINE TURKISH and DOMESTIC tobaccos, not only BLENDED but CROSS-BLENDED

© 1929 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 38 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MARCH 11, 1930 NUMBER 41

CO-ED ORATORS LOSE BY A SPLIT DECISION

Vermont Team, Debating Emergence of Woman From Home, Suffers 2-1 Defeat In First

MIDDLEBURY WOMEN TAKE FIRST ENGAGEMENT

A Vermont woman's ... a two-to-one decision ... Middlebury women last ... Middlebury. The ... That the emergence ... home is a detriment ... modern life" is one ... used in several debates ... ary this year.

... upheld by Middlebury speakers Eva Tuttle, '31, Mary Hanseler, March, '31, alternate. ... ported on the negative ... Goodrich, '30; ... Laura Johnson, '33, alternate. ... Goodreds was the ... of the judges were ... Scott of Castleton, ... Middlebury, and ... Middlebury.

Three Beneficial

... speakers stressed three ... First, that the ... from the home ...; second, that ... society in general, ... beneficial to the ... women emerge. ... the Middlebury debaters opposed to those ... women. There was ... the question, the ... restricting "women ... women and directing ... against the emergence ... only. The negative ... wording of the question ... to include all women ... and unmarried. Middlebury ... upon the point that ... the emergence of women ... emancipation. The debate ... with sharp and witty repartee ... sides.

... fourth straight victory ... Middlebury women this year. ... a unanimous decision ... Middlebury men on the same ... have also won in two ... contests.

BUTTERFIELD BECOMES WIG AND BUSKIN HEAD

... initiation banquet ... evening, Wig and Buskin, ... dramatic society, chose ... Butterfield, '31, president for ... Other officers elected ... Aiken, '31, vice-president, ... Worrell, '31, secretary-treasurer. ... candidates were S. B. Barker, '31, ... Holder, '32, R. S. Jenks, '30, H. R. Mattison, '30, R. E. Tobin, '31, ... Worrell, '31.

... initiation ceremonies the ... the society, wearing tuxedos ... singing college songs, ... the middle of Main ... Hotel Vermont, where ... a banquet.

Metcalf Discusses Theatre

... T. Metcalf, the guest of ... on "Prejudices Against ... and Misconceptions of ...

... has various prejudices ... opinions concerning the ... asserted. "The masses ... are a depraved lot ... pursuing the profession of ... have descended to a lower ...

... masses," he continued, "the ... another form of amusement ... that can be taken ... do not realize the real ... the drama, namely to portray ... life and character as ... true value is not realized ... public.

... efforts," Prof. Metcalf ... are not fully appreciated ... does not take him ... ambition is to portray ... the audience in the ... and vivid manner possesses a tremendous amount ... and study to do this and ... would warrant due appreciation from ... public."

DEAR BRUTUS CAST SEE MIDDLEBURY PRODUCTION

Members of the cast and financial committee of "Dear Brutus" went to Middlebury Friday evening where they witnessed the production of that play by the Middlebury Town players. The Vermont cast is planning to present this play at Rutland, March 19, and have extended an invitation to the Middlebury players to be present at their presentation.

JUNIOR VARSITY DEBATE WITH PECULIAR EFFECT AT COLCHESTER GRANGE

Berger, Bigelow, Frazier and LaCrosse Prove Most Amusing Quartet in Emergence Contest

HUMOR AND HEAT SERVE TO STARTLE AUDITORS

Members of the Colchester Grange were startled out of their wits Thursday evening at the Parish House in that town by a debate presented by the Vermont junior varsity. The subject was the oft-debated but never settled question, "That woman's emergence from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life."

Paul LaCrosse '32 and Edward Bigelow '33 affirmed the question, while Donald Frazier '32 and Peary Berger '32 upheld the negative. M. D. Powers, coach of debate, served as chairman.

LaCrosse, opening the debate in his usual snappy style, brought the attention of the audience to bear on the fact that woman has lost many of her former qualities by emergence. LaCrosse, speaking with his mind on the works of Sappho and his eyes on the Grange Bible, gave the audience an excellent idea of how a well-dressed man and a university debater should behave.

Over the Register

Berger arose to differ with his opponent in the matter of woman. "Woman since the time of Helen of Troy has constantly wanted clothes from Paris," quoted Berger as he shifted uncomfortably over the register of the Parish House heating plant, conveniently placed in the rear of the rostrum in order to warm up boresome speakers. The audience, laughing heartily, gave him a great hand.

Bigelow next advanced to the speaker's stand, after almost completely ignoring the chairman, and noting carefully the position of the stand, which by this time had been changed one more remote from the register, due probably to the heat of the debate, "Formerly women knew that Cain raised a club," he began, "but now, since emergence, she has concluded that clubs, especially men's clubs, raise Cain." "Take the case of the man who fell down stairs with his wife's milk pitcher in his hand," continued the speaker, "and was immediately called to account for having broken it, meaning, of course, the pitcher. His wife didn't care much for him but she thought a great deal of the pitcher she had emerged."

Frazier, rising to his feet, talking as he came, began an attempt to live up to press notices which painted him as the true son of the Reverend Frazier, the only one of his kind in the family. "Woman by emergence has caused much more business for the hat, dress and shoe manufacturers," he contended, "consequently she is helping our national economic system."

Came the Rebuttal

In rebuttal, Berger arose to maintain that woman is not as bad as she is painted and that woman's business is not any longer life, liberty, and the pursuit of a husband.

LaCrosse, stirred by the brilliant rebuttal of his opponent, came forward with an armful of magazines to go him one better. The statements of the opposition when slightly turned around meant something entirely different, as is often the case, the speaker explained. In clever style he suggested certain slight alterations, which caused many a ripple of laughter at the expense of the negative.

Frazier, coming out of a huddle with his colleagues, blazed away with destructive argument in fine style. "The opposition fails to realize that

(Continued on page 4)

Peace Groups Must Crush War Habit Shaped By R. O. T. C. Say Speakers

Peace Education and Arbitration will Break Old War Philosophy Declare Smith, Elvin, and Rettie, all Institute Speakers

That the parade and pomp of the R. O. T. C. is conducive to an attitude which serves to perpetuate the symbols of war, was the charge of [illegible] Smith, executive secretary of the national committee on [illegible] in opposition against military training in schools and colleges, in the closing lecture of the International Institute held Thursday evening at the city hall auditorium under the auspices of the Vermont Christian Association.

"The eighteenth and nineteenth century patriotism which defends such an institution does not apply to a twentieth century patriotism," declared the speaker in a discussion on "Breaking the War Habit."

He supported his thesis by showing the utter folly in still being influenced by the time-worn patriotic catchwords such as "war is inevitable," "in time of peace prepare for war" and others.

"The instruction given in the R. O. T. C.," he asserted, "teaches that man is a fighting beast and that there is no method of peaceful adjustment of disagreements between nations.

No War Instinct

"There is no war instinct," he said, "that prompts a boy of one country to go out and murder in battle a boy in a foreign country whom he has never heard of before or whom he does not hate."

Human beings are willing to go to war when a crisis arises as a result of certain habits of thinking and acting that the old patriotic catchwords have set up.

All the playing at war, he affirmed, develops the philosophy that pride in America is bound up with military operations; that war is a thrilling and romantic adventure.

Under the influence of the spectacular public displays of the R. O. T. C. with its parades, color, music and attractive prize awards, such an emotional condition takes place, that months of patient teaching of the ideals of the true patriotism that strive for world peace cannot break its impressions.

War is Suicide

"The kind of warfare we are capable of waging does not fit in with the world we must live in tomorrow," Mr. Smith said in explaining the implications of war and world history. The world with its present-day methods of war can bring about the suicide of the human family. The cost of a future war is so magnanimous that the mere thought of such a conflict crushes our imaginations.

An issue that would justify the destruction of a power about the size of England, cannot be perceived. The issues of today do not warrant the use of such methods as have previously been used. This technic may have been used in years gone by; but today it cannot be done.

"A nation today cannot win a modern war," Mr. Smith asserted.

The victor in a modern war suffers as great, if not greater, losses as the loser. The first of the forces that cause war comes from imperialism or conflicts of international economy. In these fields war will not settle the questions in dispute. By the complications of international finance war will not settle the rivalry.

The hard bargainers who cause the disputes in the above fields are small in number. It is fortunate they are. But their political importance is many times greater than their size. They inhabit the haunts of the politicians and propaganda specialists who serve them and thus magnify their powers to many times what they normally would be.

The second element, which affects us all, is the universal game of "buck-passing," used by politicians who pass the blame upon the people, who likewise reprimand and blame the big men or bosses. The big men then place the responsibility upon the masses. The masses are always in readiness to accept war.

They don't know the reasons for their giving their lives, patriotically; but they are always ready to do so. It has become a habit, played up by an ancient and false patriotism and an outworn military philosophy.

Had Never Read It

Mr. Smith told of a southerner who was questioned about the Monroe Doctrine and asked if he believed in it. The southerner stated that he believed wholly in the Doctrine; in fact it was so good that he would die for it. The questioner then asked him if he had ever read or understood the Doctrine. To his astonishment he had never read it nor understood it. But, nevertheless, he was willing to die for something he knew nothing about nor understood.

The third element that is erroneously believed to cause war is a supposed inherent instinct for war. Mr. Smith explained in detail that such an instinct does not exist. He said, "We do not, because of instinct, take a pop at our disagreeable neighbors when we feel cause for dispute. Instead we take the case to court and have it settled like intelligent, cultured and educated beings." This, then, is not an element for war. It is neither instinct nor rivalry that produce war, but the formation of certain definite habits which tend toward loss of reason in a sudden crisis.

Fooling the Dog

We are not born with habits. We are born with instincts; but habits must be learned. We drive a car by habit, in fact almost all we do is by habit, if it were otherwise the human race would be a very sorry lot. Habits are actions we perform unconsciously. Undesirable reactions may be produced by a stimulus which previously produced an entirely different reaction.

Pavlov's experiment with the dog illustrates this principle of conditioned reflex. Dangling a piece of meat before the dog's eyes he created a flow of saliva in the dog's mouth. The experiment was continued and accompanied by the ringing of an electric bell. When the bell was rung without the presence of the meat the dog's mouth watered just the same, showing that the same reaction could be stimulated, by a stimulus which was not originally intended to do so. The poor dog was fooled but did not know why.

R. O. T. C. Fools the Boy

The habits of thinking, Mr. Smith explained, set up in the mind of the youth disciplined under a subtle military philosophy fool him just as Pavlov's dog was fooled. Neither does the boy know why, no reason why.

If the R. O. T. C. training for war were like war itself no one could be forced to take it. But it is not. Instead it is made as attractive as possible so as to appeal to the emotions of the youth under its guidance.

The pompous displays, capitalization of sex appeal by use of pretty girl sponsors, the elaborate competitions and prize awards have become a false motive for drilling. The boys, the speaker continued, are highly enthusiastic and think that although war may be horrible this "playing at war is lots of fun."

The result is perfectly obvious, he showed. "In an international crisis, the same stimulus will be used and the boy will react without thinking. War will result instead of a peaceful settlement by arbitration.

The R. O. T. C. has done the trick. The conditioned reflex has become a habit.

Opposes Compulsory Military

Mr. Smith proposed to substitute for these methods, new patriotic catchwords pointing toward the reasonableness of peaceful adjustment of disagreements between nations.

He prophesied a rigid alignment of Americans in one of the two classes mentioned. One will foster either the old catchwords and philosophy of the inevitability of war or will foster the new philosophy of the possibility and certainty of world peace.

The time for this partisanship, he believes, is not far distant as indicated by the widespread opposition to the R. O. T. C. doctrine and the adoption of the new habit of education for world peace. He indicated some recent hearings in the eastern educational institutions which resulted unfavorably toward the war philosophy.

Britisher Discusses League

"We need some machinery to register the moral sense of the world, and if we, in the next twenty years, develop this machinery, there will be no danger of war breaking out," asserted

(Continued on page 4)

UNIVERSITY BACKS TEACHERS' MEET

Vermont Professors to Take Prominent Part in Twenty-fifth State Conference

EDUCATORS ASSEMBLE HERE FOR WEEK-END

Backed by the University of Vermont, the twenty-fifth annual conference of the teachers of Vermont will assemble in Burlington for a two-day meeting this Friday. Members of the University faculty will conduct most of the round-table conferences as the teachers proceed to discuss "The Improvement of Citizenship Through the Social Studies."

Plans are being formulated for a general meeting on Friday morning which will interest both secondary and grade school teachers, followed in the afternoon by special conferences. George W. Patterson, president of the Champlain Valley Teachers' Association will call to order the opening meeting in the Burlington High School auditorium. Doctor Wiley, assistant commissioner of Education in New York, will be the first speaker and his subject will be "The Function of Education in a Democracy." Professor Hatch, of the New Jersey State Teachers' College, will speak at 10:30 o'clock, on "Training in Citizenship."

Great Leeds Conference

A Junior Red Cross pagent will be staged in the auditorium at 2:00 o'clock, by seventy-five children of the Ira Allen school, directed by Miss Florence E. Fisher, assistant principal. Group conference will start at 2:30 o'clock, with Professor George G. Groat as chairman of the secondary school conference, at which Doctor Wiley will speak on "The Place of Social Studies in the Secondary School Curriculum." The primary and rural school conference will be led by C. L. Erwin, deputy commissioner of education, at which Professor Hatch will address the members on "Unit Fusion Course in the Social Studies for the Elementary Grades" and Mrs. Amelia R. Conrey of the Comprehensive Rural Survey of Vermont, will speak on "Educational Activities for Children of Primary Grades."

Round table meetings will follow six divisions: Agriculture, Commercial Education, Home Economics, Latin, Mathematics and Modern Languages. The chairmen of these meet

(Continued on page 4)

FRIARS HEAR OF GREEK POETRY, NEGRO SONGS

Herrick Macomber spoke on the beginnings of Greek literature, and Sam Barker, on negro spirituals, at a Grey Friars meeting Sunday evening. At the same meeting Joseph Carter read a short story conceived in a pseudo-scientific spirit.

The society voted to order each member to enter the Tri-State literary contest. Similar action has already been taken by Blue-stockings. Applications for membership considered at the meeting were rejected.

Macomber, in his talk, added considerably to its interest by reading from the Greek in illustration of his subject. He traced the early literature of Greece through the mythical poets down to the times of the first lyricists, emphasizing especially the life and works of Homer. Barker's talk went deeply into the evolution and history of the spiritual. He attributed its origin to the African forbears of the American negro and held that it is now in a stage of decadence.

GLEE CLUB BROADCASTS PROGRAM FROM WCAX

Miss Charlotte deVoit in a violin recital and the Men's Glee Club singing the three numbers they sang at the intercollegiate contest in Springfield, were the features of the musical program broadcasted by WCAX, the University radio station, in its regular broadcast last Friday night.

Three speakers took up the other half hour of the evening's broadcast. Mrs. Pearl Brown spoke on summer homes and tourists, and J. E. Carrigan, assistant county agent leader, spoke on county agents. L. M. Greene, instructor in poultry, concluded the program.

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Vol. 49 March 11 1932 No. 41

FREE PRESS

Campus Comment

Cynic Reporter Investigates College Directory With Startling Results

With the Theatre

TODAY

The Sea Hawk" This, according to the advance blurbs, is supposed to give you the thrill of a lifetime. It doesn't. There are some thrilling shots of planes in the air but most of them are less exciting than the same views in a newsreel. The story is particularly uninspiring. This boy and stuff with both the boy and the girl acting insipid and wandering through a mess of histrionic speeches, and being honorable and so terribly, terribly noble gives me a pain in the neck. It's tosh and the tender little tale (number 7,692 of sure-fire plots) ought to be given a well-deserved rest. The acting is as crumby as the rest of the picture. . . . And this is one of the pictures with pretensions.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Some of the crack English students at the University may be able to recognize Joseph Conrad's "Victory" in this mess of tosh which has the title "Dangerous Paradise." Nancy Carroll should be ashamed of herself. The girl is not of course to blame for the story which they shoved onto her for her first starring picture but her acting is less happy than it has been in any picture she has appeared in to date. As a player in a ladies' orchestra, she is adequately beautiful but a pretty tough imitation of a musician. Richard Arlen is of course the hero who rescues her from the clutches of Warner Oland and transplants her to his own tropical isle, where, as the program will have it, "Nancy's sweeter than sweet making love to Richard Arlen on their own personal tropic isle." Where, oh where is that arsenic?

Warner Oland (type number 3, heavy male menace) is the best thing in the picture but he shows a regrettable tendency to overact.

FRIDAY

There are two types of story, which, for some unknown reason, the producers of talking motion pictures believe to be peculiarly suited to their noise-making devices. One of these types is the crime story. Underworld stuff with bang-bangs, with good girls who possess weak brothers and who involve their own reputation to clear the weak brother, with benevolent Irish policemen, usually, as in this case, called O'Brien, and with lots more bang-bang, murder, robbery and God knows what. These stories follow the above formula, occasionally adding a female menace for good measure and they are usually all awful. The one is worse than the average—title is "Officer O'Brien" and William Boyd—that strong silent ass—playing most of the film's footage.

SATURDAY

The other type of which we complain, have a surfeit, is the backstage story. Sometimes they add a touch of melodrama to this type a la Broadway and the result is usually pretty awful. "Broadway Babies" has Alice White as a redeeming feature otherwise this is all the other backstage stories which you've seen to help you.

Spring Topcoats

A complete assortment is now being shown. Raglans as well as set-in shoulder-

$20.00 to $50.00

HAYES AND CARNEY

135-7 Bank St. Near Majestic

Open Evenings

"Where Vermont Men Meet"

Barton Wins Title, Challenges Burlington

Beats St. Michael's of Montpelier 18 to 13 in Final—Halligan of Runner-up Leads All-tourney Team—Lechnyr and His Band Play

H. LEWIS OF BARTON MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

[illegible] basketball which [illegible] of the Ver[illegible] Tourney forced [illegible] of the Ver[illegible] Tourna[illegible] of Vermont [illegible] the favorite [illegible] beat St. [illegible]pelier 18 to 13 [illegible] the privilege of [illegible] High School to [illegible] one [illegible] victory in its pre[illegible] Craftsbury last [illegible] passing team of [illegible] defeated a sup[illegible] team. The [illegible] its good work [illegible] fans wonder why [illegible] was not better [illegible] play off to get into [illegible] "all's well that [illegible] the awarding of [illegible] cup to the winner, [illegible] Vermont gradu[illegible] the Barton team, is[illegible] to Burlington High [illegible] at the U. V. M. gym [illegible] March 15.

[illegible] had more than a three-[illegible] the final game until late [illegible] Two foul shots by [illegible] a foul by Scheer and [illegible] Lewis made the score at [illegible] first quarter 3 to 2 for [illegible] The latter gained another [illegible] of time. In this period [illegible] netted a couple of goals, [illegible] another, and Scheer sank [illegible] for St. Mike's. Halli[illegible]ards and Alexander and [illegible] tools. The score was tied [illegible] and again at eight but Barton [illegible] at the end of the half. In [illegible] quarter each team scored five [illegible] and the period ended 15 to 13. [illegible] was held scoreless in the [illegible] while Barton pulled up [illegible] and made the lead safer.

BARTON

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible] rf	2	0	4
[illegible] (Capt.) r.f. ...	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	3	3
[illegible]	4	0	8
[illegible]	1	0	2
[illegible]	0	1	1
Totals	7	4	18

ST. MICHAEL'S OF MONTPELIER

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible] (Capt.), r.f. ..	2	1	5
[illegible]	1	3	5
[illegible]	0	1	1
[illegible]	1	0	2
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	0	0
Totals	4	5	13

[illegible] O'Brien. Umpire—Farrell. [illegible] Grant Timer—Worrell

Semi-finals

MONTPELIER 17—WINOOSKI 16

[illegible] game of the semi-finals [illegible] afternoon brought St. [illegible] of Montpelier victor over St. [illegible] of Winooski by the score [illegible]

[illegible] started off fast and the [illegible] Lads with the aid of two [illegible] Brannon and a long shot [illegible] held a 4-3 advantage at [illegible] the first quarter.

[illegible] second quarter saw a widening [illegible] with baskets by Roscorla [illegible] and Captain Mitchell con[illegible] the Winooski score. At [illegible] count stood 12 to 7 for [illegible]

[illegible] quarter St. Michael's of [illegible] narrowed the margin to 14 [illegible] the last quarter was a [illegible]

[illegible] Quesnel and Alexander of [illegible] while Brannon dropped in a [illegible] Winooski still left the [illegible] trailing by one point but [illegible] clean shot just before the [illegible] make the score 17 to 16 [illegible]

ST. MICHAEL'S (MONTPELIER)

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible] rf	2	1	5
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible] lf	1	1	3
[illegible]	1	0	2
[illegible]	1	0	2
[illegible]	0	1	1
[illegible]	2	0	4
Totals	7	3	17

ST. MICHAEL'S (WINOOSKI)

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
[illegible]	2	2	6
[illegible]	2	2	6
[illegible]	1	2	4
[illegible]	0	0	0
[illegible]	0	0	0

Harry Lewis of Barton Academy was awarded the most valuable player cup after his team had won the Vermont Junior Interscholastic Tournament in the U. V. M. gym Saturday night. Lewis played center and was far ahead of all individual scorers in the tournament with 34 points. His nearest rival was Hugh Halligan, captain of the St Michael's team of Montpelier, runner-up, with 20 points. Halligan was chosen captain of the all tournament team. Harry Lewis is the center.

Two other Barton boys made the tournament team. A brother of Harry's, Glenn Lewis was chosen right forward as running mate to Halligan. Drown, acting-captain of Barton throughout most of the championship tilt made a guard position with Lawrence Somers of Hardwick Academy.

Bruno Gagetta, the most outstanding player in the tournament was placed as a forward on the second team. In Hardwick's first game Gagetta stamped himself indoubtedly as a sensational team player. Nearly every one of his team's baskets came after a perfectly-timed pass from Gagetta. When his team was unable to get going against Barton he scored four baskets of his own accord, which, with the five foul shots scored against Brandon, gave him a total of thirteen points. His small size and the fact that his team played a losing game in the semi-finals were probably what caused the judges to overlook him as a first team forward. Collins of Brandon looked like the best guard but a bad leg kept him out of the game except for about five minutes during which time he made two baskets and kept his team in the running against Hardwick. Sims of Hardwick was good at center.

Prof. James E. Donahue, chairman of the Athletic Council awarded the cup to Harry Lewis and also presented Captain Webster of Barton with the permanent junior championship cup and a basketball.

"Joe" Lechnyr led the U. V. M. band in several numbers before and between the halves of the final game. The music added much color to the event and drew appreciative comment from visitors on all sides.

ALL-TOURNAMENT TEAMS

First Team

G. Lewis—Barton—right forward.
Halligan (capt.)—St. M. of M.—left forward.
H. Lewis—Barton—center.
Drown—Barton—right guard.
L. Somers—Hardwick—left guard.

Second Team

Gagetta—Hardwick—right forward.
Brannon—St. M. of W.—left forward.
Chisholm—St. M. of M.—center.
Burke—Hardwick—right guard.
Thompson—Burr and Burton—left guard.

Individual scoring (ten points or more):

Name and Team	Games	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
H. Lewis, Barton	3	16	2	34
Halligan, St. M. of M.	3	9	2	20
Sims, Hardwick	2	7	5	19
Brannon, St. M. of W.	2	8	2	18
Scheer, Barton	2	5	6	16
Alexander, St. M. of M.	3	5	6	16
Gagetta, Hardwick ...	2	4	5	13
Bartlett, Craftsbury ..	1	5	1	11
Fabrizio, Hardwick ..	2	4	2	10
Roscorla, St. M. of W.	2	3	4	10

Team scoring (semi-finalists):

Team	Games	Total	Average
Barton	3	68	22.7
St. M. of M.	3	60	20.
Hardwick	2	47	23.5
St. M. of W.	2	36	18.

Moore, l.g.	0	0	0
Totals	5	6	16

Referee—Farrell. Umpire—O'Brien.

BARTON 22—HARDWICK 18

The second game of the semi-finals saw Barton Academy upset Hardwick Academy, a top-heavy favorite, by a score of 22 to 18.

Hardwick started out looking like champions and soon gained a 4-0 advantage on short shots by Gagetta and Fabrizio. However this was short-lived as the "Yellow Peril's" offense soon started to function under the lead of H. Lewis who accounted for 8 points in the first half which ended with the score 12 to 6 for Barton.

The third quarter was a repetition of the others. Hardwick started strongly but weakened leaving the count 20 to 10 for Barton at the end of the third quarter. The last quarter saw Hardwick stage a desperate rally in an attempt to overcome Barton's substantial lead. The midget Gagetta scored twice in succession from the floor and Sim once. H. Lewis scored for Barton on a close shot to make the count 22 to 16. Burke then dropped in a long shot for Hardwick just before the final gun and the final count stood Barton 22, Hardwick 18.

BARTON ACADEMY

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
G. Lewis, r.f.	1	0	2
Scheer, l.f.	2	1	5
H. Lewis, c.	6	1	13
Drown, r.g.	0	0	0
Smith, l.g.	1	0	2
Totals	10	2	22

HARDWICK

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
Gagetta, r.f.	4	0	8
Fabrizio, r.f.	1	0	2
Sim, c.	2	2	6
L. Somers, r.g.	0	0	0
A. Somers, l.g.	0	0	0
Burke, l.g.	1	0	2
Totals	8	2	18

Referee—H. O'Brien. Umpire— Farrell.

Preliminaries

ST. MICHAEL'S OF WINOOSKI WINS

Friday afternoon in the opening round of the Tournament St. Michael's of Winooski defeated Waterbury by a 20 to 13 score.

St. Michael's early took the lead which was never relinquished. Winooski was leading at the quarter 4 to 2 and at the half 10 to 5.

The game was very rough and many fouls were called on both sides. St. Michael's passing and floor work looked good, while Waterbury's defense was outstanding. Moore, Roscoria and Brannon showed up well for St. Michael's, and Kew and Tucker starred for Waterbury.

ST. MICHAEL'S (MONTPELIER) 36—B. AND B. 16

In the second preliminary game of the afternoon St. Michael's of Montpelier put on a great last half rally to defeat Burr and Burton Seminary of Manchester by the wide margin of 30 to 16. Burr and Burton secured a slight lead at the start of the game by virtue of their ability to shoot fouls—a feature which St. Michael's was sadly lacking. Burr and Burton was leading at half time with the score of 11 to 8. At the opening of the second half St. Michael's started an overwhelming attack and gradually drew ahead to win by a 30 to 16 count. The last half was featured by several long dribbles by "Hugh" Halligan, brother of the Vermont captain. Burr and Burton played well but were unable to cope with the high-powered offense of the Michaelmen. Halligan, Tomasi and Alexander scintillated for St. Michael's while Orvis and Griffith looked to be the best for Burr and Burton.

HARDWICK 29—BRANDON 15

In the first of the two games Friday night, Hardwick Academy downed Brandon 29 to 15. This contest was a great deal closer and more interesting than the score would seem to indicate. The Big Red team from the middle of the state started off with a bang when S. Collins the star guard, popped in two shots from outside the Hardwick defense to put Brandon into a momentary lead. However, with the removal of S. Collins, who retired because of a bad knee before the end of the first quarter, the Brandon team slumped and the first period ended with the score Hardwick 6, Brandon 4. In the second quarter Brandon continued to be unable to break through Hardwick's defense and had to rely on long shots for the scores. During the last half, the Purple and Gold boys from the granite town showed why they had been picked as the probable winners of the tournament. Working like a well oiled machine, the Hardwick team dribbled, passed, and shot accurately, while their defense was practically impregnable. Brandon was fighting hard to gain possession of the ball as the game ended with the score Hardwick 29, Brandon 15. Sim, the big Hardwick center, was the offensive star of the game with 15 points, while Gagetta with his excellent floor work, proved to be another stellar performer for Hardwick. S. Collins was the outstanding man on the Brandon team, although he was only in the line-up for a short while.

BARTON 28—CRAFTSBURY 19

In the second game of the evening the "Yellow Peril" from Barton defeated the Blue and White hoopsters of Craftsbury in a rather listless game by the score of 28 to 19. This was a typical Junior Tournament game, with both teams playing hard but rather crude basketball. The game started fast and at the end of the first quarter Craftsbury led 7 to 6. However, this lead was soon lost, for Barton uncorked a fast offensive game in the second quarter to forge ahead 15 to 9 at half time. In the second half, the game became rough with both teams playing aggressive ball, and as a result Barton was able to add only three points to their lead in the third quarter. However, as the game ended, the Orange and Black had a comfortable margin to win by the score of 28 to 19.

H. Lewis, lanky center of the Barton quintet, led the attack of his team with six floor baskets and a foul for a total of 13 points. Bartlett, right forward and captain of the losing team was the stellar performer for Craftsbury, dropping in several long shots for a total of 11 points.

Dunn of Yale Chosen Coach of Football

Former Yale Player Gets Appointment as Grid Coach—Had Four Years of College Football Experience—Captain and Fullback at Fordham

HAS SEVERAL YEARS OF COACHING EXPERIENCE

[illegible] Dunn, Yale [illegible] of New [illegible] has been appointed [illegible] head football coach at [illegible] succession to Dr. W. [illegible] Camps all Americ[illegible]

The new mentor has had an abundance of college football experience, besides having coached at New Britain. He played two years on the Fordham College team where he was captain and fullback. Then he went to Yale and played two years in the line and in the backfield.

After leaving college, Dunn has spent eight years in coaching football. For several years he was the mentor of the New Britain "Blues" a professional football team. As a result of his experience he is well qualified to fill this position at Vermont and should be able to build up a respectable team.

ENTIRE BALL SQUAD IN DAILY PRACTICE

Prospects Good for Successful Season—Last Year's Infield Intact With One Change While Veterans Make Up Outfield

CATCHER'S VACANCY A PROBLEM FOR COACH

With the approach of the southern trip the baseball team is beginning to [illegible] daily [illegible] for the [illegible] Coach Lefty Gardner had infield practice in order to view the respective merits of the candidates for the various positions.

The infield, which was the backbone of the Vermont victories last year, will, according to all probability, see only one change. Frank Pires, diminutive star of Lowell High School of Massachusetts, will fill in at shortstop in place of Jay. This is sure to aid the Catamounts as Pires has worked with "Pie" Traynor, varsity second baseman, for two years. "Eddie" Winant, the only three letter man in college at present and well remembered for his consecutive string of triples, will again take charge of the initial sack.

"Dutch" McKay, stationed at the hot corner, will complete the infield. His timely hitting, coupled with errorless fielding ability and a strong arm, remind many old grads of "Larry" Gardner cavorting around third base.

"Orrie" Jay will probably be shifted to left field because of his speed, while Dinniman will move to center in order to take his accustomed spot in the lightning relays which saved many a game for the Green and Gold last spring. Captain Howard will again be seen in his old berth in short right, where he has played for three seasons.

With the eligibility of Charlie Cummings the Cats have a great remedy for their weakest link last year, namely, their pitching. The former St. Albans High and Syracuse athlete was subject to the one-year transfer rule before this season and hence unable to play. He is expected to work the majority of the big games in the coming southern trip. The old reliable "Wally" Sargent, McBride and "Chief" Rutkowski, the pitching find of last year, will ably handle the other contests.

The receiving end of the battery offers the most difficult problem to the coach. The graduation of Capt. "Cal" Macomber leaves a vacancy which will be hard to fill. Kendall, Stroh and Heaton of "Doc" Newton's junior varsity aggregation seem to be leading the field for the job. Other capable candidates include Towne and Tomasetti.

FRAT RELAY SEMI-FINALS CONSIST OF TWO RACES

Preliminary races of the interfra[illegible] relays were run off yesterday [illegible] on the indoor track in the [illegible] gym. [illegible] results were not obtainable before the Cynic went to press.

Tomorrow at 4.00 p.m. the two semi-final races will take place to determine who should vie for the championship on Tuesday.

FENCING MATCH WITH MONTREAL CANCELLED

The fencing match between the U. V. M. team and the Montreal A. A. A. senior wielders scheduled for last Saturday was cancelled. The turn of events was brought about because of the fact that there is a tournament going on in Canada from which the provincial champion will be chosen and in which the Montreal fencers were anxious to participate.

PRELIMS TAKE PLACE IN WRESTLING TOURNEY

Final Bouts to Decide Championships Will Be Held Next Week

Yesterday afternoon the preliminary bouts of the intramural wrestling tournament were held at 4 o'clock in the U.V. M. gym. More matches will take place Wednesday afternoon while the finals will come off next week when the championships will be decided. This is the second annual wrestling tournament which is held in connection with the physical education department and this year is under the direction of H. B. Levine, wrestling instructor.

CYNIC WILL PUBLISH CALENDAR OF EVENTS

In keeping with the policy begun last year the Cynic will, in the future, publish a list in each issue of important college activities for the coming week.

The Faculty-Student Council, at its meeting last Wednesday, recommended this step after discussing ways and means of preventing conflicts in important functions, which have been especially prevalent the first semester of this year.

Co-ed Notes

The women's rifle team defeated the varsity sharpshooters in a shoulder-to-shoulder match February 28 by a score of 962 942. High score for men was 99 by Wardwell, for women 99 by Walker. Low score for men was 93, for women, 91.

Results of the matches with Indiana University and Cornell University were: Indiana University, 476, University of Vermont, 494, Cornell University 494, University of Vermont 494. This match was won by the University of Vermont by a higher seventh target.

Bluestockings decided at a business meeting last week that every member must submit a manuscript to the tri-state literary contest. It was also announced that graduate students are now eligible for membership. Under this ruling Miss Genevra Cooke has been elected to the society. Miss Cooke, a graduate of Mount Holyoke, has been prominent in literary activities.

Peace Groups Must Crush War Habit

(Continued from page 1)

Time For Peace

League Has Averted War

Moral, Not Military Force

Student Responsibility

WOMEN CHOOSE CLASS TEAMS IN BASKETBALL

JUNIOR VARSITY DEBATE WITH PECULIAR EFFECT

(Continued from page 1)

DOCTOR EASTMAN SPEAKS ON HYGIENE OF GIRLS

Dr O M Eastman lectured to the [illegible] last Friday on the [illegible] Cobb His subject was [illegible] Hygiene and Right Living [illegible] Development' and 'Your [illegible] environment' [illegible] to be granted to [illegible] beyond the seniors, and [illegible] and is made entirely from [illegible] We rarely consult [illegible] the bodies given, which is [illegible] the most important of all

Doctor Eastman emphasized the [illegible] of governing regular hygienic habits particularly concerning [illegible] physical condition [illegible] should be allowed to grow [illegible] some sort of physical exercise in order to allow time for [illegible] correction of physical defects

Doctor Eastman also named the following requisites for the maintenance of good health Plenty of sunlight at least eight hours of sleep fresh air, good food from six to eight glasses of water per day, and a carefully balanced diet

FRAT HOUSES WILL BE SCENE OF SUNDAY TEAS

An announcement was made at the tea at Ransom Sunday afternoon that [illegible] faculty-student affairs will be held at fraternity houses hereafter Next Sunday's tea will be at the Owl House

The teas are held to encourage better relations between students and faculty At Sunday's tea the first of the year Dean Swift, Dean Patterson, Prof and Mrs L. W. Dean, and a fair number of students were present.

UNIVERSITY BACKS TEACHERS' MEET

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] are Agriculture, Principal Raymond Anderson, Highgate; Commerce Education, Professor Catherine F [illegible], U V M Home Economics, Miss Lucy McCaffrey, Hardwick, Latin, Professor Lester M Prindle, U V M, Mathematics, Professor Elijah Swift, U V M, Modern Languages Professor John B DeForest, U V M

Superintendent F E Cargill of Albany, will preside at the rural school conference. Then Superintendent Percy H Blake of Chester will speak on "The Improvement of the Rural School Program." An informal meeting of the Vermont Headmasters' Club is scheduled to take place Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock

GIFFORD WILL SPEAK ON MIND TO DEWEY CLUB

Prof A R Gifford [illegible] partment of philosophy and [illegible]ry, will speak before the [illegible] the John Dewey Club [illegible] evening at 8 o'clock at the [illegible] Club House on Summit Street [illegible] will be 'The Nature [illegible]

The meeting is the second [illegible] At the last one, George [illegible] Franklin Sears spoke [illegible] phases of psychoanalysis

Society Notes

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The Mothers' Club gave [illegible] bridge for the benefit of the [illegible] on Saturday afternoon, March [illegible] Athena Club

KAPPA DELTA

Evelyn DeBrune, '22, was [illegible] second degree in the Kappa [illegible]ternity on Sunday morning

The Kappa Delta pledgees [illegible]tertain the pledgees of the [illegible]ternities at a bridge party [illegible] evening, March 13

EPSILON SIGMA

Epsilon Sigma's pledge [illegible] held at the Klifa Club on March 8. The chaperones [illegible] and Mrs. P. D. Carlton, Mr. Alexander, and Prof. W [illegible] Doc Kenyon's orchestra [illegible] music for dancing

PRESS CLUB WILL HOLD SOCIAL MEETING TODAY

The Press Club will hold [illegible] meeting this afternoon at [illegible] at the Pi Beta Phi rooms at [illegible] Street. The hostesses will [illegible] garet Stanley and Winifred [illegible]

Phone 413 or 414
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

◆ ◆ ◆

Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

Have you chosen your life work?

In the field of health service The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers thorough well balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.

Write for details and advantageous terms to Leroy M. Moore, Dean

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Dept. 91 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

SPRING CLOTHES
are ready!

"CHARTER HOUSE" Suits
AND Topcoats

GOLF CLOTHES
SPORT SWEATERS
TUXEDO SUITS
NEW FURNISHINGS

MILES & PERRY CO.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1898

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
131 Bank St.

SPRING
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES
NOW HERE

PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

SENIORS

The University Store

is extending the time for reduced rates on

CAPS and GOWNS

from the usual March 30th to Founder's Day, April 26th. Notices concerning rentals and rates will be sent out April 12th.

"they shall not have our Pipes!

PIPES and pants are man-[illegible] line prerogatives that dete[illegible] themselves and us. Where [illegible] could men find sanctuary?

Pipes, stout pipes, and p[illegible] of good old Edgeworth—what [illegible] fect expression of man's inv[illegible] right of refuge with other [illegible] behind barriers of redolent s[illegible]

Tobacco with the whisker [illegible] that's what man wants—g[illegible] seasoned pipe-tobacco, th[illegible] of the leaf, all blended an[illegible] vored and mellowed . . . E[illegible] worth, in short.

You don't know Edgew[illegible] Then no time must be lost. [illegible] Edgeworth or borrow it, or l[illegible] send you some. There below is [illegible] a coupon, a free ticket for [illegible] first few pipefuls of the ge[illegible]

Send us the c[illegible] and we'll send [illegible] the Edgeworth.

Edgeworth is a [illegible] blend of good [illegible] —selected expe[illegible] pipe-smoking. It's [illegible] and flavor never [illegible] Buy Edgeworth [illegible] where—"Ready [illegible] bed" and "Plug [illegible] 15¢ pocket pack[illegible] pound humidor tin[illegible]

Edgeworth
SMOKING TOBACCO

LARUS & BRO. CO.
100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.
I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll [illegible] it in a good pipe.
Name _____
Street _____
Town and State _____
Now let the Edgeworth come

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 14, 1930 NUMBER 42

NOTED SCIENTIST TO LECTURE ON GLANDS

Dr. Allan W. Rowe, Noted Research Worker on Endocrine Glands, to Speak Here March 19

AMPLIFIER AND SLIDES WILL FEATURE LECTURE

Dr. Allan W. Rowe, Ph.D., superintendent of the Evans Memorial [illegible] Boston, Mass., will deliver a [illegible] lecture on "Some Facts [illegible] Ductless Glands" Wednesday, March 19, at eight o'clock in the University gymnasium.

Doctor Rowe was an intimate friend of Prof. Frank Swift during his student days in Germany. The latter recommended him as lecturer and assisted him during his visit here.

He is a brilliant and versatile speaker. His own special interest is in the field of the secretions of the ductless glands and the State Hospital at Worcester, Mass., has adopted and applied his original work and [illegible]. His work in laying a sound foundation of fact and careful scientific theory for medical practice has met with much widespread recognition and praise.

Much popular interest has been shown recently in relation to the functions of the ductless glands in behavior and personality, as well as physical activities.

The ductless glands are the endocrine organs of the body. Those better known to medicine are the thyroid in the neck, the pituitary at the base of the brain and the adrenal gland which secretes adrenalin. The pineal gland in the brain in which Decantes located the soul is now included in the endocrine list.

Doctor Rowe feels that the popular magazines and Sunday supplements have devoted too much space to the sensational material in the field of methology and too little attention to the needs of science.

The Evans Memorial Hospital, where Doctor Rowe is superintendent, is primarily a research institution to which only selected cases are admitted and are kept for a prolonged period of observation. The patients are given a variety of tests.

The lecture, aided by the electric amplifier will be illustrated by lantern slides, and although based on original research, will be of interest to laymen as well as to students of medicine.

TRANSLATION BY MYRICK EARNS PRAISE IN REVIEW

Unusual praise greets the translation by Prof. A. B. Myrick of the romance languages department, of Boccaccio's "Filostrato," a masterpiece of Italian literature, in a review by Prof. C. H. Grondgent of Harvard University in a recent issue of Speculum, a Journal of Mediaeval Studies.

Because "Filostrato" is read by students of Chaucer desirous of appreciating and understanding the relations between the works of the two fourteenth century poets.

The translation, with parallel text, was published recently by the University of Pennsylvania Press, Philadelphia. In the translation 505 pages are covered and there is a 60-page introduction written by Prof. Nathaniel L. Griffin, research worker on a Carnegie grant.

Says Professor Grondgent in his review:

"... a book whose very excellence cut short the perusal. A dictum which means ... worse than this: Boccaccio's ... is read primarily by students ... Chaucer desirous of establishing understanding the relations ... works of the two fourteenth century poets; and the commentary would make is so satisfactorily ... for them in this ... that they may be impelled ... themselves the pleasure of ...

"... Myrick has evidently taken pains, and has achieved ... success. The volume ... a really wide appeal, ... itself not only to students of Chaucer, of Boccaccio, of comparative literature, but to all lovers of ... and romance as well. It ... be used as a painless ... learning Italian."

COMMITTEE WILL DRAW UP FROSH CONSTITUTION

A committee of four, two men and two women, were elected to draw up a class constitution at a freshman meeting last Wednesday afternoon in the Williams Science Hall.

Those serving on the committee are Caroline Taft, John Carson, Sylvia Boyd, and Willis Brian. Pres. B. D. Brink presided at the meeting, and announced that there will be a meeting of the freshman men in the near future to decide matters of immediate importance to all frosh.

U. V. M. OFFERS PRIZES TO THREE WINNERS OF ORATORICAL CONTEST

Scholarships of $150, $100, and $50 to be Awarded Speakers From Sixteen Vermont Schools in Third Competition

Scholarships of $150, $100, and $50 each have been offered by the University of Vermont to first, second, and third place winners in the third Vermont oratorical contest to be held in Burlington next April. Sixteen Vermont high schools and academies, including nine from the eastern part of the state and seven from the western, have signified their intention of entering the contest.

Winner Goes to Europe

The winner of the state contest will be sent by the Burlington Free Press to compete in a zone contest against orators from New England and northern New York. The winner of this zone contest, if he should be the Vermont entry, will also be sent by the Free Press to enter the national contest in competition with the winning orators from each of the 48 states.

As an added attraction, the winners in the zone contest will be given a trip to Europe next summer with a two-day stop at Oberammergau to attend the Passion Play.

A change in the rules of speaking has been made this year. In addition to the six-minute orations on some subject connected with the Constitution of the United States to be delivered from memory, each contestant in the zone and national finals will be required to speak extemporaneously for four minutes on some phase of the subject of the memorized oration. This provision has been made to test the genuineness of the speaker's knowledge of the subject.

The conditions of the contest state that a school may have until April 11 to select its representative in the district contest to be held on that date. The final contest to decide the state champion will be held one week later on April 18.

DRAMATIC CLUB STAGES PLAY AT MASS MEETING

Dramatic Club presented the one-act play, "For Distinguished Service," a prize cup winner for the present seniors in the class play competition of two years ago, at a well-attended women's mass meeting last night in the University gymnasium. In the absence of Dorothy Dailey, president of Student Union, Georgina Hubert, '31, presided.

The cast of characters in the Dramatic Club production included Ethel Harding, Irene Marcotte, '30. Katherine, a society woman, Lilian Cohen, '30; Mary, the maid, Gertrude Levin, '31.

On the program were two selections sung by Elsie Roosa, '33. Social dancing to the tune of Freddie Lynch's orchestra continued until ten o'clock.

BENNETT ANNOUNCES TWO CHOIR VACANCIES

Prof. H. G. Bennett announces that places for two men are vacant in the University Choir. Any men who sing either bass or tenor, who are interested in joining the Choir, should report to Professor Bennett immediately. It should be understood that extra time will have to be put into rehearsals, since the Easter concert is only a week from Sunday.

LIFE IS ADAPTATION SAYS PROF. GIFFORD

Philosophy Professor Discourses on Nature of Mind Before John Dewey Club

EMPHASIZES DYNAMIC VIEW OF PERSONALITY

"Life is an affair of accommodation: adjustment and adaptation," declared Prof. A. R. Gifford in an address on "The Nature of Mind" before the John Dewey Club Tuesday evening.

The text of the address follows:

Experience In Personality

Psychology today regards experience and behavior as its subject matter. Personality is a life of activities organized coherently and experiences coherently organized, with a harmonious relation between experience and expression. Consciousness, mental activities, experience are conditioned upon a very complex organization of neurones in the central nervous system and are viewed as functions of the living and adjusting organism. The emergence and development of these functions are traced in biological evolution.

"The viewpoint suggested gives vitality to the concept of adaptation, which is fundamental in biology, physiology and sociology. Life, in its biological and social aspects, is an affair of accommodation, adjustment and adaptation. The mental life is no exception being also an affair of adjustment.

"The concepts of evolution and of organization are also fundamental to the functional and dynamic view of mental life. Evolution discloses the appearance of more and more complex nervous systems, culminating with the primates. Apes and men surpass in plastic accommodation and ingenuity. These capacities are correlated with the expansion of the neo-pallium.

"The properties distinctive of living matter or protoplasm depend upon the complex and labile organization of colloids. With increase of units in number and diversity of kind and connection, these develop nervous systems of various grades of complexity. These give organisms of corresponding grades of adaptation or capacity for accommodation.

Apes Have Common Sense

"Apes with their elaborate cerebral areas have consciousness, common sense, and ingenuity. Their temperamental traits are 'almost human.' They lack articulate speech, man's range of learning and invention and his generalizing capacities. They also lack self-consciousness, since neither the necessary reflective capacities nor social stimuli are present.

"Man, more richly endowed for learning, contriving, and creating; for communicating; and for looking before and after develops social life and culture which are distinctive of the human level. In this matrix self-consciousness and personality emerge.

"Personality as integration of experience and behavior is a concomitant of a healthy brain and its functional unity. But some scientists suggest that in the evolutionary series mental capacities develop more rapidly than neural structures. There is a striking contrast between the comparative uniformity of cortical structure and the vast complexity of mental life and action.

"Recently from a number of sources in zoology and physiology, as well as psychology, have come suggestions of a dynamic conception of mind in consciousness and experience. A concept of agency or drive seems to complete the picture of a self-integrating system of experience. Child's 'Gradients,' in physiological development, and Köhler's 'dynamic interaction' and 'dynamic self-distribution' in experience, are suggestive. Lashley offers a most stimulating and pregnant suggestion in his criticism of reflex theories which rely on structural patterns and diagrams. Though helpful toward understanding specific integrations they are not so good—are indeed inadequate—for the more plastic forms of behavior. Plastic nervous functions suggest a dynamic conception of cortical function."

LOWERCLASS WOMEN TO COMPETE IN MEET SOON

Freshman and sophomore women will compete in an indoor meet at the University Gym March 22, at 7:30 p.m.

Vermont Debates N. Y. U. Tonight in Pre-trip Meet

Contest in Old Chapel this Evening will be Last Men's Engagement in Burlington Before Debaters Leave on Southern Trip

DEAN TERMS LITERARY INTEREST AT VERMONT "RELATIVELY AVERAGE"

English Professor Describes Courses for Creative Writing—Sees Active Literary Group Here

"Interest in literature and creative work along this line is about average at the University of Vermont, as compared with most colleges in the country," declared Prof. Leon W. Dean of the English department in a brief interview last week.

With one course in advanced composition, in which the students may write almost any form of literature they choose, a short story course taught by Professor Dean himself, and a recently instituted course in poetry under the direction of Frances Frost, now a nationally known poet, students are given ample opportunity to develop a taste for writing.

However, next year it is expected that interest in the writing of all forms of literature will take on an added impetus, since a new course of article writing will be added to the curriculum. This course will include instruction in the writing of magazine articles, book reviewing, feature writing and interviewing, it was stated.

Plenty of Good Writers

"For an institution of its size," said Professor Dean, "Vermont has an unusual number of really good writers." In the intercollegiate literary contest, between the University of Vermont, the University of Maine, and the University of New Hampshire, Vermont has taken first place twice, falling into second rank another two times, but never taking the last place. This year the contest will go into its fifth year.

The fact that the University of Vermont has never taken a back place in this annual contest, has twice won first honors, and been more consistent in winning than the other two colleges shows that there is a group at Vermont really interested in literature, declared Professor Dean.

"It is not unknown, by any means, that a student here should sell manuscripts. While no student here has sold to leading magazines while in college, what has been accomplished in a small way is encouraging to those wishing to write for a living, it was pointed out.

"The college year is too short to accomplish a great deal in this connection," stated Professor Dean. "If more time could be spent on the preparation of work and more consistent effort was made in bringing the literary efforts of the students to a higher level, more stories and articles could be sold here. There are many other interests in college life which are likely to detract from the student's willingness to spend time on literature, unless he is very sincere," he pointed out.

ARIEL SETS FINAL DATE FOR PHOTOS AND LISTS

Individual photographs must be passed in to the editors of the Ariel before Saturday, March 22, or they will not appear in the Ariel, declared the editor of the junior yearbook yesterday.

The editors have not yet received all of the group pictures. These must be turned in before vacation at the latest and must have glossy finish.

The opening section of the year book is in the hands of the printers now, but the delinquent individuals who have not yet handed in their contributions should realize that they are holding up all progress on the Ariel.

All senior honor lists and junior honor lists and questionnaires must be turned in before vacation. The editors cannot be too emphatic in reminding delinquents that this is their year book and not the editors'.

WOMEN TO DEBATE NEW JERSEY HERE THURSDAY

N. Y. U. will meet Vermont on the debating platform tonight in the Old Mill Chapel at eight o'clock in a last-minute engagement before the team goes south next week.

Tonight's debate is the second in which Vermont has met New York University. Last year, on the southern trip, an "unofficial" decision, handed down by three judges in New York City, gave Vermont a 2-1 victory over the New York college. The decision was termed "unofficial" because of a request on the part of the University of Vermont before the debate.

The Old Guard Again

Vermont again will use the old guard of intercollegiate debating—Franklin Sears, Louis Lisman and George Nelson, speaking in that order. Debating for N. Y. U. will be Harold I. Friedman, Arthur M. Kreidman and Bernard I. Strauss. The New York University team is now on an extended tour through New England, and is regarded as one of the best in the country.

Vermont will debate in favor of disarmament. This is the same topic on which Nelson and Lisman defeated M. A. C. by a unanimous decision in an Oregon contest two weeks ago. N. Y. U. used the same subject last night against Middlebury. The debate will be conducted on the American plan, in which each man speaks in both construction and rebuttal.

A women's debating team of the University will meet a team from the New Jersey College for women in Burlington next Thursday night, March 20. The next evening, the men's varsity will be in New Jersey, debating Upsala College in the first engagement of the southern trip. The Vermont women, who will debate in favor of government control of hydro electric power, will be Janice Goodrich and Roberta Powers, both veteran debaters. The men's team taking the trip will be composed of Lisman, Nelson and Sears.

Going South

The southern trip will extend from New Jersey to Virginia and will include seven debates. Four different questions will be used and three different styles of debate. The topics of contention will be disarmament, the emergence of woman from the home, the evils of the machine age, and the Kellogg Pact. The Oxford, American and Oregon systems will all be used.

Vermont will participate in its second debate away from home this season when it meets Upsala College on the negative of the disarmament question Friday night, using the Oxford style of debate.

On March 24 Vermont will go to Lehigh to debate on the negative of the proposition, "Resolved, that the evils of the machine age outweigh its benefits," the American plan of debate being used. The following evening Vermont will debate the Kellogg Pact in an Oregon debate with Ursinus.

Broadcast Debate

Vermont and George Washington University will broadcast a debate from Washington, D. C., the evening of March 26, in which Vermont will oppose disarmament. On the twenty-seventh Vermont will meet Catholic University on the same side of the same question. Both debates will employ American style.

The following evening Emory and Henry College will oppose the Vermont debaters in an Oregon plan debate. Vermont will again have the negative of the disarmament question.

A debate in which Vermont will deplore the emergence of woman against the contentions of Virginia Union College on March 29 will conclude the trip.

Six students from the Home Economics department are living at the home management house this week: hostess, Narcissa Goodsell, '30; assistant hostess, Helen Wilson, '30; cook, Bertha Safford, '31; home manager, Isabelle Warhurst, '31; waitress, Lois Harrington, '32; and freshman member, Helen Crandall.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Collegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Associate Editors

Assistant Editors

Assistant Managers

Assistant Business Managers

G. F. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are hereby invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any local notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to the editor by 7 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. Entered as mail matter at the postoffice at Burlington, Vt., during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, or other communications to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage at special rate provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 14, 1922.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 March 14, 1930 No. 42

DEBATING N. Y. U. TONIGHT

It will be neither as large nor as spectacular as a crowd at a football game, but the audience which will witness the debate with New York University in the Old Mill Classic tonight, if it measure up at all to those which have witnessed past contests of like importance, will certainly be an impressive one.

In an age in which intellectualism among college students is decried, or the ways in which the very term "intellectual" is a taunt, and the student whose sole interests lie in book and pen is regarded as "queer," such an interest in the most manifestly intellectual of all activities must well be regarded as a phenomenon of the strangest sort. And yet debating has crowded sports off the front page in every college paper or holds a place of equal prominence with it. debating news is eagerly sought by the press and is rarely absent from a page of college news while debating itself has become an activity carrying honors equal to those of any other.

For it is not as an intellectual renaissance that we view the interest now so keenly manifested in debating. It is not the intellectual who swells the audience at an intercollegiate debate; there are few of him. Rather it is the student who cheers so lustily for his team at the big game who is most likely to be found at the debate.

For debating has become a contest and a victory on the platform has become as significant as a victory on the gridiron or the diamond. The battle of brain has taken its place with the battle of brawn, and a winning debating team has become as much an object of pride as a winning team in any sport.

No athletic team ever travels as far as a debating team. None ever goes into contact as many different cities and states. None ever makes an impression so far afield. Not one college but all, have recognized the advertising value of a good debating team. Europe, ports, trans-continental trips and intersectional contests are the rule in every debating season. That Vermont has at last produced a team so far ahead in its own class as to be prepared to meet on equal terms teams with reputations established over many years, from Maine to Virginia, seems to us cause for considerable pride.

There is no cut and dried, however, yet a deeper cause for the newly-acquired popularity of debating. No longer does the debater rant in sesquipedalian words and long-drawn metaphors, no longer does he rave on subjects of interest to none but the pale bespectacled scholar. Wit and humor have come into the debate and have come to stay. Directness and clearness of argument have superseded long winded oratory. No longer do debaters dispute the respective grandeur of Washington and Lincoln, even the time honored Capital Punishment and City Manager Plan of Government are being forgotten. Last night a group of University debaters fought over the merits of the Volstead Act. Tonight Vermont and New York University will debate world disarmament. On the southern trip Vermont will debate among other things the evils of the machine age, the emergence of woman from the home, and the Kellogg Pact for the renunciation of war.

Tonight will mark the second time within a year that Vermont and New York University meet. They met for the first time last fall, with what result we may still remember to our sorrow. But it is our belief that to welcome a victory over New York University on the debating platform tonight as avidly as we would welcome one on the athletic field would be by no means incongruous.

THE $100,000 BEQUEST

It seems to us a truly marvellous idea that of an eccentric New York millionaire to leave the State of Vermont the sum of $100,000 on condition that the universities of the state merge into a single one, under state supervision and with democratic ideals. The chances look pretty good to us for Columbia.

On second thought, we fail to perceive the desirability of such a step. Vermont is already the university of the state; is, in fact, the oldest of all state universities. Neither do we see how a military institution like Norwich can ever consent to become part of an institution "with democratic ideals."

Ten Timely Topics

TARA TANTARA TEMO

It was mentioned at the breakfast of the Sunday session and it was apparent at the many sessions given by Intercollegiate Conference that Vermont's reputation there is that of confirmed indifference.

As has been stated before in the columns of the Cynic some honorary societies have themselves to self-examination and some people also take them editorially. The climax was reached when a young man appeared on all those platforms in Chapel with a mask and it about time that Vermont awoke to the utter childishness of such a procedure and took definite steps to prevent its recurrence? Or is the University to continue to bear the taint of such decidedly bad taste?

We understand that a student editor at Johns Hopkins has taken exception to some of our views—all of which goes to show the Cynic does penetrate and is read beyond our Campus—and that Vermont is known in the intercollegiate world.

I was talking the other day with one of the boys who said he would like to write a letter to Campus Comment, expressing his opinions on war, peace, military service, patriotism, and the flag, but he dared not. "If I said what I actually thought about all this hocus pocus of nationalism and imperialism, and about drafting young men to fight old men's wars, and if the government didn't call it sedition, I should at least expect to be expelled from college. The things are unsaid, nevertheless, there are many in the University who think them," he declared.

If we are to judge by external evidence there is a growing sentiment on the campus for peace and the things that make for peace. Dissatisfaction is expressed with ideals and institutions which have no greater discredit to their charge than that they fail to realize this primary aim.

We may say, moreover, that this dissatisfaction is not wholly destructive. The work which has been done in promoting first the International Week-end Conference, under the auspices of the Vermont Christian Association and the International Relations Club, and now the Second International Institute can certainly be labelled constructive. So also was the action of the delegates to the Northfield Student Conference, in condemning compulsory military training, and in appealing to President Hoover and Senator Green in behalf of disarmament. Finally we have the example of President Bailey. Few of us fully realize what goes on behind the scenes in the administrative offices, but all of us can appreciate the significance of his action in endorsing the recent appeal to the American Delegation at the London Conference. He has placed himself squarely at the head of the campus movement for peace and internationalism.

We heard the other day—and it is not the first time that such a report has come to our ears—that it is the policy of the University ultimately to establish a separate college for women, centered around the buildings at Redstone and Robinson. It is with profound regret that we contemplate any such course, for we are firm believers in coeducation. It isn't for the best interest of the students, of the University or of the cause of education generally. To paraphrase Charlie Paddock, the coast athlete, "No son of ours."

There are three reasons for our attitude. First, such an act would be inconsistent with the progressive and democratic spirit of Vermont—the first college in the country to elect women to Phi Beta Kappa. Second, men and women must live in the world together; why should they be segregated during the formative period of their social life? Third, the contacts and friendships which men and women make in the classroom, based on community of interests, seem to be far more worth while, on the whole, than those picked up on the dance floor. Why rob college men and women of a natural way of meeting and selecting their friends, irrespective of sex, and substitute the artificiality of a system which fails to provide any adequate basis for such a selection?

There has been comment upon the courtesy of the younger generation of men: we grant that it is not always what it might be. But that is not the only aspect of the problem, for we can also discover discourtesy upon the part of the women of our generation. Emancipated as they are, thoroughly as they have broken away from the idea that man is superior to them, they still demand the privileges which were accorded them under the old standards. Personally we would take our chances upon meeting a howling mob of stampeding men upon the street, rather than meet a half a dozen women on a narrow sidewalk; it is safer. The nearest we ever came to being killed in a rush was at the Christmas concert in the Chapel, when the women who were leaving by the south aisle almost ran us down.

If you demand fairness and absolute impartiality in a man, you sometimes seek far for it; and if you demand as well that he be human, the task seems sometimes to be impossible. Here at Vermont, however, we need not take this attitude, for we have in our faculty a man who answers admirably to that description, who is above all a scholar, who is, if you do but realize it, exceedingly human, and who never permits his personal reactions bias his conduct. Truly, we are fortunate in Professor Gifford.

Geology Professor Will Soon Have Relief of State Ready For Survey

Headed by Prof. E. C. Jacobs of the geology department, the Vermont committee on basic geographical features is completing a relief of the state in connection with the comprehensive survey of the Vermont commission on country life, of which Dr. H. C. Taylor, research Professor of agricultural economics, is chairman.

The time-consuming labor required in constructing the relief model is described in an article by Professor Jacobs in the March issue of the official bulletin of the commission. The model will be made on a scale in which one inch equals two miles, about one-half the scale of the United States topographical survey maps. In order to make the hills and valleys of the state stand out in relief a vertical exaggeration of four-to-one was determined. The model will be 6½ feet long by 3⅝ feet wide at the northern border and 1⅝ feet wide at the southern border of the state. The maximum elevation, Mount Mansfield, will stand 1⅝ inches high. Every difference of 100 feet in elevation in the State will be shown in relief.

"In making such a model," the article continues, "the first steps are to reduce the topographical sheets photographically to half size and to obtain cardboard of such thickness that each sheet shall represent accurately 100 feet of vertical elevation. Contours are lines of equal elevation above sea level and therefore each in its entirety is a closed curve. Separate sheets of cardboard are cut so that each shall exactly fit the contour which it is to represent. These are then superimposed upon one another in their correct positions so that there will result a pile of cardboards rising steplike from the lowest contour to the highest.

"The vertical edges are then bevelled off with wax and the relief model emerges. From this a 'negative' is cast and from this in turn as many models are produced as may be desired.

"The draftsman will next be called in and given the no less exacting task of painting in and lettering the systems, lakes, ponds and cultural features, and then the boundaries, town highways and such other features as possess, other areas suitable for future, various soil, geological formations, quarries, reservoir sites, etc.

One difficulty noted is that quadrangles in Vermont have yet been surveyed by topographers. These sections will be treated by leaving slight depressions in the model over which will be placed temporary sections at first, based on preliminary surveys and plans. When accurate surveys have been completed, new sections for them will replace the provisional ones, making the entire model accurate in all its parts.

Margaret Stanley and Winifred Stone, '31, were hostesses at a meeting of Press Club held at the Pi Beta Phi rooms. After a short business meeting, refreshments were served. Members of the society are asked to watch the bulletin boards for further announcements.

Society Notes

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The Mothers' Club and Alliance held a bridge party at the Athena Club house last Saturday afternoon. There were about fifty tables.

Marjorie Tewksbury, '28, and Helen Prentiss, '29, were week-end visitors.

PI BETA PHI

Mrs. R. D. Brown, a national officer of the sorority, is visiting Beta chapter from Thursday to Saturday of this week.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Muriel Cleveland, '28, from Barton was in Burlington over the week-end.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Margaret Cullinan, ex-'30, was a week-end visitor in the city.

K. E. L.

K. E. L. Society announces the initiation of Pearl Cannon, '33, of Burlington. The initiation was held at the home of Gertrude Levin on Shelburne Street.

HERE'S the jazz that puts the Sin in "Insinuating" ... It says "Come on Baby" with every note!

Victor Records bring you all the latest, hottest hits. Reisman, Vallee, Olsen ... at their best ... the greatest artists and orchestras record only for Victor. The famous Victor arrangements "got wings!" At your Victor dealer's ... the best costs no more! Hear the newest releases ... TODAY!

22282—WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LOVE—Fox Trot—and SHE'S SUCH A COMFORT TO ME, Leo Reisman and His Orchestra

22277—CONGRATULATIONS and THAT'S WHY I'M JEALOUS OF YOU, Jim Miller—Charlie Farrell

22257—HAVE A LITTLE FAITH IN ME and WITH YOU, Johnny Marvin

22272—HAVE A LITTLE FAITH IN ME—Fox Trot—and CRYIN' FOR THE CAROLINES, Waring's Pennsylvanians

22275—NINA ROSA—Fox Trot—and MY FIRST LOVE-MY LAST LOVE, Lysle Arden—Phil Ohman and Their Orchestra

22267—KEEP YOUR UNDERSHIRT ON—Fox Trot—and WHAT WOULD I CARE, Ben Pollack and His Orchestra The High Hatters

THE MUSIC YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT on Victor Records

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

FINAL INTERFRAT RELAY RACES THIS AFTERNOON

Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Nu, Winners of Semi-finals, to Compete for Championship

[illegible] semi-finals of the interfraternity [illegible] held Wednesday afternoon [illegible] Phi Delta Theta defeated Delta [illegible] Sigma Nu outran Sigma Phi [illegible] these two winners will [illegible] today at 4 o'clock for the championship.

[illegible] last relay the Delta Psi's accumulated during the first part of [illegible] but Cal Walker by a great [illegible] the finish won the victory [illegible] In the other race Sigma [illegible] the lead on the start and held [illegible] throughout to win easily. The summaries are as follows: Phi Delta Theta [illegible] Grant, Swain and [illegible]. Time, 2.57⅘. Delta Psi—[illegible], Colburn, Scharbius and M. [illegible]. Time, 2.57⅘. Sigma Nu—[illegible] Bedell Flagg and Huey. Time, 2.55⅕. Sigma Phi—Billings, Tupper, Mace and Morse. Time, 2.58⅘.

ONE-YEAR RULE IS NOW IN EFFECT AT VERMONT

The Athletic Council passed a one year eligibility rule at its meeting Monday night. Under this rule no student shall participate in varsity intercollegiate athletics of any kind until he has been at the University of Vermont for at least one year as a regularly enrolled and bona fide student.

The new rule goes into effect July 1, 1930, which means that the present baseball team will be able to use students in the freshman class. The transfer rule, which has been a one-year rule, remains the same, and gives the University a uniform regulation and one which coincides with those in effect at most colleges in the country and in almost all colleges with which Vermont competes in sports.

The immediate effect of this rule will be that no athletes who are not in college at the present time will be participating for Vermont next year.

PRELIMS IN WRESTLING TOURNEY BRING UPSETS

Winners in First Two Preliminary Rounds to Meet in Semi-finals Monday

Monday afternoon at four o'clock the semi-finals of the wrestling tournament will take place in the gym. The last of the preliminaries were held Wednesday and the winners will meet in the semi-finals.

The first of the preliminary rounds came Monday when there were four matches scheduled. In the 145-pound class, Bradish forfeited to Reed and G. Fleming won a fall over Philbin. In the 158-pound class, Pierce threw Primpas, and Fleury got a decision over Gardner.

Wednesday afternoon the second preliminary rounds took place. S. Segal won in the 125-pound group by virtue of a forfeit from Craig. Among the 145 pounders H. Fleming and Rowand won their matches with a fall each over Sugden and Anagnas respectively. Perelman succeeded in downing Harris, and Peters won through a time advantage over DeWitt. Both of these bouts were in the 158-pound class. In the next group classed at 175, Rugg felled Young and Cohen won on a time advantage over Pelofsky. In a match in the unlimited class, Park won by a fall over H. Smith.

The winners of the semi-finals Monday will meet in the finals Wednesday to decide the championships.

Burlington and Barton in Title Playoff Tomorrow

Winners of Senior and Junior Tournaments to Settle State High School Basketball Championship Here—Both Show Outstanding Teams in Their Class

WINNER MAY ATTEND NATIONAL TOURNAMENT

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the Vermont State high school basketball championship will be decided in the U. V. M. gym when Barton Academy, winner of the junior tournament, plays the Burlington High School quintet, winner of the senior tournament. This promises to be a battle royal and should call out a large number of rooters.

Two weeks ago Burlington High won the Senior Championship at Rutland by outclassing Cathedral, Spaulding and Rutland. Each of these quintets fell before the skillful playing of Coach Hurd's men. Captain Marchacos was designated to lead the all-tournament team and Palmer was voted the most valuable player in the tournament. The team has not played a game since the Rutland contest in the tourney but constant practice has kept the players in good condition.

Last Saturday the "Yellow Peril" of Barton Academy upset all the dope by capturing the Junior Championship title. After a unpromising season and a series of defeats the team suddenly strengthened by beating Newbury in a play-off for the privilege of entering the tournament. Then in a preliminary tourney game Craftsbury was easily defeated. Following this the favored Hardwick five fell before the Orange and Black, and finally St. Michaels of Montpelier was downed with the championship cup passing into the hands of Coach Pierce's ball handlers. Three of the Barton players were picked for the all-tourney team while the lanky center, Harry Lewis, was given the best individual players' cup.

From the results of the tournaments both teams appear to be outstanding in their class. Barton has a tall, rangy team of smooth players but Burlington should find little trouble in winning the game tomorrow. The winner of the State title will be given an invitation to participate in the national tournament at Chicago the last of this month.

RIFLE TEAM COMPETES AT MC GILL TOMORROW

Tomorrow the Vermont rifle team will be at Montreal to meet the McGill University riflemen in a shoulder-to-shoulder match. This will be the first match of this sort which Vermont has had against the McGill team. The players who are to make the trip are: A. L. Wardwell (captain), W. J. Burke, G. M. Donaldson, J. A. Eliot, W. C. Perry and H. J. Sheldon. The match will be shot in accordance with the Canadian regulations which differ from the American method in that the riflemen shoot in only the prone position at a distance of 75 feet whereas the American regulations call for shooting in the four positions of prone, sitting, kneeling and standing at 50 feet. Although six men will shoot, the five highest scores will count with the sixth being used in case of a tie.

Latest returns show that last Saturday the U. V. M. rifle team scored two victories and one defeat, winning from Massachusetts Agricultural College and Alabama Polytech., who had scores of 1,728 and 1,718 respectively while Vermont recorded 1,787. The defeat came at the hands of the West Virginia U. sharpshooters, 1,829 to 1,787.

The results in the Vermont scoring were: Wardwell (captain) 366, Donaldson 365, Sheldon 357, Eliot 354, Perry 345, total 1,787. Burke, the sixth in scoring, shot a 344.

The Vermont team came out fifth in the First Corps Area Intercollegiate match, scoring 7,148 out of a possible 8,000.

FENCERS IN SECOND MATCH WITH CADETS

At 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon the Norwich rapier wielders will encounter the Catamount swordsmen in the U. V. M. gym in what promises to be a thrilling contest. In the last match at Norwich, the Vermonters defeated the Cadet swordsmen 9 to 8, but at that time Norwich was weakened by the absence of Captain Pendo. With the presence of Captain Pendo in the line-up, a Norwich victory is more probable, although there is a chance that Vermont may repeat its former victory. So far this season Vermont has defeated Norwich and lost close matches to Dartmouth and the Montreal A. A. while Norwich has one of the best fencing teams in the East. Wadsworth, Aiken, Perelman, and Schurman will fence for Vermont while Captain Pendo, Batchelder, Jones, and Chapin will probably wield the foils and sabers for the Horsemen.

The Newman Club will meet at noon Sunday, March 16, at the Cathedral High School for a group photo.

The regular meeting will be held in the Cathedral Auditorium at eight o'clock Sunday evening.

Vermont Basketball Team Closes Season With Only Four Victories

Ten Varsity Basketball Letters Awarded at Meeting of Athletic Council

At a meeting of the Athletic Council basketball letters were awarded to the following varsity players: T. J. [illegible] (capt.), N. B. Gray (mgr.), [illegible] Bernstein, W. M. Sargent, P. E. [illegible], L. R. Durfey, R. E. Tobin, [illegible] Winant, F. J. Tupper, and T. F. [illegible]. The latter is the first in recent years to be awarded a basketball numeral during his freshman year.

The word alone is sufficient to sum up one of the poorest seasons in the history of Vermont athletics—defeat. In spite of the bright outlook and possibilities that were visualized by every Vermont basketball fan when the squad first downed its fighting arch-rival and took over the fast Montreal A. A. A. five, the season finally wound up as a wholesome disaster.

Out of the twenty contests engaged in there were only four victories, the remaining being defeats. The season started off with a victory over Montreal A. A. A. by the score of 27 to 25 but this was soon totally eclipsed by the overwhelming defeat the Cats received at the hands of Dartmouth at Hanover 62 to 13. The following two games with McGill and the U. S. Naval Training Station, respectively, brought back the spirit and enthusiasm and victories were the results. Up to this time no set line-up was as yet used. Capt. "Tim" Halligan who deserves much credit as a leader on the court and "Phil" Manning were the only two who appeared regularly.

After the Christmas vacation and just before the trip to New York the Cats met the School of Physical Education five, [illegible] the Cats 33 to 19. The trip was a sheer failure in so far as victories went. The 7th Regiment, [illegible] A. C. and the R. P. I. won decisively. The last game before the mid-year exams was also a defeat with St. Michael's the conqueror 28 to 21.

Following mid-years "Hank" Durfey, a junior and Collins, a member of the Frosh quintet, were added to the varsity squad. In spite of the rest period and of these two additions, the first game, again with St. Michael's added another tally to the defeat column of the Cats. The next two games were also chalked up as defeats, the first at the hands of U. S. Coast Guard and the other by an old-time rival, Norwich. The game with Lowell Textile was destined to be the last victory for the Green and Gold this season and after that seven defeats followed consecutively. The final two games with Norwich and Holy Cross showed signs of potential victories but the fans were doomed to disappointment.

Captain Halligan, in spite of a number of mishaps during the season, turned out to be the season's high-scorer, totalling 96 points to his credit and playing in 19 of the 20 games. "Phil" Manning runs a close second with 88 points and was the only man to play in every game of the season. Sargent in his position as pivot man performed in fine fashion and was also very effective in the offense. "Dink" Bernstein, who found time from his studies of medicine to support the Green and Gold on the court, played a stellar game in his forward berth. Tupper and Durfey complete the forward list and both have "come through" when most needed. The latter was added to the squad after mid-years and has been an important addition. Both of these men will be available next year. Winant has been a "jack of all trades" and can play any position. However, it is in the defense where he shines best. This was his first season with the varsity and he certainly came through with "flying colors."

Captain Halligan, "Phil" Manning, "Dink" Bernstein, Scutakes, "Charlie" Mace and "Charlie" DeRose have seen their last season of action on the basketball floor for Vermont and their loss will certainly be felt. Those remaining are Sargent, Tupper, Tobin, Winant, Collins, Durfey, Bedell, Tilley, Dober and Proctor.

Season's record:

Vermont	27	Montreal A. A. A.	26
Vermont	13	Dartmouth	62
Vermont	35	McGill	25
Vermont	39	U. S. N. Training Sta	23
Vermont	19	Ithaca School Ph. Ed.	33
Vermont	27	7th Regiment	50
Vermont	21	Crescent A. C.	55
Vermont	44	Rensselaer	51
Vermont	21	St. Michael's	28
Vermont	15	St. Michael's	23
Vermont	28	U. S. Coast Guard	32
Vermont	16	Norwich	36
Vermont	29	Lowell Textile	25
Vermont	22	Springfield	39
Vermont	16	Middlebury	34
Vermont	18	Holy Cross	58
Vermont	32	Springfield	38
Vermont	16	Middlebury	26
Vermont	27	Norwich	28
Vermont	17	Holy Cross	23
Total	482	Total	715

Vermont's average 24 points.
Opponents' average 36 points.

Three students at North Carolina University were expelled for clipping the hair off the head of a freshman.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

BOYS AND GIRLS FROM ALL FRATERNITIES
I patronize the Cynic for courtesy
WHY NOT ALL PATRONIZE ME?
TRY A BOTTLE OF CHRISTY'S
CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
87½ Church St. One flight up

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

For Your Dance!
CREPE PAPER DECORATIONS
BALLOONS, CONFETTI, SERPENTINE, FAVORS
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

BASE BALL and TENNIS
New 1930 Equipment On Sale Now
L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

The Following Books Are New Titles Just Added to the Lending Library and Reference Library and Recommended by Professor Aiken:

PARSONS: STREAM OF HISTORY
LIPPMANN: PREFACE TO MORALS
WELLS: OUTLINE OF HISTORY
ELLIS: DANCE OF LIFE
CABELL: BEYOND LIFE

at

The University Store

A New Line of College Novelties
Isham News Agency
102A CHURCH ST.

Turk Says
Now For The Newest Spring Togs—
You may count on Turk's—always to give you the newest and most popular Suits, Topcoats, Furnishings and Hats—at the most reasonable prices.
TURK'S, Inc.
156 College St.

Eccentric Bequest Calls For Merger

Millionaire Leaves $100,000 to Colleges of Vermont to Unite as State University

[illegible]

Name of Few Haven

[illegible]

CALENDAR

March 14

[illegible] Girls' State [illegible] vs Stanton Van Lill [illegible] gymnasium at 4 p.m.
[illegible] debate New York [illegible] vs Vermont Old Mill Chapel at 8 p.m.
Basketball [illegible] Burlington High School gymnasium.

March 15

Varsity fencing bouts vs Ver[illegible] Academy gymnasium at 4:00 p.m.
[illegible] basketball state championship [illegible] Burton Acad[illegible] vs Burlington High School. University gymnasium at 8 p.m.

March 16

Newman Club meeting Cathedral High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

March 17

Intramural wrestling semi-finals. University gymnasium at 4 p.m.

March 19

Intramural wrestling finals. Uni[illegible] gymnasium at 4 p.m.
University lecture Dr A W Rowe on Indians [illegible] Islands. University gymnasium at 8 p.m.

March 20

Intercollegiate debate New Jersey College for Women vs Vermont Women Old Mill Chapel at 8 p.m.

March 21

Women Indoor Meet freshmen vs sophomores University gymnasium at 7:30 p.m.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

HOME-MADE CANDIES
ICE CREAM

Corner Main & Church Streets
LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

The Old Lyndon

Colorful New PAJAMAS
$1.95, $2.25, $2.95
Stunning Styles in many new color combinations of Basketweave Cloth, Rayon and Prints.

[illegible] real estate operators by the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MARCH 18, 1930 NUMBER 43

DR. A. W. ROWE WILL LECTURE ON GLANDS

Distinguished Research Worker on Endocrine Glands, Friend of Dean Swift, to Speak

AMPLIFIER AND SLIDES WILL FEATURE LECTURE

Dr. Allan W. Rowe, Ph.D., superintendent of the Evans Memorial Hospital in Boston, Mass., will give an illustrated lecture on "Some Facts About the Ductless Glands," tomorrow evening, March 19, in the University auditorium.

Doctor Rowe is a brilliant and versatile specialist. His own special interest is in the field of secretions of the ductless glands. His work in laying a solid foundation of fact and useful scientific theory for medical practice has met with a widespread praise and recognition, such that the State Hospital at Worcester, Mass., has adopted his original work and is using his methods.

Doctor Rowe feels that the popular magazines and Sunday supplements have devoted too much space to the sensational material in the field of endocrinology and too little attention to the needs of science.

The Evans Memorial Hospital, where Doctor Rowe is superintendent, is

(Continued on page 6)

WCAX IS BROADCASTING TRUE ANIMAL STORIES

Station WCAX, which is operated by the Agricultural Extension Service of the University and by the State Agricultural College, is working up a little feature in which it asks the public to cooperate. The station suggests that people of the State report incidents of the most interesting things they have known animals, particularly farm animals, do. For two weeks now such incidents have been broadcast. They must be authentic, and will be put on the air under the writer's name, or, if requested, without the name. They must include the heroic things, the clever, the intelligent things that animals have done, the unusual things, incidents that depict animal traits and resourcefulness, and should be sent to Leon W. Dean, Announcer WCAX, Morrill Hall, Burlington.

The station this year has been unusually successful in its reception. Reports show that it has been heard as far west as California and as far south as West Virginia. It is not unusual for it to be heard in Massachusetts, Connecticut and other New England states. The broadcasting time is 7.30 o'clock on Friday evenings. The wave length is 1,200 kilocycles.

If there are any questions regarding farm problems which anyone wishes to have answered at this hour the Extension Service is always glad to receive them. L. M. Greene, instructor in poultry, is already conducting a poultry school in which he will answer questions any Friday night. Suggestions as to talks on agricultural and related subjects which the public would like to hear are also invited. The fundamental purpose of the station is to be of service to the agricultural interests of the State.

ECONOMICS 9 CLASSES VISIT WINOOSKI MILLS

Students of the Economics 9 classes visited the American Woolen Mill at Winooski last Thursday afternoon under the guidance of Professor Stineford and Miss Morgan.

The students were conducted through the mill, and each of the intricate processes from the mixing of raw stock to the completion of the woolen cloth, was carefully explained by the foremen of each department. Mr McGee, of the American Woolen Co., was most patient in showing the visitors around.

After visiting the large mill, most of the students left, but a few of the group accompanied Mr Stineford in a visit to the worsted mill which also proved very interesting. The excursion was undertaken in preparation for the study of the textile industries which will soon be taken up in the classes.

"New Eligibility Ruling Will Prevent Loss of Study Time," Says Donahue

Athletic Council Head States New Rule Requiring One Year Residence Will Raise Scholarship by Barring Varsity Training

"Training for varsity competition occupies so much of the freshman's time that should be spent toward his scholastic duties during the first year. It is because the Athletic Council realized this that the new eligibility rules were formulated," asserted Prof. J. E. Donahue, head of the Council.

"It is obvious that if a freshman's time and energy are occupied in training for a varsity team that his mind is diverted from his studies, and consequently his chance of making a successful start in college is appreciably lessened," he stated.

The adjustments necessitated by the great difference between high school and college life must be carefully made.

"Then, too," he added, "the one year eligibility rule is applied at nearly all American universities and has proved very satisfactory in them all. Practically all athletic conferences recommend it."

"When does the rule go into effect?" asked the reporter.

"Beginning with July 1, 1930, all new students entering athletics will be affected by the new one year rule," Professor Donahue replied.

Under the old ruling, freshmen in all sports, major and minor, have been allowed to take part in varsity contests after midyears, if scholastically eligible. However, this did not apply in the case of athletes who transferred from other universities. They were allowed to compete in varsity contests only after a year's residence at the university. The new eligibility rule forbids freshmen from entering varsity competition, giving them the same rating as student transfers.

PROF. J. E. DONAHUE

"The Council aims to improve the quality of the students' scholastic work by preventing him from giving too much time to training the first year, and it is hoped also that the quality of the players will, under the new regulation, be improved," declared Professor Donahue.

"It seems like a worthwhile change," replied the CYNIC reporter as he left, "and thank you for the talk." "You're welcome, come again." "Good-bye."

METCALF DESCRIBES THEATER IN GERMANY

Speaks Before German Club on Actors and Technique of Stage Before the War

"The life of the inhabitants of the village of Oberammergau is dominated entirely by a combined artistic and religious ideal, which has apparently resulted in a high level of personal beauty and talent," declared Professor Metcalf in a lecture at the German Club meeting last Wednesday night which the speaker devoted to "Reminiscences and Impressions of the German Theater."

Professor Metcalf studied in Germany during the year immediately preceding the World War. He spoke throughout his lecture in German.

Professor Metcalf described at some length the court theaters of Germany as they existed before the war, and he especially mentioned the theater at Braunschweig. These court theaters are now, of course, under the direction of the states.

The cosmopolitan character of the Berlin stage was pointed out by Professor Metcalf. For not only are German plays presented there but also plays from the theaters of many other nations.

Shakespeare in Germany

Professor Metcalf recalled especially the number of very fine Shakespearean performances that he had seen while in Germany. He also noted that more of Shakespeare's plays were being produced in Germany at that time than in any English-speaking nation. Professor Metcalf witnessed during his stay the work of the greatest of the German actors, among whom were Moisi, Rudolph and Joseph Schildkraut, Bassermann, Wagner, Tillandurieux and Else Heins.

Moisi has been regarded by many as the greatest actor in the world, and Professor Metcalf said that he is indeed the greatest actor that he has ever seen. The Schildkrauts are familiar to most American lovers of drama, and Wagener has since appeared on the American screen in a "talkie."

The fine performances in the Deutsches Theater, which were directed by Max Reinhardt were very clearly described, and the great influence that Max Reinhardt's methods of production have had in other nations was well brought out.

Professor Metcalf touched on some of the technical aspects of play production, and considered the large contribution that Germany has made to this field under the leadership of Adolph Appia.

The Oberammergau Passion Play, which Professor Metcalf had seen dur-

(Continued on page 5)

THREE VERMONT MEN DEBATE THREE K. P.'S

Nelson, Donaghy, Codding, Firm Dries, try to Convince Three Equally Firm Wets

The staid fraternal halls of Burlington Lodge Knights of Pythias were violently shaken last Thursday night by a debate on the subject, "Resolved; That the United States should continue Its Present Prohibitory Policy As Set Forth in the 18th Amendment to the Constitution."

George Nelson, '31, Peardon Donaghy, '33 and E. M. Codding, '31 argued bone dry.

Gilbert Hendry, M. W. Preston, and Harley Chittenden, all members of the Burlington Lodge, argued wet. J. Edward Bigelow, '33, presided.

Following preliminary remarks by the Chairman, George Nelson arose to open the argument, calling the audience's attention to a half filled whiskey bottle before him on the table. This he said was evidence enough. "The affirmative will prove three things," stated Nelson, "namely, that prohibition is morally, socially and economically beneficial. The negative must prove five things," continued the speaker, "First, that prohibition is a failure; second, that prohibition should be abolished; third, they must present a better plan; fourth, they must show that that plan is better, and just wherein it is better."

Setting his pipe down on the desk before him, Mr Gilbert Hendry arose to point out a marked fallacy in the affirmative's argument. "They fail to consider moderation, the middle course between the drunkard and the bone dry," he argued.

Peardon Donaghy, the freshman adonis, argued that prohibition is socially beneficial. Quoting Abraham Lincoln and King Solomon, the speaker called upon the audience to give the youth of today a good square deal.

M. W. Preston, second negative supporter, after a hurried conference with his colleagues maintained that America is supporting Canadian breweries and that the Canadian system of liquor control was a marked success.

"Five hundred Harvard students are rummies," concluded the speaker.

E. M. Codding proceeded to bombard the opposition with a barrage of figures, characterizing each statement with "Figure that out." The speaker continued that the money once spent for drinks, is now economically benefiting the people.

The star speaker of the debate, Harley Chittenden, hastened back from a hurried expedition to the side room, wiping his mouth and with his arms full of papers, to argue that the 18th amendment was unconstitutional. After trying on several of his collec-

(Continued on page 6)

FEDERAL OFFICERS TO INSPECT R. O. T. C. UNIT

Lieut. Col. Walton Goodwin Jr., general staff corps, and Major Robert H. Barrett, infantry, will conduct the annual federal inspection of the battalion of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at the University on May 15 and 16, according to orders just issued at Headquarters First Corps Area, Boston.

Last year the local battalion received the classification of "excellent" among the colleges requiring military training. As an indication that the work done last year merited this distinction each private and cadet officer was this year given a blue star to be worn on the sleeve of the R. O. T. C. uniform.

The same federal officers will inspect the Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Norwich University on May 29 and 30.

DEBATERS LOSE BY 2-1 DECISION TO NEW YORK UNIVERSITY LAST FRIDAY

Defeat on Disarmament Question is First Vermont Loss of Season Out of Three Starts

By the narrow margin of a 2 to 1 decision of the judges, N. Y. U. emerged the victor over Vermont in the second home debate of the season last Friday night. The defeat is Vermont's first in three starts. Vermont upheld the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, that the nations should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, except for such forces as are needed for complete police protection."

Representing Vermont were Peardon Donaghy, Louis Lisman and George Nelson. The first two are both veterans of intercollegiate debate, whereas this was Donaghy's first appearance with the varsity. Arthur M. Kreidman, Harold J. Friedman and Bernard J. Strauss, all veterans of many forensic clashes, debated for N. Y. U.

Donaghy, opening the debate for the affirmative, presented Vermont's first main argument, "that we, the world, can disarm." In defining the question, Donaghy pointed out that complete disarmament is a reduction of all war material, to the least necessary for the maintenance of order. Naturally everyone desires peace, and the way to obtain this peace is through complete disarmament.

"Tired of Arming"

People are tired of excessive taxation brought about by the maintenance of tremendous armaments.

"We can disarm," asserted Donaghy, "if we have a powerful central body in control; and we must lay aside our weapons and perfect this central organ of control."

It was also pointed out that wars have always increased their scope, and that this increase must cease and an end be put to wars.

Proportionately as we disarm the League will grow in power. Donaghy closed by admitting that complete disarmament was a bit idealistic, but that nothing worthwhile has ever been achieved that did not originate in idealism.

Kriedman, the first speaker for N. Y. U., asserted that the negative were as much for pacifism as the affirmative, but that the world was not yet ready for complete disarmament.

"The fundamental causes of war," declared Kriedman, "are of dynastic, religious, psychological, political, and economic origin. Armaments are considered only as contributory and not as fundamental causes."

The economic cause was shown to be great in this era of expansion of production, of race for raw materials, and of easy inter-communication between nations.

The speaker then gave a hurried survey of the existing world sore spots.

"We cannot disarm," contended Kriedman, "because we cannot produce a practical plan for disarmament, and we cannot build up an adequate functioning organism to control the world." It was shown that the members of the league of nations do not advocate a complete disarmament. It was also asserted that the World Court should have a positive and not optional jurisdiction, and that the league should be all-powerful before we disarm.

"Causes of war exist," declared

(Continued on page 5)

CO-ED DEBATERS TO MEET N. J. WOMEN

Fair Orators Will Discuss Governmental Control of Hydro-electric Resources

COACH AND TEAM HOPE TO REWIN LOST HONORS

Two of Vermont's co-ed debaters, Janice Goodrich, '30, and Roberta Powers, '32, debating for the second time this year, will meet a team from the New Jersey State College for Women next Thursday evening in the Old Mill Chapel.

The subject for debate will be "Resolved, that hydro-electric resources should be under the control of the government." The Vermonters will support the affirmative side of the proposition.

The American plan of debate will be used in this contest, allowing each speaker ten minutes of constructive argument and seven of rebuttal.

In their first debate, in which Laura Johnson, '33, also took part, they lost to Middlebury by a decision of 2 to 1 on the question of the emergence of woman. Janice Goodrich is a veteran of three years' varsity debating, while Roberta Powers took part in several debates last year.

WOMEN TO HOLD NOVEL GAME AND DANCE IN GYM.

Competitive exhibition dancing, tactic marching and a basketball game will feature the Co-ed Indoor Meet to be held Saturday evening, March 22, at 7.30 p.m. in the University Gymnasium under the direction of Lillian Mount, '32. As in former years there will be specialty dancing as well as competition between the sophomore and freshman classes. The feature event of the evening is the basketball game between the All-Stars and the winners of the interclass tournament.

The meet will have a peppy start by posture and tactic marching. The Teacher Training students are scheduled to dance the Irish Lilt, after which will come demonstration exercises on the rings, bar and ropes. The games consist of sedan, square and serpent relays and basketball goal throws.

A Russian dance by co-eds in picturesque costumes is to be the sophomore offering in this competitive event in which the freshmen will present "Pierre and Pierrette". Both classes have worked hard and rivalry will be especially keen. The demonstration of the advanced dancing class is entitled "Springtime".

The meet includes the following events in chronological order:

1. Posture competition.
2. Marching tactics.
3. Teacher Training dances.
4. Competitive basketball throws.
5. Demonstration of apparatus.
6. Dancing competition between the sophomores and freshmen.
7. Games.
8. Demonstration dancing.
9. Basketball game.

Members of the two lower classes are expected to be in at least one event and to remain for the entire occasion. Because of the extra time required there will be no 11.30 class on Thursday, March 27, and no morning classes on Friday, March 28.

A cup is presented to the winning class of the indoor exhibition each year. Last year the class of '32 won the engraved prize.

Everybody is urged to come out and make this competition one of the biggest and most successful of all.

WATERBURY PREACHER WILL SPEAK IN CHAPEL

Rev. C. A. Adams, minister of the First Congregational Church of Waterbury, will deliver the chapel address Wednesday morning.

Reverend Adams is one of the most eminent religious educators in the state. He is well known because he has spoken before several gatherings especially those of young people sympathizing with them in their ambitions and aspirations. In addressing student groups he has helped them work out the problems that appear so insurmountable in youth.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor

Business Manager

Associate Editors

Assistant Managing Editors

Assistant Business Managers

Advertising Manager

Associate Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Issued each evening except Monday during the college year.

Entered at the postoffice at Burlington, Vt., as second class matter under the Act of March 3, 1879. Authorized October 14, 1920.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 40 March 18, 1930 No. 43

SUSPENDING THE RULES

We do not regard the action of the Class Secretary in suspending the freshman rules as a surrender. Rather we regard it as the issue of a changed point of view as the meeting of emphasis from the artificial to the natural. The suspension of the rules is the result of a long-expressed but ever active resentment on the part of the student body generally that they have ever meant.

It took courage to attempt such a step. Heretofore to the rules hung there was no active opposition ever dared to assert itself. Tradition compelled the enforcement of the rules, "loyalty" demanded obedience to them. A perverted conception of college spirit fostered them around and only slowly has it disappeared.

The confidence entailed in the suspension of the rules that the freshman class will cause caution to observe their acts' the Easter recess, at one view, however only as a face-saving gesture. Gold Key, having confined the time honored method of vinegar and tailed, now applies the time honored method of oil. Threats having been to no avail, the rules suspension will have both purposes.

We do not believe that Gold Key will succeed in entering the name by promises of good things for good boys any better than it succeeded with the threat of a paddling party. The freshman class many months ago threw off the restraint of buck sucks and meekness, and no thing that Gold Key can do will convince a class which has had a taste of what freedom from the rules means to submit itself to them.

Suspension though the procedure is, we see every reason to look on it as a step in the right direction. We see every reason to look on it as a step which will contribute to the Easter recess. Will so short an interval of time serve to turn the freshman class into traditional observing sons of Vermont? Will it serve even to postpone the purge which the sophomore class has 365 serious times on observing a freshman so blind to all that is good and noble as to refuse to wear the green and gold cap? It is to be feared the feeling of Gold Key that to force the freshman class to observe the rules for even a week and a half is sufficient to save the face of the sophomore society at the same time offering up an eleventh hour sacrifice to the gods of college tradition.

On our part we see no reason why Gold Key should wish to save its face. It seems to us that the abolition of the freshman rules shows the most intelligent thing the paddling of whom are interesting freshmen. For Gold Key to admit that student sentiment has shifted to a more enlightened viewpoint than it once entertained and to take action recognizing and subscribing to that view is something of which it may well be proud. It should be borne in mind that in other colleges similar interference has suppressed the concept of a new attitude toward freshman rules on the student body. Vermont however harbors a tradition which constitutes a steadfast handicap policy in student affairs, and we are proud of a student body which in the absence of faculty pressure, puts itself under no reluctance not to such a degree as to prompt definite action in such a connection.

At Amherst, when the faculty placed the whole sophomore class on probation for its part in the annual sophomoric exercises which, resulted in injuries to several freshmen, the sophomore class responded that to have failed to participate in the sophomoric would have done violence to its conception of class spirit, would have drawn down upon it the scorn of the other classes, and would have broken tradition.

We suspect that the same sentiments have dominated every sophomore class in every college in the country. Unexplained bonds, mysterious trips from college to class, one other and bolts have been behind every set of freshman rules ever promulgated.

A college needs traditions, but they must be such as to justify their existence. Freshman rules arbitrarily sought to create in the incoming class a feeling of solidarity and fellowship sufficient to accomplish the process of orientation. Because of the crudeness and inanity of these methods the traditions in which they have embodied have been traditions of revolting hostility, waste effort and failure. The program of preliminary instruction, which the University now carries out a few days before the beginning of the fall term, and the class banquet go much further than any set of freshman rules in orientating the incoming student.

The best things in college cannot be inculcated with a paddle. No freshman can be paddled into greeting every fellow-student on the campus, nor is it the lack of paddling-parties this year which has caused so worthwhile a tradition of democracy almost to disappear from Vermont, but rather the failure of upperclassmen to live up to that tradition themselves. Courtesy and democracy are traditions that must never be absent from the campus of the University of Vermont. They are traditions which no freshman rules can enforce. Only the example of the upperclassmen can perpetuate them.

Ten Timely Topics

TARA TANTARA TEDO

Following the usual after-Investiture Intercollegiate conceited appeal to Congress for more spending money, Representative Johnson of Texas, the "Sage of Abilene" said recently while

We understand that the Italian envoys are coming to request the land owning aristocracy to lend. The hopes and aspirations of the people of Italy is turned inward to avoid discussion upon the subject with foreigners. This outbreak of one-sided patriotism is strikingly reminiscent of the days of the Boston Tea Party and those of Philadelphia.

We have no quarrel with the record achievement of this paper. The CYNIC column has been read and is regarded as the student's paper. May it always remain so!

A few weeks ago a quotation was received from the Medical Journal which suggested that the new method of teaching by contract advocated by Dr. Aydelotte of Cornell, was applicable to those students who had spare time on their hands. Certainly it would be far more beneficial than the use to which most students put their leisure. Time wasting is an art which it took the combined brain and woman to perfect.

At about the same time an item was published to the effect that a psychologist had declared the college years to be among the most unhappy in the life of the normal individual. Small wonder. After all, the satisfactions of life come from the realization that something has been accomplished and the accomplishments of most students are slight indeed.

A rather different conclusion was reached by a woman connected in directly with the college. "It is too bad," she declared, "to have so many foolish rules for the girls. That is the one time in their lives when they ought to enjoy themselves, but with all this nonsense, how can they? I believe that is why there are not so many in college this year as last." Or at least, that is the substance of her remarks, with a little of the spice omitted.

Athletic coaches have their little day, and then move on; but the great American institution of football remains unchanged and unchallenged. We might add that Vermont's new coach is not a member of the Military Department and that if he turns out a winning team the students and the alumni will rest assured that this is the best college in the world—otherwise not.

From time to time the conversation drifts to the subject of war and peace. War, stated a member of the faculty, is wholesale destruction, perpetrated by two nations or groups of nations, with a view to a maximum of suffering and injury, and continuing until life becomes unbearable within one or the other of the groups." We had to admit that there was a great deal of truth in his definition.

Students of the University, some of them, at least, are watching with interest the outcome of Gandhi's active non-cooperation policy in India. It almost seems a method of voicing protest and forcing reforms which is preferable to open war.

A book that once sold us to war as a happy-go-lucky affair, was "Over the Top" by Arthur Guy Empey. Its author was so anxious to get into the scrap in 1918 that he couldn't stay on this side of the water. Let's read it again with the Boos a Week Club, and see if it is worth it after all.

Students of sociology at Baylor University revealed the startling statistics that each kiss shortened the loved's life three minutes and that the loveds kissed on an average ten times a night. One male feels as though they are assuming too much but feels that it is very good theory. If you agree with this collegiate, there is only one bit of advice which we can submit. "Go West, young man, Go West."

Bluestockings will hold a business meeting at four o'clock Wednesday, March 19, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. All members are requested to bring their contributions to the Tri-state Literary Contest.

THE FORUM

THE GENUS COLLEGIAN

The genus, male or female, is an exceptionally interesting study for scientists. Its characteristics are both distinctive and peculiar.

It always has a friend on the eve of mid-quarters or finals.

It rarely at class but drink, where there is nothing to be had.

It frequently works for a living, more frequently it works dad for a living.

It spends peaceful evenings at home often as much as one a fortnight.

It is courageous and enjoys the keen zest of competition—ping-pong.

It frequently omits a big party—if a bigger one occurs the same night.

It takes notes and does themes superbly—when the friend's handwriting is legible.

The various members of the genus look pretty much alike, talk alike, dress alike, act alike.

The characteristics of the genus are both peculiar and characteristic.—The Minnesota Daily.

THIS STUDENT TEACHING

George wasn't an incorrigible youngster. Few high school sophomores are that bad.

But George wasn't on his best behavior today. When he saw his chance and the new lady student teacher from the school of education was not looking he drew back a rubber band and planted a paper wad neatly on the ear of a girl in the front row.

Almost instantly the student teacher knew something was wrong. A look at the aggrieved girl in the front row told her all and she soon picked out George, sitting in strained, pseudo-innocence.

What was she to do? She was just a new practice teacher. Ideas and theories she had learned in her education courses were still fresh in her memory. Her thoughts went in these channels.

"Sympathy and kindness are the best ways to treat miscreants. I should treat George gently . . . .

"Bagly says turn the pupil's attention to the unsocial attitude of his act . . .

"Professional attitude should be maintained . . . .

"Teacher should interpret acts correctly . . .

"Maybe the light comes from the wrong side and the irritation of George's retina results in physico-mental disturbances . . . .

"George may not have enough work to keep him busy. Should I assign him to write 'I like Tillie' on the board 500 times? . . . .

"Secondary education is supposed to develop individual abilities. Should I let him keep on shooting paper wads in the hopes he will become a great marksman some day? . . . .

"Maybe his seat is too high . . . .

"What kind of parents has George? Are they influential and powerful in the community? . . . .

"Should I appeal to his desire for self development and tell him to wait till he gets outside and then shoot paper wads at greater, better game, such as football players? . . . ."

And so after spending ten minutes thinking over the various rules of procedure she had learned in her education classes, the student teacher suddenly remembered with dismay that Douglass says punishment must be immediate and sure.

Well, it was too late now, so she wrote George's name down in her deportment book and decided maybe she could congratulate him for being able to hit a small target like an ear from the rear of the room and under such poor lighting conditions.—Oregon Daily Emerald.

Bits of Bunk

'Mid the trees that are wavering to and fro
Each little deer must have his doe
And where-ere o'er this earth you chance to go,
Each little dear must have her dough.

Today's Fairy Story:—There was once a movie actress who never endorsed any soap, shampoo, powder, bath salts, tooth paste, vanity cases, cigarettes, candy, chewing tobacco, tonic, hats or baking powder. She was a trained seal.

With the Theatre

Today

George Bancroft [illegible] "The Mighty," a story [illegible] to the hard-boiled although an outline of [illegible] sound as if it had been [illegible] two-year-old child suffering rush of sentiment to the [illegible] Bancroft plays the part [illegible] you think? a gangster. [illegible] gets caught in the draft and away to that wicked, [illegible] which is pleasantly out [illegible] poses of the story. He [illegible] to civilization and becomes police in the old home town, still regrettably possesses [illegible] criminal tendencies. How [illegible] aided by the only-girl [illegible] Esther Ralston—saves him, you are, and who the hell [illegible]

George Bancroft is the [illegible] in the picture and even he [illegible] bit tiresome now.

Wednesday and Thursday

"Three Live Ghosts" is [illegible] best comedies which the [illegible] given us this year. It is [illegible] stage hit and the laughs [illegible] are the low deep-down [illegible] which leave you weak and [illegible] air. The adventures and [illegible] tures of a trio of near [illegible] fugitive Yankee—a cockney kleptomaniac, is rendered [illegible] the inspired casting although [illegible] nately the names of the a[illegible] appear. In any event the [illegible] almost stole "Bulldog D[illegible] from Ronald Colman plays [illegible] lishman with the accent and [illegible] tion should be set down as [illegible] few comely classics of the s[illegible]

Friday

Ruth Chatterton is undoubt[illegible] best dramatic actress in the fi[illegible] present. This is particularly [illegible] her stage experience and partia[illegible] her pleasing voice which [illegible] get tragedy or high comedy [illegible] simple remark as "Lemon [illegible] "The Laughing Lady" on view [illegible] Majestic Friday is nearly he[illegible] work to date. "Madame X" was [illegible] but Madame X had a better [illegible] more opportunities for hi[illegible] "The Laughing Lady" concerns itself with outlining the career of a [illegible] who flouted society and laughed that the world could not see [illegible] ing heart—dear, dear and s[illegible] This is the movies' idea of [illegible] tion and would be a pretty [illegible] if Ruth Chatterton didn't succeed in raising it to the heights of [illegible] comedy.

Saturday

Lon Chaney is strong and [illegible] dramatic and lots of other [illegible] "Thunder," but that doesn't [illegible] from being a lousy picture [illegible] railroad engineer with repres[illegible]

THE MUSE CONVERSES

The "Honor" candy shop [illegible] replaced by vending ma[illegible] Northwestern University. [illegible] "honest" students were [illegible] buttons, slugs, pebbles, etc., [illegible] of money, and as would hap[illegible] business didn't thrive. The [illegible] cided the change in the syste[illegible]

A woman, wearing an anxious expression, called at the insura[illegible] recently.

"I understand," she said, [illegible] $5 I can insure my house [illegible]

"Yes," she was told. "That [illegible]

"And," continued the wo[illegible] jealously, "do you make inquiries as to how the fire started?"

"Certainly," was the prom[illegible]

"Oh!" and she turned to [illegible] office. "I thought there was [illegible] in it somewhere."

Potent reasons why tradi[illegible] losing their hold in colleges [illegible] presented by The Daily S[illegible] Indiana:

"The most obvious reason i[illegible] students themselves are not [illegible] in traditions. College has [illegible] business proposition and ma[illegible] to work their way through [illegible] whereas in former years only [illegible] were able to reap the benefi[illegible] cation."

Yale is starting a Univer[illegible] apes. Two hundred acres [illegible] Florida have been acquire[illegible] university with money give[illegible] the Rockefeller Foundation [illegible] project. Anthropoid apes wi[illegible] and studied in a laborator[illegible] erected this spring.

Vice-president: Have you [illegible] credit manager?

The Vistor: Very inform[illegible] called me a liar once.

"You're scared to fight."

"I ain't; but my mother'll [illegible]

"An' how"ll she know?"

"She'll see the doctor goin[illegible]

Vermont Teachers Meet In Two-day Conference Under U. V. M. Auspices

University Backs Twenty-fifth Annual Convention of 450 Teachers and Students—Prominent Educators Address Meetings—Professors Lead Round-table Discussions

[illegible] teachers and [illegible] in training [illegible] session gathered [illegible] High School Audi- [illegible]ing for the gen- [illegible]th conference of [illegible]ont with the Uni- [illegible] The conference [illegible]

[illegible]nded round-table [illegible]alized subjects the [illegible] In the evening the [illegible] Teachers' Association [illegible] Schoolmasters' Club [illegible]

[illegible] on the general subject of [illegible] The Improvement of [illegible] through the Social Stud- [illegible] sessions at the Friday [illegible] discussed opportuni- [illegible]s have in transforming [illegible] into intelligent citizens.

George M Wiley, assistant commissioner of education of New York [illegible] said that schooling be thought [illegible] part with other [illegible] childhood and youth in [illegible] the best talents inherent [illegible] He said that school- [illegible]s pictured as too much as a struc- [illegible] of separate pigeon holes, [illegible] student spends so many hours [illegible] for the purpose of having knowl- [illegible] poured into him.

A history class, Dr. Wiley continued, is not a roomful of students [illegible] poured full of 40 minutes of [illegible] knowledge by a teacher. It [illegible] one of a number of hours in [illegible] all of which have their influ- [illegible] developing each student.

Education a Drawing Out

Dr. Wiley stressed the derivation of [illegible] word education," a "drawing out." [illegible]ained that this was the true [illegible] of the word. Education in [illegible] schools should be designed as a [illegible], rather than a structure, he [illegible]

[illegible] democracy, which is believed [illegible] to be still in the experimental [illegible] all hands are on the throttle [illegible] the state and hence there is an [illegible] need for the capacities of [illegible]ividual to be 'drawn out' to [illegible] best extent," Dr. Wiley con- [illegible]

[illegible]'coming rather than accum- [illegible]f knowledge was believed by [illegible]. W. Hatch of the department [illegible] studies in the State Teachers' [illegible] Upper Montclair, N. J., to be [illegible] at teaching.

[illegible] Hatch questioned whether [illegible] what was right would in- [illegible]ct in doing what was [illegible] He believed that forming cor- [illegible] would be more certain of [illegible] right action.

[illegible] right habits, participation [illegible] activities presenting situa- [illegible]milar to those to be met with [illegible] school days was recommended. [illegible] speaker cited an educational in- [illegible]ce from a kindergarten class. [illegible] class during a play hour, was [illegible] turns sliding down a chute. [illegible] member insisted on forcing him- [illegible]self into the line ahead of his proper [illegible], shouldering and bullying his [illegible] law abiding classmates. The [illegible] in this case took no disciplin- [illegible] measures, but the obstreperous [illegible] was punished by the social [illegible] disapproval of his mates. This effec- [illegible]ively reformed his conduct, the [illegible] stated.

[illegible]ne social member of the class, [illegible] Hatch designated as Johnny [illegible] the initials standing for only [illegible] He spoke of only sons and only [illegible] as presenting problems. In [illegible] to this he made the remark [illegible] he said New Englanders used [illegible] themselves on having one [illegible] and one mother, and nine or [illegible] and sisters. Nowadays it [illegible] looks as if these figures [illegible] reversed."

Crockett Welcomes Teachers

[illegible]ng session opened with [illegible] Burlington High School [illegible] directed by Adrian E. Holmes [illegible] Crockett welcomed the [illegible] on behalf of the University. [illegible] W. Patterson, superin- [illegible]ndents at Vergennes, as president of the Champlain Valley [illegible] Association, introduced the [illegible]

[illegible] program opened at 2 [illegible] Junior Red Cross pag- [illegible] of the Ira Allen School [illegible]es followed.

[illegible]ool teachers there was [illegible]ed by Prof. G. G. Groat. [illegible]e on "The Place of the [illegible] in the Secondary School [illegible] R. C. Mayo, principal of Essex Center High School, Orlo K. Jenney, principal of Essex Junction High School and Prof. Kenneth J. Sheldon of the University directed the discussion.

The following round-table conferences were held: Commercial Education, led by Prof. Catherine F. Nulty; Home Economics, led by Miss Lucy McCaffrey of Hardwick; Latin, led by Prof. Lester M. Prindle. Mathematics, led by Prof. Elijah Swift. Modern Languages, led by Prof. John B. DeForest; Physical Education, led by Miss Frances Babbitt, director of physical education for girls in Burlington schools; and a Parent-Teacher Association conference, led by Mrs. F. D. Carpenter and Mrs. F. D. Spaulding of Burlington. At the home economics meeting, Miss Alida Fairbanks, State supervisor of home economics, and Miss Lydia Tarrant, assistant State supervisor were speakers.

At the primary and rural school conference, C. L. Erwin, deputy commissioner of education, was chairman. Professor Hatch spoke on the "Unit Fusion Course in the Social Studies for the Elementary Grades," and Mrs. Amelia B. Conrey of the Comprehensive Rural Survey of Vermont spoke on the "Educational Activities for Children of Primary Grades." These two speakers talked on the same subjects as applied to intermediate grades at the intermediate and rural school conference at which Mr. Patterson was chairman.

Superintendent F. E. Cargill of Alburg was chairman for the rural school conference. Superintendent Percy H. Blake of Chester spoke on the "Improvement of the Rural School Program."

Women Teachers' Banquet

Miss Anna Thomas of White River Junction presided at the banquet of the Vermont Women Teachers' Association at the Hotel Vermont last evening. She called on Mrs. Conrey, Professor Hatch and Miss Geraldine Daggett, supervisor of music in the Burlington schools to speak. Miss Mary McCormick, superintendent of schools at Center Rutland, took the greetings of the Association to the Vermont Schoolmasters' Club, which was banqueting in the roof garden.

Natt B. Burbank of Burlington was toastmaster at the Schoolmasters' Club banquet. Dr. Wiley, Professor Hatch and Clarence H. Dempsey, commissioner of education, spoke.

Exhibits of art and of handwork of special classes in Burlington public schools attracted attention in the high school during the day, as did the Junior Red Cross exhibit and that of instructional materials used in the teacher training course at the University.

Saturday morning Commissioner Dempsey met with school superintendents and teacher training instructors to discuss the two-year requirement and improvement of training for rural school service. Meanwhile the agricultural conference was continued in Morrill Hall, Prof. R. W. Smith giving a demonstration of milk judging.

At the Burlington High School, Miss Sara Holbrook, State chairman of mental hygiene and visiting teacher in the Burlington schools, displayed handwork that has been done by retarded children in the schools. Together with this exhibit, there are lists of suggested reading on mental hygiene.

After several years of research a professor of English at Syracuse University claims that bigger and better swear words are the crying need of the nation today

DEBATERS LOSE BY 2-1 DECISION TO N. Y. UNIV.

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible]

"To Disarm, Disarm"

[illegible] "To disarm, disarm," he declared. He further pointed out that the negative's fundamental causes of war were fallacious and that armaments are the basic cause of all great wars.

In 1906 Winston Churchill declared that war between Great Britain and Germany was a practical impossibility, that the nations would always be at peace, bound together by strong ties of friendship. Yet in 1914, scarce eight years later, these two nations were at each others' throats, struggling for supremacy in the World War. The German naval program was responsible for the situation and, as Sir Austin Chamberlain expressed it, "Great Britain had to curb Germany's challenge to Britain's naval supremacy."

Unknown billions were spent on preparedness, and asked Lisman "was this tremendous outlay justified?"

The burden on the tax payers continues to grow, declared Lisman, and a menace to peace is implied in the world-wide competition in armaments. It was pointed out that there at present 6,000,000 men in Europe now toting guns instead of hoes. The armaments of the nations lead them to fear each other, this fear leads to hate, and so armaments lead to inevitably to war.

Harold Freidman, the second negative debater, now raised the question as to whether arms or disarmaments will secure the greater amount of peace. He pointed out that we must have first a plan to get the nations at peace, and second, a plan to keep them at peace.

"Nations will fight if they want to," contended Freidman, "and they are trying to reduce armaments, not to abolish them." It is of fundamental importance, the speaker pointed out, that other changes should come first, such as a gradual education of the people. The difficulties should be eradicated first, then we can have disarmament.

Freidman asserted that the causes of war would still exist and that the means of war would also exist even after disarmament. He pointed out that an airplane can be converted into a machine of aerial warfare in half an hour, and that innocent peace time chemical works can be converted overnight to war industries. He then asked the affirmative what is meant by police force.

How To Get Peace

Nelson now espoused the affirmative arguments. "We both want peace" he asserted, "but we differ on the method of obtaining that peace."

"Psychologically speaking," Nelson declared, "we do not know the causes of war." He further pointed out that armaments cause war, and that there are social and political causes for war, but that if the world disarms the great causes of war would be eradicated. In discussing the peace conferences Nelson said that if matters were taken out of the hands of experts, and entrusted to statesmen the problems would be settled.

It was further shown that in this modern world of fast communication a nation could not possibly arm secretly.

"Disarmament tends to promote positive peace projects," declared Nelson, "and the money now spent on armaments could be much more advantageously spent disseminating peace propaganda throughout the world. The United States and Great Britain should take the lead in this matter."

Nelson concluded by summing up the affirmative case, "We can disarm we should disarm, and we will disarm."

Strauss was third speaker for the negative, and he presented anew their entire case. He asserted that to disarm was to abandon the Monroe Doctrine, the freedom of the seas, the high tariff, and the restriction of immigration.

How closely should we watch the dollar," asked Strauss and he asserted that armaments presented a desirable investment.

Strip the political machines of graft, he further asserted, and you will save 15 times as much as the cost of armaments.

Strauss concluded the negative case by quoting that famous contemporary philosopher, Will Rogers.

"To ask the nations to disarm is like asking a man in Chicago to give up his life insurance."

Rebuttals are Sharp

A seathing set of rebuttals followed, in which Lisman and Nelson almost turned the tide of victory for Vermont.

Kreidman opened for N. Y. U. and asserted that it was not easy to disarm, that he would welcome a real plan, and that he questioned the ability of the League of Nations.

Donaghy replied for the affirmative with the statement that disarmament is practical.

"Wars," he said, "cannot even pay for themselves." He cited the Peru and Chile case as proving the desirability of arbitration over war.

Freidman answered for the negative by repeating their argument that the means for war would still exist even after disarmament. And he reasserted that we must have arms for protection.

Lisman now undertook the second affirmative rebuttal. He granted the means and some of the causes for war, but proved that means was the most important.

"No one wants to fight," declared Lisman. "It is the passion over patriotism and over insults to the flag that drive men to war, not economic and social reasons."

He stressed the fact that it takes armaments to cause war, and that psychological reasons set war in motion.

Strauss brought to a close the negative rebuttal. He laid special emphasis on the threat of potential armaments.

"War," he said, "is a disease, and the causes must be removed first."

Nelson concluded the debate. He pointed out that all wars were caused by armaments, and that in disarming a rule of reason must be applied. "Given a reasonable time," he declared, "and the world will disarm." He restated Vermont's case with the plea that, We can disarm we should disarm, and we will disarm.

METCALF DESCRIBES THEATER IN GERMANY

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] people. The play itself lasts about eight hours, four hours in the morning and four hours in the afternoon, with an intermission for dinner. The stage is open to the sky and no artificial lighting is ever used. The costumes and scenery are all very beautiful and the stage groupings are excellently worked out. The acting, on the whole, is very good, and the performances are most impressive.

SEVEN SOCIETIES GIVE PRE-VACATION DANCES

[illegible] of the Greek [illegible] [illegible] Tuesday [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Vermont Professors Have Always Emphasized Thinking, Says Alumnus

The Main Purpose

CO-ED BOWLERS WILL HOLD TOURNAMENT WED.

ODDS AND ENDS

Someone has said that practically all of the great ideas come to one before the age of thirty or forty and that achievements after this age are primarily in the nature of elaborating our old ideas.—L. L. Bernard

The average football coach in American colleges and universities receives a salary of $6,107 a year, or over a thousand dollars more than the highest paid professor was one of the discoveries made by the Carnegie Foundation in its recent investigation of college athletics.

When paid by the athletic association the full-time coach for football averages $6,466 a year, and when paid by the colleges themselves he receives $5,058 or $100 less than the average salary of the highest paid professor.

Merger Visionary States Registrar

Unification of 3 Vermont Colleges Required in $100,000 Bequest Impractical and Expensive, Says Kehoe

Discovered! The meanest man in the world! He blew the fuse connected to his neighbor's lights on the night before the final exam in ethics.

"How didya get your face scratched?"

"Jumping."

"What?"

"Yes, jumping at conclusions on the date I had last night."

JUNIOR WOMEN GET BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

The juniors led by Captain Abbott won again the interclass basketball championship for the third year. In a fast and closely contested game with the sophomores they came through with a three-point victory. Although they continuously kept the lead the margin was small and the opposition often threatened.

The line-up

Juniors	Gls	Fls	Pts
Bullerdick f	2	0	4
Abbott f	5	0	9
McKenna c	0	0	0
Rogers sc	0	0	0
Allott g	0	0	0
Wappler g	0	0	0
	7	0	13

Sophomores	Gls	Fls	Pts
Acklin f	2	0	4
Goodrich f	3	0	6
Lincoln c	0	0	0
Morrill sc	0	0	0
Carr g	0	0	0
Miller g	0	0	0
	5	0	10

HONORARIES ABOLISH ALL FRESHMAN RULES

All freshman rules will be abolished after Easter. This decision was reached at a joint meeting of Boulder Society and Gold Key last Friday afternoon. The action taken will have effect only if the freshman class rigorously adheres to the rules until the vacation starts.

Boulder and Gold Key feel that this unusual action was necessitated by the apparent indifference of the upperclassmen in general in regard to the venerable time-honored traditions of Vermont. And they also believe, in all sincerity, that they are reflecting the desires of popular opinion as expressed on the campus.

One freshman cut Military Friday because he had not shaved. Said he: 'I would receive one point reduction whether I attended or not so I chose to cut.'

DR. EASTMAN ISSUES MANY HEALTH "DON'TS"

Dr Eastman in his report to the freshman women's group issued a series of "don'ts" for sure good health as well as about the eyes ears nose

More colds and other diseases could be avoided if observe Dr Eastman's "don'ts"

Don't sneeze or cough in faces'

Don't spit'

Don't put your fingers mouth in fact keep your hands from your face

Don't put money or any is handled in your mouth

Don't kiss'

The first consideration hygiene was that cleanliness especially important. Teeth be attended to—and if diseased be removed. One's health business depends on cleanliness includes daily bathing, brushing teeth keeping the nails clean should be shampooed at least two weeks. The eyes should be examined at frequent intervals as well as the teeth. Adenoids are often a direct cause of deafness in children why not have them removed and eliminate this malady.

As a parting note Dr Eastman stressed the fact that everyone should be vaccinated against typhoid and smallpox—but not necessarily against colds. Being vaccinated against colds doesn't help in many cases. Observing the health rules and avoiding colds in the first place is the best preventive.

SPRING
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES
NOW HERE
PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

Have you chosen your life work?

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Dept. 61 Longwood Ave
Boston, Mass.

SPRING TOPCOATS

Make your selection now for a new coat for Spring

$18.00 to 45.00

HAYES AND CARNEY
185-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

"CALL OFF YOUR DOGS!" CRIED YVONNE WADDINGHAM-WADDINGHAM

For Yvonne's feeble strength was spent after an hour's flight across the ice-pack.

"Them ain't dogs, woman!" laughed the sheriff. "Them's your boy friends. They bark like bloodhounds because they don't smoke OLD GOLD, the honey-smooth cigarette made from queen-leaf tobacco . . . . . better have 'em change to it and save yourself a lot of unnecessary alarm, my gal."

OLD GOLD

© P. Lorillard Co.

FASTEST GROWING CIGARETTE IN HISTORY. . . NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR. Paul Whiteman and complete orchestra . . . every Tuesday, 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR L. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

BURLINGTON HIGH OVERTAKES BARTON

After Two Sensational Overtime Periods Local High School Beats "Yellow Peril"—Junior Titlists Rise to Heights

MCINTYRE AND PALMER STAR FOR STATE CHAMPS

...t a comparatively ... Barton Academy ... the play-off for the ...championship at the ... Vermont gymnasium, ...torced Burlington ...vertime periods and ...nts before the lat... ...eak through for a ...ight to represent the ... in the national inter... ...ball tournament at ...

... the regular 32 minutes ... were deadlocked at 26 ... extra session McIntyre ...ad with a long shot ... attempted to stall but ... valuable player in ... tournament, got ... the ball and tied the ... minute before the end ... in the second overtime ... his previous feat ...g basket. G. Lewis ...ball and Barton fought ... basket by sending five ... floor to break up Bur... game. During the ... of Burlington, most ... tournament player, ... corner unmolested and ... pass from McIntyre, ... a Barton guard and, ... breezes across Lake ... clinched the contest. An... ball shot merely increased the ...

... started on even terms ... Burlington was easily a ... aggregation. Barton's nerve ... kept them in the running. ... first quarter ended 7 to 5 and the ... 11, in favor of the winners. ... tried stalling tactics the ... minutes of the first half and ... was at sea. They lacked the ... to cope with the situation ... the Blue and White ... through for a few unsuccessful ... after drawing Barton up the ...

... second half started with Bur... ... but Barton was now ... and launched an attack, led ... Lewis brothers which netted ... against Burlington's two in ... quarter. The score stood ... Barton opened the fourth ... and a basket by Harry Lewis ... a seven-point lead—the ... of the contest. Burlington be... ... and started peppering the ... from all distances. Coach ... pulled out a couple of men and ... right back with instruc...

... Burlington came to ... mastered the situation. Bas... ... and Palmer made the ... and Captain Marchacos ... two free tries to tie the ... before the whistle. ... Drown was ejected on ... play and Captain Web... ...

... a game of two evenly-... but rather a game be... ... who just had to win, ... spectators on edge for ... Barton, as the rank ... gives all the credit in the ...

... and the University ... the gayety of the occa...

... Donahue, in behalf of ... Council of the University ... presented Captain Marcha... ...n with a handsome ... emblematic of the state ... Medals were awarded ... Captain Marchacos, ... Palmer, McIntyre, ...ire, Rust, Newton and ...

BURLINGTON

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
.....	6	2	14
..., l.f. ...	4	4	12
.....	0	0	0
.....	0	0	0
.....	2	1	5
.....	0	2	2
.....	0	0	0
	—	—	—
....12	9	33

BARTON

	Gls.	Fls.	Pts.
.....	3	3	9
.....	1	3	5
..., l.f., r.g. .	0	0	0

COACH'S ILLNESS CAUSES POSTPONEMENT OF MATCH

Saturday's fencing match scheduled to take place here between the U V M swordsmen and the Norwich rapier wielders, was postponed at that time until further notice. The reason for postponement of the match was the fact that Captain Edwards the coach of both teams, was seized with an attack of appendicitis.

Wrestling Finals Held Tomorrow

Winners of Semi-finals Yesterday to Meet for Championship Honors Tomorrow Afternoon

Yesterday afternoon the semi-final rounds of the wrestling tournament which is being staged by the Department of Physical Education were held in the gym. Due to the late hour the results are not available for this issue, however, both the semi-final and final results will be found in Friday's issue of the CYNIC.

The tournament this year has created an unusual amount of interest within the student body, and so far, all of the rounds have been attended by large crowds. Even a few co-eds were in attendance at the last set of matches. Tomorrow afternoon at 4.15 the winners of the semi-final rounds will meet in the final bouts. To date, due to the large number of entries in each division, no championships have been decided but all will be awarded after the finals are run off.

The medals which are to be presented to the champions in the respective divisions are now on display in the College Book Store.

"DEAR BRUTUS" APPEARS IN RUTLAND TOMORROW

University Players Will Present Fall Production in the Playhouse There With Original Cast

"Dear Brutus," fall play of the University, will be presented at the Playhouse in Rutland, tomorrow evening. The cast will be the same as that which presented the play at the Strong Theater in Burlington, December 12, 1929.

Rehearsals have been held consistently during the past few weeks in preparation for the presentation in Rutland. One more rehearsal will be held here and a dress rehearsal will be held in Rutland before the play goes on the stage.

The business staff and advertising manager went to Rutland last Monday to complete the last arrangements there before the play is presented. Miss Estebel Perelman, representing Masque and Sandal, has been working in conjunction with Roy Worrell and Hugh Mattison, of the business board of Wig and Buskin.

First Production Last Fall

Its presentation on December 12, marked the first production of "Dear Brutus" by the University. Another of Sir James Barrie's plays, "Quality Street" was produced here several years ago, under the direction of Mr Max Andrews.

"Dear Brutus," like all of Sir James Barrie's plays, is intensely interesting. In the first act, Lob, a curious little character has gathered together, at his home, a group of people for a house party. These guests wonder why they were invited and they become even more curious when Lob's butler, Matey, tells them that Lob likes to have "there those who have something in common" during Mid-summer Week. On this particular evening, which is mid-summer night, Lob artfully persuades them all to go out for a walk to look for a mysterious wood, which always appears on mid-summer night, although actually, there are no trees in the neighborhood. Suddenly the curtains in the rear of the drawing room, in which they are assembled, are thrown back and instead of the familiar garden in the moonlight, there appears a great wood which extends almost up to the very threshold. Lob has revealed to these people that in the wood one gets what one is long ing for.

The scene in Act II is laid in the wood itself. Each of the characters appear superficially quite changed. On the surface the "second chance" has made them quite different, yet fundamentally they have not changed at all and their "second chance" has resulted only in their becoming much the same sort of people that they were before. The single exception is the artist Dearth, and his scene with his "might-have-been daughter" is one of the most beautiful scenes that Barrie has ever written.

In the third and final act we find the members of the party returning to the drawing room. When they come in from the enchanted w d they seem dazed, still wandering, as it were, in dreamland. The audience has the rare privilege of seeing them awaken. Their disillusionment is always dramatic, delightfully comic in most instances, and in one case almost tragic. They realize that people do not change and that a "second chance" would result in their going through life in much the same manner as at first. There seems, however, one exception for Dearth, the artist, there is the possibility of a better life from a "second chance."

The play was well received in Burlington and there is good reason to believe that it will be as well received in Rutland. The comment of the Burlington Free Press on the production at the Strong Theater said in part: "The play was splendidly presented throughout, each member of the cast showing the results of diligent effort and thorough drilling. Each of the characters had plenty of opportunity to develop a real personality and none failed in that respect.

"The best single scene of the play was that in the second act in which Dearth carried on the conversation with his 'might-have-been daughter.' Without two capable players, that scene might have fallen rather flat. As it was, it stood out as a high point of the production. All of the players did exceedingly good work."

This play, whether presented by amateurs or professional artists, holds the interest of the audience throughout. It was first produced in America in 1919. William Gillette and Helen Hayes, two of the foremost American actors, played the parts of Dearth and the Dream Child, respectively. Louis Calvert played the part of Dearth in the English production, and it has been played by one of the leading English actors of today, Sir Gerald Du Naurier.

H. Lewis, c.	5	1	11
Drown, r.g.	0	2	2
Smith, l.g.	0	2	2
	—	—	—
Totals	9	11	29

Referee: O'Brien. Umpire: Ferrell. Scorer: Grant. Timer: Worrell. Time: four eights and two three-minute overtimes.

INTERFRAT TRACK MEET SATURDAY

Cup to be Awarded Winning Fraternity—Keen Competition Expected in Annual Events

ELIGIBILITY RULES PUT ALL ON EQUAL FOOTING

On Saturday, March 22, at 2 00 p m will be held the annual interfraternity indoor track meet in the gymnasium and cage. A cup will be awarded the winning fraternity. The order of events is as follows:

70-yard dash	2 00
56-pound hammer throw	2 10
Pole vault	2 10
1-mile run	2 20
30-yard high hurdles	2 30
Shot put	2 35
Broad jump	2 35
440-yard dash, trials	2 40
High jump, trials	2 50
30-yard low hurdles	2 55
880-yard race	3.10
2-mile race	3 15
High jump, finals	3.25
440-yard dash, finals	3.45

The first four places are to count five, three, two and one, respectively, and the first two places in the interfraternity relay race count ten and five respectively toward the total point score. Total: 147 points.

Eligibility rules:

1. Only bona fide students of the Academic and Medical Colleges who have not received their degree may compete. Track letter men may not compete in the event which is their specialty.

2. Only those men who have reported for practice at least six (6) times previous to Saturday, March 22, will be allowed to compete. Each participant should be sure his name is registered with the Manager of Track, and that his attendance is checked each time that he practices.

3. Each fraternity intending to compete should submit at once to A. T. Post, director of intramural athletics, a list of men who are to represent the fraternity, so that a more accurate check for eligibility may be kept.

Baseball Squad Preparing For Approaching Season

Season Opens With Southern Trip During Easter Vacation—Lack of Outdoor Practice Will Handicap Team

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT FOR SUCCESSFUL SEASON

With the play-off of the state high school championship between Burlington and Barton in the U V M gym Saturday night, the basketball season at the University of Vermont became a closed book and now baseball gradually looms in importance. Less than two weeks from now Coach Gardner will start on the southern trip with his squad of ball throwers, and on Saturday, March 29, the baseball season will be officially opened by a game with U S Marines at Quantico.

In view of the near approach of the southern trip the coach is holding extensive practice in the cage in the hope of getting the players in the best possible condition before the first game. One great disadvantage that the Vermont team will have is that there can probably be no outdoor practice before reaching south. This will be a handicap to the outfielders who have little or no opportunity for their fielding work in the cage. However, this is a factor with which former green and Gold teams have had to contend and no doubt the present squad will prove as capable at getting acclimated as the others. One of the reasons for regularly including the southern trip at the beginning of the schedule is the early outdoor practice the team can get before opening the season at home. When the Vermont aggregation returns, it will have a decided advantage over most local northern teams by the amount of outdoor playing it will have had.

Prospects are bright for a successful season since practically the whole team will be made up of veterans. Moreover, the pitching staff is strengthened by the addition of Cummings. All of last year's infield is available but there may be one change with Jay being put in the outfield and Piras, a newcomer, taking the former's position at shortstop. The one difficulty that appears for the coach at present is to develop an effective catcher. However, with several promising candidates from last year's junior varsity this problem may soon be eliminated.

Sigma Nu Wins Interfrat Relay

Defeats Phi Delta Theta in Finals to Capture Cup for Second Time

Wednesday afternoon Sigma Nu captured the interfraternity championship by easily defeating the Phi Delta Theta team in the final race. The winners were awarded the silver loving cup which has been existing transiently since 1925 when this tournament was first originated. Since then Alpha Tau Omega has won it twice, the Sigma Phis once, Delta Psi once and now this makes twice for the Sigma Nus. With three victories the trophy becomes a permanent possession and next year the competition should be keener as two fraternities already have had the cup twice.

The summary is as follows: Sigma Nu—Bove, Bedell, Flagg, Huey. Time, 2.54. Phi Delta Theta—Swain, C. Grant, Thorne, Walker. Time, 2:57½.

PHYZ ED NOTES

"When I put the medal around my ah girl's neck, my arm goes with it," thus spoke Torm Sirrah.

"Did you say neck," asked the inquiring reporter.

"Yes, neck."

"Oh, I thought you meant neck," was the response.

"Well, if she is willin'," was the bashful reply.

Torm Sirrah spoke thusly before the wrestling bout in which he was a contender took place. His opponent's hair, however, dazzled him. He put up a valiant struggle but all to no avail. His shoulders were pinned to the mat and his opponent was declared the winner.

Many a prospective wrestler met his Waterloo or Nelson, in the prelims last Monday and Wednesday. The survivors will further continue in the semi-finals at a date to be announced.

These contests draw an enthusiastic gathering who cheer loudly and earnestly for their favorites. Usually their favorites are too far gone physically to appreciate the cheer. A howl of amusement greeted some bouts; namely, "Matt" Cohen versus "Runt" Pelotsky.

"Gimme a step ladder," growled "Runt."

"Gimme a microscope," whined "Matt."

Well after the opponents found each other "Matt" found he was the victor to his own surprise.

Step right over to the gym, folks, and see the finals. You'll enjoy "Bumps" refereeing.

"The things that used to be; the teams we used to have, aren't the things we have today and aren't the teams were goin' to have. The teams that used to fight and the crowds that used to cheer, have taken their degrees. And all that's left of them is a growin' crop of razzberries," thus philosophized the old grad.

We were settin' around the Phiz Ed room. The smoke of many cigarettes curled upward in the still air. Many chairs were tilted against the wall and the afternoon sun sent a golden beam of light that lighted up the pictures of old teams. Good teams, successful teams. But these were old pictures faded with time.

"Yup," continued the grad, and he sighed. "The trouble is there isn't any spirit. Some folks say that you must have good teams before you can have spirit, but the way I see it you have to have spirit before you can have teams. Back in '22 we had a team that licked Dartmouth. Well, that's the worst thing that could have happened. After that the students had nothing but razzberries to hand out if a team didn't seem to measure up to '22. Eight years of razzberries and no cheers. What do alumni want with a crop of razzberries? What does does a team want with razzberries?

"Last fall the team went to N. Y. U. to certain defeat. Did the students give the players a send-off? A cheer? No. The fellows got the razzberries. The N. Y. U. mugs blackjacked them merrily. Did they get a cheer? No. A razzberry. Everybody should have been at that station when the team came back and as the boys stepped off, heads should have been uncovered, in every co-ed's eye there should have been a tear; for the boys were heroes. Every man jack of them went down fightin'. If the school had the spirit the boys had, we would have teams and coaches worthy of U. V. M."

"Well," said the old Phi Bete, "the student body is suffering from a severe attack of Harvard indifference and Technology snobbishness. The only difference being that in those schools it is only a pose, while the local hypochondriacs take it seriously."

"Yep," piped up Joe, the janitor, "and the co-eds are to blame. Trouble is there's too much social life and skylarkin' around to do much serious work. Yes, sir."

College Girls Taller

"College girls today are taller and in every respect larger than were their predecessors of a generation ago." That is the opinion of Mrs. Katharine Blunt of the University of Chicago, after examining statistics compiled from Vassar, Smith College, Stanford and the University of Chicago. This is apparently due, thinks Mrs. Blunt, to better diet, lighter clothes and more outdoor exercise.

"The Vassar students today," she points out, "average almost two inches taller than their predecessors of thirty years ago. In 1891-1895 the average girl entering Vassar was 63.1 inches tall, weighed 117 pounds and had a girth of 24.3 inches. In 1923-1927 her height had increased to 64.9, her weight had increased to 123.9 pounds and her girth to 24.4 inches. This change in height has been perfectly steady. If that is true of college girls, it is probably true of girls all over the country."

She: "How do you like my silhouette?"

He: "O. K., but I've seen more."

Alumnus Discusses Success Formulae In Relation to the College Student

[illegible] the writer has noticed with [illegible] a fair [illegible] a rather typical [illegible] possessing apparently a [illegible] at this stage of his development is already superseded by the [illegible] wisdom through the [illegible] mental [illegible] We will say that he is [illegible] armed or engineering or [illegible] or politics or some pursuit more scientific than literary or [illegible] or administrative. Another [illegible] practical problem to consider [illegible] and to great sociological [illegible] on the part of his parents.

A dominant element in this [illegible] success formula is the [illegible] that there is no time limit on [illegible] The boy must realize [illegible] he has entered in a fifty years' [illegible] of study. By the time he finishes college he has completed [illegible] or perhaps eight years in this [illegible] Just as in the first four or more years concentration with is [illegible] needed. What is the difference [illegible] that in college the examinations are held by the faculty while the student's company is the job [illegible] the question that a student can put up at and bear the full cost, while in after life the examinations are held by the people who are going to employ the boy. In after life there is little opportunity for making up a missed examination by the most convenient but there is unlimited opportunity to repeat the courses and get a new examiner.

Certainly as high a degree of [illegible] is requisite after the four years start as during it. Depending somewhat on the individuals [illegible] course for the boy who has been studying enough but to barely squeeze into Sam Beede or Phi Beta Kappa and still has been social enough to try for an athletic sport to rock a place on a comic publication to debate a little or tread before the footlights or run with the glee and instrumental clubs or even to try a few experiments which over les femmes and perhaps to dip a bit into politics but always with a clean hand and a fair purpose that bears a degree of [illegible] seems calculated to bring the greatest amount of success in the largest number of cases. Both the [illegible] and social elements are essential for best results. The writer's observations over several generations from a number of colleges seem to indicate that a notable degree of increase professional advancement can be expected from those who didn't quite make or who just barely made the Phi Beta Kappa.* It can be seen that some of the most scholarly men do not reap much recognition though perhaps they are better satisfied so their lower reward usually can be explained by the handicap of unsufficient sociability. Also among the most scholarly there seems to be a lower limit of willingness to study, below which no amount of sociability can be expected to compensate—quality.

Study and Study

Something like at least 75 percent of the boy's combined effort and time are needed on the curriculum to make even fairly good grade. This shows at once the temporary disadvantage to a student boy with a hard financial problem and explains the often relatively greater progress made after he graduates and begins to earn. It also explains the status of one who spends 75 percent of his effort on the social calendar.

In American colleges there are minimum requirements that still enforce a certain amount of undergraduate studiousness. There is a danger that after leaving college the greater leisure, the wider opportunities for diversion and the substitution of internal for external discipline will impair studiousness so that even a willing student needs a warning to keep his fences mended against poachers on study.

What is he to study? Books, newspapers, professional society proceedings, a good deal and particularly men and affairs. The study may be informal or organized. The goal is to keep abreast of the major movements in his own profession and to broaden his grasp of current progress in politics.

*A cheers ribbon to wear in the buttonhole at Commencement by members of Phi Beta Kappa.

SOCIETIES WILL WRITE FOR TRI-STATE CONTEST

Both Bluestockings and Cercle Français have voted to enter contests of their societies to submit manuscripts to the [illegible] literary contest of the four societies of New Hampshire, Maine and Vermont. The manuscripts which must not exceed more than five thousand words must be turned in to the English department before the Easter vacation.

Vermont has made an excellent showing in past years in the contest and is expected to repeat its previous successes this year. In the four contests which have been held during the last four years Vermont has placed either first or second each time. Two first places and two second places is Vermont's record. Prizes of $25, $15 and $10 are awarded to the three best entries in each type of composition—short story, essay and poetry.

DR. A. W. ROWE WILL LECTURE ON GLANDS

(Continued from page 1)

primarily a research institution where only selected cases are admitted, to go through a prolonged period of observation and a variety of exercises.

Much interest has been shown recently in relation to the functions of the ductless glands in behavior and personality as well as in personal behavior.

The ductless glands are the endocrine organs of the body. The better known ones are the thyroid, in the neck, the pituitary, at the base of the brain and the adrenal gland which secretes adrenalin. The pineal gland in the brain, in which Descares located the soul, is now included in the endocrine list.

Doctor Rowe was an intimate friend of Prof. Elijah Swift during his student days in Germany.

NOTICES

Bluestockings will hold a business meeting at 4 p.m. Wednesday, March 19, at Kappa Alpha Theta House. All members are requested to bring their contributions to the Tri-state Literary Contest.

To finder of fountain pen advertised in Cynic of February 25:

John Eliot, '31, has lost one during the past week. Please get in touch with him at the Kappa Sig House.

THREE VERMONT MEN DEBATE THREE K. P.'S

(Continued from page 1)

tion of spectacles the speaker concluded the constructive arguments.

Gilbert Hendry opened a rather violent rebuttal by saying that our so-called dry cities are sopping wet; that figures do not mean a thing; that King Solomon was a teetotaler, and finally that King Solomon was woman crazy.

Donaghy, opening the affirmative rebuttal attacked the Canadian system. "Canada has a very inefficient system," he maintained. "Even their officers get drunk."

M. W. Preston smashed out strongly by saying, "a saloon on every corner is better than a still in every back kitchen. The U. S. is supporting the Canadian breweries as well," he concluded.

E. M. Codding arose and started to address abusive words to his opponents. He continued to produce figures and statistics at a wholesale rate for the remainder of the time.

Mr. Harley Chittenden made another hasty trip to the side room and having returned feeling very happy and satisfied, rebutted for fifteen minutes by special permission. The speaker, with the aid of his assorted spectacles made a lasting impression.

George Nelson, concluding the debate, argued strongly against the plan of moderation and finished with a clear summary of the arguments.

WCAX ON AIR IN HOUR OF MUSIC AND TALKS

Milo C. Reynolds opened program over station WC[illegible] University of Vermont at [illegible] last Friday night with a [illegible] approaching census en[illegible] Vermont.

The five selections by the [illegible]sity Chapel Choir and an [illegible]cital by Prof. G. H. Bennett [illegible]dered during the half hour [illegible]gram devoted to music. [illegible] A. Fuller, extension specialist [illegible] management, concluded the [illegible] with a talk entitled, [illegible] the Farm Kitchen."

The program was as follows:

7.30 p.m.—Talk—Milo C. [illegible] Supervisor of census, First [illegible] District.

7.45—Music by the [illegible] Choir, Ira Allen Chapel, under [illegible]tion of Prof. Howard Gordon [illegible] accompanied by Miss Miriam [illegible] Marston at the organ. "Domine Salvam Fac," Gounod. "O Rex [illegible] Palestrina. "Lift Up Your [illegible] O Ye Gates," Handel. "Deep River," negro spiritual. "Blessing and Honor," Handel.

8.00—Organ Recital—Prof. [illegible] Bennett.

Prelude on Chimes. "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," Martin Luther. "Pilgrims' Chorus," from Tannhauser, Wagner. "The Swan," Saint-Saens. "Tocatta," from 5th Symphony, Widor.

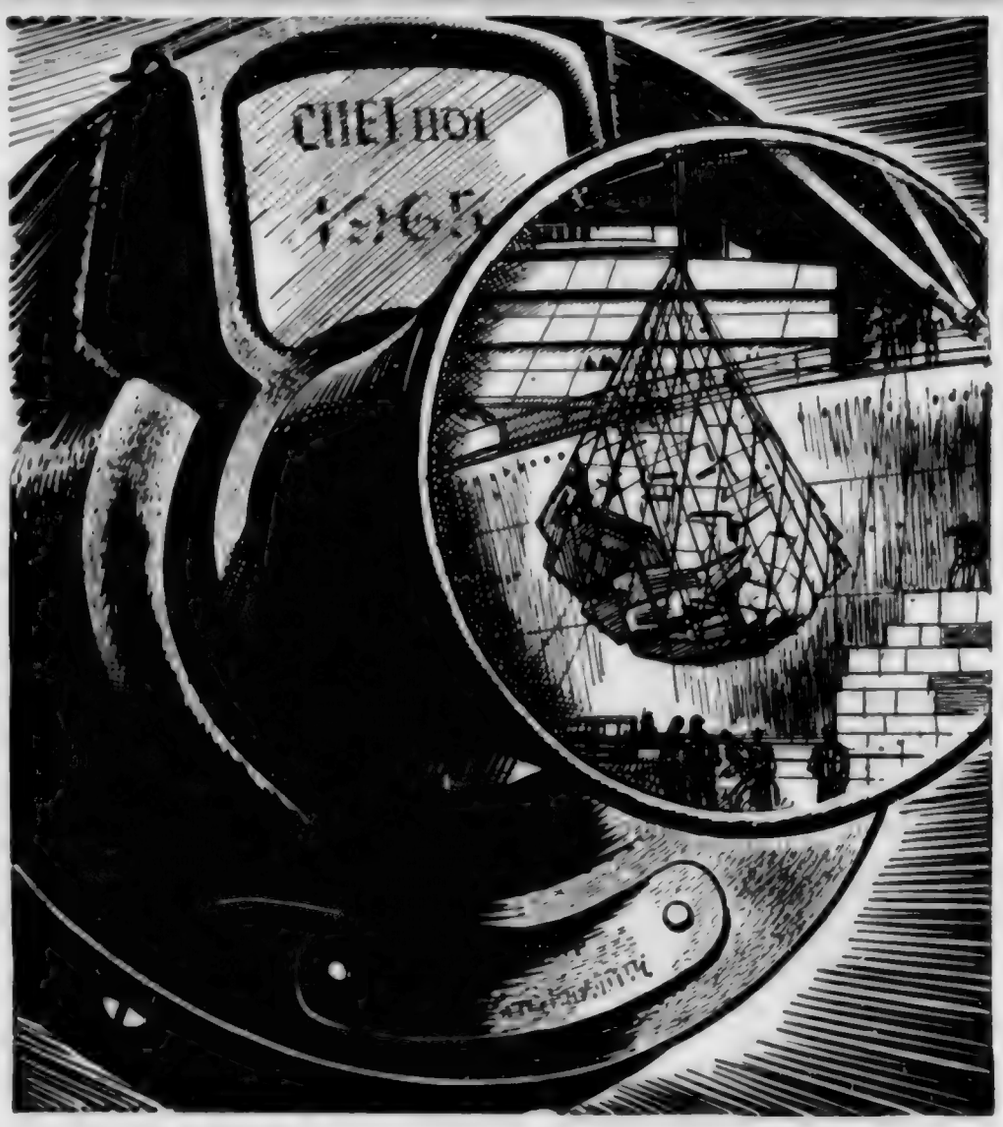
8.15—Talk—"Rearranging the Farm Kitchen"—Miss Emma A. Fuller, Extension Specialist in Home Management.

Penn State college is favoring an educational experiment an unlimited cut system for seniors. The student council, in endeavoring to secure the privilege, requested the faculty to give the system a reasonable trial.

Phone 613 or 614

VERMONT CLEANSING CO.

SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING



Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

• • •

Elias Lyman Coal Company

286 College Street

A world-wide market place

Eighty-five per cent of the world's telephones can be reached from any telephone of the Bell System. This includes those of Canada, Cuba, Mexico, and—by the new radio-telephone link spanning the Atlantic—most of the countries of Europe.

Already many American business men are using this service to expedite the transaction of foreign business and are finding it quick, convenient and profitable.

The future possibility of talking directly with almost anyone in the world who has access to a telephone is enough to stimulate any man's thinking—not only from an engineering standpoint, but because of its significance to American industry.

BELL SYSTEM

A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1930 NUMBER 44

ROWE ELABORATES ON DUCTLESS GLANDS

University Lecturer Describes Relation Of Glands To Bodily Abnormalities

ILLUSTRATES LECTURE WITH CHARTS, SLIDES

[illegible] conceptions of the ductless glands [illegible] has been the result of unscrupulous literature that has been published in the [illegible] magazines and which [illegible] absolutely no scientific backing," declared Dr. Allan W. Rowe, [illegible] lecture last Wednesday evening in the gymnasium, [illegible] devoted to explaining diseases and abnormalities caused by the improper development or function of the ductless glands.

Doctor Rowe displayed, during the course of his lecture, many slides and charts which illustrated clearly the effects of abnormal ductless glands. In his work he sees the results of success. Since 1912 Doctor Rowe, superintendent of the Evans Memorial Hospital, has been interested in a study of normal people and not [illegible] patients. This is a field of research that does not result in immediately spectacular discoveries, but is a series of long, drawn-out experiments which may result in some usefulness in a generation or two.

In referring to diabetes, which is a rather common disease, Doctor Rowe explained that an elimination of sugar was not a sure symptom, and that an excess of sugar may mean that the body has acquired any one of several other diseases which the doctor mentioned or that he is simply eating too much sugar.

The last of the slides was a systematic chart of the endocrine system which Doctor Rowe explained in quite some detail, starting with the thyroid gland. He pointed out that there were many goiters in Vermont, New Hampshire and the Great Lakes regions where enlargement of the thyroid gland is most common. The abnormalities that occur in the endocrine system are caused by three factors, first over-production; second, under-production, and third, disfunction.

(Continued on page 4)

DANCING AND GAMES TO MARK DEMONSTRATION

Unusually Varied Program will Feature Competition Tomorrow Night

[illegible] basketball, and apparatus demonstration will be the [illegible] on the program of the [illegible] indoor meet and demonstration given by the sophomores [illegible] tomorrow night at 7.45 [illegible] gymnasium.

The program will be somewhat more unusual than [illegible] and three of the [illegible] are in costume. The basketball game, Juniors vs. All-stars, [illegible] at the close of the meet, [illegible] be a leading attraction. [illegible] not to be thought of in the [illegible] exhibition, but simply [illegible] demonstration of the indoor class [illegible] physical education.

The [illegible] is as follows: Good [illegible] competition, 10 points; marching competition, 10 points; apparatus stunts, demonstration; [illegible] throw: 6 sophomores—[illegible] tries), competition, 5 [illegible] Irish jig, demonstration; [illegible] teacher-training students; [illegible] competition, 10 points: Pierrot [illegible] (freshmen), Russian [illegible] (sophomores); games, competition each: sedan relay, [illegible] bar, derby race; dance—[illegible] demonstration; basketball [illegible] vs All-stars team; [illegible] cup and banners.

[illegible] of the meet are: Mrs. [illegible] Miss Annis Baldwin, [illegible] Perelman, '30, president [illegible]

[illegible], '32, is chairman of [illegible] Ethel Bishop, '33, is [illegible] the committee on co-eds includes Catherine Flem[illegible]er Leary, '33, Laura [illegible] and Caroline Taft, '33.

"WE ARE SONS OF GOD," SAYS ADAMS IN CHAPEL

"Who are we? We are the sons of God," declared the Reverend C. A. Adams, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Waterbury, at the Ira Allen Chapel last Wednesday morning. "Loss of self-respect means a loss of all," said the speaker. "When a breakdown occurs in the hearts of men, social chaos follows as is the case in Russia.

"If we were animals," continued Mr. Adams, "we should act as animals; if we were machines we would function like them; but we are the sons of God, therefore, we ought to act as sons of God.

"The imagination has a great tendency to influence the will and the actions which follow. Consequently, each day one should instinctively say, 'I am a son of God.' Our every action should indicate that we are sons of God. We are bound by an unbreakable link to the divine. Let our every action pour forth zeal, purpose and love."

DEBATERS FACE UPSALA TONIGHT AS TEAM GOES SOUTH ON SPRING TOUR

Vermont Will Meet Jersey College In Opening Engagement Of Nine Day Trip

Facing Upsala College, in East Orange, N. J., the Vermont debating team tonight opens its southern campaign, scheduled to close March 29, when Lisman, Nelson and Sears, who will represent Vermont in every debate on the trip, meet Virginia Union College in Richmond, last of the seven or eight colleges which will oppose Vermont on the tour. A return debate scheduled with N. Y. U. in New York City is subject to cancellation without notice. If it is held, the date of the debate will be March 22.

The full schedule follows:

March 21: Upsala, East Orange, N. J., Vermont taking the negative of the question, "Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, except for such forces as are necessary for police protection." Oxford plan, with Upsala alone delivering formal rebuttal.

March 22: N. Y. U., New York City, on the question "Resolved, that the trend of national advertising is deplorable." (Tentative.)

March 24: Lehigh, Bethlehem, Pa., Vermont taking the negative of the question, "Resolved, that the evils of the machine age outweigh its benefits." American plan, with six formal rebuttals.

March 25: Ursinus, Collegeville, Pa., Vermont taking the negative of the question "Resolved, that the United States should withdraw from the Kellogg Pact." Oregon plan, with Nelson presenting the complete negative case, Lisman cross-examining the affirmative, and Sears presenting the rebuttal.

Broadcasting From Washington

March 26: George Washington, Washington, D. C., Vermont taking the negative of the disarmament question. American plan, with two speakers in construction and two in rebuttal on each side. Broadcast debate.

March 27: Catholic, Washington, D. C., Vermont taking the negative of the disarmament question. American plan, with six formal rebuttals.

March 28: Emory and Henry, Emory, Va., Vermont taking the negative of the disarmament question. Oregon plan, with two speakers on each side. Emory and Henry will present a women's team.

March 29: Virginia Union, Richmond, Va., Vermont taking the affirmative of the question "Resolved, that the emergence of woman from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life." American plan, with two speakers on each side.

SIX WOMEN AT HOME PRACTICE HOUSE NOW

Students from the home economics department living at the home management house this week are: Narcissa Goodsell, '30, hostess; Helen Wilson, '30, assistant hostess; Isabell Warhurst, '31, cook; Bertha Safford, '31, household manager; Lois Harrington, '32, waitress, and Priscilla Perry, freshman representative.

LOCALS TOP LIST IN SCHOLASTIC RATINGS

Sigma Gamma Attains Highest Relative Position While Sigma Delta Leads all Fraternities

SORORITIES AGAIN LEAD MOST MEN'S SOCIETIES

According to the relative scholastic ratings of the fraternities, prepared by President Bailey and based on the grades for the last semester, Sigma Gamma sorority leads all social organizations on the hill, as it did both semesters last year. Sigma Delta fraternity, which places sixth on the list, again leads the men's fraternities. Both are local societies.

As usual, the sororities rank higher than the fraternities, but this year not all of the sororities are ahead, for two fraternities, Sigma Delta and Delta Psi, lead at least one of the sororities, Sigma Delta standing ahead of three women's organizations, giving it a better record than any of the fraternities held last year.

Among the most noticeable improvements in the list is that of Sigma Phi which has risen nine places this year by taking fourth among the men's fraternities.

The relative standings of the men's and women's societies follow:

Sigma Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Xi Delta, Sigma Delta, Pi Beta Phi, Delta Delta Delta, Delta Psi, Kappa Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi, Phi Mu Delta, Lambda Iota, Phi Sigma Delta, Zeta Chi, Alpha Tau Omega, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Nu, Tau Epsilon Phi.

CHOIR AND ORCHESTRA WILL RENDER LENTEN-EASTER MUSIC SUNDAY

Program in Season's Honor to Feature Annual Concert by Vocal and Instrumental Groups in Chapel

Lenten and Easter music by the University Choir, directed by Prof. H. G. Bennett and accompanied by Miss Miriam Marston, organist, and the University orchestra, with Miss Charlotte deVolt as concert master, will be the program of the annual Easter concert at the Ira Allen Chapel, Sunday, March 23, at four o'clock. The Rev. I. C. Smart will assist in the service, and the following will be the soloists: Miss Hazel Ladd, Miss Dorothy Fowler, Miss Mailla Putnam, Miss Marion Baldwin, Miss Elsie Roosa, Mr. R. H. Allbee. The public is cordially invited.

The program for the concert is as follows:

PART I. LENTEN MUSIC

Organ Prelude: Chorale Prelude on "Da Jesus an dem Kreuze stund" Scheidt

Hymn "Pange Lingua Gloriosi Proelium Certaminis"—Gregorian

Processional Hymn 162: "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded"—Hassler

Scripture Reading

Response: "O Bone Jesu" Palestrina

Air: "He Was Despised," from the "Messiah" Handel

Chorus "Surely He hath borne our griefs," from the "Messiah" Handel

Air: "Agnus Dei" Bach

Recitative: "Thy rebuke hath broken His heart," and

Air "Behold and see if there be any sorrow," from the "Messiah" Handel

Air: "For love of us my Saviour suffered," from the "St. Matthew Passion" Bach

Final Chorus from the "St. Matthew Passion"—Bach

PART II. EASTER MUSIC

Scripture Reading

Orchestral Interlude: Fantasia on "Christ ist erstanden"—H. G. Bennett

Carol: "Christ is Arisen" ("Christ ist erstanden")—German, 12th Century

Carol: "Give ear, give ear, good Christian men"—from the Pise Canticones

Air: "But Thou didst not leave His

(Continued on page 4)

PROF. PRINDLE CRITICIZES ILLUSTRATIONS IN TEXTS

Prof. L. M. Prindle, head of the Latin department, addressed a meeting of the Research Club at Morrill Hall last Tuesday evening on "Illustrations in secondary school Latin books, their use and misuse." He brought out the fact that all Latin text book pictures could be bettered by giving more accurate information in the text in regard to their source and meaning.

JUNIOR FORENSICISTS-CATHEDRAL DEBATE ON OWNERSHIP OF POWER

Bigelow, Frazier, and LaCrosse in St. Patrick's Day Meet Try to Settle Power Control

"Resolved, that all Vermont water power projects should be owned and operated by the State, rather than by private interests, was the subject of a most exciting debate at the Cathedral High School last Monday. Edward Bigelow, '33, Donald Frazier, '32, Paul LaCrosse, '32, and Peary Berger, '32, were the affirmative debaters; while four members of the Cathedral debating team, Thomas O'Halloran, Madeline McGarghan, Thomas Wright, and Robert Lawrence debated for the negative.

Reverend Father Ready acted as chairman of the debate, which was conducted under the system now prevalent in the state debating league, six minutes being allotted to each speaker for constructive argument with an equal time for rebuttal.

Private Interests Dangerous

Paul J. LaCrosse, former Cathedral forensic star, returning to his old stamping ground, opened the argument for the affirmative with a barrage which was both touchingly sentimental and cleverly put forth. "Private interests," orated La Crosse, "is an extremely dangerous thing when it obtains complete control of a valuable public utility like water power. Public ownership, therefore, is necessary," concluded the speaker.

Thomas O'Halloran, first negative speaker demonstrated he was as near to County Cork as his name implies. Perhaps recognizing the fact that it was St. Patrick's Day, the fighting Irishman gave an almost direct refutation of the affirmative argument. "Public ownership is absolutely unnecessary," he maintained. "The government is handling water power in a satisfactory manner at present through the Public Service Commission. Our opponents must show you that their plan is both practical and desirable," argued the man from Erin.

Donald Frazier, Scotch and proud of it, mounted the stage and hammered away on the arguments of Cathedral after the fashion of all good Burlington High School alumni. "Public ownership has been proven necessary," bawled Frazier. "Next, it is beneficial in that it produces a source of cheaper electricity. Hence it is a great economic advantage."

Proposition Unsound

Thomas Wright, Cathedral's edition of "Half-pint" Webster of tournament fame, marched boldly out onto the rostrum to openly defy the big bad boys from the hilltop. "This proposition is unsound," shrilled the little man. "Waterpower not only does not come cheaper by public ownership but actually costs more."

Edward Bigelow, massive and cumbersome as ever, cautiously mounted the none too strong stairs and piled the chairman's table with such valuable magazines as the 1927 Nation (which by the way he failed even to open). The huge Bigelow showed a marked contrast to his predecessor on the negative side. "Ownership of waterpower is a proper function of the Government," maintained this miniature edition of Atlas. "Secondly, the Government has been very successful in ownership and operation of public utilities both here and abroad. Finally, Government is always sure to employ the most efficient methods." He then summarized the case for the affirmative. Madeline McGarghan, sweet, demure, and wearing a pin which faintly resembled those of S. A. E., tripped merrily onto the stage and proceeded to show that her opponents were entirely mistaken.

(Continued on page 4)

THREE BODIES WILL ELECT CYNIC EDITORS

Outgoing Editor, Faculty Adviser, and Board Will Each Have One Vote In Choice Of Future Editors

MANAGING AND SPORTS EDITORS ALSO AFFECTED

Action to take effect December, 1931, was taken at a joint meeting of the editorial, news and sports boards of the Cynic last Tuesday, when the combined boards voted overwhelmingly to alter the method of election of editor, managing editor and associate sports editor.

Beginning with the next election, none of the higher editors will any longer be elected by the traditional method of majority choice by the board. The new method of election, patterned after that employed for the choice of athletic managerships, place all choices in the hands of three sets of voting bodies.

In the choice of future editors, the outgoing editor will have one vote, a faculty adviser will have one vote and the majority of the board will have one vote. In choosing the associate sports editor, who, at the termination of one semester as associate, becomes full sports editor, the outgoing sports editor, the majority of the sports board, and the majority of the full board will each have an equal vote. Only one managing editor will serve hereafter, the election being conducted on the same basis as that of editor-in-chief.

The new plan of election was first suggested at a meeting of the Faculty Committee on Publications last month with the editor and business manager. No objections calculated to draw any opposition were offered at either this meeting or that of the board.

The action of the board last Tuesday follows the application of the recently adopted merit plan for the election of the news and minor editors. Technical obstacles alone prevented the extension of this method to the election of the higher editors.

At the same meeting the board promoted Joseph Carter, '31, from an assistant editorship to feature editor, and Robert Jenks, '32, from assistant editor to a contributing editorship. Frazier Drew and Albert Katz, both '32, were elected to the board of assistant editors.

CONFERENCE DISCUSSES PREP SCHOOL PROBLEMS

Vermont Delegates Attend Dartmouth Conference of Universities of Two States

"Problems of a prep school boy" was the subject which concerned the Preparatory School Conference of New Hampshire and Vermont, conducted by the New Hampshire and Vermont state committees and the New England student committee of the University Christian Associations, which was held at Dartmouth College over the past week-end.

The conference heard addresses by a number of prominent professors of New England colleges, including Prof. Harold E. B. Speight of Dartmouth College and Prof. S. Ralph Harlow of Smith College.

The conference opened Friday evening with a banquet at which Prof. Leland Griggs, representing Dartmouth, welcomed the members of the conference. After the banquet Professor Speight spoke on "What is Religion For?" Saturday morning Professor Harlow addressed the conference on "Personal Religion in a Modern Age." Professor Harlow spoke again Saturday evening on "The Christian Student in a Complex World," after which the conference had the opportunity of seeing "Journey's End," held by critics to be one of the finest plays of a recent Broadway season, presented by Dartmouth students. Sunday morning the Reverend C. Leslie Glenn, national student secretary of the Episcopal Church, spoke in the St. Thomas Episcopal Church of Hanover.

Dartmouth, the University of Vermont, and Norwich were the colleges represented at the conference, while Tilton, Kimball Union, Burr and Burton, Montpelier Seminary, and Clark were among the preparatory schools represented.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor

Associate Editors

Assistant Editors

Women's Associate Editors

Assistant Managers

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents.

Published semi-weekly during the college year. All communications must be signed. Any name will be withheld if desired. Any items and notices should be handed in at the office of the Cynic not later than 5 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Entered at the Burlington, Vermont, Postoffice as second class matter under the Act of March 3, 1879 authorized October 14, 1926.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879 authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 March 21, 1930 No. 44

IN LINE WITH A POLICY

The decision of the Cynic board to take the election of the major editors out of the hands of a triumphant majority at the annual elections is in line with the progressive movement of the board in putting the choice of major editors on a merit basis. Both large men, the desire of the editors to remove every vestige of fraternity influence from the choice of the editorial staff.

Every editor on the board was formerly elected by majority vote of the staff. Thus the board of assistant editors, who possessed no knowledge of the abilities of the news editors, was yet required to cast more votes than any other single unit to decide which of these men should succeed to the editorship. Likewise, members of the news board outnumbering the staff of the sports department in a ratio of four to one decided the choice of sports editor, although the reporters on the news board knew nothing at all of the work of the sports department. Obviously, considerations of friendship, which were largely considerations of fraternity interest, determined the votes of the board.

Under the new plan of election the outgoing editor, a faculty adviser, and the majority of the board will have an equal voice in the selection of the next editor and managing editor. A similar plan will obtain for the sports editor. The new method is closely patterned after that so long employed by the Athletic Council in the selection of athletic managers. It should be understood that the faculty adviser will be empowered to exercise no supervision whatsoever partaking of the powers of a censor. Indeed, he will have no vote at all save when the board and the editor disagree and, when he must vote, will have to choose between the candidate of the board and that of the editor, being guided in his choice solely by the contentions of the two factions.

Never again will the fraternity preferences of a board dictate the choice of an editor. The use of three different voting bodies indicates an effective check, operating, not only in the long run, but instantly, as the matter is hand. The apparent injustices to deserving men, who so many times in the past have been deprived of an editorship in favor of the man with the winning smile or the greater amount of tact should never be repeated. And not the least of the benefits of this plan will accrue to the Cynic itself.

Three months of trial of the merit system for the choice of minor editors have shown the existence of no technical obstacles to the success of the plan. Unless a single fraternity at some time gains control both of the majority vote of the Cynic board and of the editor as well, we can expect to see a total and permanent divorce of campus politics from Cynic elections in the future.

SCHOLARS BY SEX

We are surprised—surprised and shocked! Two fraternities ranked ahead of sororities in scholastic standing for the semester.

We poor male had always believed that a co-ed need but show her pretty face yearning up at the instructor from the point of greatest vantage in the front row to acquire her A.

We refuse to admit that we have been laboring under a delusion. In our opinion, snappier styles in men's suits, clean-shaved faces and well-combed hair have accomplished this revolution in the scholastic world. Certainly our opinions in this regard are just as logical as those of the disgruntled male who prates of the seductiveness of woman's charms over the instructor every time he sees a dean's list.

We have often wondered whether a comparison of women's records with men's would show the latter really superior scholastically, and, if such be the case, whether in the greater range of men's extra-curricular activities in the mental superiority of women, or in their unswerving devotion to the textbook lies the explanation of the situation.

In Three Years of Existence Dewey Club Has Shown Unusual Activity

[illegible] of the University, the club has been unusually active during its short period of existence.

The club was named for John Dewey [illegible] of Vermont head of the philosophy department of Columbia University and one of the foremost philosophers of the present time. It is a representative association and its [illegible] by its membership interests in [illegible] philosophy, psychology and natural sciences.

The club held its first meeting at the home of Prof. Grace M. Pierce on Pearl street Tuesday evening, March 17, 1927. Prof. A. R. Gifford, head of the philosophy department and author, was unanimously elected permanent chairman of the club. The first officers were Oliver Orton of St. Albans president, George Graves of Hartford Conn. vice-president and Gladys Ford of Burlington secretary-treasurer. All were active in campus activities. Orton belonged to Phi Delta Theta and was a member of the Cynic board. Graves was a member of Kappa Iota Fraternity and Miss Ford of Delta Delta Delta.

The second group of officers for the year 1928 included A. G. Leary president, George Graves, Jr., re-elected vice-president and Laura Bliss, secretary and treasurer. For 1929, Harrison Goddard, Cecelia McDonough, and Annette Rosenberg were chosen. The present officers of the organization are Harrison Goddard, '30, president; Annette Rosenberg, '30, vice-president and Edmond Germain, '31, secretary-treasurer. The first constitution of the John Dewey Club was adopted March 29 1927, and was revised October 15, 1929, to its present form.

At its meetings the club has heard many interesting lectures by prominent men. John Dewey, the "patron saint" of the club, addressed the members after discovering a University lecturer was here for the day.

A list of speakers would include Prof. A. R. Gifford who has lectured on different times on "Philosophy and Mystery," "Different Realms of Evolution" and "The Nature of Mind"; Dr. [illegible] Stuart, University lecturer on medical literature, who has spoken on Jean Jacques Rousseau, the famous eighteenth century philosopher; Prof. J. F. Metcalf who has spoken on "The Psychology of Art" and on "Psychological Aspects of Criminality"; Prof. O. Dykhuizen who, in 1928 and 1929, presented two very interesting lectures, one on "The Philosophy of Science" and the other on "The Functions of Philosophy"; Dr. H. F. Perkins, professor of zoology, who spoke on "Physics and Philosophy"; Dean [illegible] Swift of the College of Arts and Sciences who explained the "Relation of Mathematics and Philosophy"; Prof. L. P. Dickinson of the engineering faculty, who discussed the "Point of View of Science"; Dr. H. Jordan, who delivered an entertaining lecture on the subject of some biological speculations; and Prof. A. Gershoy of the history department, whose subject was "How the Biologist Might Regard 'It.'"

At a special meeting on October 15, 1929 in honor of John Dewey's seventieth birthday, three of the faculty gave appropriate talks—Prof. B. C. Douglass on "John Dewey and Education," Professor Metcalf on "John Dewey and Psychology," and Professor Gifford on "John Dewey and Philosophy."

At a recent meeting Prof. A. B. Myrick, head of the department of romance languages, spoke about "Hyppolyte Taine and the Influence of Positivism and Determinism in Modern Literature." At several of the meetings students have participated wholly and made group discussions a feature of the club's activities. In February of this year, George R. Nelson, '31, and Franklin A. Sears, '30, led the discussion with talks on "Various Phases of Psycho-analysis."

NEWMAN CLUB HOLDS COLLEGE TOPICS FORUM

Intermarriage between Catholic and non-Catholic and the entrance of Catholics into secret fraternal orders were among the topics discussed at an open forum on church and college at a meeting of the Newman Club at the Cathedral High School last Sunday.

All of the members participated freely in the discussion of the questions brought up, all of them topics of live interest. The meeting, which was led by Father R. F. Joyce, was one of the most interesting held for a long time.

At the close Father Joyce extended an invitation to all University students including both Catholics and Protestants, to attend all future meetings and to enter into the discussions.

Plans were formulated for the staging of "The Three Graces," a play depicting college life. It will be given immediately after Easter and will include as its cast many of the club's members. Mrs. C. D. Taggart will serve as director. For several years members of the Newman Club have successfully staged annual plays.

The next meeting of the club will be held Sunday evening at 8:00 p.m. in the Cathedral High School auditorium. The picture of the club, originally scheduled to be taken last Sunday, will be taken this Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in front of the Cathedral High School.

Fine Line of Hand Wrought Iron
at ISHAM'S
102A CHURCH ST.

BASE BALL
and
TENNIS
New 1930 Equipment
On Sale Now
L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

Society Notes

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Emily Murray, '31, [illegible] appointed delegate to the [illegible] convention at Syracuse, N. Y. [illegible] be in session from April 17 [illegible]

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Iota chapter of Alpha [illegible] announces the initiation [illegible] the following:

Helen Eschenis, '32, Stowe; Marie Maddocks, '32, Brandon; Pauline Bigelow, Bellows Falls; Bishop Springfield, Mass.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; Elizabeth Kensington, Conn.; Lois [illegible] Milton; Gladys LaFlamme, [illegible] ton; Theta Lanpher, Sutton; [illegible] Miller, Morrisville, and [illegible] Tower, Burlington, all of [illegible] '33.

The initiation banquet was held [illegible] the Hotel Vermont room. Alumnae present were Marjorie [illegible] '22, Mabel Miles, '23, Martha [illegible] ton, '23; Clara Salls, '25, [illegible] '27; Lois Burbank, '27, Marjorie [illegible] ton Hinsdale, '27; Ruth [illegible] Jeanette Hays Strong, '28, [illegible] Roberts, '29; Marion Baldwin, [illegible] Lucy Morgan, '29; Marjorie [illegible] ex-'32, and Mrs. Paul Raine [illegible] na of Zeta chapter at the New England Conservatory of Music.

Mary Davis, '29, was a [illegible] visitor in the city.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Gloria Young, '28; Bertha [illegible] Ruth More; Lorraine Owen [illegible] Marion Potter, all of '29, were [illegible] end visitors in Burlington.

KAPPA DELTA

The active chapter entertained its pledgees at a supper last Thursday evening, at the Athena Club rooms.

EPSILON SIGMA

Wealtha Baker of Leicester, [illegible] Robbins of Jeffersonville, and [illegible] trude Nicholson of Shoreham, all graduates in the class of '29, were in the city for the annual Teachers' Convention.

"What's the matter, old boy?"
"Just heard a recipe for good home brew, and I haven't any home."

The College of the City of New York is founding a "school for geniuses." About one hundred students have been selected on the basis of their age (or lack of it), their high gradings in psychological examinations, and their scholastic record. This new venture will give the young student a congenial social environment in which he will not feel lost among collegians more highly developed physically, emotionally, and socially; it will at the same time enable him to do more intensive work and enter sooner into original research. But, I wonder, is this education?

"Therefore to him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, to him it is sin."—The Bible.

For Your Dance!
CREPE PAPER
DECORATIONS
BALLOONS, CONFETTI,
SERPENTINE, FAVORS
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts. Phone 629

CLEANSING CREAM
COTY

In Jars . . . $1.00
Tubes 50c
½ lb. Jars $2.50
GUARD the young loveliness of your skin now—cleanse it thoroughly, perfectly, morning and nightly with Coty Cleansing Cream.
COTY
714 Fifth Avenue, New York
PARIS

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

Baseball Squad Cut Again as Practice Progresses

To Be One More Elimination Before Team Leaves on Southern Trip Next Week—Many Veterans Out for Positions

LINE-UP BEGINS TO TAKE MORE DEFINITE SHAPE

[illegible] Gardner's long promised [illegible] on the Monday after- [illegible] of the baseball squad [illegible] was wielded on ten [illegible], leaving a total of [illegible] which will be further [illegible] embarking for the sunny [illegible] such a crop of candidates [illegible] the group became un- [illegible] with the first game not [illegible] became expedient that such [illegible] taken for the purpose of a [illegible] drive before the invasion [illegible] territory. Those fortunates [illegible] to escape the wrath of [illegible] were: Catchers—Fos- [illegible] l. Stroh, Tomassetti and [illegible] Pitchers—Benway, Cummings, [illegible] McBride, Rutkowski and [illegible] Fielders—Baker, Dinniman, [illegible] Day, McKay, Macomber, [illegible] Traynor and Winant.

[illegible] hustle seem to be the watch- [illegible] at all times. When skull prac- [illegible] called, it is clearly visible that [illegible] men are eager to absorb the [illegible] which the varsity [illegible] in his informal manner dif- [illegible].

[illegible]ower on the twirling staff is [illegible] elongated frosh, who possesses [illegible] ball that whistles through the [illegible] with plenty of smoke behind it. [illegible] sandlot experience of any [illegible] he is coming along fine under [illegible] Newton's tutelage. Wally Sar- [illegible] an arduous season of indoor [illegible] in fine shape for another [illegible] on the firing line and should [illegible] the mainstays of the pitch- [illegible] staff. Charlie Cummings, ace of [illegible] hurlers, is plugging away and [illegible] to the cage wear a broad grin [illegible] watching the husky southpaw in [illegible] McBride and Rutkowski round [illegible] remaining and should fill the [illegible] when the occasion arises.

[illegible] the receiving end, Charlie Stroh [illegible] awakened from a lethargy which [illegible] followed in his traces and is dis- [illegible]g a brand of pep which promises [illegible] him the job behind the plate. [illegible] of competition is being given [illegible] Marty" Tomassetti and "Mac" [illegible], who as yet do not concede the [illegible] to their friendly enemy.

[illegible]arding the initial sack is Ed [illegible], who is confident of surpass- [illegible] last year's performance—a real [illegible] in itself. Cavorting around the [illegible] bag should be "Pie" Traynor, [illegible] toting gems were some of [illegible] highlights of the 1929 season. [illegible] it comes to banging them out, [illegible] one who is a veritable pepper [illegible] the diamond, takes no quar- [illegible] from anyone. Frank Pires is con- [illegible] the best at shortstop and bears [illegible] earmarks of a real ball player and [illegible] Traynor as a steadying influence [illegible] rival the Hughie Coitz-Horace [illegible] combination of the Cincinnati [illegible]. At the hot corner is "Dutch" [illegible], whose steady play under [illegible] should easily earn him the varsity [illegible] again.

[illegible] the outer cordon we find "Dinny" [illegible]niman, whose pegs from the wide [illegible] are remembered by all [illegible] fans. Captain "Wis" Howard un- [illegible] will be stationed at his old [illegible] and in his rôle of captain should lead his teammates to a highly successful season. "Orsie" Jay, converted infielder, is a ball hawk of known ability and rounds out the trio.

Competitors for places on the team must realize that the above mentioned line-up is only tentative and subject to revision upon proven merit and they should continue the fight, conceding nothing. These were the words of Coach Gardner in his final closing of the practice period Monday.

MCGILL RIFLEMEN WIN OVER GREEN AND GOLD

Last Saturday the Vermont rifle team lost a shoulder-to-shoulder match with McGill at Montreal by the score of 955 to 930. A factor which was a handicap to the Vermonters was the fact that this was the first time they had shot in accordance with Canadian regulations, which call for firing in only the prone position at 75 feet, whereas the U. V. M. marksmen are accustomed to fire in the prone, kneeling, sitting and standing positions at a distance of only 50 feet as the American regulations specify.

The summary: Vermont—Wardwell 193, Donaldson 187, Dunham 184, Eliot 183, Sheldon 183; total 930. McGill—Ogylby 194, Rennie 190, Wykes 192, De Montiguy 190, Knauk 189; total 955.

LARGE TENNIS SCHEDULE HAS FIVE HOME MATCHES

Starting the season the first of May with a trip to Massachusetts, the Vermont tennis team will launch out on the most extensive schedule it has ever had. Ten matches are included and exactly half of them will take place on the home courts. The schedule which has recently been released by Manager Reed is as follows:

May 1	Boston University at Boston.
May 2	Worcester Polytech. at Worcester.
May 3	Clarke University at Worcester.
May 8	St. Michael's at Winooski Park.
May 9	Middlebury at Middlebury.
May 13	St. Michael's at Burlington.
May 19	Colgate at Burlington.
May 23	Worcester Polytech. at Burlington.
May 24	St. Lawrence University at Burlington.
May 26	Middlebury at Burlington.

FENCERS MEET CADETS IN POSTPONED MATCH

Tomorrow afternoon the Norwich fencers will be here to meet the Vermont team in the postponed match that was scheduled for last Saturday. Next Wednesday the Green and Gold foilsmen will start on a trip to Boston and New York City, where matches will be had with Boston University, New York University and C. C. N. Y.

FINALS IN WRESTLING TOURNEY TAKE PLACE

Matches Bring Unusual Interest As Championships in the Various Classes Are Decided

Before an enthusiastic crowd the final rounds of the wrestling tournament to decide the championships in the various divisions were run off Wednesday afternoon. These matches took place between the winners of the semi-finals which were held Monday. Immediately after the finals the various champions were awarded the medals of the Physical Education Department by Howard Prentice.

In the first match Monday afternoon, Winthrop won the championship in the 135-pound class by throwing Sharples with a combination head and hammer lock in 4 minutes and 20 seconds. In the 145-pound class, Reed won by a default over G. Fleming, while H. R. Fleming clamped a hammer lock on Rowand and pinned him to the mat in 7 minutes and 30 seconds.

Peters and Perelman put on the best match of the afternoon in the 158 pound class. Neither seemed able to get an advantage and neither could keep the other on the mat. Peters finally won the decision with a time advantage of 1 minute and 20 seconds.

In the 175-pound class, Sokolov and Scharbius staged an exciting match in which the former won in 6 minutes and 30 seconds. In the same division Rugy was given the decision by a default over Matt Cohen, while H. Cohen won by default over Bigelow in the unlimited class.

In the opening match of the finals, Wednesday afternoon, Hill won over Masten in the 115-pound division by a time advantage of 9 minutes. Both boys were fast and clever and the crowd was treated to a clever exhibition.

Following this match Willets won the championship in the 125-pound division by gaining a time advantage over his lighter opponent, Segal.

A little variety in the program was then offered when three-round boxing matches of the no-decision type were staged. Two 125 pounders, La Marche and Morrill, swapped punches, followed by Petregilio and Roach in the 145-pound class.

Between these matches it was announced that H. Fleming was the champion in the 145-pound division because of a forfeit, and Peters was also declared the champion in the 158 pound division for the same reason.

Then Rugg and Sokolov staged one of the best matches of the afternoon in the 175-pound division. At the very start Rugg clamped a head lock on his opponent and kept him in submission for most of the time, thereby winning the championship with a time advantage of 11 out of 12 minutes.

In the last match of the afternoon Park won the unlimited championship by recording the only fall of the afternoon on H. Cohen in 5 minutes and 30 seconds.

Lady Driver (at garage)—Do you charge batteries here?

Proprietor—Sure we do.

Lady Driver—Then put a new one in the car and charge it to me.

MEETING OF FOOTBALL MEN THIS AFTERNOON

At 4 o'clock this afternoon a meeting is to be held in the auxiliary gym for all men interested in football for the purpose of sounding out sentiment in regard to spring practice. Due to the lack of attendance in past years, the newly appointed mentor wishes to get the ideas of the players themselves on the matter. If enough will present favorable opinions, Coach Dunn intends to hold practice as soon as possible. It is hoped a large number will be present at the meeting so that definite results may be obtained.

BASEBALL COACH TO SPEAK IN NEW YORK

In New York City Saturday night April 5, "Larry" Gardner, coach of the Vermont baseball team, will address the teachers and athletic directors taking the sports course under the auspices of the Public School Athletic League of New York, with which Dr. Aldinger, former athletic director at the University of Vermont, is affiliated. The meeting of about two hundred and fifty teachers and coaches of New York has been taking place weekly since the beginning of the scholastic year and at each meeting an address is given by some noted mentor of the season at hand—football, basketball etc. During the past fall season a series of addresses were given on football by "Chick" Meehan, Cavanaugh and "Al" Lassman, captain of the N. Y. U. football team in 1928. Following this series and at the opening of the basketball season a number of talks were given, first on the game as a whole and then on the details.

A week from tomorrow the first lecture in the baseball division of the course will be given, and at that time I. Howard Berry, former all-American fullback and world record-holder in the pentathlon will speak on "A General Program of Baseball Coaching." At the following meeting "Larry" Gardner will address the group, where he will point out some important factors concerning the playing of third base.

Co-ed Notes

The last game of the co-ed basketball round robin tournament Tuesday between the freshman and sophomore women, resulted in a 27-10 victory for the latter. M. Akins, '32, was high scorer with 21 points. In spite of the large margin of victory, the game was one of the best of the tourney.

There will be a hike to Spear Street, about five miles, Sunday, March 23. Meet at the gym at 2.30 p.m.

INTERFRAT TRACK MEET TOMORROW AFTERNOON

New System of Giving Points to First Four Places Makes Competition Keener

Tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock the Interfraternity Track Meet will take place in the Cage and Gym. The meet is being supervised by "Archie" Post track coach and head of the intramural sports for the year 1930. An entirely new system is being innovated this year with the introduction of points for fourth place. This enables all points to be more evenly divided and will be an incentive to men who have no particular track or field specialty.

The relay which was captured by the Sigma Nu fraternity last Friday afternoon will count ten points toward the track cup, while Phi Delta Theta have five points by virtue of their second place in the relay.

This interfraternity competition not only promotes keen interest because of the number of eligible events for participation, but also is valuable for experience for prospective track men who wish to determine their abilities in the various dash and field events.

The Track Cup which goes to the fraternity winning the cup for three years was donated by the Boulder Society in 1927. In that year it was captured by the Phi Mu Delts, while in 1928 and 1929 the Sigma Phis won the meet.

Basketball enthusiasts are looking forward to the indoor meet Saturday night. The juniors, having won the class championship in the tournament will meet an all-star team chosen from the other three class teams. The juniors have never been defeated in an interclass match but during the past two years have been twice defeated by all-star teams by a single point.

The Junior team includes: Johnstone, f.; H. Wright, f.; D. Nash, f.; F. McKean, c.; I. Warhurst, s.c.; Captain Abbott, g.; J. Wappler, g.; and subs. H. Taylor, V. Chadburn, J. Rogers.

Playing for the All-stars will be M. Akins, '32, W. Graham, '32, D. Gurney, '30; J. Miller, '32; J. Marston, '32; A. Armstrong, '33; M. Lunna, '32; M. Crane, '33; and L. Mount, '32.

BOYS and GIRLS
CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
is well ventilated and stays open until eight o'clock.
Why Not Give Us a Try
37½ Church St. 1 Flight Up
My Service Is Guaranteed To Please

Second Year Teacher Training Students Will you kindly call at the office of the UNIVERSITY STORE and place your order for
CAPS and GOWNS

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

The Old Reliable
Women's and Misses'
LISLE MESH STOCKINGS
$1.00 Pair
The Smartest in Spring Hosiery in Several Styles and Colors.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

DRESS UP FOR EASTER
SPRING TOPCOATS
$18.00 to $50.00
SPRING SUITS
$25.00 to $65.00
HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

Turk Sons
Now For The Newest
Spring Togs—
You may count on Turk's—always to give you the newest and most popular Suits, Topcoats, Furnishings and Hats—at the most reasonable prices.
TURK'S, Inc.
156 College St.

DR. ROWE ELABORATES ON ENDOCRINE GLANDS

(Continued from page 1)

CHOIR AND ORCHESTRA WILL RENDER CONCERT

(Continued from page 1)

VERMONT INDEPENDENTS FILL OFFICE VACANCIES

Vacancies in the offices of the Vermont Independents were filled at a meeting called by the president E. M. [illegible] '31 Tuesday evening in the Christian Association office.

The elections resulted as follows: Andrew Secretary Lyndard Foster '31, treasurer Clarence Amsden '31, house representatives Frank Roth '30 Walter Lamoreaux '31 William Bruce '31 Carl Kittredge '30 William Brock was appointed to take charge of the compulsory drill squad which the Independents contemplate entering in the interfraternity contest to be held during Federal Inspection May 15 and 16.

A discussion of social events for the fraternity men during the coming year followed. The Independents plan to cooperate with the non-sorority women in furthering social life at the University. However the Independents are actively interested in many college activities other than those social in nature. In this connection they function much the same as the secret societies.

They enter athletic teams in all interfraternity contests, place entries in the Junior Week parade and last year competed in the competitive squad drill at Federal inspection.

ENTRANTS IN TRI-STATE COMPETITION ARE FEW

[illegible] from [illegible] having used to [illegible] the fourth place in [illegible] contest [illegible] opened a room to students of the Universities of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont welcoming to all students entered in the English composition program of $15 $10 and $5 which are awarded to the three best entries in the three departments of essay, narrative and poem.

Many [illegible] experienced [illegible] which [illegible] contests to prompt participation, he points that "LUCK that it is useless to compete with juniors or seniors who have had more experience after the particular line. Past experience however, shows this to be untrue. Many of the winning contestants have been lowerclassmen.

When the student cannot think of a [illegible] subject but many times a very familiar subject, treated in a novel and interesting light has won a place.

The restrictions on submitted articles are very lenient. All contributions must be in before Easter vacation. The judges are picked from the faculties of uninterested universities and from academic writers. This year the University of Maine will pick the essay prizes, New Hampshire the short story judges, and Vermont the poetry judges.

A certain instructor in Poly Sci Wks did the marines land in Haiti?
Student: To get ashore

ARIEL WILL NOT APPEAR AT CLOSE OF JUNIOR WEEK

Due to the delinquency of individuals and groups in turning in their contributions to the editors the final Ariel was not in ready for issue by junior week, the usual time of appearance, [illegible] to the fault solely of the tardy contributors.

The last sections of the Ariel are in the hands of the printers the Medical section is nearly completed, and the general editors have their work well in hand. At a meeting of the business [illegible] last week at the Delta Psi house the business side of the year was discussed in detail.

The editors are issuing a last call for late material. All senior honor lists and questionnaires must be turned in by tomorrow at the latest or they will be omitted. Any group photographs which have not yet been taken must be attended to immediately. All junior pictures not in at present time forfeit their right to appear in the yearbook. The editors cannot be too emphatic in reminding students that this is their Ariel, not the editors'.

JUNIOR FORENSICISTS AND CATHEDRAL DEBATERS

(Continued from page 1)

through no fault of theirs, of course, but because of the complex nature of the question. "Public ownership of waterpower is economically inexpedient," smiled Miss Madeline firmly. "Ninety percent of all our waterpower is used outside the state," continued the belle of Cathedral, "consequently, all taxes obtained from this output would be lost because a state enterprise would pay no taxes.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

STUDENTS TAKE ORAL LANGUAGE EXAMINATION

About twenty University took the oral approval [illegible] in modern language conducted by the Department of Education of the State of New York here last Friday 14.

The examinations are given in the language itself [illegible] being to test, first, the knowledge, and second, his ability in using it before a class. This year for several years past the examinations have been given in French, Spanish, and German to students who wish to prepare for teaching these languages. The State of New York requires candidates for teaching in its schools to pass one of these examinations in the subjects in which they plan to become teachers. Usually from 18 to 25 juniors and seniors take the examinations each year and eight or ten in the state receive approved status secured by obtaining a passing grade remains good for one year, so that juniors intending to teach may immediately submit themselves to examination instead of waiting until their senior year.

HOME-MADE CANDIES
SODAS

Corner Main & Church Streets
LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

...on the screen it's CHARM!

...in a cigarette it's TASTE!

"MERIT IS SURE to rise." Make a cigarette of better quality, of richer aroma and finer fragrance — and all the world will find it out.

Witness Chesterfield's popularity, growing every day. No flash in the pan, but enduring popularity — earned by giving smokers the one thing they want:

"TASTE above everything"

MILD . . . and yet THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield

FINE TURKISH and DOMESTIC tobaccos, not only BLENDED but CROSS-BLENDED

© 1929 Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Go "Grade A" tourist third cabin . . . LEVIATHAN

This season, brand new Tourist Third Cabin on the LEVIATHAN, World's Largest Ship... the entire second cabin assigned to "Tourist Third"... all its beautiful public rooms and staterooms... its elegant, open upper deck social hall which gives you a full sweep of the sea... its charming cloistered smoking hall... its vast open and enclosed decks for play and promenades... luxurious and spacious new standards for this class. Second Class, as a class, abolished... new Tourist Third Cabin rated "Grade A" and the LEVIATHAN the only liner to offer this peerless rating! Make haste in booking this new, luxurious way on the mightiest five-day liner to Cherbourg and Southampton. Rates low.

Excellent Tourist Third Cabin accommodations also on United States Cabin Liners . . . for as little as $[illegible] a day!

OFFICIAL FLEET OF 100 COLLEGE ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS FOR EUROPEAN TRAVEL

Consult your local steamship agent or

UNITED STATES LINES

W.H. A. McISAAC, General Agent, 70 State Street, Boston, Mass.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 45 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MARCH 25, 1930 | NUMBER 45

CO-ED DEBATERS WIN OVER JERSEY WOMEN

Janice Goodrich, '30, and Roberta Powers, '32, Win on Question of Government Control of Power

TEAM HAS NOW WON ONE, LOST ONE THIS SEASON

[illegible] forensic contest of the [illegible] debaters of the [illegible] lined in a 2 to 1 de[illegible] last Thursday night [illegible] upholding the affirmation, "Resolved, that [illegible] and transmission of [illegible] power should be under [illegible] control," met New Jer[illegible] for Women. The de[illegible] the Old Mill Chapel. [illegible] acted as chairman. [illegible] Northrop, state's at[illegible] Martin S. Vilas, president [illegible] Federation of Women's [illegible] and Mr. George Harvey, de[illegible] at Burlington High [illegible] judges. Each speaker [illegible] twelve minutes on her [illegible] and the rebuttal was con[illegible] speaker on each side for [illegible]

Dean Welcomes Visitors

Professor Dean welcomed the New Jersey girls saying that it is always a pleasure to welcome a debating team, especially one from a distant college. Debates in many ways stand for the best things in college life, said Professor Dean. Before introducing the debaters he remarked that he was glad to see that the time of speaking was limited, despite the fact that if women were unrestrained they would argue down their points.

Roberta Powers, '32, opened the debate for Vermont. She welcomed her opponents and remarked that it was a pleasant fact that they were members of the same chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national debating fraternity, which has also had a chapter at Vermont. She explained the terms of the question, gave a concise statement of the points of the affirmative, and proceeded to give a history of the [illegible]. She stressed the monstrous importance of electricity, the greatest industrial factor of the age. Government control, she pointed out, would eliminate the selfishness and dishonesty of private trusts and would reduce the high prices. She cited the case of the City of Buffalo, which in spite of its proximity to Niagara Falls, has to buy its own electric power from other sources. This is due to the fact that three-fourths of Niagara's power is disposed of to private interests. Miss Powers then gave answers to [illegible]. One-half of the United States is classed as rural and yet only [illegible] of these rural districts have electric facilities. Governmental control would remedy this. It is impossible, stated Miss Powers, in conclusion, to define the indefinable, but governmental control, a more stable system of prices could be secured.

Governmental Control Socialistic

Miss Elizabeth Haynes, '33, thanked the debaters for their courtesy and expressed the wish that the relations between the two colleges might continue. She took issue for New Jersey by saying that the negative recognized the advantage and held that government control would provide a solution to the problem, but government control would lead to socialistic practices, initiative and development on the part of the individual, with the freedom, independence and flexibility of enterprise under private management. Miss Haynes cited the failure of the government in similar enterprises such as the railroads which is operated at an annual loss. As a final point she discussed the economic advantage of private management and concluded that the people are better served by privately controlled power companies.

Janice Goodrich, '30, second speaker for the University, explained that the purpose of the debate was to arrive at a decision but to establish relations between the two colleges to give the New Jersey girls a pleasant memory to carry away with them. Miss Goodrich, saying that a basketbook was the best [illegible] through which to attack an [illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

A. I. E. E. WILL PRESENT FILM ON "POWER" TONIGHT

"Power," a three-reel film, will be shown this evening at 7:30 p.m. in 27 Williams Science Hall under the auspices of the U. V. M. branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The meeting will be open to all who are interested.

The film portrays the amazing growth in the use of steam power since it was first applied to industry about 150 years ago. The development of the steam engine is traced from the first crude engines to the modern turbines and comparison is made between the water power resources and the coal deposits of the country.

The operation of a steam turbine and an explanation of how alternating current is generated are clearly shown by animated drawings. The film ends with pictures of the construction of a modern steam electric plant and a glance into the future of the electric power industry.

NINETY-FIVE COURSES WILL BE OFFERED IN 1930 SUMMER SCHOOL

College Credit to be Given for Summer School Courses—Fraternity Houses to be Used as Dorms Again

That instruction in 95 courses of study and 24 different subjects will be offered at the summer session of the University which will begin July 7 and close August 15, is evidenced by investigation of the preliminary Summer School Bulletin recently issued.

Enrollment Limited to 1,000

The enrollment will be limited to 1,000 students. Last year 945 were enrolled, representing 26 states.

Courses will be designed for college graduates wishing to do work toward a master's degree, teachers in elementary or secondary schools, desiring to take courses for professional improvement and for credit toward state teachers' certificates of higher grade.

Students wishing to remove college entrance conditions, or to take work of college grade will be given full college credit for all courses taken in the summer session.

Variety of Courses

The curriculum will include eleven courses in education, nine in English and a total of fifteen in mathematics, biology and chemistry. In the foreign language field, courses are projected in French, German, Italian, Latin, Greek, Spanish and Scandinavian literature.

Courses in geography, history, philosophy, political science, psychology and social science will make up the social studies. Courses in art, fine arts, commercial education, expression, music

(Continued on page 4)

RICHMOND PRINCIPAL TO SPEAK ON FOUNDER'S DAY

Principal Eugene H. Clowse of Richmond High school, will be the speaker at the annual Founder's Day exercises at the University of Vermont according to an announcement made by the University. These exercises will be conducted on Saturday morning, April 26. Mr. Clowse was graduated from the University in 1909, and became a teacher in Hardwick. Later he was principal of Lamoille Central Academy at Hyde Park, and has been principal of the Richmond High school for the past fifteen years.

The Founder's Day program will open this year with a review of the R. O. T. C. battalion. Brief ceremonies around the boulder in front of Old Mill will be held in connection with the induction of new members into Boulder, senior honorary society, and Scabbard and Blade honorary military society.

Others speakers on the program with Mr. Clowse will include Franklin Sears, representing the senior class, and John Bradish, representing the junior class.

Announcement of new members of other honorary societies, including Key and Serpent, Gold Key, Mortar Board, Cap and Skull, Pi Delta Rho and Kappa Mu Epsilon, will be made following the Founder's Day addresses at exercises in the Ira Allen chapel.

RESERVE OFFICERS' CUP AGAIN AWARDED

Scabbard and Blade will also Offer Two Cups During Federal Inspection

DATES OF INSPECTION COME ON MAY 15 AND 16

The reserve officers' cup will again be the prize awarded to the fraternity entering the best-drilled squad in a competition on the last day of Federal Inspection, which comes on May 15 and 16 this year. According to a report received from the military department, the two cups given by Scabbard and Blade, honorary senior military organization, will also be presented to the freshman and the sophomore who are the most adept in the manual of arms.

Realizing the value of military training to national defense, the reserve officers of Burlington, through Lieut.-Col. R. W. McCuen, have presented a cup to the Infantry Unit of the R. O. T. C. for the purpose of encouraging competition in drill and thereby increasing the efficiency of the unit. This cup is awarded annually to the most efficient squad, as selected by competent judges at a competition to be held at the time of the annual Federal inspection in May. Each fraternity may enter one squad in the competition and one squad may be composed of non-fraternity men. The cup will be retained for one year by the fraternity or group furnishing the winning squad. It will become the permanent property of the fraternity or group which shall furnish the winning squad in three annual competitions.

The squad in competition will consist of eight students in ranks and one additional student who will conduct the drill as squad leader. The students in ranks must be members of the basic course R. O. T. C. (sophomores or freshmen) not exceeding 50 percent being members of the second year class. The squad leader must be a member of the R. O. T. C., but may be a member of any class, basic or advanced course.

The following points will be considered by the judges in determining the most efficient squad:

1. The excellence of performance of movements in the competitive drill.
2. The military bearing and the condition of the uniforms and equipment of the members of the squad in ranks and of the squad leader.
3. The manner of giving commands and the general control of his squad by the squad leader.

The reserve officers' cup was first offered for competition last year and was won by Delta Psi.

Cups Given by Scabbard and Blade

Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, is again offering cups to the sophomore and the freshman who are the most efficient in executing the manual of arms. This contest will take place at 10 a.m., Friday, May 16, on the back campus.

The sophomore class will be tested first and will form in double ranks facing in. The instructor will stand at one end of the line between ranks so that all men may plainly hear the commands. The two judges will also be in position between ranks. After the command "attention" has been given students will be eliminated for wrong, improper, or inaccurate execution of the manual of arms, failing to stand at attention, moving the head, or not dressing the rifle properly at "order arms." All students are cautioned that at the command, "by the numbers," the movement to be executed is divided into distinct motions. The first motion is executed at the command of execution and all subsequent motions by the commands 2, 3, 4. All movements in the manual of arms are continued by the numbers until the instructor cautions, "without the numbers," or unless some movement is given which does not involve the manual of arms.

From time to time as men are eliminated the command, "rest, close in to the right" will be given. These will not be considered as part of the competition. The contest will be resumed at the command "attention."

The last man remaining in ranks will be declared the winner and will be presented a cup by the captain of the Scabbard and Blade Society. The freshman competition will be held in

(Continued on page 4)

PROFESSORS ADDRESS ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS

Prof. Evan Thomas represented the University at a recent meeting of the Hartford (Conn.) Alumni Association. David Dunn, lately appointed football coach here, was the main speaker of the evening. At this same meeting a committee was appointed to prepare a report on a scholarship to be founded to aid Connecticut students at the University.

Dean Hills traveled to Buffalo March 14 to speak before the Western New York Alumni Association.

Prof. Julian I. Lindsay of the English department was the main speaker of the evening at a meeting of the Eastern New York Alumni Association held in Albany, March 19.

DEWEY CLUB WILL HEAR STUDENTS ON RELATION OF PHILOSOPHY TO LIFE

Alice Dean, '30; Robert L. Stewart, '30, and Julius S. Perelman, '31, will Present Paper

The relation of "Philosophy to Life" will be the subject discussed before the next meeting of the John Dewey club to be held tonight at the Vermonters' Club house at 8.00 p.m.

The speakers this evening will be Alice Dean '30, of Burlington; Robert Stewart, '30, of Hardwick; and Julius Perelman, '31, of Burlington, all three speakers are prominent in student activities about the campus. Alice Dean, a member of the graduating class, is a Phi Beta Kappa student and a member of Sigma Gamma sorority.

Robert L. Stewart, also a senior is president of Grey Friars, honorary Literary Society, president of the International Relations Club, vice-president of the John Dewey Club and Feature Editor of the Cynic. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Julius Perelman is chairman of the Junior week publicity committee and is a cadet sergeant. He has been a member of the John Dewey Club for two years. Mr. Perelman is prominent in fencing and was a contestant in the recent wrestling meet. He is a member of Phi Sigma Delta fraternity.

UPSALA DEBATE IS VERMONT VICTORY

Forensicists Defeat New Jersey College in Opening Engagement of Southern Trip

DEBATING TEAM WILL BROADCAST TOMORROW

Victory greeted Vermont in the first debate on the southern trip when it recorded a 2-1 decision over Upsala College, Friday night. The debate marked the first defeat for Upsala in two years. It was the third victory in four starts for Vermont.

The topic for debate was the same as that on which Upsala the night before had gained a unanimous decision over Princeton. Complete world disarmament, with Vermont opposing such a move. On the same side of the same question tomorrow night at 9:30, Vermont will broadcast its encounter with George Washington University in the city of Washington. Monday night, Vermont and Lehigh disputed the benefits and evils of the machine age, while the Kellogg pact was the subject for debate between Vermont and Ursinus.

Nelson, Llaman and Sears, speaking in the order named, represented Vermont in the Upsala debate. Opposing them were Lawrence Holt, Bert Carlson and Alfred Vogele. The judges were F. S. Coe, principal of the Franklin School; A. S. Clark of South Orange, N. J.; and E. B. Griffith of East Orange, N. J. The chairman was Dr. A. L. Calmon, professor of history at Upsala.

Opposing Arguments

Upsala contended that armaments constitute a menace to world peace, that they are tremendously costly and largely waste, and that to disarm is practicable. Vermont replied that disarmament would not bring peace, for both the causes and weapons of war would still remain, and that disarmament would be dangerous. Vermont won the debate on the strength of its superior knowledge of the issues involved and by the excellence of its presentation.

Nelson's strongest point lay in his development of the causes of war, among which he showed armaments

(Continued on page 4)

Deans and Department Heads Secure Advantageous Places For Graduates

Cynic Reporter Finds That, Although the University of Vermont Has No Employment Bureau, the Faculty Is Active in Placing Deserving Men

"Placing of students in reputable positions after graduation is very well covered by the heads of departments and the deans of the various colleges," declared Mr. Kehoe in a recent interview for the Cynic, in which he explained that although Vermont has no employment bureau to guarantee jobs for graduates, individuals can be, and are recommended by those who have established contacts with the business or industry in which their department is interested.

Among those who are instrumental in the placing of their students after graduation are Assistant Dean Swift of the College of Arts and Sciences, Acting Dean Butterfield of the Engineering College, Dean Hills of the College of Agriculture, Professor Grout of the Economics Department, Professor Burrows of the Chemistry Department, Professor Douglass of the Education Department, and Miss Nulty of the Secretarial Department. President Bailey and Mr. Kehoe are also very active in the securing of positions for students after graduation.

Upon questioning Professor Butterfield, it was found that many and varied opportunities await the graduate engineer. Every year representatives from such powerful concerns as the Standard Oil Company of New York, Procter Gamble Mfg. Co., and American Telephone and Telegraph visit the University of Vermont in the hope of engaging promising young graduates. Many of the civil engineers take the U. S. Civil Service exams, attempting to get jobs from the Government, and many times the graduates have the possibility of looking up more than one position before deciding.

Dean Hills of the College of Agriculture, in answer to a like query, explained that, with very few exceptions, everyone in the past few graduating classes has been placed in positions through efforts of the faculty, Dean Hills and the late Professor Jenks being most active. Contrary to what might be thought, the Aggie graduates find, most of all, various teaching or extension service positions.

Doctor Grout of the Economics Department, regularly attends the meetings of the Department of Education and Vocation at Boston, coming into contact with business firms interested in securing capable men. In this way, and also through an extensive correspondence, he arranges interviews with college men and the representatives of business firms which often result satisfactorily to both. Professor Grout explained that in this manner a good proportion of the seniors are placed. He also advises a man to attend a graduate school, preferably Harvard, where he obtains a different point of view and the greater opportunities offered after more extended study.

The Chemistry Department, through the activity of Professor Burrows, also does its best to place graduates. Industrial work apparently offers the best field and Vermont graduates have been placed with the Kodak Co., the General Chemistry Co., and the Brown Co., not to mention numerous others. Professor Burrows pointed out that he is often applied to for men, and that first-class men can always be placed advantageously and with no difficulty. Graduates study also calls the senior chemist, and two Vermont

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor

Business Manager

News Editors

Associate Editors

Sports Editors

Associate Sports Editors

Assistant Editors

Women's Associate Editors

Women's Athletic Editor — Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Advertising Manager

Associate Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy Five Cents

Articles and undergraduates are desired to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any local notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned in, not later than 6 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Entered at the Burlington Postoffice and Under Seal during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, and make checks payable to the Publication Board of The Sigma Delta Phi.

Acceptance for mailing at special rates of postage at Burlington, Vt., provided for in Section 34 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1920.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — March 25, 1926 — No 45

TO HIM THAT HATH SHALL BE GIVEN

If we were to write that much needed work A Textbook of College Politics we should devote one whole chapter to the development and extension of Theorem XLII and its corollaries. In every college curriculum activity tends to come to the man with the most activities and honors. Among the important corollaries of this we find (1) Merit as an influence tends to a maximum. (2) Every college campus is governed by an oligarchy. (3) Incumbents of high office do a maximum of work.

These propositions are so self-evident that they would hardly require proof at all. A man is elected, not on his abilities, but with the view that he will reward his supporters, and only the big activities man has the rewards at hand. A college electorate is greedy; elsewhere in political voters can be satisfied by the appointments subject to the disposal of the successful candidate. Not so in college; a candidate for class manager with only three assistant managerships at his disposal as rewards stands no chance at all, only the man who can also offer assistant editor of the college annual and the chairmanship of the Polo Day Committee can have a show of success.

The first corollary likewise requires no proof. Merit is not only encouraged, but is positively a necessity for two main reasons. First of all, to earn a position, one must work, and if one works, that means the time that would otherwise be devoted to a vast variety of non-paying activities. And, secondly, a man with merit is harder to manage, which is the last thing in the world that the college voting public wants.

The second corollary is among the most important. It reflects the rule of this editorial—"To him that hath shall be given." Nothing succeeds like success in college; but success is measured quantitatively, and not qualitatively. Hence the tendency to concentrate all honors and powers in the hands of those few, who by dint of having no merit at all, contrive to fill a maximum of offices.

Finally, the crowning glory of the system is revealed in the fact that the merit is not needed in office for the office holder does no work. For the most part, he is so busy running from meeting to meeting that he has no time to pause between, and more than that, to work is illegal, pertaining, of course, to the holders of high office who have served their apprenticeship and are now in the top ranks for there is no further advancement to be gained. Time is better employed in garnering a farewell harvest of committee appointments to be put in the College Annual.

Let the last year man beware with the man who is not yet high up. Once he has made a beginning—or joined a fraternity—he has only to bargain with his voting power and he is made. The college milk cows, not planned exceptions, are prepared business men.

College politics are a detriment. They are a detriment to any college, and above all, they are a detriment to Vermont. We add this last statement for two very obvious reasons. Vermont is a conservative college in a conservative state containing conservative people, and for this reason there linger on shadows and vestiges of ancient customs, which would never be tolerated in a more radical institution, and which provide an unparalleled field for the politician to ply his trade. The second reason is that Vermont is a college of eminently democratic ideals, where it is tradition that every man be treated as an equal, and given a chance; and to superimpose upon this tradition a system of oligarchical rule by a minority is a most unhappy thing. Nevertheless, as we contemplate American colleges in the past and as we forecast their future, we can but say once more, "To him that hath shall be given." IS HERE TOO MUCH OF VERMONT?

A TEAM GOES SOUTH

Another team goes South this week when the baseball team embarks on its annual trip. Vermont has long been a leader in the college baseball world. We are told that this year there is a strong possibility of an approximation, at least, of the best records ever turned in by a Vermont team. But, whether it will be a winning team or not, the very possibility of a successful season should serve to revive something of the spirit which Vermont seems to have lost along with her football and basketball games. Cheering and singing songs mean nothing. Speeches on loyalty to "Dear Old Vermont" or to "Dear Old Any Other Place" mean no more. But they are, at any rate, manifestations of a spirit of loyalty, which, if confined within bounds, has rather a salutary effect than otherwise. We have but one proposal to make. Two years ago, at a mammoth smoker, the college bade farewell to the team before its departure South. How about a smoker this time to the tune of "The Team Goes South?"

Review of "The Winnowings"

By Julian I. Lindsay

The eternal editorial question of "What shall I say in a graduate book about [illegible] so as to [illegible] and a warning to any about to attempt it is one of the current reviews of "Winnowings from the Mill" of the seven essays only three are by undergraduates and of these we class as one Mr Aiken. The dearth of undergraduate contributions gives the logical complaint to the editor (see foreword "Literary Vermont") and justifies calling the driest product among the items called "Going to Market." It does seem, though, in a volume of this size which is large enough at least to support two literary organizations that there ought to be some one who thinks long enough to write a decent article once in a while even if he can't bang out a short story. On the other hand, the editor may be congratulated on providing in this issue some material of interest and value than may rightly be expected in an undergraduate publication.

Quite properly for a number of excellent reasons chief of which is the author's own excellence Dr Daniel L. Cady '85 is given first place with "College or The South Side of the Barn." Here we find a typical product of Doctor Cady's pen marked by "phrases with a razor edge" a wealth of concrete detail both picturesque and apt which makes uncommonly interesting reading. And the matter is as valuable as interesting for the student journalist. The list of sage and crisp editorial precepts is almost complete, although we lament the no doubt inadvertent omission of a few useful figures such as "Mr Terrismus or the Cheering Stampe" and "Charlentismus or the Prize Slipp." We rather agree that as a school for authorship "college wields opportunities that the side of the barn lacks, the latter producing mostly, we fear, mute inglorious Miltons, and the former well, authors like Doctor Cady. Fledgling writers may heed with profit the lesson taught from experience in Doctor Cady's penultimate paragraph.

Mr Dana Doten, Harvard '29 and now Research Fellow deserves much credit for his excellent review of "Humanism and America." He is penetrating and discerning, trenchant, as the work deserves, and conclusive in his analysis. Evidence of his penetration and discernment is found in the undebatable diagnosis of the New Humanism's chief defect, that it is wholly negative. "Positively it has nothing," not even an "intelligible working schedule." "The humanists are perfectly sure of what humanism is not but they are far from definite as to what it is." Trenchancy is found in the well deserved rebuke of Professor Foerster the editor, for his "ineffectual and derivative" introduction, and again to quote only one more of a number of examples in the characterization of the volume as "no symphony of wisdom coordinated harmonized."

It is a muddle an unimpressive and hopeless muddle." The conclusiveness of analysis is well illustrated in the unfolding of T. S. Eliot's damaging admission that he found "no discipline in humanism," without which one may explain there is no humanism according to all previous understanding of the term and its great exponents of the past. Giving credit where credit is due Mr. Doten commands Paul Elmer More's contribution as a reprint from New Shelburne Essays Vol. I. for "adopting the tone of good humored common sense not the proud humanist attitude," and does not forget to furnish evidence of the God-given quality. It is a pleasure to record that Mr. Doten is in essential agreement as regards "Humanism and America" with such critics as Granville Hicks in the Forum; Henry S. Canby in the Saturday Review, and Irwin Edman, in Herald-Tribune books whose strictures have happened to come to my attention. All the reviews which I have read are uniformly unfavorable and severe. In conclusion I just wish to jot down what seems to me the most completely damning opinion of the New Humanism that I have yet seen or that can, perhaps, be devised. "As near as I can understand it," says H. M. Tomlinson "it excludes humanity." "What nedeth worden me?"

Thornton Wilder's "The Woman of Andros" is reviewed by Professor Pooley chiefly from the point of view of the classical scholar; much is made of Terentian style and treatment for the sake of a comparative anatomical dissection of the newer work. The performance is no doubt enlightening and serves to enforce the conclusion that in dealing with the old material, unlike Terence, Wilder "probes the depths of the human mind", as it is likewise intended to emphasize, I believe, the essential differences which are after all the differences between the Greek and Roman world and our own and all that they imply. Certainly Mr Wilder's story is not Greek but yet Roman. Mr. Pooley clearly shows us that and I wish he had gone farther. I wish he had given us more criticism. For my part, I rather imagine there is more vitality in Terence's "Andria" than in "The Woman of Andros," simply because it does not "probe the depths," but deals with life in intelligible fashion, in intelligible terms. About the "depths" we have no certain knowledge, the psychologists themselves are in the darkness, but about custom, usage, and the proprieties of society, manners, in short, we know a good deal, because they are, so to speak, on the surface and can be weighed and measured in the clear daylight. Wilder may not turn out to be so very wise, after all; the "wisdom" being, perhaps, only an illusion produced by style which is, patently the author's chief concern. Mr. Pooley does not mention what seems a serious artistic defect remarked by John Chamberlain in his Forum review: "As it stands, Wilder's gesture toward Christianity (meaning the gesture toward Palestine and the preparation of 'the precious burden') seems too dependent on hindsight. It is not organically a part of his story."

Miss Genevra Cook's story, "Life Looking Out Attentive," reflects a commendable knowledge of short-story technique and exemplifies a fairly matured style, at least one which betrays little or no labor and is, to that extent, effective. It is a style, however, lacking in positive merits such as give distinction. And the story as a story smacks of sentimentality, in that it presents a weak and wrong view of life and its meaning and attempts to arouse our sympathy for maudlin sloppiness. Evva degenerates without apparent reason from the strength shown at the beginning and becomes a far from admirable character. But hers is no tragedy. Clearly, then, Miss Cook is guilty of false emphasis when she attempts to arouse our pity for Evva and would have us moved to tears just as some are moved similarly on commencement days. What does one go to college for, if not to look forward to a commencement day? What does one live for, if not to experience to the full all of life's natural, normal happenings? Evva should have been jubilant. And by the way, whoever saw a fly "soar" away from light into outer darkness?

"Parrots," a story by Miss Hope Ranslow, reminds one in some ways of the device so admirably handled in Ambrose Bierce's "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge," wherein an officer, hanged as a spy, subconsciously experiences at the moment of death the joys of returning to his longed-for home and dear ones. Miss Ranslow motivates her story perfectly and carries it through without serious blemish. I believe, until the end; and then, alas! drives us to a state of exasperation which is said to be entirely relieved only by the violation of all the ten commandments, seriatim, with deliberate and painstaking thoroughness. It is really too bad, an unfortunate fumble, and all the more painful because the rest of the story is so genuinely good. Miss Ranslow has no occasion to be dismayed and can go on to complete triumphs if she exercises a little more discretion. In a good sense the story is quite remarkable.

"Duet (At a Musicale)," unsigned, is a kind of unnatural Siamese sonnet monster. It is unhealthy; a pale, white, lily-livered thing such as creeps under rotten wood and mouldy stones. I doubt if sunlight will do it any good. The colloquialism of "it serves you right" at the conclusion of the first member, which may be called Chang only emphasizes the absurdity of the rest. Eng, the other, which may be called the better half, cannot overcome the infection of the weaker brother. Although there is skill displayed here the [illegible] of the matter destroys [illegible] such may furnish.

"White Magic" a [illegible] Aiken has vigor [illegible] and smoothness which [illegible] a perfect effect. Here [illegible] ment simply and [illegible] in imagery which [illegible] labor, except possibly in the last line. "A false" seems somehow [illegible] suggestion of the [illegible] understand aright, in [illegible] where throughout [illegible] natural, despite the [illegible] snow can be called a [illegible] inevitable with us. The [illegible] lies in Mr. Aiken's ability the life of spring. There [illegible] a correct understanding [illegible] form of sonnet, and [illegible] made of the two parts [illegible] sestet. This can be read [illegible] more than once; there is [illegible] can be exhausted in a single [illegible]

Mr. Aiken's other [illegible] "Wild Geese," falls far [illegible] Magic" in merit. The [illegible] blurred just in the place [illegible] places it should not be [illegible] "And I knew I could not [illegible] forced, an after thought [illegible] hope, and leaves a large [illegible] the mind. Otherwise the [illegible] no more than a normal [illegible] and a fair degree of skill.

Of the rest, News and [illegible] tributors' Column and editorial [illegible] word, little or no comment [illegible] E. J. F. gossips pleasantly and [illegible] edly and takes his reader along [illegible] There is considerable art there [illegible] not so easy as it seems. The [illegible] tributors' Column is complete [illegible] that is all that is required. The [illegible] word seems not up to the standard [illegible] might expect and is marred by [illegible] non sequiturs and general looseness [illegible] phrase and structure. However there [illegible] is a thought or two which Vermont students and others may well [illegible] and that is something not always found in editorials.

Good tobacco in a pipe

That's what you want!

WHY do you hunt high and low and everywhere, when all the time here is good tobacco waiting to be smoked in your pipe? Why not discover Edgeworth and be done with your hunting?

Light a pipeful of Edgeworth. Roll on your tongue the full-bodied flavor that never bites and is always cool. Taste the Edgeworth flavor—the flavor that never changes. Learn for yourself why Edgeworth is the choice of so many critical smokers all around the world.

You simply must meet Edgeworth somehow. Buy a can of it, or borrow some, or let us send you several pipefuls, free, just to taste. Use the coupon and then restraint until the postman comes with the Edgeworth. You'll bless the day, for good tobacco in a pipe is what you want.

Edgeworth is a distinctive blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe-smoking qualities and flavor never sacrificed to cost. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms, "Ready Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—or send for a generous pocket package to try both. Then buy the tidy humidor tin.

EDGEWORTH

SMOKING TOBACCO

LARUS & BRO. CO.
100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll try it in a good pipe.

Name _____

Street _____

Town and State _____

Now let the Edgeworth come.

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR L. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

Ball Players Await Season

Line-up Practically Settled as Time Approaches to Start Trip South

BATTING POWER ONLY FACTOR NOW IN DOUBT

[illegible] has already arrived [illegible] meteorologically, winter [illegible] up the ghost. The [illegible] has been cooped up in [illegible] the players have not [illegible] unfold their wings in [illegible] to the existing condi- [illegible] preparation for the tour [illegible] intensive practice sessions [illegible] on consistently every [illegible] as "Larry" Gardner, like [illegible] striving to make up slack [illegible] his charges on with [illegible] haste. It is an ex- [illegible] period for the coach [illegible] to the necessity of the [illegible] appears boundless [illegible] In addition to direct- [illegible] workouts the Cata- [illegible] pilot has been working [illegible] on the roster which is [illegible] complete.

[illegible] hour approaches the [illegible] becomes tense for candi- [illegible] who hope to make the trip. [illegible] only about three more prac- [illegible] left before the trip and [illegible] the confining area which pre- [illegible] drill, it will be up to [illegible] member of the club to show his [illegible] individual ability, in order to [illegible] the results of which they all [illegible]

Coach Gardner now has a group of [illegible] candidates all of which have [illegible] themselves worthy of surviving [illegible] previous cuts. Every one of the [illegible] is keyed up to the height of [illegible] for a trip to the sunny [illegible] is worth earning. Moreover, [illegible] of the rich coat of tan, the ex- [illegible] nothing but baseball, and [illegible] last not least, the distinction of [illegible] the U. V. M. on such a [illegible]

From the firing line, under the able [illegible] of "Doc" Newton, many of [illegible] veterans and a few aspiring frosh [illegible] been tossing the pillet with in- [illegible] accuracy and speed. Outdoor [illegible] is not absolutely necessary for [illegible] practice and the twirlers ought [illegible] in fair condition. Benway, Cum- [illegible] Farmer, McBride, Rutkowski [illegible] Sargent compose the pitching staff [illegible] with Foster, Kendall, Stroh, Tom- [illegible] and Towne out for the re- [illegible] end, the opponents will find [illegible] of opposition.

[illegible] infield certainly gives no great [illegible] for worry. Guarding the initial [illegible] is "Ed" Winant, a bundle of [illegible] waiting to be released. "Ed" [illegible] regrets his inability of possess- ing centipedic appendages in order to cover more ground. However, "Pie" Traynor makes this wish unnecessary. "Pie" belongs to second base and second base belongs to "Pie." Together they make a wonderful pair. Shortstop made a strong bid for "Pie" but found an equally good partner in the unassuming Frank Pires. Frank is one of those frosh who are a constant cause for worry to the veteran upperclassmen on the squad. He succeeded in wrestling the shortstop position from all its potential competitors and now seems to hold an option on it. At the dizzy corner is "Dutch" McKay who secured his enviable position without question. Under fire, "Dutch" cannot be rattled and in past experience many a baseball fan remembers his ability to come through in a pinch. All in all, in the infield one finds a coordination such as a machinist finds in his engine. Snap is the word to use in describing the group.

Captain "Wis" Howard and "Dinny" Dinniman, seasoned veterans of ability, are fixtures in the outfield. Each has been instrumental in both the defense and offense work. "Orsie" Jay completes the trio of the outfield. He surrendered his infield position to seek his fortune in the outfield. No doubt he will make good and will be an important exponent on the batting column.

Because the existing weather conditions have prevented outdoor practice the batting power of the squad is almost unknown. Nevertheless, the expectations are great and it is not probable that the realization will be disappointing.

TENNIS PROSPECTS GOOD FOR APPROACHING SEASON

Prospects for a good tennis team seem very favorable as only one letterman, Capt. "Barney" Shedd, was lost by graduation. Veteran players returning this spring are Captain Borkland, Pouch, Macomber and Goddard, while Tupper and Holbrook showed up well in the match played last fall with Middlebury. Among the freshman prospects for the team are "Larry" Palmer, Woodward, Price and Wilson. Freshmen are eligible for the team this year as the new ruling does not go into effect until 1931. There will also be a freshman team this year.

All sophomores who wish to scrub tennis should get in touch with Manager Reed.

NORWICH SWORDSMEN WIN BY 11 TO 6 SCORE

Saturday afternoon in a match in the U. V. M. auxiliary gym, the Norwich rapier wielders avenged their former defeat at the hands of Catamount swordsmen by a 11 to 6 score. The foils of the matches were: Perelman (V) 5, Chapin (N) 3; Perelman (V) 5, Liang (N) 3; Perelman (V) 5, Gregory (N) 2; Perelman (V) 0, Pendo (N) 5; Wadsworth (V) 5, Gregory (N) 1; Wadsworth (V) 3, Batchelder (N) 5; Wadsworth (V) 3, Liang (N) 5; Aiken (V) 2, Leet (N) 5; and Schuman (V) 2, Briggs (N) 5. Wadsworth (V) 5, Chapin (N) 3; Wadsworth (V) 3, Pendo (N) 5; Aiken (V) 2, Pendo (N) 5; and Aiken (V) 1, Chapin (N) 5. Leet (N) defeated Aiken (V) but lost to Schuman (V), and Liang (N) defeated Schuman (V) and Aiken (V).

The wrestling team at Oklahoma Agricultural College has not been defeated for the past nine years.

PHYZ ED NOTES

Social notes have it that Howard Prentice will go to Boston, Easter week, to the National Convention of the Physical Education Association, of which he is a member. Doctor Aldinger, formerly of Vermont, is scheduled to speak at this conference. He is now Director of Health Education of New York City.

When "Howie" returns he will start a new course in baseball theory and practice. This is a course that will enable anyone to coach teams or criticize them. Coaching is harder to do so you will probably par as usual. Most likely Larry Gardner will offer valuable suggestions to the would-be coaches.

Absences have increased this past week. Investigations have disclosed that the finals in wrestling almost finished more than one candidate. Poor fellow, and only for a bronze medal! Ah, me, "The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

When spring starts, if ever, the prancing ponies will roam the bridle paths again. Equitation offers a delightful way to keep fit and only for the mere sum of one dollar. Why go walking with the girl friend when you can take her for a ride?"

The back campus will soon be the scene of activities again when the gym classes will resume breathing exercises as in the past. All depending on the weather of course.

DRAMATIC PRODUCTION IS GIVEN IN RUTLAND

Last Wednesday evening, the combined men's and women's dramatic clubs of the University travelled to Rutland where they presented Sir James M. Barrie's drama "Dear Brutus." A small but appreciative audience was present at the Playhouse to see the excellent production under the direction of Prof. John T Metcalf.

The members of the cast were as follows: Mrs. Coade, Doris Kibbe. Joanna Trout, Annette Rosenberg. Alice Dearth, Kathryn Rauh, '32; Mabel Purdie, Margaret Martin, '32. Lady Loney, Beverly Householder, '30; Matey, Robert Aiken, '31; Lob, Robert S. Jenks, '32; Coade, Samuel B. Barker, '32; Purdie, Harvey Butterfield, '31; Dearth, Herrick M Macomber; Margaret, Isabel Holmes, '32.

For the second time since figures have been compiled at Boston University, reports from the President's office reveal that the co-eds of the institution lead the men students in scholastic ranking. The conclusion is based on a study of the members of sixty-seven fraternities and sororities. Men students take comfort in the fact that the failure of numerous groups to return the questionnaire makes the report incomplete.

Ditto: What is the motto of your class?

Stude again: They shall not pass.

Athletic Prowess Necessary For Eligibility in National Fraternity

[illegible] athletes, and accomplished [illegible] need apply for member- [illegible] Sigma Delta Psi, national ath- [illegible] fraternity. Before one can be [illegible] to this society, a test requir- [illegible] athletic skill must be passed. [illegible] one field is not enough, but [illegible] covers a wide range of events [illegible] candidate must have more than [illegible] amount of ability in all [illegible]

[illegible] physically perfect specimens of [illegible] Vermont may rejoice at [illegible] opportunity of displaying their [illegible] prowess, for the Physical [illegible] Department has hopes of [illegible] a chapter of this fraternity [illegible]. First, however, be- [illegible] anyone's hopes too high, [illegible] candidates should take a [illegible] requirements. The test of [illegible] presented in the following [illegible]

[illegible] dash.....11⅘ sec.
[illegible] hurdles.....31 sec.
[illegible] high jump.....5 ft.
[illegible] broad jump.....17 ft.
[illegible] put.....8 ft., 6 in.
[illegible] baseball....250 ft. in air
[illegible] ball.....120 ft. in air
[illegible] 100 yds.....2 min.
[illegible] min .....6 min

[illegible] handspring.
[illegible] vault height of chin.
[illegible] stand .....10 sec.
[illegible] .....erect carriage

[illegible] lates 160 pounds or over. [illegible] pounds, the following [illegible] used:

$$\frac{160}{\text{[illegible] weight}} = \frac{20 \text{ ft.}}{x}.$$

[illegible] specified that a varsity letter earned by a candidate can be substituted for any one requirement except swimming. This privilege is limited to the official varsity sports.

To be eligible to the Sigma Delta Psi fraternity all you have to do is to be able to perform the above feats. Yes, that's all. Membership is based purely upon athletic ability. From all appearances if this fraternity should be installed here at the University of Vermont, it will certainly be exclusive.

An examination of the list of feats required shows that it is no mean athlete who can perform all of them. With apologies to Abraham Lincoln one may say in regard to the test that some of the feats may be simple to some people, but all the feats are not so simple for all people. For instance, who can race 100 yards in 11⅘ seconds and then jog a mile in 6 minutes? It takes a good combination of speed and stamina to do this. No one has yet been able to run a distance of 100 yards in less than 9.5 seconds and the world's record for the mile is 4 minutes, 10.4 seconds. This shows the limits in which the candidate has to confine himself, although he would doubtless be still eligible for the fraternity as long as he did not fall below the minimum set in the requirements. To many it is a gigantic feat in itself to run one mile, let alone doing it in six minutes.

All in all, it is a fairly comprehensive test and calls for real ability. Anyone interested in the possibility of meeting the requirements and installing a chapter of Sigma Delta Psi here at Vermont should see Howard Prentice of the Physical Education Department.

Dress Up For Easter

SUITS
TOPCOATS
SHIRTS HABERDASHERY

HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

Sigma Nu Captures First Place in Interfrat Meet

Winner Gathers 34½ Points While Phi Mu Delta is Second with 25 and A. T. O. Third—Surprise Comes in Mile Run Won by Munsey, a Freshman

ONE MAN COLLECTS ALL 24 POINTS FOR A. T. O.

Saturday afternoon at the gym Sigma Nu won the indoor interfraternity track meet by annexing 34½ points in the events. Phi Mu Delta came second with 25 and A. T. O. was a close third with 24. Ten of the winner's points came by virtue of having won the interfraternity relays last week.

A feature of the meet was that every one of the 24 points made by A. T. O. was collected by one man, Bond, who is a junior and has never previously competed for the track team. Bond took four first places and tied for first place in a fifth event. The upset of the afternoon came when Munsey, a frosh, won the mile run and Hadley, another yearling, took second place. Hadley later easily captured the two mile event in which two other freshman prospects, Brooks and Swain, placed.

The point score and order of finishing is as follows:

Sigma Nu	34½
Phi Mu Delta	25
Alpha Tau Omega	24
Sigma Phi	19¾
Phi Delta Theta	12
Phi Sigma Delta	8
Kappa Sigma	7½
Independents	7
Delta Psi	6
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	4
Lambda Iota	½

The summary of the events:

30-yard dash—Bond, A. T. O.; Mace, Sigma Phi; Traynor, Kappa Sigma; Cohen, Phi Sigma Delta. Time—3⅘ seconds.

35-pound hammer—P. Park, Delta Psi; Mace, Sigma Phi; S. Manning, Phi Mu Delta; Bolles, Delta Psi. Distance—34 feet, 7 inches.

Pole vault—Meehan, Kappa Sigma, and Swain, Phi Delta Theta, tied for first place at 10 feet, 3 inches; Bove, Sigma Nu; Tupper, Sigma Phi.

One-mile run—Munsey, Phi Mu Delta; Hadley, Phi Mu Delta; Stark, Phi Mu Delta; Leach, Independents. Time—5 minutes, 22 seconds.

30-yard high hurdles—Billings, Sigma Phi; Cohen, Phi Sigma Delta; Swain, Phi Delta Theta; Adams, Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Time—4⅘ seconds.

Shot put—S. Manning, Phi Mu Delta; Riani, Independents; Mace, Sigma Phi; P. Park, Delta Psi. Distance—34 feet, 9 inches.

Broad jump—Bond, A. T. O.; Tupper, Sigma Phi; Bove, Sigma Nu; Maynes, Sigma Nu. Distance—18 feet, 3⅗ inches.

(Continued on page 4)

Spring Football Practice Planned

Training to Begin April 14 as Result of Favorable Vote at Meeting of Football Men

Over 35 candidates signified their intention of going out for spring football training at a meeting held Friday afternoon in the gym.

Graduate Manager S. C. Abell, Captain-elect Leo Segal, and ex-captain and present eligibility manager "Bump" Levine were on hand as well as nearly all of the returning lettermen. The meeting was also attended by a number of varsity prospects from the lower classes in addition to several members of the last fall's frosh eleven.

According to the tentative plans laid out by the Green and Gold's new mentor "Dave" Dunn, while on a visit here last week, the spring training will begin April 14 and last two weeks.

Active interest in spring training at Vermont has been on the wane for the past few years and in view of the fact that Coach Dunn will bring a new system with him in the fall it is very important that the spring sessions be well attended in order that all candidates may gain a thorough knowledge of his system.

In the meantime eligibility manager Levine and his assistants will attempt to keep all candidates out of scholastic difficulties in order that a large squad will be on hand next fall.

"Bump" requests all men who are planning to attend spring practice and have not signified their intentions to give him their names.

JUNIOR SOCIETY PLANS ANNUAL SPRING DANCE

Preparations for the annual spring dance to be held on Saturday, April 19, at the Burlington High School gym, were begun by Key and Serpent, junior honorary society, at its meeting last Tuesday night. Harold W. Adams was selected to take charge of the music for the dance and George R. Brush to take charge of the posters.

Another meeting of the society will take place next Wednesday, March 26, when the orchestra for the dance will be chosen and further plans will be decided upon.

"If an elephant charges you," advises a big game hunter, "let him have both barrels at once."—As far as we are concerned, he could have the whole gun.—Passing Shows

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

Have you chosen your life work?

[illegible] Write for details and admission [illegible] to Leroy M. S. Miner, [illegible]

THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL.
Dept. 81 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

The new Gruen Techni-Quadron $45

Other men's wrist watches from $xx.xx

When seconds count.... choose the Techni-Quadron

A new Gruen Guild creation—developed to meet the requirements of technicians, doctors and professional men who need exact time in seconds. The large seconds dial unobstructed by hour and minute hands permits quick and accurate reading.

Its smart Crown-Guard case is another added feature. Why not see it today!

F. J. PRESTON & SON
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church Street

WOMEN DEBATERS WIN FROM JERSEY COLLEGE

Janice Goodrich and Roberta Powers Win First Contest on Government Control of Power

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible]

Interesting Rebuttal

After an intermission of five minutes in which the spectators were allowed to [illegible] Miss White arose [illegible] for New Jersey attacking point by point the arguments of the affirmative. She stressed the fact that Congress was too slow to realize emergencies and pass needy bills which often necessitated action during President Hoover on that score. Miss White then attacked the Federal Reserve Committee as inconsistent and undecided and government politicians as [illegible] and hurting in vital interest in the public welfare. In conclusion she stated that she wished her opponents to remember that New Jersey recognized the need for a change but that they were strongly opposed to putting in the government as a means of effecting about that change.

Roberta Powers concluded the debate for Vermont by briefly attacking the arguments of the negative. She stated that government must always be confined to regulation not control. She quoted President Hoover as opposing government intervention [illegible] to save the people as a [illegible] organization. In conclusion Miss Powers asserted "If we do not believe in our government we do not believe in democracy."

Last year Vermont visited New Jersey [illegible] and lost a 2 to 1 decision. This year the New Jersey girls are visiting [illegible] Their next encounter is with St Lawrence College on the same question.

TWELVE DAY EASTER RECESS BEGINS LAST SATURDAY IN MARCH

Students are advised that the Easter recess begins on Saturday March 19 at [illegible] and last classes start once more on Thursday April 10 at [illegible] according to regulations recently issued by Dean Hills.

Morning classes on Friday March 18 in both the academic and medical colleges will be held at [illegible] (Military Science and [illegible] that hour [illegible] afternoon classes at 1:30 [illegible].

Students should give prior consideration to arranging transportation according to following recesses. Students desiring excuses for absence should note and be governed by the following statement:

(1) Applications must be made in writing, must indicate mail address, must set forth reasons in full and be filed with the Dean of the College in which the student is enrolled (Men's or with the Dean of Women (women) not later than Monday March 14 at noon. The responsibilities for proper and prompt filing rest with the student. It should be clearly understood that belated applications will not be considered.

(2) Excuses will be granted to men by council vote, to women by the Dean of Women. Excuses will be granted only for imperative reasons. Students should not waste their own time or that of the council by citing trivial reasons.

(3) A student contemplating employment should file a written statement signed by the employer on his letter head indicating date and time of day reporting, place where he is to work and the nature of the work to be done setting forth the need of reporting prior to March 19.

(4) Applicants will be advised of council action not later than Tuesday evening March 25.

RESERVE OFFICERS' CUP GOES TO BEST SQUAD

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] manner immediately after the [illegible]

Federal Inspection

The regular Federal inspection will be conducted by Lieut Col Wagner [illegible] General staff Corps and Major Bennett H Hartzog, Infantry, on May 15 and 16. Last year the great [illegible] received the classification of excellent among the [illegible] to receive training. As an [illegible] that the work done last year merited this distinction each private and cadet officer was [illegible] a fine start for the week on the eleven of the R O T C uniform.

VARIETY OF COURSES OFFERED THIS SUMMER

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Housing and messing will also be offered.

The bulletin announces that for a third year this year under certain restrictions the loan funds of the Field Artillery will be available for those who [illegible] to teach in Vermont during the coming school year.

To Use Frats and Dorms

Buildings which will be used as dormitories for women are Redstone and Jeffersonian Halls the State Agricultural Department Converse Hall Campus House and the Delta Psi Sigma Nu Sigma Alpha Theta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity houses.

Accommodations for men students will be available in the Kappa Sigma Phi Mu Delta and Sigma Delta fraternity houses.

Board will be furnished in the college dining halls at Grasemount and Robinson Hall and in some of the fraternity houses.

Special Attractions

Excursions on Lake Champlain, hikes and camping in the Green Mountains and Adirondacks, automobile trips and other features of outdoor recreation are emphasized in the bulletin which says:

"Burlington is one of the most delightful cities in the East for a summer school vacation. Statistics from the Weather Bureau indicate that the mean temperature is lower than in any other city east of the Rocky Mountains where summer schools are conducted.

"This location of the University of Vermont Summer School combines the advantages of the country in the summer with many of the conveniences of the city.

"The summer session enables students to derive the benefit of summer study and at the same time avail themselves of recreational opportunities in a most delightful vacation region. The regular bulletin giving complete details as to courses and instructors will be issued in two weeks."

Some who got into trouble

Necessary housecleaning at the University of Illinois here tonight resulted in summary expulsion and suspension of 22 students one of them a coed who was discharged for drinking.

Nine students were dismissed by the council of administration for violation of liquor rules. Two students one a woman were ousted for being caught drinking liquor while three more were expelled for driving automobiles which are forbidden on the campus."

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

• • •

Elias Lyman Coal Company
200 College Street

SPRING
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES
NOW HERE

PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

MODERN COMEDY IS JUNIOR WEEK PLAY

Tryouts for "Holiday," by Arthur Barry to Be Held Today and Tomorrow—May 15 is Date of Production

PROFESSOR METCALF IS ENGAGED AS COACH

Holiday by Arthur Barry was selected last Thursday for the Junior Week play to be presented Thursday evening May 15 as the opening event of Junior Week by Masque and Sandals and Wig and Buskin the women's and men's dramatic societies. Tryouts for the play will be held today and tomorrow March 25 and 26 at four o'clock. Prof John T Metcalf will coach the play.

Holiday is a comedy of modern life containing much particularly brilliant dialogue and it is rumored that the members of Masque and Sandals and Wig and Buskin almost convulsed when they read it. Members of the faculty thought it particularly adapted for an amateur production and for a presentation Junior Week.

It is the story of a young lawyer named Johnny Case who sets out without wealth and without position. He falls in love and becomes engaged to Julia Ceton the daughter of a rich family high up in the social world. Finally Julia brings her fiance home with her. This is the situation when the play opens.

The family predicts trouble but finally the young couple persuade Julia's father who thinks that money and social position is everything, to consent to their marriage. Finally Edward Ceton, the father, decides that Johnny Case is an up and coming young fellow and that he will make a business man of him. Johnny, however, has far different ideas. He thinks that he will take a holiday while he is young enough to enjoy it. This is perfect heresy as far as Edward Ceton is concerned. Finally Julia, too, becomes angry and their engagement is broken. Julia's younger sister sympathizes with John, who has gone to Europe, and she follows him there. The outcome is that the younger sister takes Julia's place and they are married.

UPSALA DEBATE FIRST VERMONT WIN IN SOUTH

(Continued from page 1)

to be but a minor contributory one. The fact that the affirmative could not meet a single one of his half dozen challenges contributed much to the strength of the case.

Lisman was particularly eloquent, disposing of each of the affirmative's attempts to meet the negative's challenges. As Nelson had shown that the cause of war would still exist, so he showed that the means of conducting war would continue to exist even in spite of disarmament. His chief contentions were that the world cannot be disarmed morally, potentially or actually.

Sears in an address devoted almost wholly to rebuttal, presented a most effective argument. After showing that disarmament would deprive the nations of security, he took up every single argument of the affirmative and refuted it in detail.

Vogely, speaking twenty one minutes as anchor man for the affirmative, was responsible for the single vote they drew. His argument was very emotional hinging on the horrors of war and the psychological effects of competitive armament.

I never kissed a girl before in my life, said the young man as he removed the cigars from his vest pocket and took her in his arms.

A LIST OF GOOD POPULAR BOOKS OF THE SEASON INCLUDE

YOUNG MAN OF MANHATTAN
MOTHER'S CRY
A FAREWELL TO ARMS
LAUGHING BOY
MURDER YET TO COME MUSIC IN THE STREET

University Store

CHOIR GIVES ANNUAL EASTER PRESENTATION

Prof H G Bennett directed the Lenten and Easter music by the University choir in the Ira Allen Chapel at four o'clock Sunday March 23. He was assisted by Miss Miriam Marston, organist, and the University orchestra, with Miss Charlotte De Volt, concert master. Solos were rendered by Miss Marion Baldwin, Miss Dorothy Fowler, Miss Hazel Ladd, Miss Mailla Putnam, Miss Elsie Roosa, Mr. R H [illegible], Rev I C Smart assisted in the service.

After the concert, members of the choir were given a supper by Professor and Mrs. Bennett at their home.

STUDENTS FIND WORK WITH HELP OF DEANS

(Continued from page 1)

men are now studying for their doctor's degree at Yale and one at Princeton.

Professor Douglass of the Education Department, helps place the graduate teachers. The students can apply at his office for blanks which, when filled out give their courses in college and what they are best prepared to do. The work is about the same as if it were a regular teachers' registration bureau. Recommendations always help a student in finding a position.

Miss Nulty, who is head of the Secretarial Department, takes a keen interest in the welfare of her students after graduation. She holds many conferences throughout the senior year with the individual students, helping them decide what they are best fitted for, and what fields they should enter after graduation. Miss Nulty has also formed some contact with many reputable business firms, and as calls come in she recommends the students whom according to her opinion will best succeed. There are also many reputable employment agencies in Boston and New York through which Miss Nulty has helped students find positions. Even after graduation the girls are followed up, and helped in securing work.

It is interesting to note that although Vermont has no employment bureau for graduate students, it is through the active interest taken by the faculty that a good proportion of the students are placed in advantageous positions.

SIGMA NU CAPTURES FRAT TRACK MEET

(Continued from page 3)

30-yard low hurdles—Bond, A. T. O.; Cohen, Phi Sigma Delta; Bove, Sigma Nu; Billings, Sigma Phi. Time—4⅘ seconds.

880-yard run—Flagg, Sigma Nu; Brooks, Phi Mu Delta; Huey, Sigma Nu; Cohen, Phi Sigma Delta. Time—2 minutes, 26½ seconds.

Two-mile run—Hadley, Phi Mu Delta; Wilder, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Varney, Independents; Bloomenthal, Independents. Time—11 minutes, 4⅕ seconds.

High jump—Bond, A. T. O. Bedell, Sigma Nu, Childs, Sigma Nu. Height—5 feet, 3 inches.

440-yard dash—Huey, Sigma Nu, and Bond, A. T. O., tied for first at 59 seconds; Jay, Kappa Sigma; Billings, Sigma Phi.

Five fraternity houses have been burned down at the University of Southern California in one month.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT GIVES OPERAS IN APRIL

"Trial by Jury" and "Orpheus" to be the Program Given by Musical Organizations Night of April 24

Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, "Trial by Jury" two act grand opera, "Or[illegible] presented by the Univ[illegible] Thursday evening, April [illegible] Strong Theater. Rehearsals [illegible] dramatic principals and [illegible] chorus have begun. [illegible] dramatic rehearsal for [illegible] was held last Thursday [illegible] gymnasium.

Professor Bennett [illegible] the following people have [illegible] for the women's chorus.

For "Orpheus": Esther [illegible] '33; Eleanor Eggleston, [illegible] Eisenwinter, '31, Irene [illegible] Elisabeth Mandigo, '32, D[illegible] '31; Charlotte Odell, '[illegible] Petze, '33; Margaret Rice, Roosa, '33; Katherine [illegible] Helen Taylor, '31; Evelyn [illegible] and Beatrice Wallace.

The bridesmaids in "Trial" are: Alice Dodge, '31; Mar[illegible] winter, '31; Georgina [illegible] Charlotte Odell, '33, [illegible] '33; Elsie Roosa, '33; Ka[illegible] ner, '32; and Dorothy [illegible] The spectators in "Trial" [illegible] Eleanor Eggleston, '33, [illegible] '32; Cleone Floyd, '33, [illegible] '31; Genevieve Petze, [illegible] Rice, '31; Winona Spence, Helen Taylor, '31.

There will be a rehearsal [illegible] choruses, men and wom[illegible] Music Building tonight, [illegible] from 7.15 to 8.15. A dress [illegible] hearsal will be held on [illegible] or Thursday evening.

The orchestra will have [illegible] more important part in [illegible] than in any production [illegible] as several numbers will be [illegible] dered by the orchestra [illegible] times it will impersonate [illegible] lyre. At other times Fred [illegible] holder with his piccolo will [illegible] an echo behind the scenes.

Professor Bennett will [illegible] direct the musical part of the [illegible] while Professor Metcalf will [illegible] charge of the dramatic [illegible] Miss Maude Patrick, of the depart[illegible] Education, will supervise the [illegible] ing. The special ballet dance [illegible] directed by Miss Annis Spa[illegible] who conducts the women's classes in [illegible] ing.

Jazz music has been introduced in Japan, and here we thought all the time that jazz dancing was just a variation of ju-jutsu!—Cincinnati Inquirer.

Important meeting of the Freshman class, Wednesday, March 26, in the large lecture room of Williams Science Hall. It is necessary that everyone should be present.

Y. W. C. A. supper planned for Tuesday, March 25, is postponed until after vacation.

SPRING
SPORT
CLOTHES

Knicker
SUITS
$35 to $50

—:—:—

KNICKERS

GOLF HOSE

POLO SHIRTS

FLANNEL TROUSERS

SPORT SWEATERS

MILES & PERRY CO.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1886

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MARCH 28, 1930 NUMBER 46

WOMEN'S NUMBER

RICE AND MARTIN TO DIRECT WINNOWINGS

Board is Appointed by Outgoing Editor and Faculty Advisor—Innovation for the Magazine

OFFICES DISTRIBUTED AMONG MEN AND WOMEN

Margaret Rice, '31, of Brattleboro, is the recently elected editor-in-chief of the Vermont literary magazine, Winnowings From the Old Mill. The staff of the publication is: Short story editor, Justine Rogers, '31; poetry editor, Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32; faculty advisor, Prof. Leon Dean; and the two assistant editors, Sam Barker, '31, and Robert Aiken, '31. The business board consists of Margaret Martin, '32, manager; Nesbith Perelman, '31, circulation manager; and Lester Woodward, '31, advertising manager. Arthur Goodrich, '30, the outgoing editor, and Professor Dean were authorized by a vote of the board to appoint the new staff. It was felt that this would do away with the problem of fraternity politics and that the editor and advisor could choose impartially the most worthy members to the responsible positions.

Miss Rice is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity, Bluestockings Dramatic Club, Eta Sigma Phi, Student Union, the Women's Glee Club and has played on various class teams. Many of her literary work has appeared in the magazine.

Miss Rogers belongs to the Dramatic Club has been especially active in athletics and will serve as president of Bluestockings for the coming year.

Edward Fitzgerald, the poetry editor, has been a constant contributor to the publication. He is a member of Lambda Iota and serves as dramatic editor of the Cynic.

Sam Barker's activities include membership in Grey Friars, Wig and Buskin, Gold Key and Sigma Nu. Robert Aiken belongs to Sigma Nu, Wig and Buskin and has been in the casts of several college plays and is on the fencing team.

Miss Martin, the business manager, is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, Dramatic Club, Masque and Sandal, Bluestockings, Press Club and serves as assistant editor on the Cynic board.

The position as essay editor was not filled because of the lack of able applicants. An opportunity to scrub this position will be given to those who wish to try out.

RE-EXAMINATION LIST GIVEN OUT BY KEHOE

[illegible] examinations will be held April 8 and 9 in the Large Lecture Room, Second Floor, Science Building. Examinations will begin at 9:00 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. The following schedule will be followed:

[illegible] April 8: Economics 1, English 6, French 1.

[illegible] April 8: Botany 2, English 1, English Methods (Teacher Training), Greek 0, History A, Political Science 1, Spanish (English).

[illegible], April 9: Algebra 3, Botany 13 (Bact.), Chemistry (Arts and Agriculture), Chemistry 19, Cytology, Economics 2, Economics 5, Economics 9, Economics of E. E., English 2, French 3, French 4, Geology 1 (Arts), Latin B, Music 1 (Arts), Physics 1, Rural Teacher Training), Zoology.

[illegible], April 9: Algebra 1, Arithmetic Methods (Teacher Training), Botany 3, Calculus (Engineering), Chemistry 9, Economics 10, Economics 2 Lit., German 1, German 11, Introduction to Rural Teacher Training), Latin 1, Public Finance, Mathematics, Mechanical Drawing, Music 2 (Teacher Training), Psychology 1, Trigonometry (Arts)

MISS BLANCHARD PICKS CO-ED BOWLING TEAM

Christine Shaw, '30, Ruth Strong, '30, and Mildred Akins, '32, were announced by Miss Blanchard as members of the varsity bowling team. In the recent tournament held at the Regal Bowling Alleys the seniors won first place, followed by the sophomores, juniors and freshmen.

Much interest and enthusiasm has been shown in bowling this year which is now firmly established as a minor sport in women's athletics.

MARION E. TIFFT

Former president of Y. W. C. A. and ex-chief justice of Student Union

CLARK ELECTED PRES. PRESS CLUB, WOMEN'S JOURNALISTIC SOCIETY

Beatrice Parkhill, '32, to be Secretary-treasurer; Pauline Willis to Serve as Social Chairman—All Active on the Campus

Press Club announces the election of the following officers for the year 1930-31: President, Elizabeth Clark, '31; secretary-treasurer, Beatrice Parkhill, '32; social chairman, Pauline Willis, '31.

Elizabeth Clark of Pawtucket, R. I., has long been prominent in athletics She has played on her class hockey team for three years, on the varsity archery team last year and has recently been appointed to the rifle team. She was a member of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet during her freshman year, and as a sophomore, was elected secretary of Deutsche Verein, German club. Miss Clark belongs to the Alpha Chi Omega Fraternity.

Beatrice Parkhill of Middlebury, also a member of Alpha Chi Omega Fraternity, has been on her class volley-ball team two years. She was a member of the Dramatic Club during her first year, and now belongs to Masque and Sandal, the honorary dramatic society.

Pauline Willis, Waterbury, is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Fraternity and the Dramatic Club.

REV. NICHOLS DESCRIBES SEVEN BIG REVOLUTIONS

"Seven great revolutions are transforming the very nature of human existence and need our serious attention," declared Rev. W. S. Nichols of the Unitarian Church of Montpelier, in chapel Wednesday morning.

First is the political revolution, which is characterized by the failure of time-honored methods, to solve governmental problems, especially those of international aspect and importance.

Second is the continuation of the industrial revolution and its transformation of labor from man to machine. Doctor Nichols mentioned such great inventions as the radio and aeroplane which have changed both the social and the scientific-industrial phases of modern life. The third is financial. The money power of the world has been transformed from European to American business fields.

HEADS OF LITERARY SOCIETY ARE CHOSEN

Officers Were Elected at Theta House, March 19—Justine Rogers, President

EMERY, LE BARON, RICE, SPENCER GET POSITIONS

Bluestockings elected the following officers at a meeting held Wednesday, March 19, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house: President, Justine Rogers, '31; vice-president, Dorothy Emery, '31; secretary, Helen LeBaron, '32; treasurer, Margaret Rice, '31; chairman of the social committee, Winona Spencer, '31.

The new officers are prominent in a variety of campus activities. Justine Rogers of Shoreham has played hockey and basketball three years, and baseball two years. She is also a member of the Dramatic Club.

Dorothy Emery of Englewood, N. J., is a member of the 1931 Ariel Board, the Junior Week Committee, and was secretary of the Home Economics Club during her sophomore year. She

(Continued on page 4)

JUNIORS, SOPHS DIVIDE OFFICES IN DRAMATICS

Dramatic Club elections resulted in the following choice of officers: Winona R. Spencer, '31, president; Lois Harrington, '32, vice-president; Gertrude Levin, '31, treasurer; and Olive Fields, '32, secretary.

Winona Spencer of Barre has been very active in dramatics for the past two years, having taken part in two class plays and served as vice-president last year. Miss Spencer is a member of Kappa Delta Fraternity, Bluestockings and the Women's Glee Club.

Miss Harrington belongs to Alpha Xi Delta, W. A. A., and is on the personnel committee of Y. W. C. A.

Miss Levin, a member of K. E. L. Society, has been especially active in Dramatic Club work for the past two years, having been in the cast of two class plays.

Olive Fields, a newly elected officer of the Women's Student Union, is a member of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity, Press Club and has served on several class committees.

During the past year Dramatic Club has had charge of the successful class productions: "Overtones," the prize-winning presentation by the junior class, "America Passes By" and "The Wedding Present." At the recent mass meeting "For Distinguished Service" was put on by three members of the organization.

The outgoing officers are President Lillian Cohen; vice-president, Winona Spencer; secretary, Dorothy Nash; treasurer, Irene Marcotte.

WILBUR GIFT FOR NEW MUSEUM HAS ADDITION

Evidence that the University of Vermont has complied with the terms of a provisional gift of $100,000 for the new museum made by the late James B. Wilbur in the raising of an additional $200,000 was presented March 24 at Manchester, at a hearing held before the three commissioners of the estate, W. H. Shaw, L. F. Martin, and Walter R. Hurd.

The gift of Mr. Wilbur, made before his death last April 28, was for a museum and the additional sum was to be raised before last October 28. It is expected that the matter will be settled soon.

Present at the hearing were Pres. Guy W. Bailey, Forrest W. Kehoe, registrar; Attorney Warren R. Austin, Former Attorney General John G. Sargent, attorney for the executors, and Judge Edward Griffith, and W. H. Roberts, cashier of the Factory Point National Bank, executors.

(Continued on page 5)

DOROTHY M. DAILEY

Past president of Student Union, who recently completed a most successful term

ELIZABETH CORY NAMED PRESIDENT OF MASQUE AND SANDAL SOCIETY

Dramatic Society Also Elects Hope Ranslow, Vice-president, Isabel Holmes, Treasurer, Caroline Howard, Secretary

At a business meeting held last week Elizabeth Cory, '31, was elected president of Masque and Sandal, the honorary dramatic society for women, for the ensuing year. The other new officers are: Vice-president, Hope Ranslow, '32; treasurer, Isabel Holmes, '32; secretary, Caroline Howard, '32.

Miss Cory, whose home is in Montclair, N. J., has been active in the Women's Glee Club since she has been in college and has had parts in the choruses of the operas "The Mock Doctor" and "Patience," and will have a major part in "Orpheus." Miss Cory belongs to W. A. A., played on the junior hockey team last fall, took part in "Summertime" and was women's property manager for the fall production, "Dear Brutus." She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity.

Miss Ranslow of Montpelier is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity, Press Club, Bluestockings, Dramatic Club, rifle team, and sophomore bowling team. She is also serving as a sophomore member of a house committee and as assistant editor of the Vermont Cynic. She played a rôle in the college play, "Summertime."

Miss Holmes of St. Albans belongs to Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity and Press Club. She has served on class committees and played in "Dear Brutus."

Miss Howard of White River Junction is a member of Alpha Xi Delta Fraternity and Eta Sigma Phi. She has played on the class tennis team for two years and sang in the Women's Glee Club last year.

HELEN TAYLOR NAMED LEADER OF GLEE CLUB

Helen Taylor, '31, of Montclair, N. J., has been elected leader of the Women's Glee Club for the ensuing year.

Miss Taylor is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity and Home Economics Club. She played in the opera "Patience" and will be in "Orpheus" and "Trial by Jury."

In athletics she has been on class and varsity teams, volley-ball, hockey and basketball, besides being women's cheer leader. Miss Taylor is one of the photographic editors of the Ariel and has served on class committees.

The new Glee Club manager will be Beatrice Wallace of Orleans. Miss Wallace is a member of the class of 1933 and Pi Beta Phi Fraternity. She is to have a rôle in the opera "Orpheus."

NEW STUDENT UNION OFFICERS ANNOUNCED

All Officers Prominent on Campus and Popular with Co-ed Association

M. STANLEY, PRESIDENT, D. NASH, CHIEF JUSTICE

The new officers of Student Union, announced Monday, after a week's balloting, are Margaret Stanley, president; Dorothy Nash, chief justice, Lillian Mount, vice-president; Janice Davis, treasurer, Harriet Wright, secretary; Ruth Field, chairman of the social calendar; and Olive Fields, chairman of the program committee.

Miss Stanley, of Waterbury, is a member of the class of 1931 and belongs to Pi Beta Phi Fraternity. She has been especially active in Y. W. C. A., of which she has been a cabinet member for two years and vice-president for the past year, and in Student Union; for the past year she has been a member of Student Union Council and was one of the three Student Union delegates who visited four of the eastern colleges this fall to investigate the operation of the Student Union systems. Miss Stanley is also vice-president of the junior class, besides being a member of Press Club, Dramatic Club, and the Student Faculty Council.

Dorothy Nash, '31, of Concord, N. H., the new chief justice of Student Union, an office parallel to president in honor and duties, is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Fraternity, Eta Sigma Phi, Dramatic Club, of which she was secretary last year, Women's Glee Club, Y. W. C. A., Press Club and Pan Hellenic Association. She has been on basketball, baseball, and tennis teams, has served on freshman rules committee, football hop committee, she is now a grind editor of the Ariel, has taken part in class plays and was in the cast of "Patience."

Lillian Mount, '32, of Burlington, is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Fraternity and is very active in athletics. She has been on class and varsity volley-ball, hockey, basketball, baseball and bowling teams, sophomore representative of W. A. A. and chairman of the Women's Indoor Meet which was recently held. She is also a member of Press Club, Student Faculty Council and has served on the freshman rules committee, basketball and sophomore hop committees.

Janice Davis, '31, of Wallingford, is a member of Alpha Xi Delta Fraternity, Omicron Nu, Dramatic Club, Home Economics Club, of which she has been vice-president for the past year. She is a representative to Pan Hellenic Association, a grind editor of the Ariel, has taken part in the class plays for the last three years, was secretary of her class in the freshman year and a member of the Women's Glee Club last year. She has served on the freshman rules committee, sophomore hop committee and is on the Junior Week committee.

Harriet Wright, '31, of Essex Junction, a Pi Beta Phi, is a member of Bluestockings and Dramatic Club. She served on the sophomore hop committee, has been on the women's basketball and rifle teams and is now serving as athletic editor of the Cynic and sports editor of the Ariel.

The new chairman of the social calendar, Ruth Field, '31, of North Easton, Mass, is also a member of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity. Miss Field is one of the grind editors of the Ariel, serves on the Pan Hellenic Association, is a member of Press Club, Women's Glee Club and the Health Council. She has been on class basketball and hockey teams, in the cast of the opera "Patience," has served on sophomore and basketball hop committees and is on the Junior Week committee.

Olive Fields, '32, of Brooklyn, N. Y., is to be chairman of the program committee. Miss Fields is a member of Pi Beta Phi Fraternity, Press Club and Dramatic Club. She has been on class basketball and volley-ball teams and has served on the football and sophomore hop committees.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor

News Editor

Dramatic Editor
Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Associate News Editors

Associate Sports Editors

Women's Associate Editor

Women's Associate Editors

Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Associate Editors

Advertising Manager

Associate Business Managers

G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Notice: Advertising rates are based on circulation. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. All local notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned in not later than 9 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday. Entered at the Burlington Postoffice as second class matter. Published every Friday morning during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 14, 1918.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 March 28, 1930 No. 46

WHERE POLITICS FAILED

The results of the recent elections in several social organizations are startling to say the least. Two explanations are offered for the results in one instance, society rather a fraternity coalition broke up on the various members acted on their own responsibility and chose the girl whom they believed best fitted for the office. Each reason is gratifying. It is pleasant to know that the women students can think for themselves and need not be controlled by the demands of fraternity politics. It is also pleasant to know that one group cannot get the power and keep it too long merely by strength of numbers and precedent.

CAMPUS COMMENT

Mr. X, Mr. Y and Mr. Z have been indulging in wordy tirades against various societies. No Miss A, B, or C has appeared as yet to say the same things about women's activities, nor do we believe that any such comment could be made this year. The reason for our attitude can be set forth simply; every organization is busy in carrying out its exact purpose although of course the degree of activity varies. As examples we cite the Press Club, Bluestockings, Y. W. C. A., W. A. A., Dramatic Club, Mortar Board and Student Union. The Press Club is one of the major factors in spreading news about the University of Vermont; publicity material of various campus figures and things are sent to papers of this and other states. Bluestockings is purely a literary society, rigid requirements for furthering creative work must be fulfilled by each individual—and usually are. The work of the Christian and athletic associations is more evident to the students here. Dramatic Club during the past few years has been concerned mainly with putting on the class plays and providing entertainment at mass meetings, there is room here for enlargement of purpose. Creative work with special reference to the problems of the theatre of today could be stressed more.

An especially noteworthy thing is the amount of cooperation among the various societies.

ADVERTISE

As Shakespeare or somebody said, there are two kinds of people, those who like to have their name in the paper and those who do not. That is rather a sharp division to make of you all but we hope that you will come out of your shell of privacy and willingly help the Cynic reporter when she asks for news. The Cynic now is a much more representative college paper than ever before, debating, under the present editorial policy, receives at this time its due share of publicity. Advertise your society and its help and thus help the paper to maintain its reputation. Need be asserted that this advertising won't hurt you.

ACTIVITIES

The activity bound—a term which should be as much disliked by the true student as much as the word collegiate and all it implies—comes to a university and at once is drawn into numerous activities, either by their glamour and fascination, by the desire to "do things" or for personal fame and popularity. He belongs to many societies but can hardly do justice to any one of them because in truth, his time is taken up in rushing from one meeting to another. He spends a dreadful strain of "must I—this and must do that" all through his college career and graduates with a feeling of relief. He cannot do justice even to himself—he is too busy.

Another student comes to college with a great desire and a firm determination to pursue his own interests, to do what he wants to do in the line of intellectual pursuit. He may not have time for campus fame but he will be known and appreciated by a few his real friends with like interests. When this student graduates, he will have retained his individuality, by saving energy for the important things.

Activities are necessary for a well-balanced college life but only when they form a means to an end and not the end itself.

A CARD OF THANKS

The Women's Staff thanks the various members of the Eds' Staff who pushed their pencils in our behalf. A paraphrase of Bill Nye's letter to the Postmaster General expresses our feelings perfectly—"We trust that you will not feel shy or backward in consulting us at any time relative to matters concerning Cynic affairs. Do not feel reluctant because we may at times appear haughty and indifferent, cold or reserved. Perhaps you do not know the difference between a quadrant and a three-cm quad, but that is a mistake. Our general information is far beyond our years."

AND SO FAREWELL

The "Apropos" columnist rather pessimistically remarks that spring has come. So they say. But we could go into raptures about the coming of vacation! Whatever be the state of your mind or the weather, we take it upon ourselves to order you all to get rid of your coughs, colds, gloominess, worries and to return as carefree and lighthearted as when you left for the happy days. We figure that it's just too bad if you have any make-up examinations.

Ten Timely Topics

Tara Tantara Teeo

[illegible] was interested to learn that the [illegible] in the Arts and Letters field was predicting the second [illegible]

[illegible] very learned article [illegible] that just [illegible] was interested [illegible] and handed up for [illegible] which [illegible] to [illegible] different opinions probably confirmed by a few but by [illegible]

Last Thursday saw an [illegible] of candidates [illegible] and Congress are [illegible] labor. Profit seems to [illegible] learned [illegible] of all women, but [illegible] Sutherland Fisher's stand [illegible] Efforts to [illegible] a woman's place [illegible] of eight o'clock a woman's debate [illegible] and consulting [illegible] candidate a [illegible] If it [illegible] man's organization may be not but the girls supposedly may not [illegible] heads of the [illegible] [illegible] an evening [illegible]

A Forbes Brockway British laborite [illegible] visited [illegible] writes in The World Tomorrow for March 1930:

> I was astonished by the wide-spread conviction at universities, in the Christian ministry and among the cultured classes that something is radically unfit in modern civilization and its politics. At the universities I found this progressive attitude among both the faculties and the students. Some of these student groups gave me a great kick.

How good is your observation? Close your eyes and give a guess. How many doors are there on the north side of the cage? Then guess again. How many pillars on the chapel?

It seems to us that on the whole those who are in active and earnest opposition to compulsory military training are those who have given heed to the facts and the merits of the case rather carefully while those who take the other view are resting mainly upon the force of tradition with a minimum of information upon the subject. To point a single example, they do not realize that the opinion has been given that the Morrill Act does not require land-grant colleges to make military training compulsory, and that under this interpretation the University of Wisconsin offers the course as an elective.

At one of the women's dormitories a girl remarked, in effect: "I haven't been paying much attention to these outside affairs, like the International Institute, but the Cynic seems to pick out the worthwhile ones to write up, so I guess I'll read the Cynic a little more closely from now on. What they say is going to be worthwhile, generally is." That is a reputation which any paper would be proud to keep. Incidentally it goes to point out the part that a student newspaper plays in moulding student opinion.

In view of the fact that the Cynic supports three feature editors, we might suggest that they run a few features!

Since several people have suggested that this column is playing for faculty favor by its friendly criticism of outstanding faculty members, that feature will be discontinued in the future. We would like to know, however, the distinction between constructive criticism and "course crabbing," as it exists in the student mind. Certainly, an outstanding member of the faculty, whose relations with the students are worthwhile, is far more deserving of a passing comment than ten student failures.

This doesn't mean that we do not consider this a student paper, for it has been our endeavor to make that point clear; neither does it preclude the possibility of a student organ appreciating the attitude of the faculty. Active and voluntary cooperation between students and faculty is the ideal in all their relations.

Every once in so often we remake the discovery that tobacco cannot be bought in the college buildings. Sandwiches, soft drinks, ice cream, candy—everything but smokes. Since not even faculty members hesitate to smoke in the halls, this attitude seems puerile to say the least.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

Many remarks have been made concerning the privileges (if they may be called such) at the University of Vermont and one will probably wonder just what is meant by privileges. Of course, students not under warning are supposed to take part in extra curricular activities. But how about the cut system? How about Sunday night social events?

If colleges like Bryn Mawr, Smith, and Middlebury have established a cut system, why can't Vermont? Why must Vermont be backward just to keep up time-honored conservative traditions? Why can't U. V. M. progress not only in its scholarship but also in its social and scholastic customs? Scholarship is an important factor but there are also other important considerations.

When an individual is old enough to come to college she is old enough to take care of herself. Must she always be treated as a youngster?

Why can't a cut system be established here? If this were done students would feel as if they were entirely on their own responsibility. They would not be so apt to cut classes as they are now. If the authorities do not see fit to grant this privilege to everyone why don't they grant this as a reward to those with high scholastic standing? This would inspire the others and their standing would be improved. Thus the standards of the school would improve.

In regard to Sunday night social hours, why must they be different from any other social night? Why not have the same hours? Then, too, if a co-ed is allowed to remain out until eleven o'clock why shouldn't she be allowed to have callers until that hour?

The social rules are unfair, not logical and certainly not enforced. Why can't conditions be adjusted?

—Co-ed.

To the Editor of the Cynic:

May I express to the critic of "With the Theater" column in the Cynic of Tuesday, March 11, my sincere appreciation and profound gratitude for an honest and frank opinion of the current movie week.

If there were not so many meaningless laws in the land already existent, I would suggest a statute, making it a criminal offense for movie magnates to litter the landscape et al. with glaring misleading and dishonest advance notices of "pretensions" which generally are nothing but a lot of hokum, flap-doodle and loud bally-hoo; only the moron swallows it!

Doesn't it seem a shame and unfair to star an otherwise clever and successful actor or actress in a trite and shop-worn vehicle merely counting on the scintillation of the star, who had previously made good in worthwhile plays.

I, for one, am not satisfied to sit through a tiresome, tedious and "draggy" movie because of the past reputation of a featured player.

I believe, if that portion of the movie-going public (whose average mental intelligence is above that of a ten-year-old child) were to voice, in some conspicuous fashion, its resentment against some of the insults which Hollywood Moron Directors are heaping upon it, there might at least be less fake baiting in the way of advance notices.

—B. F. Ladd.

THE FORUM

At Penn State the [illegible] proposed "unlimited [illegible] stricted group of [illegible] shown by their schol[illegible] that they are a respo[illegible] student."

In the plan advocated [illegible] cil's committee no [illegible] per quarter of the [illegible] school would be permi[illegible] cutting right.

Changes in faculty [illegible] necessitated by the new [illegible] be determined [illegible] since the conditions [illegible] and course are different. [illegible] group also recommends [illegible] lege shall include all [illegible] by regularly enrolled [illegible]

Unlimited cuts were [illegible] committee as a wider [illegible] lege granted to all [illegible] ing a specified schol[illegible] The right, however, [illegible] students who cut to [illegible] tional work on the [illegible] group averred.

The committee's statement [illegible] that seniors receiving [illegible] shall be the judge as to [illegible] cuts they should take. It [illegible] be up to them to determine [illegible] courses are of least value [illegible] be cut.

When is a president not a president? The answer is no mystery to [illegible] who has observed some [illegible] presidents who at the same time [illegible] fill football managerships, [illegible] editorships or other minor [illegible] positions.

To resign under such circumstances requires a high grade of [illegible] I have been glad to observe [illegible] southern college this year when the Association president [illegible] net to elect his successor [illegible] was too occupied to give the [illegible] leadership demanded by the [illegible] ant position in the Association Intercollegian.

Penn State authorities refuse to exempt from compulsory military training the two sons of the Methodist Church, a number of pastors of that denomination in Philadelphia retaliated with a resolution calling for the abolition of compulsory R. O. T. C.

Intercollegiate News

"Holiday," one of the latest plays of Philip Barry, is to be presented by the Colorado State Teachers College as their senior class play. This is to be the University Junior Week Play.

In an effort to encourage wild life on the campus, St. Lawrence University has considered introducing a covey of Hungarian pheasants. These will live in the acres of woodland and fields belonging to the University and adjoining the campus.

"Women students of Antioch College (Ohio) have decided to ask social equality with men by asking men for dates and paying the bills themselves."

The kitchen authorities at Mt. Holyoke state that the girls consume over a ton of meat weekly, and approximately 600,000 eggs a year.

A Bethlehem physician is waxing vehemently against the Lehigh University student body. It seems that a fraternity initiate stole the doctor's shingle, and as a result the physician has threatened some students with arrest if the sign is not returned. He might do some fierce amputating.

DOCTOR KENT TAUGHT CO-EDS FIRST AID TO INJURED LAST MONDAY

Doctor Kent, in his lecture [illegible] to the freshmen Monday afternoon continued with his exposition [illegible] rules.

Either a strain or a [illegible] must have complete rest [illegible] that this rest may be [illegible] the injured limb should [illegible]

Doctor Kent illustrated [illegible] with a first aid kit and [illegible] of an arm and a leg. A [illegible] tearing of a few muscle [illegible] themselves, while a [illegible] ing of the muscle from [illegible] ture, continued the [illegible] should be bandaged [illegible] and an anchor hold [illegible] bandage on a wrist [illegible] form the figure eight [illegible] a pad to stop a hemor[illegible] ing, with a tight [illegible] wound. In treating a [illegible] or collar bone, the arm [illegible] in a sling.

Anyone by following [illegible] gestions can give temporary [illegible] an injured person [illegible] should be called for treatment [illegible] to insure speedy recovery.

Apropos

[illegible] a psychologist, it is emphatic, [illegible] appropriate and [illegible] slang is collegiate [illegible] the educated [illegible] have at his com[illegible] is slang, con[illegible] the result of a desire [illegible] the sign of a [illegible]

[illegible] such as an article in [illegible] reports, one hundred [illegible] University of Idaho [illegible] of their activities [illegible] averaged over eight [illegible] Women students [illegible] minutes a day "just [illegible] the men spent only [illegible]

[illegible] activities, such as dressing [illegible] ation, took up an hour [illegible] the average man's time. The [illegible] spent one and three-fourths [illegible] The eds, however, [illegible] almost three hours a day on [illegible] thirty-five minutes more [illegible] the women. The average stu[illegible] is more than an eight-hour [illegible] and classes for the usual [illegible] week. Our only com[illegible] is that a comparison of Vermont [illegible] activities would be inter[illegible]

A certain paragrapher has it that [illegible] seven stages of women are (1) [illegible] child, (3) little girl, (4) [illegible] woman, (5) young woman, [illegible] young woman, (7) young woman.

[illegible] has been said at Vermont (by [illegible] of the younger generation, of [illegible] not an fool one of your [illegible] of the time and you can [illegible] some of your parents some of the [illegible] but you can't fool both of your [illegible] all of the time.

Colleges are filled with misfits who [illegible] the gentlemen back. Economic [illegible] has poured a horde of bar[illegible] into the colleges. Many stu[illegible] would rather make the grade in [illegible] than in studies. A Har[illegible] professor dare not say a king [illegible] frowned or tear his students will [illegible] he means the king has been [illegible] Plus the winning arguments of [illegible] College debating team on [illegible] that our American [illegible] education is a failure. The [illegible] sound like the points used [illegible] who point to the English [illegible] system as a model.

[illegible] ever browsed around [illegible] Library." Take an afternoon [illegible] pour over the books and [illegible] and you will find that the [illegible] will be well spent.

[illegible] best remedy for insomnia is [illegible] the Lord Chancellor's song [illegible] act of Gilbert and Sul[illegible]

[illegible] tournament debates: [illegible] and tried things get cooked [illegible]

[illegible] proved a man is a gentleman [illegible] his ancestors were; over here [illegible] a gentleman, until proved [illegible]

[illegible] Oxford private tutors are em[illegible] by the students to guess [illegible] questions are going to be on [illegible] final exams over here the stu[illegible] guess for themselves.

[illegible] of American culture—the [illegible] having the largest sales in [illegible] representative cities were the Hot [illegible] Pepper, and Whizz Bang.

[illegible] a toss to get a broad.

[illegible] and four-tenths farmers in [illegible] use electricity.

[illegible] have tinpanny voices and [illegible] as if their mouths were full of [illegible]

We have intercollegiate athletics to [illegible] our students possess all-round [illegible] and all-around bodies.

[illegible] enable West Point cadets [illegible] under fire.

[illegible] the superiority of the [illegible] mind [illegible] been weighed in the [illegible] and found wanting.

[illegible] will do for the English lan[illegible] what the Comédie Française did [illegible]

[illegible] a recent ball session several pro[illegible] were elected to the U. V. M. [illegible] as follows:

[illegible] of his chuckle.

[illegible] of his accent and choice [illegible]

[illegible] his bark is worse than [illegible]

[illegible] of his reminiscences.

[illegible] he is considerate.

[illegible] he likes breakfast before [illegible] as we do.

[illegible] he keeps on casting [illegible] before swims.

[illegible] he enjoys jokes as much as we do.

[illegible] he is a student at heart.

"For she's a jolly good fellow."

Well, spring has come. So have [illegible] and their examinations, vacation [illegible], rubbers and rain, sports [illegible] sunshine, and so on—ad nauseam. [illegible] following lines by Ted Robin[illegible]

(Continued on page 4)

MABEL L. FREEMAN

Who retired last week from a praiseworthy presidency of Masque and Sandal.

Society Notes

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Delta Delta Delta announces the initiation on Thursday, March 27, of Vivian Hubbard, '32, Middletown Springs; Hazel Daniels of Brattleboro; Beulah Marshall of Springfield and Carolyn Taft of Wallingford, all members of the freshman class.

Following this ceremony Eta Alliance gave fourth degree of initiation to the seniors: Belle Church and Janice Goodrich of Richmond; Iva Harris, Stowe; Dorothy Kimball, Providence, R. I.; Frances Laythe, Derby Line; Margaret Parry, West Pawlet; Laura Rounds, Burlington; and Julia Waterman, Vergennes.

The initiation banquet was held at the Hotel Vermont Roof Garden on Thursday evening, March 27, with Marjorie Tewksbury, '28, as toastmistress.

PI BETA PHI

Mrs. Dallas Pollard entertained the active members and pledges at a tea dance March 26 at her home on Adams Street.

The marriage of Miriam Idleman and Eugene Knapp, both members of the class of 1929, will take place April 3 in New York City. Mr. Knapp is a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Pauline Willis, '31, of Waterbury, has been chosen delegate to the national convention of the sorority which will take place from June 27 to July 3 at Del Monte, Calif.

ALPHA XI DELTA

The initiation ceremony of Alpha Xi Delta was held Wednesday evening, March 26, at the Catholic Daughters' rooms on College Street for the following women: Mildred Akins, '32, Burlington; Ara Armstrong, Belmont; Sylvia Boyd, West Newton; Ruth Conant, Montpelier; Esther Leary, Burlington; and Margaret Wharton, Rutherford, N. J., all members of the freshman class.

The initiation banquet was held the same evening at the Hotel Vermont Roof Garden. Guests present included these alumnæ: Martha O'Neill, '15; Marion Wright Vogler, '18; Blanche Abbot Miller, '19; Marjorie Scott Way, '19; Alida Fairbanks, '21, Marion Way, '21; Louise Morgan, '22; Betsy Kimball Kidder, '23; Marion Kidder Leonard, '24; and Marion Potter, '29. Others were Mrs. E. C. Mower, a patroness, and two representatives from Alpha Pi Chapter at Middlebury.

SIGMA GAMMA

Sigma Gamma held its initiation Saturday afternoon, March 22, for Dorothy Jackman, '33, of East Corinth; Marjorie Scott, '33, of Gouverneur, N. Y.; and Norma Carder, '33, of Newport. The banquet was held at the Hotel Vermont Roof Garden with Miss Consuelo Northrop, '21, presiding as toastmistress. Alumnæ guests included the Misses Frederica Northrop, Bertha and Marian Little, Eloise Ballard, Elizabeth Browne, and the patronesses, Mrs. Doane and Mrs. Bullard.

The co-eds at Grassmount gave a tea Saturday afternoon, March 22, in honor of Mrs. Mary B. Stetson, who has just returned from Honolulu. Mrs. Cora Chapin and Miss Anna Smith poured.

HOME-MADE CANDIES
SODAS

LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

BASE BALL
and
TENNIS

New 1930 Equipment
On Sale Now

L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

Admission of Women to University Inspired Editor of Maul to Poetry

[illegible] "New Departure" as the coeducational system was called when entered the portals of this University in 1913, was greeted with horror by the citizens of Burlington and with positive dismay by the students. The former [illegible] fervently looked forward to the next [illegible] when mentally and physically [illegible] succeed after their brief clash with [illegible] thicknesses, the girls would return to their homes, subjected. The latter sleuthed around campus declaring the downfall of the college because of the advent of the gentler sex.

Three years later, two of these weaklings had attained averages higher than those of any men on the hill, and, after long and lengthy discussions, arguments and prolongated meetings, they were invited to join Phi Beta Kappa, thereby giving the University of Vermont the honor of being the first college in the country to extend that honor to women.

In one of those famous old Mauls which are kept under lock and key in the library is a discussion of the freshman class in 1873. Whether the feeling had already changed so that the men deigned to give their lady classmates a little space in their paper, or whether they were merely resigned to their fate, is somewhat of a question:

"The new departure comes before our gaze but we know not what to say. We have been used to treating the gentler sex as our superiors but when they bring themselves down to man level, so must we regard them."

However, the writer seemed quite unable to cope with them adequately [illegible] satisfied himself with discussing [illegible] by collegiate [illegible] considered vital characteristics, such as how each did her hair. Their attempt to be a success [illegible] work them [illegible] a hair we [illegible] is being progress better than [illegible] question yet [illegible] a hair is put up but we hope our readers will excuse us from discussing the different [illegible] she puts it up.

In 1873 the same paper condescended to give almost a column to said co-ed students. The column was headed "Psalm":

"Through shadows and horrors
In world underground
Through sounds that appall
And through sights that confound
I sought the weird woman.

"We feel considerable delicacy and hesitation in touching upon this subject; but inasmuch as the University has placed the lady students on the same footing as their male associates we cannot consistently pass them over in a sheet of this character without some notice. But shall we treat the girls as we did the boys, publicly exposing the faults and defects, their merits and virtues, or shall we refrain from so doing and content ourselves with a private word?

"To still pursue the path of truth would be to gain the reputation of 'no gentleman.' To speak of other things than their faults would be to deprive ourselves of the greater part of our subject matter. Daedalus told his son 'in media via tu tutissime ibis,' and we follow the same course.

"None have more respect for women in their proper sphere than ourselves, and we beg our lady students to believe us, when we say that we war against them not as ladies but as students. As ladies we are their friends. We take them to all entertainments, hops and concerts; we escort them home from the President's frequent receptions, we despise them equally with ourselves, 'the senseless woman hating crew,' and it is only obedience to the stern requirements of our office that compels us to take up our reluctant pen to speak of them as students."

Despite the disdain the women rapidly gained in numbers. In 1874 the first women's society, Alpha Rho was started as a local fraternity, and was granted a charter by Kappa Alpha Theta in 1882. Then there was Delta Delta Delta in 1893, Pi Beta Phi in 1898, Alpha Xi Delta in 1915, Alpha Chi Omega in 1921, Sigma Gamma in 1920, Kappa Delta in 1926, and K. E. L. in 1927. Literary societies were formed, an athletic association, a woman's Student Union. Akinia, the forerunner of Mortar Board came into being in 1913, and thereto hangs a reason why the men could never, never make war on the women of the college, for how would they get to Mortar Board dances?"

Go "Grade A" tourist third cabin . . . LEVIATHAN

This season, brand new Tourist Third Cabin on the LEVIATHAN, World's Largest Ship . . . the entire second cabin assigned to "Tourist Third" . . . all its beautiful public rooms and staterooms . . . its elegant, open upper deck social hall which gives you a full sweep of the sea . . . its charming cloistered smoking hall . . . its vast open and enclosed decks for play and promenades . . . luxuries and spaciousness exceeding former standards for this class. Second Class, as a class, abolished . . . new Tourist Third Cabin rated "Grade A" and the LEVIATHAN the only liner to offer this peerless rating! Make haste in booking this new, luxurious way on the mightiest five day flyer to Cherbourg and Southampton. Rates low.

Excellent Tourist Third Cabin Accommodations also on United States Cabin Liners . . . for as little as $10.25 a day!

OFFICIAL FLEET OF 103 COLLEGE ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS FOR EUROPEAN TRAVEL

Consult your local steamship agent or

UNITED STATES LINES

WM. A. McISAAC, General Agent, 75 State Street, Boston, Mass.

LEARBURY

Emphatically demonstrates the possibility of carrying out fine clothes ideals in a suit that is moderately priced.

Style colors of Tweed Tone
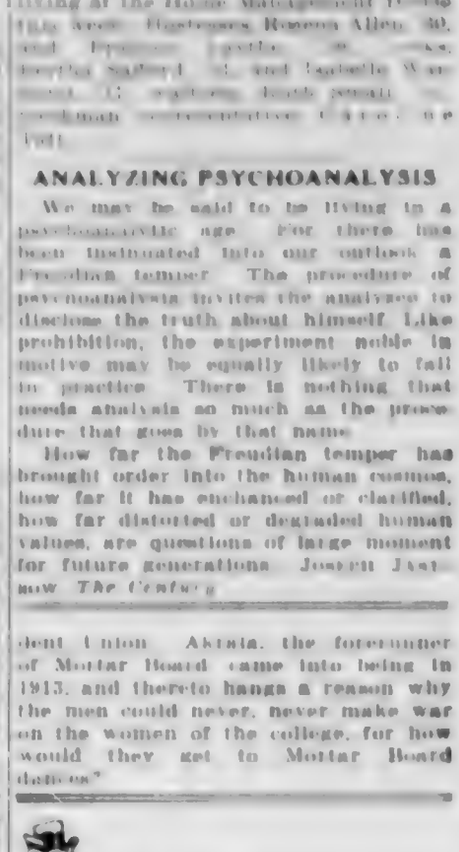
Tan
Grey
of many shades in a pleasing variety of fabrics . . .

PRICED AT

$40.00

with extra trousers or knickers

Turk's, Inc.



SIX WOMEN AT HOME PRACTICE HOUSE N[illegible]

The following students have been living at the Home Management House this week: Hostesses Romona Allen, '30, and Lyndon [illegible], '30, and Isabelle Warren, '31; cooking, Ruth [illegible], '30; freshman representative, Cather[illegible], '32.

ANALYZING PSYCHOANALYSIS

We may be said to be living in a psychoanalytic age. For there has been insinuated into our outlook a Freudian temper. The procedure of psychoanalysis invites the analyzee to disclose the truth about himself. Like prohibition, the experiment noble in motive may be equally likely to fail in practice. There is nothing that needs analysis so much as the procedure that goes by that name.

How far the Freudian temper has brought order into the human cosmos, how far it has enchanced or clarified, how far distorted or degraded human values, are questions of large moment for future generations. Joseph Jastrow, The Century.

ST. JAMES INFIRMARY

BLUE as litmus paper . . . low in the brow . . . hot to the feet . . . "Render" your heart with this folk-song gone cuckoo! At your Victor dealers . . . Now!

All the latest hits . . . on genuine Victor Records. Swing into a clinch with these famous Victor dance arrangements. The greatest orchestras . . . the best talent . . . in every field record for Victor!

Ask your local dealer to play you this list . . . TODAY!

22298 ST. JAMES INFIRMARY and WHEN YOU SMILE . . . Ben Pollack's Orchestra

22299 ST. JAMES INFIRMARY and AFTER YOU'VE GONE . . . Gene Austin

22285 — MY LOVE PARADE and NOBODY'S USING IT NOW — Maurice Chevalier

22291 CONGRATULATIONS — Nat. Shilkret and Victor Orchestra — and FUNNY, DEAR, WHAT LOVE CAN DO — Wayne King and Orchestra

22279 — "TAINT NO SIN — Lounge Music and His Music — and YOU CAN'T UNDERSTAND — High Hatters

1448 RIO RITA and ONLY A ROSE — Richard Crooks

ALL THE MUSIC YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT on—

VICTOR RECORDS

Etc., ad Infinitum

APROPOS

(Continued from page 3)

PHILOSOPHER OF COLLEGIATE FOLLY

Lost

Answer

BANS FROSH RULES

BLUESTOCKINGS ELECT OFFICERS IN MEETING

(Continued from page 1)

Freshman Hygiene Courses Produce Multitude of Skillful, Healthy Co-eds

Freshman Girls Now Clever at First Aid—Now Know How and When to Receive and Get Rid of Guests—Now are More Beautiful

Beauty and Etiquette

LILLIAN MOUNT ELECTED PRESIDENT OF Y. W. C. A.

FRESHMAN HEAVEN

"SO, MY PROUD BEAUTY, YOU WOULD REPULSE ME, EH?" barked DALTON

"I would indeed," said the fairest flower of the countryside. "And how!"

"What is there about me, gal, to bring this disfavor down upon my head?" he demanded.

"Your voice, sir," she answered him haughtily. "The man who wins my heart must smoke OLD GOLDS in kindness to his throat—and to his listeners."

OLD GOLD

FASTEST GROWING CIGARETTE IN HISTORY... NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

On your Radio ... OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR, Paul Whiteman and complete orchestra ... every Tuesday, 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time

CO-ED SPORTING NEWS

Freshmen Win Silver Cup For Indoor Demonstration

Awarded Banner for Marching—Costumes as Pierrot and Pierrette—Basketball Game Won by All-stars Features Variegated Program

JUNIORS AWARDED CUP FOR BEST CLASS TEAM

[illegible] were winners of [illegible] and races at the [illegible], which was held [illegible]m, Saturday night, [illegible] the direction of [illegible]2, a variegated pro- [illegible] of stunts, dancing and [illegible] of regulation gym- [illegible]lished amusement for [illegible]ds and the largo audi-

[illegible]n women were present- [illegible]ver cup for competitive [illegible] banner for marching [illegible] their victory. At the [illegible] juniors received a silver [illegible] annually given to the [illegible] the winning basketball [illegible].

[illegible] and races displayed tho [illegible] of the participants [illegible] amusement for an ap- [illegible]ience. Especially attrac- [illegible] the costumes for the dances.

Russians and Springtime

The sophomores in Russian regalia [illegible] rivals of the freshmen in [illegible] and Pierrette costumes, and [illegible] "Springtime," an in- [illegible] dance presented by an [illegible] dancing class, was particu- [illegible]. Teacher training stu- [illegible] presented the Irish Lilt in a very [illegible] manner.

The races were: The tandem re- [illegible] the derby, and the sedan race. [illegible] was amusing, the partici- [illegible] being handicaped by rubbers, [illegible] gloves and derby hats which [illegible] relayed to each other. In the [illegible] race a great deal of excitement [illegible] aroused, as the girls, making [illegible] of their arms, carried one of [illegible] colleagues to the line who then [illegible] back to be carried again by [illegible] other racers.

The Elephant and the Crab

The stunts required not a little skill [illegible] practice. There was the elephant [illegible] which consists of walking for [illegible] distance with one foot directly [illegible] of the other and the crab walk, [illegible] difficult because it entails doing [illegible] back bend and then walking [illegible] hands and feet. Cartwheels and [illegible]dstands were also successfully [illegible]nstrated.

Regulation gymnasium work was [illegible]nted competitively by both sopho- [illegible]es and freshmen. Posture march- [illegible] tactics marching and basketball [illegible] were demonstrated in turn by [illegible] members of each class. Several forms [illegible] apparatus work were simultaneous- [illegible]y practiced, these consisted of jump- [illegible]s over the buck, stunts on parallel [illegible] and high jumping.

All-stars Victors

A basketball game in which the jun- [illegible]s were defeated for the first time [illegible] the All-star team was one of the [illegible] interesting events of the evening. [illegible] final score was close, 5-3.

The [illegible] included in chronological [illegible]:

1. Posture competition.
2. Marching tactics.
3. Teacher training dances.
4. Competitive basketball throws.
5. Demonstration of apparatus.
6. Dance competition between [illegible]s and freshmen.
7. Games.
8. Demonstration dancing.
9. Basketball game.

A Great Success

[illegible] one of the most successful [illegible] ever held and showed the [illegible] of the physical education [illegible] and the fine interest on [illegible] the students. The judges [illegible] Annis Baldwin, Mrs. Flor- [illegible] and Estabel Perelman, '30 [illegible] who have won their blaz- [illegible] Dailey, '30, and Vera [illegible] also acted as judges.

[illegible]dit is due to the costume [illegible] Ethel Bishop, '33; Laura [illegible] Catherine Fleming, '33; [illegible], '33; and Caroline Taft, [illegible] Miss Annis Baldwin who [illegible] dances for both the [illegible]ball game): Oh, look, [illegible] on every base!

---

[illegible] That's nothing, so [illegible] side.—Texas Ranger.

[illegible] We want a touchdown! [illegible]down!

[illegible] Papa! I want a sack [illegible] Ski-U-Mah.

ESTABEL PERELMAN

Ex-president of the Women's Athletic Association, has been prominent in athletics.

Varsity Hoopsters' Names Announced

Jean Wappler Reads List, as Chosen by Miss Blanchard, at Basketball Banquet Held in Robinson Hall

Robinson Hall, last evening, was the scene of a basketball banquet which formally closed the co-ed basketball season. Speakers from the various classes were Dorothy Gurney, '30, Frances McKean, '31, Janet Miller, '32, Margaret Crane, '33. Miss Patterson, dean of women, addressed the group.

Jean Wappler, '31, as campus manager of basketball, announced the varsity basketball team as follows: Forwards—H. Wright, '31, and M. Akins, '32; guards J. Miller, '32, and J. Wappler, '31; centers—F. McKean and I. Warhurst, '31.

Although the juniors won the tournament, the sophomores are conceded to be the smoothest working team, gaining 62 points in contrast to the former's 35. M. Akins, '32, was tournament high scorer with 42 points to her credit.

The junior-sophomore contest, which resulted in a 12-10 victory for the class of '31, was by far the closest and hardest fought game of the season.

WILBUR GIFT FOR NEW MUSEUM HAS ADDITION

(Continued from page 1)

Notice that the University had complied with Mr. Wilbur's conditions was filed a few days prior to last October 10 by President Bailey, and soon thereafter a hearing was held before the commissioners.

The evidence presented through Mr. Austin as attorney and President Bailey as witness was to prove that the $200,000 had been raised, though a part of it is subject to the payment of an annuity.

It was said that the executors gave no indication that they opposed the payment of the gift, but they have filed no brief with the commissioners yet.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

Remember Others at EASTER
BEAUTIFUL GREETINGS
FRAMED MOTTOES
STATIONERY
LEATHER GOODS
RELIGIOUS ARTICLES
McAULIFFE'S
The Home of Real Gifts
Church and College Sts.—Phone 629

W. A. A. ANNOUNCES ELECTION RESULTS

Isabelle Worhurst, Lillian Mount, Eleanor Koenig, Georgina Hubert, Caroline Taft Receive Chief Offices

OFFICERS PROMINENT IN CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

As a result of women's elections for W. A. A., Isabelle Warhurst, '31 is president; Lillian Mount, '32 is vice-president; Eleanor Koenig, '31 is recording secretary; Georgina Hubert, '31 is treasurer; Caroline Taft, '33 is corresponding secretary; Juliet Marston, '33 is publicity manager. Mildred Akins, '32 is council chairman; Harriet Wright, '31 is editor; Vera Chadburn, '31 is chairman; Eleanor Koenig '31 and Harriet Wright, '31 are senior representatives. Lois Harrington, '32 is junior representative; and Caroline Taft, '33 is freshman representative.

Isabelle Warhurst, '31 is a member of Alpha Xi Delta Fraternity and has held quite a few important offices on campus. She is the corresponding secretary of the Women's Athletic Association; on the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet; on the Football Hop Committee; played basketball 1, 2, 3 and hockey 1, 2, 3. Isabelle also had charge of the Sports Day between Middlebury, St. Lawrence and Vermont.

Lillian Mount, '32, an Alpha Chi, has so many athletic honors that we have long ago given up in despair trying to keep track of them. She was chairman of the indoor meet; volley ball 1, 2; hockey 1, 2; basketball 1, 2; baseball 1, 2; bowling 2; varsity volley ball and varsity baseball team; besides all-star basketball team 1, 2. Lillian doesn't confine al her activities to athletics though as is proven by Student-Faculty Council; Frosh Rules Committee; Football and Sophomore Hop Committees; Press Club 2; and sophomore representative of W. A. A.

Eleanor Koenig, '31 is an Alpha Xi Delta and active on the campus. She is a member of Press Club 1, 2, 3; choir 1, 2, 3; tennis coach 3; manager of tennis 3; hockey 1, 2, 3; basketball 2. Eleanor is on the W. A. A. cabinet and chairman of the health council.

Georgina Hubert, '31 a Kappa Alpha Theta holds many offices on the campus. Her sophomore year she was chairman of the freshman Rules Committee, and was on the volley ball team 1, 2 and manager of Glee Club. A freshman representative of W. A. A. and likewise publicity manager last year as well as secretary of Y. W. C. A. At present she is president of Glee Club; vice-president of W. A. A.; vice-president of Student Union; treasurer of Y. W. C. A.; on the bowling team and rifle team 1, 2, 3.

Caroline Taft, '33 a Delta Delta Delta is on the freshman debating team; secretary of her class; on the freshman hockey team and sub on the freshman basketball team.

Juliet Marston, '33 a Pi Beta Phi is quite active in athletics, being captain and manager of hockey, and on the hockey varsity team; manager of freshman basketball and freshman representative of W. A. A.

Mildred Akins, '32 made the varsity basketball team her freshman year and is on the hockey team 1, 2; volley ball 2; bowling 2; and basketball 2.

Harriett Wright, '33 a Pi Beta Phi is quite active on the campus having to her credit CYNIC (sports editor) 2, 3; Bluestockings 2, 3; Dramatic Club 3; basketball 1, 2, 3; varsity 1; rifle 2, 3; and secretary of her class hor sophomore year.

Vera Chadburn, '31 is very active in athletics having to her credit baseball 1, 2; varsity 2; basketball 1, 2, 3; hockey 2, 3, varsity 3, archery 1, and Press Club 3.

Lois Harrington, '32 is a member of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority.

The Old Reliable

GOTHAM GOLD STRIPE
Beautiful Silk Stockings

NEW
Gotham Gold Stripe Silk Stockings
Sheer chiffons... smartly styled... colors to go with new Fall frocks. New beauty, and the quality you always find in these fine stockings. See our NEW Gotham Gold Stripe Silk Stockings today.
$1.65 to $2.95

Co-ed Notes

Spring outdoor classes will begin April 21. These will consist of archery, tennis baseball horseback riding and golf for those who make special arrangements through Miss Cummings at the Williston Country Club.

Spring Field Day will be held on May 26 or 27. Exact date will be announced later.

Finals in indoor baseball in the physical education classes will be played off April 21 and 22.

Soon after Easter vacation the Indoor Rally will be held when the newly elected W. A. A. officers will take the places of the retiring council. Games, relays, songs will furnish merriment and it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

The Health Council, of which Eleanor Koenig, '31, served as chairman, has been "poster active" this year. Excellent mental and physical hygiene posters have been continually exhibited on the "Y" room and dormitory bulletin boards.

The Council was fortunate in having Marion Baldwin make some outstanding posters.

LAUNDRY DANCE

Delta Delta Delta held a Chinese laundry dance at the Chimney Corner Friday. Laundry on the clothes lines that were hung around the hall furnished the decorations. The programs were laundry lists on towels attached by strings to bars of Lux soap. Thirty-five couples attended. Montana Kaimin.

"So Bluto is the backbone of the baseball team?"

"Yes, and they're trying to get a chiropractor for coach."—Cornell Widow.

"Were you trying to catch that street car?"

"Oh, no, indeed! I was merely frightening it away from this corner."—Texas Ranger.

Shocked Old Lady: And on the way up here we passed about twenty-five people in parked cars.

Young Hostess: Oh, I'm sure you're mistaken. It must have been an oven number.—Goblin.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2075, 2071, 2077

BOYS and GIRLS
CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
is well ventilated and stays open until eight o'clock.
Why Not Give Us a Try
97½ Church St. 1 Flight Up
My Service Is Guaranteed To Please

CO-ED MARKSMEN WIN EIGHTEEN TIMES

Women's Rifle Team is Victorious in 18 out of 19 Matches Scheduled with 18 Colleges and Fort

TEAM DEFEATED U. V. M. MEN BY SCORE OF 962-942

As the season ends the women's rifle team has won 18 scheduled matches. A total of 19 matches were fired, one of which was with the men's team. The girls won by a score of 962-942. The scores are as follows:

University of Nebraska 973-926.
University of Nevada 489-default.
University of South Dakota 981-949.
State College of Washington 492-480.
University of Pennsylvania 496-489.
University of Wichita 980-958.
Massachusetts Agricultural College 493-440.
University of Missouri 496-491.
Cornell University 494-494, won on seventh target.
Drexel Institute 492-48[illegible].
University of Kansas 492-47[illegible].
Indiana University 492-473.
Company A, 17th Infantry, 495-484.
University of Maryland 495-489.
University of Wyoming 494-492.
University of Southern California 496-489.
Carnegie Institute of Technology 498-491.
Louisiana State College 987-980.
DePauw University 495-485.

High Scorers

Dorothy Gurney, '30, was high scorer for the season with an average of 99.6; Elizabeth Robsien held second place with 98.6; Georgina Hubert, L. Walker, '33, and E. Pritchard, '31, tied for second place with 98.3; Evelyn Slayton, '31, was sixth with an average 98. The averages for the remainder of the team were: F. Laythe, '30, 97.3; E. Bishop, '33, 97.5; N. M. Chase, '31, 96.9; E. Clark, '31, 95.5; A. Dodge, '31, 96.6, F. Hazen, '30, 98.9; M. Mower, '32, 89.2; H. Ranslow, '32, 96.58; L. Ross, '31, 95.7; F. Thomas, '31, 95.6; H. Wilde, '32, 96.7; H. Wright, '31, 94.5.

Results of the match with the 13th Infantry of Fort Ethan Allen were not available when the CYNIC went to press. The team shot a shoulder-to-shoulder match with them March 27 at the Fort and remained there as guests for supper.

As a result of elections held Wednesday, Georgina Hubert, '31 is the new captain, and Evelyn Slayton, '31 the new manager.

Fine Line of Hand Wrought Iron
at ISHAM'S
102A CHURCH ST.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

SENIORS
The University Store
is extending the time for reduced rates on
CAPS and GOWNS
from the usual March 30 to Founder's Day, April 26.
Notices concerning rentals and rates will be sent out April 12.

EDS' ALLOWANCE

Vermont on Southern Trip Opens Against Quantico

Thirteen Players Led by Coach Gardner on Annual Invasion—Prizes Offered by Local Merchants—Line-up for Training Games Definitely Settled

TEN GAMES WILL SERVE TO FIT TEAM FOR SEASON

[illegible] Vermont baseball squad [illegible] Coach Howard Gardner leaves [illegible] Wilmant, [illegible] Tasker, Ed Wilmant, [illegible] McKay, Walter Sargent, Capt. Ed Hewitt, Fred Mahoney, Charles Cornell, Max Bennett and Charles Smith [illegible] Captain Mahoney, Allen and Manager Hagar Bemis entrained for the south [illegible] morning at 8:45 a.m. for the annual Vermont invasion. The squad is due to arrive in New York this morning [illegible] and after a period of [illegible] will [illegible] for the Capital City where a workout will precede the [illegible] and give the players a chance to feel the batting eyes. Previous the players will take in a few games at the senate chamber Quantico, the home of the Marines and [illegible] heads should be reached late this afternoon in time for a slight [illegible].

Two Games with Marines

Tomorrow afternoon opens the U. V. M. season, and an enthusiastic party to Quantico [illegible] south [illegible] to [illegible] opponents [illegible] the game with either Steele or Kendall behind the plate. The Vermont lineup will consist of Wilmant stellar slugger on the initial sack, Traynor and Bemis the defensive and hard hitting pair at second and short respectively, and McKay at the finished performer at third to complete the infield with Captain Howard Hewitman and Joe performing in the outfield. Tom Keady has a veteran squad at his beck and call but with the St Albans boys in the lead at [illegible] Marine uprising should be extinguished without any trouble.

Sunday morning all will attend church services followed by a "practice session in the afternoon thus giving all a needed rest. No doubt cribbage will be in order for this game has taken the Vermont performers with Joe Traynor and Ed Wilmant in the lead for the national championship of the East.

Monday the thirty-first brings the two game series to a close with a contest that afternoon. By this time the varsity mentor should have decided as to his regular lineup and no doubt many familiar faces will make their bow on Centennial Field.

On April Fools Day the men of Gardner cleave on combat with Georgetown and many fans hold firm to the belief that the Washingtonians will succumb to the Green and Gold. Georgetown in the opening game defeated Catholic U. by the overwhelming margin of 17 to 2 featured by the extraordinary pitching of Hussey and the brilliant play of Wynne who was the outstanding performer at bat and in the field. His two home runs and the pitching of Hussey enabled the Washington team to defeat their opponents decisively.

At Annapolis Wednesday

On Wednesday a short trip will be taken to Annapolis where on Lawrence Field another battle will take place with the Middies as the opponents. Once natural rifle as defenders Coach Mahoney has a potentially strong infield with Lawrence at third, Ashworth at short, O'Toole at second and Gardner on first. Ryan, [illegible] outfielder, and he has [illegible] a chance on the mound.

With breakfast at 6:00 a.m. on Thursday morning [illegible] will return of Bethel bound baseballs on the [illegible]. While at Annapolis [illegible] the Middies [illegible]. That afternoon a [illegible] will be taken for Washington where [illegible] and there take in the game representing that nation. Little is known concerning the caliber of this team which probably is [illegible] will again [illegible] and should give the varsity [illegible] a chance to test the [illegible] of some of the lesser lights on the batting staff.

On the following morning after breakfast at the Hotel Continental at automobile ride will be taken over to College Park where Coach Howards men are scheduled to greet the nine representing that institution. As in past years the Jesuit aggregation is reported to have a wealth of material in all divisions and should serve as a good warm-up for the Princeton game.

Play Princeton Saturday, April 5

In the next game on Saturday [illegible] warriors. The Tigers [illegible] April 5 the Catamounts meet the [illegible] Kadets have never taken baseball seriously and consequently have been putting out mediocre teams.

Thursday morning, April 10, the team hits the old homestead after what is hoped will be an auspicious invasion for the Catamount nine. Coach Larry Gardner has instilled a spirit of pep and fight in the outfit and if these factors are of importance the state championship may be considered as on the hill now. Courage is strong in the squad and there is confidence that the team will come through with flying colors.

Prizes Offered to Players

As a fitting reward for the efforts of the players several of the firms in town have contributed a group of valuable prizes which may be won by individual members of the team. In the past competition for these honors has been keen and of the highest order. The following is the list consisting of the donor, the requirements and lastly the reward.

Preston's most valuable player, New Balanced Life Time Sheaffer Pen.

Hayes and Carney highest batting average, sport sweater.

L. P. Wilds greatest number of home runs, sport sweater.

Patten, Irwin and White greatest number of triples and Louisville Slugger in the store best fielding baseball glove.

Hero's, greatest number of doubles, billfold.

Miles & Perry, best pitching (won most games), shirt and tie combination.

Tarte, greatest number of stolen bases, Stork Inn.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE TO BE HELD AFTER RECESS

Players Signify Their Intentions of Reporting for Two Weeks of Spring Training

Spring football training, which was [illegible] upon at a meeting last week [illegible] will take place as scheduled from April 14 to 26. Dave Dunn, the new coach and field mentor, will be on hand to direct affairs and will be aided by Assistant Coach George Foley, Captain Bunny Levine and [illegible] Lee Segal.

The main purpose in attempting to hold the training period this spring is to give the candidates a chance to meet the new head coach and become acquainted with his system and plans. It is hoped that all men who are interested in football will report for practice as it gives the less experienced candidates a chance to learn and review the fundamentals.

The following have signified their intentions to Manager Craig to report for spring football: Aronson, Bedell, Berry, Bigelow, Blanchet, Bove, Bradish, Bryan, Cognetta, Cohen, G. Collins, T. Collins, Creaser, Davis, Donaldson, Duffee, Grant, Hall, Heaton, Manning, Marino, Miner, Murad, Park, Pendery, Perelman, Price, Rugg, Ryan, Satterlund, Segal, Sokolov, Talbert, Thompson, Thorne, Tilley, Tobin, Wadsworth, Walker, Wood, Zambon.

[illegible] well fixed as regards offensive strength and Coach Byrd Douglas is bending his efforts to groom a capable pitching staff which has been severely hampered by the loss of veteran hurlers due to graduation. The Orange and Black, on the diamond as well as on the gridiron is capable of springing a surprise and should not be regarded as a pushover.

Added is said to Princeton at 7:53 p.m. when the train pulls out for New York City where several engagements are to be fulfilled with greater New York colleges.

Sunday the team will be allowed to go on its own and no doubt "Pie" Tracey with Frank Pires second in command will lead an expedition into the wilds of Brooklyn, residence of the latter where both have played prominent parts on amateur teams. Both have a large personal following and large crowds should turn out to watch the native sons in action and it is hoped that none will be disappointed. The fresh shortstop should reach his best form in these games as he will be cavorting in friendly territory and with the added incentive of leaving a favorable impression with the critical fans of that metropolis.

Monday afternoon ushers in a tussle with St. Johns. If the baseball nine there is as good as the basketball squad one need not hesitate to name them eastern champs. However, the above is nonexistent and the fighting Catamounts could accomplish nothing better than administer a sound thrashing to their opponents of the day.

Meet Columbia Monday, April 7

Following the St. Johns contest on Monday the next day brings in a rival of an ancient feud with the Blue and White coached by Andy Coakley and representing the colors of Columbia University. Practice sessions during the past week indicate that there will be four veterans in the lineup to face the Green and Gold. These men are Captain "Jimmy" Morrison, "Cap" Havorka, John Bradley and Ed Oliver. Norman Secchiano's first string catcher last season graduates will be succeeded to the berth to be replaced by Havorka who played first base a year ago. The wealth of material that the Morningside mentor has on hand for the infield has resulted in his using Havorka behind the plate. Ralph Hewitt, sophomore backfield star of last season is certain to start the game at centerfield. Sam Schoenfeld, freshman star has reported as a pitcher candidate and may continue on the campus where he starred on the basketball floor. Nothing could please the students more than the submerging of the New York outfit to atone for defeats suffered at the hands of other teams in that district. In all probabilities Cummings will be on the mound for Vermont in this game.

On the ninth of April the squad embarks for West Point where the Cadets [illegible] the southern trip. The

STUDENTS EXPOUND PHILOSOPHY VALUES

Three John Dewey Club Speakers Present Different Relations of Philosophy to Life

DISCUSS THE INDIVIDUAL TOLERANCE AND RELIGION

"It appears that the true value of philosophy lies in its application to living, or the effect that living has upon individuals in attempting to solve the problems of phenomena," declared a student speaker at a meeting of the John Dewey Club last Tuesday night at which the club was addressed by Alice Dean '30, Julius Perelman, '31 and Robert Stewart, '30 each speaker devoting himself to some beneficial phase of philosophy.

Alice Dean the first speaker of the evening discussed very generally the Relation of Philosophy to Life.

Recourse to the dictionary explained Miss Dean tells us that literally philosophy means a love of wisdom. From observation of the layman we might say that in the most ordinary terms philosophy is a view of life. But in a more serious consideration we find, according to Webster that any attempt to present or conceive a systematic view of all things is a philosophy."

Still expanding her definition of philosophy, Miss Dean said that it may be termed the knowledge or study of phenomena as explained by and resolved into causes and reasons, powers and laws, it attempts to determine the universe, its reality, and the meaning of all phenomena and experience.

If we question those about us, we will find that they all have a more or less simple view of life and of its whyfores and wherefores, but that is as far as it goes. It is to those who question what exists around them, what they read about, and who are not ready to accept what others think that philosophy has meaning.

"Should we act according as we think of our own good or as we think of the good of others?" asked Miss Dean, who then elaborated arguments for both sides.

Philosophy and Religion

"Philosophy has another relation with life in the field of religion and it is this realm that is one of the most puzzling," she declared in explaining how philosophy and religion either intermingle or are considered as two widely remote spheres of thought and study.

The absence of philosophy in the individual is explained by his lack of time to stop to cogitate upon the mysteries of the world. His philosophy is a simple, eat, drink, and be merry affair, and what comes after life bothers him not.

America, it was explained, has produced little in philosophy as compared with Europe and the Orient.

In closing, Miss Dean summarized by saying that philosophy contributes to life activity and culture of a people, and that life tends to make one inquire and seek truth and wisdom.

PRES. HOOVER SENT VT. DISARMAMENT OPINION

Showing further that the public opinion of Vermont, and the country in general demands disarmament, the Joint Council on International Relations, of which Mrs. Herbert Y. McMullen is president, recently notified President Hoover of its message to its representatives at the London Naval Conference urging reduction of naval armaments.

The letter to President Hoover, signed by Mrs. McMullen is as follows:

March 17, 1930

His Excellency Herbert Hoover,
President of the United States,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

We have today cabled our representatives at the London Naval Conference as follows:

The Joint Council on International Relations of Vermont comprising nine largest statewide organizations urges drastic reduction of naval armaments.

We wish to express to you the appreciation we feel for the leadership of world opinion which you are exercising in the interest of reduction of naval armament with the hope of tax reduction and to assure you of the sympathetic support of our membership.

Yours truly,
(Signed) LAURA W. MCMULLEN

It is worthwhile to note, with respect to the above the interest and progress that has taken place concerning the question of disarmament at the University of Vermont.

President Bailey, and Professor Mower have signed a nation-wide petition that contains 1,200 prominent names and that urges reduction of armaments.

The Vermont Christian Association has sent a petition to Washington urging America to take the lead in armament reduction. The association has also sponsored many excellent speakers who have all urged disarmament.

The International Relations Club of the University has also petitioned, that America, in case of an impending conflict should join a conference of leading powers to make the Kellogg Pact truly effective.

Perelman on Tolerance

"If philosophy has done nothing else for men than teach me the lesson of toleration, I will consider it a success," affirmed Julius Perelman, '31, the second speaker. He explained the effects which philosophy produced on him, describing all the contradictory ideas which he now possesses. "I have listened to annoying revelations about men whom I had always considered good. I have read that one man lives without faith or God while another man claims that there is only God in the world. It seems that no two persons agree; that for every conception there is a contradictory one. As a result I have been a cynic, atheist, realist, etc.

"But through all this," recited Perelman, "two ideas have been supreme in my mind. One that human nature is a pathetic but most interesting field for adventure, mental and otherwise; that the conflicts that take place in this field are most bewildering. The other is that my study of philosophy has given me the gift of tolerance, the greatest gift that anyone can receive."

Destruction and Synthesis

"Philosophy has the effect of acquainting one with the problems of life," stated Robert Stewart in discussing "The Effect of Philosophy on the Individual."

In the study of philosophy in courses offered by universities two reactions occur to the student. The first of these is the tearing down process of those ideas once formulated as permanent in the minds of the individual. Every student possesses a system of his own which he uses to solve his problems. But when he takes a college course in philosophy, his mind becomes disturbed because of the contradictory formulas presented as real philosophy each one appearing to be the right one in the student's point of view until the succeeding one contradicts him. Sometimes he develops into an atheist or a cynic, perhaps remaining there, unfortunately, in many cases because of non continuance of the course.

The second reaction of the student, the speaker went on to describe, is in combination to the above, the synthetic value of the course. Philosophy has a broadening effect upon the student's mind and by continuing the course it gives one a philosophy which will contain more meaning. The result of the latter is the growth of the student's tolerance toward the other fellow's opinion. Thus this tolerance, not limited by narrow conclusions of thought upon philosophical problems, makes the continuance of the course [illegible] and correction of the set of ideas previously established.

U. V. M FORENSICISTS OUTPOINT URSINUS

Win on Kellogg Pact Question—Lose to Lehigh by Split Decision on Machine Age Topic

TEAM SO FAR HAS WON TWO MEETS, LOST ONE

(Special to the CYNIC) PHILADELPHIA, March 26.— Vermont [illegible] meeting Ursinus upholding [illegible] tive side of question on [illegible] pact, March 25, decidedly [illegible] the Ursinus team. At the [illegible] Ursinus, however, an offi[illegible] was not recorded on the [illegible] Monday's debate with Le[illegible] machine age question, Ver[illegible] a split decision. The [illegible] Lehigh-picked men.

The debate with Ursinus [illegible] ducted on the Oregon plan [illegible] the first speaker is [illegible] minutes to present his [illegible] argument and, when the [illegible] case has been similarly giv[illegible] cross-examined by second [illegible] the opposition. The affirm[illegible] cross-examines, and the third [illegible] if there is one, sums up the [illegible] for each side. There were no [illegible] this debate. The question was [illegible] solved, that the United States should withdraw from the Kellog[illegible] Pact.

Vermont took the negative [illegible] Nelson presenting the comp[illegible] tive case, Lisman cross-exa[illegible] Sears presenting the rebuttal.

In the Lehigh debate, March 21 Vermont upheld the negati[illegible] the question, "Resolved, that [illegible] of the machine age outweigh[illegible] its benefits." The one expert judge debating voted for Vermont. The debate was conducted on the Ameri[illegible] with six formal rebuttals.

"POWER," AN INSTRUCTIVE FILM, SHOWN ENGINEERS

Three-reel Movie on Development of Electrical Power Projected Under Auspices of Local A. I. E. E.

Engineering students and members of the engineering faculty attended the presentation of "Power," a three-reel film shown under the auspices of the University of Vermont Student Branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in [illegible] Science Hall, Tuesday evening, March 25.

The picture was interesting throughout and very informative. The explanations of the workings of the various machines and processes involved were not couched in technical language but were explained in such a way that even those who knew nothing of engineering could easily understand them. The purpose of presenting this picture was to stimulate interest in engineering and perhaps more will be shown in the future.

HUB UNIVERSITY CLUB TO HOLD RECRUIT CONF.

In accordance with the [illegible] tom established by the [illegible] of Education and Vocation[illegible] versity Club of Boston a [illegible] conference will be held [illegible] for the purpose of affor[illegible] and college graduates of [illegible] to meet business men [illegible] taking college graduate[illegible] business. The date for [illegible] conference has been set [illegible] and 4 with morning [illegible] sessions for each day.

Mr. Lary, the secretary [illegible] ranged for fourteen differ[illegible] representing as many [illegible] of industry, in addition [illegible] representatives of still [illegible] nesses to meet college [illegible] sire to enter business [illegible] with them on their own [illegible] lines. The list of businesses represented covers about every activity in which a college man could be interested. Mr. Lary [illegible] desire to have those who [illegible] attend the conference [illegible] advance. The attention of Vermont seniors is especially [illegible] this notice, and the [illegible] open to any senior of the [illegible] out regard to the particular [illegible] or courses that he may have [illegible] as an undergraduate.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, APRIL 15, 1930 | NUMBER 47

Audiences' And Coaches' Decisions Give Vermont Debating Team Record Of Five Wins And Two Ties On Southern Trip

...ach decisions gave ... of five victories, one ...sion in the seven- ...our, which extended ... March 29 and took ...s from Upsala in New ...n as Emory and ... Three times these ...verted those of the ... The Vermont team ...ons in the debates, de... different styles, and pre... orders in the line... Nelson and Sears ap... Vermont in every engage... not participating in the ...ment against George ... Lisman against Emory ... and Sears against Virginia ...

Upsala ... the first meet on the trip, bowed to Vermont by a 2-1 decision of their own judges. At Ursinus and Virginia Union coaches' decisions, based on a point scale, gave the decisions to Vermont. At Catholic and Emory and Henry audience opinion reversed judges' decisions adverse to the Vermont debaters. The vote of an expert judge in Vermont's favor tied the score when three lay judges voted 2-1 for Lehigh in the only tie debate on the trip. The George Washington affair, held as a broadcast feature, was conducted on a no-decision basis. The Virginia Union debate was especially notable in that it marked the first instance in which a white and a colored team have participated in an intercollegiate encounter on the forensic platform. Emory and Henry presented a women's team to oppose Vermont.

"Resolved that the nations of the world should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, except for such forces as are necessary for police protection," proved to be the most popular question on the trip. Four times Vermont debated the negative of this proposition —against Upsala, George Washington, Catholic, and Emory and Henry. At Lehigh, Vermont debated the negative of the resolution, "Resolved, that the evils of the machine age outweigh its benefits." Against Ursinus, Vermont supported the negative of the proposition, "Resolved, that the United States should withdraw from the Kellogg Pact." The question at Virginia Union was "Resolved, that the emergence of woman from the home is a deplorable feature of modern life," Vermont taking the affirmative.

Two-and three-man American plans, which call for a rebuttal from every speaker in turn, were used in almost every debate. At Upsala, the Oxford style, which permitted Vermont no formal rebuttal, was employed. At Ursinus, Vermont participated in the only Oregon cross-examination meet on the trip.

Off-campus debates were by no means rare. Lehigh took the debate to a Community Centre in Allentown, Pa., while George Washington brought it out of the District of Columbia to Mount Vernon, Va. High school auditoriums, college chapels and city halls were popular places for holding the debates.

Throughout the trip Vermont's debates were characterized by extemporaneous argument, rebuttal finding its way constantly into the constructive argument. Humor and strong, serious debate alternated from meet to meet, a few telling points usually securing audience support while eloquence was more effective with judges. In the opinion of the debaters, Ursinus presented the best debate of any opponent during the week, while that with Catholic University was probably the closest. Vermont made her best showing against Upsala, Lehigh, Emory and Henry, and Virginia Union.

FELLOWSHIP IS AWARDED TO GERMAN INSTRUCTOR

Harold Godfrey Carlson, instructor in German at the University, has been awarded a $1500 fellowship, offered annually by the Germanistic Society of America for study in a German University.

The announcement was made last week by the committee on selection of the Institute of International Education of New York.

Mr. Carlson, who came here from Middletown, Conn., was chosen from among 175 applicants from all parts of the country. He will leave July 1, for a year's study at the University of Berlin.

REGISTRAR ISSUES THE PRELIMINARY SCHEDULE OF FINAL EXAMINATION

Students with Conflicts Must Report Them at the Registrar's Office by Tomorrow

The following list is a preliminary schedule of final examinations, dated April 10. The registrar requests that all conflicts be reported to his office no later than tomorrow.

Wednesday a.m., May 28: Alt Curr Eng.; Economics 4; Economics 8, Economics 60; Italian 1; Mech. Drawing Pub. School Music 1 (T. Tr.). Shakespere; Zoology 7.

Wednesday p.m., May 28: Economics 2; Education 4; Greek 0; Greek 1. Greek 2, Greek 106, History of Art. Math. 6 (Adv. Alg.).

Thursday a.m., May 29: Adv. Materials; Economics 12; Elect. Design English 7 (Amer. Lit.); German 10. Home Ec. 5; Junior A. C. Eng.; Latin 106 (Virgil); Mech. Eng. Lab.; Teach of Agr.

Thursday p.m., May 29: Spanish 1. Spanish 2; Spanish 3; Mechanics.

Saturday a.m., May 31: Chemistry 104; Children's Lit. (T. Tr.); Economics 5; Economics 9; Sociology. Vermont History; Zoology 10.

Saturday p.m., May 31: French 12. German 1; German 2; German 4.

Monday a.m., June 2: Psychology 1; Psychology 2 (Applied); Psychology 5 (Abnormal); Psychology 106 (Experimental).

Monday p.m., June 2: Contracts and Spec.; Economics 6; Economics 13. Economics 63; Elect. Commun. French 7; French 108; Indust. Eng. Pol. Sci. 109.

Tuesday a.m., June 3: Math. 1 (Anal. Geom.) (Arts and Ag.); Math 1 (Anal. Geom.) (Eng.); Math. 1 (Math. of Finance) (Art and Ag.). Math. 2 (Calculus) (Arts); Math 2 (Calculus) (Eng.); Math. 103.

Tuesday p.m., June 3: Chemistry 100 (Thermo). Music 1. Music 8a (Solfeggio); Philos. 5 (History); Pol Sci. 1; Pol. Sci. 6; Pol. Sci. 111.

Wednesday a.m., June 4: Economics 1; Economics 114, Farm Management Intro. to Education (T. Tr.); Methods of Teach Home. Ec.; Sanitary Eng.; Zoology 6 (Compar. Anat.).

Wednesday p.m., June 4: Arith Meth. (T. Tr.); History 3; Home Ec. 2; Math. 4 (Project. Geom.); Physics 1.

Thursday a.m., June 5: Chem 9; Geography (T. Tr.); Latin A; Latin B; Latin 1; Latin 2; Latin 14; Latin 16 (Vocab.); Psychology 7; Water Power Eng.

Thursday p.m., June 5: Economics 20; Economics 58; Economics 61. Education 5; Journalism.

Friday a.m., June 6: Botany 2; Botany 3; Botany 7; Education 6. General E. E.; Pol. Sci. 107; Pol. Sci 114.

Friday p.m., June 6: Chemistry 8 Dairy Bact.; Eng. Constr.; English Methods (T. Tr.); History 1 (Ancient); History 8; Music 3; Music 5. Philosophy 3 (Social Ethics); Philosophy 109 (Metaphysics).

Saturday a.m., June 7: French 1. French 3; French 4; French 14. French 113; Greek 107.

Saturday p.m., June 7: Animal Husb. 2; Astronomy; Auto. Eng. Dairy Mfg. 3; Home Ec. 9; Pol. Sci 4; Rural Ed. (T Tr.)

Monday a.m., June 9: Bridge Design; Care of Children; History 7. Power Stations; Thermodynamics.

Monday p.m., June 9: Chemistry 11; Chemistry 15; Chemistry 20; Economics 7, Economics 11, Elem. of E. E.; Philosophy 2 (Ethics); Public Sch Music 2 (T. Tr.).

Tuesday a.m., June 10: Botany 5 (Cytology); Geology 1; Geology 1a

(Continued on page 8)

DRIVE STARTS FOR ACTIVITIES CENTER

Christian Associations to Begin Three-day Campaign for Student Union Building

STRUCTURE WILL CONTAIN NEEDED SWIMMING POOL

Plans are now going forward for raising a fund on this campus for the Student Union Building which will be constructed here as soon as the necessary sum of money has been donated for the purpose. Next week Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday the Men's and the Women's Christian Associations will cooperate in a campaign to increase the funds that have already been contributed and pledged for the building.

$85,000 Has Been Raised

According to a report from the Administration Office $85,000 has already been raised for the building. It is estimated that the new building will cost about $450,000. It is realized that perhaps not over a $1,000 will be raised here next week in the campaign, but even this sum will aid materially in hastening the construction of the Student Union Building on the campus. If every student lends his support to the campaign and donates generously, even more than a $1,000 may be raised. Alumni have pledged $80,000.

Will Reach Every Student

Last Thursday afternoon a joint meeting of the Men's Christian Association and the Women's Christian Association was held in the "Y" rooms in the Old Mill to draw up plans for the financial campaign to be held the first of next week. Various committees were appointed to assist in the work. It is the object of the Christian Associations to reach every student and professor at Vermont, that the campaign may be a success.

To Have Swimming Pool

The new Student Union Building when constructed will be a huge structure of four floors and about the size of the Medical Building. Architectural plans are being drawn up at the present time. In the building, there will be a spacious dance hall and auditorium, a swimming pool, a cafeteria, rooms for student organizations, a bowling alley and pool rooms, a faculty room, a men's lounge, a women's lounge, offices, a store, and several committee rooms.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the Student Union Building in many quarters. That $80,000 has already been raised for the building shows the interest that has been taken by alumni and friends of the University toward the project.

Building Interest on Campus

The University has a building program which looks forward toward the construction of several buildings on the campus. A new museum is to be erected on the campus this year. It is hoped that some day a new Engineering Building will go up. There is now interest in the Student Union Building.

Will Foster College Spirit

Every one on the campus is agreed that there is much need for the proposed Student Union Building. The building will add to the natural beauty of the campus. It will foster a genuine college spirit and assist in promoting good fellowship on the campus by serving as a common activity center. It will have every facility for meeting the social needs of the students and will provide the much needed swimming pool.

Students Must Help

Whether it will be several years before the Student Union Building goes up or whether it is completed soon depends largly upon the cooperation that students, alumni and friends of the University extend toward the project.

Every single student upon the campus is being afforded the chance and privilege to assist in the erection of the new Student Union Building by the campaign that is to be held here next week Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday under the direction of the combined Men's and Women's Christian Association.

THREE MEN NOMINATED FOR TRUSTEE'S OFFICE

Graduates to Ballot For H. A. Way of Burlington, M. S. Stone of Montpelier and H. K. Tenney of Chicago

The names of Harry A. Way of Burlington, Mason S. Stone of Montpelier and Horace K. Tenney of Chicago have been submitted by the Alumni Council of the University of Vermont to graduates of the University, as candidates for the office of trustee, to hold office for four years.

The names, photographs and histories of the three men were sent out to every graduate up to and including the class of 1926 during the past week, ballots which are to be returned voted before June 10. The name of the candidate chosen will be announced at Commencement time.

The three men, all more than 55 years of age, have had unusually successful careers, as shown in the brief records accompanying each name.

The Candidates

Harry Neal Way of Burlington was born in Hardwick, May 18, 1873, and graduated from the University in 1895. He is president of the Porter Music Company, Winooski; director of the following companies: Continental Screw Company, Detroit; Sherman Metal Working Company, Syracuse; Rock of Ages Corporation, Barre; Hinman Granite Company, Burlington; and Central Vermont Railway, St. Albans. He is also a director of the Mary Fletcher Hospital.

Mason Stone of Montpelier, governor of Vermont from 1892 and superintendent of education in 1892 and again in 1905, lives at Waterbury Center. December 14 [illegible]. He was graduated from the University in 1883 and has since received the honorary degree of Master of Arts from the University and of Doctor of Laws from Norwich University. Following his graduation he was principal of Williston Academy, Bristol High School and People's Academy, superintendent of schools in Orleans and Barre, superintendent of schools, Springfield, Mass., and state superintendent of education. He arranged the school system for the Philippines in 1901 and was superintendent of schools in Manila in 1907 he was in war work. Following his term as lieutenant governor in 1921 he has spent much time traveling abroad.

Horace Kent Tenney of Chicago, senior member of the law firm of Tenney, Harding, Sherman and Rogers, was professor of law at the University of Chicago from 1903 to 1911 and president of the Chicago Bar Association and of the Illinois State Bar Association. He was born in Burlington, September 11, 1859, and received the Bachelor of Arts degree

(Continued on page 8)

YEARBOOK TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMENCEMENT

Ariel Editors Rush Work But Still Need Organization Lists and Group Pictures

Editors of the 1931 Ariel are pushing work on the yearbook as rapidly as possible in order to have it ready for issue before commencement. However, due to the fact that the work is two months behind schedule, it is impossible to set an exact date.

During vacation the grind editors made noticeable progress in their sections of the Ariel. The women's grinds have all been turned in to the editors and are in the hands of the printers at present. The men's grinds are not yet entirely completed but should be ready in the course of a few days. All individual photographs and snapshots have been turned in and nearly all of the group pictures. The editors still lack some of the organization lists. It is imperative that these and the late group pictures be placed in the hands of the editors at once.

Twenty-seven Have No Grade Below B

Women Outnumber Men by Two to One on Honor List of Two Lower Classes—Three Men Have No Grade Below A

Twenty-seven members of the two lower classes are on the list posted recently by the Registrar showing those having no grades below A or below B. The women outnumber the men by 18 to 9 while the classes of 1923 has 14 on the list to 13 for the class of 1932. There are three sophomores who have no grades below A; C. K. Bush, Classical, of Sheldon, F. W. Householder, Classical, of Burlington, and H. I. Varney, General Science, of Bristol. Although no freshmen are posted on this list F. B. Drew, Classical, of Randolph was on the Dean's list as having no grades below A.

Students taking the Classical course lead the list with eight while there are six each from the Home Economics, General Science, and Literary Scientific course. A. O. Eaton, of Worcester, Mass. taking Civil Engineering, is the sole representative from the College of Engineering.

In the class of 1932, the men outnumber the women six to four while three of these men have no grades below A. In the freshman class, the men lag far behind with three, while there are eleven of the so-called weaker sex.

The list is as follows: No grades below A, class of 1932, C. K. Bush, Cl. of Sheldon, F. W. Householder, Cl. of

(Continued on page 6)

VETERAN CAST TO ACT JUNIOR WEEK COMEDY

Only Four Who Survived Try-outs are New to Vermont Productions—Cast Includes Freshman

Almost the entire cast of "Holiday," this spring's Junior Week play, is composed of veterans, an analysis of the recent try-outs shows. There are only four newcomers in the local troupe and of these only one is a freshman.

Phillip Perry, '30, will play the rôle of Edward Seton, Beverly Householder, '30, will play the part of Julia Seton, Roberta Powers, '32, will play Linda Seton, and Sam Barker, '32, will portray Ned Seton. Herrick Macomber, '30, will give his version of Johnny Case, Seton Cram will be played by W. C. Perry, '33, and Mabel Freeman, '30, will play Laura Cram. Robert Aiken, '31, will play Nick Potter, and Hope Ranslow, '32, will be Susan Potter; while the parts of Delia, Henery and Charles will be played by Edith Thomas, '31, Allen Eaton, '32, and Paul Westin, '32.

Herrick Macomber, former president of Wig and Buskin, recently played the part of Dearth in "Dear Brutus," and in "Iphigenia in Tauris" he characterized Orister. In addition to these notable successes, he has also appeared in a number of other college plays.

Beverly Householder is also a player of considerable experience, having taken the lead in "Summertime," which was last year's spring play. She was Lady Caroline in "Dear Brutus," and also had a part in "Lady Windermere's Fan." Mabel Freeman, formerly president of Masque and Sandal, played in "Lady Windermere's Fan." Robert Aiken has had considerable dramatic experience, having had parts in "Summertime" and "Dear Brutus." Sam Barker started his dramatic career with "Dear Brutus," while Hope Ranslow and Philip Perry both had parts in "Summertime."

"Holiday" is a comedy of modern life by Arthur Barry and contains much particularly brilliant dialogue.

The play will be presented Thursday evening, May 15, as the opening event of Junior Week by Wig and Buskin and Masque and Sandal, the men's and women's dramatic societies. Prof. John T. Metcalf will coach the production.

WOMEN'S MASS MEETING

There will be a Women's Student Union Mass Meeting tonight. Installation of officers will be held in the Old Mill Chapel at 7.30, followed by dancing and refreshments in the gym.

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] Editor-in-Chief

[illegible] Managing Editor

HELDA N. SMITH, '32
Women's Editor

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '32
Sports Editor

STUART S. CORBIN, '31
Business Manager

News Editors
[illegible] '32 — Alden T. Bassett, '32 — Fred W. Hauserbender, '32

Feature Editors
[illegible] '32 — Edmund A. Cummings, '32 — Robert I. Stewart, '32

Intercollegiate Editor
Clayton W. Cornbrooke, '32

Copy-reading Editor
H. S. Taylor, '32

Dramatic Editor
Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Assistant Editors
[illegible] '32 — C. L. R. Bates, '32 — L. N. Spencer, '31
[illegible] '32 — H. J. Shaw, '32 — J. L. Lamar, '32
[illegible] '32 — J. C. Shaw, '32 — C. S. Wormelle, '33

Associate Sports Editor
Lawrence M. Lamar, '32

Assistant Sports Editors
J. S. Leon, '32 — A. A. Marcus, '32 — F. Tupper, '32

Associate Editors
J. H. Forrest, '32 — S. Davidson, '32 — R. W. Ryan, '33

Women's Associate Editor
Estelle Rose, '31

Harriet Wright, '31
Women's Athletic Editor

Gladys Press, '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Marion Cole, '32 — Rosetta Hartmann, '32 — Margaret Mosher, '32
Helen LaBarron, '32 — Margaret Ann Martin, '32 — Hope Ransbow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
[illegible] '32 — P. F. Tracy, '32 — G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic Office or telephoned to ex. 361 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.

Entered in 1907. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House; all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Pi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1925.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 46 — April 15, 1930 — No. 47

THE PROHIBITION POLLS

We are glad to congratulate on the results of the college polls on prohibition, in which, at the suggestion of a group of Harvard organizations, a not inconsiderable number of college papers have been participating. In our opinion, these polls can be neither effective nor informative, nor sensational in their results.

"If a large majority of the universities of our country organize on one side or the other," argues the editor of the Harvard Crimson, "then the opinion of college men will be effective." On so broad a problem, which has so sharply divided opinion in every section of the nation, the opinion of college men however, can have no important effect. It is too much to expect that the wet or dry views of a few thousand men and women, the greater number still under voting age, will serve as the determinate factor in deciding a question which is still as far from a solution as it ever was. "Phantom opinion" is what one college paper calls the results of these student votes. We deny that is even opinion. The proneness of college students to take a poll on a question such as drinking none too seriously is well known.

The Cincinnati Voter in conducting the poll at the University of Cincinnati, required every voter also to record his opinion on yet a second question, that of compulsory military training in colleges and universities. Such a poll as the latter, we believe, would be both informative and effective. The college students' knowledge of military training, unlike that of the ramifications of the prohibition question, has been derived at first hand, while its issues affect him directly and him alone. Moreover, since the question penetrates far beyond college halls, the college student's opinion on prohibition is by no means that of a student as such. Regardless of what information he may have absorbed in his classes or what training he may have received in college, the student after all, retains most of the prejudices absorbed in his home environment, especially on a question of primary political interest. If he takes the poll at all seriously his vote is likely to be the same as it would have been had he never gone to college. His opinion ceases to be that of the freshman or senior and becomes that of the farmer's son, of the merchant's or the professor's. And so we have not a cross-section of college opinion but that of a small group of boys and girls, prosperous enough to afford a college education, with no more acquaintance with, or vital interest in, issues of national significance, than any other group of citizens of their own age.

Particularly unfortunate in our opinion, are the results of the college polls on student drinking. In almost every college a majority of the student body has declared that it is addicted to the bootlegger's wares. We very much doubt the authenticity of these results. The tendency of college editors to multiply votes both pro and con in order to indicate a greater interest in their polls than is actually shown might well account for the results reported. Nevertheless, the fact that a college poll reveals 70 percent of the men in a university as confirmed drinkers makes excellent headline material, and such results, coupled with the preponderance of wet votes have given the tabloid and the sensational journal enough mud to raise over to maintain for a considerable time the ancient libel that the college student is essentially the "collegian" of the moving picture and the humor magazine.

We hold no brief for prohibition. But common-sense and personal observation should have revealed to the college papers engaged in the prohibition poll the futility and the dangers of their undertaking.

It is unfortunate that in seeking the best the Winnowings should have so overreached itself as to fill its pages almost exclusively with the contributions of writers other than students. No less than four instructors contributed to the last issue and their work covers eleven pages, which is something more than half of the size of the magazine. Aside from the usual columnists, only two students are represented in the issue.

We do not deny the high quality of the work of the contributors in this issue. Neither do we deny the right of the Winnowings to seek work of such high quality. Nevertheless, we believe that a paper which boasts that it is published by "the students of the University of Vermont" should reflect the literary accomplishments of these students.

Elsewhere in the Winnowings the editor complains that "the students who can write are either too tied up with extra-curricular activities or are too lazy to try." To one who, twice a week, reads a hundred pages of manuscript submitted by students working for nothing more substantial than a Cynic editorship, and who has heard some very passable work read at more than one of the semi-monthly Grey Friars meetings, the alibi sounds weak. Perhaps a little more initiative on the part of the editors in ferreting out material might make the Winnowings a true student magazine.

THE FORUM

To the Editor:

It is requested that this letter be given space in your publication.

Plans are being made to profession alize the Federal prison service by obtaining high-grade officers and by establishing a system of preliminary training and promotion on merit. In the belief that undergraduate men may be interested in this type of work the leading colleges and universities in the country are being communicated. Any undergraduate or graduate who wishes to consider the possibility of entering the service is requested to write the Superintendent of Prisons, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

Prison work has long represented a career for college-trained men in high-grade positions. It calls for influential and mental qualities of a high order. It offers opportunity for advancement to positions which are better paid than most college professorships. There are instructional other executive positions to which a man of ability can rise with experience and training.

It is the purpose of our present training program to prepare men for these positions as well as for that of guard. An officers' training school has been established in New York City. All men enter the service as guards and are sent to the school for a four months' course. Here they receive instruction in such subjects as the mental and physical characteristics of the criminal, the causes of crime, the operation of probation and parole, the development of modern penology, etc. They are also instructed in the use of firearms, boxing and Japanese wrestling.

The aim of the course is not only to give officers a broad socialized viewpoint on the theoretical aspects of penology but also to prepare them for the actual problems which they will encounter in prison work. At the conclusion of the training course officers are assigned to one of the Federal penitentiaries at Atlanta, Leavenworth and McNeil Island (near Tacoma, Wash.), the Industrial Reformatory at Chillicothe, Ohio, the Federal Detention Headquarters in New York City, or one of several prison camps in various parts of the country.

A man enters the Federal prison service as a guard with a base pay of $1,620 per year and allowances which bring the total remuneration to $1,860, the equivalent of a beginner's salary in the teaching profession. Within the guards' grade it is possible to reach a salary of $2,100 a year and salaries in administrative positions for which one may qualify after experience range from $2,100 to $7,000.

College men with specialized training for prison work have their place in the progressive penal program laid down by the Attorney General and the Superintendent of Prisons and embodied in bills now before Congress. An urgent appeal is made to the undergraduates and recent graduates of American colleges and universities to consider entering the Federal prison service at this time.

Very truly yours,
SANFORD BATES,
Superintendent of Prisons.

Intercollegiate News

Gridders of the University of Nebraska have adopted the "no captain" plan for their 1930 team, and starting September 1, 1931, all athletic teams of the university will function without captains. The new plan being adopted has broken a long standing tradition of the University. Many other colleges and universities have eliminated the captains from all lines of sports.

THINK OF IT

Within the last decade the government has lost approximately $250,000 through students flunking out of West Point.

Sorority house mothers at Ohio State University believed their girls needed an extra meal a day during examination week to offset any mental strain which might result from studies. Thus a little soirée every evening at 10 for the co-eds.

THE MUSE CONVERSES

"For a number of years now, and up to within a few months, this country has been basking in a sunny period of surpassing prosperity. But its blessings have not been evenly distributed. National income has tripled from 1910 to 1929, and the increase is largely realized by the extremes of our 'social scale' (perhaps 'industrial system' would describe it better), that is, at the wage earners for manual labor at one end, and at the other extreme at the industrial executives, capitalists, bankers, large realty owners, the business type of architects or engineers or chemists, and the lawyers and other professional specialties like medical men serving particularly this end of the social system. The income of most such people at both ends of the industrial-social scale has more than tripled. To them it means little that the index of living costs has risen 50 to 100 percent.

There is, however, a large intermediate class of persons, many of whom are very important sociologically and industrially, because of education, ideals and influence who have not found their income rising any faster than the cost of living, if as fast. These people include the teachers, clergy, artists and musicians, the less organized of the technicians like engineers or architects or chemists, the minor business executives, and the professional men, like doctors and lawyers serving all these. It is the class of the so-called "white-collar" job.

This group deserve an equal share in the general prosperity, and has been taking thought as to how to secure it. Universal success has not been evident as yet, though considerable improvements to some individuals have resulted, partly through their forcing themselves up into the top group, and partly by selling more of their service at higher rates to the other social groups whose income has not notably risen.

The annual crop of college graduates for the most part automatically injects itself into the "white-collar" class, and the most ambitious of this increment together with their advisers like the teachers, ministers, lawyers and doctors, are constantly seeking help in rising out of this income class. Requests frequently come for 'advice on how to succeed,' as most enquirers phrase it, to the writer and his associates, and it is supposed that they are partly caused by our non-derogatory blasts on the advertising tubac.

Now we feel pretty sure also that such requests come to us as employers of supposedly college-educated men. The writer is afraid that they are stimulated also by flaunting the insignia of supposed intellectual respectability (the guiding hand and the stars of aspiration inscribed on a curious key ostensibly for winding up turnips that have not been refueled that way in the past 40 years). These requests call for easy words of pseudo wisdom on what the college youth today can do to insure professional success. We are willing seriously to attempt to answer such queries when opportunity offers, by more or less extended discussions or talks. We always do it, however, with our fingers crossed for too many friends know how far the essentials of a popular "success" are lacking. So we always have grave apprehension that someone may pointedly remark, "Physician, heal thyself!" Fortunately, under the present circumstances, and in these days of one-way broadcasting, there is little embarassment possible from such comment because the heckler communicates his doubts on a picture postcard or writes to the editor who suppresses it in order not to admit his own lapse of judgment in passing the manuscript. Yes, truly it is a lot easier for an older grad to get away with "hooey" than it was for one student in 1903 when he tried to break into debating try-outs. On that occasion, this one invoked the logic of a great American and cried in all the forensic solemnity possible with his five feet and one-half inches height, "Listen to Abraham Lincoln." Then a tall envious matriculant in arts down front in the old chapel rasped out "Haw, Haw!" and everybody gave the little boy a big hand.

S. B. BARKER, '03 in the Vermont Alumni Weekly.

Bits of Bunk

TOO TRUE

Junior: Why hasn't [illegible] much hair?

Mother: Because he [illegible] dear.

Junior: Then why have [illegible] much, mother?

Mother: Go on with [illegible] fast.

At last the secret is [illegible] ways wondered why the [illegible] spent most of their time [illegible] now it turns out that they [illegible] and it takes them longer [illegible] long as they do.

A NEW VERSION

He: Lips that touch [illegible] never touch mine.

She: Your lips?

He: No, my liquor.

First Co-ed: Well, one [illegible] my boy friend, he's here [illegible] tion.

Second Co-ed: Yeh, I [illegible] didn't make the team either.

The sweet young things [illegible] would no more think of discussing the things their mothers talked [illegible] their ages than their mothers would have thought of talking [illegible] things their daughters discuss now. Even break.—State Lion.

Mistress (calling to the maid): Annie, how about breakfast this morning?

Annie (who had overslept): You needn't bother to bring me [illegible] ain't hungry this morning.—State Sun Dial.

First Spectator: Why did the coach take O'Leary out of the game?

Second Drunk: The [illegible] claimed he didn't photograph well.—Clue.

"I wonder where H. L. Mencken learned to write."

"Must have been in the school of hard knocks."

Doorman at Speakeasy: Who's there?

Voice: It is I.

Doorman: No school teachers allowed.—Carolina Buccaneer.

Kissing would spread disease germs is the scientific belief; but germs can't live in sunshine and [illegible] spread by kissing.—Duluth Herald.

"Can you beat it? My sister is only twenty and she had a bald head."

"Gosh, has he got money?"

—M. C. M. Lode.

NOT QUITE READY

Lady: "Do you take children's photos?"

Photographer: "Yes, madam, we make a specialty of children's photos."

Lady: "How much do you charge?"

Photographer: "Only five dollars a dozen."

Lady: "Well, I shall have to see you later. I have only eleven children."

—M. C. M. Lode.

ANOTHER SCOTCH ONE

Mrs. McPherson (just at meal time): "Sandy, we have guests at the door."

Sandy: "Grab a toothpick quick."

—M. C. M. Lode.

"Where did you get those big tender, sympathetic eyes?" she cooed.

"Oh, they came with my [illegible]."

—M. C. M. Lode.

Neighbor (angrily): "Professor, I'm surprised to hear that your chickens have been over the garden wall scratching up my garden."

Prof. (with dignity): "My dear sir, that can hardly be regarded as a phenomenon. If your garden had come over the wall and scratched your hens, I could have understood your astonishment."—Printer's Ink.

TALKED TOO MUCH

My girl on the sofa's effected
At petting she's very [illegible]
But my head's in a whirl
For I've lost my girl.
A word to the guy was [illegible]

—M. C. M. Lode.

THEY DO HURRY—SOMETIMES

"I'm sorry I spoke sharply to that boy; I must have cut [illegible] quick."

"O, that's all right, he [illegible]."

"Has no quick?"

"No; he's a messenger."—Nottingham News.

The Astronomy professor was lecturing.

"I predict the end of [illegible] fifty million years."

"How many?" came a [illegible] voice from the rear.

"Fifty million years."

"Oh," said the voice with a sigh of relief, "I thought [illegible] FIFTEEN million."

RELIEF MAP OF VERMONT WILL BE GIVEN TO NEW MUSEUM BY COMMISSION

[illegible] relief map of Vermont which [illegible] presented to the University [illegible] to be constructed this summer, has been practically completed by the Vermont Commission on Country Life through its committee on geographic bases. This map, which will be finished in the next few months, will show all mountains, rivers, lakes, forests and other natural features of the state. The work has been under the direction of Prof. H. F. Perkins of the [illegible] Department and E. C. [illegible], professor of geology and mineralogy.

This is but one phase of the work of the Vermont Commission on Country Life which also has charge of the Rural Vermont Survey. This survey completed its operations in the summer of 1931 when a state-wide conference of all those interested will be held. By that time, will have completed its work and have filed its reports and findings and likewise will have presented a statement of recommendations. These reports and statements will be compiled for the publication as a report of the Commission.

The Rural Vermont Survey is now in the second year of its existence and has been very successful. Among those interested in the work are Pres. W. [illegible] Prof. H. F. Perkins, Prof. H. [illegible] Taylor, research professor of Agricultural Economics, and Pres. [illegible] of Middlebury College.

Another important development in this survey is an extensive campaign which is being planned with the object of benefitting the owners of summer homes and more especially the owners of tourist homes. This campaign is under the supervision of the Vermont Tourist Homes of the Country Commission. Recently a representative of the Commission broadcasted a message to the owners of tourist homes in which were emphasized the methods of improved type of service to the public, service to the state and above all else, of consideration to the state.

Definite plans have also been made by the Library Committee on Adult Education to maintain a traveling library advisor. This man or woman would be qualified to help out librarians with their problems. It has been suggested further that the traveling advisor be equipped with a sort of book wagon, similar to those employed in the southern states. He would be more or less closely connected with the Vermont State Department of Education.

THREE MEN NOMINATED FOR TRUSTEE'S OFFICE

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] University in 1880, and his [illegible] of laws degree from the University of Wisconsin the following year. The honorary degree Doctor of Laws was conferred on him by the University of Vermont and State College. He has been practicing law in Chicago since 1881 and is a member of the Chicago Art Institute, Historical Society, Union League, University, Law, Wayfarer's, Chicago and Huron Mountain Clubs.

New Ballot Forms

[illegible] of ballots were sent out [illegible] numbers, with the name of the candidate at the top of one of the [illegible] The Alumni Council three years discovered that over a period of ten years the candidate whose name appeared first on the ballot was elected. An equal number of ballots with each candidate appearing on one or another was printed to insure an equitable vote.

Any [illegible] failed to graduate, or who graduated less than three years before are eligible to vote.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed ..... $ .50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up

Have you chosen your life work?
[illegible] with service The Harvard Dental School, the oldest [illegible] connected with any [illegible] United States, offers [illegible] in all [illegible] A [illegible] equipment [illegible] a work under [illegible] the profession [illegible] and admission requirements [illegible] Percy M. Miner, Dean
THE HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Dept. 91 Longwood Ave.
Boston, Mass.

DEAN HILLS BROADCASTS FARM TALK FROM WGY

"The Position of Northern Vermont Among Dairy Farming Regions" was the subject of an address by Dr. J. L. Hills, dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the Experiment Station, who spoke from Station WGY, in Schenectady, last Thursday night.

Dean Hills discussed methods of improving production of milk and spoke of the competition of adjacent areas for markets. He held that Vermont will probably be able to meet the threatened western competition as long as any of the eastern areas.

"Large farms and herds, cheap roughage, low feed and labor costs, low total gross costs and large total incomes are in her favor," declared the speaker, "but on the other hand, concentrates are costly and milk yields, selling prices and net returns are low."

WOMEN RESUME FIRST FORENSIC ACTIVITIES

Debating activities, which were climaxed with the recent Southern trip, will be resumed when the women's team takes the platform against the women's team from Syracuse University, sometime within the next two weeks.

The question is as yet undecided.

The Men's, likewise, will resume their activities when they debate Bates College in Burlington within the month.

The question will be, "Resolved, that the emergence of Woman from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life." Another debate already scheduled will be held against New Hampshire State Normal School at Plymouth, N. H. The question will be, "Resolved, that the world should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, except for such forces as are necessary for police protection."

Arrangements for the state series between Vermont, Norwich, St. Michael's and Middlebury are now being made. Chief among these debates will be the one with Middlebury at which the Lawrence debating prizes are awarded. Last year Vermont took two of these prizes when Lisman and Sears came through in fine style. The state series always arouses a great deal of interest annually and this year has great promise for Vermont which boasts an experienced team ranking as one of the best in the country.

The Junior Varsity will participate in its next engagement at Essex Center on April 23 when four young men will debate some question of current interest. Several other Junior Varsity scrimmages are expected to follow.

REGISTRAR ISSUES PRELIMINARY SCHEDULE

(Continued from page 1)

Geology 2; Geology 3; Home Ec. 8; Reading Methods (T. Tr.); Soils.

Tuesday p.m., June 10: Home Ec. 333 (T. Tr.); Zoology 1 (Pre-Med.); Zoology 2; Zoology 3; Zoology 3 (Agr.).

Wednesday a.m., June 11: Chemistry 1; Hygiene (T. Tr.); Stock Feeding.

Wednesday p.m., June 11: Dairy Mfg. 1; History (T. Tr.); Home Ec. 12; Junior E. E. Lab.; Physiology (Agr.); Solfeggio (Music 8b).

A stag should be called nobody's fool.—Penn. State Froth.

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
• • •
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

SPRING TOPCOATS
Raglans as well as set in models in Regulars, Longs and Shorts
$18.00 to $50.00
HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

SIROIS NAMES SENIOR WEEK COMMITTEEMEN

Senior Week Chairman Publishes Complete List—R. G. Hawley is Financial Manager

A. G. Sirois, Senior Week chairman, has released the list of appointments to Senior Week committees. They are:

Financial manager: R. G. Hawley.

Class Day: J. C. Puffer, chairman, R. P. Billings, F. J. Reed, Joyce Richardson, Estabel Perelman, Phoebe Flint.

Class Walk: C. W. Capron, chairman, R. A. Lawrence, Dorothy Colton, Ruth Doherty.

Invitations: D. J. Vignone, chairman, R. C. Arnold, J. R. Carrigan, Doris Y. Dupraz, Christine L. Shaw, Julia Wa[illegible]n.

Senior Prom: C. H. Mace, chairman, W. C. Parr, E. H. Powell, Florence McKenzie, Irene Marcotte, Nat[illegible] Goodrich.

Cane: A. O. Martinetti, chairman.

R. G. Hawley

A. Gloria, Julia Wright, Ruth Leonard.

Senior boat ride: J. H. Sugden, chairman, W. J. Slavin, C. N. DeRose, Mabel Freeman, Ira Harris.

Pipe: A. D. Stearns, chairman, N. B. Gray.

Gowning statues: H. K. Borkland, chairman, L. W. Meehan, Beverly Householder, Natalie Owsley.

Banner: Anne Edmunds, chairman, Anne McLaughlin, T. J. Halligan, P. M. Perry.

Questionnaire: L. O. Clayton, chairman, J. A. Eliot, M. E. Powell, Janice Goodrich, Elizabeth Robelen, Dorothy Gurney.

ZETA CHI FRATERNITY PLEDGES THREE MORE

Zeta Chi announces pledging of Clarence Oliver Fleury, '33, Burlington; Elbert Willis Logan, '33, Greensboro; and Paul William O'Connor, '33, Middle Granville, N. Y.

The society has also elected two honorary members from the University faculty: Carl Lucarini, instructor in chemistry, and Geno Blaise Lucarini, Assistant Professor of Mechanical Engineering.

SPRING
SPORT
CLOTHES
Knicker
SUITS
$35 to $50
KNICKERS
GOLF HOSE
POLO SHIRTS
FLANNEL TROUSERS
SPORT SWEATERS
MILES & PERRY CO.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1898

MILITARY COMPANIES RATED COMPARATIVELY

With the close of the fourth weekly inspection of the R. O. T. C. Battalion, Company D reveals the highest efficiency rating of the four companies. The rating was awarded on the basis of four points.

Inspecting officers consider, first, the personal appearance of the individual, which includes shave, haircut, military courtesy, steadiness in ranks, and efficiency in drill; second, the condition of the rifle and uniform; third, the condition and adjustment of the belt, and fourth, the condition, polish and color of the shoes.

At the beginning of the period each company is credited with 100 percent. Each discrepancy on the part of an individual reduces the standing of his company by one-half of one percent. An unexcused absence counts off 1 per cent. At the end of the inspection period, which extends from February 28 to May 15, the winning company will be awarded suitable recognition. At present the standing is as follows as to average percentage for the four inspections already held: Company D, commanded by Frank E. Beckley and Philip M. Perry, 78 percent. Company A, Edward H. Powell and Charles W. Capron, 77.8 percent. Company C, Nelson B. Gray and William J. Slavin, 75.6 percent; and Company B, Edward H. Ball and Peter J. Scutaro, 75.5 percent.

Interest in the military department now centers on the fraternity squads which are preparing for the competitive drill to be held during federal inspection next month. Most of the fraternities on the hill are expected to participate.

Rifles may be secured at any time and will be kept at the respective fraternity houses until after federal inspection.

ODDS AND ENDS

AND VICE VERSA?

Lady—It must be great fun to be twins.

Bob (one of them)—Nope. It ain't. Whenever Bob does something wrong, mother always picks me for the licking.—Boston Transcript.

F & QUIZ

"Were the questions hard?"

"No, they were easy. The answers bothered me."

M. C. M. Lode.

AND THAT'S PROOF

Customer—Are these eggs really fresh?

Grocer—Madam, if you'll step over to the 'phone and call up my poultry farm you will be able to hear the cackle of the hens that laid those very eggs.—Exchange

DISTURBING THE PEACE

Foreman: "What's the big idea of quitting?"

Riveter: "Oh, I don't mind hammering rivets all day long, but the man who works with me hums incessantly."

R. R. Magazine.

SPRING
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES
NOW HERE
PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

RUSSIAN EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM TO BE TOPIC OF I. R. CLUB MEETING

"Education in Soviet Russia" will be the topic of an address by Robert L. Stewart, president of the International Relations Club, next Thursday afternoon at 4:00 p.m. in 2 North College before a meeting of the organization.

This will be the fourth of a series of talks on educational problems and activities in foreign countries. Prof.

R. L. Stewart

A. B. Myrick, head of the romance languages department, in the first of this series told of "Some Personal Reminiscences of University Life in Europe." Prof. F. D. Carpenter, head of the German department, continued the series with "Student Life in Germany." This was followed by a talk by Rev. H. C. Bennett of Williston, formerly a missionary in China, who spoke on "Personal Recollections of the Chinese School System."

The creation of a better understanding between the students of the various countries of the world by the study of their problems, thoughts, activities and educational systems is the purpose of this series of International Club topics.

"Doesn't the sound of the water thrill you?"

"Well, I come from Long Island, and there we just live on the sound."—State Lion

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

School of Nursing of Yale University
A Profession for the College Woman
Interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.
The twenty-eight months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method, leads to the degree of BACHELOR OF NURSING.
Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.
The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.
For catalog and information address
The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN : CONNECTICUT

The Medical Book Store
has the following offer to make to the members of the Senior Class of the Academic College:
A Cap and Gown can be rented from now until after Commencement for $3—if taken before Founder's Day.
FOR CAPS AND GOWNS
taken after Founder's Day the rate will be $3.50. A refund of 50c will be made to each student returning the Cap and Gown rented, on Monday the last day of Commencement. We cannot guarantee rentals after June 1.
Please call early for your Caps and Gowns and not only get the reduced rate, but be sure of the best fitting without the delay of a last-minute special order to insure it.

University Colonel Claims Benefits Are Derived From Military Course

HERRICK MACOMBER

MABEL FREEMAN

PHILLIP PERRY

Junior Week Players Who Will Participate in the Junior Week Play

Gold Key President Links Late Frosh Rules With Venerable Traditions

Freshman rules has entered before Gold Key was founded on the most venerable traditions of the University and it seems really to be the last straw that should abolish these antiquated rules.

Gold Key has suddenly awoken to a sense of its responsibilities in enforcing the rules after the Easter recess, and as the end seems still exceptionally fruitless, change.

Well said some members of a recent meeting. "The rules suits our purpose because there is the feeling that they are at present quite useless for freshmen should be now feel themselves to be members of the college and if this is so then Gold Key ought to see the rules have served their purpose entirely. Then again the question was answered in the subject. The campus opinion is apparently against a continuation of the rules and it was for these reasons mainly that Gold Key recommended at the recent joint meeting between Beaker and Gold Key that all freshman subjection be dropped.

The reporter was still not content, and he questioned further.

"What," he asked, "is Gold Key's attitude toward the freshmen in regard to rule enforcement?"

Barker didn't hesitate a minute.

"Gold Key," he explained, "is not trying to make the fellows appear funny by wearing the green and gold caps; it is not enforcing rules merely to tell fellows where to get off. Rather is Gold Key attempting to uphold and pass on the splendid traditions of Vermont."

"Does Gold Key consider that it is establishing a precedent in declaring rules off after Easter?"

"That," said Barker, "more or less depends on what is decided at the informal banquet which comes later, but personally I think that the rules should be carried on until at least after Kake Walk."

Now he became thoughtful and silent expressed no doubt in contemplation of the rules he had helped enforce of the traditions he had helped engrave upon the hearts of the fresh-

(Continued on page 5)

Dean Hills, accompanied by [illegible] Bradlee, director of the [illegible] extension service, attended a [illegible] ence in Williamstown [illegible] malee Prentice at Mount H[illegible] to show advancement made [illegible] genetic knowledge. All [illegible] experiment stations, extension [illegible] directors and county agent [illegible] New England were invited [illegible] the conference.

Technique First—

then up and at 'em!

SMOKING a pipe is like flying an airplane—you really ought to know how, if you're hoping to enjoy it much.

Pipe technique can be picked up through experience, or it can be learned outright. Master it now, to relish your pipes!

Rule One for Pipe-smoking is "Find your tobacco."

Rule One stops some beginners. They look here. They search there. They hunt . . . we must discard false modesty! Rule One means Edgeworth!

Rule Two is . . but would you learn all the secrets of pipe technique? Then let us send you our Rules for Pipe-smoking—and a free for-nothing trial packet of genuine old Edgeworth, the tobacco made for pipes. Think of it—rules and Edgeworth, the how and the what of pipe-smoking, all for your 2¢ stamp and that coupon there below.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

EDGEWORTH

SMOKING TOBACCO

LARUS & BRO. CO.
100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll try it in a good pipe

Name _____

Street _____

Town and State _____

Now let the Edgeworth come! V

SPUTTERING—stuttering madness—wild and swift—a conception that says it with mustard... Red hot Harlem that tickles your toes!

Reisman, Vallée, Olsen, et al—you get the cream of the dance orchestras, the great artists in every field—on Victor Records.

Victor's famous arrangements always set the pace! Hear them at your local Victor dealer's... TODAY!

22306—PUTTING ON THE RITZ—Reisman Orchestra—and SINGING A VAGABOND SONG—Smith and Victor Orchestra
22302—CRYIN' FOR THE CAROLINES—Ted Lewis
BLUE EYES—Johnny Marvin
22294—YOU'VE GOT THAT THING—Cab Calloway
PARIS STAYS THE SAME—Maurice Chevalier
22308—STRIKE UP THE BAND and SOMEONE—Victor Arden-Phil Ohman Orchestra
22301—HANGIN' ON THE GARDEN GATE—Ted Lewis and His Orchestra—and SONG OF THE ISLANDS—Roger King and Orchestra
22304—WE LOVE U S—Coon Sanders Orchestra—and TALK OF THE TOWN—Ted Weems and Orchestra

ALL THE MUSIC YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT on—

VICTOR RECORDS

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York

CO EDUCATIONAL

CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE

TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION

Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar

Worth of material,

beauty of design, prices insuring value combine to make this store the one source of a happy choice in "Gifts That Last".

F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church Street

French Rings, set with French quality diamonds, $50 up

Orange, Mass.

Go "Grade A" tourist third cabin . . . LEVIATHAN

This season, brand new Tourist Third Cabin on the LEVIATHAN, World's Largest Ship... the entire second cabin assigned to "Tourist Third"... all its beautiful public rooms and staterooms... its elegant, open upper deck social hall which gives you a full sweep of the sea... its charming cloistered smoking hall... its vast open and enclosed decks for play and promenades... luxuries and spaciousness exceeding former standards for this class. Second Class, as a class, abolished . . . new Tourist Third Cabin rated "Grade A" and the LEVIATHAN the only liner to offer this peerless rating! Make haste in booking this new, luxurious way on the mightiest five day flyer to Cherbourg and Southampton. Rates low.

Excellent Tourist Third Cabin Accommodations also on United States Cabin Liners . . . fast as little as $116.25 a day.

OFFICIAL FLEET OF 103 COLLEGE ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS FOR EUROPEAN TRAVEL

Consult your local steamship agent or

UNITED STATES LINES

WM. A. McISAAC, General Agent, 75 State Street, Boston, Mass.

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

BASKETBALL MEN HOLD ELECTIONS

Sargent is Made Captain-elect and Crockett Manager for Next Year—Grant to be Freshman Manager

WILDER AND MEEHAN ELECTED ASSISTANTS

[illegible] an election held re[illegible] Sargent was voted to [illegible] basketball team next year. [illegible] year he has had a [illegible] on the squad as center [illegible] reward for his serv[illegible] could be chosen to lead [illegible] senior year. He is a [illegible] Delta Theta fraternity. [illegible] election Charles [illegible] was made manager for [illegible] E. J. Grant, '32, an[illegible] manager for the past [illegible] G. E. Wilder, '32, and [illegible] '32, were elected as[illegible] there was a tie between W. H. Grasser, '32, and B. G. Boyles, [illegible] position. It will be [illegible] by the athletic council in the [illegible] whether there will be an[illegible] for the assistant man[illegible] whether there will be four [illegible] next year.

WALLY" SARGENT

[illegible] who led the baseball team [illegible] over West Point has been [illegible] captain of basketball for next [illegible]

PHYZ ED NOTES

[illegible] the southern trip took place, [illegible] Kappa Sigs in the persons of [illegible]kay and Winant took over the Phi [illegible] meaning Grower and DeRose, in [illegible] championship . . . . guess what? Cribbage match.

"Guess we licked 'em, didn't I?" [illegible] Mac

"Don't strain your elbow patting [illegible] on the back. If it hadn't been [illegible] in the eleventh inning [illegible] would have lost."

"Oh, no?"

"Nope."

The result is that Mac and Eddie, [illegible] "Andy" of cribbage, chal[illegible] any two players male, female, [illegible] ready to play them for the cham[illegible]ship. Mac will talk you into a [illegible] which Eddie steals the tricks.

"Ai say honeh boy . . . ." The [illegible] from the maple sugar coun[illegible] looked up, up into the ultraviolet [illegible] of one of the South's most beau[illegible] ple-accelerators. Alma mammy! [illegible] mammy! Southern mammy! [illegible] Campus House never had any[illegible] like this. His eyes crossed [illegible] following the Venus-like [illegible] He forgot everything except [illegible] was he and there was she. [illegible] took its warmth from the [illegible] and her teeth were daz[illegible] like—like—but why go [illegible] After all a pencil has only so [illegible]

The [illegible] blond ball player from the [illegible] in a trance. He basked in [illegible] of that admiring smile. [illegible] and then he sighed. He almost [illegible] Never had he felt so happy. "Ah say honeh [illegible] Again the words caressed [illegible] delicious tingle ran down his [illegible] back. If she would only ask [illegible] say will yo' have moh [illegible] pokk chops?" Ma-a-amy [illegible] serve!

Gold Key President

(Continued on page 4)

[illegible] scribe patiently awaited [illegible] of the silence.

"[illegible] must be wrong with the [illegible] has no freshman caps or [illegible] is lacking in the proper [illegible] just consider, our rules [illegible] or foolish when com[illegible] the rules of other colleges. [illegible] compared with the rules [illegible] years at Vermont. Al[illegible] admitted, "the rules of [illegible] wouldn't go at all

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTING EDITOR—

If everyone will change his baseball schedule to read May 17, Clarkson Tech, Burlington instead of Niagara there will be no arguments later—no bets and no disappointments. Niagara cannot make the planned eastern trip on account of finances so Clarkson Tech has consented to appear on Centennial field on that date

"ED" WINANT

Playing his second year on first base, is one of the team's heaviest hitters. "Ed" is earning his fourth varsity letter, as a sophomore

Orson Jay, the analyt kid, hurt another one of his voluminous brittle parts in the Navy game on the southern trip. Coach "Larry" Gardner has been forced to prohibit the feeding of peanuts to him.

When "Charley" Cummings' father joined the team in Philadelphia, "Charley" had to retire from the presidency of the Exchange Club. Mr. Cummings, Sr. thinks junior has enough time before he practices his Ec.

The pajamas which "Charley" and "Wally" Sargent wore on alternate nights are on exhibition in Hayes and Carney's window. The pajamas made so much noise that they took turns wearing 'em so they could get some sleep.

Winant, Howard and Kendall are the active members of the Lambda Three Bagga Fraternity.

Football practice is attracting more attention this spring than it has for the past few years on account of the new coaching staff which everyone is most enthusiastic about.

No player ever looked as if he would make a better coach than did "Bump" Levine. This is shown by the fact that he is chosen line coach while an undergraduate.

Howard Prentice, "Archie" Post, and "Bump" Levine will all study at the Harvard Summer School this year. The courses they will take are directly useful and valuable in their coaching and physical education work.

FENCING TEAM LOSES LAST THREE MATCHES

Before the Easter vacation the fencing team embarked on a tour in which there were three matches against difficult opponents.

Because of the recent innovation of this sport at Vermont the team is hardly up to the high standards of the opponents which were met. In face of the opposition Vermont made a creditable showing, although all three matches were lost.

In the contest against C. C. N. Y. Wadsworth won one foil match and one épée while Shuman accounted for two more matches in the épée. The final score was thirteen to four in favor of the City College.

The Violet of N. Y. U. defeated the Green and Gold in the next engagement 11 to 6. Wadsworth won a sabre, foil, and épée and was the high scorer of the meet. Pereiman and Shuman turned in wins in the foils and sabre.

In the B. U. meet, the Catamounts received its worse defeat. Wadsworth and Pereiman accounted for the sole points in the foils. The absence of the épée event which throughout the season has been Vermont's best bet accounted for the decisive loss.

Wadsworth, a freshman, has improved remarkably during the season and shows great promise. Shuman and Pereiman both experienced fencers will return to balance the aggregation next year.

After-dinner speakers at the gridiron banquet at the University of Minnesota were stopped by a fire siren if the length of their speeches taxed the patience of the listeners.

Army Succumbs To Vermont Attack As Catamounts End Tour Including Six Defeats And Three Cancellations

Sargent Pitches Team to Only Victory at West Point as Stroh's Homer Scores Winning Runs—Games Lost Through Various Types of Errors—Dinniman Leads Batters and Stars in Field

MERCIER TO BE CAPTAIN OF HOCKEY NEXT YEAR

Coburn Elected Manager With Boyden, Davis and Tomassetti as Assistants

As a result of the elections held recently E. J. "Frenchy" Mercier, '32, will be the captain of next year's Vermont hockey team. At the same time D. E. Coburn, '31, of Hardwick was elected manager for the coming year with K. E. Boyden, '33, of Cambridge. H. W. Davis, '32, of Lyndon; and M. Tomassetti, '32, of Meriden, Conn., as assistants.

Mercier, whose home is in Leominster, Mass., came to college with an enviable ice record and while at Vermont has played at a wing position on the varsity sextet. He was a freshman sensation two years ago. This last season he started in well but an injury kept him out of the state title battles against Middlebury.

MGR. "HANK" POWELL.

Administered the business phase of the trip in a highly commendable manner.

CANDIDATES NOW CALLED FOR FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Coach Dunn to Conduct Two Weeks of Spring Training With Ex-Captain Levine as Assistant

Yesterday afternoon Coach Dunn was in town and held the first spring football practice session. His decision to conduct this spring training came as the result of a favorable vote at a meeting of football men held just before the Easter vacation. At this meeting a number of players signified their intentions of reporting for practice and if enough will actually attend both the coach and the players will find it worthwhile. For this reason more candidates are wanted.

Ex-capt. "Bump" Levine is the new line coach to replace George Tully, who has become the freshman coach for next year. With Capt. Leo Segal leading, the squad should find the two weeks of spring training very profitable. Next fall the team will be able to get an early start and it is hoped that a much more successful season will follow.

TENNIS CANDIDATES IN PRE-SEASON PRACTICE

A large number of candidates for the varsity tennis team headed by Captain Borkland are regularly reporting to Coach Carpenter for practice, in preparation for the coming season. So far all practice has had to take place in the cage, but with the approaching warm weather it is hoped that the candidates will be able to hold a few workouts outdoors. The schedule starts off with a trip, when the Green and Gold representatives meet Boston University, Worcester Polytech and Clarke University on successive days.

In addition to the veterans several promising players from last year's frosh team, including Palmer, Woodward, Holbrook and Tupper, have reported to the coach.

COACH "BUMP" LEVINE

Newly elected football line coach will assist Head Coach Dunn during spring practice and next fall.

NEW FOOTBALL COACHES NAMED FOR NEXT YEAR

Tully to Instruct Freshman Team While Ex-Captain Levine Takes His Place as Line Coach of the Varsity

Next season a whole new staff of football coaches will be in charge at the University of Vermont. "Dave" Dunn of New Britain, Conn., is the new head coach to replace Captain Rattan. Recently line coach Tully was appointed to handle the freshman team next year. For the past few years he has been assisting the varsity mentor and has done very creditable work. Ex-captain Levine of last season's varsity team has been named as line coach to work with Dunn. All Vermonters know his qualifications for the position and feel that he can be of real service to the team.

TRACK SQUAD WORKING HARD FOR FIRST MEET

There is still a dearth of track material on the back campus with the first meet only two and a half weeks away. As soon as it is ascertained whether or not Paul Park is eligible the strength of the team will be known. Park is a good weight man. Captain Mace became eligible this spring and will be a valuable man. There is an excellent chance for any man with the slightest ability to make good with practice.

Franceschi, Bond and Bedell will high jump. Bond and Mace are broad jumpers and Meehan and Swain are pretty good looking pole vaulters. The middle distances will be taken care of by such veterans as Huey and Bond. Hadley, Wilder and Varney are the outstanding distance men. Berry is one of the leading dash candidates in a field which lacks outstanding, reliable material. These men and a few others will be brought along rapidly from now until the Amherst meet and can be considerably bolstered by new candidates.

COLLEGE HUMOR

When you are upstairs in a building, and you want the elevator to come up after you, to take you down, do you push the "Up" or the "Down" button?

If you want to go up one story why do you say "Two"? And if you want to go up four stories do you say "Fifth" or "Fif" or "Five"?—Montana Kaimin.

HER FACE

They were sitting out in the moonlight.

"And," she said proudly, "if poverty comes, we'll face it together."

"Oh, sweetheart," he answered, "just the mere sight of your face would scare the wolf away."

And ever since he has been wondering why she returned his ring.

Our roommate must be studying for the dental profession. He's saving up all of the old magazines.—Okla. Whirlwind

MORE EXPECTED OF TEAM AFTER OUTDOOR PRACTICE

By CY NATHANSON

After a twelve-day stay in the South that is, several hundred miles south of Burlington, the U. V. M. baseball team returned last Thursday a sorry but wiser bunch of ball players who promise to do on Centennial Field during the remainder of the season what has been expected of them since the end of the last season and which they failed to do on the training trip.

We say training trip and mean it. Can we expect a group of young baseball men to change the style of play from the catch as catch can and hit or miss type played in the cage, to the steady, deliberate game which is played by the better college teams which Vermont met last week and the week before?

CAPT. "WIN" HOWARD

Runner up for southern trip slugging honors has just completed his third journey over the Mason and Dixon line.

The Past

But, to get down to records, which have been checked and double-checked on the campus since Thursday, the Cats won the last game against the West Point outfit in the last game of the invasion, after dropping six games and taking three vacations on account of rain and cold. Here's the complete record:

Vermont 1	Quantico 5
Vermont 3	Quantico 7
Vermont 0	Georgetown 10
Vermont 7	Navy 12
Vermont-Gallaudet, cancelled, rain
Vermont 4	Catholic U. 5
Vermont 2	Princeton 12
Vermont-St. Johns, cancelled, rain
Vermont-Columbia, cancelled, cold
Vermont 6	Army 4

The Games

Starting at Quantico, Virginia, against Tom Keady's Marines, the Catamounts played a good game in the first contest behind Sargent's steady twirling. Bunched Vermont errors accounted for four of the winners' five runs and helped the Southerns gain an edge over the single Green and Gold run which Winant scored after tripling. Vermont got two hits against nine for the Marines. Stroh was the other Vermont safe hitter. In the second and last game of the series, bunched hits gave the leathernecks another win. Captain Howard's triple gave Vermont her three runs against the opposition's seven. Dinniman got two hits. Jay starred in the outfield with five putouts and an assist.

Georgetown then shut out the Vermonters with a ten-run margin. Of course, Georgetown has a real team this year, this game being the seventh straight victory for that aggregation. Cummings toed the rubber for Vermont in this game but his arm was sore and he was unable to make his usual effective showing. Howard was the only Vermonter to get two hits. Dinniman caught two balls in left field and tore off the home run labels to the chagrin of the heavy hitting hilltoppers. A six-run fourth inning was Georgetown's supreme effort.

Darkness cut short a Vermont come back at Annapolis and enabled the Navy to chalk up a 12 to 7 victory in a seven-inning hitting bee. Vermont outhit Navy and drove Bauer from the slab but it was Navy's day on the bases. Pires got three hits in as many chances, while Kendall, Dinniman and Sargent got two each. One of Sargent's was a two-bagger. Orson Jay threw his shoulder out while sliding, but came back on his nerve after first aid treatment was given him.

Catholic University's early lead was sufficient to beat the Green Mountaineers 5 to 4. McBride pitched for Vermont. A threatening Vermont rally

(Continued on page 4)

Army Succumbs To Vermont

(Continued from page 1)

	ab	r	bh	tb	po	a	e
Mullen, ss	5	2	1	2	0	4	1
Sargent, c	4	1	2	3	7	1	1
Rockwood, 1b	4	1	1	4	8	0	1
Cummings, p	4	1	1	1	1	4	0
Hutchinson, p-lf	3	1	2	2	0	1	0
Chamberlain, rf	3	0	1	1	0	0	0
McBride, 3b	4	0	1	1	0	1	0

Batting and fielding averages

	Ave.
	.500
	.400
	.333
	.333
	.333
	.333
	.250
	.250
	.250
	.200
	.000

Vermont batting average .333
Opponents batting average .244
Vermont fielding average .967
Opponents fielding average .925

Pitchers records

	Games	Won	Lost	Pct.	Inn.	Hits off	Hits per inn.	B. on B.	Strike outs
Sargent	1	1	0	1000	5	2	0	2	7
Hutchinson	2	1	0	1000	9	4	0.44	3	5
Cummings	2	0	1	000	14	21	1.50	6	7
McBride	1	0	1	000	8	13	1.63	4	6

The prizes given by the various Burlington merchants were awarded to the following players

Most valuable player Harold Dimmick left field

Highest batting average Harold Dimmick .500

Highest fielding average Charles Stroh .955

Home runs Charles Stroh, one

Triples Tie among Captain W W Howard Edward M Winant, and Max T Kendall one each

Doubles Tie among W M Sargent Jr Harold Dimmick, and Charles Stroh one each

Best pitching (most games won) W M Sargent Jr one

Best pitching (least hits per inning) W M Sargent Jr 1.26

Most stolen bases Edward L Trayne Jr four

The Victory

The championship team presented Burlington with another victory when it defeated the Vermont nine by a score of 9 to 7 in the first game of the Spring series. Although the Vermont team had been defeated by the Burlington team in the first game of the season, the Green and Gold nine was determined to win the championship of the State Series and the game was fought to the finish. Both teams played a clean cut game. In fact the whole team played as it should have played throughout the trip and there wasn't [illegible] about their heads to-day.

The Present

There is no reason why that team can't make a good disposition of the rest of the schedule. They'll be in action Friday on their home field and the recent batting rampage is not very tempting to opponents. The team didn't show the pepper it showed all over the diamond last year in the baseball. It's going to take confidence and hope for the breaks—that's the issues after all. It's another thing to have confidence and fight with it, that's the winners formula.

The Future

Now the outfield is O K. Howard Ide is hard [illegible] getting started but he delivered in the end. Jay has been converted from a mediocre shortstop to a real outfielder who will have to get [illegible] at the bat. Dimmick, Hall has always been good.

The infield was stronger but who's going that up? We know they can do better. Charles Stroh hit well and caught every minute of every game. He needed competition. He got expert competition. Experience is a great teacher you say. The pitching staff finished up with Sargent at the top. He ranks for the season. Cummings and Hutchinson are all the team but their arms got tired at the end. The next game is at Springfield on Friday for which is a Year Book attraction on Saturday. Let's go team.

For the benefit of those who have followed the daily newspapers and games during vacation there was little for them to [illegible] a report on the following composite box score is interesting.

	ab	r	bh	tb	po	a	e
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	2	39	4	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	6	6	5	14
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	8	22	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	9	1	10	0
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	10	8
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]	9	20	14	1	2

WOULD SHIFT PRESIDENTS' BURDENS TO OTHERS

Fifty-five colleges of a total of 750 in America made changes in their presidencies in nine months of last year because of the physical strain of the executive, the friction between presidents and faculty or friction between presidents and trustees. A college presidency is a position which will break any normal man within a short time.

These are the facts and conclusions presented by Dean Max McConn of Lehigh University who writing in The North American Review offers a new plan of college government.

Instead of a board of lay trustees who know little of educational problems and a president who must shoulder all responsibilities he proposes a board composed of six faculty members, three alumni and three students who would relieve the president of many routine responsibilities and at the same time serve as a board of final authority in matters of policy.

Include Students

Inclusion of senior students on such a governing board Dean McConn believes would give the entire student body a greater sense of its responsibilities and of its relation to the university while the interest of alumni would knit graduates closer to the school and provide the board with men familiar with its problems from student experience.

Student Senate Has No Function

Originally Intended to Settle Student-Faculty Questions, But Now Only Elects Officers

Student Senate, after having existed on the campus for about seven years, at present finds itself without a purpose and with no function to perform. At its inception as the Student Council it had as its chief function that of a body before which controversial questions of interest to both students and faculty might be discussed and settled.

With the exception of an occasional informal session of Senate held suddenly to prevent the action of an undergrad's petition as soon as one is presented, the organization [illegible] to represent the views and activities of the entire student body now serves itself and its duties [illegible] by other societies.

Was Once Student Union

It was originally called the Student Union. Every Wednesday morning before Ira Allen Chapel had been erected the half hour between ten o'clock and ten-thirty was known as Student Union Hour. The students met in the gymnasium and discussed various plans and questions.

Later, however, when the chapel had been built, it was realized that this half hour would be required for the chapel exercises and so the Student Union was disbanded.

The old organization gave many cups as awards in various contests including Kake Walk. It sponsored the Winter Carnival. It also had the supervision of the arrangements of the dates for the various social functions on the hill and each year it ran a smoker in an attempt to create a college spirit among the students.

BEVERLY HOUSEHOLDER

who takes a leading part in the next dramatic production

Power Has Declined

The present society which arose from the old Student Union has been on the decline for the past three years.

Each year the members meet and nominate the candidates for the next year. The elections are held suddenly so that no one except the president and the officers, knows beforehand when they take place. In this way all fraternity politics are eliminated.

Last year the election of officers did not take place until Christmas and the following men now comprise the organization of Student Senate:

President, T. J. Halligan, '30; vice-president, R. J. Maynes, '31; secretary-treasurer, W. M. Sargent, '31; besides eight senior, five junior and three sophomore men, and the presidents of the four classes.

SIMILE

As brave as a brigadier-general in Quaker meeting.—McGill Daily.

TWENTY-SEVEN HAVE NO GRADE BELOW B

(Continued from page 1)

Burlington, H. I. Varney, [illegible]

No grades below B [illegible] S. B. Barker, G. S. of M[illegible] Natalie Carleton, Cl. of [illegible] A. O. Eaton, C. E. of W[illegible] Lois Harrington, H. E. [illegible]nington, R. S. Jenks, L. S. [illegible]ton, Elizabeth Manning [illegible]dolph, Elizabeth Mes[illegible] North Bennington, Flo[illegible] S. of Hardwick, Roberta P[illegible] of Morrisville, M. Arlene [illegible] of Lyndonville.

No grades below B [illegible] Ethel Bishop, H. E. [illegible] Sylvia Boyd, Cl., of W[illegible] Mass., Norma Carder, C[illegible] port, R. P. Donaghy, G. [illegible] field, Elizabeth Eckhard, [illegible]lington, P. P. Fischer, [illegible] Neck, L. I., Eleanor G[illegible] Burlington, Mildred [illegible] of St. Johnsbury, Dor[illegible] G. S. of East Corinth, F[illegible] H. E. of Springfield, G[illegible] Cl., of West Hartford, [illegible] Torrens, H. E. of Mont[illegible] Margaret Tower, H. E. [illegible] L. L. Woodward, L. S. of [illegible]

Summer Positions Open.—Mr. Wilkin of the McCall Company will be at the V. C. A. office from 1.00 to 2.30 today and from 1.00 to 4.00 tomorrow to interview students interested in summer employment. Salary, tuition and bonus paid.

Then about the contribution box that was passed. It came back with one poker chip, one trouser button and a plugged nickel in it.

"Let us give thanks," said the minister.

"For what?" asked the deacon.

"Because we got the plate back."—Annapolis Log.

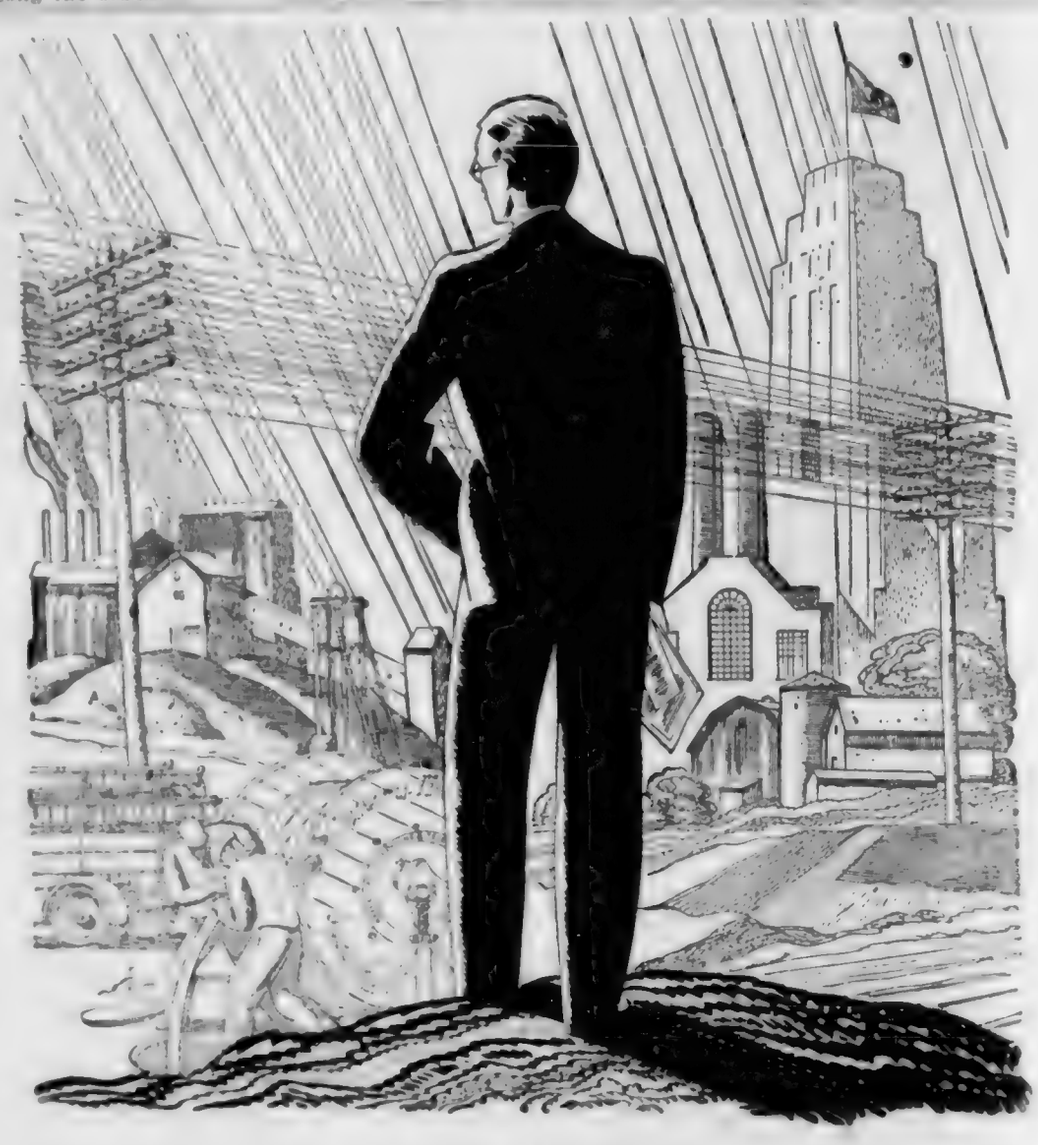
VACATION IS OVER NOW FOR MOST COLLEGES

New Hampshire State College stands alone among the New England institutions in giving her students no spring vacation this year whereas at Colby, Smith and Holy Cross 14 days are not considered too long a period.



Among the New England colleges it is to be noted that Northeastern gives her students the least number of days, three being all that are allowed. Next to her follow Rhode Island and M. I. T. each with 4 days of cessation of classes.

Vermont's twelve days correspond in number to those of Boston College, Harvard and Connecticut Agricultural College give their students only one week's vacation.

The vacation periods of most of the northern New England colleges begin in March with those of the more southerly in location commence in April.

A representative list of colleges and universities with their respective spring recess periods follows:

	Last Classes Before	First Classes After
Amherst	Mar. 28	Apr. -
Bates	Apr. 4	Apr. 15
Bowdoin	Apr. 4	Apr. 29
Boston University
College of Liberal Arts	Mar. 22	Apr. 7
College of Business Administration	Apr. 3	Apr. 15
College of Religious Education	Apr. 3	Apr. 21
Brown	Apr. 5	Apr. 5
Clark	Apr. 5	Apr. 14
Colby	Apr. 11	Apr. 25
Dartmouth	Mar. 21	Apr. -
Harvard	Apr. 12	Apr. 28
Holy Cross	Mar. 29	Apr. 15
Massachusetts Agricultural College	Mar. 29	Apr. 7
Massachusetts Institute of Technology	Mar. 29	Apr. 5
Middlebury	Mar. 28	Apr. 8
Northeastern	Mar. 28	Apr. 1
Rhode Island State	Apr. 5	Apr. 21
Smith	Mar. 29	Apr. 7
Trinity	Apr. 11	Apr. 24
Tufts	Apr. 5	Apr. 14
University of Maine	Apr. 12	Apr. 21
Wesleyan	Mar. 21	Apr. 1
Williams	Mar. 21	Mar. 31
Worcester Polytechnic Institute	Apr. 12	Apr. 21
Y. M. C. A.	Mar. 21	Mar. 31
Yale	Mar. 28	Apr. 10
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	Mar. 26	Apr. -
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Vermont	Mar. 29	Apr. 10
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]

A challenge to the imagination

To provide telephone service of national scope, to manage and develop properties valued at more than three and three-quarter billion dollars, to maintain an organization of more than 400,000 people at highest efficiency — such work spurs the creative thought of men of the highest calibre.

Within the Bell System many have achieved outstanding success. Their work is not only in pure science and engineering, but in organization and management, in salesmanship, financial administration, economics and the many other fields vital to the growth of so great an enterprise.

Because of these men the Bell System is able to furnish the best all-around telephone service in the world. A progressive policy puts at their disposal every aid that a great organization can give.

BELL SYSTEM

A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 46 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1930 NUMBER 46

Student Campaign For New Student Union Building Starts Next Tuesday

Combined Men's and Women's Organizations Ask Student Body to Demonstrate its Interest in Projects by Swelling Amount Already Subscribed by Alumni

Next week Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the Men's and Women's Student Associations will cooperate in a campaign to increase the funds already pledged and contributed for the Student Union building. This building will be constructed as soon as the necessary sums have been secured. The plan calls for work on the building to start soon after the new gymnasium is completed.

Booths Located on Campus

Booths will be placed on the campus Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday. Upon a donation the student will be given a button as a receipt of his contribution. The success of the campaign depends wholly upon the interest and cooperation of the student body. It is realized that perhaps not over a thousand dollars will be raised in this campaign, but the measure of the contributions will demonstrate the interest of the student body in this much needed activity center.

At the Alumni Office, it was learned that $8,000 has already been raised for the building. Estimates determine the cost of the structure not to exceed $450,000. Since 1918, alumni have pledged $80,000 towards the estimated amount.

The new Student Union building, as proposed plans have shown, will be a large structure of four floors, resembling the size of the medical building. The auditorium, which had been included in previous plans, will have a huge dance floor for social purposes. The building will contain a cafeteria, rooms for student organizations, a faculty room, a men's lounge, a women's lounge, offices, a store, committee rooms and a swimming pool.

Everyone on the campus is agreed that there is much need for an activity center. The Student Union building is expected to add to the beauty of the Vermont campus, to foster a more genuine college spirit and to assist in promoting good fellowship on the campus. It will contain every facility for the social needs of the students. It is an institution that has been and is now needed at Vermont.

The Proposed Student Union Building

Every Student Asked to Give

Every single student upon the campus will be given the opportunity to contribute to the realization of the building. The committee in charge feels that it is up to every loyal Vermont student to cooperate, even though his donation be small, in order to exhibit the interest of the student body in the project.

ORATORS COMPETE FOR STATE HONORS

Representatives of Six Vermont Schools Compete in State Finals in Burlington Tonight

SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED TO SUCCESSFUL ORATORS

The finals of the third Vermont Interscholastic Oratorical Contest, sponsored by the University of Vermont and the Burlington Free Press, will be held in Burlington tonight, with the winners in three district contests competing. The schools that have reached the finals are St. Albans High and People's Academy of Morrisville from the northwestern district, Woodstock High and Rutland High from the southern district, Montpelier High and Brattleboro High from the northeastern district. The subjects used in all of these contests involved phases of the Constitution of the United States. The state winner will be entered by the Burlington Free Press in the National Oratorical Contest.

Will Get Scholarships

The University is offering scholarships of $150, $100, and $75, to the winners of first, second, and third places respectively in both the district and the final contests. Through the generosity of the University each School competing in the district contests is allowed expenses not to exceed $10.00 and full traveling expenses to

(Continued on page 4)

Opera Casts Hold Daily Rehearsals

Bennett Hastens Preparations for Most Ambitious Musical Program Ever Attempted at Vermont

"This year's double feature of the grand opera 'Orpheus' and the comic opera 'Trial by Jury' is by far the most ambitious attempt ever undertaken in the field of musical production at Vermont," declared Professor Bennett in a Cynic interview Wednesday, in which he indicated that both casts are holding daily practices and that the operas, which compare favorably with past productions, are progressing rapidly in rehearsal.

Professor Bennett also announced that the dancing will be under the special direction of Miss Annis Baldwin, who conducts the women's classes in dancing. In "Orpheus" several ballets will be presented, among them the "Dance of the Blessed Spirits" and the "Dance of the Furies." These ballets are specially included and the parts will be taken by specially selected students. Some of the finest music in "Orpheus" is that used for the ballets.

Ballet Casts

Included in the "Dance of the Furies" are: Ara Armstrong, '32; Charlotte Carpenter, '32; Margaret Mower, '32; Roberta Powers, '32; Margaret Wharton, '32; Marjorie Bracken, '31; Christine Bliss, '32; Carolyn Beggs, '32; Lois Harrington, '32; Frances McKean, '31; Beatrice Parkhill, '32; Kathryn Rauh, '32; and Sylvia Holden, '32. Pages will be Isabel Holmes and Ruby Clark.

The cast of the "Dance of the Blessed Spirits" will consist of Pearl Brown, '32, who will lead the dance; Isabel Holmes, '32; Ruby Clark, '33; Marguerite Keeney, '33; Louise Manson, '32; Katherine Kingston, '32; and Orabelle Main, '32.

The orchestra will have a much more important part in "Orpheus" than in any production hitherto, as several numbers will be rendered by the orchestra alone, and at times it will impersonate Orpheus' lyre.

The first attempt at musical production at the University was the grand opera "Dido and Aeneas," by Purcell; the second, a comic opera, "The Mock Doctor," by Gounod; the third, Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience," also a comic opera; and this year the music department is combining a grand opera with a comic opera in presenting the largest bill ever attempted.

JUNIOR SOCIETY WILL SPONSOR SPRING DANCE

Tomorrow night will witness an other of Key and Serpent's long awaited dances, to be held at the Burlington High School gymnasium. Dancing from 8:30 until midnight will be under the inimitable tutelage of the ten Vermonters, featuring Joe Lechnyr. Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell will chaperone.

Together with the Vermonters' habit of putting just the right amount of pep into a dance, will no doubt be added the usual enjoyable atmosphere that characterizes all of Key and Serpent's affairs.

UNIVERSITY CONCERT TO BRING ALBERT SPALDING, VIOLINIST, TO VERMONT

Free Tickets are Available to Students for Concert by Leading American Artist

Albert Spalding, most famous native-born American violinist, will play at the University gymnasium on Wednesday evening, April 30, under the management of the University of Vermont and Arthur Dow.

Through the courtesy of the University 500 tickets are available without charge for the first 500 students who apply for them at the University Store in the Old Mill beginning Friday, April 25. These seats are free to students only and may be used only by students.

Albert Spalding is one of the artists Americans are most proud of. His career as celebrated violinist has been a shining page in the annals of music in this country.

Mr. Spalding was born in Chicago and inherited much of his musical genius from his mother, who was for a long time a soloist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra under Theodore Thomas. At seven he began playing the violin and later his principal teachers were Chiti, the famous Florentine master, Buitrago in New York and Lefort in Paris.

When he graduated from the Bologna Conservatory at fourteen he received the highest honors ever accorded anyone since Mozart, and made his professional debut in Paris with

(Continued on page 4)

YALE PROF TO BE NEW HISTORY HEAD

Dr. P. D. Evans Will Assume Functions of Professor of History at Vermont Next Fall

NEW FACULTY MEMBER HOLDS CORNELL DEGREES

Paul Demund Evans, assistant professor of history at Yale University will assume the duties of professor of history at the University of Vermont at the opening of the college year next fall.

Professor Evans was graduated from Cornell University in 1913, received the degree of Master of Arts there in 1914, and his doctorate in 1923. The subject of his doctor's dissertation was "The Holland Land Company," which has been published by the Buffalo Historical Society.

From 1914 to 1918 he was assistant in history at Cornell, leaving in 1917 for war service. In 1919, at the conclusion of his service, he was assistant in history at the Sorbonne, Paris, for six months. From 1919 to 1921 he was assistant professor of history at Syracuse University, and the next year was made associate professor.

In 1925-26, Professor Evans was Belgian Relief Fellow, working on the modern economic history of Belgium and Northeastern France. Several other summers were spent in France, working part time in the libraries of Paris.

Since 1922 he has been instructor, and later assistant professor, of history at Yale. His work there has been especially with freshman and sophomore classes and with undergraduates doing special honors work. He expects to study in Europe this summer.

W. L. Wilkinson was the last professor of history at the University. After teaching in a number of summer sessions, Professor Wilkinson was for a year, 1928-29, head of the college history department. He returned last fall to Colby College, where he had been a member of the faculty for a number of years, and a successor was not immediately appointed. L. S. Hartwell has been acting head of the history department the past year with the rank of instructor. Mr. Hartwell, a recent graduate of Dartmouth, was a graduate fellow under Professor Wilkinson before his appointment to the faculty as instructor.

RUSSIAN LITERATURE IS GREY FRIAR'S THEME

Edmour Germain Addresses Literary Society on Its History and Nature

Russian literature furnished the theme of an interesting address by Edmour Germain at a Grey Friars meeting last Sunday evening in the President's rooms at Converse.

In developing his subject Germain gave a thorough review of Russian literary history, indicating its main trends and revealing its evolutionary processes. The speaker also sketched the lives of the more important Russian writers, enumerating their leading works.

Russian literature explained Germain, had its birth in such commercial centers of ancient Russia as Kiev and Novgorod which were notable as centers of culture. The majority of the literature of this early period is the work of one of these, "The Story of the Host of Prince Ijor," is comparable to the legend of Charlemagne in French and German literature. However, the Tartar invasion of Russia in the thirteenth century, the intellect of the nation ceased. Also, since the Russians had adopted the Greek Orthodox religion, they had cut out of contact with western civilization. Consequently, literature became stagnant.

With the accession to the throne of Peter the Great, the speaker continued, the history of Russian literature begins only as a result of Peter's introduction of a uniform language throughout Russia. For many years thereafter, however, little was produced by Russia's men of letters, who were engaged in studying and imitating the literatures of France, England and Germany. It is not until the opening of the nineteenth century, with the reign of Alexander I, that a Russian literature finally evolves.

Politics, Not Entertainment

In discussing the nature of Russian literature the speaker "Outlined the central purpose of literature as entertainment, but there

(Continued on page 4)

SAYS COMMUNISM IS RUSSIAN SCHOOLS' AIM

Stewart Tells International Relations Club of Soviet Educational System

"The conscious control of every educational procedure by reference to a single and comprehensive social purpose is the fundamentally distinguishing feature of the Soviet educational system," declared Robert L. Stewart, '30, in his address on "Education in Soviet Russia," yesterday afternoon at an International Relations Club meeting. This comprehensive social purpose, the speaker explained, aims to construct a communist society. Another important feature of the Soviet educational system is the stupendous amount of experimental work that is being carried on in Russian schools at the present time in all types of work.

The speaker described three chief steps in the system of Russian education: Primarily, there is a provision for social and general education for all children up to the age of 17, whose education involves preschool training, such as kindergartens and nurseries. The primary education of Russian children is administered for those between the ages of eight and twelve, and secondary education is for those from the ages of 12 to 15. The development of the educational system shows marked increasing emphasis on political education.

Trade Education

Continuing his description, the speaker showed that a second step in the educational system is the creation of trade education for the training of skilled workers. Trade education is further divided into three classes, the "Lower," the "medium" and the "higher," the latter being similar to our technical schools.

The third step lies in the political education of the people. Stewart told in detail of political education in the Red army, indicating that the Soviet military places unusual emphasis on training the soldier for citizenship.

(Continued on page 4)

University Tears Down Old Commons, Preparing Site For New Museum

Construction of the new $350,000 museum, to be located on the site of the old Commons Hall, will begin early in May. It is also expected that the erection of the building will take approximately one year and that it will not be available for use during the school year of 1930-31. Commons Hall is now being torn down.

Detailed plans have been received by President Guy W. Bailey from McKim, Mead and White, the architects in charge, who also planned the Ira Allen Chapel. These plans have been submitted to Robert L. Whipple of Worcester, Mass., engineer and trustee of the University, who will make preliminary computations to determine whether the building as planned can be built with the funds available. If Mr. Whipple finds that no change in the plans is necessary, bids will be asked immediately.

The specifications, as prepared by the architects, call for a building erected on a granite base and of brick with marble trim. Structural steel and fireproof tile will enter largely into its construction.

Design Like Chapel's

The style of the museum building will be modified Colonial, similar in design to the Ira Allen Chapel. Among the various rooms to be included is one to house the famous collection of Vermontiana and early American books given to the University by the late James B. Wilbur. Mr. Wilbur made a gift of $100,000 towards the erection of the building, contingent upon the raising of a sum sufficient to complete the structure. This gift was in addition to a fund left to maintain the Wilbur room which is to contain his collection.

At the present time the University has no building which adequately fills the needs of a museum. The collection is housed in a small structure that has no provision for study or research work. The new building will have ample facilities for research and will have enough room so that future expansion will be possible.

The Old Commons

Commons Hall, on whose site the museum is about to go up, was known affectionately to more than two score classes of Vermont undergraduates as "The Hash House."

The wooden building was erected on the back campus in 1885. Alumni who remember back to those years associate its building with the summer school of foreign languages conducted by a Professor Sauveur, beginning in 1885 and extending into the middle nineties. It is believed to have been used as a boarding place for the faculty and students who came to this summer school. One authority stated that it was the first building erected especially for a summer school in America.

Professor Sauveur, according to the Cynic of June, 1888, "stands today among the leading instructors of modern languages. His methods are wholly original and have met with approval and have been adopted by the most prominent teachers here and abroad." Commons Hall was used by this company of linguists which included many of the most prominent teachers in the East, during these summers, and during the winters it began to serve as the University dining hall.

The University catalogue for 1889 announces: "A Commons Hall has been erected on the College grounds at which good table board is served for students at cost. The rate for

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

The Weekly Publication of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

EDGAR H. PETER, '31, Managing Editor

HELGA S. SMITH, '31, Managing Editor

CLIFFORD I. NATHANSON, '31, Sports Editor

STUART S. CORBIN, '31, Business Manager

Desmond W. Cole, '31 — Assistant Editors — Fred W. Householder, '32

Richard F. Stewart, '32, Dramatic Editor

Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Assistant Editors

E. P. Berger, '32; J. D. Noble, '32; A. Rose, '32; C. L. Bliven, '33; H. J. Dunn, '33; T. C. Hunt, '33; A. S. Spooner, '33; J. C. Tarbell, '33; J. S. Wentworth, '33

Associate Sports Editors: Leonard M. Fisher, '32; A. A. Monroe, '32

F. Tupper, '32

Associate Editors: S. Dewhurst, '32

R. W. Ryan, '33

Women's Associate Editor: Louise Rose, '32

Women's Athletic Editor: Harriet Wright, '32

Women's Intercollegiate Editor: Gladys Press, '31

Assistant Editors: Marion Cole, '32; Horace Coburn, '32; Beatrice Hartnett, '32; Margaret Ann Martin, '32; Margaret Mosher, '32; Hope Ransom, '32; Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager: F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers: R. E. Dean, '32; G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any local notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned in by 9:00 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Published on Thursday every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — April 18, 1930 — No. 48

A STUDENT BUILDING

Although it was not greatly over the alumni fund, although it will not realize its aim overnight, the student campaign for the erection of a Student Union building will nevertheless bear this significance, that, if successful, it will demonstrate a student interest in the project which will encourage others to contribute to the fund, and, if it fail, will demonstrate a lack of interest calculated to dampen the ardor of the most enthusiastic.

A Student Union building has always been something of a legend at Vermont. It has long been known that alumni have already contributed large sums for the erection of such a structure. That no further progress has been made is due in large part, to a hesitancy to contribute to such a fund until the attitude of the students themselves has become known.

That the building will meet a great need at Vermont is unquestioned. It will be equipped with a swimming pool, offices for student organizations, an auditorium and a dance hall, for all of which Vermont has urged need. The lack of space in the Old Mill in which to center student activities has long been a source of complaint. The gymnasium as a prom hall, has driven every college dance down the hill, and, as a lecture hall, is a farce and a delusion. The dramatic clubs likewise must take their productions downtown, while the Old Chapel furnishes a poor background to Vermont's intercollegiate debates.

This week the old "Hash House" goes down to make room for the new structure, opening an ancient eyesore with a beautiful and useful building. But the "Hash House," after all, was instrumental in promoting that feeling of fellowship and camaraderie that can be absorbed only in a common atmosphere. This spirit of fellowship, the only "college spirit" worthwhile, the possessed Student Union building, serving as a center for all student activity, will promote. Beautiful though it may be, and as it doubtless, will be, yet it is in this way that the building will best serve to promote Vermont's interests.

The Cynic endorses the campaign of the Christian Associations for student support of this project. The success or failure of the campaign will be judged, not by the sum raised, for that will, after all, be only a small part of the whole, but by the number of students contributing and the size of individual contributions. Wholesale and whole hearted cooperation by the entire student body will go far to convince doubting trustees interested in the welfare of the University of the demand for a Student Union building.

It will not be built tomorrow, nor even next year. But a contribution from every student will make the possibility of the building a certainty and will bring nearer the structure which will be known as the Student Union building of the University of Vermont.

To the Editor of the Cynic:

With marvelous faith in what a year's inactivity will do toward making idealists out of college politicians Boston University, according to an item in the Boston Post, has reverted to their former system of electing athletic captains.

According to the expressed wishes of the students of Boston University, the Athletic Council of that institution last night voted to discontinue the captain-a-game idea, evolved a year ago, and to return to the old custom of electing a captain for each sport each season.

A year ago the Council voted that the election of captains be discontinued and that the coach of each team appoint an acting captain each game. That was just one year ago.

Student agitation, including that of athletes has been in favor of the return of the old system and some time ago the student House of Representatives of the college of business administration voted in favor of the old method of captain election by lettermen.

Members of the Athletic Council last night said that conditions are such at B. U. now that the teams can revert to the old system. They explained that the investigation and scandal a year ago was affected as the result of a suggestion by a leading Terrier athlete who said that fraternity and other interests played too great a part in the selection of the team leader. The B. U. Athletic Council now feels that elections will not be influenced by such politics, so the old system has been readopted.

Before the end of the academic year, captains will be elected for the following teams: Football, basketball, hockey, track, cross-country, rifle and fencing.

We agree with some reflections editorially cast upon the college politicians in this paper some time ago, and we marvel at the naivity which this article would indicate upon the part of the B. U. students.

TUFTS WEEKLY TIMES.

Campus Comment

April 14, 1930

To the Editor of the Cynic:

It was significant that [illegible] the first editorial [illegible] should take [illegible] unprejudiced publication, the attempt [illegible] to the front of the good [illegible] appearing in the issue of April [illegible] Many humorous [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

CANDIDATES REPORT AT SPRING FOOTBALL

Coach Dunn and Staff of Assistants Start Training Grid Prospects

LARGE SQUAD ATTENDS FIRST PRACTICE SESSION

[illegible] afternoon at Centennial [illegible]ately 50 gridiron pros[illegible] to Coach "Dave" Dunn [illegible] two weeks' practice. [illegible]ball while not an innova[illegible]t, has never before at[illegible] student interest as now. [illegible] is merely for the pur[illegible] the prospective candi[illegible] the fundamentals of the [illegible] as promoting mutual ac[illegible]ship between the football [illegible] new coach.

[illegible] mentors in charge of [illegible] are Jack Tully, former [illegible] star and prominently men[illegible] for all American, P. D. Clark, [illegible] center in 1923, and "Bumps" [illegible] last year's Catamount leader. [illegible] Segal heads the candidates [illegible] many other veterans reporting. [illegible] the men reporting at the field [illegible]

Captain Segal, "Bill" Heaton, stellar [illegible] back; "Hip" Davis, giant [illegible] Collins; Tilly; Perry [illegible] Tobin and Durfey, basketball [illegible] Rugg; Walker; Price; [illegible] Blakely; Smith; and Gour[illegible].

JUNIOR VARSITY TEAM PREPARES FOR SEASON

Monday afternoon fully 30 candidates answered Coach "Doc" Newton's call for the junior varsity baseball team. From all indications the coach will not be confronted with the problem of finding enough experienced players to round out a smooth working nine.

Prominent among the pitchers reporting are Benway, Farmer and [illegible]. All of these are members of the freshman class and have been working out with the varsity all week. All possess ability which marks them as being future varsity material.

Among the catchers, Tomassetti and [illegible] seem to be the class of those reporting. Both have been working this spring under the eye of Coach [illegible] Gardner and with more experience these two should be valuable additions to the varsity squad.

Of the other candidates reporting, the most prominent seems to be Ma[illegible], brother of last year's Green and Gold nine. His stickwork so far this spring has been of exceptional order and with more experience he should have little trouble in making a position for himself on the varsity during the next few years.

To date no official schedule has been issued from the office of the Graduate Manager but it is expected in the near future that a complete schedule will be established, containing games with leading town and semi-pro teams.

EASTER CARDS
at ISHAM'S
102A CHURCH ST.

BASE BALL
and
TENNIS
New 1930 Equipment
On Sale Now

L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

NOTICE!

There is a dearth of track scrub managers and an excellent chance for any sophomore to work his way to a managerial position in this sport. Due to a recent Athletic Council decision cross-country and track are separate sports, so that a track scrub is no longer required to report for work in the fall. The track season is the shortest of any major sport period and thus commands a minimum of time. All sophomores wishing to take advantage of this opportunity should report to Manager Martinetti or one of the Assistant Managers any afternoon on Centennial Field.

A. T. POST,
Track Coach.

SMOKER HELD IN HONOR OF NEW FOOTBALL COACH

Coach Dunn Greeted with Cheers and Speeches at Enthusiastic Meeting in Gym

A small but highly enthusiastic group of individuals led by a band of a nondescript variety gathered at the gymnasium on Monday evening and there in a bedlam of cheers that echoed through the rafters greeted Coach "Dave" Dunn in a smoker fitting such an auspicious occasion. As the new varsity mentor entered the hall the body in one group arose and then rang out a cheer in his honor which certainly started off the festivities with a bang.

"Sabe" Abell in the rôle of toastmaster minced but few words when he introduced Professor Donahue as the first speaker of the evening. In his customary dynamic fashion the chairman of the Athletic Council proceeded to analyze the football disaster of last fall which centered around the attitude of the student body.

"If the University is to have athletic teams of potent caliber the undergraduates must build up a morale which will not fluctuate but provide an attitude of unwavering nature" was the way the situation was expressed.

Capt. Leo Segal was next called up and briefly asked the cooperation of those men under warning who not only were a detriment to the team but to themselves. Manager "Emy" Craig proceeded to illuminate on subjects previously spoken of but centered on the personality of the new coach from New Britain. Dr. P. D. Clark, one of the assistants of the past fall and one of the most active alumni in the city, was called to the stand and pleaded with the student body to think of football and its value.

As Coach Dunn was ushered to the stand, tribute was paid him which only could be excelled by the tumult that greeted the nomination of Al Smith at the Democratic convention. "The alumni are strongly behind the teams and the University," he said, "and it remains with the student body to cooperate in the working out of a new system which is practical. Results will be slow but we hope progress will be visible. A new era will be ushered in when Vermont plays teams of her own class and then should find herself. A dearth of linesmen exists and we need all the available men. It is for that reason that spring practice is being held. Nobody is immune to criticism and if such is to be made bring it to the attention of someone in authority and do not carry it to the newspapers."

Everyone was visibly affected by the directness and liberal attitude of Coach Dunn, who with his "open door policy," certainly made a hit with those in attendance. George Tully was the last of the speakers and he fervently asked those who were out for spring practice to stay out as it is disheartening to a coach to find when the fall rolls around that those men who were to form a nucleus have dwindled down to half their number.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2870, 2871, 2872

Sweets for the Sweet
Chocolates and Bon Bons
packed in beautiful boxes that make Ideal Easter gifts.
ALSO EASTER EGGS
BURLINGTON SWEET SHOP
Cor. Main & Church Sts.

The Medical Book Store

has the following offer to make to the members of the Senior Class of the Academic College:

A Cap and Gown can be rented from now until after Commencement for $3—if taken before Founder's Day.

FOR CAPS AND GOWNS

taken after Founder's Day the rate will be $3.50. A refund of 50c will be made to each student returning the Cap and Gown rented, on Monday the last day of Commencement. We cannot guarantee rentals after June 1.

Please call early for your Caps and Gowns and not only get the reduced rate, but be sure of the best fitting without the delay of a last-minute special order to insure it.

PHYZ ED NOTES

While the students in general have been spending the winter improving their minds (some of them) the Phys Ed Dept has been trying to improve the students' body. To that end there have been various contests and activities in all branches of sports.

Early fall saw the football enthusiasts in touch football contests. This culminated in a grand interfraternity melee. The equestrians, too, saddled their nags and jogged the highways and byways. Some day this spring they will have their round-up. Later in the fall and early winter the basketball court and the rink claim a large number. The annual interfraternity basketball games drew crowds of interested followers. The feature of this tournament was the faculty game which drew crowds of hooting enthusiasts. Class basketball was also prominent.

Then came the winter sports meet—another huge success. In addition the search for Adonis continued and a general attack was made on the flat feet with "Howie" Prentice's special foot correctives.

Next will be the interfraternity track meet and the wrestling tournament, not a fraternity affair, to be followed by interfraternity baseball. Warm weather will find the horses cantering again 'til the end of the school year.

All the above events and activities are taken as a matter of fact by the student body. Yet, the sum total will reveal an astounding amount of work on the part of Prentice, Post and Levine. It is safe to say that these men have made a greater interest in gymnastics apparent, than has been present for many years.

Baseball Team Leaves On Second Invasion Of Season

Catamounts Cross Bats with Springfield this Afternoon and Yale Tomorrow—Outdoor Practice Brings Improvement to Team

CORBIN IS ELIGIBILITY MANAGER FOR 1930-31

Berger, Householder, and Park Assume Positions as Assistants —Work of Department is to Improve Scholarship of Athletes

S. S. Corbin '31 is the newly elected eligibility manager. He was elected after serving a year as an assistant to H. B. Levine, '30, having done the best work toward keeping athletes on the campus eligible for varsity sports competition. The assistants elected are P. B. Berger, F. W. Householder, and C. L. Parks, all of the class of '32.

Corbin is business manager of the CYNIC, assistant manager of baseball, and a member of the Delta Psi Fraternity. He has served on many class committees and through his journalistic efforts, earned an election to Pi Delta Rho.

FENCERS SHOW IMPROVED TEAM FOR PAST SEASON

A résumé of this year's fencing season shows that the Vermont swordsmen won one match and lost six. However, a glance at the scores will show that the Cats put up a good fight in most of their matches.

In the first match of the year Vermont invaded the Montreal A. A. and were repelled by a 13 to 12 score. Then in the second match of the year the Cats obtained their only victory by defeating Norwich 9 to 8. At Dartmouth the Green and Gold lost 8 to 5. In the only home match of the year, the Norwich rapier wielders vanquished Vermont 11 to 6. After the Norwich match, the Cats made a three-day trip, and fought matches with Boston University, N. Y. U. and C. C. N. Y. In

(Continued on page 4)

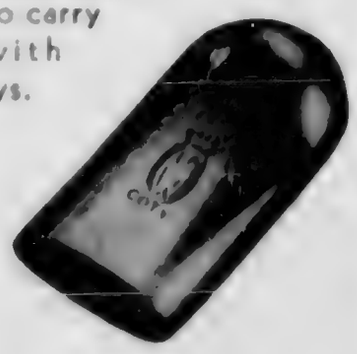
SARGENT AND CUMMINGS SLATED FOR MOUND DUTY

Last evening the varsity baseball squad left for Massachusetts and Connecticut on their second campaign of the season where they will meet the Springfield College nine this afternoon at Springfield. Tomorrow's opponent will be Yale at the bowl in New Haven.

Since their return from the southern tour weather conditions have been most favorable for outdoor practice and Coach Gardner has been giving the boys some rather strenuous workouts in preparation for their encounters with Springfield and Yale in the hope of somewhat rectifying the disastrous performances of a few weeks ago. Vast improvement could be seen in the outfit when the varsity beat the junior varsity in one of the practice sessions.

The boys are optimistic and enthusiastic and are sure that the errors which were indeed a bane to their success will no longer occur. Snappy workouts with plenty of pep has been the scene at Centennial Field during the past week and, according to the showing Yale has been putting up this season, there ought to be a tough battle at New Haven.

Springfield may prove to be quite an obstacle in the Catamounts' comeback as the "Y" College team certainly has been displaying a fine brand of baseball. However, with a little fight and spirit the Cats should tear their way to another victory.



"Wally" Sargent, the lanky tosser who turned in the only victory so far this season, is slated to appear in the box against Springfield with Stroh on the receiving end.

Charlie Cummings, the giant southpaw, will appear against Yale. Charlie has quite a bad leg and a sore arm and has not been able to show his worth as yet. Ruthowski and McBride will both be on hand for relief duty.

The probable line-ups in batting order:

Vermont—Jay, c.f.; Traynor, 2b.; Winant, 1b.; Howard, r.f.; Dinniman, l.f.; Stroh, c.; Pires, s.s.; McKay, 3b.; Sargent or Cummings, p.

In smart cases of polished platinum-tone—refillable favourite Coty odours. $1.50
Les Parfums
COTY
JUST for your purse—your favourite Coty Perfume to carry about with you always.

COTY

FACULTY CLUB ELECTS DOUGLASS PRESIDENT

[illegible] Douglass of the [illegible] was elected [illegible] at a meeting of the faculty club at a meeting held last night in the Ethan Allen dining room. Prof. Hiram Huse of the Mathematics Department was elected Vice-president and Mr. W. H. Crawford was elected to succeed to the office of [illegible]

An address on [illegible] was delivered by Dean E. C. L. [illegible] of the graduate school of [illegible] University who is a member of the Executive committee [illegible] Association. Dean [illegible] described the [illegible] of the faculty in connection with [illegible] and pointed out the many [illegible] for promoting [illegible] and suggested [illegible] of interest [illegible] Immediately following the talk

RUSSIAN LITERATURE IS GREY FRIAR'S THEME

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Russian literature [illegible] Russian [illegible] to serve a purpose and [illegible] enough the purpose in Russia is political and [illegible]

The last word groups but it is to be remembered that in Russia political freedom has been non-existent. The only possible way to serve one's fellow man was in literature, where there was comparative freedom. But not to frequently one of writers did evoke the displeasure of the government. Then the writer faced exile, execution or at the most close surveillance by the secret police. "The Russian literature for the first half of the nineteenth century was an attempt to preach a gospel to attain a reform. There is a note of despair in all Russian work at this time. Its heroes seek social advancement, but they lack the vital will to take the decisive step.

Later in the century" continued Gorman, "an epic of revolt reveals itself in Russian literature. A violent tone makes its appearance. The style is unpolished but beautiful in its results. Towards the end pessimism becomes the predominant tone. Reform has failed so often, therefore what can be gained."

The great contributions to Russian literature explained the speaker were written between 1909 and the present time.

The speaker named the outstanding Russian writers of that period and touched upon the decline of literature since the Revolution. He quoted William Lyon Phelps who has said "Russia has made a greater contribution to literature than America has." In concluding the speaker illustrated his talk by reading a short story from Chekhov.

SAYS COMMUNISM IS RUSSIAN SCHOOLS' AIM

(Continued from page 1)

Other types of schools not mentioned in previous classifications also came in for their share of the discussion. The speaker especially emphasized the "Down With Illiteracy" campaign pointing out the tremendous work being done among the illiterate in Soviet Russia and the success of these endeavors.

UNIVERSITY TEARS DOWN FORMER COMMONS HALL

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] at current prices of [illegible] to $3.00 to $4.00 a week.

Hash House Until War

[illegible] shortly after the World War, the buildings appeared vacant to the passers-by as Commons Hall. [illegible] and small hotel board reasonably for students. Years, as the Hash House, it continued the normal [illegible] plain wholesome food which are served at eating places at all campuses.

[illegible] it was made over into a cafeteria and ran as such until 1925. When the Burlington Junior High School was built it acquired the cafeteria equipment.

In late years up to spring vacation [illegible] drafting classes in the College of Engineering have been held in Commons Hall. These classes have now been transferred to the first floor of the old Junior High School building at the corner of College and South Willard Streets.

Boss: You are late every morning and are the first to leave at night. Who is this?

Boy: Well I don't want to be late when the same day.

M. C. M. Leads

MASS MEETING INSTALLS STUDENT UNION OFFICERS

[illegible] mass meeting of the year was held last Tuesday evening in the University gymnasium. The program began at 7:30 in the Old Mill Chapel when the new officers of Student Union were assigned. As previously announced they are: President Margaret Stanley '27 of Waterbury; chief justice Dorothy Nash '27 Concord N. H.; vice-president Lillian Mount '27 Burlington; secretary Harriet Wright '27 Essex Junction; treasurer James Davis '27 Walpole N. H.; chairmen of the program and social committees Ruth Frost '27 South Boston, Mass. and Olive Fobes '27 Brooklyn N. Y. Margaret Stanley and Dorothy Nash were elected to attend the convention of coeducational colleges on April 24 25 and 26 at the University of Maine.

The mass meeting closed in the gym with dancing to music by Freddie Lynch and Harlan Karr.

"Have you heard the new Prince of Wales song?"

"No, not yet."

"Over the Bounding Main."

NEWMAN CLUB TALKS OF BIBLE, CHURCH, POPE

[illegible] Bible and the infallibility of the Church and the Pope were the two principal subjects of discussion at the meeting of the Newman Club last Sunday evening in the Cathedral High School auditorium. The principal of the high school presided and led the [illegible] in a highly interesting manner, each member being called upon to [illegible] on some topic pertaining to one of the subjects in hand.

At a business meeting, the club outlined plans to hold its spring dance on the night of April 26, the place to be announced later. It was voted to discontinue preparation for a play due to the lateness of the season. The election of officers for the coming year will take place at the next meeting to be held in a few weeks.

The principal object of the discussion on infallibility was to correct the erroneous idea that the Pope, the visible head of the church is infallible in all things. The chairman emphasized the fact that it is only when he acts as a mouthpiece for the whole Roman Catholic Church that the Pontiff is infallible.

A hen's egg according to one of our poultry experts, is something nearly all hailstones are the size of.

ORATORS COMPETE FOR STATE HONORS HERE

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] the contestants meeting [illegible] in the final contest.

The contests in this State [illegible] the direction of the Vermont [illegible] masters Club, which is [illegible] The committe in charge [illegible] high schools and prepara[illegible] the committee in charge [illegible] H. D. Pearl, chairman, [illegible] James A. Boyd, Montpelier [illegible] ard Marble, Woodstock.

FENCERS SHOW IMPROVED TEAM FOR PAST SEASON

(Continued from page 1)

Boston, the Cats found the [illegible] too strong for them and [illegible] come by a 7 to 2 count. [illegible] day N. Y. U. proved to be a [illegible] violet and the Vermonters [illegible] selves on the short end of the [illegible] score. In the last match [illegible] son the C. C. N. Y. foil ace [illegible] also defeated the Catamounts [illegible] same score.

The men who fenced for Vermont were Aiken, Perelman, Stevens and Wadsworth.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH

64 COLCHESTER AVE.

Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music

SWEATERS AND GOLF HOSE

Sweater sets in the popular plain colors

A fine selection at 8.00

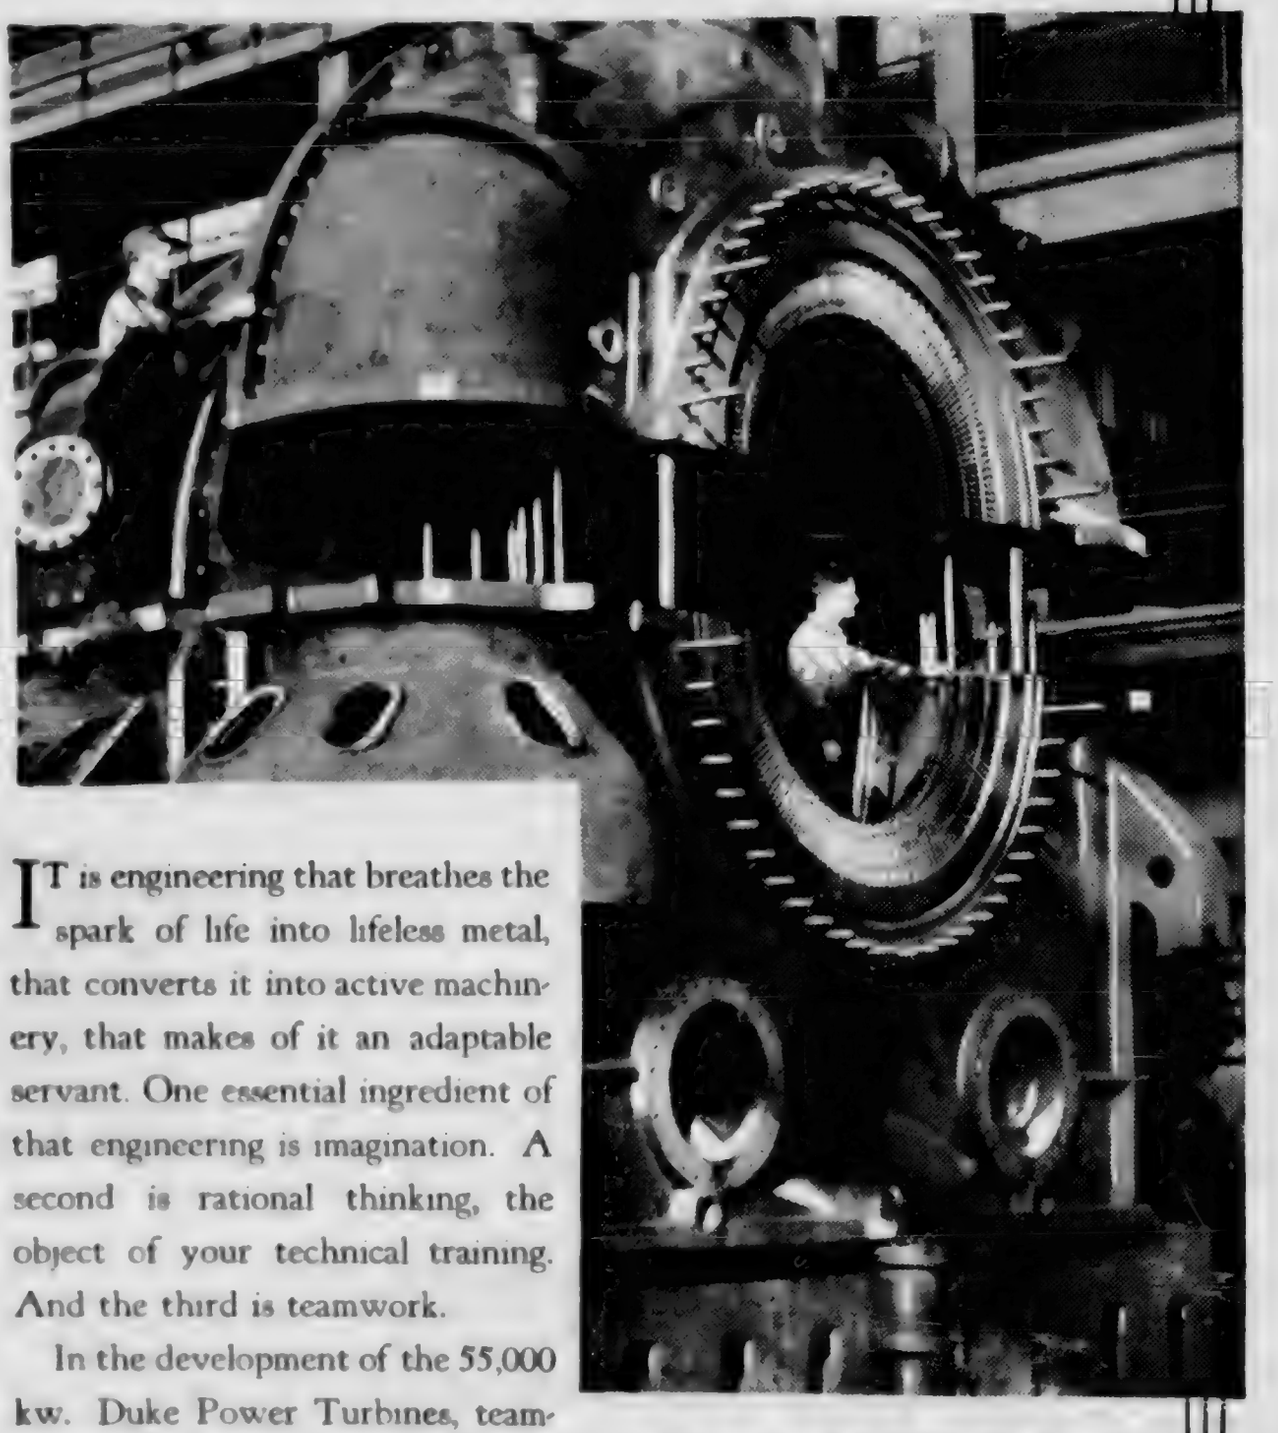
HAYES AND CARNEY



103-7 Bank St. Near Majestic

Open Evenings

"Where Vermont Men Meet"

DEAD METAL LEAPS TO LIFE

at the hands of Westinghouse engineers

IT is engineering that breathes the spark of life into lifeless metal, that converts it into active machinery, that makes of it an adaptable servant. One essential ingredient of that engineering is imagination. A second is rational thinking, the object of your technical training. And the third is teamwork.

In the development of the 55,000 kw. Duke Power Turbines, teamwork extended back to the date when George Westinghouse brought the steam turbine to America. It included men who have made life studies of vibration, of blade design, of the effects of superheated steam on metals; men who know how to make huge castings, the packers who have mastered the science of shipping giant machinery. And it took in also the business men who create a market for such machinery and who cement together the many-fold activities of the Westinghouse institution.

The 55,000 kw. turbine generator units that Westinghouse built for the River Bend station of Duke Power Company are the largest in the South.

Westinghouse

WHAT YOUNGER COLLEGE MEN ARE DOING WITH WESTINGHOUSE

W. F. BOYLE
Pratt Institute, '27
Turbine Sales

R. H. HANNEY
Tufts, '26
Condenser Sales

R. S. THATCHER
Drexel Institute, '27
Production Department

H. B. RASMUSSEN
M. I. T., '22
Turbine Engineering

J. C. HARPER
Lafayette College, '29
Turbine Sales

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, APRIL 22, 1930 NUMBER 49

U. V. M. TO ATTEND MODEL ASSEMBLY

Vermont Students Will Sit In at Sessions of Model League of Nations

YALE UNIVERSITY WILL SPONSOR CONFERENCE

Student representatives of the University of Vermont will be present at the 1930 Model Assembly of the League of Nations which will be held at Yale University Thursday and Friday. Students representing every class will be sent by the Vermont Christian Association and the International Relations Club. The men making the trip are R. L. Stewart, '30, president of the I. R. C. and vice-president of the V. C. A.; E. A. R. Germain, '31, secretary of the I. R. C. and director of publicity for the V. C. A.; J. C. Carter, '31, of the V. C. A. cabinet; and W. C. Perry, '31.

Forty colleges and Universities will be represented at the Assembly, each country being allotted the seats of a member of the League. To demonstrate the uncertainty of world peace, no official observers will be present from Russia or the United States, non-members of the League. The Vermont delegation will represent Austria.

Program

The assembly will open with a dance on the evening of Friday, April 25. The rest of the program follows:

Saturday April 26:

9:45 a.m. Meetings opened by chairmen of the New England Council.

10:00 a.m. Address of Welcome by President Angell of Yale (honorary president of the Advisory Council for the assembly).

10:15 a.m. The introduction of the President of the League Assembly by the Chairman of the Council.

10:30 a.m. Model Plenary Meeting of the League Assembly. (Eleventh session of the Sixth Plenary Meeting.) Topic: Compulsory Settlement of International Disputes by Peaceful Means. The discussion will take the form of a debate on an amendment to the Covenant designed to "close the gap which at present permits of war as a means of settlement for some disputes." Several amendments would be necessary to embody the new principle completely and these will be drafted and presented in toto, but one of them will be selected as the key one for debating the principle. After a short explanation by the president, the amendment will be presented by the rapporteur of the committee which has supposedly been drafting the revisions of the Covenant, and a debate will take place, followed by a vote.

1:30 p.m. Meeting adjourned.

3:00 p.m. Meeting of the League Assembly. (Eleventh ordinary session of the Seventh Plenary Meeting.) Topic: "Security and Sanctions against Aggressor Nations." As in the morning meeting one amendment will be selected from a number necessary to revise the Covenant so as to embody the principle of common action by all members of the league against any state which fails to fulfill its legal obligations in regard to the peaceful settlement of disputes. The amendments will define those actions by which nations would infringe their obligations and will outline the manner by which peace-abiding members of the league shall ensure their mutual security. And once again, one of these amendments to the Covenant will be selected, introduced by a rapporteur, and made the key question of a debate. A vote will again mark the end of discussion.

4:30 p.m. Meeting adjourns.

8:00 p.m. Meeting of the League Assembly. (Eleventh ordinary session of the Eighth Plenary Meeting.) Topic: "The Monroe Doctrine." The Rapporteur will introduce an amendment proposing to leave out the words "the Monroe Doctrine" in Article 21 of the Covenant, which recognizes the regional validity of international understandings for securing the maintenance of peace. This will give an opportunity for the airing of views on more specifically American affairs than were dealt with in the morning, and for discussion and a defense of the Monroe Doctrine of the United States.

W. A. A. COUNCIL PICKS TWO SPORTS CHAIRMEN

Elsie Dunn, '31, has been elected chairman of women's baseball and Winifred Graham, '32, chairman of hockey.

COMMITTEE WILL STUDY PRESS CLUB METHODS

Cora Humphrey, '32, was appointed chairman of a committee for improving the methods of the Press Club, at a meeting of the organization last Friday afternoon.

Miss Humphrey's recommendations will extend to the relations of the Press Club with high school publications.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY TO MARK OBSERVANCES

Celebration of Thirty-ninth Annual Founder's Day Saturday to Witness Traditional Events

Impressive ceremonies will mark the thirty-ninth annual celebration of Founder's Day next Saturday morning, with President Guy W. Bailey presiding over the exercises in the Ira Allen Chapel.

According to custom, the president will make announcement of the results of the elections of the following honorary societies: Boulder, men's academic senior society; Mortar Board, women's academic senior society; Cap and Skull, medical senior society; Key and Serpent, junior society; Gold Key, sophomore society; Pi Delta Rho, journalistic society; Scabbard and Blade, military society; and Kappa Mu Epsilon, engineering society. Neither Grey Friars, honorary literary society, nor Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating society, nor any of the women's honoraries besides Mortar Board will make announcements at this time.

IRA ALLEN
Founder of the University

E. H. Clowse, principal of Richmond High School, will be the main speaker of the day. F. A. Sears, who last year spoke for the junior class, will this year deliver the senior address. J. A. Bradish will speak for the juniors.

Casts of Operas Are Optimistic

Enthusiasm Pervades Singers in "Orpheus" and "Trial by Jury"

DOUBLE BILL WILL BE PRESENTED AT STRONG

A feeling of optimism and enthusiasm pervades the casts of the grand opera "Orpheus" and the comic opera "Trial by Jury" as they make final preparations for the musical productions which will be presented at the Strong Theatre Thursday evening.

"'Orpheus' is far more tuneful than any opera given at Vermont in the past," declared Harrison Goddard, who is playing the lead in this year's grand opera, in answer to a reporter's query yesterday. Goddard explained that "Orpheus" is the first attempt at grand opera since "Dido and Aeneas," and that it is in sharp contrast to the comic operas of the past two seasons, the tragic harmony in "Orpheus" differing markedly from anything that has ever been offered before at the University.

Tragedy has Appeal

"Tragedy, especially in a musical production, has a much greater appeal for an intelligent audience than does the lighter and humorous comedy," explained Hazel Ladd, who will sing the feminine lead in the grand opera. Miss Ladd added that tragedy is a better vehicle for the characterization of a part because human nature is more in sympathy with the tragic.

"Although 'Dido and Aeneas' was even more tragic than 'Orpheus,'" Miss Ladd continued, "I think that the music in 'Orpheus' is more beautiful and contains much more power and feeling."

"I enjoy my work in 'Orpheus' very much because it is so different from my previous parts," declared Marion Baldwin, leader of the chorus, when interviewed. Miss Baldwin further explained that her solos in "Orpheus" are as pretty as any she has ever had, and that although the music is sad, she, too, agreed that it is very beautiful. She feels that the grand opera is the biggest and most difficult undertaking ever tried at Vermont, and that it will be liked fully as well as the comic opera. Miss Baldwin typified the enthusiasm that all the members of the cast have for the success of "Orpheus."

"There is a lot of fun and there are many surprises in the comic opera, 'Trial by Jury,' and it surely will be enjoyed by those who see it," said Major Jenks, defendant in the trial, when asked his opinion concerning the comic opera, which will be presented on the same bill as "Orpheus." Jenks also pointed out that the comic opera has a good plot, and although it is rather short it is very interesting and clever.

A. A. Scharbius, judge in the trial, in answer to several like queries by an interviewer, said that "Trial by Jury" is different from the ordinary college play, and that it will be a relief from the heavier drama of the earlier opera.

"Humor is the main part of 'Trial by Jury,'" explained Scharbius, "and the students cannot help being enthusiastic over it because it is so funny."

REV. TATUM TO SPEAK IN CHAPEL WEDNESDAY

Rev. Horace O. Tatum, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Burlington will address the student body at the chapel service Wednesday morning.

Reverend Tatum was minister of the First Baptist Church at Chester before he came to Burlington to assume his duties here.

METHODIST BISHOP WILL PREACH BACCALAUREATE

McConnell Will Deliver Sermon During Commencement Exercises at Vermont Next June

Bishop Francis John McConnell of New York City will be the baccalaureate preacher at the University during the Commencement exercises the afternoon of Sunday, June 15, in the Ira Allen Chapel.

Bishop McConnell is rated as one of the outstanding speakers of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States. He is a native of Ohio and received his A.B. degree from Wesleyan University in 1894; S.T.B. Boston University, 1897, and Ph.D., 1899; D.D., Ohio Wesleyan, 1905, L.L.D., Hanover College and Wesleyan University, 1909.

Bishop McConnell entered the Methodist Episcopal ministry in 1894. He was pastor of the West Chelmsford, Mass., Church from 1894 to 1897; Newton Upper Falls, Mass., 1897 to 1899; Ipswich, Mass., 1899 to 1902; Harvard Street, Cambridge, Mass., 1902 to 1903; New York Avenue, Brooklyn, 1903 to 1909.

He was president of De Pauw University from 1909 to 1912. He was elected bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in May, 1912. He was president of the Religious Education Association in 1916.

Bishop McConnell is an author and writer of note. Included among his books are: "The Diviner Immanence," 1906; "Religious Certainty," 1910; "Christian Focus," 1911; "The Increase of Faith," 1912; "Personal Christianity," 1914; "Understanding the Scriptures," 1917; "Democratic Christianity," 1919; "Public Opinion and Theology," 1920; "The Preacher and the People," 1922; "Is God Limited?" 1924; "The Christlike God."

STUDENT BUILDING CAMPAIGN OPENS

Christian Associations and Campus Organizations Back Drive for Activities Center

SUPPORT WILL SHOW INTEREST IN PROJECT

The drive for the proposed Student Union building, sponsored by the University Christian Associations, officially opened today. The student campaign will conclude Thursday.

Representatives of all campus organizations met at the Methodist Church last night with the sponsors of the drive to consider plans for the week. Dean Elijah Swift, Mr. M. D. Powers of the Y. C. A., and Miss Margaret Patten, business manager of the Alumni Weekly, were also present.

Although the committee in charge realizes that the sums raised on the campus will not be large, nevertheless it expects to use the issue of the campaign, should it be successful, as an indication of student interest in the building, towards which alumni have already pledged $80,000. It is the aim of the campaign managers to secure a good number of contributions, whether large or small, rather than a few large donations.

To Erect Campaign Booths

Booths will be erected at various places on the campus, where men and women will be stationed to receive student contributions. A booth will be located at the entrance to the Billings Library, one at the Engineering Building, and one at each end of the hall on the first floor of the Old Mill.

Letters have been sent to every student and professor in the University seeking cooperation in the campaign.

A large wooden thermometer has been erected in front of the "Y" rooms in the Old Mill, which will indicate the amount of money that has been turned in toward the Student Union building fund.

The Building

The Student Union building is designed to meet the social needs of the student body. Several sets of plans for the building have been drawn up and a number of architects have been

(Continued on page 3)

War Department And Legion Seek to Popularize Military Training Here

In an effort to popularize military training in the colleges and universities of the United States, the war department and a group of patriotic societies, to curb the growing opposition within the R. O. T. C. have embarked on a program according material benefits to R. O. T. C. students in a large number of colleges.

According to word received by Lieut. Col. F. F. Black, the war department has already taken the first step by increasing the allowances for commutation of uniforms. Beginning with the next college year, freshmen and sophomores will be allowed ten dollars per year, while advanced students in the junior and senior class will receive an annual allowance of twenty dollars.

By this change in regulations the present freshman class will, next year as sophomores, be reimbursed by the government in the sum of $12.85, the difference between the old rate of $7.15 and the total commutation for wearing the uniform two years as a basic student, instead of the old allowance of $14.30 for the two years basic course.

The present junior class will be given as commutation next year as seniors, $10.00, in lieu of $6.00, the old allowed, bringing their total commutation for the two years to $40.00, whereas under the old regulations their allowance for the two years was $26.00.

As this new regulation does not become effective until July 1, 1930, the present sophomore and senior classes will not be benefited by the change but will be reimbursed at the rate of $14.30 as basic students and $26.00 as advanced students.

Legion Offers Cup

In sympathy with the aims of the war department, the Burlington Post of the American Legion announces the annual award of a trophy to the most proficient company in the University battalion.

The Legion, in making the award, frankly states that it is in line with its policy of stimulating interest in military activities in the United States, especially in schools, colleges and universities. The Legion is possessed with a dread of unpreparedness and hopes, by means of such systems as the R. O. T. C., to avoid such a condition.

Captain W. V. Rattan, for five years assistant professor of military science and tactics at the University, will not return to Vermont next year, according to official notice from the war department. He will be succeeded by Lieut. Clarence M. Tomlinson, who is now studying at the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga.

Captain Rattan, while at the University, coached freshman football for three years and varsity football for two. It is not yet known to what post he will be assigned next year.

Lieutenant Tomlinson, a native of Minnesota, has served in the army since 1916, when he entered as a corporal in the Wisconsin infantry. He saw service on the Mexican border, attended the first Officers' Training Camp, and, in 1917, gained a second lieutenant's commission in the reserves. The following year he earned his lieutenancy in the regular army.

He resigned from the army in September, 1919, but re-entered in September, 1921, and was promoted to a first lieutenancy three years later. Lieutenant Tomlinson is a graduate of the Army Tank School and will receive his diploma in the company officers' course at Fort Benning next June.

Orators Win University Scholarships In Finals of Interscholastic Contest

University scholarships went to three winners in the Vermont interscholastic oratorical finals last Friday evening. In previous contests the University had awarded nine other scholarships, bringing the total of all awards to $1,300.

Floyd Kinsley of People's Academy, Morrisville, was awarded state champion honors and scholarships totalling $250. Second place honors went to Clara Jay of St. Albans High School, who earned scholarships aggregating an equal amount. A week before, in the district contests, Miss Jay had beaten Kinsley. Lester H. Lovell of Brattleboro High School took third place, with $175 in scholarships. Both first and second place winners come from the Burlington district. Lovell placed first in the Montpelier section.

Kinsley in the Nationals

Kinsley will represent the state in a regional contest against orators from six other eastern states in May at a place soon to be determined.

Peoples' Academy has furnished a state champion orator in two of the three Vermont state oratorical contests, Roberta Powers, '32, winning two years ago. Last year's winner came from Brattleboro.

The other speakers Friday night were Miss Ethel Lavanthal of Montpelier High School, Bernard C. Vordette of Rutland High School and Miss Hilda Robinson of Woodstock High School. Miss Robinson and Vondette won first and second places, respectively, in the Rutland district contest a week ago, and Miss Lavanthal was second in the Montpelier district contest.

Prof. Frederick Tupper presided. The judges were Prof. K. R. B. Flint of Norwich, Prof. E. C. Mower of the University of Vermont, and Prof. P. C. Perkins of Middlebury.

(Continued on page 4)

In order to permit the inclusion of the list of honor society elections, the Cynic will delay publication of the next issue until Saturday morning.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editors

Women's Editor

Sports Editor

STUART S. CURRIN '31
Business Manager

News Editors

Feature Editors

Dramatic Editor

Associate Editors

Associate Sports Editors

Assistant Sports Editors

Assistant Managers

Women's Associate Editor

Women's Athletic Editor — Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents.

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned in before 4 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday.

Published at 167 College street every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Managing Editor, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1925.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — April 22, 1930 — No. 49

ARIELS AND ELECTIONS

The general situation that centers on the Ariel is brought home sharply to us when, on the heels of the announcement that the year book will be considerably delayed this year, candidates for next year's editorships begin preparations for the coming elections. And yet it is at this very moment that all the difficulties lies.

The editor and the business manager of the Ariel are chosen by popular election on the whole class. Frequently there is no requirement that a candidate for either office need have scrubbed for the position to which he aspires. Hardly a voter at the election knows how much work a candidate has done in trying out for the year book and hardly anyone votes. Hardly a voter at the election knows how capable a candidate is and knows several more. The election itself is arranged beforehand by political groups on the basis of fraternity affiliations and the results resemble nothing more than the struggles of fraternity cliques.

Mismanagement has always been the bane of the Ariel and so the task always is to be ascribed to the editor, but rather to the failure of the board to cooperate with him. All appointments to the board are made by the editor and the business manager with a patronage system governing all choices. Obviously the man with the most votes is not necessarily the man with the most ability or with the most willingness to work. And the board has suffered needlessly from the results of the elections, as the results in the past.

We see but one way out of the situation we propose the establishment of the merit system for all candidates for the year book. Freshmen and sophomores will work for a year and a half before they become eligible to enter to an editorship, when there will be a definite basis of choice. With such a plan in force, the fear of the board can be greatly diminished, and the whole work given to a half dozen men who, with the aid of their wealth, should have no difficulty in issuing a good annual and issuing it on time.

The Record has followed the example of the Cynic in obviating the evils of promiscuous politics at elections. It has gone even further than its brother publication in having all power of election in the editor and a board selected leaving no voice at all to the board which formerly dictated all choices. The Ariel on the other hand takes the opposite extreme placing elections in the hands of a whole class. The most enthusiastic of the University have seen the danger of entrusting election to even a small body; the yearbook is willing to give every voter a say where even the best informed might be hesitant to hazard an opinion.

The initiative for the action we propose should come from the present sophomore class which should at its last annual transfer the election of the Ariel staff to a merit basis. The next editor should be instructed to institute a system of weighs upon the understanding that from those who made the most points will be chosen. It will not be too much to expect the board to go out on this themselves.

Ten Timely Topics

TARA TANTARA TRIPO

[illegible]

[illegible]

There was one week when Vice Ignoble Dan Cupid kept three women on the campus [illegible] Dean Hicks has announced an [illegible] of United Drives.

It is just as well that the Columbia faculty put a ban on the campus activities [illegible] as by the specialist readers would in marriage and mortals that indeed there are a good deal like half-baked bread. The Spike Contributing Editor. We question that no bread at all is far better. And then the deaf pose the question why we have any college students who can't think at all.

A member of the class of '31 writes: "Hell is an awful and a needless thing. Personally I hate it and shall do all within my power to make it impossible in the future, and it seems to me that one thing which can be done now is to get rid of compulsory military training in schools and colleges." I see the Cynic from time to time and I have nothing but praise for its attitude on this question.

May we humbly offer the suggestion that before the public is again invited to the Ira Allen Chapel that some steps be taken to clean the curtains? We cannot but feel that they are somewhat of a disgrace in their present condition.

It has been popular in this scientific age to predict the next turn which invention will take, but one hardly needs to more than look at present inventions to hazard a guess that in the next war of there is one the infantry rifleman will play a mighty small part. He is gone with the cross bowman and the knight in armor. Why then does the military department continue to waste its valuable time on infantry drill and rifle marks manship when Uncle Sams money could be so much more efficiently employed in learning how to wipe out whole cities with poison gases, or disease germs or airplane raids?"

Once in a while we wonder what the Morrill Daily would do for filler if such college papers as the Cynic stopped printing editorials. Just the same we feel it a compliment that they consider them worth reprinting and a privilege to put our ideas before so large a reading public and we are sure the editor will agree with us.

An official of the public library in one of our large cities made a statement as to the book the largest number of copies of which were worn out in a year that book may surprise you, although it didn't us. It was Alice in Wonderland. Recently we made a statement about that place at the back of the world where sense and nonsense meet. Lewis Carroll it was who explained this and claimed it as the kingdom of childhood. Children are by no means exclusive, however, and for instance even as you and I are invited to visit this kingdom with the Book-a-Week Club.

It has been a long time, or at least a long time as time goes on college campuses since a more worthwhile group of speakers has visited Vermont than have been her guests the year past. Beginning with five speakers at the Week-end Conference, five University Lectures and four at the recent International Institute as well as a number of very worthwhile men who have appeared elsewhere in the city. Looking back at the array the two most significant are Peter B Kaang and Carl Sandberg.

A recent item on college sports at once caught our attention. It is from the Boston Post and is as follows:

"Even though Dartmouth and Yale have entered into no specific agreement about playing their teams on stacked from the bench Coach Tesreau of Dartmouth will be in the stands. In this way the team will receive no advice during the contest."

This is a most wholesome sign to our mind and follows closely with the reasoning that college activities be they athletics or newspapers, should be under student direction and reflect student ability.

ALSO WHO DOES HARTFORD CONN?

How many did Philadelphia Pa?
How many does Connecticut?
How many eggs did Louisiana La?
What grows on Maine Me?
We call Minneapolis Minn
Why not Annapolis Ann?
If you can't tell the reason why
Perhaps Topeka Kan. Tuscaloosa
—The Log

HARRISON GODDARD

HAZEL LADD

PRINCIPALS IN "ORPHEUS"

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

The District President, Mrs. Rachel Poole, was a visitor at the Kappa Alpha Theta House from Sunday, April 13 to Wednesday April 16. The Alumnae chapter entertained Mrs. Poole Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. F. D. Carpenter. Tuesday afternoon the active chapter gave a tea in her honor from four to six at the chapter house. Delegates from the women's fraternities on campus and the members of the Alumnae chapter were invited.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The National President, Pearle Bonnstecle is the guest of Delta Delta Delta for Monday and Tuesday of this week, April 21, and April 22.

Emily Murray, '31, attended the province convention in Syracuse from Thursday, April 17, to Sunday, April 20.

PI BETA PHI

Pi Beta Phi held its initiation Saturday, April 12. The banquet took place at the Hotel Vermont Roof Garden with Katherine McSweeney as toastmistress. The following girls were initiated: Ruth E. Small, '31, Mary H. Clough, '32, Alice H. Gay, '32, Louise M. Meeker, '33, Antoinette C. Hubbard, 33, Marion E. Kiel, '33, Ellen H. Laidlaw, '33, Juliet W. Marston, '33, Shirley D. Nichols, '33, Dorothy M. Taylor, '33, Isabel Torrens, '33, Beatrice E. Wallace, '33, Muriel E. Wheatley, '33, Mary P. Morris, '32, and Elizabeth G. Howe, '32.

Prudence Ingham was the delegate at initiation from Middlebury.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Alpha Xi Delta entertained Alpha Pi chapter from Middlebury on Founder's Day, Thursday, April 17. The alumnae gave the supper at the Alpha Xi Delta rooms, and the freshmen furnished entertainment.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Elizabeth Clark, '31, and Martha Leighton, '32, will attend the installation of the new chapter of Alpha Chi Omega at Toronto University, Toronto, Canada, Tuesday April 22.

Alpha Chi Omega installed her officers Wednesday evening, April 16. They are as follows: Alice C. Dodge, '31, president; Lillian E. Mount, '32, vice-president; Helen Drugg, '31, treasurer; Dorothy D. Nash, '31, recording secretary; Pauline C. Willis, '31, corresponding secretary; Elizabeth Clark, '31, "Lyre" editor; Alberta G. Berry, '31, historian; Edith G. Pritchard, '31, chaplain; Beatrice G. Parkhill, '32, warden.

The freshmen furnished entertainment after the meeting.

SIGMA GAMMA

The Sigma Gamma formal will be a dinner dance at the Ethan Allen Club, Friday, April 25. Dean and Mrs. Elijah Swift, and Captain and Mrs. W. E. Lauer will be the chaperones.

Doris Chamberlain, '23, of Springfield Vermont was recently married to Paul Cady of Rutland, Vermont.

KAPPA DELTA

Chocolates were passed on Thursday evening, April 17, to announce the engagement of Edna Shaw, '29, to Otis Hanshick.

Second degree services were held April 12 for Esther Beardsley, '33, Marion Cooney, 30, Helen Don Leavy, '31, and Dorothy Edwards, '33.

Kappa Delta announces the installation of two new chapters: Alpha Chi at Oglethorpe University, Atlanta, Georgia. Alpha Upsilon at Birmingham Southern College, Birmingham, Alabama.

Colgate is working toward the ideal of "football for all"—at least for all that have a desire for it. Three teams were used in the St. Lawrence game, twenty-four players in the Wisconsin contest and thirty-eight in several minor games. As a result greater interest has been shown on the part of the "scrubs."

Helen: Doesn't it upset you when you fall over a pedestrian?

Joe: I never fell over one as big as that.

THE MUSE CONVERSES

She came into the police station with a photograph in her hand.

"My husband has disappeared," said she. "This is his photo," and she handed it to the inspector.

"I want him found at once," she added.

The inspector looked up from the photograph.

"Why," he asked.—Ga Tech Yellow Jacket.

Frosh: Gee, I'm overworked these days.
Soph: Yeh, whatcha doin'?
Frosh: Oh, this and that.
Soph: When?
Frosh: Now and then.
Soph: Where?
Frosh: Here and there.
Soph: Golly, you must be all worn out.

Because they broke up a parade of communists and unemployed men Friday, fifty University of Wisconsin students are facing the condemnation of faculty groups, and five ringleaders may be arrested and prosecuted.

The leaders against the communistic demonstration are reported to have started the fight to end rumors they thought circulating the country about "red" sentiment at Wisconsin. Professors of law and sociology and the president of the Liberal Club at the University, termed the outbreak "boorish pugnacity" on the part of athletes.

First Negro—"Whaffo you looking so unnecessary, Glutinous?"
Second Negro—"Ah feels like a dumb owl, Presidament."
"Reveal yoah meaning man."
"Ah jest don't give a hoot."
—M. C. M. Lob.

Go "Grade A" tourist third cabin . . . LEVIATHAN

This season, brand new Tourist Third Cabin on the LEVIATHAN, World's Largest Ship... the entire second cabin assigned to "Tourist Third"... all its beautiful public rooms and staterooms... its elegant, open upper deck social hall which gives you a full sweep of the sea... its charming cloistered smoking hall... its vast open and enclosed decks for play and promenades... luxuries and spaciousness exceeding former standards for this class. Second Class, as a class, abolished... new Tourist Third Cabin rated "Grade A" and the LEVIATHAN the only liner to offer this peerless rating! Make haste in booking this new, luxurious way on the mightiest five-day flyer to Cherbourg and Southampton. Rates low.

Excellent Tourist Third Cabin Accommodations also on United States Cabin Liners... for as little as $10.25 a day!

OFFICIAL FLEET OF 183 COLLEGE ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS FOR EUROPEAN TRAVEL

Consult your local steamship agent or

UNITED STATES LINES

WM. A. McISAAC, General Agent, 75 State Street, Boston, Mass.

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR L. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

Much Competition On Jayvee Squad

Pitching and Catching Staffs Contain Experienced Players—No Schedule Yet Announced

[illegible] baseball should be [illegible] this year due to the [illegible] of the men are ex[illegible] players. Coach "Doc" New[illegible] practice every day and [illegible] rapidly rounding into [illegible]. The pitching and catching de[illegible] are exceptionally strong [illegible] Farmer, Fienberg and Ben[illegible] ing the promising twirling [illegible] with the possibility of the [illegible] varying into some of the [illegible] before the season is [illegible] Tomasetti, Towne and Foster [illegible] most likely aspirants for the [illegible] assignment. No schedule has [illegible] announced.

ALUMNUS MAKES GIFT TO UNIVERSITY MUSEUM

William W. Murray, '97 of Canonsburg, Pa., has given the University [illegible] a set of lantern slides of [illegible] Canyon. The set consists of [illegible] two beautiful hand-colored pictures and in the letter accompanying the gift Mr Murray writes that he [illegible] this to be the nucleus of a collection to be added to from time to time in honor of Dean G. H. Perkins. Mr Murray expresses the hope that [illegible] who were among Professor Perkins' students in geology and anthropology will feel moved to make additions to the collection and intimates that he himself will be one of these contributors.

Last August Mr. and Mrs. Murray traveled through some of the canyons of southern Utah and the Grand Canyon of Arizona. Mr. Murray says that the trip to the Grand Canyon was the culmination of a wish made while listening to Professor Perkins' lecture on the Canyon many years ago. They visited Zion Canyon and Bryce Canyon, Cedar Breaks and the Kaibab Forest. It was at Bryce Canyon, with its [illegible] sculptoring and coloring, that the slides were purchased.

EDUCATION FRATERNITY INITIATES NEW MEMBERS

George P. Wissell, '30, and Ernest M. [illegible] '31 were initiated into Kappa Phi Kappa, national honorary educational fraternity, at a meeting held last Thursday evening in the Education office.

It was voted at the meeting to agree to petitions from the following institutions seeking membership in the national fraternity: University of Southern California, New York University and Bucknell University.

E. M. Stevens, '31, was appointed manager of the annual banquet of the [illegible] chapter to be held sometime in the middle of May.

TRACK MEN TRAINING FOR COMING SEASON

With the approach of the first meet of the season, which is at Amherst on May 3, the track candidates are working hard to get in shape. The schedule this year includes four meets and Coach "Archie" Post has hopes of putting a well-balanced team on the field to represent Vermont. There are several letter men, headed by Captain Mace, around which the coach will build his team. Extensive practice will be carried on this week nd next in final preparation for the meet, and it will be up to each candidate to show his worth for the coach to determine who will go on the trip.

PHYZ ED NOTES

"Howie," "Archie" and "Bump" are a bit worried. It seems that they are going to Cambridge, Mass., next summer to spend a few weeks at Harvard. Well, that's all right because Radcliffe isn't very far away so that anxiety was eliminated. As for the crimson neckties; the local haberdasher has something right smart in a three-color combination of crimson, green and gold. This should speak well for the trio, in fact it may even shout.

The real difficulty lies in the language. It seems that up here in dear old U. V. M. we speak English, or at least Vermontese, whereas, down South in Boston—pronounced Baasstan—they speak an entirely different dialect. This jargon is known as Cambridgian or better still Havardian—pronounced Hawrawdiun—the r being sounded as the h in whoozit. Whoozit in turn being derived from the sanskrit on erring socks and it from the Arabian meaning appeal.

The three must-get-hers (musketeers) have applied in vain to the foreign language department. They would appreciate any help that the student body can give them.

A minor difficulty is the hello one. In the "Hawvawd Yawd" the students never, never say hello under any circumstances. The story is told of two students taking the same course for four years and usually sitting beside each other in classes. These "chawps" never said hello to each other all during this time. Finally at commencement—imagine their embarrassment—they found that they were related, i.e., both having the same set of parents, thus making them brothers. However, this is minor difficulty because even on this campus hellos are fast disappearing. So, if you co-eds can speak "Hawvawd" please lend your aid.

Student Building Campaign Opens

(Continued from page 1)

working on the project. A picture of one of the proposed plans appeared in the last issue of the CYNIC and that of another design is in the Billings Library. Definite plans have not yet been drawn up.

Tentative plans for the proposed building provide for the following on the ground floor: A modern swimming pool, 80 by 40 feet, a cafeteria and large kitchen, including a training table for athletes, the University Store, a CYNIC office, and an Ariel room.

On the second floor provision will be made for a large women's lounge room, a large men's lounge room with pool room attached, and offices. The third floor will be occupied by a huge dance hall and auditorium. On this floor it is also planned to have an activities room where campus organizations may hold their meetings. The fourth floor will contain a large faculty room, a Y. M. C. A. room, a Y. W. C. A. room, offices, and dressing rooms connected with the stage of the auditorium.

Spring Football Makes Progress

Line and Backfield Candidates Receiving Daily Practice in Fundamentals Under New Coaching Staff

In the short time spring training has been in the offing, marked progress has been made under the new regime of Coach "Dave" Dunn, who, since he has taken command has demonstrated to the squad and competent observers of the game, that future Catamount teams will take the field thoroughly educated to the rudiments of the pigskin. One need but watch him in action to realize the complete mastery he has over the situation. It is common knowledge that those who have come out are working with all their might to aid in the rejuvenation which is taking place and this spirit has certainly given heart to our new varsity mentor.

Under the supervision of Head Coach Dunn and his two assistants, "Bump" Levine and George Tully the line has been given practice in the correct form and position in charging together with the essentials of offensive and defensive tactics. Even if the linesmen absorb but a small bit, a vast improvement should be shown. Backfield practice under the personal charge of Coach Dunn has been given to "Ed" Gourson, "Bill" Heaton and "Tom" Collins who have received coaching on kicking, forward passing and practice in catching and persuing back punts.

Coach Dunn has worked out a tandem play, although a bit early appears to be a potent formation in regardless of what type play and promises to bring forth interesting developments.

"Are you sure Mr. Slutz is not in?"
"Do you doubt his own word?"
Williams Purple Cow.

Springfield And Yale Take Measure Of Vermont Nine

Rutkowski Pitches Good Game in First Encounter—Cats Get Nine Hits in Two Contests—Defense Wobbles in Yale Bowl

TWO BAD!

SPRINGFIELD

	ab.	bh.	po.	a.
Becker, 2b	3	2	0	1
McNeish, 2b	1	0	0	0
Bigsbee, 3b	4	2	1	5
Davidson, c.f.	4	3	2	1
Miller, ss	3	0	1	1
Blesh, l.f.	4	0	2	1
Seewagen, r.f.	3	1	3	1
Woods, 1b	4	0	12	0
Kinney, c.	3	0	6	1
Lipp, p.	3	1	0	6
Totals	33	9	27	17

VERMONT

	ab.	bh.	po	a
Jay, c.f.	4	2	0	3
Trainer 2b.	2	0	2	1
Winant, 1b	4	1	8	0
Howard, r.f.	4	0	1	0
Dinniman, l.f.	4	0	1	0
Kendall, c.f.	2	0	0	0
Piree, ss	2	0	2	5
McKay, 3b	3	1	1	2
Rutkowski, p.	4	2	0	2
Totals	29	6	24	13

Springfield ..... 0 0 0 1 0 2 1 0 x—4
Vermont ..... 0 0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0—2

Two-base hits — Bigsbee, Miller. Three-base hits — Becker, Davidson, Winant, Seewagen. Stolen bases — Jay 2. Sacrifices — Trainer, Piree, McKay. Struck out — by Lipp 6, by Rutkowski 6. Hit by pitcher — by Lipp (Kendall). Wild pitch — Rutkowski. Umpires — Miller and Sullivan. Time — 1 hour and 50 minutes.

YALE

	ab.	bh.	po.	a.
Booth, ss.	3	1	3	5
Taylor, ss.	0	0	0	0
Beyer, 2b.	3	0	5	5
Walker, 1f.	5	0	0	0
Robertson, l.f.	0	0	0	0
Jennison, l.f.	0	0	0	0
Vincent, 1b.	5	2	10	0

(Continued on page 4)

DINNIMAN GETS TWO OF THREE HITS OFF YALE

By CY NATHANSON

The Catamount nine added two more losses to that already bulging column of adverse 1929-30 Vermont athletic results when Springfield and Yale colleges treated the Green and Gold most harshly with 4 to 2 and 14 to 1 setbacks, respectively, Friday and Saturday at Springfield, Mass., and New Haven, Conn. The losses were the seventh and eighth in nine starts, Army being the only humiliator.

It was the hope of Vermont fans that the baseball team would atone for the dreadful showing made by teams in other sports, but so far no such atonement has been made. The squad has been up against it this spring with injuries in the pitching staff as a severe handicap. "Wally" Sargent, star twirler, was unable to make the trip on account of a strained "dorsal." As a result, Yale boosted its team and individual batting averages at the expense of Cummings and McBride. "Chet" Rutkowski, sore arm and all, did a good job at Springfield on the mound, got two lusty singles himself, but got little support at bat.

There's a two weeks' siesta ahead, unless a game is scheduled for April 26, and the pitchers should be in good shape. The fielding is erratic. Six errors in the Bowl don't make very good soup. The pitchers can't be expected to deliver in front of a barrage of boots and babbles. The catching department is still doubtful. Stroh caught all the southern trip games and Kendall did all the work against the most recent opposition.

Dinniman continued to play valuable ball by getting two hits at home—New

(Continued on page 4)

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
* * *
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

SPRING
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES
NOW HERE
PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

Worth of material,
beauty of design, prices insuring value combine to make this store the one source of a happy choice in "Gifts That Last".
F. J. Preston & Son
JEWELERS
17 Upper Church Street
Trush Rings, set with Trush quality diamonds, $30 up.
Orange Blossom

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR
SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

SENIOR CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

SWEATERS AND GOLF HOSE
Sweater sets in the popular plain colors.
A fine selection at 8.00
HAYES AND CARNEY
185-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2000

SPRING
SPORT
CLOTHES
Knicker
SUITS
$35 to $50
KNICKERS
GOLF HOSE
POLO SHIRTS
FLANNEL TROUSERS
SPORT SWEATERS
MILES & PERRY CO.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1890

PI DELTA RHO TO PICK MEMBERS TOMORROW

[illegible] Pi Delta Rho [illegible] tomorrow [illegible] the Delta Phi house for members of [illegible] Pi Delta Rho [illegible] composed of students who have served on the staff of either the Cynic, the Green Mountain [illegible] Vermonter [illegible] work.

It is the aim of every [illegible] to [illegible] students to be elected to membership while [illegible] that will [illegible] the [illegible] efficient and hard work. The [illegible] outstanding of the society to [illegible]

L. H. Cushing [illegible] president of the Independents has appointed William Brush and Donald Donahoe to drill the A squad composed of non-fraternity men in competition for the Reserve Officers Cup. J. B. Hopkins '32 has also been designated to arrange for the selection of independent representatives to the freshman class nominating committee.

The officers of the association announced plans at Tuesday's meeting for a banquet to be held within a few weeks.

NON-FRATERNITY MEN DECIDE FOR ACTIVITY

Deciding on a plan of activity to create more interest in the fraternities, the Independents last Tuesday night voted a continuation of the policy of participation in intramural contests. The non-fraternity men plan to enter a float in the Junior week parade, to participate in the competition military drill during inspection and to enter the intramural baseball league.

L. M. Cushing, president of the Independents has appointed William Brush and Donald Donahoe to drill the A squad composed of non-fraternity men in competition for the Reserve Officers Cup. J. B. Hopkins '32 has also been designated to arrange for the selection of independent representatives to the freshman class nominating committee.

The officers of the association announced plans at Tuesday's meeting for a banquet to be held within a few weeks.

Orators Win University Scholarships in Finals

(Continued from page 1)

The speakers first delivered their original extemporaneous orations, the [illegible] of which they were given [illegible] hours by the chairman. The [illegible] extemporaneous talks were a new feature of the national contest being held this year and made effective in the place [illegible]. In the two contests held on Wednesday there have been [illegible] for a majority of the speakers.

Johnson and Mize [illegible] especially showed mastery of the ability to [illegible] extemporaneously before an audience and to [illegible] personal impressions of [illegible] subjects on short notice. Both showed much [illegible] which their opponents [illegible] were. Then was [illegible] case of Kipling in his [illegible] of the extemporaneous talk. The subject was on "The Colonial Man, a Masterpiece," and he was assigned the discussion. Unsolicited [illegible] up to the Province of the [illegible]

Miss Jay's oration was on "The Twofold Aim of the Constitution" and her extemporaneous topic, "Evidence that the Constitution Has Accomplished Its Purpose of Protecting the Group and the Individual."

Disagreement for Third

There was a clearcut decision for first and second place winners, but the judges were called into conference to decide a tie for third position between Lewis [illegible] made an excellent impression in his prepared oration on "The Citizen, His Duties and Privileges under the Constitution," but fell short of the first and second place winners in his extemporaneous talk a defense of his statement that America Has the Best Government Ever Created.

A prediction that the 18th amendment will probably soon be repealed was ventured by Miss Ethel Lavanthal in her assigned talk on "How Our Rigid Constitution Has Been Expanded to Meet the Needs of a Rapidly Growing Country." Her oration was entitled "The Advantages of a Rigid Constitution Over a Flexible One."

Bernard Vendette presented as his oration "The Citizen, His Privileges and Duties Under the Constitution." For discussion he was asked to compare the Constitutions of the United States and Great Britain.

Miss Hilda Robinson, speaking on "Constitutionalism" traced the growth of this movement from classical times. Her extemporaneous talk was on "Some of the Purposes of the Constitution."

Springfield and Yale Take Measure of Vermont Nine

(Continued from page 3)

Haven is Dewey's native city, to keep his average above his teammates. He also played well in the field. The Springfield game was played in a steady drizzle. Winant hit a triple and Jay and Rutkowski hit twice.

A cuspidor stuck in a Reading Clock
Is worth two hundred dollars
And steel is high.
I think I'll buy
A half a dozen collars.

—Goblin

Tercentenary To Pay Alumni Tribute

COMMITTEES PREPARE FOR 1931 JUNIOR WEEK

Plans for the Junior Week program are progressing [illegible] H. A. Dimmick, Junior Week chairman. Arrangements for the banquet which is [illegible] the end of junior week, [illegible] have already been completed, [illegible] were, he said Wednesday evening, May 14 at the Hotel Vermont and Gardens.

The full program calls for a Prom [illegible] Thursday afternoon, the presentation of the Junior Week play, Hooray, by a veteran cast Thursday evening, and the Junior Prom Friday evening at the Memorial Auditorium. The festive week will culminate in the fraternity formals Saturday night.

H. R. Matteson will act as financial manager of M. Charleston is chairman of the Prom. F. S. Smith of Proms fame. Alice Dodge of Prom refreshments. D. E. Cushman of music. Ruth Field of decorations, T. S. Webster of the banquet, R. W. Worrell of the parade, G. R. Brush of programs, and J. S. Perelman of publicity.

MAJOR JENKS

Who sings leading rôle in Frosh by Jury

Two Bad!

(Continued from page 3)

Linehan, r.f.	5	1	0	0
Snead, c.f.	5	4	1	0
McKenzie, c.f.	0	0	0	0
Minue, c.	4	1	6	0
Jones, c.	0	0	1	0
Aldrich, 3b	2	0	1	0
McDonald, p.	4	1	0	1
Dunn, p.	0	0	0	0
Totals	36	10	27	11

VERMONT

	ab.	bh.	po.	a.
Jay, c.f.	3	0	1	0
Traynor, 2b	4	1	3	1
Winant, 1b	3	0	7	0
Howard, r.f.	4	0	0	1
Dunnman, l.f.	3	2	2	0
Kendall, c.	3	0	7	2
Pires, ss.	3	0	2	2
McKay, 3b.	3	0	2	1
Cummings, p.	2	0	0	1
McBride, p.	0	0	0	0
Rutkowski, p.	0	0	0	0
Totals	28	3	24	8

Yale	2	0	0	2	1	0	0	9	x	—14
Vermont	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	— 1

BOSTON TO HONOR OLD GRADS OF MEDIC SCHOOL

When Boston pays its [illegible] tribute to the oldest [illegible] New England, April 30 [illegible] ing honor to at least [illegible] of the Medical College [illegible] versity of Vermont.

Among those who will be [illegible] are: Dr. Merritt H Ellis [illegible] dlebury, now practicing [illegible] 97, perhaps New England's [illegible] ing physician; Dr. Chester [illegible] of Burlington, of the class [illegible] is 93 years old; Dr. T. R. [illegible] of St. Johnsbury, who is 8[illegible] Dr. J. F. Wright, '71, of [illegible] 84; Dr. Fred Kinney, St. [illegible] boro, aged 73; and Dr. H. A. [illegible] Barnet, of the class of '9[illegible]

Medical lectures were [illegible] the University in 1804 [illegible] regular course of lectures [illegible] lished in 1822. In 1829 the [illegible] college building was erected [illegible] University, and it still [illegible] utilized as offices for the [illegible] Experiment Station.

Runs—Booth 2, Beyer [illegible] Vincent, Linehan, Snead 1, [illegible] drich, MacDonald, Jay. Errors—Ver[illegible]mont— 6. Runs batted in—[illegible] Vincent 3, MacDonald. Beyer, Snead, Linehan. Two-base hits—Snead, Vincent. Home run—Snead. Stolen bases—Booth 2, Beyer, Gray, Snead. Sacrifice hits—Double plays—Winant [illegible] Booth to Beyer to Vincent 2. Struck out—by Cummings 7, by McDonald 1, by Dunn 1. Base on balls—off Cummings 7, off McBride 1, off McDonald 4. Hits—off Cummings, 7 in 7 innings (none out in eighth), off McBride 1 in one-third inning, off Rutkowski none in two-thirds; off McDonald 8 in 8; off Dunn, 1 in 1. Winning pitcher—McDonald; losing pitcher—Cummings. Umpires—Kelleher and Stahl. Time—2 hours.

To pipes, Men, to Pipes!

TRADITION has it that ye shall know the fellowship of pipes with seasoned, masculine, mellow men of every age and degree.

Some try to join this brotherhood, yet fail, and are absolved as born to pipeless lives. But honest effort is required—each man's own test with good tobacco in a good pipe.

That is the formula. Both pipe and tobacco must be good. The pipe must be pure of bowl, and the tobacco must be——

Well, Edgeworth, if you'll permit—good old Edgeworth, Class of '04. Tried Edgeworth yet? Now's your chance! Use the magic coupon, and we'll rush right back to you a free-for-nothing packet of genuine Edgeworth to fill your good pipe with.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—15c per pocket package or pound humidor tin.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

LARUS & BRO. CO.
100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.
I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll try it in a good pipe.
Name
Street
Town and State
Now let the Edgeworth [illegible]

"DONT SHOOT!"
cried the willowy Winona

"And why not, my gal?" demanded Wellington Threeves, thrusting his classic chin against her heaving bosom.

"Because," replied Winona, "you will not be annoyed at bridge by his huskiness any longer. He has promised that, if spared, he will change to OLD GOLDS, made from queen-leaf tobacco. Not a throat scratch in a trillion."

OLD GOLD

© P. Lorillard Co.

FASTEST GROWING CIGARETTE IN HISTORY...NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR. Paul Whiteman and complete orchestra . . . every Tuesday, 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, SATURDAY, APRIL 26, 1930 — NUMBER 60

HONORS GO TO FEW CAMPUS LEADERS

Founder's Day Lists Reveal Most Prominent Lowerclassmen Non-acceptable to Honoraries

SENIOR SOCIETIES ARE ESPECIAL OFFENDERS

Campus leaders were conspicuous [illegible] largely by their omission from the lists of honor society elections announced, in accord with annual custom, by President Guy W. Bailey during the Founder's Day exercises in the Ira Allen Chapel.

Especially offending in this connection were the senior societies. Scabbard and Blade, honorary military society, and Kappa Mu Epsilon, honorary engineering society, complained rather of a dearth of eligible candidates. Gold Key, hounded by the necessity of selecting its members from every fraternity on the hill, gave up in despair by accepting a list 100 per-cent fraternity nominated.

Boulder bossomed out with a slate which listed the captain of but a single varsity sport, omitted the editors of the University publications, failed to include the presidents of any University organizations, and generally distinguished itself by barring virtually every popularly elected campus head while at the same time including such as could boast long lists of superlative non-competitive honors.

Mortar Board, not to be outdone, managed to exclude from its Founder's Day list such women as have generally been regarded as among the most popular and most capable in the junior class. Key and Serpent men, when interviewed, first denied that next year's society is at all inferior in constitution, then pleaded "for that charity which covers a multitude of sins."

Boulder

Seven junior men made Boulder. The men elected to the society were: Stuart S. Corbin, Burlington; Francis A. McBride, New York City; Hugh E. Mattison, Bennington; Roderick J. Maches, Woodstock; Walter M. Sargent, Morrisville; F. Stanley Smith, Miami, Mass.; and Robert E. Tobin, Fairhaven, Mass.

Mortar Board

Like Boulder, Mortar Board, too, elected seven to membership. The women's senior honorary society has

Elizabeth Clark, Pawtucket, R. I.; Elizabeth Cory, Montclair, N. J.; James Davis, Wallingford; Ruth Field, North Easton, Mass.; Dorothy Nash, Concord, N. H.; Margaret Rice, Brattleboro, and Harriet Wright, Essex Junction

Key and Serpent

Key and Serpent, junior honorary, failed to form by electing seven men from the sophomore class to assume its functions next year. The men elected by the outgoing members were:

S. B. Barker, Montclair, N. J.; A. O. Eaton, Worcester, Mass.; E. L. Meese, Fitchburg, Mass.; R. A. Philbin, Boston, Mass.; P. E. Westin, Proctor; C. E. Wilder, Petersham, Mass.; and E. M. Winant, Bronx, N. Y.

Gold Key

Gold Key, sophomore society, forced [illegible] from every fraternity and the Independents, chose 15 in the members of this society next [illegible]

[illegible]n, Newport; W. F. Carr, [illegible] Falls, N. Y.; T. F. Col[illegible] Hartford, Conn.; W. C. [illegible]ington; F. B. Drew, Ran[illegible] E. Dunn, Wellesley Hills; [illegible] Farwell, Wells River; [illegible]. Bennington; E. S. [illegible]. C. J. Kilburn, Col[illegible] F. J. Massucco, Bel[illegible] Price, Brookline, Mass.; [illegible] Waterbury; J. E. Wood, [illegible] C. N. Wormelle, [illegible]

Scabbard and Blade

[illegible] Blade, honorary mili[illegible] admitted the following 12 [illegible]

[illegible]man, North Reading, [illegible]ood, Union Village; [illegible]ington; J. E. Clark, [illegible] Corbin, Burlington; [illegible] Bellows Falls; E. J. [illegible]

(Continued on page 7)

Ira Allen

THERMOMETER REVEALS STEADY RISE IN FUNDS FOR STUDENT BUILDING

Symbolic Indicator Shows Over $200 Realized from Small Contributions in First Two Days

CAMPUS LEADERS HEAR SWIFT PRAISE PROJECT

Rising slowly, the red paint which indicated an increasing student interest in the proposed Student Union Building throughout the three days of the V. C. A. campaign which closed Thursday, nevertheless showed a steadily rising thermometer on the wooden board outside the Christian Association office. By the end of the second day over $200 had already been raised with no sign of a let-up, according to students in charge. Few contributions were large.

Swift at Supper

"The new Student Union Building will provide a common meeting ground for all the members of the University; it will foster a genuine college spirit and promote good fellowship," declared Dean Elijah Swift last Monday evening at a supper given for the representatives of different campus groups at the Methodist Church. Dean Swift described Student Union buildings at other colleges, and expressed the hope that such a building might soon be in evidence on the Vermont campus. He pointed out that with such a large auditorium as this structure would provide dances might be conducted there every Saturday night.

Mr. M. D. Powers, secretary of the Vermont Christian Association spoke of the general interest that was being manifest in the project, not only among the students but among the alumni as well. He expressed the sentiment of enthusiasm regarding the

(Continued on page 8)

Orator Attacks Villifiers of Vermont State in Founder's Day Address; Undergraduates Give University's Founder Unstilted Praise

Clowse Raps Disparagers of Green Mountain State, Calling Them "Flapper and Fool Philosophers," Summoning Vermonters Back to Ira Allen's Ideal—Senior Recalls Unselfish Ambitions of of Founder, While Junior Sees Allen as Man of Vision

STUDENTS LINK ALLEN WITH MANY PROJECTS

That unselfish ambition motivated the life of Ira Allen, founder of the University, was the gist of the address of Franklin Sears, who represented the senior class in the Founder's Day exercises this morning. In much the same vein, John Bradish, speaking for the juniors, enlarged on the commercial vision and forethought of the great Vermonter. Both speakers gave full praise to the founder, whom they saw primarily as a keen devotee of Vermont's interests.

Franklin Sears, speaking on "Ambition and Ira Allen:

"The years go by, changes of great importance occur in the world, new ideas develop, progress seems never ending, but despite all this the students, the faculty, and the friends of this University pause each year to pay homage to the founder of the University of Vermont. Despite all the conflict and turmoil in this busy world of ours we are able to take a moment to look back to the days when affairs were not so complicated and when the thoughts, actions, and habits of men were more easy to perceive and to comment upon.

"Today is that day. Today is the day when we gather here in this beautiful chapel to show our respect and admiration for the man who has done so much for us. Ira Allen may be a name on the other days of the year, he may be a memory or only one of the statues upon our campus. But today Ira Allen is a man. A living, human, vital man. He is more than a name, a memory, a statue. He is here among us and on such an occasion it is only fitting and proper that when we are speaking and thinking of him, we speak and think of ambition also.

For Vermont

"We might say that Ira Allen had three great ambitions. He wanted to make Vermont an independent state, a state that would be of the Union and yet not be dominated by New York. To accomplish this end we find him devoting the major part of his earliest years. He was prosecuted by the militia of New York State and hunted like a criminal with a price upon his head. As a leader of the Green Mountain Boys he gained fame but his aim was never that of personal glory but rather that of making his state independent. During the

(Continued on page 6)

GREY FRIAR MAINTAINS FREEDOM OF PRESS IN ATTACK ON CENSORSHIP

Carter Emphasizes Right of Newspaper to Free Discussion in Talk Before Literary Society

"Freedom of the press is to be guarded as a vital right of mankind. It is the unquestionable right to discuss whatever is not explicitly forbidden by law, including the wisdom of any restrictive law."

Upon this quotation from a regulation of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Joseph C. Carter, speaking before the Grey Friars Society last Sunday night, built his address on "Censorship and Freedom of the Press."

As long ago as the Middle Ages, said Carter, censorship in one form or another, legal or illegal, has been applied. Those philosophers and scientists who disagreed with the doctrines of the church were unmercifully persecuted as the iron-clad censorship of the inquisition made itself felt all over Europe.

The speaker quoted John Milton, who, in his famous "Areopogitica," upheld freedom of the press saying, "No man or group of men can know enough to judge what is best for all men. It is better to put a censor in the soul of the people by education for the best than to clamp it down from without."

Newspapers versus Soldiers

That four newspapers are more potent than 100,000 men, was the firm belief of Napoleon. So he subdued the press and forced the people to take their opinions from the Moniteur which he published himself during his despotic European campaign. This command of the press was the strongest ally of his army in holding Europe subject to his rule.

"Because the newspaper is continually at the head of all progressive movements its independence is its true power, and no abuse of it can be so great as the evil of its censorship and suppression from without," said Carter in a summary of some notable opinions on the question.

(Continued on page 7)

ALUMNUS SPEAKS ON VERMONT AND IRA ALLEN

Disparagers of Vermont were severely taken to task in this morning's Founder's Day address, when Eugene H. Clowse, a graduate in the class of 1909, principal of Richmond High School, roundly attacked the conclusions reached by what he termed "fool or flapper philosophers."

"Sensational journalists have sent their inspired scribes into the state to unfold the great tragedy of our decadence," declared the speaker. "Each precocious literary light dashing through the state in a high powered automobile with the dirt of thirteen other states upon his goggles, with a blue book in his left hand and the emergency brake in his right, with nothing on the wheel, not even his mind, has written a story of the terrible condition of 'Old Lady Vermont.'"

Discussing "Vermont and Ira Allen," Mr. Clowse defended the state against all comers. "Allen," he said, "fought the enemies of our commonwealth almost alone. Shall we betray the trust reposed in us and fail to defend the state against those who would rob us of our heritage?

"Methinks," he concluded, "I hear the voice of Allen whispering—'Finish what I began and what I fail of, win.'"

The text of the address follows:

"I like to gaze at the summit of a lofty mountain that has raised its peak beyond the clouds. I like to feel the pull of its power. I like to watch the flow of a mighty river winding its way down to the silent secrets of the sea. I like to imagine the force of that mysterious momentum. I like to look up at the stars at night time and watch the greatest picture ever staged for human eyes to behold. I like to think of man made in the image of his Creator and say with the Psalmist, 'What is man that Thou art mindful of him'?

"But that is no way, apparently, to begin an address in 1930. One should start out by denouncing everything that is sacred and holy, and with Bolshevistic iconoclasm knock down the pillars of the past. Yes, with ruthless hands tear up civilization by the roots, scattering seeds of dissension and chaos everywhere. But it is on such occasions as this that we stop for a moment to get our latitude before we embark on uncharted seas. As one grows older the past unconsciously forces itself up on one. The past grows serious and solemn with the added years. To youth the past is apt to be dull; the present, joyful; the future, paradise. But to the more mature the past rises before one like more than a dream. Be as optimistic and enthusiastic as one can, the past is real. It is life—my life—your life.

"The British historian Stubbs has a sentence in his 'Constitutional History of England' which I have repeated to myself many times. It runs like this, 'Nothing is dead in the past to the man who would learn how the present came to be what it is.'

"It is with this thought in mind that I approach the meaning of this day. It would be very poor taste, I assure you, to attempt any elaborate review of the life of Ira Allen, especially so, when the story of his career has been given to us so many times by distinguished speakers and scholarly men. For my part, I shall refer you to my illustrious predecessors on this occasion for his history and rest content to go on to the life of the living judged by the past.

"There is a principle in the common law of England that a man and his wife are one. This has suggested to me a similar interpretation relative to Ira Allen and Vermont. The past, present and future of Vermont are so inextricably interwoven with the dreams of the founder, that one can hardly speak of Vermont without thinking of Allen or think of Allen without speaking of Vermont—so near to his heart was the commonwealth of his choice. So this morning I have chosen for a subject Ira Allen and Vermont or Vermont and Ira Allen.

"We have had so many interpretations of Vermont and Vermonters by outside authorities during the last

(Continued on page 6)

Official Administration Publication Pays Sincere Tribute to Ira Allen, Founder of State University

High tribute is paid to Ira Allen in a pamphlet recently issued by the University in commemoration of the establishment of a Memorial Loan Fund in his name. The pamphlet variously designates him as Pioneer, Financier, Statesman, Strategist, Leader, Diplomatist, Adviser, Patriot, Maker of History, Philanthropist, Benefactor, Founder, Exile and Vermonter.

It opens with a brief sketch of his life:

"Ira Allen, founder of the University of Vermont and one of the principal founders of the State of Vermont, was born in Cornwall, Conn., May 1, 1751. Left fatherless at an early age, he had few educational opportunities, but through reading, keen observation and diligent cultivation of great natural ability, he became a man of outstanding leadership, who was able to associate on terms of equality with the ablest statesmen of America, France and Great Britain. He learned surveying and in 1770 came to the New Hampshire Grants (Vermont) whither his oldest brother Ethan had preceded him.

"At the age of 19 he was a lieutenant in the military organization known as the Green Mountain Boys, formed for the protection of the settlers against the encroachments of the New York colonial authorities. Before he was 30 years old he had done more than any other man to found and successfully defend the State of Vermont. For four years he was engaged in the wilderness surveying townships in this newly granted region. He was with his brother, Ethan, at the capture of Ticonderoga in 1775, and he participated in the Canadian invasion of that year. As General Montgomery's trusted lieutenant he gave the signal to begin the attack upon Quebec.

"In 1776 Ira Allen was actively engaged in shaping the plans which resulted in organizing the state. He was the author of the Vermont Bill of Rights and Declaration of Independence. Elected secretary of the Council of Safety, he immediately became its guiding mind. It was largely through his efforts that troops were secured from other states, which made possible the victory at Bennington, a direct result of which was the surrender of Burgoyne at Saratoga.

"Ira Allen was frequently sent as a delegate to the Continental Congress and visited other states in the interest of Vermont's admission to the Union. He was the first treasurer and the first surveyor general of the state. He conducted the difficult and delicate negotiations with the British in Canada, when the neighboring states were hostile and Congress, at best, was indifferent to the fate of Vermont. Through his diplomacy one-third of the British forces in America were kept idle during the summer of 1781. He proposed the terms upon which the final settlement with New York was effected.

"In 1789 Ira Allen petitioned the Legislature to establish a University at Burlington, subscribing 4,000 pounds for this purpose. When it was chartered in 1791 he became one of its trustees. He selected for its location 50 acres of his land in Burlington, overlooking Lake Champlain; a site commanding beautiful views of the Green Mountains and the Adirondacks.

"He was a very large land owner, engaged in the lumber trade, established mills and forges at Winooski and elsewhere. In 1795 he went to Europe to purchase arms for Vermont and to interest the British authorities in a canal connecting Lake Champlain with the St. Lawrence River. France and Great Britain were engaged in a bitter warfare. His cargo of arms was seized and he became involved in a long and intricate legal controversy. While waiting for trial he wrote a history of Vermont. Going to France to secure evidence he was unjustly thrown into prison, and when he

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

DELDA S. SMITH '31
Women's Editor

LEYMOUR I. NATHANSON '32
Sports Editor

STUART S. CURRIN '31
Business Manager

News Editors

Dramatic Editor
Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Associate Editors

Associate Sports Editor

Associate Business Manager

Women's Associate Editor

Women's Athletic Editor — Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers

G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscriptions price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office in Commons or sent before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Published in 1867. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at the postoffice at Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 1103, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — April 29, 1930 — No. 50

HONOR WHERE HONOR IS DUE

The day set aside to honor our Founder we students of the University of Vermont, in accordance with a custom established by the wisdom of our predecessors, recognize also as the day on which to pay tribute to those of our fellows whose activity in behalf of our University has deserved such honor to them.

Described in the stupid fashion of the Author of this University we read, not between the lines of those to whom all honor goes to-day, and women who have distinguished themselves by service to their fellow students to such an extent as to make their activities and personalities here worthy of such recognition as leaders in campus organizations along to whom, undeniably and publicly we here give social recognition.

* * * * * *

Those are noble phrases and the sentiments they embody are just to Levi as the words to which they are couched. But contrast these phrases with the truth and their content withers like a blossom in a November cyclone.

It is an accepted fact that the honor societies who profess to reward those deserving of honor have failed to accomplish anything of importance during the past year. By their inactivity they have thus deposed themselves of the appellation "society." Shall we say that, judged by the results of their latest elections, they have also deprived themselves of the right to the term "honorary"?

Mortar Board continues its functions this year largely to supervising Key and Serpent and Gold Key. Whether Key and Serpent in turn exercised any supervising over Gold Key is uncertain, but Gold Key after relinquishing power by declaring its inability to control the freshmen, has completely resigned its original functions and settled down into a state in which it exercised supervision over no one. If Gold Key [illegible] and Bowler in turn supervised Gold Key, then whom did Bowler supervise at rabbits?

The Bowlers have been particularly unassuming this past year. Bowler had concerned itself with presenting at occasional dates Key and Serpent, and also Gold Key have indulged until Mortar Board ever attempted, now can a picture. Kappa Mu Epsilon almost forgot its very existence. The only bright spot on the whole situation is the decision of Pi Delta Phi on the end of the Founder's Day announcements to grant up a grant which had long sought release from a corpse which had left its spiritless shell long before the time of its funeral obsequies.

We could but wish that for the honors of this university on the part of those who we have been told are our acknowledged leaders. The response has to say that the members of the honoraries have ceased to be leaders. They are merely the holders of honors because for which they have sought through [illegible] and which are accorded them by devious schemes.

A glance through the senior class honor lists will reveal what would hardly [illegible] as well, the absence of the names of most of those whom the college has come to look upon as the most capable and the most popular of their class. Men who have earned their honors through sheer ability, captains, editors and presidents are nowhere to be found, and the women, honoring, offering only to a lesser degree in this respect. In fact, a perusal of the honor lists of the new members of the societies announced this morning shows these lacking the [illegible] of representative leaders, which are based as to degree on [illegible] offices which have long been regarded as prizes in the hands of fraternities to be bartered for as were bosses barter political favors—offices to which appointments are made by the very men who, after pushing their protegés from one honor to another, finally found it in their power to give them the privilege of hearing their names read off the President's list on Founder's Day. Just how significant is it that every Founder man succeeded in leaving a fraternity brother behind him in the senior society? Just how significant is it that every Mortar Board woman succeeded in leaving a sorority sister behind her in that society? Just how significant is it that every Key and Serpent man but one succeeded in leaving a fraternity brother behind him in the junior society?

This day the tendency to moralize is strong, and we would avoid it. Yet let us remember that an honor given rather than earned is no honor at all, but merely a sham and a fraud.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

It is interesting to note that in a recent editorial and in a more recent letter to the Cynic comment was made on the fact that few contributions from students appeared in the Winnowings. The editor further questioned who the Winnowings has not enough material from the gold mine of literary ability [illegible] the Grey Friars and other writers on campus at the [illegible] of Vermont should.

It is my belief that the said gold mine is barely [illegible]. Grey Friars may have been an established fostering literary talent also, and it may be that if we can judge from the poetry which has appeared in the Cynic from the few contributions which have appeared in the Winnowings as from those contributions which the Winnowings did not use, Grey Friars may be [illegible] literary [illegible]. Their work is not only amateurish, but as Hamlet [illegible] of the absurd that the writers are [illegible] students. Their work is ridiculous and self-conscious. One story in the Winnowings pointed the astounding moral that [illegible] and a man to commit murder and [illegible] that [illegible] other man is an orphan makes him a good and better than God fearing young gentleman. An article submitted to another member but not used bowled us over with the startling conclusion that War is War and Peace is Peace.

Undoubtedly these conclusions are important, but it would be difficult to convince me that the writers had any firm passionate belief in what they write which would excuse their writing it.

Grey Friars is trying so hard to foster literary genius that it is losing sight of the fact that a literary genius must concern himself with the things he knows about, loves or hates. I don't believe, merely from a perusal of some of the things which members of the estimable society have written, that they know about anything, care about anything or are enough interested in anything but their own positions as writers to hate anything.

Pseudo-intellectuals never have had anything important to say and I doubt if they will ever have anything important to say. They are so self-consciously aware of their own position as literary men on campus that they haven't the time to do anything to justify that position. They are so busy worrying about world peace that they haven't the time to spend writing about the things of which they know in the college which has to bear their outbursts. Their poets are so busy worrying about God and death that they haven't time to live.

Grey Friars is in short a society with literary pretensions, a society which has done nothing to justify its own existence and which ought to be locked in some dark cellar with a candle, a sheet of paper and a pencil and kept there until it produces something.

—Joseph Joseph

THE MUSE CONVERSES

SPARTAN SIMPLICITY

Book Agent (to farmer): "You ought to buy an encyclopedia, now that your boy is going to school."

Farmer: "Not on your life. Let him walk the same as I did."—The New Yorker

USEFUL GIFTS

"The justice of the peace at Hilton is very popular."

"Yes, I've heard he gives every bride a can opener and cigarette lighter after the ceremony."—College Humor

COMBINED

Interviewer: "To what do you attribute your success, Mr. Blopp?"

Business Man Blopp: "Hard work and the fact that I belong to six golf clubs."

RITZY

Jones: "Say bud, can you let me have a dollar and five cents for a cup of coffee?"

Gentleman: "What?"

Jones: "Yeah. The dollar is for the cover charge."—College Humor

THE VILLIAN!

He: "Don't you scream, girl."

She: "Why not, pray?"

He: "All right, pray then, but it won't do you any good."

Intercollegiate News

The sorority councilors of the University of Akron have announced their withdrawal from all political combines, which one of them calls "small town stuff."

Both sororities have been members of allied groups of fraternal organizations [illegible] slates of candidates for college offices. Entrances of the organized non-fraternity group during the last two years has made these party affiliations much stronger than before.

Ruth McShaffrey, president of Delta Gamma, [illegible] the decision of that sorority, said:

"It is generally recognized that it is no honor to secure an elective office on this campus under present political conditions.

"Many efforts have been made to remove certain offices from the political influence which is ever present at the University. Such an attempt was recently made by the Student Council when it provided a faculty and student committee to select a cheer leader.

"I believe we have taken an important step in withdrawing entirely from politics."

Marian Walsh, president of Kappa Gamma, said:

"Parties at the University of Akron are run on a very unjust basis. Names are put up and supported with no consideration of the individual's ability and fitness for the position.

"The national organization of Kappa Gamma absolutely forbids any participation in college politics which they regard as 'small town stuff.'"

Northwestern University claims the youngest student in the United States, Harold Finley, of Ohio. Finley began school at the age of six, skipped six grades, and graduated from high school at the age of thirteen, valedictorian of his class.

The Minnesota Daily laments: "To discover on the campus as large as Minnesta the literary apathy which obtains at the present is almost as inexcusable as it is unusual...struggle which the Minnesota Quarterly has been forced to wage for its bare existence during the last seven years..... the Quarterly faces the prospect of publishing a magazine with but four manuscripts in the hands of its editors.

"The possibilities of a spring issue are very doubtful."

At Northwestern men cannot have dates for athletic contests. It is an old custom of the school.

At the University of Michigan students may have cars but are not allowed to take other students for rides.

A physics professor at Haverford astounded his class by serving refreshments between the halves of a long examination.

Trifling at Princeton is extinct. Two hundred students recently walked out on an examination which they considered unfair.

An English Department Ford club has been organized by English instructors at Indiana University, who own Ford cars.

News from the University of Michigan indicates that a number of students are working their way through college by bootlegging.

Because it was serving no real need on the campus, the Cougar's Pace, Washington State's quarterly humor magazine, has been officially abandoned.

The University of Minnesota council board is thinking of investigating charges that coeds smoke more cigarettes than the men students. It has been found that charity boxes for discarded tinfoil from cigarette packages fill up more rapidly in sororities than in fraternities.

An electrical engineering class in the North Carolina State College had an average for one of its exams of 42%. When they went to class the next day they found this note on the door:

"The papers from the class are the poorest I ever got in twenty years of teaching. It would be wise not to bother me for the rest of this week, which I must pass in humiliation and prayer."

"Bush days" come on Wednesdays at the University of Flordia. Freshmen are compelled to hide behind bushes whenever they see an upperclassman approaching and are required to stay hidden until the higher one is out of sight.

THE FORUM

THE "QUEER" UNDERGRADUATE

A college undergraduate [illegible] by his fellows in the [illegible] Schopenhauer. Nietzsche [illegible] marvel of marvels, he [illegible] is doing it not because [illegible] is prodding him on with, the [illegible] of scholastic requirements, [illegible] he is fascinated by the [illegible] philosophical theories of [illegible] mediately he is dubbed a [illegible] garded with suspicion for the [illegible] his college days.

Another declines to go [illegible] with his associates explaining [illegible] fusal on the ground that [illegible] it and even if I could I [illegible] time to spare." Instead he [illegible] what is to the average [illegible] a considerable sum for the [illegible] phony, goes to his fraternity [illegible] late at night, when the Rudy [illegible] and Helen Kane enthusiasts [illegible] parted from the chapter [illegible] listens to the phonograph [illegible] Beethoven's composition [illegible] He is "queer" a "goof."

Still another professes an affection for Shelley and Poe. That [illegible] is not so unusual; many of the [illegible] ostentatiously proclaim that [illegible] had courses in which the [illegible] these writers were taken up and [illegible] "I don't think they are so [illegible] Very probably these men [illegible] gard Shelley as a composer of [illegible] incomprehensible mush and Poe [illegible] mentally deranged, whiskey-[illegible] dope fiend who wrote [illegible] rimes. But this particular [illegible] continues to read Shelley and Poe after he has completed the course [illegible] ing their work, even purchases [illegible] umes of their poetry. He is a [illegible]

Most college students expect [illegible] ceive an education in predigested [illegible] They are mentally lazy, unwilling [illegible] dig down into a subject, secure [illegible] essentials and think about them [illegible] they have made them their own. [illegible] they exhibit ill-concealed contempt [illegible] the exceptional man who is willing [illegible] perform the hard labor and has the capacity for the thinking which is a requisite to the securing of real education. Respect for scholastic achievement is almost unknown on the college campus.—Daily Tar Heel, North Carolina University.

POLLS AND SUCH

Among other things, college students are taking time off regularly nowadays to vote on issues of varying importance. The one that has made the first page in metropolitan dailies is the prohibition poll. With institutional colleges getting mention day after day either as "wet" or "dry" more often "wet" than "dry," we naturally [illegible] waiting for the inevitable letter that would ask why the Collegian had not sponsored a poll. It came and now we have our opportunity to answer.

In the first place, we don't believe in polls. The results prove nothing unless it is that one college boasts more drunks than another. This statement would be refuted instantly were it to come to the attention of any of the believers in the poll, because the queries do not necessarily invite such an answer. But to the general public the vote represents drinkers and non-drinkers.

Penn State would not gain an prestige no matter what the vote determined. If the student body voted "wet," people of the state would refuse to believe stories they had heard or knowing differently, they would presume that Penn State was chaotic. If the poll resulted in a dry majority, it would show only that Penn State deserved the reputation it has with the well-informed. On the other hand, the uninformed would not be convinced by a poll. Fortunately we prefer to win attention by studying the poll entirely.—Penn State Collegian.

Bits of Bunk

First Indian: Let's go on the war path.

Second Indian: We can't. It's being paved.

Judge: What is the charge against this man, officer?

Cop: Arson your honor. [illegible] up the road.

"Bill hung his stockings up Christmas Eve."

"What did he get?"

"A notice from the [illegible] ment."—Northwestern Purple Parrot

"Did you have any of that fine punch?"

"What kind of punch is that?"

"The kind that after [illegible] it, you are in a class all by yourself."—Pomona Sagehen.

He could not have a [illegible] tion, because he was [illegible]—Arizona Kitty-Kat

"I made endless [illegible] college."

"But it wouldn't be [illegible] tiate one of those!"

Boulder Remains Dormant; Journalistic Society Commits Suicide

Boulder Does Nothing But Has Many Noble Aspirations and Long History

... with Boulder on the ... Day announce... that the society had ... year other than super... ratify the absti... man rules, and run an ... The CYNIC prints ... on the senior society ... its symbolic rock. ... of a silent struggle ... ways is analagous to ... characters of its members ... at first an ill formed ... bosom, then swept ... rods of water which wore ... a little deeper into the ... an undeniable testimony of

ALFRED SIROIS
Retiring Boulder Man

... amelioratting forces of nature, so ... the degree, is a member of Boulder ... the truest type and product of the ... influence of his Alma Mater ... prototype of Mother Nature at ... best.

While construction of the Central Vermont Railroad in 1848 at West Hartford Vt., was going on, a pot-hole 17 feet deep was disclosed in ... The fissure leading to it ... the surface of the rock was six ... in length. Side by side within ... hole lay two granite boulders. ... had rested here for ages until ... combined forces had ground ... into a perfect shape.

These time-worn boulders were ... upon closer examination, to be ... a different composition than the ... rock. Thus the logical ... was that these boulders ... products of the Glacial Period. ... time — had carried these ... worn rocks to the sight of ... New Central Vermont Railroad.

Boulder for Vermont

When the blast had uncovered this ... of Nature, the workmen, non-... of its value, dumped it ... ditch along with the other rocks. ... Hitchcock of Dartmouth ... examined these rare boulders ... selected the most perfect of them, ... the intention of taking it to Han-

JAMES PUFFER
Retiring Boulder Man

... Governor Payne, then pres... Central Vermont, claimed ... sent to Burlington as a ... University. This boulder, ... ramblings about the cam... finally brought to rest on the ... opposite the west en... of the Old Mill where it now ...

... 9 1905, a group of the ... members of the senior ... gether for the sole pur... ... a senior class honor... They chose as a name for ... the Boulder Society, ... the deep significance ... of the University of ... the boulder which today ... of the Old Mill, and ... nothing could be more ... of the foremost men ... class of this University. ... symbol as representa... organization. At this ... a constitution was pre... approved. L. H. Sault was elected president and H W Heath secretary and treasurer. It was decided that the society should be secret. The society's purpose was to uphold the University's traditions, and to regulate matters relating to the student body, thereby relieving the administration of considerable trouble.

Boulder's system of choosing its officers is unique. The only office that lasts throughout the year is that of secretary and treasurer. The other offices are distributed among the other members in rotation. The length of the term of office is so fixed that all members hold the office of president at sometime during the year. The members of the society choose their successors each spring and announce their results on Founder's Day. The requisites for membership are: Character and leadership, and the slide rule which is applied in the amount of outstanding work that has been accomplished in the various University activities, both scholastic and athletic.

The society's pin is a plain gold V with a representation of the boulder in

ROLLIN HAWLEY
Retiring Boulder Man

the crotch. A green hat with a facsimile of the pin in gold on the front is also worn by the members.

Boulder's Functions

Boulder supervises the fountain fight, the water fight, and the cane rush between the two lower classes each fall, being careful to see that everything is done as it should be and determining the winner. It also advises Key and Serpent, and Gold Key, exercising considerable control over the latter. Boulder acts as a final court of appeal in all disputes between the lower classes. A smoker is usually given each fall and spring, and an informal dance for the University each semester. Meetings are held semi monthly.

The out-going members of the society are: Lawrence O. Clayton, Bennington; Rollin G. Hawley, New York City; Robert A. Lawrence, West Lebanon, N. H.; Herrick M. Macomber, Burlington; James C. Puffer, St Johnsbury; and Alfred G. Sirois, Andover, Mass.

The New Members

Of the newly-elected members, Stuart Corbin is business manager of CYNIC, was business manager of last year's Freshman Handbook, and is manager of Eligibility. He is an assistant manager of baseball, belongs to Pi Delta Rho and is a member of

HERRICK MACOMBER
Retiring Boulder Man

Delta Psi. Frances McBride has served as chairman of a number of class committees, is president of the Newman Club, plays baseball, and has belonged to Gold Key and Key and Serpent. He is a member of Student Senate and is an A. T. O.

Roderick Maynes is director-elect of Kake Walk, plays football, has been active in winter sports, has served on numerous committees, is a member of Student Senate and of the Faculty-Student Council, and has belonged to Gold Key and to Key and Serpent. He is a Sigma Nu. Hugh Mattison is financial manager of Junior Week, is business manager of the Ariel and has served as manager of the Freshman Handbook. He has had an assistant editorship on the Cynic, assistant managerships in eligibility and track, and memberships in Gold Key and in Pi Delta Rho. Mattison is an S. A. E.

Walter Sargent is captain-elect of varsity basketball and plays baseball and tennis as well. He holds membership in the Faculty-Student Council, has served on class committees, and belongs to Phi Delta Theta.

Stanley Smith, a member of Sigma Phi, will serve as co-director of Kake Walk next year. He is advertising manager of the Cynic, is circulation manager of the Ariel, is an assistant manager of baseball, and has held membership in Gold Key, Key and Serpent and Pi Delta Rho. Robert Tobin has earned his letter in basketball and is now an assistant manager of baseball. He has served on many class committees, in Student Senate, in Gold Key and in Key and Serpent. His fraternity is Kappa Sigma.

The men of St Lawrence University are not alone in having a new dormitory for within the past week, three new residences have been erected on the campus. But these new cottages are intended, not for students, but for some of the feathered and furry folk which inhabit the campus.

"Did you hear about the cowboy aviator who found a stowaway in his hat?"—Yellow Crab

JUNIOR SOCIETY CLAIMS LOFTIEST OF IDEALS

Key and Serpent Seeks to Promote Campus Fellowship—Has Existed 22 years

To promote better college spirit to further interfraternity relations and good fellowship, and to engender closer bonds of unity among the freshmen these are the fundamental purposes of Key and Serpent honorary junior society which is now celebrating its twenty-second anniversary on the campus.

Founded in 1908

In the spring of the year 1908 it was decided to form a junior class honorary society to be known as Key and Serpent. Before commencement of that year the society was duly organized from members of the class of 1910, then sophomores. The first meeting was held at the Sigma Phi Place on October 14, 1908. The officers who had been chosen the preceding spring, had not returned to college, and as a result of the new elections Arthur K Rich was the first president and Arthur T Dailey the first vice-president. At the second meeting Professor Tupper was invited to join the society as an honorary member, and he has guided the destinies of Key and Serpent since that time. The next fall Professor Stetson was also elected an honorary member.

The society elects its own members each spring term from the members of the sophomore class, and the elections are announced on Founder's Day. The qualifications for membership are "manliness in deportment as in body, nobility as to spirit, in self control as to spirit, popularity in classroom, on campus, and in society, and achievements intellectually, physically, and morally." The elections are made irrespective of academic courses and on the basis of the candidate's disposition to further college interests. Later in the term, the men who have been elected appear at some specially designated place in full dress suit with top hat, cane, and spats for informal initiation. They are then made to do various stunts such as directing traffic, and otherwise appearing conspicuously in public places.

When this is over, a banquet is held, after which both the old and the new members serenade the girls' dormitories. The membership of the society is limited to twelve, but usually the full quota is not elected, the present membership being only eight.

Key and Serpent is usually a very active force throughout the college year. Meetings are held on the first and third Tuesdays of every month. The members manage at least one smoker during the year and usually two. An informal dance is given for the college every year, and sometimes a formal is held for the society itself. It also manages the interfraternity basketball and baseball series and gives a cup to the winner of each. Another of its functions is to supervise the work of Gold Key in conjunction with the athletic department.

The outgoing members of Key and Serpent are Harold W. Adams, Rutland; George R. Brush, Arlington; Roderick J. Maynes, Woodstock; Francis A. McBride, Ossining, N. Y.; F. Stanley Smith, Adams, Mass.; Calvin W. Walker, Belmont, Mass.; and Robert E. Tobin, Fairhaven, Mass.

BLUESTOCKINGS ADMITS POST-GRADUATE STUDENT

A president was set in Bluestockings when a graduate student Geneva ... was initiated at a meeting of the women's literary society last Monday afternoon. Miss Cook who received her degree from Mt Holyoke has distinguished herself both at Holyoke and at Vermont by her writing.

New officers were installed at this meeting as follows: President Justine Rogers, '31, Swanton; vice-president Dorothy Emery, '31, Englewood, N J; treasurer, Margaret Rice, '31, Brattleboro; social chairman, Wilhelmina Spencer, '31, Barre. The new secretary Helen LeBaron, will be installed at the next meeting.

ENGINEERING SOCIETY SHOWS INACTIVE YEAR

Kappa Mu Epsilon Celebrates Tenth Anniversary by Recalling Ideals of Founders

Although the society has a record of total inactivity for the past year, yet Kappa Mu Epsilon was founded ten years ago, "to represent the best ideals of the Engineering College, to promote interest in the engineering profession, and to represent the College on the campus by means of an honorary society." In addition, its purpose is "to provide a stronger bond between students who are members, than attendance at the same classes could stimulate, and to bring students in closer touch with the faculty than are characterized by the usual relations between student and instructor."

The society is composed of not more than fourteen men of the civil, mechanical and electrical departments in the junior class who are considered the best prospective engineers by the senior members of the society, and who have shown an active interest in engineering as well as various campus activities.

In previous years, meetings were held twice a month at which some member or members present a paper discussing some engineering subject of mutual interest. A professor or instructor, or an outsider versed in the engineering field spoke at as many meetings as possible. This made it possible for the professor and instructor to become acquainted with his students, as well as for the student to become better acquainted with his instructor. The talks were instructive and enabled the student to see the practical side of his classroom studies. This was of great value to the student as it is very difficult for him to realize the importance and the practicability of his theoretical studies.

Discussing this society, the late Professor Robinson once said:

"As faculty advisor of the local branch of Kappa Mu Epsilon, I am naturally placed in a position to determine its merits and demerits. First of all, it gives men with similar likes a chance to get together and discuss their interesting subjects. Secondly the fact that papers on valuable topics are presented at each meeting tends to teach the men to do research work and then write their investigations in a careful and efficient manner. Also through these presentations much worthy knowledge is diffused among the members. In engineering classes professors do the talking, have the students themselves carry on the discussions, and the practice and fluency thus gained is more than the men realize at the present time. Then, the fact that the society is sponsored by men actually engaged in the type of work which these men will enter upon later in life means that a tremendous amount of experience and advice is at each individual's command, as well as aid in securing a position. Thus one can readily see the beneficial aspects of membership and one ceases to wonder at the fact that there are representative branches at practically every university and college in the country."

Military Exam. Question: You are walking with one companion, and he exclaims, "A bug has flown into my ear." What would you do?

Frosh Answer: I would procure a stick, place it in his ear, allow the bug to climb on, remove the stick, and throw it away.

Forty four of the 400 women students of Bucknell University may not walk on the campus or have dates for the next six months as a result of their admissions that they smoked in their rooms during the present year. The penalty was meted out by the women's student organization after the 44 had found themselves unable to sign a pledge that they had not smoked in their rooms.

PI DELTA RHO EXPIRES; 3 SOCIETIES TAKE NONE

Journalist Organization Disbands; Literary Societies Publish No Founder's Day Lists

Pi Delta Rho honorary journalistic society after many years of existence ... committed suicide Wednesday night when for the second time this year the society met this time to elect incoming members.

The society disbanded when the members concluded that it had no continuate functions to perform. The men who abolished the organization are:

C H Powell '30, G R Brush '31, A A Matthieu '30, R P Billings '30, L O Clayton '30, M H Jenks '30, H M Macomber '30, J M Moore '30, H K Rockland '30, S S Corbin '31, L Lasman '31, H R Mattison '31, C H Mace '30, J C Puffer '30, A G Sirois '30, A D Searles '30, R L Stewart '30, M I Nathanson '30, F S Smith '31.

Three other honorary societies all intellectual submitted no lists for the Founders Day announcements, but have provided for elections to be held on different days. They are Grey Friars, Tau Kappa Alpha and Wig and Buskin. Grey Friars is the honorary literary society, Tau Kappa Alpha the national honorary debating society, and Wig and Buskin the honorary dramatic society.

Grey Friars is, at present, the most active of these three societies. It was founded in the spring of 1928. The charter members were George Gould, Lewis Leary, Evo Lucchina, Albert Pengree, Whitney Safford, Orville Wood, all of the class of 1928. These first members strongly felt the need of some such society to unite all those who were truly interested in and appreciative of good literature. They felt that a marked benefit would be secured by all the members from the helpful criticism of their brothers in this enterprising group.

George Gould was the first president. Frederick Tupper and Leon Dean were elected as honorary members. Meetings have been held about twice a month during the past two years. During 1928-29 suppers were held once a month and a large banquet was given each semester. There have not been as many suppers this year, but a banquet was held at the Hotel Vermont last January during mid-years.

Among the interesting speakers whom the members have had the pleasure of listening to during the past two years are: Professors Tupper, Great, Aiken, Myrick, Leutsch, Dean Swift, President Bailey, Professor Peach of Norwich and Professor Roberts of Middlebury, who is doing special work along literary lines.

Student Speakers

This year a new custom has been established, that of having each member speak on some topic of literary interest. Among the talks presented have been "Impressionism," by Louis Lasman, "The History of Speech and Writing," by Alfred Morin; "The Art of Advertising," by George Nelson; "The History of Greek Literature," by Herrick Macomber; "Letter Writing in the Early Part of the Nineteenth Century," by Wilmond Parker; "The History of Russian Literature," by Edmour Germain; "Censorship and Literature," by Joseph Carter. Both Wilmond Parker and Edmour Germain have had material accepted by the Vermonter, a literary magazine of high merit.

It is the aim of every student interested in writing to become elected to this society. Since the membership is limited to about sixteen, a large number of applicants have to be rejected. This society is open to freshmen after they have completed one semester's work. Applicants should submit any two types of composition chosen from this group: Short story, essay, poem, or character sketch. These are read and voted on by the members of the society. Judgment is made on a purely literary merit. The present membership of the society is as follows: Robert Stewart '30, Herrick Macomber, '30, George Nelson '31, Edmour Germain, '31, Louis Lasman, '31, Nelson Segel '31, Joseph Carter, '32, Sam Barker '32, Alfred Morin, '32, and Paul LaCrosse, '32.

Tau Kappa Alpha

Tau Kappa Alpha, the honorary debating society at Vermont is the eldest of these three bodies. The society on this campus has always been small, averaging about eight men and women. By graduation this year it will lose Herrick Macomber, Mabel Freeman, Janice Goodrich and Franklin Sears, leaving only two men and four women. There are as yet no new members eligible for election.

The requirements for election to this society are participation in one inter

(Continued on page 4)

REGISTRAR REVISES LIST OF FINAL EXAMINATIONS

Schedules Exams from May 28 to June 11—Fixes Time and Hour of all Tests Uniformly

From the office of the registrar has come the final revised schedule of examinations, which will run from May 28 to June 11. All examinations must begin at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. and will be held in the gymnasium, unless otherwise announced by the instructor. The schedule follows:

Wednesday a.m. May 28: Art (Art) Eng. Economics 4 Economics 5 Economics 6 Journal 1 Mechanical Drawing Public School Music 1 (T Tr) Trigonometry Zoology 3

Wednesday p.m. May 28: Economics 2 Education 4 Greek 1 Greek 3 Greek 5 Greek 7 History of Art Math. 6 (Adv. Alg.)

Thursday a.m. May 29: Advanced Materials Economics 12 Elect Design Hist. of Ed. 1 English 1 (Am. Lit.) German 10 Home Economics 3 Junior A. (Eng. Lang. 106) (Virgil) Mech. Eng. Lab. Teach. of Agr.

Thursday p.m. May 29: Mechanics Spanish 1 Spanish 2 Spanish 3

Saturday a.m. May 31: Chemistry 104 (Children's Lit. (T Tr) Economics 5 Economics 9 Power Stations Sociology Vermont History Zoology 16

Saturday p.m. May 31: French 12 German 1 German 2 German 4

Monday a.m. June 2: Psychology 1 Psychology 2 (Applied) Psychology 5 (Abnormal) Psychology 106 (Experimental)

Monday p.m. June 2: Contracts and Spec. Economics 6 Economics 13 Economics 62 Elect Commun. French 7 French 103 Indust Mgt Pol Sci 109

Tuesday a.m. June 3: Math 1 (Anal. Geom.) (Arts and Ag.) Math 1 (Ana. Geom.) (Eng.) Math 1 (Math. Finance) (Arts and Ag.) Math. 2 (Calculus) (Arts) Math 2 (Calculus) (Eng.) Math 103

Tuesday p.m. June 3: Economics 1 Economics 114 Farm Management Intro to Education (T Tr) Methods of Teach. Home Ec Sanitary Eng. Zoology 6 (Compar. Anatomy)

Wednesday a.m. June 4: Chemistry 101 (Thermo.) Mus. 1 Music 5a (Solfeggio) Physics 5 (History) Pol Sci 1 Pol Sci 6 Pol sci 111

Wednesday p.m. June 4: Arith Math (T Tr) History 3 Home Ec 2 Math. 4 (Project Geom.) Physics 1

Thursday a.m. June 5: Chemistry 9 Geography (T Tr) Latin A Latin D Latin 1 Latin 2 Latin 14 Latin 16 (Vocab.) Psychology 7 Water Power Eng.

Thursday p.m. June 5: Economics 20 Economics 61 Education 5 English Math. (T Tr) Journalism

Friday a.m. June 6: Botany 2 Botany 3 Botany 7 Education 6 (General E. E. Pol Sci. 107 Pol Sci 114

Friday p.m. June 6: Chemistry 8 Dairy Bact. Eng. Constr. History 1 (Ancient) History 8 Music 3 Music 9 Philos 1 (Social Ethics) Philos 109 (Metaphysics)

Saturday a.m. June 7: French 1, French 3 French 4 French 14 French 113 Greek 107

Saturday p.m. June 7: Animal Husb 3 Astronomy Auto Eng. Dairy Mfg 3 Home Ec 9 Pol Sci 4 Rural Education (T Tr)

Monday a.m. June 8: Bridge Design. Care of Children History 7 Thermodynamics

Monday p.m. June 8: Chemistry 11 Chemistry 15 Chemistry 20 Economics 7 Economics 11 Philos 2 (Ethics) Pub. School Music 2 (T Tr)

Tuesday a.m. June 10: Botany 8 (Cytology) Geology 1 Geology 1a Geology 2 Geology 3 Home Economics 8 Reading Math. (T Tr) Span.

Tuesday p.m. June 10: Chemistry 1 Economics 58 Hygiene (T Tr) Stock Feeding

Wednesday a.m. June 11: Dairy Mfg 1 History (T Tr) Home Economics 12 Physiology (Ag.) Solfeggio (Music 5b)

Wednesday p.m. June 11: Home Economics 52 (T Tr) Zoology 1 (Pre Med.) Zoology 2 Zoology 3 Zoology 7 (Ag.)

There will be a meeting of the Business Board of the 1931 Ariel Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock at the Delta Pal House. If those sophomore scrubs who are scrubbing the business side of the yearbook are not present at this meeting it will be considered that their interest is not in their work and they will automatically be dropped from competition for places on next year's Business Board.

Members of the U. V. M. hockey team who were given letters for the past season were: Capt. L. Segal '31 (Captain-elect) R. J. Mercier '32, R. H. Hendricks '31, S. W. Howard '31, C. R. Collins '32, J. W. Marvin '32, R. Swain '32, L. R. Palmer '32, J. E. Wood '33 and A. Gloria '32, manager.

The senior representatives recently chosen to the W. A. A. Council are Jean Belden and Dorothy Nash. Ara Armstrong is the new sophomore member.

President Guy W. Bailey
Presided over the Founder's Day Exercises in Chapel this Morning

ADMINISTRATION PAYS TRIBUTE TO IRA ALLEN

(Continued from page 1)

finally returned to America he found his affairs hopelessly involved. To escape a debtor's prison, he was compelled to flee from the state he had founded. He lived for several years in Philadelphia an exile in poverty and obscurity. In 1814 he died and was buried in a nameless grave.

In recent years Vermonters have united to honor his memory too long neglected. A statue of Ira Allen, the gift of the late James B. Wilbur, of Manchester, Vt., now adorns the college green of the University. Through his further generosity the Ira Allen Chapel has been erected on the campus. On the corner stone of this beautiful memorial is the following inscription:

DEDICATED TO THE SERVICE OF GOD

AND ALSO IN MEMORY OF THE FOUNDER OF
THIS UNIVERSITY
IRA ALLEN

The pamphlet then outlines the various aspects of this man's life and character.

Pioneer

Before Ira Allen was 20 he set forth alone in search of a home. As he leisurely guided his canoe into the beautiful Bay of Burlington no smoke of settler's cabin was to be seen; no axe had touched the deep pine forests. Presently, on the beach a solitary figure was intent upon the changing colors of the glorious autumn sunset. His sensations kindled into rapture at the wondrous magnificence of the scene. Involuntarily he uttered this exclamation: 'Oh this is the place this must be the place.'

Exploration brought a keen appreciation of the practical advantages and possibilities of his discovery. Resolved to possess and develop the slope of the hill he sought out the persons to whom the town had been granted. For the sum of six pounds a thousand acres and more were deeded to Ira Allen the pioneer.

At the first meeting of the old Council of Safety Ira Allen, its youthful member, evoked from one of his colleagues this somewhat sarcastic motion: That Mr. Ira Allen, who insists that a regiment be raised when funds can scarcely be provided for two companies, be requested to discover ways and means to support the regiment and to make his report at sunrise tomorrow.

Accepting these conditions Ira Allen called for writing materials and a supply of candles, upon which another member ventured this suggestion: For your light, as your task is to find money where there is none to common view, I would advise you to borrow the wonderful lamp of Aladdin.

Ticonderoga had fallen and the settlements of Vermont were helpless before the oncoming army of Burgoyne. The Council of Safety, without public money and with no authority either to tax or borrow, had spent many hours in futile debate. With disaster imminent and no practical solution apparently possible, the Council almost discouraged awaited with doubtful hope the promised report of Ira Allen.

At sunrise each member was at his seat. The last one to enter was Mr. Ira Allen, youngest member of the Council. His plan was startling in its originality and immediately effective. It provided for the seizure and confiscating of the estate of every Tory in Vermont and for the prompt organization and support of a regiment of rangers. As a result of the adoption of the plan the office of treasurer of Vermont was created. To this responsible office Vermonters repeatedly elected Ira Allen, the financier.

Statesman

Amidst a severe and ever memorable thunderstorm, with the tempest of war actually breaking over the borders, the determined liberty-loving men of Vermont adopted deliberately, section by section, the Constitution of their state. Previously the delegates of the towns in solemn convention assembled, had declared themselves independent of all save the mercies of God. In the most gloomy and glorious year of her history Vermont the state was born.

Ira Allen had been the first to move earnestly in the matter, having drawn the outlines and main features of the plan. For a year and months more, he had devoted, almost entirely, his time, means and energy to the advancement of this important project. The enemies of Vermont, openly and secretly offered bitter opposition, but the persevering statesmanship of Ira Allen refuted their arguments and frustated their purposes. In days of darkness and dismay the political destiny of Vermont was determined almost entirely through the wholehearted earnestness and untiring activity of Ira Allen, statesman.

No son of Vermont can read without mingled amazement and indignation of the persecution, desertion and neglect of his state during the dark days of the Revolution. On either hand were jealous neighbors eagerly seeking her destruction. Congress, swayed by these selfish, conflicting counsels, not only refused admission to the Union and the protection it afforded but rewarded the heroism and loyalty of the Green Mountain Boys by taking away the state's own legitimate means of self-defense. That her very existence was imperiled was fully realized by Ira Allen, strategist.

By political strategy, fully justified by law of self-preservation, unions of towns to the east and west were boldly organized and annexed with the result that the greedy enemies of Vermont were at once effectively placed on the defensive. Outside friends soon came to aid her now hopeful cause and the struggling commonwealth acquired by this strategy an advantage which it never lost.

Early in 1781 when the convention at Charlestown voted to unite all 'The Grants' to New Hampshire that vote went in fact to annihilate the State of Vermont. In this crisis the Governor and Council sent to the convention only one man, but that man was Ira Allen. Though not yet 30, he was authorized 'to take such measures as his prudence should dictate and which might be conducive to the interest of the state.'

Delayed in crossing the mountains he arrived to find the enemies of Vermont rejoicing over their victory. On that same day the adverse report had been passed by a great majority and recommitted to be prepared for publication.

In spite of this apparently hopeless situation, by sleepless vigilance and indomitable energy, the skillful leadership of Ira Allen that night saved the State of Vermont. With tactful threat and positive promise he so changed sentiment over night that the convention rescinded its vote and even favored the annexation of towns to the east. Thus did the leadership of Ira Allen dictate such prudent measures, as were conducive to the interest of the state.

Diplomatist

In his History of Vermont Ira Allen tells us that he 'preferred to set forth on the first day of May on this most important mission. The day was auspicious because it was the anniversary of his birth, the first day of his thirtieth year.'

The mission on which he started alone was the extremely delicate and seemingly impossible task of procuring the inactivity of 10,000 British troops then on the northern frontier.

'The whole story cannot be told briefly. Negotiation succeeded negotiation, suspicions on all sides were cleverly allayed. By the resourceful diplomacy of Ira Allen one guard of the British force in North America was idle in the campaign of 1781 and the victory at Yorktown soon followed.

'Thus were state and country served by Ira Allen, diplomatist.'

Picturing him as benefactor, the pamphlet further on tells how:

'In 1796 Ira Allen made the following statement regarding education in Vermont. 'The greatest legislators from Lycurgus down to John Locke have laid down a moral and scientific system of education as the very foundation and cement of a state. The Vermonters are sensible of this, and for this purpose they have planted several public schools, and have established a University, and endowed it with funds and academic rewards, to draw forth and foster talents. The effects of these institutions are already experienced, and I trust that in a few years the rising generation will evince that these institutions were not laid in vain. Remember, however, that our maxim is rather to make good men than great scholars. Let us hope for the union for that makes the man and the useful citizen.'"

Speaking of him as the Founder, the pamphlet recalls that:

'On September 20, 1800, he issued this appeal:

'—To the lovers of the sciences, to the friends and guardians of the rising and future generations, an appeal is made. Will you suffer an institution so useful to languish? Shall the erection of this seminary be retarded for the want of your pecuniary aid, when so much has already been expended? * * *

'Shall the education of our youth be any longer neglected, when it can be so easily attained, and graduations, with all the honors of college, begin in four or five years at the farthest? Shall such privileges be lost or neglected for the want of a few rusty dollars?

'No—is the response of every friend to the refinement of men and manners. * * * That every man may have an easy opportunity of indulging the philanthropy of his heart, in contributing to the erection of a seminary for the diffusion of light and knowledge amongst mankind, notice is given to all, that beef, pork, and all kinds of grain, will be received. Cash will not be refused.'

And as the Vermonter:

'From the pioneer days of his youth to the bitter exile of his last years Ira Allen invest his love for Vermont. Through his self-sacrificing service the infant state was conceived, nurtured, toiled and gave. [illegible] means were freely [illegible] Allen believed in Vermont.

'He had faith in her.

'He had faith in her.

'Above all, he [illegible] institutions.'

JOURNALISM CLASS TO EDIT LOCAL NEWSPAPER

Under the direction of Mr. [illegible] of H. Crockett, instructor in [illegible] of the University, journalism students both past and present will cooperate in the editing of the annual student edition of the Burlington Daily News, which will appear on the evening of Monday, May 5 and will be devoted almost entirely to University activities.

Each spring for the past three years the class in journalism at the University has put out an edition of the Daily News. The work is done in connection with the course and credit is given for it. The students take over the entire editorial work of the paper and scour the city for news items and in addition to the considerable work previous to the edition, collecting feature stories and writing editorials.

ROBERT LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE CLAYTON

RETIRING BOULDER MEMBERS

COOPERATION AND PEP MARK W. A. A. RALLY

Fine cooperation and plenty of pep marked the opening of the new W. A. A. year with the installation of the Council at the indoor rally at Robinson Hall Tuesday evening. Awards, the announcement of the contests, and stunts characterized the meeting.

Georgina Hubert, chairman of the rally in the absence of Estabel Perelman, retiring president, read the names of the new Council. Isabel Warburst president of W. A. A., made the following awards: Eunice Wilder, '30, a blazer; Harriet Wright, '31, Alice Lunna, '32, and Mildred Akins, '32, the U. V. M. emblem; Margaret Towers, '33, Helen Drugg, '31, and Ethelda Miller, '33, their class numerals.

Mildred Akins, '32, spoke on Posture Week. "Posture Expresses Personality" cards were given out to each girl by the Health Council. Margaret Rice, '31, was in charge of a posture stunt.

A need for co-ed athletic songs has long been felt and a contest for one or several has been opened for any girl to enter. All songs should be submitted to some member of the Council before exam period.

Robinson Hall presented an amusing stunt, "Things That Never Happen at U. V. M." Maynard House presented "Maynard's Sunday Night." The stunt given by Slade Cottage was in keeping with the campaign conducted for the Student Union Building. As various girls appeared representing the different activities which will be housed in the new building, the audience guessed swimming, CYNIC, Ariel, Book Store, cafeteria, mixers, lectures, dancing.

The evening closed with the singing of "Champlain."

PI DELTA RHO EXPIRES; 3 SOCIETIES TAKE NONE

(Continued from page 1)

collegiate debate with a [illegible] college and in one intramural [illegible] in two intercollegiate debates. New members are elected by the [illegible] ter, with the permission of the national chapter, in the spring.

Members of this society are recognized by the insignia bearing the Greek letters T K A. Membership in this national society is a goal toward which every debater works. Three meetings are held each year. No dues are required, only a nominal initiation fee. At present the society is purely honorary. No banquets or other social events are held. Steps have been taken, however, to make the plans in the future much more active. The present membership is:

Franklin Sears, '30, Herbert Marshall, '30, Janice Goodrich, '30, Mabel Freeman, '30, Louis Lisman, '31, George Nelson, '31, Edith Thomas, '31, Lena Cochran, '31, and Roberta Powers, '32.

Wig and Buskin

A new dramatic society called "The Wig and Buskin" was formed by a group of men interested in dramatics on Saturday, February 27, 1909. A committee composed of Hill, '09, Kehoe, '09, and Dow, '09, presented a proposed constitution and name for the society, both which were adopted. The former received several amendments at the time and has received several more since that time. The constitution, as drawn up, called for an annual election of officers in June and an executive committee composed from each of the medical and academic fraternities and also from the Independents. Membership was limited to fifty.

This society was planned to take up the work of a certain Historic Club which had dissolved, and to make such a type of society a more permanent institution. The rules for admission are now much stricter than formerly. Men must not only be interested in dramatics but must also have a speaking part in at least one college play. Business managers are also selected. Representatives from the fraternities are no longer required.

Formerly, the society used to stage productions of its own and offered prizes for the best plays submitted by undergraduate students. Now the society, in collaboration with the women's dramatic society, Masque and Sandal, meet during the fall to read and select the fall production and in the spring to read and select the Junior Week play. The society also holds the annual initiation of new members and a subsequent banquet in May. The present members are:

Harvey Butterfield, '31, Ros Wyman, '31, Hugh Mattison, '31, Robert Ayer, '31, Julius Perelman, '31, Fred Hopkholder, '32, Robert Jenks, '32, and Sam Barker, '32.

COLLEGE HUMOR

Current phrase: I was [illegible] grazed in Chicago. [illegible] querader.

"I hear they're starting [illegible] paign against malaria.

"Good heavens! What [illegible] larians done now?"—Penn. [illegible]

A student at Yale [illegible] he had passed a wrong [illegible] —thus proving that a [illegible] aid one in an examination [illegible] that's the prize of the w[illegible]

Mother (reading): [illegible] Tucker, sings for his [illegible]

Bobby: What's his th[illegible]

—Missouri Outlaw

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR L. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

STRONG MATERIAL ON JUNIOR VARSITY

Extensive Schedule Being Prepared by Manager Billings Includes Trip to Hanover

LINE-UP NOW ASSUMES MORE DEFINITE FORM

Under the able generalship of "Doc" Newton, the junior varsity squad expects to present a strong ball club. An extensive schedule is being drawn up by Manager R. B. Billings, and includes a trip to Hanover to engage the Dartmouth School.

The schedule, because of so many tentative dates, is not yet available for publication but will be issued from the Graduate Manager's office sometime this week.

The squad this year consists of a remarkably strong battery headed by Cunningham, Holy Cross transfer; Conway Farmer and Hoyt. On the receiving end, Ray Towne, former Burlington High School backstop, will do the bulk of the work, with assistance from Tomasetti, Foster and Berry.

Tom London, ineligible because of the one-year transfer rule, will probably cavort about the initial sack with Capuano on second and Baker at the hot corner. Macomber, a promising freshman stickworker and able fielder, will fill in at shortstop to complete a very aggressive infield.

In the garden Bussey, a veteran of last year's Jayvees, Fienberg and possibly Wetherell or Levy will start. Bill Heaton, at present out for football, may revert from his former position of shortstop to the outfield.

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTING EDITOR—

Vermont versus Fort Ethan Allen this afternoon!

This game was scheduled during the week in order to fill in a date which was not "open" on the schedule. A two-week layoff was considered too much.

Norwich beat this Fort Ethan Allen team 6 to 3.

We can't wait to see what the Cats will do on Centennial Field. The student body is all aflutter.

Wind and cold has hampered the baseball and track athletes this week.

Both teams leave Burlington next week-end—"Larry" Gardner's charges opposing the crack Holy Cross Crusaders and Connecticut Aggies while "Archie" Post leads his track and field men against Amherst.

The tennis team, too, will be away. Boston, Worcester, Polytech, and Clark will entertain the racqueteers on May 1, 2 and 3, respectively. The tennis and baseball team will meet in Worcester on May 2.

Track time trials will be held on Centennial Field today. The day's vacation will allow no time for sleep.

The first Junior Varsity ball game is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon on Centennial with the same Fort team that the varsity crosses bats with today.

Other prospective Jayvee opponents are Dartmouth and Norwich junior nines.

TRACK MEN TO BE GIVEN TIME TRIALS

Candidates to be Given Try-outs This Afternoon in Preparation for Coming Meet

FIRST MEET OF SEASON ONE WEEK FROM TODAY

This afternoon in preparation for the first meet, which comes a week from today at Amherst, Coach Post will conduct a series of trials on Centennial Field. Candidates for each of the various events will be given time try-outs as a test before entering into outside competition. Training has been carried on for several weeks and it is expected that a good showing will be made.

The squad seems to be most uncertain in regard to dash candidates but among these Captain Mace and Berry look to be the best. In the middle distance events such veterans as Huey and Bond will be entered and in addition to these Hadley, Wilder, Varney, Maynes, Colburn, Brooks and Sanborn compose the distance prospectives.

In the broad jump Mace and Bond will furnish the competition while in the high jump Franceschi, Bond and Bedell appear to be the class. Swain and Meehan are the best pole vaulters among the Catamounts. In the weights Mace, Parks, Manning and Gardner are the outstanding candidates.

The time trials this afternoon will give the coach an opportunity to get a line on his men before the meet and will also give the candidates a chance to show their abilities.

Les Gage's College Humor all American basketball team is as follows:
Forward, Hyatt, Pittsburgh.
Forward, F. Ward, Montana State.
Center, Murphy, Loyola, Chicago.
Guard, Wooden, Purdue.
Guard, Johnson, North Carolina State.
On his second team he includes Krieger of Providence and Magner of Pennsylvania. Kinsbrunner of St. John's made the third outfit.

Gage picks this as his all-American sextet:
Wing, Palmer, Yale;
Wing, Jeremiah, Dartmouth.
Center, McFayden, Marquette.
Defense, Cunningham, Harvard.
Defense, Wilson, Yale;
Goalie, Easton, Clarkson Tech.
Spare, Giddens (wing), Harvard.
Lindquist of Army, who starred against Vermont, is on his second team as a wing.

Outdoor classes in physical education started this week with about 120 signed up for tennis, 100 for archery and 55 for baseball.

Catamount Baseball Team to Meet Fort Ethan Allen

Extra Game is Scheduled This Afternoon to Fill in Two Weeks of Idleness—Pitching Staff is Handicapped by Injuries

WEAKNESSES IN TEAM TO RECEIVE ATTENTION

According to the schedule the Catamount baseball squad should have a rest this week, but the management has obtained a game with Fort Ethan Allen to be played this afternoon on Centennial Field if weather permits. It will be in the form of a practice game for the Green and Gold team and should be a good workout on the home grounds. It is not yet known who will be on the mound for Vermont. In this game the Catamount ball tossers should get a good chance to smooth over their present tendency of unsteady fielding in addition to sharpening up their batting eyes.

With the coming warm weather it is hoped that the two ailing moundsmen, "Lefty" Cummings and "Wally" Sargent, will round into shape. If Rutkowski and McBride continue pitching effective ball, "Doc" Newton's hurling staff should turn out some of the brand of pitching of which it is capable.

Behind the bat "Max" Kendall and "Charlie" Stroh are doing good work. Kendall's receiving in the Springfield and Yale games was of high caliber.

The chief trouble with the infield seems to be a lack of steadiness, which was especially noticeable in the Yale game. Had they been able to keep their heads in that eighth inning avalanche, Yale's margin of victory might have been somewhat smaller.

The outfield seems to be the only unit of the Green and Gold nine which is functioning anywhere near normally. Capt. "Wis" Howard and "Dinny" Dinniman are the only two men who are hitting the ball with any consistency, while "Orrie" Jay, the converted shortstop, has blossomed out into a real ball hawk in center field.

FOOTBALL CANDIDATES CONTINUING PRACTICE

Coaches Give Particular Attention to Line Play—Training Sessions About to be Ended

Football practice is continuing to be held every day on the back campus but will be brought to an end shortly. Coach Dave Dunn has the nucleus of a smooth working outfit. His personal interest in each player has put new vigor and enthusiasm in the squad. Dummy scrimmages are held often, giving the men practice in running, kicking and passing.

Much stress is being laid on line play and Vermont should be represented by a very capable forward wall next year. Some aspirants for the line are Captain Segal, Durfey, Rugg, Tobin, Murad, Cognetta, Bigelow, Tilley, Crenser, Collins, Donaldson, Davis, Allerton, while in the backfield are T. Collins, Wadsworth, Gourson, Heaton, Bove and Rapuano.

Co-ed Notes

Arrangements have been made for golf.

Baseball will be played at Grassmount until the athletic field is in condition. Tennis classes are being held inside until the courts are ready. Archery has been changed from Grassmount to Redstone this spring.

Horseback riding classes are to be held every Tuesday and Thursday at 4 o'clock. Special permission must be obtained from home for anyone to take this sport.

The following members of the Home Economics Department are in charge of Practice house this week: Senior hostesses, Florence Whitcomb and Helen Peabody; juniors, Dorothy Emery, cook and Janice Davis, household manager; sophomore waitress, Lucille Robinson; freshman assistant, Zoay Bigelow.

Spring Physical Education Program Includes Several Special Courses

Following the systematic, interest-arousing program mapped out this year by the department of physical education, Howard A. Prentice, director of physical education, has drawn up a definite schedule of spring term classes which has been in effect in the department since April 14.

The first week was spent in the instruction and practice of the theory and form of sprinting, shot put, and push ball. The work of this week was done in running, striding, stand and recreational games. Next week, weather permitting, the classes will be held outdoors and will consist in sprinting and running broad jump, shot put, and recreational games. The following week sprinting over a 50-yard course will be undertaken. Theory and practice in relay racing will also be in order. Weeks 12 and 13 high jump and broad jump records will be taken. The week of May 19 will be spent in finishing up records, and recreational games. Make-up periods, to be announced later, will be held from May 19 to 27.

HOWARD PRENTICE

The course in baseball coaching, including theory and practice is in progress now. Anyone may enroll in this course which is given Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at four o'clock. Riding, golf and tennis are other sports sanctioned by the department. A special course in physical fitness, which has to do with corrective gymnastics, is taught by Mr. Prentice on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at four o'clock in the auxiliary gymnasium.

NOTICES

There will be a meeting of the eligibility department at 3.00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the graduate manager's office in the gymnasium. All freshmen wishing to scrub for this department should be present, as it is very important.

Freshman and sophomore men interested in the Kingsley Prize Speaking report to Mr. Powers in the Y office Monday or Tuesday.

Gwen: "How do you like wearing long skirts?"
Bill: "They're great for getting up stares."

BOYS and GIRLS
CHRISTY'S BARBER SHOP
is well ventilated and stays open until eight o'clock.
Why Not Give Us a Try
97½ Church St. 1 Flight Up
My Service Is Guaranteed To Please

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2000

The Old Reliable
Gotham gold stripe
Silk Stockings that Wear
$1.50 & 1.95 Pr.
Sheer, Service Sheer or Service weight, thirty four smart shades, for day time, afternoon or evening wear

SENIOR CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

Turk Says

The College Men of America
Are the Designers of LEARBURY
Authentic Styled College Clothes
This is only possible through frequent style surveys made by LEARBURY stylists at America's leading universities and colleges.
FOR SPRING LEARBURY RECOMMENDS:
TWEED TONES
TIGER TANS
TIGER GRAYS
Priced at $40.00
with extra trousers
Turk's Inc.

Undergraduates Praise Founder

BRADISH TALKS OF IRA ALLEN AND COMMERCE

Allen and Commerce

SEARS DISCOURSES ON ALLEN AND AMBITION

(Continued from page 1)

Y. W. C. A. APPOINTS FIVE DEPARTMENT CHAIRMEN

Orator Attacks Villifiers of Vermont State in His Founder's Day Address

(Continued from page 1)

News of Death Exaggerated

Sensational journalists have sent their inspired scribes into the state to unfold the great tragedy of our existence. Each precocious literary gent dashing through the state in a gas powered automobile with the dirt of thirteen other states upon his goggles, with a blue book in his left hand and the emergency brake in his right with nothing on the wheel, not even his pencil has written a sensational story of the terrible condition of Old Lady Vermont. He has even in his imagination rushed her to the operating table gathered in the sociologists, psychiatrists psychologists—other intangibles and intangibles—and after due deliberation I think they decided that the old lady was either moronic, cantankerous, idiotic or insane, and that possibly she had all of these afflictions in composite form. But the worst of it is our critics have never done anything about it. Now no good physician as a rule informs his patient of his dangerous condition without assuring him of help and possibly a cure. In other words he does something about it.

Theodore Roosevelt once said, 'I know of nothing that I can do but someone else can do it better. But I owe my success largely to the fact that I determine what is right to do and I do it.'

Vermont stands ready to be advised to consult, to cooperate, toward constructive ends. But no fool or flapper philosophy will get much of a hearing at the hearthstone of Vermonters.

More friendly critics have questioned our conservatism and openly condemned our individualism in an age of cold blooded business. On the other hand in an age of amalgamation from my humble viewpoint—I feel that we have sometimes overemphasized organization, paying too little attention to the links that determine the chain. For in the long run the strength of organization lies in the quality of the elements that comprise it and the nearer together we bring the units of society the more necessary it will be that the purity of its parts be undefiled, lest we contaminate the structure we wish to conserve.

"Vermont will and must rise to the new order of things. She will be slow in coming to her own but she will contribute the character of her people in the future as in the past to a broader and finer development based on cooperation.

Faith in Opportunity

Are there opportunities in Vermont today? Some will say yes; some will say no. Both answers at times appear correct, for economic conditions seem not only a little discouraging to the most sanguine but a little perplexing to those of greatest foresight. But I have faith that the wonderful deposits within the earth of this state will be in demand to a greater degree than ever and that perhaps our industrial age is just around the corner. Perhaps some unknown genius at this hour is ready to point the way. Tomorrow may give us, for a different need, another Thaddeus Fairbanks who, disgusted with the crude methods of weighing, invented the famous scales renowned throughout the world. It may be another Proctor with genius for organization and production among the marble deposits of this fair state, another Hartness with inventive ingenuity that has built a prosperous city among the hills. It may be a Bickford whose leadership and business sagacity transformed a little country village in to the building granite center of the world. It may be courageous and hopeful spirits like the pioneers of Barre's granite hills that have placed the 'Rock of Ages' in the markets of all mankind. It may be souls for more distinctly humanitarian needs that possess some helpful and remunerative possibilities like the founders of the National Life Insurance Company, of Montpelier, that will help pave the way to Vermont's business future.

Lastly, while we call ourselves an agricultural state and sometimes hopelessly declare that our last refuge is in the fluid milk market and 'after that the deluge', still some chemist in the still watches of last night may have discovered that out of the casein of milk is the most serviceable and cheapest material for motor vehicle pistons and the only feasible thing for making airplane propellers. Then—just then we will be the source and the supply.

Imagination? Listen: it is not much more than a century ago that the virgin pine was cut from some of the richest farms in the Winooski Valley and the timber rolled into the river to float away that the owners might clear the land and till the soil. Imagination? What about the lumber today? It would be worth more than the farms. Imagination rules the world and is necessary to every human production. There are still 'Acres of Diamonds' among these [illegible] elements of a man's character if he has eyes to see. Time and the genius of men will bring them to their own.

Vermont must have [illegible] purity. I one time heard Dwight Hillis say 'No [illegible] great that was not [illegible] can reach the top that is [illegible] eyes. Possibly you may [illegible] to this program, I am [illegible] I never will, but that [illegible] I am quite certain.

A Man of Vision

"Ira Allen was a man [illegible] looked upon the state [illegible] it was good. A man of [illegible] might have seen in Lake [illegible] a place to fish or to [illegible] felt the touch of a great [illegible] became enraptured over [illegible] of God's handiwork. He [illegible] Mansfield and Camel's Hump [illegible] shine and storm. And I [illegible] grew in stature as he gazed [illegible] mighty mountains banked [illegible] the blue. Allen explored the Winooski River; he was not attracted [illegible] by the wild onions on its [illegible] the Winooski derives its [illegible] the possibilities of future [illegible] through manufacturing and agricultural growth.

"The Dutch purchased the [illegible] Manhattan from the Indians for [illegible] gallons of whiskey. Some [illegible] said that there is strong [illegible] in New York for trading, [illegible] would not want to vouch for [illegible] truth of the assertion. But I [illegible] stand that Ira Allen pictured [illegible] self a beautiful city on the [illegible] where Burlington now stands. [illegible] purchased the land with [illegible] adjoining for $25.00—and everyone has been satisfied with the bargain.

"Allen visualized the day when Vermont would be connected with [illegible] markets of the world. The dream of financiers and statesmen a century and a half later were ambitions [illegible] then near to his heart. Canals and deep waterways, to stimulate the arteries of trade—all these were striven for by Allen in his time. And [illegible] when negotiating abroad to secure co-operation of British authorities in building a canal connecting Lake Champlain with the St Lawrence River that Allen was imprisoned, the outcome of which led to his financial ruin at home and to exile at the [illegible].

"Ira Allen was a pioneer history makes clear that assertion. Shall we rest content to cease pioneering? God forbid. The struggle of his day is not our struggle, but Vermont has perplexing problems. The old order changeth. Allen fought the enemies of our commonwealth almost alone. Shall we betray the trust reposed in us and fail to defend the state against those who would rob us of our heritage? Let us pioneer in Vermont. Pioneer in industry, pioneer in agriculture, pioneer against poverty, pioneer against disease, pioneer against ignorance. Pioneer at all times and in everything.

"I shall make no pretense at profoundness this morning. I crave nothing more pathetic. The great truths and principles of all living must be understood by a child.

"The fundamental principles on which our government was founded and must be maintained were expressed by Thomas Jefferson when he said, 'All men are created free and equal.' In 1830 a spark smouldering in the breast of Daniel Webster for 40 years burst into flame to give us the greatest political speech ever produced on the Western Continent. Yet the real story can be reduced to a single sentence. 'This is the people's government and responsible to the people.' Thirty-three years later the greatest soul since St. Paul raised his voice at Gettysburg and said in words almost divine, 'Let us here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain and that the government of the people by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth.' Allen was one of the people. There is something about those old Green Mountain Boys that fills one with a pride of the common people. These patriots were conducting the fight for human liberties that will go on and on until men [illegible] are really free. As water cannot rise above its source, nothing [illegible] ernment can rise above the rights of the people.

"Patriotism is an old [illegible] Allen was a patriot.

"'Breathes there a man with [illegible] dead.
Who never to himself hath said
This is my own, my [illegible]'

"While the patriotism [illegible] demands a wider horizon, a [illegible] vision, and even loftier [illegible] must be guided by the [illegible] principles of service. [illegible] day and generation do as much [illegible] vance mankind in every [illegible] human development as the [illegible] of this state and republic [illegible] not be 'weighed in the [illegible] found wanting.'

(Continued on page [illegible])

[illegible]

[illegible] be related from that [illegible] which Ira Allen [illegible] and I refer to the Great Lakes-St Lawrence Seaway Project, an enterprise which promises benefits to numerous [illegible].

The Great Lakes have been [illegible] to their economic value to the Mediterranean with affording ingress by water to the very heart of a great continent. The full serviceability of the former, however, awaits the further improvement for navigation for the purpose of the larger canals capacious through the St Lawrence River; it is for the purpose of effecting this improvement that the seaway project is proposed. Some idea of the vast economic consequences is gained from the testimony of experts long engaged in a study of the situation. Of predominate interest is the large measure of hope which it holds for the relief of our farmers in the Middle West. It is estimated that the cost of transporting grain from Chicago to Liverpool would be reduced by eight or ten cents per bushel could it go without trans-shipment as it would by the proposed route. The elimination of the trans-shipment would afford the agriculturists benefits which no artificial measures can effect and besides advantageous in that it avoids any resort to class legislation.

Though the region whose products now pass through the lake ports would be most directly benefited there are other sections of the country which would profit by this enterprise. It is then quite natural that we who live in New England should inquire as to what modifying influence would be felt to our economic structure.

New England is essentially a manufacturing district and we are relatively remote from our chief source of food supply the Middle West. Likewise we are remote from those districts which furnish us the raw materials which our mills convert into finished products. Through the construction of the proposed canal a continuous waterway would be opened to ocean carriers from the ports of New England to those on the Great Lakes. The low freight rates which are afforded by water transportation would be effected and proportionately a lower cost of living would be enjoyed by New England.

There is much that has been accomplished towards the realizing of this canal. It necessitates joint construction by the United States and Canada and already the two governments are well advanced towards an understanding. Its engineering feasibility has been established and the expense which it will involve presents no insuperable barrier.

Progress!

I have briefly outlined this impending project and have suggested its significance. I have described a similar project conceived by Ira Allen over a century ago. Although in comparison of material structure there is wide disparity there is between the two one common purpose the desire for progress.

As I read the life of Ira Allen I was impressed more than anything else by the progressiveness which his whole life was typified. His vision projected far beyond the period in which he lived and glimpsed the needs of the future. Recognizing these he expended his fullest energy upon the larger problems of his day. His interests were so extensive and varied that he was ever compelled to keep moving either backward or forward. That we today honor him as a soldier, statesman, diplomat and commercial leader testifies that he always chose to move forward.

Elizabeth Matelyn was elected chairman of Census at a meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Council Saturday afternoon which appointed four other department chairmen. Katrina Mace was chosen chairman of meetings, Ruth Small chairman of social service, Vera Charlotte chairman of conferences and Beatrice Freeman chairman of publicity.

(Continued on page [illegible])

Transcribed from page 1

[illegible] Vermont was settled by [illegible] Ira Allen [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Allen [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

PICNIC AND DANCES ARE WOMEN'S ACHIEVEMENTS

Mortar Board, Senior Honorary, Outlines Many Notable Functions, but Exhibits No Record of Accomplishment

[illegible] picnic and successful [illegible] accomplishments of [illegible] this year Members of [illegible] senior society, when interviewed however, to dig up [illegible] ment of the organization [illegible] off this list of aspira-

[illegible] college scholarships, leadership personality in women of the [illegible] the basic requirements [illegible] Mortar Board. So it is [illegible] to it is considered on [illegible] campuses the highest honor [illegible] woman may receive."

History of Akraia

Akraia was founded in October, [illegible] senior honorary society "to [illegible] the highest type of college [illegible] and to further the best interests of the women's department and [illegible] University." The constitution, [illegible] to a committee consisting of [illegible] Misses O'Sullivan, Gifford, Spafford and Shepardson, was read before [illegible] seventeen senior women who had assembled at luncheon at the Van Ness [illegible]

The first reunion of Akraia was held [illegible] 15, 1923. Akraia established Lilac [illegible] in memory of Dean Pearl Randall Masters memory in the annual Lilac [illegible] organization.

Through the efforts of the senior members in 1924, Akraia Chapter's [illegible] to Mortar Board was accepted [illegible] installation was conducted by Mrs. Homer S. Clarke of Swarthmore, Pa., national president, at Redstone, October 18, 1924. Thirty-three active alumnae and honorary members were [illegible] at this time. Dean Marion Edwards and Miss Eleanor Cummings were made honorary members. Miss Katrina Storms and Miss Alice Blanchard have been made honorary members also. Akraia Chapter of Mortar Board continues to perpetuate Dean Edwards memory in the annual Lilac [illegible] pageant, as the original society of Akraia formerly did.

The honor lists of the newly elected members follow:

Elizabeth Clark is a member of Alpha Chi Omega, has served on the Y. W. C. A. council, as secretary of Deutsche Verein and is president of the Press Club. Miss Clark was a member of her class hockey team for three years, varsity archery last year and is on the rifle team.

Elizabeth Cory, a member of Kappa Kappa Theta, is now president of Mask and Sandal and belongs to W. A. A. and the Women's Glee Club. Miss Cory took part in the operas "The Mad Doctor" and "Patience" and is in the cast of "Orpheus." She had a part in "Summertime" and was property manager of "Dear Brutus."

Janice Davis, an Alpha Xi Delta, is a member of Omicron Nu, Dramatic Club and the Home Economics Club, of which she is vice-president. She is a representative to the Panhellenic Council a grind editor of the Ariel, treasurer of Student Union, has taken part in class plays and was class secretary in her freshman year. Miss Davis has served on class committees and is on a Junior Week committee.

Ruth Field is a grind editor of the [illegible] series on the Panhellenic Council and is a member of Press Club, the Health Council, Women's Glee Club, Pi Beta Phi Fraternity and is treasurer of Student Union. Miss Field has been on class basketball and hockey teams, in the cast of "Patience" and on the sophomore and basketball [illegible] committees; she is also on a Junior Week committee.

Dorothy Nash is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Fraternity, Eta Sigma Phi, Dramatic Club, of which she was secretary last year, the Press Club, Y. W. C. A., Women's Glee Club, and Panhellenic Council. Miss Nash has been on basketball, baseball and tennis [illegible] has taken part in class plays [illegible] Patience" and is now a grind [illegible] the Ariel. During the coming [illegible] will serve as chief justice of [illegible] Union.

Margaret Rice of Kappa Alpha Theta [illegible] chief of Winnowings from [illegible] Mill played on the class [illegible] team and claims membership [illegible] Club, Eta Sigma Phi, [illegible] Glee Club, Student Union, [illegible] Bluestockings, of which she is [illegible]

[illegible] Wright, a Pi Beta Phi, is [illegible] of Bluestockings and Dra- [illegible] She served on the Sopho- [illegible] Committee, has been on the [illegible] and rifle teams, is now sec- [illegible] of Student Union, athletic edi- [illegible] of the Cynic and sports editor of [illegible]

[illegible] personnel of the or- [illegible] includes Mabel Freeman of [illegible] Theta, Beverly House- [illegible] Narcissa Goodsell of Pi [illegible] Janice Richardson of Alpha [illegible] Dorothy Dailey and Florence [illegible] of Alpha Chi Omega.

TWO STUDENTS WILL ATTEND SPECIAL CAMP

Special authority has been secured by Lieut-Col. F. F. Black from the First Corps Area for A. A. Caldwell, '31, advanced student in the R. O. T. C. course, to attend the Chemical Warfare School at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., and for P. H. Thomas, '31, also an advanced student in the R. O. T. C. to attend the Signal Corps School at Fort Monmouth, N. J., in lieu of the Infantry R. O. T. C. Camp at Camp Devens, Mass., during the summer of 1930.

At Fort Monmouth, Thomas will pursue a six-weeks course covering various phases of radio and signal communication, the installation and maintenance of switch boards and buzzer lines, and a course in practical meteorology in which methods of securing, preparing and utilizing meteorological data are studied. In addition to the instruction work in camp, inspection trips will be made to communication centers in and around New York City to familiarize students with commerical communications.

Edgewood Arsenal, Md., where Caldwell will go, is the home of the Army Chemical Warefare School, where one of the great chemical institutions of the country is maintained. This school offers a course covering instruction in first aid and treatment of gas casualties, tests of chemical agents in the field, weather reports and various demonstrations to illustrate the properties of chemical clouds.

GRAY FRIAR MAINTAINS FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

(Continued from page 1)

The espionage act, effective during the World War, sought to prevent conspiracies against military activities and conscription. But today, with no need for any such law, censorship, according to the speaker, is still being practiced.

Russia and Italy he held to be the best examples of the art of gagging the press. Under the Soviet régime in Russia at the present time there is complete control over all printed matter by a general organ of censorship called the glovlit.

"A liberal government is one which recognizes the right of opposition," the speaker continued. "But Mussolini, in his Fascist dictatorship, has robbed Italy of all that makes life in common worthwhile. A modern state, he has shown, is helpless and dumb once its press is dead. Now there is little opposition in Italy—only a passive public opinion frightened and ignorant. The press dares not print the truth if it is in opposition to Fascist rule, so American journalists in Italy have great difficulty in securing and telegraphing Associated Press news.

"In recent court fights for freedom of the press," Carter remarked, "the newspapers have in general commented that it is the right of the press to print the whole truth in the public interest and not be forced to withhold all editorial opinion in championing the rights of the reading public."

Illegal Censorship

Although no newspaper censorship law exists at the present time certain groups and societies have attempted to assume the power of control of discussion in the press, it was pointed out.

One of the earliest so-called "blacklists" was printed in the Scabbard and Blade Journal and sought to institute general repression of discussion, debate and press attitude toward the military system, whose interests it has at heart.

The local post of the American Legion at Westchester, Pa., laid down a law "that no institution supported by public money should criticize the government or its policies." In one educational institution two professors were thereupon dismissed because they encouraged a Liberal Club which discussed government policies in Nicaragua and Mexico. In this case the local press outwardly denounced the attitude taken by the Legion in its influence against the two men.

In a number of colleges and universities censorship of student publications and expulsion have been in some instances threatened whenever some controversial question has been discussed.

Useless to Put Thermometer in Jail

"Nobody ever succeeded in bettering the weather by putting the thermometer in jail and nobody has removed the causes of unrest and discomfort by trying to suppress its manifestations," the speaker affirmed in summarizing the effect of journalistic censorship.

"Censorship in the past has shown itself to be a force to prevent dissemination of the truth and an expression of valuable public opinion," he concluded. "The framers of the Constitution recognized that the extinction of free discussion and the abolition of intellectual freedom are the worst that could befall a democracy."

GOLD KEY SHOULD HAVE IMPORTANT FUNCTIONS

Sophomore Society, Founded in 1923, Claims Many Duties on Its List of Activities

Although they could point only to the abolition of the freshman rules as a primary achievement of the past year, Gold Key members, when pressed for an outline of their duties, retaliated.

"To perpetuate the age-old traditions of Vermont by conveying them to the freshmen is the ultimate purpose and ideal of Gold Key, sophomore honorary society."

First organized in March, 1923, Gold Key was the immediate outgrowth of a sophomore committee, elected by the class at large, for the express purpose of performing the duties of class vigilantes. The new honorary society, of which Beryl M. Randall, '25, was the first president, adopted a constitution modelled after the one used successfully by the Green Key of Dartmouth.

Has Many Duties

Not only does the society supervise the freshman discipline, but it also assists the honorary societies of the upper classes, it maintains relationships with similar organizations of other colleges, and it aids the athletic office in many ways. The specific functions through which Gold Key performs these duties are many and varied. Freshman rules are issued by Gold Key with the consent and approval of Boulder, and up until last year the society had general charge of Freshman Week, seeing that the freshmen got all essential equipment and that they strictly adhered to the rules laid down for them. Appropriate punishment was meted out to those freshmen who refused or failed to live up to the requirements of the sophomores. Oftentimes drastic methods were utilized in impressing upon the lowly frosh the vital importance of the revered traditions.

In times gone by it was the fate and duty of the luckless freshmen to erect the basketball and Kake walk bleachers, and to move the football stands. It was then one of Gold Key's numerous functions to supervise and enforce this manual labor. Meeting visiting teams, and ushering at games are duties which they still perform.

Made an Honorary Society

Two years ago at a meeting of Boulder Society, a new plan of organization, which was accepted by Gold Key, and which is now in use, was adopted. Under the new plan Gold Key was elevated to the status of the true honorary society, bringing it to a similar position as that occupied by Key and Serpent and Boulder.

Gold Key now elects its own successors and has a maximum of 15 members, instead of the former cumbersome number. Boulder considered that by making the society smaller it would be able to function more efficiently. A more compact organization naturally speeds up its decisions on matters brought to its attention and conclusions are reached more easily. The society is also considerably more exclusive than before.

New members are selected for their character, their interest in the University and their activities on the campus. Of the 15 members elected there is one from each of the fraternities and two from the class at large, including the Independents.

A gold key is the emblem of the society, and the hat worn by the members is green and has a gold key encircled by a representation of the Boulder upon it.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

For your Dances
CREPE PAPER
STREAMERS
BALLOONS SERPENTINE
FAVORS, etc.
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts.—Phone 629

HONORS ACCORDED TO FEW CAMPUS LEADERS

(Continued from page 1)

Grant, Stamford, Conn.; H. M. Hines, Saylesville, R. I.; F. A. McBride, New York City; R. J. Maynes, Woodstock, and J. H. Perelman, Burlington.

Kappa Mu Epsilon

Kappa Mu Epsilon, honorary engineering society, elected eight from the junior class. The society named to membership:

R. W. Allerton, South Orange, N. J.; R. F. Bigwood, Winooski, R. M. Blakely, Ticonderoga, N. Y.; G. M. Donaldson, Bellows Falls; G. B. Hanson, North Craftsbury; R. J. Maynes, Woodstock; F. A. McBride, New York City, and N. P. Parker, South Ryegate.

Retiring Members

The members who have served the past term are: M. E. Daher, Bridgeport, Conn.; S. H. Barker of Montclair, N. J.; A. O. Eaton of Worcester, Mass.; R. A. Philbin, Clinton, Mass.; P. H. Goodrich of Hydeville; R. J. Livingston of Richford; E. L. Meehan of Fitchburg, Mass.; A. A. Maislen of Hartford, Conn.; J. C. Carter of East Corinth; C. W. Tilley of South Burlington; J. E. Tracy, Bristol, Pa.; F. J. Varriechione of Burlington; H. L. Varney of Bristol; P. E. Westin of Proctor; and G. E. Wilder of Petersham, Mass.

Gold Key elects its officers every half year, thereby giving more of its members a chance to serve in an official or executive capacity. The officers for the past year are:

President — Westin first half year and Barker second half.

Vice-president — Meehan first half year and Eaton second half.

Secretary—Tracy first half year and Meehan second half.

Treasurer — Wilder served whole term.

Accomplishments of Past Year

Among the most important accomplishments of Gold Key during the past year was the doing away with all freshman rules after the Easter recess. This action was quite a break with the established custom of the University in that the rules usually continue in force until Founder's Day, April 26. The prevailing campus sentiment concerning the rules, which Gold Key perceived, resulted after a joint meeting of Boulder and Gold Key in which Gold Key recommended the cessation of the rules, in the action being taken. It is expected that Gold Key will make some further recommendations concerning enforcement of frosh rules in the future.

During the early part of the year Gold Key held two paddling parties for delinquent freshmen, but with a diminishing campus opinion their work also diminished. The members of the society ushered at all the home athletic contests including the baseball games last spring. They entertained the subfrosh during Kake Walk. And during the junior basketball tournament each member took care of a team, thus being of invalu-

EASTER CARDS
at ISHAM'S
102A CHURCH ST.

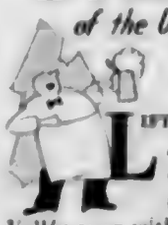
Sweets for the Sweet
Chocolates and Bon Bons
packed in beautiful boxes that make Ideal Easter gifts.
ALSO EASTER EGGS
BURLINGTON SWEET SHOP
Cor. Main & Church Sts.

TENNIS
Rackets 1.50 to 20.00
Racket Cases—Presses
Nets and Court equipment
Wright & Ditson
Pennsylvania
TENNIS BALLS
L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

SENIOR WEEK PROGRAM IS GRADUALLY FORMING

Plans for the 1930 Senior Week are rapidly taking form. In accordance with an old tradition canes may make their appearance today in the hands of the seniors who will carry them until their graduation. A. O. Martinetti, chairman of the committee was unable to send his order in on time due to the tardiness of some of the responses, so the arrival of the canes may be delayed a few days.

Orders for invitations may now be placed with the book store. Orders and money for their purchase must be in the store by May 20 according to D. J. Vignone, chairman of the committee on invitations. Souvenir programs, which consist of a leather covered booklet, are also on sale now.



Plans for the senior boatride have not been definitely formulated as yet but Chairman J. H. Rugden expects to make a definite announcement soon.

A woman's instinct is what tells her she's right, whether she is or not.
Annapolis Log

able assistance to the graduate manager's office. Gold Key sponsored one dance held early in the fall at the high school gymnasium.

RHYTHM
for the gods to step to RUDY VALLEE'S
"STEIN SONG of the University of Maine"

LIFT up your hearts to this . . . immortal words every college man will remember . . . a superb Vallée song with a thrill that's a solar plexus wallop!

The best and the newest music is on Victor Records . . . performed by the cream of the world's orchestras and artists . . . IN EVERY FIELD. The famous Victor dance arrangements would rejuvenate a centenarian! Here are most recent releases—At your Victor dealer's NOW!

22307 WHERE THE GOLDEN DAFFODILS GROW and SYMPATHY
The High Hatters
22331 LUCKY LITTLE DEVIL and EVERYBODY TAP Bernie Cummins and His Orchestra
22301 SONG OF THE ISLANDS Wayne King and His Orchestra and HANGIN' ON THE GARDEN GATE—Ted Fiorito and His Orchestra
22330 WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LOVE and THE MOON IS LOW Frank Luther 22320 CRYIN' FOR THE CAROLINES and WHAT IS THIS THING CALLED LOVE Jane Crawford
22321 University of Maine STEIN SONG and ST. LOUIS BLUES—Rudy Vallée's Yankees

ALL THE MUSIC YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT on—
VICTOR RECORDS

THERMOMETER REVEALS STEADY RISE IN FUNDS

(Continued from page 1)

Many Not Much

The first suggestion of erecting a student building on the Vermont campus was a proposal on the part of the students back in 1915 who wanted the erection and care as a memorial for the students who lost their lives in the World War. A large amount of money has since 1918 been pledged toward the building.

The project should assume definite shape for such a building is needed on the campus. The need for it is felt by students as well as alumni. As conditions exist at the present time the college newspaper headquarters are in cramped quarters there is no adequate meeting place for the entire student body or for each class when the occasion arises for debates and contests. Also the sports managers do not have regular offices in which to carry on their many activities but a different proposition to find a suitable meeting place for the several student clubs and places for the students to find themselves easily located with no central entity here.

Such a building as a Student Memorial is designed to house the offices of undergraduate activities and to fulfill the need of a common meeting place. If such a structure should only serve as a central eating place for students then it might be said of it that Vermont was sadly in need of one since the abandonment of Common Hall in 1915. The student body as a whole has felt the necessity of an adequate and centrally located eating place.

With a student memorial to serve as the common meeting place of the students in more ways than one there would be a tendency toward a more unified spirit a something which the alumni from outside believe is lacking among the student body. Along with a united student body would come a certain feeling of loyalty to the University a feeling which in its turn would tend to promote the attainment of the aims and ideals of the college. A student memorial is a godsend to any campus no matter in what light a person takes it.

It is hoped that definite plans will be made to materialize in a few years in the Vermont Student Memorial.

UNIVERSITY SPONSORS ACTIVE DEBATE LEAGUE

In yet another high school competition sponsored by the University, rivalry still remains keen with seven schools entering the final rounds in the State Interscholastic Debating League this month. Fair Haven High School has already eliminated Cathedral High of Irvington in a quarter final match and before May 1, other semi-finalists will be selected when Bradford Academy meets Bellows Falls Brattleboro meets Montpelier and Middlebury meets Woodstock. Semi-final engagements will be run off by May 17, and, on the twenty-third the University will bring the finalists to Burlington to decide the state champion team.

The members of the winning team will receive full year scholarships to the University while the runners-up will be awarded one semester's tuition. Walling ford High School took first honors last year and People's Academy of Morrisville placed as runner-up.

The Vermont Interscholastic Debating League is now in its ninth season. Most of the schools now in the league are veterans in the field of debating, not a few having been members since its formation in 1926. The only change in the policy this year has been in the system of judging. A plan is now in use whereby a single judge renders the the verdict and gives his reasons for making his decision. The plan of speeches has been the same as in former years employing three six minute constructive speeches, affirmative and negative then three rebuttals also lasting six minutes.

The committee of the Headmasters Club of Vermont which is directing the debating league this year consists of H. D. Pearl chairman Burlington, James A. Reed Montpelier and Rich ard Marble, Woodstock.

SEARS DISCOURSES ON ALLEN AND AMBITION

(Continued from page 1)

wise. Without a strong desire to reach some height that in the distance may appear the level of the present it may sometimes happen on the level of the present it may sometimes happen on the level of the present it may sometimes happen on

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30, 1930 NUMBER 51

TWO COLLEGES QUIT DEBATING LEAGUE

Withdrawal of Norwich and St. Michael's Leaves Vermont and Middlebury Fighting for Title

JAYVEES STILL ISSUE BLASTS OF ORATORY

Norwich and St Michael's unprepared to meet its requirements, officials announced their resignation from the state debating league last week. Vermont and Middlebury are left to settle the State title and divide the Lawrence prizes between them.

Advertising will be the subject of debate between the two colleges when they meet in Burlington the week of May 4 Middlebury having chosen the question, also elected to uphold the affirmative of the resolution, which will be worded "Resolved, that National advertising is detrimental to modern society." Lisman, Nelson and Sears will engage for Vermont.

Prizes will be Awarded

Much interest is always manifest in the Middlebury debate each year due largely to the awarding of the Lawrence debating prizes of twenty-five fifteen and ten dollars, given by Edwin W. Lawrence of Rutland to the first, second, and third best speakers of the evening. Two years ago Vermont won two prizes and repeated last year.

Plenty of fireworks are expected about the middle of May, when Vermont now recognized as a leader in college debating, meets Bates, champion of the Eastern Intercollegiate league, in Burlington. The question will concern the emergence of woman.

The J. V.'s Again

Meanwhile junior varsity debating continues to increase apace. Members of Essex Center Grange turned from their checkers and cards last Wednesday evening to become enraptured by bursts of startling oratory from the opponents for varsity honors. Sharp wit and clever refutation flowed from the mouths of four jayvees, as they debated the question "Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt a plan of complete disarmament except for such forces as may be needed for police forces." P. J. LaCrosse, '32, and J. E Bigelow, '33, upheld the affirmative while Peary Berger, '32, and E. M. Codding, '31, disagreed. George Nelson, '31, presided.

The chairman, ably provided with a well bound lecturer's gavel rapped for order on the hardest object handy, Mr. Bigelow's head, without visible effect. To avoid controversy, since the teams would never agree anyway, he refused the question. This done he turned upon the first speaker, Mr. J. E Bigelow, not forgetting to mention that the speaker's red tie indicated an inflammable nature.

Mr Bigelow's face already considerably blackened from spring football practice took on an even darker shade. His massive bulk arose to its full height completely ignored the chairman's greeting and began by saying that the chairman had mistaken the highway chart, hanging nearby on the wall as an invitation to high-school oratory. "This debate reminds me," continued Bigelow, "of the school of hard knocks who had just taken on a new little schoolmaster. The first day the little fellow placed a ten cent piece on the door of the schoolhouse, pulled out a revolver, fired six shots through the dime, took out his jackknife, fingered it critically and said, 'Children, we will begin the day's session with prayer.'" The story has it he called schoolmaster and rowdies the rowdies.

Essentially, complete disarmament is desirable because it is a prime cause of unrest, fear, and hate," argued Bigelow, and, secondly, complete disarmament is highly desirable because it removes physical force and substitutes mentality in its place."

In Disagreement

Peary Berger,, without a red tie, intimated to the wiles of the seven hundred-year-old maiden ladies present restraining his desire to call one of the Grange officers' attention to increase the already stifling heat in the room by arguing that the world could not disarm because potential armaments are peacetime industries. "The Cause of War is not arms," declared

(Continued on page 4)

Brickbats and Bouquets Greet Opera Productions of Combined Glee Clubs

Music Organizations Carry Out Program Which Calls for Double Bill of Grand and Comic Operas on Same Night

Criticism both favorable and adverse greeted the production of the double opera bill last Thursday night at the Strong Theatre, when the combined Glee Clubs presented Gluck's grand opera "Orpheus" and Gilbert and Sullivan's comic opera "Trial by Jury."

In "Orpheus," Harrison Goddard sang the title rôle, with Hazel Ladd as Eurydice, Dorothy Fowler sang Amor, Marion Baldwin was Leader of the Chorus, and Elizabeth Cary sang the Blessed Spirit.

In "Trial by Jury" the cast was:
The Judge ..... A. A. Scharbius
The Plaintiff ..... Mailla Putnam
The Defendant ..... M. B. Jenks
Counsel for Plaintiff .... R. S. Jenks
Usher ..... W. E. Morgan
Foreman of the Jury ... P. E. Westin

Free Press Praises

Said the Burlington Free Press of the operas the next morning:

"An enthusiastic audience at the Strong Theatre last evening listened with absorbed attention to the operas presented by the Glee Clubs of the University of Vermont. Two operas in one evening, two operas of absolutely differing type is an undertaking of great magnitude. But the success with which they went over proved that Professor Bennett knows thoroughly not only his music but the capabilities of his singers. Praise in generous measure can justly be heaped upon last night's performance.

"Orpheus" by Gluck is a grand opera of nobility, dignity, simplicity and polished finish. It is never turbulently dramatic and the predominant note is one of sadness. Of this tone the music partakes and is gracefully flowing, beautiful in phrase and harmony, and unostentatious. The students caught its spirit and the grace and dignity of their movements and refined quality of singing expressed the composer's ideas well.

"Two beautiful ballets had been arranged by Miss Annis Baldwin for this opera, the Dance of the Furies and the Dance of the Blessed Spirits, and both were well executed. The Dance of the Spirits, perhaps in part for the exquisite music, was one of the high lights of the opera. In these dances as well as throughout the opera the orchestra with Miss de Volt as concert mistress added immeasurably to the production.

Soloists Good

"The soloists in 'Orpheus' were well chosen. Miss Marion Baldwin as leader of the chorus was a real leader and also sang her solos gratifyingly as she has a voice of assurance and very pleasant quality. Miss Dorothy Fowler as Amor sang in a clear, flexible soprano, and added a good stage presence. Miss Pearl Brown as leader of the ballet was poetry of motion and expressive in every gesture. Miss Charlotte Odell displayed a vibrant high voice and sang with ease. Harrison Goddard, the lamenting Orpheus.

(Continued on page 2)

MUSIC ORGANIZATIONS SHOW HEAVY PROGRAM

Review of Season Shows It to Have Been Unusually Active, Featuring Concerts and Two Operas

A review of the activities of the music department, as its season comes to a climax, shows that it has been far more busy this year than in any previous year.

Opening Concert

The first musical production of this year came October 4, when Miss Charlotte de Volt, instructor in violin, accompanied by Prof. H. G Bennett, presented a recital in the University gymnasium.

On the afternoon of December 11 a large audience gathered in the Ira Allen chapel for a recital by Miss Miriam Natilee Marston, organist and Miss Charlotte de Volt, violinist, both members of the music faculty of the University. Throughout, this was a performance of merit and beauty. Handel's oratorio, "The Messiah," was next presented by the University Choir and a student instrumental ensemble, Sunday afternoon, December 15, as the Christmas Concert.

Debussy's cantata, "The Blessed Damozel"; Brahm's, "Lullaby"; and Schumann's, "Gypsy Life" were the most prominent parts in the program of the annual concert of the Women's Glee Club. Through the courtesy of the administration this concert, rendered the evening of January 11, was free to the public.

Tuesday evening, February 25, at Carl Sandburg's lecture, the Men's Glee Club rendered a group of choice songs and at chapel the following Wednesday morning a special arrangement of "Champlain" was sung. Major Jenks, '30, led the club both times, as he did at the Glee Club contest with eleven other colleges at Springfield, Mass., the following Friday night. Although Vermont's Glee Club placed last in this contest they were very well received by the critical audience assembled at the Municipal Auditorium, where the contest was held "Champlain" especially was very popular.

Easter Concert

Lenten and Easter music by the University choir directed by Prof. H. G. Bennett and accompanied by Miss Miriam Marston, organist, and the University orchestra, with Miss Charlotte de Volt as concert master, was the program for the annual Easter concert at the Ira Allen chapel, Sunday, March 23.

(Continued on page 4)

UNIVERSITY VISUALIZES CHANCES OF EXTENSION

Ultimate Building Plans Call for Formation of Quadrangle, With a Few New Buildings to Be Erected

Plans for the formation of a new building program which call for the ultimate erection of a quadrangular group of University buildings are now under consideration. All projects are still in a tentative stage, nor will anything definite be known until the Endowment Fund has reached its final stage.

The plans look toward the completion of the $450,000 museum now being erected and the erection of an administrative building and of a new engineering building. The administrative building, as plans now stand, will be erected on the site of the present engineering building, facing Colchester Avenue and between the Ira Allen chapel and the new museum. The engineering building will be erected east of the new museum, facing Colchester Avenue, near the Mary Fletcher Hospital. Just what further plans will be drawn is uncertain but it is probable that with the new engineering building as a starting point, the third side of the Quadrangle will extend south to Converse Hall and hence to Williston Road, with the fourth side extending west to the vicinity of Morrill Hall.

Other Possibilities

A women's gymnasium is also a probability. The gymnasium would be erected on Williston Road in the vicinity of the present women's tennis courts. The Student Union building now a seeming reality, has not as yet been assigned a place in the quadrangle. Another possibility for University buildings is on the south side of Williston Road on the sites now occupied by the old medical building, the poultry experimental station and residences owned by the University. Looking still farther into the future the possibility of a row of University buildings along the west side of South Prospect Street between Main and Pearl Streets looms up strongly. The University already owns the Campus House and the music house on this location and also several of the vacant lots on the western side of South Prospect Street. Thus a kind of double quadrangle would be formed facing South Prospect Street on the west, Colchester Avenue on the north, the Mary Fletcher Hospital and University Farm on the east and Williston Road on the South, and broken only by the Bishop De Goesbriand Hospital

VERMONT ALUMNI HEAR TUPPER IN WASHINGTON

Members of the District of Columbia unit of the Vermont Alumni Association heard Prof. Frederick Tupper speak as guest at the annual dinner and meeting of the group in Washington last night. Wendell M. Reed '30, president of the organization, served as toastmaster at the dinner, which was held in the Lafayette Hotel.

The association elected a new slate of officers at the meeting which preceded the dinner. It possesses a total membership of over 140 Vermont alumni.

TICKETS ARE AVAILABLE FREE TO STUDENTS FOR SPALDING RECITAL HERE

World-famous Violinist who Plays in Gymnasium Tonight Possesses Interesting Personality

Albert Spalding, world-famous violinist, will play at the University gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock. Five hundred student tickets are available and are being distributed at the University Store. These are free to the first 500 who apply for them and they are for the use of students only.

Believes in Luck

A sidelight on the man's personality is afforded by a recent interview in which he confessed to a belief in luck.

"I believe in luck," said Spalding. "I believe it to be an actual element, always operating. It has, however, a timid sensitive character, quick to take offense at non-recognition. If it meets you on the street it rarely bows to you unless you make the first advances. It is moreover, a consummate actor, many times difficult to recognize in its various 'make-ups', fully determined not to promote acquaintance with the superficial observer; but quickly sensitive and generous to those who successfully pierce its outer mask.

"Luck, then, can be said to exist rather in man's perception of, and ability to grasp at, the outstretched yet sometimes almost invisible hand of opportunity, than in any outward circumstances that force themselves upon him.

The story Mr. Spalding uses to illustrate his luck is the following:

"In September, 1917, I went overseas as an enlisted man in the Air Service. Reasons for going as a soldier and not as an officer need not be entered into here. We traveled steerage on the Campania, Cunard Line. The thrill and excitement at being one of the two million did not persuade my rebellious digestive apparatus to entertain affection for the steerage fare and after the second or third day out I found myself uncommonly hungry. Hunger prompted somewhat of a speculation as to the quality and character of luck. 'It is lucky' I thought, 'to be traveling overseas, to be well, though hungry. But luck seems to be shying at the idea of good

(Continued on page 4)

CAMPAIGN REALIZES SIZABLE AMOUNT

Christian Associations Deem Total Satisfying in Student Union Building Subscriptions

INDIVIDUAL DONATIONS ARE RELATIVELY SMALL

Final returns from the campaign for the Student Union Building fund show that $300 was raised during Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday last week, contributions averaging twenty cents per capita student in the University including the Medical and Agricultural Colleges. This brings the total cash amount now raised up to $8,300.

Results Satisfying

The Christian Associations claim themselves satisfied with the results, deeming it fortunate that such a sum was raised at this period of the year. They also stated that, although financially the interest of students does not seem very great toward this much needed project, the continuous discussion of the matter indicates that their interest is by no means slight.

Men and women during the days of the campaign were stationed to receive student contributions at booths erected at various places on the campus. In addition, letters were sent to every student and Professor in the University seeking cooperation in the campaign.

A large wooden thermometer was erected in front of the Y. C. A. rooms in the Old Mill, to indicate, throughout the entire campaign, the amount of money that had been turned in toward the Student Union Building fund.

In opening the campaign, the directors declared:

"The Student Union Building is recognized as a very much needed addition to the University. This building would offer to the students a place where they could congregate and meet in their social hours. It would stimulate a better fellowship among the student body as a whole, and give the students the opportunity to hold all their activities upon the campus proper."

DOUGLASS PRESIDES AT EDUCATORS' CONFERENCE

Prof. H. C. Douglass of the department of education presided over a meeting of school superintendents and supervisors of the Champlain Valley district of the state in the last of a series of four such conferences sponsored by the State Department of Education and the University of Vermont. The meeting was held in the Burlington High School Friday afternoon.

A new course of study in history outlined by the State Department of Education for the primary grades was the chief topic of discussion. George W. Patterson, superintendent of schools in Vergennes, spoke on arithmetic courses and explained a new testing program he has recently devised.

Oration Which Secured U. V. M. Awards Enters National Contest

"The Constitution: A masterpiece" will be the subject of his address when Floyd Kinsley, of Peoples' Academy of Morrisville, speaks at Utica, N. Y. May 9 as Vermont champion, in the National semi-finals of the high school oratorical contest, with the same address Kinsley won scholarships totaling $250 from the University of Vermont in a state contest sponsored by the University and the Burlington Free Press. The text of Kinsley's oration follows.

It seems to be human nature in the case of any great work, whether it be steamboats or literature, to give credit to one man, disregarding the social environment to which he was heir. There has been an attempt to connect the name of one man with this great achievement also—That of Madison, the Father of the Constitution—but that plan has justly failed. The Constitution of the United States is the supreme achievement of a composite mind—the mind of the Constitutional Convention which drafted it. It is the masterpiece of America's youth.

"The restraint revealed in this document is wonderful. One could hardly believe that a group of human beings could condense the fruits of a four months' debate into a document of not more than four thousand words. Yet this is exactly what those men who made up the Constitutional Convention have done. The work which they composed has the brevity of another lasting document—the Ten Commandments. The biblical simplicity and conciseness of 'Thou shalt not make unto me any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth' is admirably illustrated in: 'All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States which shall consist of a senate and a house of representatives.' Both of these comprehensive statements are concise.

Dual Government

"Let us consider some of the many things which are granted by this Con-

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS
LOUIS LISMAN, '31
Editor-in-Chief

[illegible] '31
[illegible] '31
Managing Editors

HILDA S. SMITH, '31
Women's Editor

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '32
Sports Editor

STUART S. COBBIN, '31
Business Manager

Raymond W. Cobb, '32 — News Editors: Allen O. Eaton, '32 — Fred W. Householder, '32

[illegible], '32 — Feature Editor: Edmund A. Germain, '32 — Robert L. Stewart, '32

[illegible] Editor, Charles W. Cowdrey, '31 — Contributing Editor: R. S. Jenks, '32 — Dramatic Editor: Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Assistant Editors

P. B. Bergen, '32
J. E. Bigelow, '32
F. D. Dean, '32
A. Katz, '32

C. J. Kilburn, '32
M. J. Shaw, '32
J. C. Shaw, '32

S. N. Spiller, '32
T. I. Taylor, '32
C. N. Wormelle, '32

Associate Sports Editor
Leonard M. Foster, '31

Assistant Sports Editors

J. S. Davis, '32 — A. A. Manolen, '32 — F. Tupper, '32

J. H. Jarnell, '32 — Assistant Editors: S. Potolsky, '32 — R. W. Ryan, '32

Women's Associate Editor
Luella Ross, '31

Harriet Wright, '31, Women's Athletic Editor — Gladys Press, '31, Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Mildred Cole, '32 — Rosetta Hastings, '32 — Margaret Mower, '32
[illegible] '32 — Margaret Ann Martin, '32 — Hope Rancliffe, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
P. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers

E. G. Hurlburt, '32 — R. E. Tracy, '32 — G. R. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 937 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Founded in 1884. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House. All other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — April 30, 1930 — No. 51

Ten Timely Topics

TARA TANTARA TEENO

Notice. Beginning the week of April 27, all those desiring reserve seats in the Old Chapel for Wednesday must apply at the Book Store by Monday noon. Prices 50c, 75c, $1.00. Satisfaction guaranteed.

From Alaska. The coeds have suddenly developed an interest in military science and are urging Professor Ryan to teach them a bit about military tactics. Just why the interest is a secret as yet although rumor has it that our girls are forming a moral crusade of some sort.

Concerning coeds and military, a certain girl remarked to us recently that she hated war, but she loved to see uniforms. It is just this which enrages those concerned with the preparation of military training to hide behind the coed's skirt. Feminine psychology is to be considered which ever side of the question you embrace.

A New York police sergeant has been admitted to testify in court as an expert as to the obscene meanings attached to many common words spoken on the Broadway stage. If every word which any pervert has given an obscene connotation is to be barred from our vocabulary in public utterances we may as well resign ourselves to the lot of the deaf mute. Like all attempts at censorship it ends up by making itself ridiculous. We are inclined to quote that statement with which the famous pink Aspro armed itself: "Obscenity lies in the mind not in the printed page" and suggest that possibly it is Sergeant Harvey who is at fault, among others.

The Free Press recently quoted a paragraph from the Woman's Home Companion from an article by E. E. Calkins. Perhaps in view of some recent observations about college students and their interest in public affairs it is worth reprinting. "Concrete costs something like $60,000 a mile but we need not be dismayed at this figure who as a nation accept without protest a program for a whole fleet of battleships to cost $700,000,000 which will not last as long or give most of us so much satisfaction as 10,000 miles of good highway." Something for the college motorist to think about.

We went to the operas, did you? We don't think so—the crowd was so small we could not have possibly missed you. Attendance at worthwhile college activities seems to be regarded as something which taints one and which should be avoided.

As a matter of fact, we were just a bit disappointed ourselves, not with the performance of the cast, but in the operas chosen for presentation, and in the casting of the characters. Maybe we are horribly low-brow, but we would have preferred to have heard the third act of "Orpheus," plus Miss Fowler's solo, abstracted from the costumes, dancing and setting, and sung as a concert. Perhaps having seen Goddard for two years in comic rôles, which he can do to perfection, we felt he was wasted in so sad and serious a character as "Orpheus."

Over in Hawaii, one of our American colleges is putting out an excellent newspaper. You might find it worth while to look it over sometime and see what is going on at the other edge of our country.

We have been reading detective stories and although it has been rumored we understand that the Book-a-Week Club recommends A. A. Milne's "The Red House Mystery" as one of the very best yet.

The Argus of Wesleyan University laments the passing of unsophisticated era in that cynical institution.

THE COLLEGE ACRA

Healthy skepticism is a valuable characteristic of a college man. We admit that at the outset. Yet what a Herculean mind it takes, in this day of overturned forms to be skeptical without being cynical! And how unfortunate for the cynics that their attitude is fast becoming so common among us that to sneer at tradition no longer baits public opinion to make a comeback! Truly unfortunate, because to shock "the herd" is the keynote of undergraduate cynicism. The spread of this diseased skepticism has formed a bull-hide shield off which the pelting of tradition rebounds with a dead thud. Most of us here at Wesleyan have gone over to "negativism." This attitude is characterized by "smooth" clothes, a "smooth line," disinterestedness in tradition, and a general abhorrence of a show of emotion, and all these make up the "bull-hide shield."

The raising of the tuition to four hundred dollars is going to increase this "negativism" because of the growing influx of freshmen from preparatory schools, which must follow. In these schools, more than in high schools, this attitude has grown, unintentionally perhaps, but anyway in imitation of the colleges. And the growth of this "negativism" will inevitably bring about enervation of that spirit which has surrounded colleges like Wesleyan with "that something," different from anything else in the world.

The process of enervation has already begun. That fact must not be avoided. All that it affects are minor affairs in themselves, but remember that Wesleyan tradition is carefully constructed on forms which seem unimportant when viewed singly. But to cite examples. The sophomore-freshman football game was not played last fall. Class banquets have been done away with. The juniors warned the freshmen that the sophomores were having a class picture taken during chapel period, yet the freshmen sat meekly in chapel and let the process go on unmolested. These are examples of "negativism."

A few more Vachel Lindsays and Carl Sandburgs, and fewer Joseph Smoothies would do Wesleyan no harm. Then at least there would be enthusiasm for something.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Kappa Alpha Theta held its formal dance Friday, April 25, at the Hotel Vermont. Dinner was served at 7:00 o'clock in the main dining room, the dance took place afterwards in the Roof Garden. Freddie Lynch's orchestra furnished music. Professor and Mrs. G. P. Burns, Professor and Mrs. L. W. Dean chaperoned.

Eleanor Hubert, '29, has been visiting at Theta House from Sunday, April 20, to Sunday, April 27.

Pauline E. Perkins, '28, married Kenneth H. Gurney, '28, Monday, April 21. Mr. Gurney is a member of the Phi Delta Theta Fraternity.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Delta Delta Delta held its formal dance Friday, April 25, at the Elks Rooms. Music was furnished by Dick Holbrook's orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stevens, and Professor and Mrs. C. E. Braun were the chaperones.

PI BETA PHI

Pi Beta Phi held a formal dinner dance at the Country Club, Friday, April 25. The chaperons were Professor and Mrs. L. B. Hartwell, and Major and Mrs. O. H. Stanley.

The Vermont chapter of Pi Beta Phi were the guests of the Middlebury chapter at Middlebury College for Founder's Day, Monday, April 28.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Initiation was held yesterday, afternoon for Catharine E. Fleming, '33, and Charlotte W. Kidder, '32.

The Alpha Xi Delta formal dance will take place Friday, May 2, at the Hotel Vermont. The Black Panthers of Middlebury will furnish music. Professor and Mrs. G. V. Kidder, and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Miller are to be chaperones.

SIGMA GAMMA

Sigma Gamma held its formal dinner dance at the Ethan Allen Club on Friday, April 25. Deter's Black Pirates furnished music. The chapetones were Captain and Mrs. W. E. Lauer and Dean and Mrs. Elijah Swift.

KAPPA DELTA

Alpha Theta of Kappa Delta announces the initiation on Saturday, April 26, of Esther Beardsley, '32, of Hartford, Conn.; Marion Cooney, '30, of Burlington; Helen Don Leavy, '31, Rutland; and Dorotha Edwards, '33, Barre. The initiation banquet was held that evening at the Hotel Vermont Roof Garden with Alice Crowe, '26, as toastmistress. Alumnæ present included Fannie Pierce, '24, Catherine Courtney and Mrs. Paul Lawrence, '27, Helen Lynch and Mrs. Robert Gurganus, '29, Hope Grant and Bettie Upton, '29, Alice Wright, '26, and Mrs. Charles Ferrier, ex '30. The patronesses Mrs. Ingalls, Mrs. Dresser and Mrs. Williams, were guests.

Intercollegiate News

Startling revelations: The recent poll conducted by Harvard concerning prohibition enforcement shows that 79.1 percent of the students at Princeton admit drinking, 67.5 percent at Michigan (these two being the wettest); of the 6,856 teetotalers mentioning reasons, less than 500 abstain because of legal restriction, 600 because of parental objections, and 5,700 from personal taste—or lack of it!

Good behavior is demanded by one of the theatres near the Cornell campus for all performances other than the second show on Saturday night when all in attendance may misbehave and act "collegiate."

Dean J. L. Hills of the College of Agriculture was a recent speaker over WGY, Schenectady, his subject being "The Position of Northern Vermont Among American Dairy Farming Regions."

At the last meeting of the University Orchestra, new officers for the ensuing year were chosen as follows: Manager, Robert Jenks, '32; assistant manager, Fred Householder, '32; secretary and treasurer, Elizabeth Eckhard, '33, librarian, S. B. Barker, '32.

Brickbats and Bouquets Greet Opera Productions of Combined Glee Clubs

(Continued from page 1)

has a voice of velvety smoothness which reflected well his sorrow. His lament, 'She is gone forever,' was delivered with much conviction and earnestness. Miss Hazel Ladd the Eurydice of the opera has a voice and manner excellently adapted to the classic style. Her singing is apparently effortless and her intonation is pure and quality very pleasing.

"The costumes which added so much to the atmosphere and vision of the opera were designed by Miss Mary Maud Patrick, who was assisted by Miss Isabel Mills.

"When the curtain rose upon Gilbert and Sullivan's 'Trial by Jury,' the laughs began. Not only was the jury an oddly assorted lot, but the spectators were even more varied. For forty minutes ripple after ripple of laughter swept over the audience as the comedy unfolded. Excellent enunciation on the part of the singers made the jokes all comprehensible. The Usher, W. E. Morgan, Jr., has a robust far reaching bass voice which made his "Silence" effective above jury and witnesses. The foreman of the jury, P. E. Westin, did his bit in good style even supporting the plaintiff in a moment of weakness. The judge, A. A. Scharbius, Jr., sang his lines—witty, appealing, enraged—all in excellent dramatic style, displaying a gracious tenor voice of color and purity. To the defendant in the case, who was M. B. Jenks, were given several of the most attractive tunes of the opera and he sang them in an easy, winning tenor voice. The plaintiff was Malila Putnam, whose beauty disturbed the entire court. Miss Putnam's clear soprano voice was adequate to all demands and her effective obligato stood out over the chorus. R. S. Jenks was counsel for the plaintiff and sang his part with excellent dramatic effect and tonal purity. Miss Elsie Roosa was the leader of the lovely group of bridesmaids. Katrina Munn was accompanist at the piano for this entire opera.

"Mme. Bradish coached all the soloists and they reflected credit on her training. To Professor Metcalf great recognition is due for the dramatic training which made stage movements of chorus and soloists at all times easy. Professor Bennett directed the entire performance and deserves abounding praise for an artistic and intellectual performance."

The Brickbat

A different opinion was voiced by another reviewer, who, writing under the pseudonym "Joseph Joseph," issued the brickbat.

"On Thursday night [illegible] presented by the combined [illegible] of the University of [illegible] operas—one supposedly [illegible] other comic. As a matter [illegible] were both comic, had a [illegible] keep from laughing at 'Or[illegible] weeping at 'Trial by Jury.'

"There is absolutely no [illegible] a University of this [illegible] attempt anything so pre[illegible] Gluck's 'Orpheus.' This is [illegible] quiring skilled acting and [illegible] efforts. The skilled acting was [illegible] non-existent and the singing [illegible] but lousy. Every member of [illegible] hit at least three false notes.

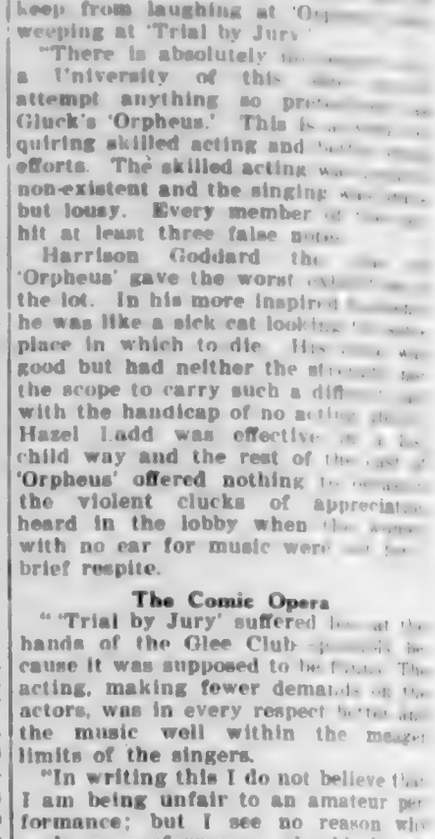
Harrison Goddard the [illegible] 'Orpheus' gave the worst [illegible] the lot. In his more inspired [illegible] he was like a sick cat looking [illegible] place in which to die. His [illegible] was good but had neither the st[illegible] the scope to carry such a diff[illegible] with the handicap of no acting [illegible] Hazel Ladd was effective [illegible] a child way and the rest of the [illegible] 'Orpheus' offered nothing to [illegible] the violent clucks of appreciation heard in the lobby when the [illegible] with no ear for music were [illegible] brief respite.

The Comic Opera

"'Trial by Jury' suffered [illegible] at the hands of the Glee Club [illegible] because it was supposed to be [illegible]. The acting, making fewer demands on the actors, was in every respect better and the music well within the meager limits of the singers.

"In writing this I do not believe that I am being unfair to an amateur performance; but I see no reason why such a performance should be attempted by a group physically, emotionally and intellectualy incapable of doing a job of which even a small town high school would not be ashamed.

"The ballets and the scenery were effective."



Winning Oration Enters Contest

(Continued from page 1)

stitution. First of all it provides for a dual form of government. The people are citizens of their respective states and also citizens of the central government. The central government acts directly upon them and therefore holds them true to it. Individual liberty is promised in the Constitution. This means that everyone is free to do as he wishes as long as he keeps within the bounds of the Constitution. The Constitution also provides for an independent judiciary. The judicial part of our government has played a great part in the growth of our country, because it has interpreted the Constitution. 'All foreign relations of the United States are to be controlled by the President and the Senate' states the Constitution. Of late many nations are using this system as a pattern by which to regulate their own foreign relations. They find it has worked well in the United States, therefore they are using it for themselves.

"Although the Constitution of the United States provides for its own amendments, there have been but nineteen amendments made in a period of over 140 years. The first ten of these amendments making the Bill of Rights, were added a short time after the adoption of the instrument. Since then but nine amendments have been found necessary. Does not this fact alone prove the Constitution is a masterpiece? A document drawn up in the infancy of a nation that would serve as a Constitution for that nation for over 140 years must be a wonderful achievement.

"Mr. Gladstone has said (referring to the Constitution): 'It is the greatest work ever struck off at any time by the mind and purpose of man.' How significant is this statement especially since it comes from one of another country. Should the Constitution of the United States vanish from the earth tomorrow, it would have accomplished more than any other written form of government has been able to accomplish. I seem to see the Constitution of the United States as a bright light in a dark world, leading on those who are seeking for justice and freedom. Therefore let us honor, serve, love and protect this great Constitution which has led our fathers for nearly a century and a half and which must lead us in the years to come."

Pipes save no midnight oil

IF PIPES made the man, anybody at all could rise in the world just by smoking a few pounds of Edgeworth. But pipes do not make the man.

Men make the pipe—most men do. Somewhat depends on the individual, more on the pipe, and the tobacco is most important of all. Things must be congenial.

Edgeworth is a congenial tobacco, cool, slow-burning, fully flavored. Edgeworth has poise, kindly good nature, real tobacco personality—Edgeworth welcomes new friends. Many a good man has been pledged to pipes by Edgeworth alone.

Like to meet Edgeworth? Just ask with the coupon—and the postman will bring your first few pipefuls of the genuine, three years seasoned if it's a day. Our treat, if you please.

Others have found Edgeworth and quit their discontent.

So may it be with you!

EDGEWORTH

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy it anywhere—"Ready Rubbed" or "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll try it in a good pipe.

(Witness my seal)

(and my seat of learning)

(and my postoffice and state)

Now let the Edgeworth come!

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

INTRA-TEAM TRACK TIME TRIALS HELD

Results Will Probably Have Bearing on Choice of Men for First Meet Although More Tests Will Be Held

SEVERAL NEWCOMERS MAKE GOOD SHOWINGS

[illegible] afternoon "Archie" [illegible] of the U. V. M. varsity [illegible] ained together his aggregation [illegible] Centennial Field for the first [illegible] trials of the season. The [illegible] of these trials are by no [illegible] that as the ambitious young [illegible] aspirants were greatly hampered [illegible] handicapped by the cold, windy [illegible] and by lack of experience, [illegible] the following results will be [illegible] an important factor for Coach [illegible] in determining his selections for [illegible] first meet of the season which is [illegible] Amherst on Saturday, May 3, at [illegible] Amherst. Times and distances were [illegible] taken out by the judges.

[illegible] yard dash—First heat, Bond; [illegible] heat, C. Grant.

[illegible] mile run—First Hadley, second [illegible] third Stark, fourth Bryan.

[illegible] yard high hurdles—first heat [illegible] Swain, second Billings; second [illegible] first Adams, second Cohen.

[illegible] yard dash—First Huey, second [illegible] third Searles.

[illegible] vault—First Swain, second [illegible] third Bove.

[illegible] run—First Wilder, second [illegible] third Bachl, fourth Joslin.

[illegible] yard dash — first heat — First [illegible] second Billings, third Crockett; [illegible] heat first Bond, second Young, [illegible] Adams.

[illegible] yard run—First Colburn, second [illegible] third Huey, fourth Brookes.

[illegible] jump—First Child, second [illegible] third Bove, fourth Bond.

[illegible] jump—Tie for first, Bond, [illegible] third Bombardier.

[illegible] put—First P. Park, second [illegible] third C. Park.

[illegible] throw—First P. Park, second [illegible] third Bolles.

Hammer throw—First P. Park, [illegible]nd Bolles, third Flagg.

[illegible]in throw—First Gardner, tie [illegible]econd P. Park, C. Park, fourth [illegible]ell

SPRING FOOTBALL ENDS AFTER TWO WEEKS' DRILL

Last Thursday afternoon the spring football training session was closed. Coach Dunn is quoted as saying, "The outlook for next fall is far more encouraging than I believed possible at this time because of the willingness and cooperation shown by the candidates during preliminary practice."

With a large squad of able veterans returning in the fall as well as an abundance of husky green material, Coach Dunn, with the able assistance of Line Coach "Bump" Levine, former varsity center and captain, should develop a fighting, victorious eleven. Special attention was paid, in this preliminary drilling, to fundamentals and generally, even before. Led by Capt. Leo Segal about forty candidates responded to the call, working out for hours on the back campus.

The freshmen eleven seems to be unusually strong after the grueling mid-season drill and, unlike former teams, will present its most valuable men, Capt. Rapuano, Colburn, Wadsworth, Bolles and others, to the 1930 Catamount varsity.

Wanted: Four students, with 5-passenger closed cars, who are willing to drive the track team to Amherst. Anyone interested see Manager Martinetti at once.

Masque and Sandal will hold a special meeting Thursday afternoon, May 1 at the Kappa Alpha Theta house at 4 o'clock.

SPRING
HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES
NOW HERE
PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

HOCKEY AND FROSH HOOP LETTERS ARE AWARDED

By vote of the University Athletic Council, ten men have been awarded hockey letters.

Following are the members of the Freshman basketball squad who received their numerals: Grant, Capt., Mahoney, Prouty, Calcagni, Valerio, Farwell, Talbert, and McGowan, and Assistant Managers Douglas, MacDonald and Reed.

LEO SEGAL
Captain of last season's hockey team

COACH DUNN IMPRESSES SPRING FOOTBALL FANS

Watching Coach Dave Dunn and his assistants, Levine and Tully, putting their spring football squad through the daily workouts was a very cheerful sight to those few who braved the really football weather of the past two weeks to catch a glimpse of the new memorial addition to the Vermont campus.

It was one thing to see Howard Prentice in a suit during the winter, actually showing his frosh hoopsters how the game should be played. It was one thing to see "Bump" Levine and George Tully going through the motions on the back campus; but it was another thing to see a man of Coach Dunn's age, with a helmet on his head, get down on his hands and knees to show the men the oldest fundamentals and latest wrinkles. That's real coaching.

Interfraternity Baseball Tournament Starts Tomorrow on Back Campus

Elimination System to be in Vogue—Seven Teams in each League With Byes in First Round for S. A. E. and Owls—Championship Contest on May 26

Interfraternity baseball, which most of us are anxiously awaiting, will get under way today at 4 o'clock, when Delta Psi tackles the Independents in the first League I game. Tomorrow afternoon League II opens with Phi Delta Theta opposing the Phi Sigma Deltas.

The schedule will consist this year of two leagues of seven teams each, six teams in each league playing the first round, with the seventh teams, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Lambda Iota, drawing a bye.

It is felt by those in charge that, due to the fact that final examinations start much sooner this year than heretofore, and that Vermont's May weather is apt to be more or less unsettled, a fairly short, clearcut schedule should be adopted. Hence, the two league elimination series instead of the extended round-robin tyle of series.

Rules

1. Any bona fide student of the academic colleges and of the Medical College, who has not received a degree, may play, except the following:

a. No student who has received the varsity letter in baseball, either at Vermont or at any other college or university, may play.

b. No members of the present varsity baseball squad (see Bulletin Board) may play.

2. All games shall be played on the back campus diamond, and shall start at 4.10 p.m. Any fraternity whose team is not on the field ready to play at that time shall forfeit the game to the opposing team which is ready to play.

3. All questions concerning weather and postponement of games will be decided by the Director of Intramural Sports or by the official in charge of the game.

League I teams: 1—Delta Psi, 2—Independents, 3—Sigma Phi, 4—Kappa Sigma, 5—Sigma Nu, 6—Zeta Chi, 7—Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

League II teams: 1—Phi Delta Theta, 2—Phi Sigma Delta, 3—Tau Epsilon Phi, 4—Sigma Delta, 5—Alpha Tau Omega, 6—Phi Mu Delta, 7—Lambda Iota

Schedule

Date	League	Teams
April 30	I	1 and 2
May 1	II	1 and 2
May 2	I	3 and 4
May 3	II	3 and 4
May 5	I	5 and 6
May 6	II	5 and 6
May 7	I	Winner 1-2 and Winner 3-4
May 8	II	Winner 1-2 and Winner 3-4
May 9	I	Winner 5-6 and 7
May 12	II	Winner 5-6 and 7
May 19	I	Final
May 21	II	Final
May 26		Championship game

"THE BRIDGE OF LIFE," CINEMA, BY PHYZ ED DEPT.

Tomorrow afternoon will be the date of the première in Vermont of The Bridge of Life. This photoplay drew capacity houses in Boston, New York and Chicago. The first performance will be tomorrow at 4.00 p.m. in the Williams Science Hall large lecture room.

This film deals with something of vital interest to every man, woman or child. It shows the intricate machinery of one of the most wonderful bodily mechanisms, the human arches. Graphic and striking comparisons bring home the host of human ailments which may be traced directly to faulty posture caused by improper footwear and bad feet.

SHAM-PLAINS

Oh my, oh me! We hate to do this but really we must. The headline scribe of the Burlington Free Press made an awful blunder and we feel that he should be corrected. He said that Vermont would have an inter-team track meet. Wrong fella, wrong. It was an intra-team track meet; a track meet among members of the team, and not between two opposing teams.

To illustrate: If the girls at Grassmont should hold a pajama party at Grassmount that would be an intra-so-and-so pajama party. However, should the girls have a pajama party at Converse Hall that would be an inter-so-and-so pajama party. This may be a fine distinction but we hope you see the difference.

Our criticism of course is constructive. We wish to keep this headliner out of that class of punsters that would write "Smith Brothers in close shave," meaning that they barely escaped with their lives; or "Darwin makes monkey of himself."

The sporting department of the Cynic, under the editor's tutelage, and in consultation with noted bibliophiles and philatelists has evolved a set of headlines applicable to all and any circumstances. A twice sent stamp or a repeated telephone call will bring both the editor and the headlines.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2000

Revised Lineup Effective as Cats Shut Out Fort Team

Co. I 13th Infantry Powerless Against Benway, Farmer and Cumminge—Levy and Baker Break Into Varsity Field, Latter Starring

JUNIOR VARSITY-FORT GAME IS POSTPONED

A game scheduled to be played this afternoon on Centennial Field between the Vermont Jayvees and Co I. 13th Infantry of Fort Ethan Allen, the team which was whitewashed by the varsity nine last Saturday afternoon, has been postponed to a near future, date to be announced at a still nearer future time.

Due to the absence of Coach "Larry" Gardner from the city today, "Doc" Newton will handle the varsity practice session, thereby depriving the Jays of Doc's services for the afternoon.

Newton has a smooth looking outfit which he is anxious to see in action. For pitchers he has Benway, Farmer, and Hoyt, unless one or more of this group gets to seeing fairly regular varsity duty. Behind the willow there are Keeler, Tomassetti, Towne, and Foster. Louden and Talbert are scrapping for first with a similar struggle going on at sack No. K, between Rapuano and Collins. Heaton at short and Proctor at third will be taken out in favor of Macomber and Baker if varsity duties of the latter pair do not conflict.

Levy, who played the sunfield against the Post team among regular company Saturday, will handle one of the gardens. He is a hard sticker bound to make good. Bussey is another good looker for the outfield. Talbert will probably cavort in the outfield with Louden at the initial bag.

TENNIS TEAM READY FOR THREE-GAME TRIP

Prof Carpenter's tennis squad will leave this evening for a three-game engagement in Massachusetts. Boston University is the first opponent for the Catamounts on Thursday. The next two days the Vermonters will be in Worcester to swap drives with Worcester Tech on Friday and Clark on Saturday.

The team has had only indoor practice and will, therefore, be playing under a definite handicap. There is much new strength this year with "Freddy" Tupper of last year's frosh and "Larry" Palmer, a current yearling, ready for action.

Captain Borkland will also make the trip, together with two other men to be picked from Pouch, Price, Woodward and Holbrook.

9 TO 0 SCORE GIVES VERMONT SECOND WIN

By CY NATHANSON

Benway and Farmer, freshman pitching for the first time from the varsity mound, gave one hit each. Cummings gave no hits and struck out five out of seven men who faced him. Jay stole five base and made a spectacular spear of a liner in center field. Traynor got a double and two singles. Winant walked four out of five times at bat. Baker, supplanting McKay at third, drove in four runs. Stroh drove in two runs in his only time at bat. Pires-Traynor-Winant combo pulled off a double play. Vermont got 14 hits and played errorless ball.

FORT SHOOTS BLANK!

VERMONT

	ab	r	bh	tb	po	a	e
Jay, c.f.	4	1	1	1	1	0	0
Traynor, 2b	4	1	2	4	5	2	0
Dinnlman, l.f.	5	2	2	2	1	0	0
Winant, 1b	1	2	0	0	11	0	0
Baker, 3b	4	0	2	2	0	2	0
Kendall, c.	2	1	1	2	2	0	0
Towne, c	0	0	0	0	1	0	0
Stroh, c.	1	0	1	1	5	1	0
Levy, r.f	5	1	1	1	0	0	0
Pires, s.s.	3	1	2	3	0	2	0
Benway, p.	3	0	1	1	0	2	0
Farmer, p.	1	0	0	0	0	2	0
Cummings, p.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	32	9	14	16	26*	13	0

FORT ETHAN ALLEN

	ab.	r.	bh	tb	po.	a	e
Harrison, 2b	3	0	0	0	2	2	0
Chick, 3b	3	0	0	0	1	0	0
McDermott, p., c.f.	4	0	0	0	1	1	0
Ellis, c.	3	0	0	0	11	2	0
Armstrong, r.f., p.	3	0	1	1	0	4	0
Crean, s.s.	3	0	1	1	2	0	3
Blake, l.f.	3	0	0	0	0	0	0
Mattick, c.f., r.f	3	0	0	0	0	0	0
Lipka, 1b	3	0	0	0	7	0	0
Totals	27	0	2	2	24	9	3

*Armstrong out, hit by batted ball.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	r
Vermont	2	1	2	0	2	0	0	2	x	9

Earned runs—Vermont 5. Two-base hits—Kendall, Traynor. Sacrifice hits—Benway, Baker, Jay. Stolen bases—Jay 5, Traynor 2, Dinnlman 1, Winant 1, Baker 1, Chick 1. First base on balls, off McDermott 2, Armstrong 5, Benway 2, Farmer 2, Cummings 1. First base on errors—Vermont 1. Left on bases—Vermont 10, Fort 5. Struck out, by McDermott 3, Armstrong 9, Benway 1, Farmer 1, Cummings 5. Double plays—Pires to Traynor to Winant, Chick to Harrison. Hit by pitched ball, by Armstrong (Kendall). Hits, off McDermott, 8 in 2 innings (none out in third), Armstrong, 6 in 6 innings, Benway 1 in 5 innings, Farmer 1 in 2 innings, Cummings 0 in 2 innings. Umpires—Lyons and Seymour. Scorer—Nathanson.

All this happened as Larry Gardner's nine shut out Co. I 13th Infantry of Fort Ethan Allen on Centennial

(Continued on page 4)

SENIOR
CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

TWO COLLEGES QUIT STATE DEBATE LEAGUE

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] last week and the subject to [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 2, 1930 — NUMBER 52

VERMONT STUDENTS PREDOMINATE HERE

Catalogue Shows Over 800 in Attendance at University Are Residents of State

STUDENT BODY EXCEEDS 1,200 STATISTICS SHOW

[illegible] students attending the [illegible] of Vermont this year, 807, [illegible]me from towns and [illegible] Vermont according to figures [illegible] newly issued catalogue [illegible]

[illegible] United States, the District of [illegible] Canada are also represented in the enrollment. Massachusetts [illegible]40 students this year, [illegible] Connecticut 96, New [illegible] New Hampshire 18, and [illegible] District of Columbia, Delaware, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, [illegible] Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode [illegible] and Canada nine or [illegible]

[illegible] students enrolled in [illegible] summer session, the student [illegible] of the University for the [illegible]

[illegible] smaller total enrollment [illegible] regular session's courses, and [illegible] larger percentage of Ver[illegible] is shown in comparison with [illegible] college year when 1,325 [illegible] enrolled of which number 851 [illegible] Vermonters.

[illegible] enrolled in the regular curricula are [illegible] men and 321 women.

Art and Sciences Lead

[illegible] the men, 385 are in the College [illegible] Arts and Sciences, 124 in the College of Engineering, 146 in the College of Medicine, 31 in the College of Agriculture, 18 are graduate students, and two are taking the two-year teacher training course.

Of the women, 356 are in the College of Arts and Sciences, 67 in the College of Agriculture, 78 in the State two-year teacher training course, ten in the College of Medicine and ten are graduate students.

Of the nine curricula in the College of Arts and Sciences, the Literary Scientific course leads in enrollment with 136 women and 41 men. Enrollment in the others is as follows: Business 158, classical, 94; general science and general science pre-medical, 85 each; four year teacher training, 59; secretarial, 44; chemistry, 19; department of education, 9. Fourteen other students are taking special courses.

In the College of Engineering are 50 men enrolled in civil engineering, 38 in electrical engineering and 36 in mechanical engineering.

Figures of the 1929 summer session showed 512 of the total 945 students were from Vermont, 101 from New York, 69 from Massachusetts, 63 from Connecticut, 48 from Pennsylvania, 36 from New Jersey, 30 from New Hampshire, 15 from Washington, D. C., 14 from Ohio, 10 from Maine and eight or less from each of 17 other states.

COLLEGIATE PICTORIAL WANTS PHOTOGRAPHER

Opportunity for a student on the Vermont campus to do paid photographic work is offered by the Intercollegiate Pictorial, a new collegiate publication now being organized at Dartmouth College.

The Intercollegiate Photographic Association, sponsoring the magazine, offers a very real contact for photographers in colleges and universities throughout the country.

A release from the publishing board states:

"The magazine will sell for 50 cents per copy, half of which will go to the salesmen. As this position is still open on the (Vermont) campus it is an excellent opportunity for a man to be photographic representative and also to assume charge of circulation at a considerable profit."

SEVEN STUDENTS ARE ENTRANTS IN KINGSLEY ORATORICAL CONTEST

Three Sophomores and Four Freshmen To Compete For Elocution Prizes Given by Vermont Alumnus

Contestants in the Kingsley Prize Speaking Contest, for the cash awards given annually in May by Darwin P. Kingsley, prominent U. V. M. alumnus, now number seven. The men are: Sam B. Barker, '32, Alfred J. Morin, '32 R. P. Donoughey, '33, Donald Frazier, '32, William G. MacDonald, '33, Russell Colburn, '33, and James E. Bigelow, '33.

All Active

S. B. Barker is a graduate of Montclair High School, Montclair, N. J. During his high school life he participated in at least two prize speaking contests, winning several prizes. He is the retiring president of Gold Key, a member of Wig and Buskin, of Grey Friars and a student on the Dean's list. He belongs to Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Alfred Morin is a gradute of Craftsbury Academy, Craftsbury. He was a prize winner in several prize speaking contests at Craftsbury, was a debater and also was entered in the Kingsley Prize Contest last year but was unable to participate due to unfortunate circumstances. He is a member of Grey Friars, of the U. V. C. A. Cabinet and Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity. He is also feature editor of the CYNIC.

Donald Frazier, a graduate of Burlington High School, is a veteran of prize speaking contests in high school. He was also a participant in the Kingsley Contest last year. In 1928 he was captain of the state champion debating team. This year Frazier is a member of the sophomore debating team and has debated several times

(Continued on page 4)

TABULATIONS SHOW CONTRIBUTORS MANY

Donations Toward Student Union Building Come From 296 Students in Three-day Campaign

V. C. A. SAYS INTEREST IN BUILDING IS HIGH

A total of 296 individuals, including 15 professors who donated fifty dollars contributed to the three-day Student Union Building campaign, which closed last Thursday, according to final tabulations by the Vermont Christian Associations. The campaign realized $330.34 in all.

Two hundred eighty four of the 296 donations were for one dollar or less. Only two single contributions were for ten dollars, six for five dollars, and four for two dollars. Of the students who contributed in the campaign, 141 were men and 140 women. Fifty-three dollars of the total was raised in pledges, which are now being collected.

To Promote Interest

The purpose of the campaign was more to promote interest in a Student Union Building than to raise money, for it was known that a large sum could not be raised at this time of the year. The continuous disussions about the campus indicate that there is more interest than the financial returns might tend to indicate.

In conducting the campaign the Christian Associations did not attempt to collect any money from the Medical, Engineering and Agricultural Colleges. Thus only a little more than half of the University was covered by the campaign.

Plans have already been made for conducting another campaign next fall which will cover not only the students of the College of Arts and Sciences but also those of all the other colleges in the University. It is hoped that with the additional number of students contributing more satisfying results will be obtained.

Engineers Make Uncanny Guess

Students Compute Probable Population of Burlington and Come Close to Actual Figures

That an engineering class of the University, in the course of its ordinary class work, came within a small fraction of computing the actual population of Burlington, is disclosed by Milo C. Reynolds, supervisor of the census for the local district.

The computations of the students showed a difference of only 1½ percent between their results and those of the census takers, which were not announced until a day later. The class calculated the probable population for 1930 at 25,098. The census shows a population of 24,720. The discrepancy was 378.

The method used assumed the figures of Burlington's population each decade since 1870 to lie in a parabola when plotted graphically, the problem being to locate the point on the parabola representing 1930. Seven equations were set up in terms of the population in each of the seven past decades and these were reduced to three equations by the method of "least squares" and solved. The semi-final process involved computation extending into tens of billions.

Prof. A. D. Butterfield, under whose direction the class made its calculations, said this method of estimating population several years ahead of the census had been found useful in such matters as city planning. Given normal conditions, he said, the results always tally very closely with facts.

About the time of the 1900 census, Professor Butterfield made similar advance estimates of Burlington's probable population, with the same very close approximation to fact.

REV. ADAMS DISCUSSES LOYALTY TO A CAUSE

"People and nations must learn to live together in peace, to settle their disputes and grievances by arbitration and not by wholesale killing of each other," declared the Rev. C. A. Adams of the First Church in Burlington, speaking on "Loyalty to a Cause" in chapel Wednesday.

"One of the greatest causes of today is internationalism," he continued. "Loyalty to ideals is a greater loyalty than that to a fraternity, sorority, club, community, state or nation. Our high ideals govern and determine to a great extent our actions, our thoughts and our success. We all need a philosophy of life in order to reap the greatest benefits from life. The best way of acquiring this is to choose some good cause early in life and be loyal to it. The great servants of humanity all down through the centuries have been men and women living in a world of great causes. Service to a great cause simplifies life, it safeguards us from many undesirable and dangerous prejudices which would otherwise influence us."

EMERGENCE QUESTION IS TOPIC OF ANOTHER AMUSING J. V. DEBATE

"Should Woman Emerge?" Is Humorously Discussed by Junior Varsity at Essex Center Grange

The often discussed question of whether woman should emerge from the home was the subject of another amusing debate held at the Essex Center Grange Hall last Friday before the Pomona assemblage. LaCrosse and Bigelow argued that woman should not emerge while Codding, and Householder, '32, maintained that woman should emerge.

Bigelow, opening the debate, described woman's condition since emergence as ably illustrated in an incident which recently occurred in a certain court. A woman accused her husband of cruelty and a witness who was intimately associated with the pair was testifying. "What," asked the lawyer, "did this man do to his wife which merits punishment?" Without a moment's hesitation the witness replied "He listened to her."

"The emergence of woman from the home has had a very detrimental effect on the child of today," maintained Bigelow. "The child lacks proper care and consequently goes through life without attaining his just position in life."

Another Style

Fred W. Householder, opening his speech in the manner of campaigning president laid down his pipe, put on his monocle made from the lens of a flashlight and argued that woman is merely adjusting herself to changing circumstances which are necessitated for the happiness of the home. As a result of these new surroundings of hers woman has made the home happier.

P. J. LaCrosse, rather angry at his opponent's slow breaking type of offense maintained on the principle that a good offense is the best defense, that woman herself is greatly hindered by going out into industry. "She fails to proform her natural functions. She utterly fails in her position as a trainer of children because she is inexperienced. She is a machine—the product and result of a machine age which has driven her insane."

E. M. Codding, smiling at his wife who sat in a nearby seat, maintained that the Eskimos do not need electric fans as might be supposed by the opposition but nevertheless woman has a right to self-expression of her ideas and ambitions and that by so doing she benefits the home and her family.

Encouraged by Mrs. Codding's nods, Husband Codding maintained that marriage is no longer the only vocation which woman is interested in and by right it shouldn't be because she was shut up without access to the outside world previous to emergence.

The chairman then contributed several verses of so-called poetry compiled by his roommate, made an active by nevertheless futile attempt to induce the affirmative to speak first in rebuttal, and asked the negative to continue the debate.

F. W. Householder read several quotations from a volume which, judging

(Continued on page 4)

SPEAKERS DENOUNCE WAR AT YALE MEET

Four Hundred Students From 32 Colleges Assembled in Model League Support Peaceful Settlements

YALE PRESIDENT OPENS SESSION OF ASSEMBLY

Many people eat their meals in the twentieth century, but live intellectually in the eighteenth century," stated President James R. Angel of Yale University in the opening address of the Model League of Nations Assembly held at Yale University last Saturday, April 26.

To the 400 student delegates gathered there for the event from 31 New England and Eastern colleges, he declared further that this country "must have men of great intellect and high moral character entering political life of the country."

Student Responsibility

He urged the students in the colleges to "develop a sense of responsibility that they might not be misled by political prejudice." He declared that he had great confidence in the possibilities of such student gatherings as the Model League of Nations Assembly, feeling that in such a manner the students of American colleges would come in direct contact with the problems that face the world.

Herbert Elvin, commonwealth scholar from England, who addressed a Burlington audience last winter as an International Institute lecturer, was elected by popular vote the President of the League Assembly.

Following the preliminary address, an intensive three-hour debate was held by the members of the League Assembly on the subject of "Compulsory Settlement of All International Disputes by Peaceful Means." A vote was taken on whether the delegates believed that the League covenant should be changed so that all disputes arising between nations should be settled peacefully. An overwhelming majority of the delegates favored the revision, but as the vote was not unanimous, the League covenant remained unchanged as it would have in actual League procedure. At noon the meeting adjourned.

The afternoon session was devoted to the question of "Security and Sanctions Against Aggressor Nations." The evening session was spent upon a consideration of "The Monroe Doctrine." The same procedure was followed in the afternoon and evening as in the morning.

Represent Each Country

Each college delegation present at the Model League of Nations Assembly represented some country actually a member of the League of Nations, and was supposed to uphold the views and policies of that country. The University of Vermont delegation represented Austria.

The Vermont men who went to Yale University to attend the Model Assembly last week were Robert Lee Stewart, '30, chairman of the delegation, Edmour Germain, '31, Joseph Carter, '32, and William Perry, '33. These men are active in the International Relations Club, and the Vermont Christian Association.

The other colleges participating in the Model Assembly were Amherst, Barnard, Bowdoin, Brown, Bryn Mawr, Clark, Colby, Connecticut, Dartmouth, Harvard, International House, Jackson, Massachusetts State, Mount Holyoke, New Hampshire, Pembroke, Princeton, Radcliffe, Salem Normal, Smith, Springfield, Syracuse, Toledo, Tufts, Vassar, Wellesley, Wesleyan, Wheaton, Williams and Yale.

The Model League of Nations Assembly is an annual event. It is held mainly for the purpose of educating student opinion in world problems and the difficulties that continually face the League of Nations. The Model Assembly is also held repeatedly because of continued student interest in the League of Nations, the abolition of war, and disarmament.

Herbert Elvin, the President of the Model Assembly declared that the day will come when "it will be as great an honor to represent a country at the League of Nations as to be the President of a country."

There were a number of interesting and enlightening opinions expressed by the students at the Model Assembly. One delegate quoted Ramsay MacDonald and declared that it was better

(Continued on page 4)

Speakers at Independents' Banquet Call Members Active, Enterprising

The Independents occupy a very [illegible] position in college affairs," declared M. D. Powers, speaking at the annual banquet of the Vermont Independents at the gymnasium Tuesday [illegible].

"The Independents are now, as they [illegible] when I was a student here," continued Mr Powers, "always in the forefront in student activities. What [illegible] in organization they more [illegible] up in spirit and enter[illegible].

Mr Powers, himself a prominent [illegible] while in college, told of [illegible] activities of the Commons [illegible] Independents' organization [illegible]. In speaking of the ex[illegible]ganization which the Commons Club boasted, Mr Powers advocated that a highly organized group [illegible] the Commons Club was very [illegible]ated into a group whose [illegible] ideals were not of the [illegible].

[illegible]dependent speakers of the [illegible]ded L. M. Foster, '31, as[illegible] editor of the CYNIC and [illegible] of the Independents, C. F. [illegible] treasurer, and L. J. [illegible] baseball manager. Amsden [illegible] attention of the assembled [illegible] high quality of previous [illegible] and called for future sup[illegible].

Riani made a stirring appeal for a large cheering section at the first baseball game Wednesday.

E. M. Codding, popular president of the Independents, spoke at length on the activities of the Independents in years past. In reviewing the society's history he stated that they have won second place in the interfraternity baseball league for two years, tied for fourth place in the interfraternity track meet last year, second place in the Junior Week Peerade last year, and second place in the interfarternity drill squad competition at Federal Inspection last May. Two-thirds of the Vermont rifle team are Independents at the present time and the captains last year and this year have also been non-fraternity men. "The Independents are always in there fighting" he concluded.

Plans are now being made for a Junior Week Dance to be given in conjunction with the non-sorority women. The Independents also are to choose a stunt for Junior Week Peerade, which it is believed will equal and probably surpass the last year second place winner.

The Independents all agreed they have had a very successful year. Interest in the group has been increasing in recent years and each succeeding meeting reveals more new faces.

NOTICE

There will be a University Tea at the Delta Psi House Sunday, May 4, from 4 to 6.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor

News Editor

Associate Editors

Dramatic Editor

Sports Editor

Assistant Sports Editors

Women's Athletic Editor

Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Associate Editors

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents.

Articles and intercollegiate items are welcome contributions. All communications must be signed by the writer whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any local matters should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 546 before 6 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.

Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Pi House, or other communications to the Editor, Pi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 63 May 2, 1930 No. 53

IN SPITE OF IT ALL

Not even the bitter criticism directed by the dramatic editor in the past issue of the Cynic against the recent operatic productions of the Intercollegiate Club can detract in any way from the credit that right fully belongs to the music organizations of the University for having attempted during the past year one of the most ambitious programs ever undertaken by any group in the field of extra-curricular activity.

Success in such fields is not to be measured by the ability of the participants. It is something far less obvious, for it lies in the degree of enthusiasm and industry it represents. If such be taken as the criterion of success, then the music department of the University has had a successful season indeed. Hard work and ambitious programs are their own reward and are surely deserving of commendation.

Interest in the activities of the music clubs has never been high in recent years, yet have small audiences been the only cause for complaint on the part of the directors. The real problem has been one of lack of interest even among such as are capable of conducting these activities, frequent refusals to bear their share of the work necessary for a good production, and the absence of high class material. Yet it is to be realized at once that Professor Bentley and a small group of hard working students have in the course of two or three years succeeded in putting the work of the music clubs on a truly level.

Time has attested to their work. Virtually every student in the University outside of participating in a concert or an opera. Then have called these students in projects which only patience and hard work could have carried through. Out of unskilled and untried material they have developed singers who are at least presentable. They have broadened the scope of their activities as never before, creating an interest in presenting operas, sponsoring concerts. And their progress must belong they have during the past season produced two operas where formerly they presented only one, presented grand opera where formerly they presented comic, increased the number of their concerts, and enlarged their programs to maximum proportions.

The season was a success on the face of it where formerly there was only indifference. The enthusiasm of a few has resulted in unprecedented activity on the part of many.

The question has arisen whether the music clubs have not exceeded themselves, whether they have not attempted more than their abilities warrant. We think they have not. We agree that the cast of the grand opera, had it been transferred to the comic opera, would have made of the latter a production of unusually high quality. But we would rather commend the foresight of those who decided on the production of "Orpheus" than giving the music clubs something higher to which to aspire, setting before them a higher standard rather than permitting them to content themselves with one whose requirements they had already shown themselves capable of meeting. We agree too that the ability of the singers might have been higher. But it should be borne in mind that one never criticizes an amateur on the basis of a professional's standards. It would be folly to compare a college ball player with a big leaguer; it should be considered equally inane to judge a college glee club by the standards of the Metropolitan Opera.

Again, we congratulate the music clubs on the strength of an ambitious and industrious season.

"The Cynic has forsaken its policy of giving facts in its news columns," writes a correspondent, "and leaving its editorial comment for the editorial page." The reference obviously is to the late Founder's Day issue which jarred not a few whose watchword has ever been "All's well enough" by refusing to reprint the usual press-agenting stories handed out by the honorary societies without first indicating their source and by printing statements from the societies to the effect that they were virtually inactive. If the statement of the source of a story or an interview from one in authority is not news, then the Cynic is not printing news, but we fear that such definition is straining the point considerably.

It used to be news when one wrote that Boulder is an honorary society. Cynic policy today calls is repetition to describe Boulder as honorary and news to prove it not an honorary. It used to be news that a man deserving the honor had made an honor society; today we call it news also if one deserving the honor has not made an honor society. Failure is news just as surely as is success.

The tone of both the news and editorial columns of the Cynic is determined by the editor, but since he is liable to suspension or dismissal by a simple majority vote of the board, it should be comforting to our correspondent to know that the Cynic can never become "the official publication of one student of the University of Vermont."

Campus Comment

[illegible] for 1930

To the Editor of the Cynic:

[illegible] we are [illegible] have [illegible] by [illegible] to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

Holy Cross and Connecticut Aggies Are Next Opponents

Vermont Baseball Team on Two-game Trip to Battle Purple This Afternoon and Nutmeggers Tomorrow—Both Have Strong Teams

REGULAR LINE-UP IS EXPECTED TO START

This afternoon the Catamount baseball team will take up active competition once more by meeting the Holy Cross nine at Worcester, Mass. Tomorrow afternoon the Connecticut Aggies will receive the Vermonters at Storrs, Conn.

These games will give the Gardner men their toughest games but at least one should be a victory for the Green and Gold. Holy Cross has always put out a strong team and this year appears to be no exception. On the other hand, the Connecticut Aggies do not appear to be formidable and should cause less trouble for the Catamounts.

The same regular line-up is expected to take the field for Vermont. In the box there is Winant on the initial sack, Hoover at second, McKay at the hot corner and Pires in the shortstop position. In the outer garden Capt. Bramhall Burnham and Jay are found covering the ground very effectively. Either Kendall or Stroh will be behind the plate on the receiving end with the former probably starting. It is expected that Rutkowski and Cumings will bear the pitching assignments.

Thus far this season the Catamounts have played ten games of which only three have been victories. With more consistent practice as warmer weather permits it is hoped that the record will show more wins. Coach Gardner has been ironing out the weak spots that have been noticed in the past games and the Green and Gold team should be able to give a good account of itself for the rest of the season.

LATEST FARM BULLETINS ISSUED BY SPECIALISTS

Some of the recent bulletins by Experiment Station specialists are based upon their study and research on the various subjects involved and frequently are the result of field investigations throughout the state.

Among the writers of the bulletins are Josiah L. Hills, L. S. Walker and F. P. Boyce, Marianne Muse and Charlotte Pierpont Brooks, H. B. Ellenberger and J. A. Newlander and L. B. Jones, B. F. Lutman, and Anna S. Lutman.

Those which would be of service to the general agricultural public are Numbers 293 and 305, Commercial Feeding Stuffs; Number 294, Comparative Study of Data on Farm Household Expenditures Obtained by Household Accounts and by a Survey; Number 296, Yield and Composition of Pasture Grass; Number 297, The Value of Baby Potatoes; Number 299, The Keeping Quality of Stored Dairy Products; Number 300, The Production of Good Quality Milk; Number 301, Commercial Fertilizers; Number 306, Agricultural Seed. Number 307, Studies in Vermont Dairy Farming.

The purpose of May 1 states: "The bulletins which are designed to be of practical service in farm homes, particularly in Vermont, may be had without charge. A postal card stating the bulletins desired by number addressed to the Experiment Station, Burlington, Vt., will suffice."

Of the present senior class at Harvard there is one prospective bear tamer and one student who considers writing epic poetry as his vocation.

Don't forget your mother on Mother's Day
Get your cards at ISHAM'S

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2000

O. MARTINETTI
Manager of Track

TENNIS TEAM GOES ON FIRST TRIP OF SEASON

Yesterday the Catamount court men met Boston University at Boston but the results were not received in time for publication. Today the team is to engage in a meet with Worcester Polytech at Worcester and tomorrow a match is scheduled with Clark University in the same city.

This year the management has attempted to avoid the usual large number of early season cancellations, hence the first home match does not come until May 13, when St. Michael's makes its annual appearance.

From all indications, the Cats should have a strong tennis aggregation this season.

Three out of five of last year's letter men are now in action, namely, Captain Borkland, Pouch and Goddard, while Herrick Macomber, the remaining veteran letter man, whose time is at present taken up with the Junior Week play, will report later.

In addition Coach Carpenter can bank on Tupper and Holbrook who starred as members of last year's frosh team. Both of these players have had plenty of experience and will be of valuable service to the team.

From the present frosh class, Coach Carpenter has Larry Palmer, one of the most finished performers in college, in addition to Woodward and Price who were members of the frosh team last fall.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

For your Dances
CREPE PAPER
STREAMERS
BALLOONS SERPENTINE
FAVORS, etc.
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts.—Phone 629

Soda Ice Cream

Corner Main & Church Streets
Home-made Candies Luncheonette

SHAM-PLAINS

Havit Dun the campus snoop first cousin to Musty Dooit of the Boston Herald just brought me the sad tidings. The football coach has had to get down on his hands and knees to the boys. Yes, it has come to this—the coach has to implore where once he commanded. At all the big colleges the tendency has been to let the boys play the game themselves, but here they have to play with the boys.

Maple Sap, that fluid talker, suggests that ten more coaches would make a good football team, "what we need is more, bigger and better spirit," spake Maple, jamming a consommé sandwich against her bridgework.

"What would you suggest," chortled Havit Dun."

Well us girls have thought it over and we have decided that we ought to have better teams, that we ought to win more games, more often; and that more teas should be held less often."

This bit of constructive criticism, typical of the student body, quite upset "Havit" and he left to seek advice.

"ARCHIE" T. POST
Track Coach

MORE INTERFRAT GAMES SCHEDULED NEXT WEEK

This afternoon at 4 o'clock Sigma Phi and Kappa Sigma will cross bats in the Interfraternity Baseball Tournament and the winner of this game will enter the semi-finals. Tomorrow afternoon Tau Epsilon Phi and Sigma Delta will try to eliminate each other in this annual race for the interfrat championship.

Monday afternoon the preliminaries of League I are scheduled to finish when Sigma Nu and Zeta Chi meet on the back campus. There is a game every day next week except Saturday and the final championship contest is to be played May 26.

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR
SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

The Old Reliable
Gotham gold stripe
Silk Stockings that Wear
$1.50 & 1.95 Pr.
Sheer, Service Sheer or Service weight, thirty four smart shades, for day time, afternoon or evening wear

Vermont Track Team at Amherst in Opening Meet

Catamount Squad in First Meet of Season Tomorrow—Several Newcomers Will Be Given Chance to Show Abilities on Trip

CHARLIE MACE
Captain of Track

SATURDAY'S TIME TRIALS A BASIS FOR SELECTION

About eighteen track men have been selected by Coach "Archie" Post to represent Vermont at Amherst, Mass. tomorrow afternoon where they will compete with the Amherst College aggregation in their first meet of the season.

Tomorrow's meet will be important as many of the newcomers show great potentialities for the near future and may be able to wrest away glory from some of the long standing veteran men.

In the dashes and mile runs, Bond, Hadley, Huey, Wilder, Cohen and Colburn ought to see action with the possibility of chalking up a few points for the Cat's advantage. Swain, although a freshman, showed up his co-hurdlers of the upper classes by placing first in the time trials. He and Billings, who came in second, should be important exponents of adding up the points for victory.

The broad jump shows some promise to the Catamount's advantage with Child, Bedell and Bond as the main stays. The latter two are equally good in the high jump which will be taken care of by them. P. Park showed up well in three events by taking over the shot-put, the discus throw and the hammer throw. The javelin throw may be represented by Gardner who wrested it away from his veteran competitors.

INTERFRAT BASEBALL CONTEST ENDS IN TIE

In the opening game of Interfraternity Baseball Tournament the Independents and the Delta Psis battled eight innings to a 7 to 7 tie. The first inning started with a bang for the Delta Psis when they got six runs on three bases on balls, two errors, and one hit. In their half of the inning the Independents retaliated by scoring one run on one hit and an error.

In the second inning the Delta Psis scored their last run on two hits. The Independents made a four-run rally in the fourth frame by tallies on a base on balls, two hits, and three errors. In the "lucky seventh" the Independents made an effort which just fell short of victory when they scored two runs on two hits and an error to tie up the game. Both teams battled hard in the next inning but neither were to score.

Bagley of the Independents and Corbin of the Delta Psis were the leading strikers with each making two hits out of four trips to the plate. Both pitchers hurled good ball. The batteries were, for the Independents: Joslin and Rowand, Riand; for the Delta Psis: Hurlburt, Colburn and DeWitt.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

ALEX VERRET
111 CHURCH ST
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 3070, 3071, 3072

TENNIS
Rackets 1.50 to 20.00
Racket Cases—Presses
Nets and Court equipment
Wright & Ditson
Pennsylvania
TENNIS BALLS
L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

SENIOR
CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

RESEARCH CLUB HEARS THREE PROFS. LECTURE

[illegible] in the form of papers will be [illegible] Thursday evening of last week [illegible] members were the recipients of a [illegible] by professors [illegible] of the English department, during the [illegible] Research Club, meeting that [illegible] which [illegible] of Economics of the College of Medicine [illegible] Professor Lindsay [illegible] Professor Lindsay [illegible] of the spotlights of [illegible] and [illegible] some of the views [illegible] a public [illegible]

[illegible] the second speaker [illegible] meeting discussed some [illegible] to the development and [illegible] of the theatre

Captions of Latin Text

[illegible] with the Latin text [illegible] of the manuscript [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 6, 1930 NUMBER 53

Meeting Fails To Oust Board

MIDDLEBURY DEBATE WILL DECIDE STATE LEAGUE TITLE

Vermont Will Meet Traditional Forensic Opponent Here Tomorrow Night

ORATORS WILL ALSO COMPETE FOR AWARDS

[illegible] will meet Middlebury tomorrow [illegible] in a contest which, now [illegible] St. Michael's and Norwich have [illegible] from the league will determine [illegible] in the race for the [illegible] championship in debating. The [illegible] encounter will be the [illegible] Hotel, where festivities are [illegible] at eight o'clock in the [illegible]. Prof. Leon Dean in the [illegible] Sears, Lisman and Nel[illegible] in that order, upholding [illegible] prestige of Vermont.

[illegible] will also be the third [illegible] two colleges will compete [illegible] donated by Edwin Win[illegible] Lawrence, a trustee of the Uni[illegible]y in 1928, and, if Vermont con[illegible] true to form, at least two of [illegible] awards should go to her. Two [illegible] Vermont took a first and a [illegible] Lawrence Hince, '28, and John [illegible]ravens, '28, gaining the first of the [illegible] ever given. Sam Pattee, who [illegible]anned the Middlebury team for two [illegible] and distinguished himself in in[illegible]mate debating by the rapidity [illegible] clarity of his speech, took second [illegible] that year. Last year Vermont [illegible] second and third, Louis Lis[illegible] '31 and Franklin Sears, '30, [illegible]ors for the two prizes. First prize [illegible] to Raymond Saulnier, whose de[illegible]ate was characterized above all else [illegible] familiarity with his subject.

To Talk Advertising

Resolved, that national advertising [illegible] more detrimental than beneficial," will be the subject of tomorrow's de[illegible]. Vermont will insist on the bene[illegible]s Middlebury holding to the detri[illegible]nts.

The question is the same as that on which Vermont defeated Keene Normal School earlier in the season. Last year, the same trio which debates tomorrow night, met Bates College on the same question in an Oregon debate in which Vermont was reported to have presented the superior case.

The Middlebury-Vermont debate has always been regarded as a closely contested affair. A review of the activities of the two teams during the past season, while failing to indicate where the advantage will probably lie, seems to indicate a possibility of an even more bitterly fought contest than usual. Middlebury has to her credit two victories over New York University, one at Middlebury and one in New York City. Vermont, on the other hand, while it dropped a 2-1 decision to N. Y. U. last winter, nevertheless scored a decisive victory over Upsala, to whom Middlebury lost last month. Middlebury has also defeated Albany Law, while on Vermont's string of successes are M. A. C., Ursinus, Catholic, Emory and Henry, and Virginia Union.

It is expected that two sets of judges will be in attendance at tomorrow's debate, one to divide the prizes and the other to award the decision. Two years ago, when this plan was used, one set of judges gave Vermont's speakers rankings of first, third and fourth, Middlebury taking second, and the other gave the decision unanimously to Middlebury. Last year, three judges gave Middlebury second and sixth to Vermont, and two gave fourth and fifth to Middlebury. The same judges gave Middlebury a 2-1 decision on the merits of the debate.

While Vermont presents a veteran team, Middlebury will have but a single speaker remaining from last year. The addition of freshmen to the team is said, however, to have given it considerable strength.

REV. MITCHELL TO TALK IN CHAPEL WEDNESDAY

Rev. H. Summer Mitchell, pastor of the First Unitarian Church of [illegible] will address the student body at the chapel services tomorrow morning.

Mr. Mitchell has already spoken before students several times, being well known for the high calibre of his [illegible]

ARIEL PROGRESS STILL SLOWED BY TARDINESS

Lack of Honor Lists and Group Pictures Continues to Hamper Later Stages of Work

The tardiness of certain individuals and groups in turning in their photographs and honor lists to the editor of the Ariel is still impeding the progress of the 1931 year book. The opening section of the Ariel is completely printed and the next section is in galley form. The grinds are nearly finished and all of the individual photographs have been turned in.

There are still however, a few honor lists and group pictures not yet in the hands of the editors, which should be turned in immediately to G. R. Brush at the Owl House. The editors are working hard to hasten the publication of the Ariel but cannot expect their efforts to be successful unless the groups still delinquent show greater cooperation.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS SPALDING PLAY IN LAST OF UNIVERSITY RECITALS

Violinist Concludes Season's Series With Program Which Delights His Hearers

Concluding the series of University concerts, which earlier this season presented Harold Bauer, pianist, and the Liebeslieder Ensemble, Albert Spalding, American violinist, played to a large and enthusiastic audience in the University gymnasium Wednesday night. Students were admitted free, the University having purchased 500 tickets for the event from Arthur Dow, who was associated with the administration in the presentation of the recital.

A local review, the morning after the concert, said:

All Comment Favorable

"Albert Spalding, America's premier violinist, played before a very large audience Wednesday evening at the University gymnasium. He was greeted with hearty applause and enthusiasm mounted as the program progressed, until after the concluding number the artist bowed repeatedly and added several numbers to an already rich program. Spalding captures his audience before he ever draws bow by his dignified bearing, his naturalness of manner, and his very charming smile. He is such a sincere and real American gentleman that his art flowers from a most geniune background.

"Spalding's tone can not be over praised as it is well nigh perfect Broad passages are played with robust vigor to match a string ensemble, and pianissimo melodies sing out in a delicacy and tunefulness impossible to describe. All technique is at Spalding's command and brilliant cadenzas fairly trickle from his fingers and bow. His harmonics are the marvel of all and certainly surpassed by none unless it be Kreisler. Then too, there is the soulfulness and melodiousness of the straightforward singing themes which stir one to great feeling.

Interesting Programs

"The program was a most interesting one. The Brahms Sonata for violin and piano was a masterful thing performed in a thoroughly artistic manner, though both artists seemed rather more at home in the tuneful Lalo Symphonie. Of the smaller compositions the Schubert 'Ave Maria' and the Schumann 'Abenlied' were rarely beautiful and were played with exquisite feiling and tenderness.

"Mr. Spalding's encores were 'Alabama,' a plantation song by the artist, his own arrangement of Schubert's 'Hark, Hark, the Lark', and a Spanish Dance, 'Jota' by DeFalla.

"One must pay tribute to the excellent work of Mr. Spalding's accompanist, who less than 48 hours previous was summoned into rehearsal because of the illness of Andre Benoist. Mr Spalding's regular accompanist. Mr Golde is an unusually fine accompanist lending himself at all times to the artist's mood and interpretation.

VOUCHERS FOR PLAY GO ON SALE TODAY

Managers Replace Tickets with Vouchers for Production of "Holiday" May 15

PLANS MATURING FOR JUNIOR WEEK FEATURES

Vouchers for the Junior Week play "Holiday," which will be presented by the combined dramatic societies at the Strong Theatre the evening of May 15, go on sale today, according to an announcement from the business manager of Wig and Buskin. This is the first year that vouchers are being used instead of tickets.

The manager of the production, when interviewed as to the reasons for the change, explained that the advance sale of vouchers will permit a forecast of the number of seats to be occupied and so will facilitate the arrangement of the seating plan. He also indicated that opportunity for better choice of seats would be afforded holders of vouchers, who will have first choice when they are exchanged for tickets two days before the play. The manager also expressed the belief that they would serve to help advertise the production and to increase the sale of seats.

Exchange Dates

Vouchers may be exchanged Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 13, 14 and 15 at the box office of the Strong Theatre. Reservations may be made ahead of time, but the vouchers must be exchanged the same day that the reservations are made in order to ensure a fair choice of seats for everyone.

Prices of seats are $ .50 $1.00 and $1.50. The boxes, both upstairs and downstairs are $1.50, as are the first fifteen rows in the orchestra and the first two rows in the balcony. Seats in the back seven rows downstairs and in the back nine rows upstairs will be sold for one dollar. Tickets for the gallery may be procured the night of the production for fifty cents.

Rehearsals for the play, are progressing smoothly and the production promises to be another success. The play is under the direction of Prof. J. T. Metcalf and will be enacted by a veteran cast.

The Peerade

Plans are also going ahead for yet another Junior Week event, the Peerade, which will be presented on the afternoon of the play, taking the form of a massive advertisement of

(Continued on page 4)

STUDENT REPORTERS SHOW HOW IT'S DONE

Two Vermont students went forth last week into the realms of big business and high authority to seek enlightenment concerning the unemployment situation that has so powerfully gripped the fair city of Burlington and the neighboring community, Winooski. The results of this search were to appear in the students' edition of the Burlington Daily News, of which Mr. Crockett's class in journalism took charge for one day yesterday.

Indeed, could there have been a worthier idea than to inform the people of the twin cities of the sorry plight in which they existed? Surely, at least, it was a matter that would bear printing, because only those who are blind to the condition of the masses are not aware of the situation, and they need awakening.

But, gentle reader, to get back to the story of the two erstwhile reporters. They scoured both cities in gleaming the desired knowledge. Mayors were interviewed, and employment agencies questioned. Even Winooski's intrepid police chief went through the mill.

At last they approached their final place of inquiry, a prominent, and at one time, prosperous factory. They knocked courteously on the door of an office, which was opened by a rough

(Continued on page 4)

Students Fail To Vote On Expulsion, Demand Poll

Mass Meeting Furnishes Fireworks for Four Hundred Students Who Hear Cynic Policy Attacked and Defended from All Sides in Most Dramatic Session Last Night

DEAR BRUTUS WILL GO TO VERGENNES FRIDAY

Cast That Presented Fall Play Will Repeat Production in Third Performance

The same cast which appeared in the production of "Dear Brutus" here December 12 of last year, and which recently brought the play to Rutland, will repeat its performance in the Town Theatre at Vergennes next Friday evening. The presentation is being sponsored by the D. A. R. society of that town. Prof. J. T. Metcalf, who is managing all University dramatic productions plans to go to Vergennes sometime this week with the business manager and the property manager to make all final arrangements.

The cast of "Dear Brutus" includes: Lot, Robert Jenks; Conde, Sam Barker; Prudie, Harvey Butterfield. Dearth, Herrick Macomber; Matey, Robert Aiken; Mrs. Conde, Doris Kibbe; Mabel Prudie, Margaret Martin; Alice Dearth, Kathryn Raub; Joanna Traub, Annette Rosenberg; Lady Caroline Laney, Beverly House holder; and Margaret, Isabel Holmes.

TRYOUTS IN ORATORY CONTEST ATTRACT TEN FROM LOWER CLASSES

Freshmen And Sophomores Prepare For Kingsley Prize Speaking Trials Tomorrow

With three more entered in the Kingsley Prize Speaking Contest, the six freshmen and four sophomores who now compose the list of aspiring orators will participate in a series of tryouts tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel.

The latest entrants include two freshmen and a prize-winner of last year. Nathan Spiller and Theodore Taylor, both '33, and Robert Jenks, '32. The others who will speak tomorrow are Samuel Barker, '32, James Biglow, '33, Russell Colburn, '33, Peardon Donaghy, '33, Donald Frazier, '32, William MacDonald, '33, and Alfred Morin, '32. It is not yet known what speeches the orators will use. The number of survivors is expected to be between six and eight.

Of the newcomers, Jenks took second prize in the contest last year with an excellent rendition of the "Message to Garcia." Although only a sophomore, he has figured prominently, not only in oratory, but also in music and dramatics. He is a member of Wig and Buskin, having played both in last year's Junior Week play and in this year's fall play, and recently appeared in the comic opera "Trial by Jury." He is leader in the orchestra, plays in the band, and sings in the Glee Club and choir. Jenks is a contributing editor on the Cynic staff.

Spiller, who gained his first prizes in oratory at Spaulding High of Barre, was on the freshman debating squad earlier this year, as was Taylor, who gained his debating and oratorical experience at William Hall High School of West Hartford, Conn. Both are assistant editors on the Cynic.

STUDENT UNION NAMES EDITOR TO HANDBOOK

Lucy W. Hope, '32, was elected to take charge of the Student Union section of the Women's Handbook at a Union meeting last Tuesday.

A new rule providing for compulsory attendance at meeting was adopted at this time.

DEBATE CENTERS ABOUT FOUNDER'S DAY ISSUE

Fireworks aplenty were furnished the four hundred who listened to charge and counter-charge, mingled with boos and applause, at the student mass meeting in the gymnasium last night. Challenge and reply followed each other in rapid succession as students rose alternately to attack and defend the policy of the Cynic, for the consideration of which Student Senate and Student Union called the meeting yesterday morning. The upshot of the meeting was to provide for a student poll on the present policy of the Cynic.

The party opened with a motion by James Puffer, outgoing Boulder man, to "reorganize" the Cynic board, two former editors, Robert Tracy and Lawrence Clayton, acting with Prof. Leon Dean as faculty adviser, to oust any member of the board whose continuance they did not countenance. Then, as Puffer declared that the Cynic had "ceased to foster" the highest ideals of the University, cheers and boos split things apart with a vengeance and thereafter Alfred Sirois, who served as chairman of the evening, had his hands full attempting to maintain even a semblance of order during the short intermissions between the speeches that followed.

Janice Goodrich, speaking as president of Pan Hellenic and as editor of the Winnowings, took up the cudgels in behalf of the Cynic in a manner that left no doubt as to her opinions of fraternity politics. Addressing "this great big fraternity meeting," she insisted that the revelations made in the Founder's Day issue of the Cynic denouncing the mode of election to the honor societies had fomented the rage of certain fraternity groups to the point of calling the mass meeting. Speaking as a sorority woman, she described campus politics as a dirty mess. Referring to the effects of the Cynic report on the Founder's Day elections, she remarked that "nothing hurts like the truth." Miss Goodrich's speech was easily the most effective of the evening. She held the attention of her audience throughout and her arguments, without doubt, served to turn the tide which finally resulted in an almost tie vote on the issue at stake.

Puffer retaliated, and, after him, two prominent co-eds took the floor in defence of the Cynic.

Lisman on the Mat

All eyes turned to the galley when, as matters took a heated turn, Louis Lisman, Editor-in-Chief of the Cynic, addressed the chairman from his seat there to speak on his own behalf. It was one of the most dramatic moments in the tensest night known to student history at the University of Vermont. Twice again he spoke: Once, at the request of Henry Powell, former editor of the Ariel, to defend the policies of of the Cynic, and, later, to reply to a series of accusations from all parts of the hall.

The issue threatened to become personal when one student asserted that Lisman had done more for Vermont than any other student in the University, and another, an incoming Boulder man, called him "a dirty debater." A fraternity brother apologized for this outburst and the debate waxed hotter and hotter as replies began to take the place of new charges, Janice Goodrich continuing to lead the fight for the Cynic, leadership of the opposition shifting from Puffer to Rollin Hawley and Sirois and then back again to Puffer. Leo Segal, captain of hockey and captain-elect of football spoke straight from the shoulder for the Cynic, demanding an enunciation of the new policies which another board would put into effect. "Will the new policy be one of telling lies?" demanded Hilda Smith, women's editor of the Cynic. Upward of fifteen took part in the debate that followed, Puffer finally offering an amendment to his original motion calling for a student poll on the question originally propounded.

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

HILDA G. SMITH, '31
Women's Editor

EYMOND J. NATHANSON '30
Sports Editor

STUART S. CURRIN '31
Business Manager

Associate Editors

Prof. W. Hooper Brooks, '32

Robert L. Stewart, '30

Dramatic Editor
Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Associate Editors

F. Tupper, '32

R. W. Ryan, '33

Women's Associate Editors

Harriet Wright '31
Women's Athletic Editor

Cedric Prior '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Margaret Mower '32
Hope Ransom '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley South '31

Assistant Business Managers

G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any local notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 2691 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.

Founded in 1867. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1925.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 May 5, 1930 No. 53

IN RETROSPECT

To the courageous ones who last night ignored all fraternity ties and voted in favor of a continuance of present Cynic policy, the Cynic gives thanks. The large vote rolled up in favor of the Cynic at such a meeting, a meeting ostensibly and undeniably set "to get" the editor for treason to fraternity interests, indicates that college spirit at Vermont is far from dead, that it is still alive, fighting and kicking, and that with but a little encouragement, it will in time, come to supersede that fraternity spirit which, when infused into campus affairs, wreaks havoc with everything that is worthwhile.

More than all else, we honor Vermont, with the gentlemen who, in her name, would impeach the editor of the Cynic for seeking to remedy what he considers to be wrong in her student body, we have no quarrel. Agreeing in purpose, we differ in means. They would serve Vermont by covering up all that is wrong with her. We would serve her by shouting aloud her defects to the very housetops in the hope that they may be heard and remedied.

Fundamentally, the questions involved in last night's meeting are two. First, shall the Cynic continue to criticize where it deems criticism warranted? Second, and this is a question of practical import rather than a matter of policy, what are we to do about it if we consider Cynic policy wrong?

As to the right of criticism, the Cynic refuses to yield one jot of that. Discontent is the instrument of progress and that it always promotes the interests of humanity in the end, history can amply demonstrate. Are we, as one speaker last night asked, to sit back and say that all is right with Vermont? That our football team is the best? Our college the finest? Our activities the cleanest? The truth hurts, but how are we to know where to improve unless we know the truth of the matter, which is, where is improvement needed? On behalf of a greater and finer Vermont, on behalf of cleaner politics if nothing else, the Cynic must continue the policy of criticism where criticism is due.

The other question that arises requires a definition of the legend that the Cynic hoists on its masthead: "The official student newspaper of the University of Vermont." This does not mean that the Cynic must reflect the majority opinion of the student body of the University. No intelligent opinion can ever be formed by counting noses, else the University would have given the Cynic into the hands of the student body long ago, to elect as it pleases rather than to trust elections to the Cynic board alone. The Cynic is the official student paper of the University only in the sense that the football team is the official student team of the University, and in no other.

Actually, all Cynic control is vested in the Cynic board, a group of men and women who work day in, day out, to give the student body its paper twice a week. This control is final so far as the student body is concerned and the vote that will be taken in the student poll will be entirely of an advisory nature to the board or to the Faculty Committee on Publications.

In the name of a better Vermont, a Vermont which will yield neither to fraternity influences nor to personal prejudices, the Cynic asks a vote of confidence in this poll.

Ten Timely Topics

TARA TANTARA TEEBO

The prospect of an early settlement of the feud between the Woolworths and Grey Wyatt is as ludicrous as the prospect of a new president and a ten cent bag of peanuts. The truth of the matter may well be that neither of these institutions satisfies the needs of the public therein included. It may well be that one who is unable to write sophisticated and cynical jeu-d'ins about corporate power for the Woolworths and is unwilling to "have his work ground over by Grey Wyatt's mighty mill" may, for that reason, be the one who is able to write sophisticated and cynical jeu-d'ins about corporate power for the Woolworths and is unwilling to "have his work ground over by Grey Wyatt's mighty mill". It may, for that reason, be that those who can write and who know they can write prefer to write for them with pleasure rather than to cast their pearls before what they might term swine. It may be—we don't know.

Certainly it is widely held that the intellectual tone is very, very low on American college campuses and the opportunity afforded the wise editor is truly inestimable. Such is especially true of The American college has gone haywire and, speaking as it does, is to admit it, and Vermont is not exempted.

We suppose that any attempt to [illegible] destructive Dark constructive. It is something that cannot be helped. Necessity of string and tire tape and barrel staves would keep the dancers wonderful. One less chair going after it was ready to collapse. There is a time when it is no longer a virtue to patch up the old but when such useless timber must be resolutely cleared away to make room for the solid foundation on which any new structure must rise. Or, to use another figure, no amount of sentiment wasted on a dead apple tree brings it to fruition again. Clear it out and put in its place a stronger seedling.

The critic of art and the critic of sport have an immense advantage over us who merely attempt to criticise more general and more vital matters. Thus the sports editor can make personal comment upon the merits of the players on any team. Joseph Joseph can insist that, "Harrison Goddard gave the worst exhibition of the lot." But let the humble editor say, "This year's honor societies are not up to par", or let the even more humble colyumist remark, "X is not a good man for Boulder. Y should have been elected instead", and the wrath of the gods descends. It is a funny world, and the most pathetically peculiar part is the college campus.

Perhaps the solution lies in the fact that the athletes and musicians are supposed to receive their positions on the basis of merit, while it is deemed utterly inapropos to make such a claim for members of honor societies. They must be protected from the withering blasts of criticism.

Have you ever thought of comprehensive exams as something that is practical, and not merely a highly interesting speculation? Have you ever thought that it would place a premium on getting something out of your college course rather than on cramming and forgetting? Have you ever thought that it would be a fine thing to have at Vermont beginning with the class of 1934?

This is the time, too, to introduce a non-Latin liberal arts course—a course fitting for the teaching of history, political science, philosophy, economics, sociology, and for the diplomatic and consular service. Keep Greek in the classical course, keep Latin in the L. S. curriculum, continue the Commerce and Economics as a highly specialized course of study, but provide something to fit the man who comes between.

After conducting the daily search for the Burlington Free Press, and finding sections of it scattered from the apse to the Chapel, we wonder why the library cannot afford a binder to preserve this paper as well as the others. Certainly, it is the most thoroughly read of any periodical in the building.

Those who take their Majestic course seriously saw recently how General Pershing received an honorary degree of Doctor of Military Science. Perhaps those same people would be interested to read a statement made by this man in 1919. "It would appear the lessons of the last six years should be enough to convince everybody of the danger of the nations striding up and down armed to the teeth."

"War may be inevitable (we doubt it), but certainly it is no more inevitable than death. Yet we spent our energies in educating children how to live and not how to die; we teach them to put off death as long as possible and to live as fully as possible without fear of the ultimate end. With the same logic let us educate for peace, and banish all thoughts and preparations for war." Such was the opinion of a member of the faculty.

With the Theatre

Today

That damn thing "Dangerous Paradise" was introduced by the Majestic for presentation a number of weeks ago. Nancy Carroll does the heavy [illegible] as a member of a ladies orchestra who is rescued from the foul clutches of a hotel keeper. Thence she is transplanted to a deserted island where she finds true love. Wouldn't you know it? The producers make an elaborate bow in the direction of Joseph Conrad. It is a gesture quite superfluous because they have retained little either of spirit or idea, in this supposed version of "Victory." Nancy Carroll is one of the actresses high on my list but she is less then effective in the bit of hokum, which is pretty tough stuff.

Wednesday and Thursday

Oh, God, if there is a God, save us from motion picture musical comedies, save us from Charles King, from Bessie Love from "Chasing Rainbows" but give us more Marie Dressler. She may be low but she is at least funny, her comedy may consist of mugging and of misplacing the metaphorical custard pie but she is funny which is more than can be said of Charles King, or Bessie Love, of "Chasing Rainbows." The well-known piece "Happy Days" is from this effort. There are others but they are less popular. There is little comedy with the exception of the few scenes granted Marie Dressler. The singing is inferior and the dancing is as bad as we have come to expect from Hollywood Musical Comedy.

Friday

Now here, ladies and gentlemen, is a picture, a swell picture, a grand picture, and a beautiful picture. "Hallelujah" King Vidor's negro effort which boasts in its cast "Haynes" now appearing in Green Pastures and the cutest little "hi-yaller" to be found in these here, or any parts. The story is simple, dramatic and effective. The direction is inspired and the photography is beautiful. Hallelujah is one of the best, one of the most important pictures which this year of grace has brought to us.

Saturday

A new Philo Vance solves the next murder mystery. "The Bishop" and he does it very well. There are the expected number of murders and very clever solution which we have come to expect in S. S. Van Orne stories. Basil Rathbone is the new Vance and he is as effective as William Powell. Of course I can't tell you the story except to say that there was an old lonely house set down in New York.. where dark things happened ..... Murders and Mother Goose and a pawn from a chess game. But go see the thing. It's good.

—JOSEPH-JOSEPH

A Song for the U. V. M.

U. S. A., of thee we sing,
Land of opportunity.
Liberty and Law here bring
Gifts supreme for you and me.

Hail Vermont, we sing of thee,
State of mountains evergreen;
Home of men so strong and free—
Fair Vermont, we crown thee Queen.

Burlington, of thee we sing;
Wide thy fame for beauty rare.
Men and nature to thee bring
Of their best, "Queen City" fair.

U. V. M., we sing of thee,
Alma Mater, wise and true;
Loyal ever will we be
To the best of old and new.

—S. G. BARNES.
Essex Junction.

Intercollegiate News

Des Moines University, scene of a riot against the president last spring as the culmination of fundamentalist-modernistic argument, has been ordered sold. The University was closed last fall and the sale is necessary to satisfy a $225,000 mortgage.

At last a college has been found that votes dry in the prohibition polls that are being conducted in Universities throughout the country. The seniors at Rhode Island State voted 51-37 in favor of abstention.

The "petting patrol" has been invoked at Missouri Valley College, Marshall, Mo., Miss Myrtle Moore, dean of women. Dr. V. B. Scott, dean of men, and Dr. George H. Mack, president of the college, made a round of the campus recently and what they saw prompted them to prohibit all campus after 7.30 p.m.

A patrol will report the violators. The students say this is an infringement of their personal liberties.

Cheating at the University of Bombay, India, is one of three major crimes, the other two being refusal to marry at a father's command, or eating the flesh of the sacred cow.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

The Key and Serpent [illegible] regrets the fact that a [illegible] of our college bi-weekly [illegible] assume that the author of [illegible] munication meant [illegible] the liberty to apologize to [illegible] body of Vermont for the [illegible] incoming members of [illegible] They were chosen on the [illegible] larity, character, and ca[illegible] ments, and regardless of [illegible] printed "rot" that filled a [illegible] tion of the Cynic, they [illegible] as the leading men of the [illegible] Moreover — when inter[illegible] and Serpent pleaded for [illegible] which covers a multitude [illegible] there was no interview. A[illegible] editor abused his liberty [illegible] to print fictitious quotations.

Was the fact that a [illegible] failed to find his name [illegible] the honor societies on F[illegible] the real cause of all these [illegible] and petit complaints?

After reading disgusted[illegible] bunk" in the Cynic for the last two months, it surely does seem that [illegible] cal reform and reorganization [illegible] needed at Vermont—in the columns of the Cynic. If it has [illegible] point where a varsity debating [illegible] and a faculty advisor's vote are [illegible] prerequisites for an editorship of a college journal of the importance of a publication of the University of Vermont should have, then we welcome reform.

It is only to be expected that the statement will undoubtedly be misinterpreted by prejudiced individuals, but if they—and our editor in question—will consult any Key and Serpent man concerning doubtful points they will be cleared up—fully and gladly. This will avoid any controversy and the accompanying publicity on which such people thrive.

—KEY AND SERPENT SOCIETY

("If it hurts, deny it all" seems to be the slogan of the Key and Serpent Society. And nothing hurts like the truth.

It is particularly unfortunate that the apologists for Key and Serpent should be possessed of memories so weak that they cannot recall certain private conversations in the course of which they indicated their opinions of the quality of the incoming members of the society, incidentally making the statement alluded to in the columns of the Founder's Day issue of the Cynic.

To clear up the misunderstandings that seem to exist in the minds of the Key and Serpent Society, it should be explained that the articles concerning the inactivity of the honor societies had been written and printed before the Cynic was apprised of the results of their elections, and that the only comment on the outcome of Key and Serpent's choices was printed before the results of the elections of the other societies were known.

It is particularly presumptuous for the junior society to demand "reform" on the Cynic. We wonder what influence a faculty advisor would have in the honorary societies if he were permitted a voice in the elections. would political considerations still be the chief and determining factor in all elections? Regardless of the popularity or achievements, such as they are, of the newly-elected members of the honorary societies the fact remains that neither popularity nor activity, but only membership in the "right" fraternity, dictated their choice.

The honor societies are almost senile in their tactics. Should the editor of the Cynic be elected to an honor society and still attack the honorary then he becomes, ipso facto, a hypocrite. Should he not be elected and yet attack them, then he is merely envious. Knowing this the honor societies have always deemed themselves immune from criticism. To be startled out of their smugness in so startling a manner has proved so disconcerting that, in their panic, the honoraries can find no more rational arguments than these stock-worn remarks of the sort of logic that characterizes the honors-grabber and the [illegible].

In closing, Key and Serpent pleads for quiet, we believe these societies have good reason to ask for quiet. Rottenness never thrives in the glare of publicity. But instead of "quiet consultations" in question has arisen some politics—free elections.")

The goal posts from the Yale-Princeton game of 1925 are being used as a hatrack in the Princeton barber shop.

A fine of two dollars is imposed on every student at Tufts who fails to report to the office after his last class before a vacation and before his first class after a vacation.

Juniors at the University of Idaho awarded a prize to the man wearing the dirtiest pair of corduroy trousers to a recent dance, in order to stimulate informality at the affair.

Princeton frosh prefer a Phi Beta Kappa key to a varsity letter and would rather support the college newspaper than a football team.

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

Catamounts Break Even On Two-game Baseball Trip

Holy Cross Held for Five Innings Breaks Through to Win 8 to 1 —Green and Gold Makes 13 Hits and 7 Errors on Trip—Defense Looks Weak

VERMONTERS DEFEAT CONN. AGGIES 3 TO 2

[illegible] forth on a two-game in- [illegible] the Green and Gold baseball [illegible] with a victory and a [illegible] Holy Cross proved much too [illegible] won by the lop-sided score [illegible] to 1 although Rutkowski was [illegible] effective against the Crusaders [illegible] In the first, fifth and [illegible] Holy Cross made eight [illegible] were scoreless the rest of the [illegible] Saturday afternoon the Cata- [illegible] defeated the Connecticut [illegible] by the close score of 3 to 2. [illegible] the third victory of the season [illegible] Vermont.

In the first game Holy Cross made [illegible] straight by stepping far ahead [illegible] Green Mountain lads in a one- [illegible] battle. Evers was on the mound [illegible] the Crusaders and while he was [illegible] shaky at times, he worked well and [illegible] managed to keep the visitors from do- [illegible] any damage. He walked five but [illegible] fanned seven. In the first inning Ryan [illegible] Holy Cross in the game when he [illegible] a long homer clout that went [illegible] the middle of the football field. As [illegible] Shevlin was on base at the [illegible] by virtue of a safe hit just before Ryan, the Crusaders were out in front with two runs.

Rutkowski pitching for the Green and Gold had the Crusaders hitting off balance for several innings but in the fifth and sixth they got the range again with telling effect. In both these frames Coach Barry's men put over three runs.

In the second game of the trip played at Storrs, Conn., the Vermont- [illegible] won handily by the score of 3 to 2. In spite of a desperate rally during the last three innings of the game, the home team was unable to overcome a three-run lead which the visitors had got earlier in the contest. Two runs in the third frame and one in the sixth put the game on ice for Ver- [illegible]

INTERFRAT CONTESTS CONTINUE THIS WEEK

This afternoon on the back campus A. T. O., winners of the interfraternity baseball tournament last year, and Phi Mu Delta meet in a league game to eliminate one from further competition. This game should be close as both teams have had time to put in a good amount of practice.

The game scheduled for tomorrow between the winner of the Delta Psi and the Independents and Sigma Phi will probably not be played due to the ill feeling existing between Delta Psi and the Independents. The tie will probably be played off sometime between May 12 and May 19. Both are strong teams and the second game should be hotly contested.

Thursday, Phi Sigma Delta, by virtue of their victory over Phi Delta Theta, will take on the winner of the Kappa Epsilon Phi and Sigma Delta Tau game. Phi Sigma has a hard hitting team with Hurvitz, Albert, Segal and Silver leading the assault. All the games will commence as soon after four o'clock as possible.

TUXEDOS AT SALE PRICES

As the season nears an end we offer our entire lot of rental tuxedos at greatly reduced prices.

COAT—VEST—TROUSERS

20.00 22.50 25.00

HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

Tennis Team Has No Luck On Trip

Vermonters Lose to Boston University and Worcester Tech, 8 to 1 and 5 to 1 Respectively, But Tie With Clark

Returning from a three-day trip, the Green and Gold tennis team has a record of a tie and two defeats. Boston University and Worcester Polytech were the conquerors while Clark University was tied 3 to 3.

Thursday afternoon Boston University varsity tennis team at the University courts, Nickerson Field, Weston, Mass., defeated the netmen from the University of Vermont by the rather sweeping score of 8 to 1. Winning all six singles matches, the Terriers barely missed out on a clean sweep, when they dropped the last doubles match. The summary:

Singles: Tupper (V) lost to Andrews (BU), 6-4, 6-3; Smith (BU) defeated Borkland (V), 6-1, 7-5; Danforth (BU) defeated Palmer (V), 6-1, 6-2; Cornish (BU) defeated Pouch (V), 6-2, 6-3; Whitmore (BU) defeated Woodward (V), 6-3, 5-7, 6-1, and Bannister (BU) defeated Holbrook (V), 6-0, 6-1.

Doubles: Cornish and Danforth (BU) defeated Tupper and Pouch (V), 6-2, 6-1; Diskul and Hudson (BU) defeated Borkland and Palmer (V), 6-4, 6-4, and Woodrow and Holbrook (V) defeated Ohrns and Merritt (BU), 6-3, 6-2.

The next day Vermont's tennis team was routed by the Worcester Tech netsters 5 to 1. Borkland and Palmer of Vermont defeated Corsini and Wilson in second doubles set to give the Cats their only victory. The summary:

Singles: R. Corsini (W) defeated Tupper (V), 6-1, 7-5; U. Corsini (W) defeated Palmer (V), 3-6, 6-2, 8-6; Wilson (W.) defeated Pouch (V), 7-5, 6-2.

Doubles: R. Corsini and Collins (W) defeated Tupper and Pouch (V), 8-6, 6-2; Borkland and Palmer (V) defeated U. Corsini and Wilson (W) 8-6, 9-11, 6-4.

Saturday afternoon the Catamounts tied Clark University 3 to 3. In the singles Vermont won one match when Tupper (V) defeated Turbeville (C), 4-6, 7-5, 6-3. In the doubles the Vermonters took over two of the three matches to tie the contest.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

AMHERST OUTPOINTS VERMONT ON TRACK

Green and Gold Track Men Overwhelmed in First Meet of Season 102½ Points to 32½

OPPONENTS CAPTURE 12 OF 15 EVENTS IN MEET

Saturday afternoon the Amherst track team easily outpointed Vermont in a meet at Amherst by the record of 102⅝ to 32½. This was the first meet of the season for the Catamounts and may account in part for the weak opposition they offered. The Jeffmen had little difficulty with the visitors winning 12 of the 15 events and sweeping all places in the 120-yard high hurdles and 440-yard dash. Park won the discus and hammer throw for Vermont, while Franchesi took first place in the high jump.

Shot put: Won by Aplington (A), second, Park (V); third Greenough (A). Distance: 40 ft., ½ in.

Pole vault: Won by Morgan (A); second, Hall (A); tied for third between Routh (A) and Swain (V). Height: 10 ft., 2 in.

Discus: Won by Park (V); second, Routh (A); third, Aplington (A). Distance 114 ft., 5 in.

High jump: Won by Franchesi (V); second, Drake (A); tie for third between McLean (A) and Nash (A). Height: 5 ft., 5 in.

One hundred twenty-yard high hurdles: Won by Felt (A); second, Routh (A); third, Homer (A). Time: 16⅘ sec.

One hundred yard dash: Won by Townsend (A); second, Felt (A); third, Bond (V). Time: 10⅗ sec.

One-mile run: Tie for first between Jardine (A) and Norris (A); third, Hadley (V). Time 4 min., 58 sec.

Four hundred forty-yard dash: Won by Robinson (A); second, Keith (A); third, Neale (A). Time 54⅘ sec.

Javelin: Won by Davenport (A); second, Phillips (V); third, Post (A). Distance: 153 ft., 3 in.

Broad jump: Won by Drake (A); second, Child (V); tie for third between Routh (A) and Redfern (A). Distance: 21 ft., 1 in.

Two-mile run: Won by Snyder (A); second, Wilder (V); third, Wells (A). Time: 10 min. 41⅗ sec.

Eight hundred eighty-yard dash: Won by Keith (A); second McGeorge (A); third, Flagg (V). Time: 2 min., 4 sec.

Hammer throw: Won by Park (V); second, Aplington (A); third, Kirk (A). Distance: 125 ft., 1 in.

Two hundred twenty-yard low hurdles: Won by Felt (A); second, Nash (A); third, Billings (V). Time: 26 sec.

Two hundred twenty-yard dash: Won by Neale (A); second, Norris (A); third, Bond (V). Time 22⅘ sec.

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

* * *

Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

TENNIS TEAM TACKLES ST. MICHAEL'S THURSDAY

Thursday afternoon the Vermont varsity tennis team will meet St. Michael's at Winooski. Little is known of the St. Michael's team as yet but the varsity expects a hard game as St. Michael's has usually proved strong. After the trip through Massachusetts the Vermonters will be in good shape for the state title battles. The team will probably consist of those who made the southern trip, namely Captain Borkland, Goddard, Pouch and Tupper.

Jayvees Defeat Norwich 9 to 5

Errors Made by Cadet Junior Varsity Help Vermont to Win Although Hits Are About Equal

In the season's first game the Vermont Junior varsity baseball nine defeated the Norwich Jayvees 9 to 5 on Sabine Field Thursday afternoon. Although the Cadets made eight hits to nine for Vermont, their fielding was poor. Vermont made only two errors but their opponents had nine miscues chalked up against them.

VERMONT JUNIOR VARSITY

	ab	r	bh	po	a
Schurman, 3b.	5	0	1	0	3
Macomber, s.s.	5	3	0	3	3
Heaton, r.f.	5	1	0	0	0
Bussey, c.f.	4	4	3	3	0
Collins, 2b.	4	0	1	5	3
Levy, l.f.	4	1	1	0	0
Louden, 1b.	4	0	1	11	0
Towne, c.	4	0	0	5	2
Benway, p.	4	0	2	0	4
Totals	39	9	9	27	15

NORWICH JAYVEE

	ab	r	bh	po	a
Montagano, 3b.	4	0	0	4	3
Stevens, s.s.	4	1	0	2	1
Gamsby, 1b.	5	1	2	6	1
Youngerman, 3b.	5	1	1	1	1
Mulvanity, c.f.	3	1	1	3	0
Martin, l.f.	4	1	1	1	1
Carter, r.f.	4	0	2	1	0
Duncan, c.	4	0	1	7	1
McKeller, p.	1	0	0	2	2
Totals	34	5	8	27	10

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9—R
Vermont	0	1	0	0	0	2	0	3	3—9
Norwich	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	4	0—5

There will be a meeting of Bluestockings Monday, May 12, at 4.00 p.m. at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. All members are requested to be present.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX BLUE SUITS

with 1 extra pair of white flannel pants.

$30.00

PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

CATAMOUNTS READY FOR BLACK PANTHER

First State Title Game Is Thursday at Middlebury—Vermont Has Advantage of More Outdoor Practice

MIDD EXPECTED TO HAVE STRONG TEAM THIS YEAR

With the Holy Cross and Connecticut Aggies game past, Coach Larry Gardener will be pointing his chargers for their first State tilt, which comes Thursday afternoon at Middlebury with the Black Panthers as opponents.

On their first trip of the year the Panthers won one game and lost two. Their initial contest was with Williams at Williamstown and resulted in a five inning 5-1 victory, while the remaining two scheduled with Mass. Aggies and Springfield were dropped by scores of 7-5 and 7-6 respectively. Coach Hessler has been handicapped to a great extent by a late season, wet grounds and cold weather so that there was less than two weeks of practise on the diamond before taking the trip.

"Bob" Cook, last year's star hurler, is captain of the Blue and White nine this year and with the veterans Spoomer and McDermott form the nucleus of the pitching staff, although Ashdown and Rovengno may be given a chance to show their wares in some of the less important games.

Hartrey, a freshman, received for the pitching in the three games on the trip and his work was of exceptionally high calibre. The infield which included two freshmen did not function very smoothly but with more practice and experience shoved round into shape.

The outfield composed of the veterans Humeston, Olson and Hasseltine are going strong and showed rank high among the college outfields in this section of the country.

The game Thursday will be a real test for Coach Gardner's men and a tight battle is expected. The Vermont pitching staff has been improving, although still containing members on the injured list. If, however, the Catamounts can start hitting, the coach will not have to worry about his pitchers.

School of Nursing of Yale University

A Profession for the College Woman

Interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.

The twenty-eight months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method, leads to the degree of
BACHELOR OF NURSING.

Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.

The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.

For catalog and information address:
The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN : CONNECTICUT

SENIOR CAPS and GOWNS

at the

Medical Book Store

RATES

$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26

Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

That Graduation Present

THE NEWEST MODELS IN THE BETTER KNOWN MAKES OF WATCHES SUCH AS

HAMILTON, BULOVA, ELGIN AND GRUEN

Many other choice gifts are here also all up-to-the-Preston Standard of Quality.

F. J. Preston & Son
Jewellers
17 Upper Church St.

ORATORS FIND NO SURE-FIRE SPEECH

[illegible] speaking contest [illegible] the winning speech has yet to be found [illegible] have discovered that no one type of oration has been particularly effective as a prize winner, although speeches of reasoned patriotism [illegible] on the list of winning orations of past contests.

Recent Winners

[illegible] Woodrow Wilson received first prize for his oration "The Character of Washington" [illegible] Roosevelt's "The Strenuous Life" [illegible] Charles Sumner's "The True Grandeur of Nations" [illegible] Robert G. Ingersoll's "Address at the Washington Disarmament Conference" [illegible] "The Prize Speech" written by Senator Borah and third prize by Senator Wilson. [illegible] Chauncey M. Depew's "Address at the Washington Disarmament Conference" [illegible] third place.

[illegible] Dartmouth Manuscript received first prize for Burdette's "Address at the Washington Disarmament Conference" [illegible] Theodore Roosevelt's "The Man on the Firing Line," delivered in Carnegie Hall, took second prize.

[illegible] Knox won first place in the 1909 contest with "What Jefferson Would Say to Woodrow Wilson." [illegible] won second place with an address by Charles Sumner. [illegible] Parker '11 gave a characterization of a [illegible] taken from Macaulay's works. [illegible] won first prize with "Edwin Markham Roberts, Country-wide Friend—By Whom?" [illegible] won first prize. H. M. Jepson '10 received second prize with "A Message to Garcia" from Elbert Hubbard's collection. L. Ide Hall '11 gave Bossuet's "Address at the Washington Disarmament Conference" [illegible] third place.

Prizes of twenty-five dollars, fifteen dollars and ten dollars are granted to three students of the sophomore and freshman classes for the best declamation in each of two prizes. The length of the oration for the two prizes should not exceed five minutes, while the people should average from eight to twelve minutes.

The prizes have been awarded by Darwin P. Kingsley since 1898, when he renewed the endowment for the former Forest Prize Speaking Contests. Mr. Kingsley in his student days took the first prize in the first contest for the Forest prizes in 1848.

Co-ed Notes

The following women were at Proctor the house and were Florence M. Whitcomb '30 hostess, Helen L. Peabody '31 assistant hostess, Ruth H. Sma[illegible] '31 cook, Hattie I. Johnston '31 household manager, Katherine B. Skinner, '32, waitress, Pearle M. Canavan, '33, freshman member.

NO TROUBLE HERE

The fate of compulsory chapels. Their "to be or not to be"—still remains unanswered in many colleges. In other schools reforms of the present system are being suggested and tried.

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York

CO-EDUCATIONAL

CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE

TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION

Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar

TOPCOATS
and
SUITS
$25. to $50.

ATHLETIC UNDERWEAR

SPORT SWEATERS

KNICKERS

FLANNEL COATS

SPORT TROUSERS

MILES & PERRY CO.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1900

STUDENT REPORTERS SHOW HOW IT'S DONE

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] gentleman who sharply demanded what their business was.

"We are [illegible] News reporters," said one of the students, "and we would like to see the manager."

He took this announcement shop-[illegible] but consented to see whether or not the manager desired to be interviewed.

A few Our students were not only in doubt as to the probable outcome of their undertaking, but they were left standing outside of the office and it was starting to rain.

The very polite gentleman who had told them 'no' in the rain soon returned and announced that the manager would not see them unless he knew the nature of their call.

"If you don't state your business, you can't see him," was the announcement.

"We are students at the University of Vermont," said the other of the two, "and our class in journalism is writing the Burlington Daily News next Monday. We are merely attempting to get a story on the unemployment situation in Burlington and Winooski."

The words were repeated fairly accurately and again the patient reporters were left out in the rain. They looked at each other with a growing impression that no story would be forthcoming.

In about three minutes an elderly gentleman appeared in the doorway. He had the aspect of a school master who was about to chastise two little boys for misbehaving.

"We don't give out information at this office," he declared in a tone of voice that was hardly patronizing. "All information must come from the main office, which is located in Massachusetts."

"We were inquiring around, and have acquired quite a bit on the subject, and thought—?" spoke up one of the not-to-be-denied go-getters but with a great big question mark in his voice.

"You thought wrong," was the abrupt reply. "We can't give you any information at all." And with this final ultimatum he turned to go.

"Suppose," chimed in the other personification of persistence, "just suppose we say that you refuse to give us any information."

Immediately the man turned about, and it was his turn to be startled.

"Oh no! you mustn't do that!" he exclaimed. "Just leave our name out of this matter entirely. Don't mention this firm at all, because it will simply get us fellows up here into a peck of trouble." Again he turned abruptly into the office, and said, "And furthermore I advise you to discontinue your investigations into this situation."

The two students gazed at each other with broad grins on their faces, and no one knows which one said, "We won't write or mention a thing. Not much!"

W. A. A. WILL HOLD HIGH SCHOOL PLAYDAY HERE

W. A. A. in conjunction with Burlington High School, will welcome representatives of the high schools of neighboring towns at a play day in Burlington, May 10.

Such play days are being featured all over the country in an attempt to have sports for sport's sake" rather than for competition.

W. A. A. has participated in three previous college playdays, one at Middlebury, one at St. Lawrence and one at Vermont at which Middlebury and St. Lawrence were guests. The playday for the high schools will be conducted similarly to these. About twenty college girls will assist with the games.

Middlebury conducted a playday last week for the high schools surrounding Middlebury.

SEAM-PLAINS

Havit Dun, the campus snoop, reported no news today. Maple Sap his Coedgitator, bounced in with an astounding question, however. "Why athletics? What I mean is, is it necemary, oh—I mean necessary?"

Havit Dun refused to answer. We couldn't answer. Then to top her insolence, she popped this one. "If our teams are rotten why have them? If we have them why pan them? Then if we don't have to have them, why have coaches and pay money and have expensive trips and, and....."

Right at this point we dragged Havit Dun away from the near corpse. Then up bounced Bunsin Rubah, "Advortising, all schools have it, student body wants it when it's good etc." Havit bounced him out and we bounced Havit out which still leaves us with the Sap's question why? Maybe you can answer it: we can't. Sometimes the Sap surprises us, spilling sappy soliquies, speedily.

VOUCHERS FOR PLAY GO ON SALE TODAY

(Continued from page 1)

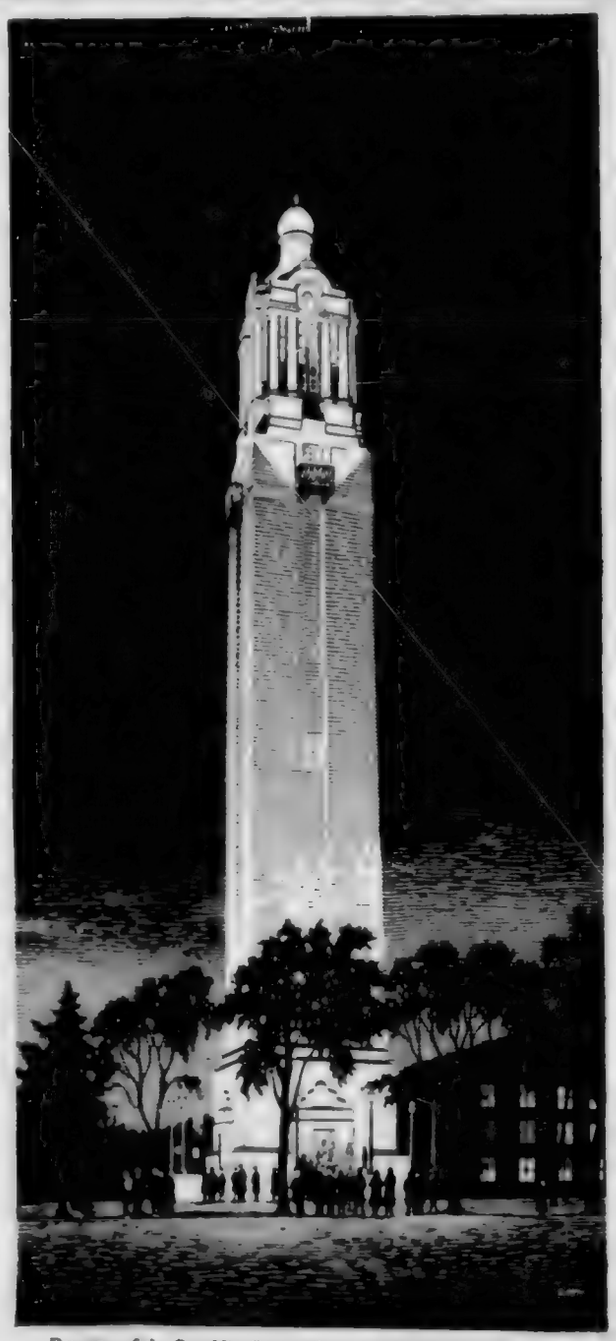
the evening's entertainment. With this event Junior Week will formally open.

The Peerade is made up of floats from the men's and women's fraternities, the Independents, and the women's dormitories. Wig and Buskin will

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

UNIVERSITY TEA SEES USUAL NUMBER PRESENT

A fair-sized group of [illegible] attended the University tea [illegible] Psi house last Sunday afternoon. [illegible] G. Dykhuizen and Mrs. [illegible] acted as hostesses. Attendance [illegible] teas, of which several have been [illegible] this season, has averaged [illegible] sixty and seventy.



The purpose of the tea[illegible] both students and faculty [illegible] is to encourage relations [illegible] of the classroom between [illegible] their professors. Last year [illegible] ing the earlier part of the [illegible] teas were held at Redstone [illegible] then, however, they have been [illegible] the different fraternity houses [illegible] first being held at the Owl house [illegible] day afternoon, March 16.

give a silver loving cup to [illegible] izations which present the best [illegible] All of the societies which [illegible] this contest should notify R[illegible] at the Delta Psi house [illegible]

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR
SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

Light is the first of painters.
— EMERSON

BUILDINGS in Which You Take Pride

Drawing of the Campanile at South Dakota State College, Brookings, S. D. Perkins and McElwyne, architects

ON THE CAMPUS, where class buildings and memorial structures are so often distinguished by their noble form, floodlighting equipment serves to prolong the enjoyment of their beauty and to enhance pride in the institution. » » Such an application is made for the new 165-foot campanile at South Dakota State—magnificent gift of an alumnus. Electrically operated chimes sound the hours and are heard in concerts. At night, shafts of light from General Electric floodlighting projectors effect a picture of superb beauty done in the school colors and white. From the air, the tower is identified by the beam from a G-E airway beacon surmounting the floodlighted dome. » » Thus, G-E equipment plays its part in promoting progress and fine appreciation. Back of every G-E product is an organization in which college-trained men are largely responsible for the planning, production, and distribution.

95-767DH

GENERAL ELECTRIC

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

Somewhere the right pipe and the right tobacco are waiting

JUST for YOU

CARRY ON, man; never say die, don't give up the ship, and all that sort of thing. Somewhere the right pipe and the right tobacco are waiting—just for you. Carry on! Find 'em!

The trick is to find both—to find, for instance, the pipe with just the shape and weight, just the balance and size and "grip" that suit you. No easy job—but it's your job, and the world is full of pipes.

The tobacco problem is easier, for we can help you there, not only with the suggestion that Edgeworth very probably is the tobacco you are looking for, but also with some Edgeworth. The Edgeworth will smoke most benignly in your tentative pipe, and it will smoke there several times. We mean every word: several good heaping pipefuls of Edgeworth, a generous package of absolutely genuine Edgeworth, all free and for nothing if you'd like to try it. Done? Then the coupon, please.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of [illegible]—selected especially for pipe-smoking [illegible] and flavor [illegible] Buy Edgeworth [illegible] where [illegible] "Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice" [illegible] et package [illegible] midor tin [illegible] Co., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

LARUS & BRO. CO.
100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.
I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll try it in a good pipe.
Name _____
Street _____
Town and State _____
Now let the Edgeworth come

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 9, 1930 NUMBER 54

BOARD BACKS EDITOR; OPPOSITION RECEDES

Vermont Takes State Title Winning Middlebury Debate

Captures Decision by 2-1 Vote of Judges—Nelson and Lisman Gaining Two Lawrence Prizes Wednesday Night

MIDDLEBURY DEBATER TAKES FIRST HONORS

For the first time since the awarding of the Lawrence prizes two years ago, both the majority of the prizes and the decision in the debate went to the same team, when Vermont, Wednesday night, took a 2-1 decision from Middlebury College in Burlington to win the state title. Nelson and Lisman at the same time taking second and third of the Edwin Winship Lawrence prizes for "proficiency" in the debate. First prize went to Reamer Kline, third Middlebury speaker.

The decision gives Vermont the state title since Norwich and St. Michael's have withdrawn. Lisman's winning a prize makes him the first man to have gained two prizes in the Vermont-Middlebury debates, as he tied with Sears last year for second and third.

The judges of the debate were Mr. Harold S. Knight, Mr. Harry L. Ford and Rev. A. Ritchie Lowe. The prizes were awarded by Judge C. P. Cowles, Mr H. B. Amey and Rev. P. J. Morris.

Advertising was the subject of contention, Vermont insisting that it is more beneficial than detrimental to society. The debate was characterized less by strong argument than by skilled presentation.

Of the prize winners, Kline presented an excellent argument by combining refutation with prepared construction. Nelson gave a carefully constructed case which utilized almost every device known to debaters, while Lisman spoke extemporaneously throughout as the only participant without a prepared case.

The speakers for Middlebury were Edward Yerovitz, Ronald Straus and Reamer Kline. The order of speakers for Vermont was Franklin Sears, Louis Lisman and George Nelson.

VERMONT FORENCISTS ANTICIPATE INTERESTING TILTS AS SEASON CLOSES

New Hampshire State Normal School will be the next opponent of the varsity debaters when Lisman, Nelson and Sears will uphold the negative side of the proposition: "Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt a plan of complete disarmament except such forces as may be needed for police protection."

And Bates

The final varsity debate will be held at Rochester the week of May 19 against Bates College on the question: Resolved, that the emergence of women from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life." This debate will be the third of a series of three forensic tilts between Vermont and Bates. The two previous debates, while each decision, were admitted won by Bates in 1928 and Vermont in 1929, respectively.

This year the Bates team is champion of the Eastern Intercollegiate League which includes Yale, Vassar, Williams, Amherst and Wesleyan. This is their first year in the league, which have replaced Harvard, which withdrew.

Bates has lost only one debate this year, and Vermont is recognized as one of the best debating colleges in the East. In this debate it is expected that several junior varsity men will be given a chance to win varsity honors.

SIX WOMEN AT HOME PRACTICE HOUSE NOW

Members of the home economics department in charge of Practice House include Florence Whitcomb, Ruth Small and Faire [illegible] assistant hostess and cook; [illegible] and Cherolyn Barber, [illegible] and Lilla Stevens, assistant.

COMMITTEES ANNOUNCE COMPLETE PROGRAM OF JUNIOR WEEK EVENTS

Peerade and Play Thursday, Game and Prom Friday, Meet Game and Dances Saturday

The Junior Week committees have announced the following program for the twenty-fifth annual Junior Week at the University. On Thursday, May 15, at 4.00 p.m., the opening event, the Peerade, will take place. The floats entered by the various fraternities, dormitories and individuals, will follow the same line of procession as last year: Down Main Street, along Church Street, up Pearl Street to Winooski Avenue, down Cherry Street to Church Street and up College Street to the starting place. Last year the Wig and Buskin cup for the best men's fraternity stunt was won by Kappa Sigma. Robinson Hall was awarded the cup for the best women's float and Richard H. Curtis, '29, repeated his 1928 success by winning the individual award.

"Holiday" Thursday

Thursday evening at 8.00 p.m. the Junior Week play, "Holiday," a comedy of modern life by Arthur Barry, will be presented under the direction of Prof. J. T. Metcalf by the following cast: Edward Seton, Philip Perry, '30; Julia Seton, Beverly Householder, '30; Linda Seton, Roberta Powers, '32; Ned Seton, Sam Barker, '32; Johnny Case, Herrick Macomber, '30; Seton Cram, W. C. Perry, '33; Laura Cram, Mabel Freeman, '30; Nick Potter, Robert Aiken, '31; Susan Potter, Hope Ranslow, '32; Delia, Edith Thomas, '31; Henry, Allen O. Eaton, '32; and Charles, Paul Westin, '32.

On Friday afternoon at four, Vermont will meet St. Michael's on the diamond. Friday evening at 9.00 o'clock comes the gala event of the week, the Junior Promenade. This year's prom, long the year's outstanding social function, will close the events of May 16. Fletcher Hender-

(Continued on page 4)

CANDY SALE BEGINS AT ALL WOMEN'S DORMS

Y. W. C. A. announces the opening of their Spring Candy Sale which began Wednesday, May 7, and will continue throughout the rest of this term. There is a salesroom in each women's dormitory with the following girls in charge: Priscilla R. Perry, '33, at Slade Hall; Muriel Wheatley and Alice Fairchild, '33, at Robinson; Ethel Bishop and Ethelda Miller, '33, at Redstone; Winifred Graham, '32, at Allen House; Agnes Shaw, '31, at Rand House; Ruth Small, '31, Maynard House; and Doris Humphreys, '33, Campus House.

REV. MITCHELL SPEAKS ON THE RADIANT LIFE

"I came that they might have life, have life more abundantly," quoted the Rev. H. Sumner Mitchell of the First Unitarian Church in Burlington speaking on the subject of "The Radiant Life."

"Jesus came to stir up new dignity of life. Radiant life is an abundant, a full rich life, overflowing in zeal and enthusiasm for life itself. The radiant spirit takes away something from itself for others. We are here to serve our friends and their needs. Jesus went about doing good and rendering service to others. 'I came that they might have life,'" repeated Reverend Mitchell in closing.

J. O. PERCIVAL BECOMES GLEE CLUB MANAGER

At a business meeting of the Men's Glee Club held Tuesday evening at the music house, J. O. Percival, '31, a member of Lambda Iota Fraternity was elected business manager for the coming year.

From the class of 1932 three assistant managers were elected. They are A. A. Scharbius, P. E. Westin, and R. S. Jenks, all members of Delta Psi Fraternity. M. B. Jenks, '30, the retiring manager, is also a Delta Psi.

JUDGES PICK EIGHT AS PRIZE SPEAKERS

Four Sophomores and Four Freshmen are Chosen to Compete for the Kingsley Awards

COMPETITORS PRESENT THE USUAL SPEECHES

Competition narrowed down the number of entrants to eight when four sophomores and four freshmen were chosen to present speeches at the Kingsley prize speaking contest. The try-outs were held at the Old Mill Chapel Wednesday at 4.00 p.m.

The men are: Sophomores, Alfred Morin of Craftsbury, Robert Jenks of Burlington, Donald Frazier of Burlington, and Sam Barker of Montclair, N. J.; freshmen, R. Peardon Donoghy of Northfield, Russell Colburn of Burlington, W. G. MacDonald of Wilmington, and J. E. Bigelow of Fair Haven.

Professors Hall, Meredith and Kidder acted as judges in picking the speakers. Each man spoke for from four to five minutes.

In accordance with a pre-arranged plan, the finals will have four men from each of the lower classes. Inasmuch as only four sophomores presented themselves for try-outs, they were not required to speak, and were automatically selected.

From the six freshmen trying out four were selected. The first of these to speak, Russell Colburn, gave the oft-spoken but always acceptable Gettysburg Address of Abraham Lincoln.

J. E. Bigelow followed Colburn. He presented the "Speech on the Irish Disturbance Bill," by Daniel O'Connell. The speech though not often given made a favorable impression.

R. P. P. Donoghy was the next speaker. "The Constitution and the Heroes Who Drafted it" was his subject. This was an original composition which Donoghy used in high school last year.

The fourth speaker chosen was W. G. MacDonald, who gave Briand's speech before the Washington Arms Conference in 1920. This has already

(Continued on page 4)

ESSEX JUNCTION GIRL RECEIVES SCHOLARSHIP

Helen Crandall, '33, Awarded The Russell Miller Company 4H Scholarship of $200

Award of the Russell Miller Company 4-H scholarship of $200 to Helen Crandall, '33, of Essex Junction was announced by Extension Service on Monday, May 5.

The scholarship is given by the company each year to a former 4-H Club girl, selected by the Extension Service leaders, who is a student in the home economics department.

Miss Crandall was a member of the Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club of Essex Junction for five years. She has been county canning champion and has been chosen for a team to give food demonstrations at Camp Vail.

NOTICE!

All organizations which intend to enter floats in the Junior Week Peerade must draw for places this afternoon at four o'clock in the Old Mill Chapel.

Editors Vote Confidence And Poll Is Called Off

Faculty Committee Disavows Endorsement of Cynic Policies After Hearing of Both Factions But Refuses to Take Radical Action

HUGH O. HART TO GIVE JUNE COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS AT VERMONT

Arkansas Claims This Year's Orator; Speaker is Vice-president of Penn. Mutal

Hugh D. Hart, native of Arkansas who three years ago at the age of 38 was made vice-president of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, will be the Commencement speaker at the University of Vermont next month, according to an announcement by Pres. Guy W. Bailey.

Mr. Hart was born in Arkadelphia, Ark., October 21, 1889, and attended Henderson Brown College in that city, winning an entrance scholarship for excellence in his high school course, and a Latin scholarship. He was graduated with the A. B. degree in 1908.

Studies Law

On graduation he entered life insurance work in his home town, and later in Little Rock, Ark., where at night he studied law in the University of Arkansas. He received his LL.B. degree and was admitted to the Arkansas bar.

He continued in the insurance business in Little Rock, becoming the Aetna Life Insurance Company's general agent, as junior partner in an agency for Arkansas and Southeastern Missouri. He also took part in many community and state activities and was chairman of the State Committee of Charities and Corrections.

In September, 1924, Mr. Hart organized a general agency in New York City and three years later, in May, 1927, was made vice-president of the Penn Mutual Company of Philadelphia and placed in charge of its agency organization.

He is the author of "Life Insurance as a Life Work," published in 1926, and has been a speaker on life insurance subjects at a number of underwriters' meetings. Among his addresses recently have been: "Serving the Nation through Efficient Life In-

(Continued on page 4)

LIBRARIAN GIVES ADVICE ABOUT RESERVED BOOKS

A Warning regarding the loaning of reserved books at night is made by the librarian at the Billings library. These books are taken out with the understanding that they are to be brought back at 8.30 the following morning. Failure to do so causes much trouble to the library staff. Books taken out Saturday night are due at 2 Sunday afternoon. The fine on reserved books is 10 cents the first hour and 2 cents each additional hour.

CLASSIC SOCIETY HEARS REPORT OF CONVENTION

At the regular meeting of Eta Sigma Phi held Tuesday evening, May 6, in 34 South College, Charles Knapp, '31, gave a report of the annual national convention which was held May 2 and 3 in Philadelphia. At the convention Mr. Knapp was elected "Pyloras," national sergeant-at-arms.

Dorothy Nash, '31, spoke on "Greek Language and Greek Literature" and Lucy Hope, '32, on "Americanism and Hellenism." Prof. J. E. Pooley gave an interesting talk on one of the satires of Horace.

The debating team of Yale University will embark on a forensic tour of South America, under the sponsorship of the Carnegie Endowment for International peace.

THREE-DAY INCIDENT COMES TO FINAL CLOSE

FINAL DEVELOPMENTS

A majority of the Cynic Board Tuesday afternoon expressed confidence in the editor of the Cynic and his policies. The action was taken the day after the mass meeting, at which an opposition group had attempted to oust the present editorial board.

Authoritative rumors spreading about the campus Tuesday, and increasing in force Wednesday, indicated that the opposition would take no steps to hold the student poll proposed at the mass meeting Monday night. It also became known that leaders of this faction would no longer insist on their original demand that an extraordinary committee be substituted for the present editorial leadership. It also became known that the Faculty Committee on Publications had been asked to intervene in the dispute.

After a hearing of both sides, the Faculty Committee Wednesday evening adopted the following resolution:

Recognizing the need of independence in the editorship of the Cynic and the desirability of minimizing the evils of fraternity politics, nevertheless the Committee on University Publications cannot approve all the methods pursued of late in the management of the Cynic. We suggest that the faculty adviser shall be consulted by the editor in regard to matters likely to be controversial and that his advice be followed. The Committee believes that at the present time no further action needs to be taken."

The Committee also recommended that all letters published in the Cynic appear over the name of the author.

The decision of the Cynic Board, in which 18 voted "confidence" and three "no confidence," to support all present policies of the editor, was taken by the board as a reply to the attempt of a certain faction in the mass meeting to force the resignation of the editor. Voting was by secret ballot, with 16 necessary for a majority. An official canvass of the board, taken later in the day, showed 23 out of the 30 members of the board behind the present editor.

That the opposition is not entirely at rest is indicated by a last-minute letter to the editor on behalf of "The Committee of Protest," ridiculing Janice Goodrich and demanding proof of the editor's statements at the mass meeting to the point of revealing the names of Cynic interviewers. The letter closed:

"We want fairness in all things.

"We want just, constructive criticism.

"We want honesty above all."

COMPANY D NOW LEADS IN LEGION TROPHY RACE

Company D of the University R. O. T. C. Battalion is leading the other three companies by a small margin in the efficiency competition for the Burlington Post, No. 2, American Legion cup. Company D has an average of 94.5 percent; Company A has 94.07 percent; Company C, 92.92 percent; and Company B, 92.85 percent. Company D swelled its average by leading on the inspection of Friday, May 2. Its percentage then was 96 as compared to 93 for Company A, 92.5 for Company C, and 92 for Company B.

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

LOUIS JAMESON, '31
Editor-in-Chief

GEORGE R. BRUSH, '31
GEORGE B. NELSON, '31
Managing Editors

HILDA S. SMITH, '31
Women's Editor

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '31
Sports Editor

STUART S. CORBIN, '31
Business Manager

News Editors
Raymond W. Cobb, '32 — Allen O. Eaton, '32 — Fred W. Householder, '32

Feature Editors
J. C. Carter, '32 — Edmund A. Cormack, '32 — Robert L. Stewart, '32

Intercollegiate Editor, Charles M. Crockett, '31 — Contributing Editor, H. S. Jones, '30 — Dramatic Editor, Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Associate Editors
F. D. Berger, '31
J. E. Peaslee, '30
D. D. Price, '30
A. Katz, '30
C. J. Kilburn, '30
H. J. Shaw, '30
J. C. Shaw, '30
B. M. Speller, '31
T. J. Tarrow, '31
C. H. Wermelle, '30

Associate Sports Editor
Leonard M. Foster, '31

Associate Sports Editors
J. S. Lacia, '32 — A. A. Monsion, '32 — F. Tupper, '32
J. H. Powell, '31 — S. Pritzker, '32 — R. W. Ryan, '32

Women's Associate Editor
Dorothy Rose, '31

Harriet Wright, '31, Women's Athletic Editor — Gladys Prose, '31, Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Mildred Gile, '32 — Rosetta Harlowe, '32 — Margaret Mower, '32
Rose LaRocca, '32 — Margaret Ann Martin, '32 — Hope Ranshire, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
R. C. Hurlburt, '32 — E. E. Tracy, '32 — G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscriptions price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 3091 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. Printing is 1307. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing to postage outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 69 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — May 9, 1930 — No. 54

ALL QUIET

Now that the firing is over and even the shouting has died away, the vast crust of words overlying the issues at stake begins to crumble away and the facts of the late controversy now become apparent. They are these:

1. The mass meeting called for Monday night was actuated, not by groups of students anxious to uphold the ideals of the University but by certain disgruntled political groups, eager to avenge themselves on an editor who had revealed too much.

2. The groups which called the meeting were convinced that a majority vote of the students present could remove the editorial board of the Cynic. To accomplish their ends they resorted to the very methods which the Cynic had been attacking, summoning a secret meeting of interested fraternities to make all advance "arrangements," calling the meeting at extremely short notice without announcing its purposes, and seeking to organize fraternity groups in favor of a measure whose radicalism they themselves probably did not realize.

3. The truth of the matter is that only the Cynic board and the Faculty Committee on Publications have a direct exercise of power over the policies of the Cynic. A student vote would have led to no decision either way.

4. The Cynic board, both before and since the meeting, has ratified the policies of the Cynic. The board is more definitely behind the editor now than ever before, and the vote of confidence granted him this week is the first ever given a Cynic editor by his board. The Faculty Committee, although it has affirmed its opposition to the evils of fraternity politics, does not stand behind the editor of the Cynic so far as those of his policies which have excited controversy are concerned, nor has it given any general endorsement to the Cynic in the past.

5. The men's honorary societies, although offered the opportunity to do so, refuse to offer proof that fraternity connections were not the basis of choice in the last elections. They have hidden behind extraneous issues which have no connection with their recent elections or with the charge of inactivity on their part. The Cynic's statements concerning them have not been disproved, nor is there any indication that they will be.

6. Mortar Board, whose elections were criticized in the Founder's Day number, was required to yield to the exigencies of scholastic requirements which narrowed its field of choice. That fraternity influences had a hand in determining its choices is altogether likely but the Cynic, unless it receives other controverting information, withdraws its charges against this society.

7. The Faculty Committee will hereafter keep closer touch with the Cynic through the medium of its faculty adviser. Although this by no means implies a censorship, not yet a direct exercise of power by the committee, nevertheless it may not be so difficult in the future to show the committee's approval of Cynic policies.

Thus closes an incident which, in the memory of the students of the University, is certainly the most dramatic that has occurred during their college careers or is likely to occur. The Cynic's opposition to fraternity politics, which has borne fruit on the Cynic board itself, on the Winnowings, and now in the freshman class will certainly not abate and its shady transactions need expect to escape the eye of the board. Mass meetings, we expect, will now cease to disturb the student body for many more years, which is a pity, for they might be directed to laudatory ends.

The action of the Faculty Committee in requiring all communications appearing in the Cynic hereafter to be signed is particularly welcome to the board. The editor has long suspected that the letters occasionally received attacking Cynic policy, originated in certain quarters personally affected by the results of the last Cynic elections or in those groups which have profited by campus politics in the past. In addition, the editor will refuse to print any letters indulging in personalities.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

An editorial in your columns some weeks ago suggested a textbook in college politics, we may hope that the future editor of such a momentous work was present at Monday's mass meeting. He would have had a chance to observe at first hand the things of which he read.

The Cynic has done something unusual. It has taken a definite stand on certain questions. More than that, it has even more certain questions, something which no Cynic within the writer's memory, has ever attempted to do. After having seen six boards, in turn, handle the Cynic and after being a minor member of one of these boards, I can say that the present paper is not only the best which the college has put out during these years, but it is the only paper which ever made the student body do any thinking. From a follower the Cynic has become a leader.

The results might be predicted. College politics and graft rings are not unlike politics and rings elsewhere. Let their sway be questioned and they are in arms at once. Just as you find the situation in national politics, from Pennsylvania and Chicago down, so I must confess, you find it at Vermont. In every case the split, when the matter comes to a test, is between the honest intelligent, courageous public leaders and the office holders who may be characterized in somewhat different terms.

Just this split exists at Vermont. Behind the editor of the Cynic are ranged such campus leaders as Janice Goodrich, editor of the Winnowings and president of Panhellenic; Robert Lee Stewart, president of Grey Friars and of the International Relations Club, and vice-president of the Christian Association Cabinet; Hilda Smith, woman's editor of the Cynic; Leo Segal, ex-captain of hockey, and captain-elect of football; Priscilla Campbell, former women's editor of the Cynic, and member of the editorial staff of the Winnowings; Harrison Goddard, president of the John Dewey Club and prominent in musical circles; Roberta Powers, prominent woman debater, and Henry Powell, president of Eta Sigma Phi and manager of baseball. The opinion of such a diverse group of intellectual and popular leaders would carry weight alone; but when backed by the intelligent minds of the student group it is even more powerful.

On the other side we find arrayed the "outs"—those men who did not achieve position upon the Cynic. We find the "ins"—the present members of those honorary societies which the Cynic criticized. We find those who by the present system hope to reap ill-gotten rewards in the shape of "honors." And last, though by no means least, we find those who for one reason or another have been blowing the fires of racial hatred against a campus leader who is a Jew. The focal point of these diverse elements is the fraternity, for we find the majority of those fraternity groups which attended en masse were there to uphold the rights of their members to go after empty honors for "old Beta Chapter."

There is little doubt, to one who stops to think intelligently, as to the relative worth of the two parties. That such a motley, unwholesome crew as the opposition so evidently is, should attempt to silence the criticism of the Cynic is an index as to how much this criticism told on them—how close the few blows which were delivered struck home. It brings two points to mind. First, that any institution or system which is unable to meet intelligent criticism and stand upon its own feet is of questionable value to all concerned; second, the man who has played a good game, or fought a good fight and lost is not the man who will stoop to the mud flinging which was indulged in at Monday's meeting.

In conclusion, the meeting was one of which the Cynic should be proud. It is the only occasion in years upon which the student body has shown any active interest. If the Cynic has set out to awaken the college, it may count its efforts successful. It was an occasion, too, of which those campus leaders who dared to express their convictions in favor of intelligence, progress, and honesty, may be proud. But it remains to the everlasting shame of Vermont the University, that an outstanding leader, the man who, more than anyone else, has been directly responsible for the clarification of the issue and the formulation of a definite policy of reform should be subjected to such treatment. Public denunciation, bitter personal abuse, hooting, and all the machinations of a low-grade mob intelligence.

May I extend my congratulations and my best wishes to Mr. Lisman and to the Cynic Board, for the work which they have done in the last few months.

WILMOND W. PARKER '29

To the Editor of the Cynic:

After all the tumult and hard feeling of the mass meeting has died away it seems time to come down to actual facts and logical reasoning. The only reason I can see for calling this meeting and attempting to railroad this through is because some people's feelings have been hurt. Some people have been asleep at the switch when attention is called to the fact, instead of acknowledging their wrong, they try to put out of office the man who sees through their sham and dared to print the obvious truth about the honor societies. Just what do these honor societies accomplish? Nothing important as far as one can see. One might suppose that they were to foster good feeling among the undergraduates. Instead, we find them the cause of much hard feeling and an attempt at a student revolution. The failure of the honor societies in accomplishing their doubtful purposes is better shown in previous issues of the Cynic than I could hope to tell. The point in question is: Is the editor exceeding his rights in "riding" the honor societies? I believe not. I call to mind the case of a well known series of newspapers. In every paper the editor is impartial. When he sees a situation that needs correcting, he prints the facts with no embellishments designed to give the reader a false notion of the subject in question. He prints in the news columns facts with no personal opinions interjected. In the editorial columns he puts his own opinion. This is exactly what was done in the Founder's Day issue of the Cynic. The article on the front page has caused much controversy, for some in the mass meeting would have us believe that the item in question was personal opinion. Let me quote. The sub-head states: "Founder's Day list reveals most prominent lowerclassmen non-acceptable to Honoraries." Is this fact or the opinion of one person? Again: "Boulder blossomed out with a slate which listed the captain of but a single varsity sport, omitted the editors of the University publications, failed to include the presidents of any University organizations, and generally distinguishing itself by barring virtually every popularly elected campus head while at the same time including such as could boast long lists of appointive non-competitive honors." Fact again. Where, O where lies the expression of personal feeling? In a glance at the editorial we find it there where it properly belongs.

I congratulate the editor on his courage to print the bare facts.

The coming poll is supposed to decide whether the present editor will retain office or whether the publication of the Cynic will be taken over by past editors who will appoint new editors who in turn will disguise the fact and permit only praises of the societies and athletics on the hill. Where praise is deserved let it be given. But where criticism is deserved let us have it. With no attempt to make disparaging remarks about the past two editors I would like to ask which kind of news we had when they were in office—praise undeserved. Why should we let ourselves be fooled? This is our college, do we want disguised fact and censored news or the truth which will lead to reform and consequent benefit to the University? It amounts to censorship or freedom of the press. This nation was founded to promote freedom of speech and press. We are Americans and are jealous of our freedom. Shall we let a group of no doubt worthy and well meaning politicians keep us in the dark or do we want to continue to know the truth about proceedings that have bearing on all of us? Only by freedom of the press, meaning in this case the Cynic, can we hope to remedy the evils and wrongs which we all admit to be present on the campus. Come now, let's all go up to the polls and vote against this motion and thus continue to know the truth and help to make this a college of which to be proud.

A Student.

To the Editor of the Cynic:

I believe that, in defending my attack on the Grey Friars, completely to disregard all the personal attack in Mr. LaCrosse's letter and merely to ask him to consider these facts:

(1) The worst story which has appeared in the Winnowings [illegible] merely because of a la[illegible] was by Sam Barker, a [illegible] Friars.

(2) The worst essay [illegible] by the Winnowings was [illegible] Germain, also a [illegible] Friars.

Grey Friars have ever [illegible] tution and individually [illegible] themselves writers. Well [illegible] they written. Let them [illegible] are writers. Let them [illegible] faculty or to the students [illegible] Cynic or the Literary [illegible] work, from each and every [illegible] the organization, which [illegible] good. When a member of [illegible] department, or some other [illegible] critic, decides that the work [illegible] are far better than any [illegible] duce from among those of [illegible] body who are not member[illegible] Friars then we shall allow [illegible] Friars has a right to exist.

But perhaps that test is [illegible]. Shall we say that when [illegible] can prove that every member [illegible] some time produced at least [illegible] of work which is judged [illegible] petent critics, Grey Friars [illegible] to exist. This work must not [illegible] be criticized or corrected [illegible] submitted.

We naturally exclude from [illegible] an "A" on an English theme [illegible] petent criticism. Not [illegible] "A" doesn't mean just that [illegible] cause I can produce more [illegible] of Grey Friars who have [illegible] grade than there are existing [illegible] of the organization. We [illegible] the members of Grey Friars [illegible] petent critics and we would [illegible] if the judge was someone [illegible] nected with the University.

This test is, I believe, [illegible] Friars consider themselves [illegible]. They proclaim themselves a [illegible] society", "literary men." Let them prove it. A further disregard of the facts I present and a further [illegible] abilities will, of course, be [illegible] mere quibbling and a confession of inability to defend itself. If, however, Mr. LaCrosse can present intelligible facts to offset my facts, can produce proof that Grey Friars has ever done anything to justify its smug proclamation that it is a literary society, we will allow that Grey Friars has a justifiable right to exist and should be considered as a worthwhile part of the University of Vermont.

E. J. FITZGERALD.

Bits of Bunk

Frosh—Prof. I can't go to class today.
Prof.—Why?
Frosh—I don't feel well.
Prof.—Where don't you feel well?
Frosh—In class.

Prof.—Now tell me why you laughed aloud during study hour.
Student—I didn't mean to do it.
Prof.—You didn't mean to?
Student—No, I laughed up my sleeve and didn't know there was a hole in my elbow.

Employment Manager: I want you to find a new stenographer for my boss.
Employment Agent: What size lap please?

U. V. M. Students

SUNDAY IS MOTHER'S DAY

GIVE HER A BOX OF CHOCOLATES

We carry Schrafft's, Apollo and San-Man at reasonable prices.

Burlington Sweet Shop

Dress Up For Junior Week

White Flannels
$7.00 to $11.00

White Ducks
$2.00 to $2.50

TUXEDOS AND FURNISHINGS

HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings

"Where Vermont Men Meet"

The Old Reliable

Women's Full Fashion Silk Stockings
$1.15 pair
Regular $1.50 grade

Pure silk, service weight, every pair perfect, and [illegible] ten of the smartest shades for summer wear

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

M. A. C. ON CINDERS WITH VERMONTERS

Both Teams Have Lost Previous Meets—Vermont to be Stronger Than Last Week, With Mace In Condition and Others Primed

MACE, PARK, BOND AND WILDER ARE CAT'S HOPES

Tomorrow afternoon ushers in the [illegible] meet of the season when [illegible] and Gold meet the track [illegible] Mass Aggies on the cinders [illegible] Field. Although trounced [illegible] admittedly a superior ag[illegible] "Archie" Post's protegees [illegible] proud of their feat in scor[illegible] The work of Park in [illegible] events is to be commended [illegible] the Aggies will see him [illegible] Bond, who walked away [illegible] the dashes in the interfrat meet, showed up well in the furlong and [illegible] and on home territory may [illegible] in two events. "Brute" [illegible] small but packed with fight, [illegible] over the timbers but with a [illegible] of additional practice should be [illegible] to skim the sticks. Captain Charlie Mace failed to place at Amherst but had the grit and courage [illegible] from a sick bed in order that [illegible] support the cause. His general condition being improved, Vermont may score a slam in some of the weight events. "Ev" Wilder's work in the two-mile was the only discouraging aspect in the downfall of the Catamounts in the longer runs and Wilder should prove difficult to head off once he begins leading the pack.

Little is known concerning the caliber of the team put out by the Aggies this season. Worcester Tech trounced Vermont's opponents by the score of 93 to 42 in which meet Magoolian of M. A. C. won the hammer with a heave of 120 ft., 1¼ in. Edmond of M. A. C. took the javelin with 154 ft. 9 in. and the shot put was a sam for the Aggies with a winning [illegible] of 34 ft., 5¾ in. Frost and Rooney tallied two firsts by winning the 880 and broad jump. With any [illegible] of breaks "Charlie" Mace ought to lead a victorious team off the field.

CAT'S MEOW

—SPORTING EDITOR—

Varsity baseball and track on Centennial Field make a big afternoon.

And the junior varsity nine will attempt what the varsity already has done.

Baker, Macomber and Bussey will probably not be with the Jayvees again on days when the varsity is playing. They make valuable additions to the first squad. Baker as a third baseman and Bussey as a sticker are especially good.

To see an outfielder with poise, to see an outfielder cover ground, to see an outfielder start at the crack of the bat and turn his back to the ball on long hits, to see an outfielder make sensational catches, to see an outfielder make difficult catches look easy, and to see that outfielder hit, watch Dinniman.

Catamounts Ready For Long Stay At Home U. S. N. Training Station Is First Opponent

Shifts in Lineup May be Made—McBride Likely Choice for Mound Duty—Visitors Should Not Provide Too Much Opposition—Sargent Probably Out For Season

CATS VERSUS PANTHERS ON MIDDLEBURY COURTS

Vermont and Middlebury meet on the Middlebury tennis courts this afternoon. After last week's trip south the Vermont men should be in excellent condition.

In Middlebury they meet a worthy opponent. Captain Woodbury is the only letterman now playing with the varsity, all other members of the team being freshmen and transfers and beating men who played for Middlebury in previous years. Middlebury has had little practice as yet. In the first match of the Middlebury trip south last week the Panthers were defeated by Clark 5 to 1. Vermont tied Clark 3 to 3 and therefore feels confident of being able to put up a real match against the Blue and White.

JUNIOR VARSITY PLAYS FORT ETHAN ALLEN TEAM

Jayvees Cross Bludgeons with Team Varsity Downed Earlier—"Doc" Newton May Lose a Few Men to Varsity

Tomorrow afternoon Coach Newton's junior varsity baseball team will play Company I, 13th Infantry, of Fort Ethan Allen on the soldiers' home grounds. This same team from the Post was defeated on Founder's Day by the varsity by the score of 9 to 0. Further practice has improved the players and it should prove to be a warm battle for the Jayvees.

"Doc" Newton has developed a strong team as evidenced by the 9 to 5 victory over the Norwich junior varsity. Benway will probably start the game on the mound for Vermont although there are several other good twirlers on the squad. Towne will be behind the bat. The infield is composed of Louden, Collins and Shurman on first, second and third bases, respectively, with Heaton at short. Proctor, Cunningham and Levy are placed in the outfield and are a bunch of hard hitters.

Baker, Macomber and Bussey went on the Middlebury trip with the varsity yesterday and will probably be on the first team bench tomorrow. Benway also took the trip and in case Newton cannot use him he will have Farmer or Cunningham in the box.

WOMEN'S PHYZ ED DEPT. TO GIVE DEMONSTRATION

A demonstration will be given here by the Women's Physical Education Department before high school representatives from the surrounding towns on Saturday, May 10. The girls will demonstrate games and various other phases of athletics and the representatives in turn will carry back ideas and suggestions to their own schools.

Those taking part are: Joyce Richardson, '30, Isabel Warhurst, '31; Sylvia Holden, '32; Emily Maslen, '32; Dorothy Nash, '31; Mae Tinkham, '31; Janet Miller, '32; Lillian Mount, '32; Ruth Strong, '30, Christine Shaw, '30, Estabel Perelman, '30; Christie McLeod, '31; Harriet Wright, '31; Dorothy Dailey, '30; Helen Taylor, '31, Georgina Hubert, '31; Edith Abbot, 31; Dorothy Gurney, '30; Katherine Skinner, '32; Vera Chadburn, '31; Olive Fields, '32.

BAKER, MACOMBER, BUSSEY MAY BE SEEN IN FIELD

By CY NATHANSON

Welcome home team!

After a so-so southern trip, a couple more hops to Massachusetts and Connecticut, and a brief visit in Middlebury, the University of Vermont baseball team settles down tomorrow afternoon to a long campaign at home. The United States Naval Training Station nine will be the first opponent on Centennial Field.

Of course, the varsity beat Company I, 13th Infantry, of Fort Ethan Allen, but it was not a regularly scheduled game, having been arranged to keep the team going during a two-week interval. Nevertheless, the averages and result will go down in the records, but for the sake of a new thrill, or whatever you get when you see the team in action on the home grounds for the first time, let's call tomorrow's fray the season's opener.

This Training Station team is inferior to Vermont's. They have not played as much ball as Vermont has already played, nor have they won very many games. If our Green and Gold are nearly as bright as they can be if they want to, then they will have no trouble at all.

It seems that "Wally" Hargent will not pitch again this year. To do so would irritate his injured back so that he would probably not be able to do much mound work at any time. It is too bad he has to lay up when his southern trip exploits gave so much promise for an excellent season. McBride may start tomorrow with Rutkowski and Cummings and possibly Benway on the waiting list. Kendall will get the call behind the bat. There has been a great battle for the catching berth this spring. Stroh caught all the games on the long jaunt, but Kendall has done all the work since. Stroh won a game with a home run and even now has a large edge on Kendall with the stick. Kendall evened slugging differences with Stroh by clouting a circuiteer to win the game at Conn. Aggies.

Coach "Larry" Gardner will probably do some conniving in the field. The regular infield of Winant, Traynor, McKay and Pires is expected to start, but Baker and Macomber, the frosh third baseman and shortstop, may see service. Bussey has been looking so good with the stick that it would not

(Continued on page 4)

Semi-finals in Interfrat Baseball Tournament Get Under Way Today

Tau Epsilon Phi and Phi Sigma Delta Play First Game in Second Round this Afternoon—Schedule Revised on Account of Weather

With the Delta Psi—Independent game yesterday afternoon, which took place too late to be reported in this issue of the CYNIC, the preliminary round of the Interfraternity Baseball Tournament was concluded. To date the results are as follows: League I, Kappa Sigma defeated Sigma Phi, Sigma Nu defeated Zeta Chi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon drew a bye. League II, Phi Sigma Delta defeated Phi Delta Theta, Tau Epsilon Phi defeated Sigma Delta, Alpha Tau Omega defeated Phi Mu Delta, Lambda Iota drew a bye.

The schedule has been revised on account of the postponements which were forced by inclement weather. The corrected order for the semi-final and final games is as follow:

Semi-finals, May 9, Phi Sigma Delta vs. Tau Epsilon Phi, League II; May 12, Kappa Sigma vs. Winner Delta Psi-Independents, League I; May 13, Sigma Nu vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, League I; May 14, Alpha Tau Omega vs. Lambda Iota, League II. Finals—May 19, Winners in League I semi-finals, May 21, Winners in League II semi-finals. Championship game—May 26.

These corrections are complete to May 8 but are subject to further revision if the weather causes any more postponements. The games this year have been marked by the efficiency with which the Physical Education Department has handled them, if not by good fielding. Few of the pitchers have been entirely effective and fewer teams have displayed tight defences. The hitting, on the other hand, has been free, with most of the scores going into double figures, despite the fact that the games are of only five innings duration. The innovation of keeping junior varsity men out of these games has proved highly successful and justifiable.

Today Phi Sigma Delta, with a slugging combination, opposes Tau Epsilon Phi, the team which sent nine runs over the plate in the last inning of its game with Sigma Delta to come from behind to a well earned victory, in the first game of the semis. Monday, Kappa Sigma meets yesterday's winner in the League I semi-final opener.

SHAM-PLAINS

Hayit Dun has gone literary. Maple Sap surprised him writing poetry and [illegible] our combined efforts to wrest it from him. After the battle was over we found what he called a pome. Well, maybe it is and maybe it isn't. We "DUNNO" here for your delectation.

THE MASTHEAD EPIC OR THE SEE STORY

Into the gym walked
A student
[illegible] was
Stealthy and sly.
Near was the
Clatter of his footsteps.
And late
He submits' "Aye."
Gave the floor
With good cheshun.
Then [illegible] something that Must go
Walked away
Into the CYNIC"
"Oh shut I'll Second the motion."
Trembled a voice
[illegible] foul play.

Rose a maid like a star
With a voice heard afar.
"In a fratres den
And a sorores fen,
Was this dastard plot conceived.
There is dust in our eyes.
Shall we by them be deceived?"
Forget fraternity
Strive for University.
Get up and go, fools,
Let's call it a night."
Then up rose a youth,
"Tho' it hurts
Let's have truth."
Ye gods,
This chap was bold.
Yet his wisdom
'Twas seen was old.
So the CYNIC

Still it stands
And the truth
It still disbands
In spite of a small
Puff o' wind.

Maple Sap gushed forth in raptures over this. She would! Quoth she, "I'm just crazy about it." "Sappy you mean," Dun wisecracked.

"I'll expand my chest or bust," said the woman as she went into the gym.
Octopus

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2870, 2871, 2872

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2060

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
84 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

GET YOUR FAVORITE MAGAZINE
at ISHAM'S

TENNIS
Rackets 1.50 to 20.00
Racket Cases—Presses
Nets and Court equipment
Wright & Ditson
Pennsylvania
TENNIS BALLS
L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

For your Dances
CREPE PAPER
STREAMERS
BALLOONS SERPENTINE
FAVORS, etc.
McAULIFFE'S
Church and College Sts.—Phone 629

SENIOR
CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

WAR DEPT. GIVES R. O. T. C. INSPECTION SCHEDULE

[illegible] army officers from the War Department will visit [illegible] Thursday and Friday, May 15 and 16.

All [illegible] enrolled in the R. O. T. C. will be excused from other classes in the various colleges of the University but will be expected to make up to the satisfaction of their instructors the work missed.

The complete program follows:

THURSDAY, MAY 15, 1930

8:00-8:45 a.m.: Theoretical Test covering Year Advanced Technique, Military Law and U. S. C. Regulations, Administration, Drill and Command, Combat Principles.

First Year Basic (freshmen): Military Hygiene and First Aid. Drill and Command. Scouting and Patrolling.

9:45 a.m.: Call on President Bailey.

9:00-9:30 a.m.: Battalion Review.

9:30-10:30 a.m.: Company Inspection. Close Order Drill by Companies and Platoons. Extended Order Drill.

10:30-11:40 a.m.: Practical Test of Classes First Year Basic. First Aid, Rifle Marksmanship, Scouting and Patrolling, Military Courtesy and Discipline.

Second Year Basic Musketry, Automatic Rifle, Scouting and patrolling.

First Year Advanced: Military Sketching, Machine Guns, 37 m.m. and 3-inch T. M.

Second Year Advanced: Field Engineering, Combat Principles.

1:00-2:00 p.m.: Theoretical Test First year Advanced (juniors). Drill and Command. Map Reading and Military Sketching. Machine Guns, 37 m.m. Gun and 3-inch Trench Mortar, Combat Principles.

Second Year Basic (sophomores): Drill and Command, Musketry, Scouting and Patrolling, Combat Principles.

2:00-4:00 p.m.: Tactical Exercise, Rifle Company in Attack.

FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1930

8:00-8:20 a.m.: Battalion Parade.

8:20-12:00 a.m.: Competitive Squad Drill for Reserve Officers' Cup. Competitive Drill in Manual of Arms for Scabbard and Blade Cups (freshmen and sophomores). Inspection of Grounds, Buildings, Ranges, Storerooms, Records, etc. Inspection of Medical Unit.

JUDGES SELECT EIGHT AS KINGSLEY SPEAKERS

(Continued from page 1)

won several prizes in oratorical contests at Vermont and was fairly well known.

These four freshmen and the four sophomores already mentioned will fight it out in the final contest to be held the week following Junior Week.

COMMITTEE ANNOUNCE COMPLETED PROGRAMS

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] entertainments scheduled will further [illegible] the week.

Game, Meet, Dances

Saturday afternoon at 1:30 Vermont will oppose M. A. A. A. in the annual Junior Week track meet and at 2:30 Clarkson Tech engages the varsity in the second baseball game of the week. Beginning at 8:00 p.m. the various fraternity dances will bring to a close Vermont's twenty-fifth annual Junior Week. All fraternity houses will be open to dancers after intermission.

VARIETY OF NEW BOOKS ARE ADDED TO LIBRARY

Recent additions to the shelves of the Billings Library on May 1, as announced by Miss Shattuck, the librarian, include books on college drama, science, travel, political history, psychology, fiction, international relations and literary guides.

A complete list of new books follows:

Arnold, "Wayside Marketing."

Baird's manual "American College Fraternities," twelfth edition, 1930.

Blount and Cowan, "Ultraviolet Light and Vitamin D in Nutrition."

Cohen, "Le Théâtre Religieux."

Crowther, "Romance and Rise of the American Tropics."

Dunn, "Mediterranean Picture Lands."

Fairclough, "Love of Nature Among the Greeks and Romans."

Frymir, "Basketball for Women."

Holcombe, "Chinese Revolution."

Keenleyside, "Canada and the United States."

Laird, "Psychology of Selecting Men."

Magoffin, "Magic Spades."

Michigan University, Department of English, "University of Michigan Plays."

Mort., "The Individual Pupil in the Management of Class and School."

Park, "Making a New China."

Stevens, "Reference Guide to Milton."

Verein deutscher ingenieure, Berlin, "Hydraulic Laboratory Practice."

Wilhelm, "Short History of Chinese Civilization."

Young, "International Relations of Manchuria."

The sedan was parked at the side of the road and as the man drew near he could hear noises of a struggle within. He could hear a rustle, probably of silk, and the muffled panting of a man. The body of the car swayed slightly to and fro. He heard a curse and again the muffled panting. He crept softly around to the side and looked into the window and saw--A man trying to fold a road map the same as it had been.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

Mr. Paul J. LaCrosse in last Saturday's issue of the Cynic gave a perfect example of [illegible] in writing about a subject of which the writer had no knowledge. I think that this letter should be used as an example of the lack of ability possessed by the members of Grey Friars.

In the first place Mr. LaCrosse carried away undoubtedly by the sheer speed of his rhetorical passions makes two grave mistatements. He says that Grey Friars intelligently assured Joseph Joseph, that he has talent which no member of Grey Friars has ever done. He says further that they approve of his "free verse" which has appeared in the Winnoonups. This alone I believe should indicate the critical ability of at least one member of Grey Friars. Joseph Joseph, has had no free verse ever published under any name anywhere. A little study of the intricacies of simple iambic as distinguished from free verse will I believe repay Mr. LaCrosse enormously.

Joseph Joseph, as I see his article never intended his attacks on Grey Friars as personal. He seems carefully to have excluded all personal comment. However, in defending Grey Friars, Mr. LaCrosse perhaps worried by the inadequacy of any arguments which he could bring to the defense of Grey Friars seems to have found it necessary to base his entire defense of that organization upon a personal attack of Joseph Joseph's ability. This is in itself ridiculous. Joseph Joseph has never claimed any ability. He has secured positions on both the literary organs of the University of Vermont. He has attacked what institutions seemed ridiculous, of which Grey Friars is one. He has never openly proclaimed as does Grey Friars with its self-revealing subtitle, "a literary organization"—that he was a literary man. He writes as he can and as he does but he does not as does every member of Grey Friars, by belonging to that institution have any pretension. He is not a member of the literati by assertion.

ROBERT W. HENDRICK.

Catamounts Ready For Stay

HUGH O. HART TO GIVE ADDRESS AT VERMONT

(Continued from page 1)

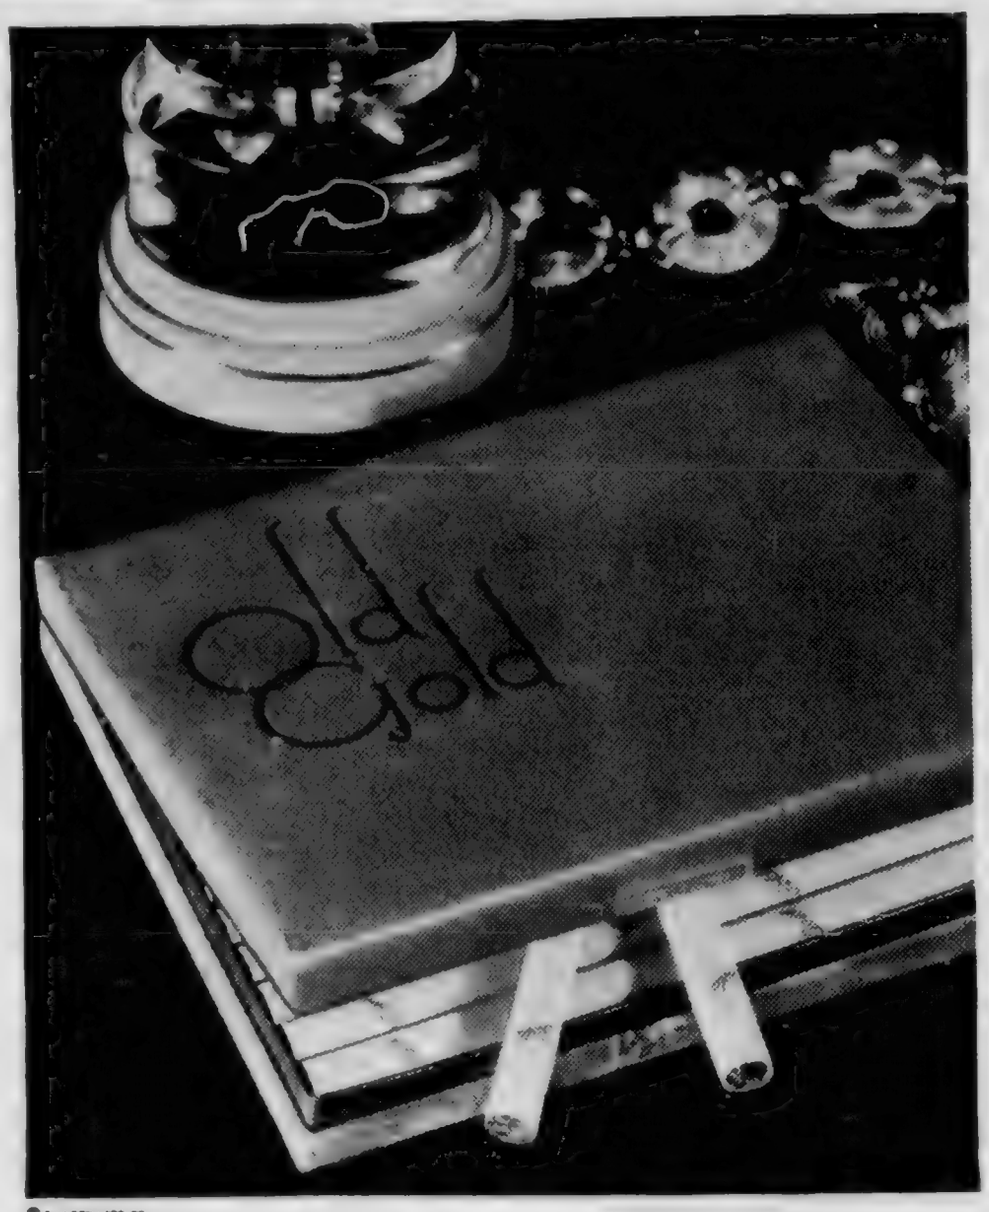
[illegible] Distribution," made at the annual meeting of life insurance company presidents, December, 1928. "What Life Insurance Holds as a Profession," made January, 1930, at a life underwriters' association meeting in San Francisco; and "Life Insurance and the Present Situation," made at the Boston Life Underwriters' Association meeting, November, 1929.

STUDENT SUSPENDED

The Student Senate of Ohio State University recently sentenced a student to a week's suspension from the University for violating a campus traffic ordinance.

U. S. N. TRAINING STATION IS FIRST OF OPPONENTS

(Continued from page [illegible])



be at all surprising to see [illegible] outfield if Gardner can [illegible] for him—in all probability [illegible] Dinniman and Jay are [illegible] and center. Dinniman is [illegible] the batsmen with an average [illegible] .300 and is playing his [illegible] field. Probable batting [illegible]

Jay, cf; Traynor, 2b; [illegible] Dinniman, lf; Captain H[illegible] sey, rf; Kendall, c; McKa[illegible] ss; McBride, p.

Miss Margaret A. Patten [illegible] retary of the University of [illegible] attended the annual meeting of the American Alumni Council at [illegible] Mass.

For a number of years Miss Patten has represented the University of Vermont at these meetings. Among the alumni workers from more than [illegible] colleges and universities in North America were present. Among Mt. Holyoke, Smith and Massachusetts Institute of Technology were [illegible] institutions. Presidents of these and other colleges and alumni officers spoke at various sessions.

There were group meetings for the three sections of the council: one for alumni secretaries, one for those interested in alumni fund work, and one for editors of alumni magazines. Next year's meeting is set for Atlanta, Ga.

NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

COTY

NEW INDELIBLE LIPSTICK

LOVELY LIPS MADE LOVELIER

IT STAYS—and beautifies exquisitely. Each shade is artistic perfection of colour.

OLD GOLD cigarettes

in a stunning new velour box!

Have you seen them . . . these velvety golden velour packages of fifty OLD GOLDS? They are as trim as a Tiffany cigarette case . . . smart as a cigarette box from Paris. College people all over America are buying them to supplement the familiar OLD GOLD pocket package . . . to pass to their friends . . . to take on trips and outings . . . or just to keep on their study tables. They are now on sale everywhere . . . at the standard price for fifty OLD GOLDS.

If dealer cannot supply, send 35¢ to Old Gold, 119 W. 40th St., New York

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME [illegible] BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 13, 1930 NUMBER 55

Janice Goodrich and Dean Patterson Deplore the Evils of Sorority Politics

Pan-Hellenic President and Women's Dean Denounce Society Hatreds and Secret Combines—Freshmen Consider Abolition of Judgment Day

[illegible] among the different [illegible] campus is very bad, [illegible] four years, has been [illegible] worse," declared [illegible] at a meeting of [illegible] women last Thursday [illegible] by Charlotte O'Dell, [illegible] of the class of '33, to [illegible] be done about doing [illegible] fraternity politics.

[illegible] the outgrowth of this [illegible] it, in turn, has been [illegible] worse feeling," con- [illegible]drich, who next point- [illegible] way to correct the mat- [illegible] freshmen to start right [illegible] and not to mere- [illegible] thing that upperclass- [illegible] sisters tell them. [illegible] should learn to think [illegible] and then to have cour- [illegible] own convictions regard- [illegible] classmen.

[illegible]drich remarked that the [illegible] has shown more intel- [illegible] and broadmindedness than [illegible] seniors. She also urged [illegible] friendships outside of [illegible], and not to cultivate [illegible] making disparaging re- [illegible] other sororities.

[illegible] coming when the com- [illegible] politics is going out of [illegible] claimed Miss Goodrich, [illegible] explained, "if the girls re- [illegible] the combines, and stick [illegible], the other fraternities, [illegible] have to follow suit."

[illegible]drich said that during the [illegible] season she had had one [illegible] from at least one member [illegible] society on the hill about [illegible]. And that in the face [illegible] complaints she had adopted a [illegible] of inactivity in Pan-Hellenic, [illegible] these difficulties were not mat- [illegible] which could be remedied by a [illegible] some [illegible] them during next year's [illegible] only to refuse to listen to [illegible] never to pass them on, and if they heard something about rules being broken to take it up with the individual herself instead of resorting to whispering campaigns, which as Miss Goodrich explained, were the lowest form of rushing policies. She urged the girls to be clean rushers, and good sports if they lost the girl they were after.

"Adopt a national attitude toward your sororities instead of a local attitude," urged Miss Goodrich. She further pointed out that many of the sorority members must have spoken to their National Presidents, because many of them visited Vermont during the past year, and if they had they must have found that the National Presidents did not favor combines.

It was also explained that honors that are sent to the national officers which were gained through politics were no credit to the local chapter, and if the national officers realized the conditions under which they were obtained they would never sanction the offices.

Only 45 freshman women out of a total of 111 in the class belong to sororities, and that is 16 less than half of all the women. Miss Goodrich said this minority did not have any right to think that they represented the entire group of freshman women.

The story was told of the independent girl, one who is prominent on the campus, who didn't vote because she felt that it didn't make any difference because it had all been planned

Miss Goodrich closed with a stirring appeal to the girls to settle all their difficulties and controversies out in the open.

Dean Patterson next championed the cause of eliminating fraternity politics. She told the girls that every time they gave a vote to a combine they were giving something of their own personality, and that if they made a practice of it they would soon find

(Continued on page 2)

ANNOUNCEMENT

Alpha Chi Omega yesterday authorized the following announcement

"Alpha Chi Omega wishes to state that it will not enter into any fraternity combine."

DEBATERS WILL CLOSE SEASON WITH CLASHES AT HOME NEXT WEEK

New Hampshire Normal and Bates to Face Two Teams in Burlington on Successive Nights

LISMAN AND NELSON TO BE VERMONT CAPTAINS

Junior Varsity Expected to Provide Debaters for Final Encounters on Varsity Schedule

Rounding out one of the most successful of all debating seasons, Vermont will present two teams, one captained by Louis Lisman and one by George Nelson, to meet New Hampshire Normal School and Bates College in Burlington next week. The debates will be held on successive nights, New Hampshire Normal appearing next Tuesday evening and Bates Wednesday evening.

The subject for the New Hampshire Normal debate will be "Resolved, that the nations of the world adopt a plan of complete disarmament, except such forces as are necessary for police protection." Vermont will uphold the negative of this resolution, which she has already debated with New York University, Upsala, George Washington, Catholic, and Emory and Henry. Against Bates, Vermont will debate on the proposition "Resolved, that the emergence of woman from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life." on which Vermont has also met Middlebury and Virginia Union

Enter the J. V.'s

Although Coach Powers has not yet designated the personnel of the teams for the final debates, it is expected that they will be named from these junior varsity debaters: Peary Berger, James Bigelow, Ernest Codding, Russell Colburn, Peardon Donoghy, Donald Frazier and Paul La Crosse, all of whom have participated in a series of successful intramural encounters. A review of their season follows:

The schedule opened late last fall when Donald Frazier, '32, Hugh Mattison, '31, and James E. Bigelow, '33, took on Middlebury's varsity in a practice tilt on the emergence of woman. Later in the fall under the tutelage of George Nelson, '31, the junior varsity, consisting of Frazier, '32, Bigelow, '33, R. S. Colburn, '33, and R. P. Donoghy, '33, debated before the Champlain Valley Grange in the K. of P. Hall at Burlington also on the emergence of woman.

On February 27, D. Frazier, J. Bigelow, P. Berger, and P. LaCrosse, appeared before the Vergennes Men's

(Continued on page 4)

COMMITTEE NOMINATES 1933 CLASS OFFICERS

Nominations for officers of the class of 1933 were presented by a class nominating committee consisting of a meeting in the Old Mill chapel at which Charlotte O'Dell presided.

The names presented follow: For president, David W. Webster of Burlington; Thomas F. Collins of West Hartford, Conn.; James E. Wood, Belmont, Mass., and Maurice Mahoney of Burlington. For vice-president, Shirly Nichols of Glenbrook, Conn. Harriet Howe of Burlington; and Mildred H. Mullen of Saranac Lake, N. Y. For treasurer, Frank Pires of Brooklyn, N. Y., and William Cronin of Burlington. For secretary, Margaret Wharton of Rutherford, N. J. and Elizabeth Eckhard of Burlington.

The election will be held at a meeting of the class to be called later.

Twenty-fifth Junior Week Opens With Class Banquet

Spring Play Will Feature Opening Events of Four-Day Celebration—Peerade, Prom and Formals Will Add to Activities

STUDENTS EDIT DAILY NEWS FOR A DAY AS PART OF CLASS WORK

Class in Journalism Takes to Reporting and Writing in a Practical Way

"Last Monday's issue of the Burlington Daily News, which was edited by the journalism class of the University, was a very successful experience of practical work," declared Mr. W. H. Crockett when asked the results of his class sojourn into the fields of actual newspaper work.

All Day Grind

The students went on duty at eight o'clock in the morning and stayed until the paper went to press. They covered all the regular reporting assignments about the city visiting in the course of their work the courts, stores, Y. M. C. A., post-office, and police, and in addition to this many feature articles, interviews, and editorials were prepared and printed.

On the front page appeared an outstanding photograph of President Guy W. Bailey of the University, together with a very brief résumé of his brilliant career. The rest of the page was devoted to the important news-events of the day obtained through regular press service.

Discover News

A further perusal of the paper brought to light the results of the ardent student-reporters efforts in gathering news. Julia Housley had, for example, an article concerning the recent election of officers of the Vermont Blind Association, and Priscilla Campbell had written an interesting account of the amount of wrongly addressed mail that is received at the local post office.

In another page was found a story by Anne McLaughlin dealing with the long and varied history of Grassmount. And it was interesting to learn that this beautiful building, now used as a girls' dormitory, was named by Herman Allen of Colchester in honor of the Count de Grasse, a friend of Gen-

(Continued on page 2)

KINGSLEY PRIZE SPEAKING WILL COME ON MAY 22

According to an official announcement, the Kingsley prize speaking will be held the evening of Thursday, May 22. The speakers will be Alfred Morin, '32, Samuel Barker, '32, Robert S. Jenks, '32, Donald Frazier, '32, R. P. Donoghy, '33, R. S. Colburn, '33, W. G. MacDonald, '33, and J. E. Bigelow, '33.

The prizes to be awarded are of twenty dollars, fifteen dollars and ten dollars, offered by Darwin P. Kingsley of New York, a graduate in the class of 1881. The prizes are offered to the three male students of the sophomore and freshman classes who display the most complete mastery of a selected, carefully prepared passage in oratorical prose. For many years competition for these prizes has been keen and in several of the years past not only the finals but the try-outs have caused considerable stir among the lowerclassmen. For several years debaters have predominated as participants and again this year one-half the number of speakers are prominent in debating activities. The winners for the past two years have not been debaters however, and this has evidently stimulated the interest of the non forensicists.

EVAN THOMAS RETURNS FROM WINTER SOJOURN

Evan Thomas, professor emeritus of mathematics in the College of Engineering has just returned from an extended sojourn in East Orange, N. J.

TICKETS AND VOUCHERS ARE NOW ALL ON SALE

Junior Week will celebrate a quarter of a century of existence when tomorrow night, the annual class banquet starts things moving in the general direction of peerade, play, prom and formals. The revelries will obtain from seven o'clock tomorrow evening until midnight Saturday.

"Holiday," presented by the combined dramatic societies under the direction of Prof. J. T. Metcalf in honor of the season, will feature the opening part of the week. A veteran cast, which has been rehearsing for several weeks, will appear at the Strong Theatre at eight o'clock Thursday evening in an effort to repeat the successes of previous seasons.

The list of the speakers for the banquet tomorrow night has not yet been made public but the chairman of the event forecasts an enjoyable evening. The Hotel Vermont roof garden will be the scene of the banquet. Juniors are advised of the change which calls for the banquet to begin at seven o'clock instead of at six, as previously announced. Tickets for the banquet and vouchers for the play are now on sale at the bookstore.

The peerade Thursday afternoon will present floats of the various fraternities and of the women's dormitories, advertising the Junior Week play. Drawings have been made and the chairman has provided for the usual line of march.

Tickets for the prom are on advance sale and may be secured from Harley Chatterton at the Owl House, Hugh Mattison at the S. A. E. house or Harvey Butterfield at the Phi Delta Theta house. Table reservations may be left with Chatterton. As the number of tables is limited, reservations should be made at once.

The prom will be held at the Me-

(Continued on page 2)

ABNORMAL PSYCH CLASS INSPECTS HOSPITAL FOR INSANE AT WATERBURY

Prof. J. T. Metcalf's class in abnormal psychology, Psychology 5, with him visited the State Hospital for the Insane at Waterbury Thursday afternoon, May 1. About fifteen students made the interesting trip.

Dr. J. C. O'Neil of the Hospital conducted a clinic in which a number of different types of insanity were presented and explained. Several patients were exhibited in the clinic. The class then made a tour of the hospital, inspecting the various wards, including that of the criminally insane and that of harmless cases. One of the latter gravely informed Professor Metcalf that he had piles of money, made from pickling dice.

The class learned how the patients live and how they are disciplined, and was especially interested in the exhibits of industrial work done by the inmates of the hospital, who are very proficient in weaving, embroidery, and the making of chairs and rugs.

Prof. John T. Metcalf is conducting an entrance examination for the Columbia Law School. Several University students are taking the exam.

COMPANY D OF LOCAL BATTALION LEADS RACE

Company D of the University R. O. T. C. Unit is still leading the other three companies in the efficiency contest for the American Legion, Burlington Post No. 2 cup although Company A secured the highest average on the inspection of Friday, May 9. The standing at present is: Company D 85.21 percent, Company A 85.06 percent, Company C 82.69 percent, and Company B, 83.35 percent. Standings for May 9 were: Company A 92 percent, Company D 91 percent, Company C 89 percent, and Company B, 86 percent.

ENGINEERING SENIORS GO ON ANNUAL SPRING TOURS OF INSPECTION

[illegible] in the Engineering College [illegible] University took their annual [illegible] inspection tours last week. The [illegible] engineers, led by Prof. E. [illegible]sdale and Raymond S. Gates, [illegible] the General Electric Company [illegible] the American Locomotive [illegible] works in Schenectady on [illegible] Tuesday, and on Wednes- [illegible] the New York Power and [illegible] Company plant at Amsterdam, [illegible]. At the locomotive plant the [illegible] were shown some of the new [illegible] locomotives which are [illegible] for the Denver, Rio [illegible] Western Railroad. The [illegible] plant was of special [illegible] of the group who will [illegible] work after graduation.

Visit Steel Works

[illegible] and civil engineers in- [illegible] last furnace at the steel [illegible] Henry, N. Y., and visit- [illegible]ne nearby at Mineville, [illegible]. E. Liniken accom- [illegible]hemical engineers, who [illegible] Burlington Wednesday. [illegible]neers, led by Prof. L. B. [illegible] went to Glens Falls, N. Y., [illegible] inspected a cement manu- [illegible]nt on Thursday. After- [illegible] visited a power plant of [illegible] Power and Light Com- [illegible] construction at Spiers [illegible] said to be the largest of [illegible] country.

[illegible]al engineers left Wednes- [illegible]sfield, Mass., where they [illegible] Westinghouse and Bosch [illegible]. They attended the [illegible] New England section [illegible]can Institute of Electrical [illegible] Saturday the U. V. M. [illegible] the Cobble Mountain [illegible]wer development now [illegible]tion in conection with [illegible] Water Works. A trip [illegible] Conn., to view the only [illegible] heated mercury was [illegible]ter which the group re- [illegible] Burlington. Prof. L. P. [illegible] in charge of the party.

DEAN PATTERSON TAKES SABBATICAL YEAR IN 1930

Miss Marion Patterson, Dean of Women, and Prof. Katrina H. Storms of the English department will take their sabbatical leave next year. Dean Patterson states with respect to their plans: "We expect to spend only the winter in Europe, but we will be gone throughout the entire college year."

Miss Isabel Whiting, Assistant Dean, will act as Dean of Women during Miss Patterson's absence.

FLEMING HULL MUSEUM MODIFICATIONS NEEDED

Because a preliminary estimate of the cost of the Robert Hull Fleming memorial museum to be erected during the year at the University shows the cost of the structure to be greater than the $300,000 available for that purpose, the specifications will be altered so that the expense will come within that amount.

The preliminary estimates were prepared by R. L. Whipple of Worcester, Mass., an alumnus and trustee of the University and a member of the building committee. The specifications have been sent back to the architects, McKim, Mead and White, for alteration.

Among the changes suggested to lower the cost of the building is the substitution of wood for marble for exterior trim. This would include pilasters and other ornamental features. The building is to be Colonial in design, of red brick on a granite base.

Outside Heating System

Another change which has been made in the original plan will include the location of the heating plant outside the building. This will be housed in the present power plant which heats the library and Ira Allen chapel. An extra boiler will be added, which will take care of the museum.

The central hall of the museum will be occupied by a hall of statuary with the Wilbur room housing a collection

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

Published by the students of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

LOUIS LIAMAN, '30
Editor-in-chief

GEORGE B. BILLINGS, '31
Managing Editor

HILDA S. SMITH, '31
Women's Editor

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sports Editor

STUART S. CURRIER, '31
Business Manager

News Editors
Allen O. Eaton, '32

Raymond W. Cobb, '30 — Fred W. Householder, '32

Feature Editors
Edmour A. Germain, '31

F. C. Carter, '31 — Robert L. Stewart, '32

Intercollegiate Editor
Charles M. Crockett, '31

Copy-reading Editor
R. S. Jones, '32

Dramatic Editor
Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Assistant Editors

J. A. Berger, '32 — C. J. Kilburn, '32 — S. N. Spiller, '32
J. R. Bigelow, '32 — M. J. Shaw, '32 — T. I. Taylor, '32
P. S. Dow, '32 — J. C. Shaw, '32 — C. N. Wermuth, '32
A. Soto, '32

Associate Sports Editor
Leonard M. Proctor, '32

Assistant Sports Editors
J. D. Lewis, '32 — A. A. Maiden, '32 — F. Tupper, '32
J. N. Powell, '32 — S. Pendahy, '32 — R. W. Ryan, '32

Women's Associate Editor
Lucile Moss, '31

Norton Wright, '31
Women's Athletic Editor

Gladys Press, '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Mildred Gale, '32 — Beatrice Harbour, '32 — Margaret Mower, '32
Rose LaBarre, '32 — Margaret Ann Martin, '32 — Hope Renshaw, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
R. E. Tracy, '31

R. G. Hurlburt, '32 — G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer, whose name will be withheld if so desired. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 270 before 9 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday

Published in 1908. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing at postage outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 460 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol 48 — May 15, 1930 — No. 55

TWO STEPS FORWARD

As we say merely congratulations and recompense for the policy of the Cynic during the past few months, but also distinct progress in the [illegible] sentiment on the campus against fraternity politics which has just manifested itself in the decision on the part of a prominent [illegible] to withdraw from all fraternity combines and in the recent meeting of the freshman women, which was called on the eve of the class contest as an anti-political measure.

First of all we want to congratulate that sorority which, first of all Vermont fraternal organizations, has made public its opposition to the evils of the present political situation and dares to practice as it preaches. We want to congratulate also those instrumental in summoning the meeting of the freshman women, a mass meeting of a different sort from that which disgraced the campus a few nights ago in a futile misdirection of energy.

Finally we want to express our pride in a Vermont whose students will, of their own volition, take such a step. We do not see in it the eradication of the evils of fraternity politics, but we do see it as a precedent which other groups will surely follow, until the situation [illegible] clears itself up.

These recent developments have served to stimulate the opposition of the Cynic to every manifestation of fraternity influences in campus affairs. We see the fraternity combine as a means for promoting the interests of the weak and incapable who, by force of numbers, can thus overcome the strong and able. To secure increased prestige for themselves or for their Alpha Alpha Alpha, honor grabbers are willing to submerge the interests of the University to the drowning point. Fraternity politics have played the very deuce with campus activities. Every step away from such a condition of affairs is one we can greet only with the greatest acclaim.

We should regret the passing of this secret, undercover method of living [illegible] even the politicians themselves. For sooner or later even seekers after honors not deserved, are not honors at all but merely personal luster which the whole campus recognizes as such.

JUNIOR WEEK OPENS WITH CLASS BANQUET

(Continued from page 1)

morial Auditorium on Friday night, May 16, from nine until one o'clock. The committee has secured Fletcher Henderson's Orchestra, which is said to be one finest of all colored bands.

The decorations for the prom are being supervised by a representative of the Dennison Company and are progressing rapidly. The hall will be decorated in a novel Japanese style with the tables in a similar arrangement to that of last year. The favors are new and extremely distinctive and are expected to please because of their novelty and beauty.

Seniors are advised that this is the last day they may secure announcements and invitations from the Bookstore. It is imperative that they attend to this matter immediately.

TWO DEPLORE EVILS OF SORORITY POLITICS

(Continued from page 1)

tant they wouldn't have any opinions of their own, they would have but group opinions.

"The strangest part of fraternity politics," said Dean Patterson, "is that they don't let themselves use open methods, and that any honor that couldn't be talked about was not worth getting."

Dean Patterson pointed out that the freshmen had the opportunity of doing the first really constructive thing for Vermont that has ever been done by a college class. And she hoped that they would take advantage of this opportunity to do away with fraternity politics.

The rest of the meeting was concerned with doing away with judgment day. It was voted to have a committee appointed by the acting President, Charlotte Odell, to look into the matter and offer suggestions.

Ten Timely Topics

LARA TANTARA TEENO

[illegible] has furnished this year to truly worthwhile concerts.

Now that the matter of [illegible] has been put rather forcibly before the student eye, may we suggest that it be continued as a regular policy to hold a mass meeting before every important student election, at which the candidates shall be required to appear in person, explain their views, and answer questions from the student body. This would be one step in eliminating the obvious evil of clique politics.

But further than that, we issue the call for the formation of a Progressive Party, consisting of those who honestly desire advance and reform, and are willing to disregard fraternity ties in voting. Such a party would go far—very far, we believe, when combined with our previous suggestion—to remove the occasion for such criticisms and recriminations as have been made public since Founder's Day.

Since Grey Friars is before the public eye may we inquire, with pardonable (we hope) curiosity, why the University Catalogue lists Bluestockings, an analogous organization, and Pi Delta Rho, which has been gasping for some time, and has at last expired, while Grey Friars is not mentioned? Why does it name Le Cercle Lafayette, the Chemistry Club, the Aggie Club, and the Radio Club—departmental clubs which have merited little publicity during the past few years, and whose continued existence is doubtful—while the John Dewey Club is unmentioned.

And speaking of departmental clubs reminds us of our old contention more valid than ever, now, we feel, that fraternities ought to be superseded by departmental clubs which are not of a mutually exclusive nature.

We hoped to find the Daily News for Monday on sale on the hill, but in the excitement, it seems to have been overlooked. The editing of this paper is one of the distinctive annual activities of the University, and deserves publicity and support.

Perhaps it is not the place of a student newspaper in a neutral country to express a view upon the situation in India, but nevertheless, we feel that perhaps American students are watching developments there with a good deal of sympathy for Mr. Gandhi's endeavors.

The League for Independent Political Action, of which Prof. John Dewey is the president, and of which a number of Vermont students are members, holds its first annual banquet at Washington, May 17. Among the speakers at this banquet, and at the meetings which will be held in the same day, are Professor Dewey, on "Political Change in American Life"; Oswald Garrison Villard, of whom we have heard in connection with the Nation, "Is the Time Ripe for Revolt"; Dr Helen Everett, "American Women and Political Progress"; B. C. Vladeck, manager, Jewish Daily Forward, "Redeeming Our Cities from Corruption"; and numerous addresses relevant to the primary object of the formation of a new party alignment. Devere Allen, the Editor of The World Tomorrow, will preside.

The Book-a-Week Club wonders if the new Swarthmore idea could be made applicable at Vermont. There a prize is given for the student owning the best library, the award being made upon the basis of the taste shown in choosing the books, and the reasons given for the selection, as well as the adequacy with which they represent the field about which they are centered. Money with which to buy books is not so plentiful at Vermont as at Swarthmore, but if libraries were divided roughly into classes according to size, such a plan would be excellent. All that is needed is someone to donate the prize!

We still maintain that is is an anarchronism not to sell tobacco in the college buildings.

Students Become Editors For a Day And Publish Burlington Daily News

Journalism Class Under W. H. Crockett Does Practical Newspaper Work in Reporting, Interviewing, and Writing of Features and Editorials

(Continued from page 1)

eral Lafayette who laid the cornerstone of the Old Mill.

"Burlington of a hundred years ago" was the inviting caption of still another article, written by Leah White. The city of 1830 was discussed in regard to its newspapers, schools, and churches and then contrasted with the city as we know it today.

Interviews and Features

Other students of the class had also prepared feature articles that required much time, and adequately showed the interest that the students had in the work.

Joseph C. Carter interviewed Admiral H. T. Mayo, retired U. S. naval officer and secured an interesting story of his early life as a Burlington boy and how he happened to enter the navy.

Priscilla Campbell, in another article, informed us of the many famous men who hail U. V. M. as their Alma Mater.

It was of interest to note the article by Dorothy Dickinson which contained the historic background of three of Burlington's oldest churches. Miss Dickinson traced the early beginnings of the Burlington religious societies and also stated that St. Mary's, St. Paul's, and the Baptist churches were all founded in 1830 just one hundred years ago.

Unemployment and Census

A most informing article concerning the critical unemployment condition of both Burlington and Winooski was compiled by Edmour Germain. It was pointed out that Winooski is now in one of its worst labor depressions; there being about 1200 men jobless in that city alone. Burlington, while it is not in as critical a condition as the neighboring city, has had its problem aggravated by the influx of New York bricklayers who thought they could secure work here.

An account of the census figures of other days, written by J. Bullis, should a lot of interesting facts. The first census was taken in Vermont in 1791, and it was found at that time that Vermont had 85,499 recorded inhabitants. The census of 1920 showed that Vermont had increased her population to a great extent, there being then 352,421 people residing in the state. Another interesting sidelight of this article was the fact that Burlington had always showed a steady increase in the numbers of her population.

Potent Editorials

A glance at the editorial page of this memorable issue brought to light many of the ideas of the students that were not only worth while to read, but which showed the great industry with which the journalism class undertook the publishing of the Daily News.

The fine editorial by Genèvra Cook, entitled "Pointing Toward Peace," denounced war as a method of settling disputes, and made a plea for the greater utilization of [illegible] the settling of [illegible]

Miss Cook [illegible] thirtieth was set [illegible] Day, sacred to the [illegible] who died in the [illegible] now we remember [illegible] dead of the Spanish [illegible] and the World War [illegible] the most lasting memorial we render in tribute is [illegible] ourselves to service [illegible] peace through education.

Edmour Germain [illegible] written editorial, under [illegible] the momentous question [illegible] lege education is not [illegible] He deplored the [illegible] dents who go to college [illegible] realize their purpose [illegible] He pointed out that [illegible] have more courses that [illegible] relationship to life [illegible] should train their [illegible] particular kind of work.

Justice For the Worker

"Do the workers get [illegible] they not?" asked Robert [illegible] in an editorial which [illegible] that imported labor is constructing the Sunderland Hollow road, located very near Winooski, while men from that city, who are out of a job for the first time, are loafing around doing nothing.

In a second editorial [illegible] pointed out that the unemployment problems of the [illegible] cannot be solved in a [illegible] after slight consideration [illegible] that unemployment [illegible] solve the problem.

(Continued on [illegible])

Technique First—

then up and at 'em!

SMOKING a pipe is like flying an airplane—you really want to know how, if you're hoping to enjoy it much.

Pipe technique can be picked up through experience, or it can be learned outright. Master it now, to relish your pipes!

Rule One for Pipe-smoking is "Find your tobacco."

Rule One stops some beginners. They look here. They search there. They hunt . . . we must discard false modesty! Rule One means Edgeworth!

Rule Two is . . but would you learn all the secrets of pipe technique? Then let us send you Rules for Pipe-smoking with a free-for-nothing trial packet of genuine old Edgeworth, the tobacco made for pipes. Think of it—rules and Edgeworth [illegible] and the what of pipe-smoking, all for your 2¢ stamp and [illegible] there below.

Edgeworth [illegible] a careful blend of [illegible] —selected [illegible] pipe smoking [illegible] and flavor [illegible] Buy Edgeworth [illegible] where [illegible] "Ready Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package [illegible] humidor tin.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

LARUS & BRO. CO.
100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll try it in a good pipe.

Name _____

Street _____

Town and State _____

Now let the Edgeworth come! 1-B

Diamonds
and
Other Precious Stones

PLATINUM AND GOLD MOUNTINGS

EXPERT DIAMOND SETTERS IN OUR OWN SHOP

F. J. Preston & Son
Jewellers
17 Upper Church St.

SPORTING NEWS

[illegible], '30
Sporting Editor

VERMONT 89⅔, MASS. AGGIES 45⅓ ON TRACK

Park Again High Scorer for Vermont. Followed by Swain—Six Others Also Take Firsts

ELEVEN FIRSTS, TEN SECONDS

[illegible] Parks who captured [illegible] and Dick Swain, two, [illegible] Post's track and field [illegible] with a vengeance and [illegible] Mass. Aggies by the over[illegible] of 89⅔ to 45⅓.

[illegible] Brute" Billings won [illegible] hurdles, beating out [illegible] on at the tape with feet [illegible] were overawed to see [illegible] youngster come through [illegible] varsity letter as a re[illegible] to the brilliant work of [illegible] Swain's efforts were ob[illegible] showed his versatility in [illegible] pole vault and high [illegible] Post should have some [illegible] for next year and with [illegible] and juniors scoring, track [illegible] of being on the up[illegible]

[illegible] breaking race Flagg was [illegible] tape in the half-mile by [illegible] M. A. C. after having led [illegible] of the way. His oppon[illegible] speed was too much for [illegible] fell across the worsted to [illegible] place. His pluck and courage earned him a great hand from [illegible]

[illegible] race of the day was the [illegible] McGuckin of the Aggies [illegible] pole at the gun with Wilder [illegible] behind him. So they plodded [illegible] the gun lap sounded when [illegible] struck a sprint that was a [illegible] passed the lone Aggie enabled to leave McGuckin far [illegible] opened up a lead of about [illegible] However, the Aggie run[illegible] visions of defeat, set sail for [illegible] man, but he timed his [illegible] as the Catamount dis[illegible] had just enough reserve [illegible] to the tape by a few yards.

[illegible] javelin all nine points were [illegible] Vermont, "Stew" Phillips [illegible] followed by Gardner and [illegible] top off a well-balanced track [illegible]

[illegible] dash: Won by Frost [illegible] second, Child (V.); third, [illegible] Time, 11 seconds.

[illegible] dash: Won by Frost [illegible] second, Colburn (V.); [illegible] Drummond (M. A. C.). Time, [illegible]

[illegible] dash: Won by Huey (V.); [illegible] Bedell (V.); third, West [illegible] Time, 53⅗ seconds.

[illegible] dash: Won by Whitten [illegible] second, Flagg (V.); third, [illegible] (M. A. C.). Time, 2 minutes, [illegible]

[illegible] Won by Hadley (V.); [illegible] Drummond (M. A. C.); third, [illegible] Time 4 minutes, 45 sec[illegible]

[illegible] Won by Wilder (V.); [illegible] McGuckin (M. A. C.); third, [illegible] Time 10 minutes, 41⅗ [illegible]

[illegible] High hurdles: Won by [illegible] second, Mantey [illegible] third, Chadwick (M. A. C.). [illegible] seconds.

[illegible] low hurdles: Won by Bill[illegible] second, Cohen (V.); third, [illegible] (M. A. C.). Time 27 seconds.

[illegible] Won by Parks (V.); [illegible] (M. A. C.); third, [illegible] (M. A. C.). Distance 41 feet, [illegible]

[illegible] Won by Swain (V.); second among Bove (V.), Mee[illegible] Galvan (M. A. C.). Height [illegible]

Won by Parks (V.); second.

(Continued on page 4)

VERMONTERS THRICE VICTORS CATS BEAT PANTHERS, NEWPORT

SIGMA DELTA PSI CHAPTER AT U. V. M.

Charter of National Honorary Athletic Fraternity Granted—Prentice is Founder—Requirements are Difficult

TRY-OUT DATES TO BE ANNOUNCED SHORTLY

Sigma Delta Psi has been installed at the University of Vermont and the Charter is now in the hands of Howard A. Prentice, head of the department of physical education and founder of the local chapter. This is a national honorary athletic fraternity composed of forty-six active chapters. Vermont is the third in the East, the other two being at Yale and Springfield. President Bailey is the head of this chapter, ex-officio. There is a board of certification, the members of which are honorary members of the chapter. There is one man from each college of the University as follows. Prof. D. P. Carroll, Arts and Science; H. A. Prentice, Physical Education; M. H. Aldrich, Engineering; Dr. F. S Kent, Medical; Prof. R. W. Smith, Agricultural.

The duty of the board will be to certify all records and to act in an advisory capacity. The presiding head will be H. A. Prentice.

The requirements for membership are as follows:

1. 100-yard run in 11 3-5 seconds.
2. 220-yard (low) hurdles each 2 feet, 6 inches high, in 31 seconds, leaving all hurdles standing.
3. Running high jump at 5 feet.
4. Running broad jump at 17 feet.
5. Putting shot (16 pounds) 30 feet for a man of 160 pounds or over. For those who weigh less than 160 pounds the requirement to be scaled down in accordance with the following proportion.

160 — 30

Candidate's Weight — Requirement

6. Pole vault at 8 feet, 6 inches.
7. Choice of:
   (a) Baseball throw of 250 feet on fly.
   (b) Javelin throw of 130 feet.
8. Punting football 120 feet on fly.
9. 100 yard swim in 1 minute, 45 seconds.
10. 1 mile run in six minutes.
11. Tumbling:
    (a) Front hand spring.
    (b) Hand stand maintained 10 seconds.
    (c) Fence vault, height at chin, body not touching and free from bar.
12. Posture, erect carriage, especially of the head.

Substitutions:

1. A candidate who has won the varsity letter in any sport may substitute this letter once for any one requirement in Sigma Delta Psi, except swimming. This privilege is limited to three official varsity sports.
2. In order to recognize intramural sports, a substitution will be allowed for an intramural campus championship in tennis, golf, handball, squash, boxing, wrestling, or fencing providing a minimum of 24 men are entered in the tournament

SEMI-FINALS OF FRAT BASEBALL IN PROGRESS

Phi Sigma Delta Defeats Tau Epsilon Phi and Gains Right to Compete in Finals

In the final game of the prelims in the Interfrat Baseball Tournament, Delta Psi defeated the Independents 7 to 3 last Thursday afternoon on the back campus.

Opening the semi-final round, the Phi Sigma Deltans beat Tau Epsilon Phi, Friday, 8 to 3 in the best game of the tourney to date.

The second game of the second round was played yesterday between Kappa Sigma and Delta Psi, too late to be reported in today's Cynic. Today at 4 o'clock Sigma Nu is scheduled to meet Sigma Alpha Epsilon in the second League I match, while Alpha Tau Omega and Lambda Iota play tomorrow in the closing game of the semi-finals. The finals will take place next week.

JUNIOR VARSITY TRIMS FORT ETHAN ALLEN NINE

Jayvees Duplicate Varsity's Feat by Score of 11 to 7 for Second Victory of Season

While Centennial Field was the scene of much activity Saturday afternoon another baseball team carrying the Vermont colors was attempting to do what the varsity nine had already done, namely, to defeat Company I, 13th Infantry of Fort Ethan Allen. The result was a 11 to 7 victory for the Green and Gold junior varsity to compare with a 9 to 0 beating administered by the first team on this same soldier outfit.

"Doc" Newton's men were hard pressed several times but managed to come out on top. Levy put the game on ice for the Vermonters when he poled out a triple with the sacks loaded. The three resulting runs meant a lot toward victory for the jayvees, and according to the official record the slate has this the second win of the season in as many starts.

Cunningham pitched well for the Green and Gold but was relieved in the last inning by Benway.

PRESS CLUB SOCIALIZES AT SLADE HALL MEETING

Press Club held a social meeting at Slade Hall Friday afternoon, with Margaret Stanley and Eleanor Koenig as hostesses. Prof. L. W. Dean was the guest of honor.

A business meeting of the organization is scheduled for 1.30 p.m. Friday, May 16, in 3 North College.

The sound of a meek masculine voice came over the receiver of the doctor's telephone. "Doc, my wife has just gotten a hitch in her jaw-bone and can't open her mouth. If you're out this way in the next week or so you might drop in and see if anything can be done for her."—Okla. Whirlwind

Title Contest Goes to Cats Who Also Rout U.S.N.T.S.

Cummings Strikes Out 15 at Middlebury, Gets Triple With Jay for 2 to 1 Victory—Jay Gets Homer as Green and Gold Hit All Over the Diamond Against Newport Sailors

NETSTERS WIN AND LOSE, ST. MIKE MATCH NEXT

Tupper, in Singles, Only Victor at Middlebury—St. Michael's Loses First Match 4 to 2 and Tries Again Today

Last Thursday afternoon the Green and Gold tennis team finally broke into the winning column by a 4 to 2 victory at the expense of St. Michael's on the Purple's courts. Led by Captain Borkland and Palmer, the Catamounts displayed a flashy brand of tennis, which accounted for three out of four victories in the singles and one in the doubles.

The match was the first one on the St. Michael's schedule, and consequently they were not up to their best standard due to lack of practice. However, Carson and Dupuis both played exceptional games for the Purple.

Results of the match were.

Singles: Tupper (V) beat Caron (M) 6-4, 6-2; Captain Borkland (V) beat Brown (M) 6-2, 6-1; Palmer (V) beat Camp (M) 6-1, 6-0; Dupuis (M) beat Goddard (V) 6-4, 6-1.

Doubles: Dupuis and Caron (M) beat Tupper and Pouch (V) 6-4, 10-12, 6-1; Borkland and Palmer (V) beat Brown and Durick (M) 6-4, 6-1.

On the Middlebury courts Friday the Green and Gold netmen suffered their third defeat of the season by a 5 to 1 score at the hands of the Panthers. Such an overwhelming defeat, was somewhat of a surprise to the Catamount followers who had conceded Vermont at least an even break, due to the fact that Clark University a team which Vermont had tied on their Massachusetts trip had recently defeated Middlebury by a 5 to 1 count. However, the Panthers displayed a flashy hand of tennis with which the Catamounts were unable to cope. Tupper, by virtue of his victory in the singles, was the only winner for Vermont.

Summary:

Singles: Tupper (V) beat Raeder (M) 6-4, 7-5; Woodbury (M) beat Borkland (V) 6-3, 6-3; Loomis (M) beat Palmer (V) 6-4, 4-6, 6-2; Volkmar (M) beat Pouch (V) 7-5, 6-8, 6-2.

Doubles: Raeder and Hemis (M) beat Borkland and Palmer (V) 6-4, 6-4; Woodbury and Allen (M) beat Tupper and Woodward (V) 6-3, 6-3.

This afternoon will see St. Mike's tennis team again opposing on the local courts. Coach Carpenter expects

(Continued on page 4)

TEAM PLAYS AT NORWICH TOMORROW AFTERNOON

By Cy Natkiewicz

Two stirring victories during the past week-end brought the Catamounts total to five and ran their straight string to three for the season.

Charley Cummings and Orson Jay cooperated to down the Panthers 2-1 in a beautifully played pitching duel at Middlebury last Thursday. Errorless fielding on both sides together with good pitching made the game one of the best ever played on the Middlebury diamond. The victory gives Vermont a leg on the state championship.

Cook the veteran Panther pitcher twirled a good game, but was far outdone by Cummings who allowed five hits and amassed an amazing amount of strikeouts—fifteen all told. Cook gave only six hits but lost out badly by allowing three in succession in the third inning when Pires singled, and Cummings and Jay tripled to bring in Vermont's two runs.

Middlebury tallied in the eighth frame when Hasseltine walked, stole second, and came home on Humeston's long single. Middlebury never got more than one hit in any one inning. In the ninth, with one gone, Yeomans walked and a fast double play, Pires to Traynor to Winant ended the game most brilliantly.

Jay made a sensational catch in center and also got a two-base hit.

U. S. Naval Training Station, the team that made things so hard for the other state nines was meat for Vermont, Saturday, when the sailors took a 20 to 3 whitewash on Centennial Field.

Starting with Jay's homer on the first ball pitched to Vermont until the very end the Newport pitchers were treated mercilessly by the Catamount sluggers. Twenty hits including the home run, doubles by Stroh and Traynor, and triples by Dinniman, Winant and Baker boosted the batting averages considerably. Vermont was aided by errors, but at that got 16 earned runs. Four Vermont errors did little damage.

Vermont's big innings were the third, seventh, and eighth, although only in the fifth did the home team miss five. The service men did their scoring as sort of a rally in despair in the ninth. Two errors and two cheap hits were the causes.

Sargent, reported to have been laid up with a bad back, and possibly out for the season, was feeling so improved that Coach Gardner started him in the box. He did some excellent work, allowing three hits and no runs in six stanzas. Rutkowski relieved

(Continued on page 4)

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed 0.50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed ..... 1.50 up

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

Dress Up For Junior Week
White Flannels
$7.00 to $11.00
White Ducks
$2.00 to $2.50
TUXEDOS AND FURNISHINGS
HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

SENIOR CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

Vermonters Thrice Victors

TITLE CONTEST GOES TO CATS WHO ROUT SAILORS

(Continued from page 1)

...

Norwich Four Straight

...

...

...

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1930 NUMBER 56

STUDENT FUNDS PAY FOR 1930 YEARBOOK

Auditor's Statement Shows Almost Entire Income Drawn From Student Body

COST OF LAST YEAR'S ARIEL EXCEEDS $6,000

[illegible] cost of publishing the 1930 [illegible] of $6,000 and that virtually [illegible] amount came from the [illegible] are disclosed in an of[illegible] from the auditor of [illegible] in a letter to the edi[illegible] dated May 12. The [illegible] indicates that $1,600 was [illegible] from subscriptions, $1,200 [illegible] tax, $1,700 from the [illegible] $700 from organizations [illegible] space, and $95 from the [illegible] to the 1931 Ariel. The [illegible] came from advertising. The largest single item of expenditure was for engraving and [illegible] which the Ariel paid over [illegible] The letter concludes:

"These figures raise the somewhat [illegible] question as to how long [illegible] can continue to put out a [illegible] letter Ariel each year. An [illegible] that costs $6,155 raises the question whether this limit has not already been reached. Practically the [illegible] income (excepting the item of $[illegible] for advertising) comes from the student body."

The Letter

The text of the letter follows:

"To the Editor of the CYNIC:

"I do not know that a financial statement of the Ariel has ever been published, but it seems to me that a summary of receipts and expenditures of [illegible], through the columns of the CYNIC, would be of some interest to the students.

"The following are the data from the 1930 Ariel account, which has just been closed: The total receipts were $[illegible]80 from the following sources: subscriptions, $1,615.15; class tax, $1,[illegible] advertising, $783.50; organizations paying for space, $709.60; sale of camera to 1931 Ariel, $95; from class treasury, $1,706.05. The expenses were distributed in three groups: Engraving and printing, $5,531.21; photography, $165.12; general expenses, $[illegible]47.

"The class of 1930 had in its treasury in September $2,040.62, which was the accumulated amount from the tax for the three previous years. The $3 class Tax payable in September [illegible] $492. It will appear that, in addition to the Ariel Tax of $7.50 [illegible] each member of the Class of [illegible] has been necessary to take from

(Continued on page 4)

CLASSIC ORATIONS WILL FEATURE PRIZE SPEAKING

Classic orations will be very much in evidence next Thursday evening when [illegible] Kingsley prize speakers unite to present a program of orations ranging [illegible] the days of Socrates to those of [illegible] Among the best-[illegible]eches on the program will [illegible] last appeal to his judges, [illegible] Webster's "Imaginary Speech [illegible] Adams," Bryan's "Cross of [illegible] speech, Webster's Seventh of [illegible] speech, Mary Raymond An[illegible] "The Perfect Tribute," Henry [illegible] The New South," and [illegible] address at the Washington [illegible] Conference of 1920. The [illegible] follows:

[illegible] last Appeal to his Judges, [illegible] Frazier.

[illegible] Speech by John Adams, [illegible] 4, 1776, Daniel Webster, Samuel [illegible]

[illegible] Gold, William Jennings [illegible] Morin.

[illegible] Clay's Compromise of 1850 [illegible] speech) Daniel Webster, [illegible]

[illegible] Tribute, Mary Raymond [illegible] Colburn.

[illegible] South, Henry Grady, James [illegible]

[illegible] Foundation, anony[illegible] Donoghy.

[illegible] Address at the Washington [illegible] of 1920, Aristide [illegible] MacDonald.

[illegible] gives promise of being [illegible] in a number of [illegible] of $25, $15 and $10 will [illegible] outstanding speakers [illegible]

ANNOUNCEMENT

Pi Beta Phi Sorority announces the adoption of a resolution to abstain hereafter from all fraternity combines.

The resolution is the second such adopted by a sorority within the week.

PLANS FOR SENIOR MEEK SHAPE THEMSELVES AS PROGRAM IS ANNOUNCED

Events Will Begin With Senior Women's Tea and Will Conclude With Boatride on Commencement Day

With plans for the event already rounding into shape, preparations for Senior Week may be concluded before the examination period. Activities will open with the traditional senior women's tea June 13 and will conclude with the Senior Boatride the evening of Commencement Day, June 17.

Class Day, Alumni Day, Baccalaureate Day and Commencement Day will succeed each other over a four-day period, beginning with the senior class pilgrimage and the gowning of the statues of Ira Allen and Lafayette the morning of June 14. In the afternoon, at 2 o'clock, the Class Day exercises will be held on the College Green, and in the evening, at nine o'clock, seniors and their immediate families will attend the Senior Prom in the Billings Library.

The morning of the same day the trustees will meet, and also Phi Beta Kappa, which will elect a second group of seniors to membership in the society. Mortar Board will reune at noon, the fraternities will hold their receptions at four o'clock in the afternoon, and the President will receive at 8.30 in the evening.

Alumni Day

The following day will be dedicated to the alumni. In the morning, Boulder will reune and the Alumni Council will meet. Both the trustees and Phi Beta Kappa will meet again, preliminary to the alumni luncheon. At 2.30 in the afternoon the alumni will parade in costume to Centennial Field and in the evening, at 6 o'clock, while the sororities reune, the alumni of the colleges of Medicine, Agriculture and Engineering will dine at three different hotels. At nine o'clock in the evening the fraternities will hold their reunions.

The next day, Baccalaureate Day, will center about the baccalaureate service in the Ira Allen Chapel at four o'clock in the afternoon. In the morning, the alumni will hold their annual boatride, and in the afternoon, at one o'clock the various classes will hold their reunion dinners. Faculty homes will hold open house at five, and in the evening, at eight, the Burlington Military Band will play for the Alumni Sing.

Commencement

The Commencement exercises will be held at ten o'clock, the morning of June 17, in the gymnasium annex, following the academic procession. The luncheon for trustees and invited guests at one o'clock and the Senior Boatride at 5.15 will conclude the week's events.

CHAPEL SPEAKER SEES DIVINITY IN MANKIND

"Divinity is an attribute of mankind," declared the Rev. Stanley Cummings, pastor of the Congregational Church of Bennington, in chapel Wednesday morning. "We are of the earth, yet we are also of heaven," declared the speaker.

The appreciation of the finer things in life, and the contemplation of beauty transcending mere materiality adds just so much more to human existence, asserted Mr. Cummings.

TELLS BLUESTOCKINGS OF EUROPEAN TRAVELS

Professor Tupper told of his European trip at a meeting of Bluestockings, held May 12 at 4 o'clock, at the Kappa Alpha Theta House. Winona Spencer had charge of refreshments.

Colorful Junior Prom And Fraternity Formals Will Close Week's Activities

Twenty-fifth Annual Junior Week to Feature Gala Event of Social Season as Promenade Adds to Festivities Tonight—Fraternities Plan Dances Tomorrow Evening as Conclusion to Four-day Celebration

With junior banquet, peerade and play now a part of the history of Vermont's twenty-fifth annual Junior Week, the whole campus now turns its attention to the Junior Prom, gala event of the social season which will enliven the Memorial Auditorium from nine o'clock tonight to one o'clock as the rooster crows, and to the formal dances which almost every house on the hill will be presenting tomorrow evening as the concluding event of the week.

Ten of the thirteen men's fraternities have announced their Junior Week dances for Saturday, May 17. Seven of the societies plan to hold dances at their houses and the others in places well known socially.

Lambda Iota will hold its Junior Week dance at the Owl House with Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Braun as chaperons.

Captain and Mrs. W. V. Rattan and Dr. and Mrs. P. O. Clark will preside at the Sigma Phi House.

Delta Psi is also holding its formal in the fraternity house with Captain and Mrs. K. L. Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Max Powell as chaperones.

Professor and Mrs. J. A. Bullard and Professor and Mrs. R. S. Gates will chaperone at the Phi Delta Theta dance.

Alpha Tau Omega's formal will take place at the A. T. O. House with Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hartwell as guests.

Professor W. R. Adams and Miss Nelle S. Alexander will chaperone at Kappa Sigma's formal at the Kappa Sigma House.

Tau Epsilon Phi will hold its Junior Week dance at the Country Club with Captain and Mrs. W. E. Lauer as guests.

Oakledge Manor will be the scene of Zeta Chi's formal at which Professor and Mrs. L. W. Dean and Professor and Mrs. H. G. Millington will be chaperones.

Professor and Mrs. D. B. Carroll will chaperone at the Phi Sigma Delta dance at the Sherwood Hotel.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will hold its formal at the ΣΑΕ House with Professor and Mrs. A. B. Myrick and Professor C. L. Stineford as guests.

THREE NEWSPAPER MEN TO JUDGE H. S. PAPERS

Editors of Three Prominent Vermont Papers Will Determine Scholarship Winners in High School Publication Contest

Three men well-known in the field of state journalism were recently chosen as judges of Vermont high school publications in the annual prize contest to be held in the Medical College building at 10 o'clock, June 14th, and sponsored by the University of Vermont.

The judges follow:

Mr. Elba A. Henry, editor of the Burlington Daily News; Roy L. Johnson, editor of the Randolph Herald, and W. C. Belknap, editor and publisher of the Bellows Falls Times.

Realizing the practical value of amateur journalism and desiring each year to further competitive interest toward the improvement of high school publications, the University of Vermont offers awards in the form of editorial scholarships to be applied on tuition at U. V. M.

Each year three scholarships are given to members of editorial boards of magazines and newspapers in Vermont high schools.

The first award is valued at $175 and goes to the editor or business manager of the high school paper in the first group according to the number of students enrolled.

The second, of $150 is presented to a representative of the second group and $125 is given for the best effort made by a school publication in the third group.

The schools are classified by a committee of newspaper men into three groups. Then if a paper shows special merit it is promoted and allowed to compete within a higher group while others may be demoted.

Each fall the high school editors meet at the University to study their problems, exchange ideas and receive instructions and advice from persons experienced in writing and journalism.

DEBATER WILL SPEAK FOR VERMONT IN ZONE CONTEST IN ORATORY

Franklin Sears Will Represent University in National Intercollegiate Competition

Franklin Sears, four-year veteran of varsity debate, will represent Vermont in the zone singles of the sixth of the national intercollegiate oratorical contest and the fourth that Vermont has entered. The contest is analogous to that of the national interscholastic competition for secondary schools and, as in the high school contest, the Constitution of the United States will be the topic of all orations.

It is known that every state in the union except Nevada has already entered one or more contestants. In nine states, including Vermont, only a single college has entered. Vermont three years ago placed high in the national semi-finals when Lawrence Hince, '28, placed in the New England competition in 1927. Hince represented Vermont again the following year, and Thor Krogh, '29, last year.

To Enter Zone Contest

Sears will enter the zone contest at Harvard University to speak for the championship of the New England district sometime within the next two weeks. He goes as regional winner from the state of Vermont.

The winners of the regional contests will be assigned by P. Caspar Harvey, the Contest Director, to seven zone contests which will take place from May 9 to May 30 at Harvard University, Fordham University, Heidelberg College, Northwestern University, William Jewell College, Ashville Normal, and Oregon State College. The seven winners of these zone contests will compete at Los Angeles, June 19, for $5,000 in prizes.

"Every contestant in this year's contest," the national director announced when the entry list closed, "should realize that he or she is a very real part of the largest intercollegiate competitive forensic event in the history of the United States. Although tremendous honor will go to the victors in the various steps of the contest, it should be remembered that this honor would not be possible without the interest, work, and ability of all the contestants in all parts of the country."

More than one hundred schools are entered in the 1930 contest which were not entered in the 1929 contest. The total student body enrollment of the colleges and universities which will be represented by orators reaches the rather impressive aggregate of 460,191.

The prizes which will be awarded to the national winners at Los Angeles June 19 are a first of $1,500, a second of $1,000, a third of $750, a fourth of $500, and three others of $400 each.

UPPERCLASSES TO HOLD ELECTIONS NEXT WEEK

Sophomores will meet for the annual class elections Thursday afternoon and juniors next Friday afternoon, according to tentative dates set by the presidents of the upper classes. The freshman class elected Wednesday afternoon.

The nominating committees of the two classes, composed of representatives of all fraternity and sorority groups and of the Independents, will prepare slates of candidates in advance of the class meetings. The class of 1932 will nominate at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Old Mill Chapel. The juniors will nominate at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon in 1 South College.

The sophomore class will also elect the editor and the business manager of the Ariel at Thursday's election.

The effect of a Chinese garden will greet the dancers at the Prom tonight as they enter the Memorial Auditorium, where Fletcher Henderson and his widely-touted colored orchestra will entertain the revelers during the four hours of the Promenade. That surprises of all sorts are in store for the dancers has been rumored about the campus for several days past, but what they are the chairman of the Prom would not reveal in advance. The Junior Week committee last night released the following bulletin:

Biggest and Best Yet

"The event this year promises to be the biggest and best Prom yet. The decorations with their magnificent effect of a Chinese garden will do much to make the evening delightful.

"The orchestra which is playing for the Prom this year is probably the best one to be heard around this part of the country for a long time to come. Fletcher Henderson and his colored band are classed as the leading exponents of the latest music. Rated as the finest colored band in the world, there should be no doubt as to the music for the event.

"At the rate at which the table reservations are being taken Harley Chatterton, Prom chairman, says that undoubtedly there will be a great many disappointed and unable to get reservations. The advance sale on tickts has been very promising.

"Tonight at the Auditorium from 9-1 a.m. promises to be the best dance of the year and it certainly looks as if every one in college were going to be there dancing to this marvelous music. The favors have arrived and, from the joyful looks on the faces of the committee when they inspected them, they must be good."

WOMEN TO HOLD CLASS SING AT SPRING RALLY

At the women's spring rally, May 21, there will be competitive class singing, according to official notice. Rehearsals should be held before that date as competent judges will be present.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL BROADCAST TONIGHT

"For Distinguished Service" will be broadcast tonight from the University radio station WCAX by the Dramatic Club as the feature of the seventy minute program. The reading of the play, which will take twenty minutes beginning at 7:30 is one of the first instances of a student organization.

The full program calls for the following schedule:

7:30 p. m.—Play "For Distinguished Service." Members of the Dramatic Club: Lillian Cohen '31, Gertrude Levin, '31, Irene Marcotte, 30. (By arrangement Longmans, Green and Company, New York City.)

7:50-8:20—Program by members of Boys' and Girls' 4-H Clubs in Addison County, Miss Jean I. Robertson, County Club Agent, in charge.

8:20-8:40—Music by trio: Miss Miriam Natilee Marston, pianist, Miss Charlotte de Volt, violinist, David B. Jenks, cellist.

This broadcast will be one of the last by WCAX this year since operations will cease with Commencement. The station operates on a frequency of 249.9 meters, 1200 kilocycles and is operated solely for extension work. The programs have been under the supervision of Prof. Leon W. Dean who is also the station announcer, and Thomas Bradlee, director of the extension service. The operators are students of the University and all programs are conducted under the auspices of the University and the extension service talent.

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] '31
Editor-in-Chief

GEORGE E. BRIGHAM, JR. '31
CHARLES E. BRIGHAM, '31
Managing Editors

HILDA S. SMITH, '31
Women's Editor

SEYMOUR L. NATHANSON, '32
Sports Editor

STUART S. CURRIN, '31
Business Manager

Raymond W. Cook, '32 — News Editors Alice O. Eaton, '32 — Fred W. Householder, '32

F. C. Carter, '32 — Feature Editors Edmund A. Germain, '31 — Robert L. Stewart, '32

Intercollegiate Editor Charles P. Lambert, '31 — Contributing Editor H. S. Jones, '32 — Dramatic Editor Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Assistant Editors

P. P. Berger, '32 — W. [illegible] '32 — S. W. Spaller, '33
J. F. Higgins, '32 — C. J. S[illegible], '33 — E. A. Lyon, '33
F. M. Dow, '32 — M. J. Shaw, '33 — C. H. Wormelle, '33
A. Katz, '32 — J. C. Shaw, '33

Associate Sports Editor
Lealand M. Foster, '31

Assistant Sports Editors
J. S. Leon, '32 — A. A. Manion, '32 — F. Tupper, '32
J. H. Forsyth, '33 — [illegible] S. Pondsky, '32 — R. W. Ryan, '33

Women's Associate Editor
Luella Rose, '31

Harriet Wright, '31, Women's Athletic Editor — Gladys Press, '31, Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors

Mildred Gile, '32 — Brunetta Harkness, '32 — Margaret Mower, '32
Helen LeBaron, '32 — Margaret Ann Morton, '32 — Hope Ranslow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
E. G. Hurlburt, '32 — R. E. Tracy, '32 — G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1885. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.

Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the [illegible] not later than 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — May 16, 1930 — No. 56

PROM-PROM-PROMENADE

In the spring a young man's fancy
Lightly turns to thoughts of Junior Prom

With this particularly inept piece of doggerel we salute the most welcome event of this academic year of grace nineteen hundred and thirty-one, trusting that our offering upon the altar of the great god of social events may be accepted by that auspicious divinity in as good grace as that with which we submit it.

We have no desire to urge upon anyone attendance at this function. The lure of the Prom, the majesty of the Promenade, are sufficient in themselves. Only a circus can equal a Junior Week Peerade, but not even a mass meeting can eclipse a Prom.

We have been assured upon the very best authority that this Prom is to be the best and biggest of all Proms that ever have been. Frankly, we are only mildly interested. That it is a Prom is enough for us. We never asked for the best and biggest. But if it be indeed the superlative in Proms (and what with the Chinese garden effect and all, we do not doubt it) then we shall not be offended.

Junior Week for the twenty-fifth time in twenty-five years, now recedes into the background. For the twenty-fifth time, banquet, peerade and play have passed out of a thousand undergraduates' experience. But they have left behind them a holiday spirit, and it is for the Prom and the dances the following night to catch up that spirit, and prolong it until four days of merrymaking and two nights of dancing have restored the undergraduate to his normal self.

They will turn it into a Chinese garden tonight. They will add a Parisian cabaret effect. The finest colored band in the world will surely not detract from the merriment by giving its version of syncopation. In short, the Junior Prom is here.

We feel it not inapt at this time to remark on the growing sentiment within fraternity groups themselves against the practice of entering into combines for the purpose of grabbing off campus "honors."

It is farthest from our desires that the members of those groups which have voluntarily dissociated themselves from political entanglements should be left out in the cold when election time comes around. The CYNIC, accordingly, is now considering the publication in advance of all elections of all fraternity combines, together with their respective candidates and statements from those candidates as to what—if anything—they stand for. The proposal is by no means an unusual one, for it is already the practice on many campuses. Perhaps the removal of the element of secrecy which surrounds the political deal, and the injection into the situation of something other than a desire to lengthen an "honors" list will serve as added protection for those groups which have indicated that they are willing to play the game straight.

Although Campus politics has ever been looked at askance by intelligent groups, the action of certain sororities in outlawing it constitutes the first instance at Vermont in which it has ever come under a legal ban. The secret combine at least, seems to be definitely on the wane.

BROADCASTING STUDENT DRAMATICS

We offer our congratulations to the radio station WCAX for its decision to broadcast a Dramatic Club production tonight. To inform the citizens of the State of what students are doing in worthwhile activities, and incidentally to encourage those students, seems to us a task well worth doing. For this reason we have endorsed the production of the fall play in Vermont towns and the off-campus debates of the junior varsity teams. With the University radio station assisting in this work, not Rutland and Vergennes alone, but every town and village in the state now comes within the scope of the University's undergraduate activities.

Dr. Merritt H. Eddy of Class of '65 Gains Approving Plaudits of Nation

Pensioned at the age of 97, after 65 years of practice New England's old and beloved physician, Dr. Merritt H. Eddy, graduate of U. V. M. in 1865, was the guest of honor at luncheon held Wednesday, April 30, by the New England Medical Center in Boston.

65 Years of Practice

Public health officials and high dignitaries of state and city hailed the veteran Vermont physician as an outstanding example of peacetime's finest type of hero. Laurels figuratively speaking, crowned Doctor Eddy's white-thatched brow at last—but according to those who know him best the old doctor accepted his eleventh hour dose of fame with a philosophic twinkle in his keen blue eye. Doctor Eddy in 65 years of practice has had his share of kind words and his share of those testimonials material and otherwise which testify gratitude more unmistakably than do the prettiest of pretty speeches.

Hay used to find its way into the doctor's barn, and no bill for it was ever rendered. The doctor's horses—and he has outlived and outworked 11 of them—were miraculously shod without ever being paying guests at the Middlebury smithy. Paint was seldom lacking on the doctor's house or shingles on his roof. Chickens appeared by magic on the Sunday table and turkeys smuggled into the doctor's oven at Thanksgiving and Christmas time.

Doctor Eddy doesn't boast of it, but he is commonly conceded to have more friends than any other two men in all the length and breath of the Green Mountain State and the University is proud that he attended it. Many of those friends are recruited from the ranks of the more than 2,000 babies whom Doctor Eddy has brought health ily squalling into the world.

At Risk of Own Life

Other friends of the doctor's are the hundreds of men and women whose lives he has saved, often at the risk of his own.

It's a long list, this roster of those who were snatched back from the edge of the grave by the dauntless grit of the unassuming Middlebury practitioner, who, to use his own phrase, "sometimes ran out of medicine, but never got caught short on willingness to keep trying."

Georgie Richardson, a Middlebury College student of almost three-quarters of a century ago, was the first to profit by Merritt Eddy's knack of keeping the human machine in tick.

A Deadly Disease in 1850

Typhoid was a deadly disease back in the middle 1800's. Doctors were scarce in the vicinity of Middlebury and nurses were scarcer still. The physicians' verdict was that Georgie might get well, if he had good care.

"I'll take care of him," said Merritt Eddy, the sick boy's roommate—and he did.

There was more to the job, too, than merely the risk of infection.

Merritt Eddy wasn't taking his college course to the tune of a mandolin nor cultivating campus popularity by joining in beer-stein choruses of evenings. He was working his way through school by the sweat of his brow and by the farm-trained muscles of his back and arms. Before entering Middlebury he had been a student at six preparatory schools, staying at each as long as he could find paying labor in its vicinity.

Before Georgie Richardson fell sick, Merritt Eddy had been working days and studying nights. Somehow, he continued this, and played nurse into the bargain.

Slept Very Little

"It wasn't so very hard," Doctor Eddy recalls now. "I was pretty well used to getting along without sleep anyhow."

As things turned out, nursing Georgie Richardson proved a valuable experience for young Eddy. Soon after, one of Middlebury's foremost citizens, Judge Samuel Swift, was injured in a driving accident. He sent for Merritt Eddy and asked the student to take care of him.

"Glad to, Judge," said Eddy, "but I've got my chores to attend to."

"From now on," snapped the judge testily, "I'm all your chores." Merritt had a steady job at last.

Eddy was graduated from Middlebury in 1860. He took his A.M. degree in 1863, having taught for three years while attending to his studies in his spare time.

He then entered Harvard Medical School.

"I'd had an itch to take up doctoring ever since I nursed Georgie Richardson and old Judge Swift," Doctor Eddy explains.

Harvard professors hailed the lean, tow-headed young Vermonter as an unusually promising medical material, but Merritt Eddy's home state wasn't willing to let him get away.

A Middlebury faculty member doing part time duty as instructor at the University of Vermont, made Eddy an offer to come over home as his assistant. He promised to see Eddy through the medical school at the University

Another Consideration

With the prospect of having his financial worries lifted from his shoulders, young Eddy accepted. He was influenced by one other consideration, also. She was Louise M. Seely, sister of Prof. Henry Seely, Merritt Eddy's prospective employer. Eddy married Miss Seely three years later.

Having been graduated a full-fledged M.D. from the University of Vermont in 1865, Doctor Eddy began practice at Middlebury. He lived in a single dormitory room at Middlebury College and he made his calls with a borrowed horse. He obtained the rig by agreeing to take the owner's invalid wife on his calls, thus furnishing her with fresh air and agreeable recreation.

"It just happened that I stayed in Middlebury," Doctor Eddy declares now. "I had planned, of course, to go West or to a big Eastern city. I got started, however, and I couldn't stop. I've had someone who needed me from that day to this—and I'm satisfied with the ways things have turned out."

Hardship and Sacrifice

Of his years of hardship and sacrifice as a small-town country practitioner, of his single-handed battles against epidemics, of his night trips through blizzards and mud and rain, of his frozen ears and his own imperilled health, Doctor Eddy has little, these days, to say.

There are few of his contemporaries alive, either, to tell tales on him. He is the last living member of his class at Middlebury and the last but one of his medical school class at U. V. M.

He has a son, already a physician of note in Middlebury, and two grandsons both studying for the medical profession. In the Eddy family, however, secrets are secrets.

If Dr. Merritt Eddy doesn't want to be a hero, he doesn't have to, as far as his household is concerned. It was possible to worm just one anecdote out of the veteran physician. He consented to tell what he remembered as the funniest experience of his early career.

Through Snowstorm

"There was a very bad snowstorm," Doctor Eddy recalled. "The drifts were six and eight feet high in the village. A farmer from two miles outside of town staggered into my office. He was almost all in, but he wanted me to go back with him. His wife was going to have a baby. Well—we made it. Part of the way we walked, part of the way we crawled, and the rest of the way we rolled—it was down hill. That was the [illegible] years, but I managed to [illegible] from getting tipped [illegible] inside my coat next [illegible]

"Mother and baby [illegible] when I left to come [illegible] was almost as bad as [illegible] was just going to boil [illegible] water bottles when [illegible] and gave me a message.

"There was another [illegible] and it was a hurry call. [illegible] me the patient's address.

"'Good Lord,' I said, [illegible] Jones lives. I've just been [illegible]

"'Oh,' said my wife, 'then [illegible] the way. This woman lives [illegible] street from the Jones folks."

PROFS TO SPEAK AT GRADUATION EXERCISES

Professors of the University will be in evidence at high [illegible] mencements in Vermont [illegible] will include Professors Fr[illegible] Tupper, George V. Kidder, B[illegible] lance and Leon W. Dean [illegible] recent announcements.

Professor Tupper will [illegible] commencement address [illegible] High School, Professor K[illegible] sex Junction High School [illegible] sor Wallace at Underhill High S[illegible] Professor Dean will speak at [illegible] bury, Williamstown and Or[illegible] Schools and at Craftsbury Academy.

Society Notes

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The college chapter held its annual Mother's Day luncheon at the Athena Club rooms on Saturday, May 10.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Upsilon chapter of Alpha Xi Delta announces the pledging of Cornelia Bayliss, '32, of Burlington.

The engagement has been announced of Georgia Bostwick, '30, to Elbert Ferguson of Bristol, Vermont.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Alpha Chi Omega announces the pledging of Pearl Jennings, '32, of Hardwick.

SIGMA GAMMA

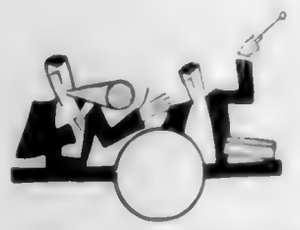
A miscellaneous shower was given to Evelyn Trask, '30, on Friday evening, May 9, at the home of Susan and Harriet Howard.

EPSILON SIGMA

At Epsilon Sigma's formal bridge dinner held Tuesday evening at the Hotel Vermont roof garden with Miss Helen Murray as toastmistress, chocolates were passed to announce the engagement of Gertrude Nicholson, '29, to Guy Birchard of Shoreham, Vermont.

The Old Reliable

Low Luster
Silk Stockings
1.95 Pr.



Low luster silk stockings are all the rage. We feature the Gotham gold stripe chiffon which makes the loveliest silk stocking in all fashionable shades.

"ALONE WITH MY DREAMS"

YIELD a moment to the eternal emotions! Lilting, soft as down, sweet and sure . . . here's a dance tune that gives the girls a chance . . .

Every one of this list of Victor Records has that unique personal pull that only Victor arrangements . . . and Victor artists, cream of the world from jazz to symphony . . . can give! Get this consolation and joy . . . at your Victor dealer's—NOW.

22334—ALONE WITH MY DREAMS—Nat. Shilkret and the Victor Orch. and LAZY LOUISIANA MOON—Hilo Hawaiian Orchestra

22322—IN MY LITTLE HOPE CHEST and SING YOU SINNERS—The High Hatters

22332—THE ONE I LOVE JUST CAN'T BE BOTHERED WITH ME—Philip Spitalny and his Orch. and BLUE, TURNING GREY OVER YOU—Nat. Shilkret and the Victor Orch.

22346—SWEEPIN' THE CLOUDS AWAY—Sanders Orch. and ANY TIME'S THE TIME TO FALL IN LOVE—Philip Spitalny and his Orch.

22337—THE WOMAN IN THE SHOE—Nat. Shilkret and the Victor Orch. and ONLY LOVE IS REAL—The Hi[illegible]

22339—WHEN IT'S SPRINGTIME IN THE ROCKIES and DOWN THE RIVER OF GOLDEN DREAMS—Hilo Hawaiian Orchestra

ALL THE MUSIC YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT on—

VICTOR RECORDS

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

Waining Pitches Cadets to Victory Over Catamounts

Allows Only Five Hits—Cummings Given Poor Support in Field and at Bat—Errors Are Numerous Due to Rain—Score 4-2

HOWARD, HOLMES FAIL TO TOUCH BAG, LOSE TRIPLES

[illegible] Waining, on the mound for [illegible]ain proved a Vermont [illegible] did in football last fall, when he [illegible] down the Catamounts 4 to [illegible] baseball game played on Sabine [illegible] Wednesday.

He held the Vermonters to five hits, struck out nine, and was credited with [illegible] Cummings pitched for Vermont and got poor support in the pinches. The wet weather accounted for the numerous errors on both sides.

Gale and Holmes for the cadets and Capt Howard for Vermont were the leading stickers. Holmes and Howard got triples but were out for not touching bases. Dinniman scored Vermont's first run when he walked and tallied on Howard's hit. Norwich errors were responsible for Vermont's second score.

Norwich took the lead in the fourth when Gale singled. Waining drew a pass on McKay's error, Tansey was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bags Holmes singled to send Gale home and Waining scored on an error by Pires In the next inning Gale and Del Vecchio bunched singles to bring in a run. In the seventh Sipsey scored after a series of errors.

The summary:

VERMONT

	ab	r	h	o	a	e
Jay, cf	5	0	0	0	0	0
Traynor, 2b	3	0	0	3	2	0
Winant, 1b	4	1	0	10	0	0
Dinniman, lf	3	1	1	2	0	0
Kendall, c	4	0	1	4	1	1
Howard (Capt.), rf	4	0	2	2	0	0
McKay, 3b	1	0	0	1	4	1
Pires, ss	3	0	0	1	3	2
Cummings, p	3	0	1	1	2	0
Baker	1	0	0	0	0	0
Sargent	1	0	0	0	0	0
Stroh	1	0	0	0	0	0
Total	33	2	5	24	12	4

NORWICH

	ab	r	h	o	a	e
Kane, lf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Gale, 2b	4	2	3	1	2	0
Waining (Capt.), p	4	1	0	0	8	0
Del Vecchio, 1b	4	0	1	8	0	2
Whitesides, 3b	4	0	1	3	1	1
Tansey, c	3	0	0	10	0	1
Holmes, rf	4	0	2	1	0	0
Sipsey, cf	2	1	1	2	0	0
Hartford, ss	2	0	0	2	0	1
Totals	31	4	8	27	11	5

*Batted for McKay in 9th.
Batted for Pires in 9th.
Batted for Cummings in 9th.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	T
Vermont	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	1	0	2
Norwich	0	0	0	2	1	0	1	0	*	4

Three-base hits: Holmes, Howard.
Sacrifice hits: Hartford, Traynor.
First base on balls: Off Waining 3; off Cummings 1.
Struck out: By Waining 9, by Cummings 4
Double play: McKay to Traynor to Winant
Passed balls: Tansey.
Hit by pitched ball: By Cummings (Tansey)
Time: 2 hours.
Umpire: Laird, Montpelier.

Students in physical education are notified that regular classes will end on Thursday, May 22, 1930. Students must make up all excess cuts to receive a passing grade for the semester. The excess cut list including May 14 will be posted on the bulletin board in the gymnasium May 16. All those concerned should be sure to check up on their cuts. Make-up periods are as follows:

Friday, May 23, 2.00-4.00 p.m.
Saturday, May 26, 2.00-4.00 p.m.
Tuesday, May 27, 8.30-11.30 p.m.
Tuesday, May 27, 2.00-5.00 p.m.

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer
University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR
SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

FRAT LEAGUE FINALISTS READY FOR CLOSE RACE

Kappa Sigma-Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Sigma Delta-Alpha Tau Omega Games Scheduled to be Played Monday and Tuesday

Kappa Sigma versus Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Sigma Delta versus Alpha Tau Omega are the interfraternity games scheduled for next Monday and Tuesday afternoons respectively on the back campus as a result of the first two elimination rounds of the tournament

Kappa Sigma defeated Delta Psi 1 to 0 in the best frat game in years last Monday. It was a real pitchers' duel between Coburn for the Delts and Bigelow for the Sigs. Bigelow gave two hits and Coburn allowed one by "Hank" Durfey which drove in the winning run. On Tuesday Sigma Alpha Epsilon beat Sigma Nu 5 to 1 with Burr hurling high and dry while St. Dennis for the Sigma Nus got into just enough hot water to lose out.

Wednesday the semi-final round ended with the Alpha Tau Omega win at the expense of Lambda Iota, 16 to 1. Hoyt pitched for the Owls and Baldwin and Halligan were most effective in the box for the victors. The Taus' hitting featured. Last week's victory for the Phi Sigma Deltans made them the other finalist in League II. The best pitchers in almost all cases have survived the preliminary games, therefore making the league finals close by all predictions.

ATHLETIC FRATERNITY TRYOUTS NEXT WEEK

Sigma Delta Psi Ready to Accept For Membership—Requirements Difficult—Local Rules Are Announced

Tryouts for Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity recently installed at the University of Vermont, will be held on the afternoons of Wednesday, May 21 and Thursday, May 22, from three to five o'clock, on Centennial Field. The tryouts will be directed by the Committee on Certification composed of Prof. D. P. Carroll, faculty advisor to the fraternity; H. A. Prentice, Director of Physical Education; Prof. R. W. Smith, College of Agriculture; Dr. F. S. Kent, College of Medicine; M. H. Aldrich, College of Engineering.

Any men desiring to try out are requested to hand in their names at once to Mr. Prentice in the office of the Department of Physical Education. There will be only one set of tryouts this spring since there is not much time left before the close of college.

The eligibility rules for the University of Vermont chapter are as follows:

1. All male students in the four colleges of the University are eligible.
2. No student shall be admitted to membership who is found to be delin-

(Continued on page 4)

GET YOUR FAVORITE MAGAZINE
at ISHAM'S

HOME-MADE CANDIES SODAS

Corner Main & Church Streets
LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

MICHAEL'S, CLARKSON, MONTREAL FEATURE JUNIOR WEEK SPORTS

VERMONT TO MEET MONTREAL IN TRACK

Catamounts In Third Meet of Season Hope to Win Second Victory Tomorrow On Centennial Field

CANADIANS USUALLY BRING STRONG TEAM

For the third Saturday in succession the University of Vermont track team will swing into action again tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to entertain Montreal A. A. A. at Centennial Field for a couple of hours. In the two previous meets Vermont has managed to break even by first bowing to Amherst and then sending the Mass. Aggies home in defeat. The first meet of the season was more or less of a rout but last Saturday the Vermonters showed much improvement in outpointing the Aggies 89 2-3 to 45 1-3

Coach "Archie" Post has developed some very strong material in his track and field team, which can give the Montreal force some real opposition In the discus, shot put and high jump Vermont is practically sure of capturing first places. In the season's two meets Park has had no trouble in winning the first two events while Franceschi easily took first in the latter Moreover, Park has led the team in number of points won on both occasions

In the dashes Child, Bond and Coburn seem to be Vermont's best bets while Huey, Bedell and Flagg lead in the middle distances. In the longer races Wilder, Hadley, Varney and Leach, who placed in the last meet, should give the Canadians a run for their money.

Dick Swain should give a good account of himself tomorrow especially in the pole vault. Last Saturday he not only took first place in the pole vault but also won the 120-yard high hurdles. Billings and Cohen are the two high hurdlers, the former won against M. A. C. but Cohen has looked good in practice.

In the weights Captain Mace, Parks and Flagg should gather a few points for Vermont, while Phillips, Gardner and Riani will offer opposition in the javelin throw. Captain Mace and Child may carry off the broad jump awards and at least Franceschi and perhaps Bond will place in the high jump

Nothing definite is known of the Montreal team but every year the Canadians have sent a strong outfit to represent them. They excel in track and Vermont has been known to defeat them only once in recent years in this sport.

GOT A LIGHT?

Class pipes are sold to the freshmen at the University of Pennsylvania in order to obtain a surplus for the class treasury

TENNIS
Rackets 1.50 to 20.00
Racket Cases—Presses
Nets and Court equipment
Wright & Ditson
Pennsylvania
TENNIS BALLS
L. P. WOOD'S
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

Lineups at Centennial Today

VERMONT	ST. MICHAEL'S
Jay, cf	1b, Slattery
Traynor, 2b	2b, Leddy
Winant, 1b	ss, Farynas
Dinniman, lf	c, Lynch
Kendall, c	3b, McGowan
Howard (Capt.) rf	lf, Dupuis
McKay, 3b	cf, Shea
Pires, ss	rf, Sullivan
Sargent, Rutkowski, p	p, Colville

Game called at 4 p. m
Umpires—Lyons (plate) and Seymour (bases).

GREEN AND GOLD TENNIS TEAM DEFEATS PURPLE

Large Crowd Sees Catamounts Lose Only One Match to Easily Down Visitors 5 to 1 —Colgate on Back Campus Courts Monday

Before a large crowd of fans on the back campus courts Tuesday afternoon the University of Vermont net men easily defeated the St. Michael's tennis team 5 to 1. The only match which proved to be a close contest was that between Palmer and Caron when the Vermonter lost the first set but rallied to win the next two and the match. Of the six matches Vermont won three of the four singles and both of the doubles.

Dupuis won the only match for the Purple men when he defeated Woodward of Vermont 6-3, 6-4.

The summary:

Tupper (V) defeated Brown (M) 6-2, 6-2, Capt. Borkland (V) defeated Colville (M) 6-4, 6-2; Palmer (V) defeated Caron (M) 6-8, 6-4, 6-2; Dupuis (M) defeated Woodward (V) 6-2, 6-4, Tupper and Woodward (V) defeated Brown and Camp (M) 6-2, 6-0; Borkland and Palmer (V) defeated Caron and Dupuis (M) 6-2, 6-2

The Green and Gold is now pointing for the match with Colgate, scheduled for Monday on the local courts

To date the Catamount netmen have met with only mediocre success having a record of two victories, one tie and three defeats The remaining four matches are to be played on the local courts, and if the team rounds into shape, four more victories may be expected. In the past the Maroon net teams have always rated high in eastern collegiate circles. The Catamounts will probably have plenty of trouble in disposing of the visitors effectively

PHYZ ED NOTE

All students occupying Physical Education lockers are hereby notified to remove the contents of their lockers and the lock on or before May 31, 1930. After that date the lockers will be emptied and new locks put on.

VERMONT FAVORITE IN BOTH CONTESTS

Two Games With St. Michael's and Clarkson, Today and Tomorrow, Will Appeal to Baseball Fans

CLARKSON TECH OLD GREEN AND GOLD RIVAL

By Cy Nathanson

As features of the current Junior Week celebration the Vermont Catamounts are playing two home baseball games the first this afternoon at four o'clock against St. Michael's College of Winooski Park, and the second tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Clarkson Tech.

Having taken it on the chin unexpectedly Wednesday at Norwich the Cats will be on hand claws and all today to grab their second leg of the State championship scraped. There is still another chance at the cadets but in any event the race has just begun Vermont's state record is one loss and one win over Middlebury. The most striking comparison we know how to make at this time is this. Newport Naval Training Station beat St. Michaels' 12 to 6 and Vermont in turn swamped Newport 20 to 3. The dope seems to be all in favor of the Green and Gold. Colville is the star pitcher for the Winooskers so there is little doubt that he will be in the box. Jack Slattery, Skip Shea, and McGowan are a few basketball players who will be in baseball uniforms today. Vermont will line up as it has in all the important games so far, with Bargent or Rutkowski on the rubber

Clarkson Tech has never been noted for much in athletics except its hockey teams, but Coach Gardner and his boys are not underrating the New Yorkers Clarkson teams have not appeared in Burlington for a couple of years, although previously Vermont and Clarkson were rivals on the gridiron. This game was scheduled instead of Niagara which was unable to complete arrangements for its contemplated trip to New England In view of the previous rivalry this makes an appropriate Junior Week contest. The outcome of the St Mike's game will have much to do with the lineup which will take the field tomorrow

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

SENIOR CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

PRESIDENCY OF CLASS OF '33 GOES TO COLLINS

[illegible] The vote of nominees was narrowed down by the withdrawal of Jimmy Wood and Maurice Mahoney leaving Collins and Richard Castonguay. Collins won the vote easily over Castonguay and Thomas Shipsey of Stamford. Lucy was elected vice-president, Margaret Wheaton of Hartford, secretary, and William Cannon of Burlington, treasurer.

Collins is the only freshman in recent years to earn his letter in basketball. He is a member of Gold Key and belongs to Sigma Nu Fraternity.

Nicholas Nicholas is a member of the Beta Pi fraternity. Margaret Wheaton is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Wallace Grant is a member of Phi Mu Delta.

W. A. A. CALLS FOR SONG CONTEST CONTRIBUTIONS

All contributions to the W. A. A. song contest should be handed in to the chairman, Dorothy Warhurst, '31, president of W. S. G. A. or to some member of the council according to a recent announcement from the executive board.

FOLLOWING, OURS

Because it was serving no real need on the campus, the Cougar's Paw, Washington, state's humor magazine, has been officially abandoned.

ATHLETIC FRATERNITY TRYOUTS NEXT WEEK

(Continued from page 3)

system of scholarship. The rule that will probably be applied is the "under average" rule to be decided upon definitely by the Committee on Certification. Announcement regarding this will be made in the near future.

In the matter of scholarship standing a student will not be counted for membership until he has completed one semester of college work.

To eliminate the necessity for taking the entire test in one afternoon the test has been divided into three parts as follows:

1. Wednesday May 21—100 yard dash, 120 yard low hurdles, pole vault, shot put, javelin or baseball throw, football punt, tumbling posture.

2. Thursday May 22—Running high jump, running broad jump, mile run.

3. Swimming. Time to be announced to the candidates in the near future.

It can readily be seen from the requirements printed in the last issue that it will be no easy job to be certified as a member. Only all around excellence will qualify. One can think of but six or seven present Vermont students who are capable of passing this all around test. A man might be capable of passing all the running events yet incapable of weight throwing, high jumping or swimming. Again, a man might be capable of all these but not be able to pole vault or kick a football. Last but not least, no student shall be admitted to membership who is found to be delinquent in scholarship and who does not command the respect of his associates as an athlete and gentleman.

A glance through the constitution of the fraternity reveals many interesting facts. The object of the society shall be the encouragement of the moral, physical and mental development and standing among college students. No student shall be admitted to membership who is found by the faculty to be delinquent in scholarship. The initiation fee of full membership shall be ten dollars. This includes membership in the national organization, the purchase of the gold insignia key, and the certificate of membership.

The key consists of a gold Sigma upon which are superimposed a gold Delta and a gold Psi. The words, Sigma Delta Psi themselves mean "Holy the slave of the spirit."

Vermont may well congratulate itself upon having this chapter installed here and Mr. Prentice must be thanked for his untiring efforts in bringing it about. Congratulations, too, must be given to any man securing this coveted key. It is the Phi Beta Kappa of physical accomplishment.

UNIQUE RELIGIOUS MEET PLANNED FOR WOMEN

At Adelynrood, near Newburyport, Mass., under the leadership of Angus Dun of the Cambridge Theological School, a group of outdoor retreats will meet from September 5 to 8, 1930. The plan is unique, no decisions are to be made but instruction in the art of prayer and time for meditation, prayer, and companionship are its objects. Episcopalian members of any college, undergraduates, and recent graduates are invited. The only expense after reaching Adelynrood is the small charge for board and room at $2 a day. Further information will be supplied gladly by Harriet L. Hardy, 351 East 19th Street, New York City.

GURNEY AND FARR ARE SENIOR HOSTESSES NOW

The following students in the Home Economics Department are in charge of Practice House this week: Senior hostesses, Dorothy Gurney and Alma Farr, cook, Janice Davis, and house manager, Dorothy Emery; waitress, Vivian Hubbard, freshman assistant, Ruth Templeton.

DEAN CALLS FOR DRAFT OF TENTATIVE CALENDAR

Social Organizations Will Meet Wednesday To Schedule Events For Next Year

A meeting has been called by the office of the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences to prepare a tentative draft of the social calendar for the coming year. Prof. Elijah Swift has set the time for the meeting at 4:15 Wednesday afternoon.

It is suggested that all organizations interested in the calendar send representatives to the meeting, which will be held in the dean's office. It is, however, recommended that, whenever possible, two or more organizations should combine to send a single representative in order to avoid too large a meeting.

The calendar arranged at this meeting will be purely tentative, the final draft to be prepared at a later date after sufficient publicity has been given to the original draft. Provision will be made for all fraternity and sorority dances, as well as for the dances of the honor societies and the lower classes and for the productions of the dramatic societies and of the glee clubs.

Organizations represented last year were: Men's and women's fraternities, Boulder, Mortar Board, Key and Serpent, Gold Key, Scabbard and Blade, Wig and Buskin, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., Newman Club, band, sophomore and junior classes (i. e., 1933 and 1932).

J. V. DEBATERS WILL JOIN VARSITY LINEUP

Junior varsity debaters will add strength to the varsity squad when Peary Berger '32 and Ernest Codding '31, team up against Bates College in Burlington Wednesday night. Both have a long series of victories to their credit in junior varsity debating and their letter debate is expected to add to the success that has characterized the forensic season thus far.

Tuesday evening, two other junior varsity debaters who have already earned their right to membership in Tau Kappa Alpha, will participate in a debate with New Hampshire Normal School in Burlington. The debaters will be James Bigelow, a freshman, and Donald Frazier, a sophomore. Louis Lisman is expected to captain the debate against New Hampshire Normal, while George Nelson will lead Vermont against Bates.

The Normal School debate will be a decision contest on the disarmament question. Vermont and Bates have agreed in advance on a no-decision meet on the question of woman's emergence from the home.

All W. A. A. points must be in by Monday noon, May 19, in order to receive insignia at the spring rally.

STUDENT FUNDS PAY FOR 1930 YEARBOOK

(Continued from page 1)

the treasury $1,706.05. There remains in the treasury of the class of 1930 approximately $[illegible].

"These figures raise the interesting question as to whether Vermont can continue to publish a larger and better Ariel than the present Ariel that costs $6,155 or not. The question whether this limit has already been reached. The entire income (excepting the $783.50 for advertising) is from the student body.

"Very truly yours,
George [illegible]
Auditor of Student [illegible]"

Candy will be sold by the Y. W. C. A. in their rooms in the Old Mill next Monday and Tuesday. The proceeds will go to pay up the outstanding debts of the organization.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

Before you leave college this year why not select a good
VERMONT BANNER PILLOW TOP or TABLE COVER?
We can furnish many styles and sizes
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts. Phone 629

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2369

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
If here you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music

WHITE FLANNEL TROUSERS
Excellent values in various weights
7.00 to 12.00
White Linen Knickers and Ducks
HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

... off the tee it's DISTANCE!

...in a cigarette it's TASTE!

"PROMISES FILL no sack"... it is not words, but taste, that makes you enjoy a cigarette.
But you're entitled to all the fragrance and flavor that fine tobaccos can give; don't be content with less. You can expect better taste, richer aroma, from Chesterfields — because in making them, we put taste first—
"TASTE above everything"

MILD... and yet THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield
FINE TURKISH and DOMESTIC tobaccos, not only BLENDED but CROSS-BLENDED

© 1930, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOL. XX. 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 20, 1930 NUMBER 57

Holiday Period Closes as Prom and Dances Conclude Junior Week

Every Fraternity on Hill Opens House as Dancing Ends Four-day Period of Activities—Promenade Delights Large Crowd at Gala Event

...m that satisfied all ...lled or bettered al... ...prom served, with ...nces Saturday night, ...enty-fifth annual Junior ...l decorations and ...rson's colored band did ...e the "bigger and ...ment awaited by the ...r Friday night's event ...al Auditorium.

All Dancing

...ernity on the hill danced ...house or elsewhere Sat... ...as nine formal parties ...formal dances concluded ... Formal affairs were pre... ...mbda Iota, Delta Psi, Sig... ...Mu Delta, Tau Epsilon ...Delta, Zeta Chi, Phi Sigma ...Sigma Alpha Epsilon. In... ...e given by Phi Delta ...Sigma, Sigma Nu and ...Omega. Three formals were ...s of fraternity houses: Tau ... at the Country Club, ...Oakledge Manor, and Phi ... at the New Sherwood ...

...ernities whose dances were ...ly announced Sigma Nu ...mal at the chapter house, ...and Mrs. J. T. Metcalf and Mr. ...Mrs. A. T. Post chaperoning; Phi ...held a formal at the chapter ... Post and Mrs. L. A. Woodward ... and Mrs. A. G. Camp of ... Allen chaperoning; and ...Delta held a formal at the ... house, Prof. and Mrs. L. B. ... chaperoning.

Junior Week Committees

...the Junior Week committees ...

...Butterfield, chairman; Hugh ... financial manager; Harley ... chairman of the Prom. ... Stanley Smith, chair... Francis MacBride, Caroline ... and Marjorie Bracken. Prom ... Ruth Field, chairman; Jean Wappler, Lena Cochran, Frances McKean, Verna Parker, Dorothy Emery, Alberta Berry, Edward Clark, John Percival, Robert Bigwood, Johnston Willetts, Winfield Flagg, Robert Huey. Junior Week peerade: Roy Worrell, chairman; Owen McAllister, Leonard Berry, George Minott, Robert Tobin. Prom refreshments: Alice Dodge, chairman; Dorothy Nash, Faire Divoll, Solam Segel, Stuart Corbin. Prom music: Donald Coburn, chairman; Robert Hendrick, Duncan Pearsons, Emily Murray. Class banquet: Truman Webster, chairman; Richard Backus, Douglas Stewart, Helen Taylor, Janice Davis. Junior Week programs: George Brush, chairman; William Heaton, Arthur Sharples, Jane Corwin, Harriet Johnstone. Publicity: Julius Perelman, chairman; Emerson Craig, Francis Bolles, George Nelson, Leo Segal, Louis Lisman.

COMPANY D AND DELTA PSI GET CUP AWARDS

...D of the University bat... ...the American Legion trophy ...the company with the highest rat... ...federal military inspection, and Delta Psi took the reserve ... ...for the best-drilled squad in ...fraternity competition, at the ...section ceremonies Thurs... ...day. Individual awards ...man and sophomore most ...in the manual of arms were ... Scabbard and Blade, mili... ...to Howard Guare, who ...hman cup, and to William ... took the sophomore cup. ... now has the honor of hav... ...th fraternity squad com... ...ever held at the University. ...ing squad were: E. G. ... W. G. MacDonald, '33, ... '33, D. K. Parker, '32, ... '32, A. A. Scharbius, '32, ... and P. E. Westin, '32. ...es of the squad drill, as ... the "drill-down" of the ... and the freshmen were ... Fort Ethan Allen. They ... Lieutenant E. R. Cowles, ...tenant R. W. Hubbell, and ...tenant G. H. Lawrence. ... competitions the entire ... marched on to the back ... where the battalion parade ... This event closed the two ...deral inspection. The re... ...ers were Major Robert H. ... Lieutenant-Colonel Wal...win.

PRESS CLUB TO HOLD FINAL MEETING FRIDAY

... will hold a special meet... ...al one of the year, Friday ... at 1:30, in Room 3, North ...

...iness meeting last Friday, ...ted to drop all members ... more unexcused absences.

... sees humanity more ... the struggle with space ...—Guglielmo Marconi.

KINGSLEY ORATORS WILL SPEAK ON THURSDAY

Rehearsals are now in progress for the Kingsley Prize Speaking, in which eight freshmen and sophomores will compete for the annual awards Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the City Hall Auditorium.

The program will include:

"Socrates' Last Appeal to His Judges," Donald Frazier.

"Imaginary Speech by John Adams" (July 4, 1776, Daniel Webster), Samuel Barker.

"The Cross of Gold" (William Jennings Bryan), Alfred Morin.

"Speech on Clay's Compromise of 1850" (ninth of March speech, Daniel Webster), Robert Jenks.

"The Perfect Tribute" (Mary Raymond Andrews), Russel Colburn.

"The New South" (Henry Grady), James Bigelow.

"The American Foundation" (Anonymous), Pearson Donoghy.

"Briand's Address at the Washington Arms Conference of 1920" (Aristide Briand), William MacDonald.

Mr. M. D. Powers, who is supervising the rehearsals, is permitting two to each contestant. All rehearsals are strictly private.

A board of three judges will award prizes of $25, $15 and $10 to the winning speakers.

JOHN DEWEY AND I. R. CLUBS TO ELECT SOON

Departmental organizations will hold election of officers for next year this afternoon and tomorrow evening. Harrison Goddard, president of the organization, has called the final meeting of the John Dewey Club for Wednesday evening at the Vermonters' Club house, and Robert Stewart, president of the International Relations Club announces elections for Tuesday afternoon. Times and places are still to be confirmed.

Prof. J. T. Metcalf of the psychology department and Mrs. J. T. Metcalf, who has done a great deal of research in the field of psychology, will appear before the John Dewey Club meeting to discuss opposing schools of psychological thought.

Both the John Dewey Club and the International Relations Club present records, in sharp contrast to those of other societies in that they have been very active during the past year. The John Dewey Club has heard lectures from members of the departments of philosophy and psychology on a number of subjects in their fields, and earlier in the year observed the birthday of John Dewey, Vermont alumnus for whom the philosophy-psychology club is named, with a symposium offered by faculty members from departments with which Professor Dewey's work has been associated.

The International Relations Club has discussed unusual aspects of our foreign relations, emphasizing the trend toward international cooperation. Speakers have appeared from the faculty, alumni and the student body. It cooperated in sponsoring the International Institute and the International Week-end Conference.

Literary Contest Nets Vermont Two Firsts

Women Meet Vermont Men Debaters Tonight; Bates to be Here Tomorrow

A team of women, representing the New Hampshire Normal School, will meet three Vermont debaters in the Old Mill Chapel at eight o'clock tonight to discuss the proposition, "Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt a plan of complete disarmament, except for such forces as are necessary for police protection." Tomorrow night, Vermont will conclude its forensic season when a trio of Bates College debaters meets a second Vermont team on the question, "Resolved, that the emergence of woman from the home is a deplorable feature of modern life." In both debates Vermont will take the negative.

Plenty of Fight to Come

The strength of the New Hampshire team is unknown, but Vermont expects plenty of opposition in view of the fact that the team is composed entirely of women. Only twice before has Vermont engaged in such a debate and both times women have triumphed over men by judges' decisions. Last year, a team of Vermont women met the Dartmouth men in Burlington, Vermont gaining the decision. Last March, the Vermont men met a team of Emory and Henry women, and, although the audience went for Vermont, the judges voted for the women. Tonight, a decision handed down by three judges will determine the outcome.

Louis Lisman, varsity veteran, will lead Vermont tonight. Debating with him will be Donald Frazier, sophomore debater, who earned varsity honors against Middlebury last fall, and James Bigelow, prominent in freshman and junior varsity debate activities. An American plan of debate, which provides for both constructive argument and rebuttal for all speakers, will be employed.

When Vermont meets Bates tomorrow night it will mark the third annual encounter on the debate platform between U. V. M. and the winner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Debate League championship, and also the third successive Oregon debate between the two colleges.

George Nelson, another veteran of varsity debate, will captain Vermont in this engagement. Debating with him will be Ernest Codding, junior varsity debater, who acted as alternate in the Keene Normal debate last fall, and Peary Berger, veteran of two class teams and also prominent in J. V. forensics. Bates will present a team similar in make-up, using two inexperienced debaters, but will also employ as cross-examiner the very debater that cross-examined Nelson at Lewiston last year.

The Line-ups

In tonight's debate, Bigelow will speak first in construction, Lisman second, and Frazier third. In rebuttal, Lisman will switch to third, closing Vermont's debate.

In tomorrow's encounter, Nelson will present the entire case and then will take the stand as witness, Berger will cross-examine Bates, and Codding will deliver the rebuttal.

LAST COLLEGE NITE TO APPEAR AT MAJESTIC

"Ex-Converse" will provide the final College Nite of the season at the Majestic Theatre Friday evening, with Freddie Douglass, tap dancer, Everett Doten's orchestra and Dick Shepard's Hawaiians heading the program. All have appeared at previous performances.

Douglass will feature tap and eccentric dancing, in which he scored so notable a success at the last Majestic College Nite. Everett Doten will lead his Black Pirates Orchestra, furnishing "something new and novel in music," according to best reports. Dick Shepard will provide the same Hawaiians that he used at the last College Nite.

Undergraduate leaders and daily papers at Harvard, Princeton, Dartmouth and the University of Illinois have joined in a movement to gether statistics on College drinking and prohibition.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS WILL ATTEND ANNUAL CONFERENCE MEETING

Delegates of Eastern College Will Again Participate in Northfield Assembly in June

Northfield, Mass., the famous conference ground of New England, during the week of June 13-21, will again see nearly 200 delegates from thirty Eastern colleges, including Vermont, gathered for the forty-fourth annual student conference featured by a program of social, religious, and athletic events.

This men's conference, which Vermont has attended in other years, has been planned with the definite intention of providing for the student representatives a real vacation, stimulating friendship, information, and inspiration, all pointing toward a realignment of his attitude and action toward social, political and religious issues. The daily program includes addresses, Round Top services, discussion groups, forums and Under the Tree Conferences.

A Leader of Students

Rev. Sydney Lovett of Mt. Vernon Church, Boston, a graduate of Yale and Union Seminary and now on the Technology Christian Association advisory board will act as chairman.

Sydney Lovett is well known to old Northfield Conference men and has held a place second to none in the esteem of the students in and about Boston. In addition to an understanding of students he has a sense of humor and a dramatic instinct delightful to discover.

Dr. John R. Mott, world famous traveling secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation, and Student Volunteer Movements will lecture and lead student discussion groups and Round Top meetings.

Dr. Reinhold Neibuhr, well known authority in the field of sociology, economics, and religion will be another popular speaker and leader of forums and Under the Tree meetings.

Other speakers will include C. Leslie Glenn, Raymond Calkins, Richard Roberts, Charles Corbett and several younger alumni leaders.

The morning series of platform addresses will be devoted to the analysis of modern civilization, from political, racial and sociological viewpoints, and the evening Round Top series, famous for their inspirational and inquiring influence, will depict the person of Jesus in the modern setting.

The afternoons will be devoted to hikes, swimming and sports including tennis, baseball, track and soccer. Mount Hermon School near East

(Continued on page 2)

DEBATERS WILL ENTER NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE

If the plans of the recent debate conference of New England colleges, held in Boston last week, are adopted by the colleges represented, Vermont will become a member next fall of a newly organized New England State Debating League, which will include also the University of New Hampshire, the University of Maine, Massachusetts Agricultural College, Connecticut Agricultural College and the Rhode Island State Teachers College. George Nelson, '31, represented Vermont at the conference.

The proposed league would adopt a schedule of debates on some subject satisfactory to all entrants. The debates would be run off in businesslike order, the winner being awarded the title of New England state college champion. This schedule would in no way prevent any college from participating in any or in as many other debates as it may feel capable of handling. The sole purpose of the plan

(Continued on page 2)

UNIVERSITY PLACES SECOND IN EVENT

Janice Goodrich and Edward Fitzgerald Win in Tri-State College Competition

RESULTS SHOW VERMONT A POINT BEHIND WINNER

Janice Goodrich and Edward Fitzgerald, dividing two firsts and a second between them, succeeded in giving Vermont a second place in the fourth annual tri-state literary contest, only a single point behind New Hampshire, which won with a total of fourteen points. Janice Goodrich took first place in the short story with "A Hired Woman" and second in poetry with "On a River Bank." Fitzgerald's "Fog" took first place in poetry.

The University of New Hampshire took all prizes in the essay, second and third in the short story and third in poetry. The University of Maine, the third entrant, failed to place. The final score was: New Hampshire 14, Vermont, 13; Maine, 0.

Get High Ratings

The judges of the short story division of the contest, Prof. Mary Ellen Chase of Smith College, Prof. Warner Taylor of the University of Wisconsin and Prof. Stanley P. Chase of Bowdoin College, rated Janice Goodrich's contribution 22, as against 19 and 18 for winners of second and third places. Fitzgerald's poem got 25 points, Janice Goodrich's 22, and the third prize winner 21. The judges of poetry were Nancy Byrd Turner of Boston, Agnes Ryan of Durham, N. H., and Prof. Wilbert Snow of Wesleyan College. Judges of essays were Mrs. Zephine Humphrey Fahnestock of Dorset, Prof. Odell Shepard of Trinity College, and Prof. Homer Woodbridge of Wesleyan College. Maine appointed the short story judges, New Hampshire the poetry judges, and Vermont the essay judges.

Janice Goodrich, Editor-in-Chief of the Winnowings, Women's Editor of the 1930 Ariel and former columnist on the Cynic, took a third in poetry last year, and in her freshman year, three years ago, took second in poetry and third in the essay. Fitzgerald is dramatic Editor of the Cynic and is serving his second year on the Winnowings.

(Continued on page 2)

S. A. E. AND THETAS GET PEERADE PRIZE CUPS

Faced with unusually weak competition, an unusually good float, presented by Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, took the Wig and Buskin cup for the best men's entry in the Junior Week peerade last Thursday in the traditional parade advertisement for the spring play. The women's prize, the Masque and Sandal cup, went to Kappa Alpha Theta for the Holiday Picnic. Other outstanding floats were those of Kappa Sigma, Delta Psi and the Independents. Grassmount ran the Thetas a close second on the women's side.

The S. A. E. float showed a large ship entitled Junior Week, hauled by ten or fifteen sailors. A poster in front read "Holiday Launches Junior Week."

Kappa Sigma had a large box representing the Strong Theatre, with a map of the streets of the city on the side showing the Strong Theatre as the center of attraction.

Delta Psi's stunt consisted of four fellows, two of them carrying a third astride a fence rail. The latter had a rope around his neck and was evidently going to be tarred and feathered and hanged. This was called "A Southern Holiday."

The Independent stunt, which attracted unusual attention, showed a farmer and his wife driving to town for a holiday, the farmer wisecracking along the whole line of march.

The judges were Mayor J. Holmes Jackson, Dean Marion Patterson, Prof. D. B. Carroll and Prof. L. W. Dean. Professor Dean made the awards between acts at the Junior Week play.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

HOLDEN N. SMITH, '31
Managing Editor

LEVERETT J. NATHANSON, '32
Sports Editor

STUART E. CURRIE, '31
Business Manager

News Editors
Assistant News Editors

Feature Editor

Contributing Editor
D. S. Ivins, '32

Dramatic Editor
Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Assistant Editors

Assistant Sports Editors

Assistant Women's Editors

Assistant Business Managers

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers

G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year

Address all correspondence to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House

Entered at the Postoffice at Burlington, Vermont, as second class matter under the Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1922

Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 45 Nov. 28, 1930 No. 37

A LIBERAL PARTY

IN CONGRATULATION

Ten Timely Topics

TARA TANTARA TEUNO

Review of "Holiday"

VERMONT TAKES SECOND PLACE IN LIT CONTEST

(Continued from page 1)

Started in 1926

The contests were started in 1926 at the suggestion of the University of Maine, and all three short story prizes that year were won by Vermonters. Florence Chapman, Bertrand Chapman and Elizabeth Warner Morrill.

In 1927 Pauline Sullivan and Merta E. Munro of Vermont took first and third in the short stories. Lewis Leary and Janice Goodrich took second and third in the essays and Miss Goodrich tied for second in verse.

In 1928 Merta E. Munro won the short story contest. Ann K. Perkins won the essay contest and Wilmond S. Parker won the poetry contest giving U. V. M. three first place.

Last year University students took three thirds, Mary Turner in short stories, Marjorie Rice in essays, and Janice Goodrich in verse.

The prizes are $25 for first place, $15 for second place, and $10 for third place.

Elizabeth Ahern of New Hampshire, this year's essay winner, during her college course has won two first places, two seconds and a third, the only record during the five years which betters that of Miss Goodrich.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

(Continued from page 1)

Northfield will be the scene of a competition between the foreign students in attendance and the conferences from Northfield.

Christian Associations in all the eastern colleges send many delegates to the summer conferences held at East Northfield, Massachusetts.

Last year the University of Vermont sent eight men and hopes that many more will apply this year.

Group photographs in the V. C. A. office gives concrete idea of just what sort of student gathering the conferences represent.

The cost is reasonable and is usually paid half by the Christian Association and the remainder by the individual student.

All who desire to attend the conference at Northfield June 13-21 should get in touch with Harvey Butterfield, '31, at the Phi Delta Theta fraternity or see Mr. Merrill D. Powers at the V. C. A. office. Full details about program, fees, and time will be given to all who are interested.

DEBATERS WILL ENTER NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE

(Continued from page 1)

is to form a kind of New England conference debating league to provide a basic debating schedule which would hold whether other debates were scheduled or not.

If for any reason a particular college should not wish to participate in a debate with some other college in the league but did desire to carry out the other league debates that particular debate would merely be omitted and would in no way affect the remainder of the league schedule.

Good tobacco in a pipe

That's what you want!

WHY do you hunt high and low and everywhere, when all the time here is good tobacco waiting to be smoked in your pipe? Why not discover Edgeworth and be done with your hunting?

Light a pipeful of Edgeworth. Roll on your tongue the full-bodied smoke that never bites and is always cool. Taste the Edgeworth flavor—a flavor that never changes. Learn for yourself why Edgeworth is the choice of so many critical smokers all around the world.

You simply must meet Edgeworth somehow. Buy a can of it—borrow some, or let us send you several pipefuls, free, just to taste. Use the coupon and then restrain yourself the postman comes with the Edgeworth. You'll bless the day, for good tobacco in a pipe is what you want.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of ... —selected ... pipe-smoking ... and flavorful ... Buy Edgeworth ... where in ... "Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice" ... pocket packages, ... by mail.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

LARUS & BRO. CO.
100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.
I'll try your Edgeworth ... it in a good pipe.
Name _____
Street _____
Town and State _____
Now let the Edgeworth ... V31

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR I. SWEETSER, '30
Sporting Editor

Clarkson and St. Michael's are Catamounts' Victims

Sargent and Rutkowski Pitch in Vermont Victories—Green and Gold Improves in Field and Shows Strong Hitting Power

CLARKSON VANQUISHED BY SCORE OF 6 TO 3

...opponents' hits well ... Rutkowski led his ... 6 to 3 victory over ...ch baseball nine before ... at Centennial Field ...noon.

...yet to be beaten on its ... this season. Clarkson ... team, savage hitters ... every moment of the ... hurled good ball for ...nt his inner defense ... wobbly and the Ver... with several infield ...atsmen reached first via ... Stewes, visiting short... hitting star of the game ...total in three attempts, ...triples. For Vermont, ...hed one down the right ... for his second home ...n while Dutch McKay ... left field for two bases. ...sides turning in his ... the season got three hits

...took the lead in the first ... clean wallops, but Ver... ahead in the second on a ... infield plays by Clark...

...Cats tallied another in the fifth. ... Pires sacrificed and ... on Rutkowski's single ... Clarkson grabbed one in ... Williams was safe on Tray... ... Rohrey and Whitney ...cession filling the bases. ... Williams. Pires to ...ietrich bunted safely and ... Beaulisque was called ...nterference at the plate and ...Brett.

...owed up the ball game ...th. Pires was safe on ... Rutkowski singled for ... in the game and Orrie ... apple cart with a home ... field. Traynor was safe ... error. Winant was ... Williams to Brett. Dinni... but Traynor was caught ... Beaulisque to McMahon ... popped a foul to Mc... the frame.

... Clarkson tally came in ... when Stewes tripled to cen... scored when Towner was ... McKay to Winant. Rut... Williams to end the ...

...score

VERMONT

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
...	5	2	2	2	1	0
...	2	0	0	1	1	1
...	4	0	0	9	1	0
...	4	0	1	0	0	0
...	4	0	0	8	2	0
...	4	0	2	2	0	0
...	4	1	2	3	1	0
...	3	1	1	0	1	1
...	4	2	3	1	1	0
...	34	6	11	26	8	2

CLARKSON

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
...	5	1	1	2	1	0

VERMONT WHITEWASHES ST. MICHAEL'S 6 TO 0

Wally Sargent, with errorless support shut out St. Michael's at Centennial Field, Friday p.m., 6 to 0. The lanky right-handed veteran allowed the Michaelmen but five well-scattered singles and only one of the visitors reached second base safely. The Green and Gold batted Colville for eleven safe glows including four doubles and would have run up a bigger tally had not the Purple moundsman tightened in the pinches so that eleven Vermont runners were left stranded on the base paths. Traynor, Stroh, Winant and McKay all landed for two-base blows. Dutch McKay, back at his old third base station furnished the two fielding gems of the day. In the eighth he raced far back into the left field foul territory to make an almost impossible catch of Leddy's foul fly while in the eighth, he took a running dive at Colville's grounder and without coming up tossed out Lynch at second base.

Vermont got to Colville in the second inning. With two out, Wis Howard singled and stole second. He scored standing up on Dutch McKay's two-base wallop. Pires walked and McKay scored on Sargent's single. In the next inning, Vermont added three runs with a barrage of solid base blows, that included three doubles. Pie Traynor opened hostilities with a double to center. Then Eddie Winant pickled one to left for two bases scoring Traynor. Dinniman walked and both runners scored when Stroh doubled savagely along the right-field line.

The final Vermont tally came in the fourth. Sargent was safe on McGowan's error. Orrie Jay walked and Traynor hit to McGowan who failed to force Sargent. With the bases loaded, Colville tightened and fanned Winant on a curved ball. Dinniman lifted a long sacrifice fly to Shea, allowing Sargent to tally.

The box score:

VERMONT

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Jay, cf	4	0	0	2	1	0
Traynor, 2b	5	1	3	6	6	0
Winant, 1b	5	1	1	1	0	0
Dinniman, lf	3	1	0	0	0	0
Stroh, c	4	0	2	5	0	0
Howard, rf	3	1	2	0	0	0
McKay, 3b	4	1	2	2	4	0
Pires, ss	3	0	0	2	2	0
Brett, 1b	5	0	0	11	0	0
Stewes, ss	3	1	3	2	4	2
Towner, 2b	4	0	0	2	3	2
Williams, 3b	5	0	1	0	4	1
Rohrey, lf	4	1	1	1	0	0
Whitney, rf	4	0	2	1	0	0
McMahon, c	4	0	0	5	3	0
Dietrich, p	4	0	1	0	3	0
Totals	38	3	9	24	18	5

*Beaulisque out for interference in sixth.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9—R
Clarkson	1	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	1—3
Vermont	0	0	2	0	1	0	3	0	*—6

MONTREAL TEAM WINNER IN TRACK

Canadians Take Eight Firsts and Ten Second Places—Visitors Score 77 Points to Vermont's 58

WEATHER HANDICAPS FOR BEST RESULTS

The Montreal A. A. A. track team captured eight first places and ten seconds and tied for another to overwhelm the Cats 77 to 58 in a meet last Saturday at Centennial Field. A strong westerly wind sweeping over the track and field was a bane to the contestants and brought disappointing results to the large crowd of spectators composed largely of alumni and visitors present in Burlington for the Junior Week festivities at U. V. M.

McKechenney and Montabone veteran track exponents for Montreal, performed brilliantly, both taking first places in a number of events. P. Parks was high scorer for the Green and Gold, taking in the shot put, the discus and hammer throw with a second place in the javelin heave.

The Cats excelled in the field events with Montreal capturing all but one on the track, Flagg of U. V. M. being responsible for that break by taking first place in the 880-yard run which was by far the most spectacular and outstanding event of the meet.

"Charlie" Mace, captain of the Green and Gold, did not make an appearance due to a sprained back which probably will bring about the end of his track career at U. V. M. "Charlie" has been bothered right along this season by his back and his loss to the squad is irreparable.

The summaries:

100-yard dash—won by McKechenney, Montreal; Duplak, Montreal, second; Cameron, Montreal, third. Time, 10⅕ sec.

220-yard dash—won by McKechenney, Montreal; Colburn, Vermont, second; Bond, Vermont, third. Time, 22⅘ sec.

440-yard dash—won by Hughes, Montreal; Huey, Vermont, second; Hedell, Vermont, third. Time, 53⅘ sec.

880-yard run—won by Flagg, Vermont; Wade, Montreal, second; Hook, Montreal, third. Time, 2.06⅘.

One-mile run—won by Sadler, Montreal; Lord, Montreal, second; Hadley, Vermont, third. Time, 4.47⅕.

Two-mile run—won by Frankton, Montreal; Boulton, Montreal, second. Wilder, Vermont, third. Time, 10.20⅘.

120-yard high hurdles—won by Montabone, Montreal; Mehling, Montreal, second; Swain, Vermont, third. Time, 17 sec.

220-yard low hurdles—won by Montabone, Montreal; Billings, Vermont, second; York, Montreal, third. Time, 27 sec.

Shot put—won by Park, Vermont, 41 feet, 8⅝ inches; second, Glueckman, Montreal; third, McLaughlin, Montreal.

Pole vault—won by Swain, Vermont, 10 feet, 6 inches; second, Logan, Montreal; third, tie between Meehan, Vermont, and Bove, Vermont.

Discus—won by Park, Vermont, 110 feet, 10⅝ inches; second, Glueksman, Montreal; third, McLaughlin, Montreal.

High jump—won by Horn, Montreal, 5 feet, 5 inches; second, tie between Howard, Vermont, and Glueksman, Montreal.

Javelin—won by Phillips, Vermont, 147 feet; second, Parks, Vermont; third, Gardner, Vermont.

Broad jump—won by Maynes, Vermont, 20 feet, 2 inches; second, Cripps, Montreal; third, Childs, Vermont.

Hammer throw—won by Parks, Vermont, 117 feet, 10 inches; second, McLaughlin, Montreal; third, Bolles, Vermont.

Sargent, p	3	1	1	6	8	0
Total	34	6	11	18	21	0

ST. MICHAEL'S

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Slattery, 1b	3	0	0	12	2	0
Leddy, 2b	3	0	1	2	1	0
Farynaz, ss	4	0	0	0	1	1
Lynch, c	4	0	1	4	4	0
Colville, p	4	0	1	2	4	0
McGowan, 3b	4	0	1	0	2	1
Mercier, rf	2	0	1	0	0	0
Dupuis, lf	3	0	0	2	0	0
Shea, cf	3	0	0	2	0	0
Total	31	0	5	24	14	2

By Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9—R
St. Michael's	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0—0
Vermont	0	2	3	1	0	0	0	0	0—6

JUNIOR VARSITY TAKES ON CLARK TOMORROW

In View of Past Success Jayvees are Confident of Victory Over Prep School

Again "Doc" Newton's junior varsity nine will see action when the baseball team of Clark School of Hanover, N. H., appears on Centennial Field tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock. This season has been very successful and the Jayvees look for another win. Coach Newton has a very capable pitching staff which has been instrumental in the past victories. As the season progresses the team shows improvement and should have no difficulty in winning the game tomorrow, although Clark School will present a bunch of capable ball handlers.

Women students renting rooms in private houses for the next college year will be held responsible for learning before renting whether the house under consideration is on the approved list of residences for college women. This list may be secured from Mrs. Stetson or at the Dean's office. No woman student may enroll in September until her enrollment card has been stamped "Residence approved".

BATTLE OF CENTURY ON THIS AFTERNOON

Cats Stinging From Last Defeat to Make Stand Against Norwich Nine — Cummings and Waining Opposing Pitchers

NORWICH LEADING IN STATE TITLE SERIES

With the St. Michael's and Clarkson games completing a rather heavy week for the Catamounts, Coach Larry Gardner turns his charges for the fourth state tilt when they meet the Horsemen in a return engagement on Centennial Field this afternoon. In view of the fact that the Cats dropped a close decision last Wednesday to the Soldiers on Sabine Field, the game this afternoon should be of much interest, as the outcome will have much to do regarding the final state ranking.

Coach Jimmy Burns' line-up will present several new faces to the followers of the Cadets. Capt. "Doc" Waining, whose air tight pitching was responsible for the Cats' 4 to 2 defeat last Wednesday, will again occupy the mound for the Soldiers. Behind the plate "Joe" Tansey, the converted alabaster, will be found handling Waining's southpaw slants. On the initial sack, Del Vecchio, a freshman and incidentally the team's leading stickster will take his position. Gale who collected three hits at Vermont's expense in the first game, will hold down the keystone sack. Hartford, leader of the Cadets' basketball team this past season, will occupy the shortstop position, while Whitesides, a veteran of three seasons, will be at the hot corner to round out a very capable infield.

In the outfield either Holmes or Gainsby, two freshmen, will be found in right field. Both of these youngsters have been hitting the ball hard and it is a toss up as to who will start. Sipsey and Kane will no doubt patrol the other two fields.

For the Green and Gold, the same line-up will again take the field consisting of Winant at first, Traynor at second, Pires at short, and McKay at third. In the outer garden, Dinniman in left, Jay in center and Captain Howard in right will complete the trio of ball chasers.

"Lefty" Cummings, the giant southpaw, will probably get his second call against the Cadets within the week with Kendall handling his slants.

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar
Room 2309

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer
University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR
SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX BLUE SUITS
with 1 extra pair of white flannel pants.
$30.00
PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

HOW ABOUT YOUR COLLEGE EXPENSES FOR NEXT YEAR?
Write us immediately for a good money-making proposition selling (1) college and fraternity jewelry including class rings, (2) attractive high grade individual stationery printed to customers orders, (3) complete line of felt and leather goods, and (4) all styles of college belts carrying buckles with or without your college colors. In your letter, state which of the above four interests you, and be sure to give two references and your summer address
INDIAN SALES AGENCY
Williamsburg, Va.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

SENIOR
CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING
Men's suits pressed 1.50
Cleaned and pressed 1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed 1.50
Coats cleaned and pressed 1.50

GRADUATION
SUITS
$30. $35. $45.
WHITE FLANNEL TROUSERS
$6.50 to $10.00
TUXEDO SUITS
$30. $40. $50.
SPORT CLOTHES
KNICKERS
GOLF HOSE FLANNEL COATS
SWEATERS
MILES & PERRY CO.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1898

CONNECTICUT COMPANY GETS MUSEUM CONTRACT

Back Campus Site

The new museum will be located on the north campus on the east side of the College of Engineering building and extending eastward over the site of the present Dana road to the boulevard. It will face southward across green and far back from the street.

The central portion of the building will be three stories high, and the wings on either side will be two stories high, apart from the central section which will be a wing 44 by 90 feet, containing the Wilbur room where the James B. Wilbur collection of Vermontiana will be kept. The building will have a frontage of 167 feet and a depth of 90 feet. It will be of brick on a granite foundation, and the trim will be of wood.

On the first floor next to the main entrance will be the Hall of Sculpture, two stories high with columns of Italian marble. The floor will be of Vermont marble in squares of two different colors. In the east wing will be ethnological and archaeological collections and museum offices and the director's office. In the west wing will be a children's room where special exhibits will be prepared from time to time for school children, room for collections of birds and mammals and a room for the Canfield collection.

Auditorium In Basement

In the basement will be geological and mineralogical collections, store rooms, rooms for preparation of specimens and a dark room for photographs. Here also will be an auditorium equipped with moving picture projector and stereopticon where lectures may be given. The seating capacity will be about 250.

On the second floor will be the balcony around the Hall of Sculpture, the Fleming memorial room, rooms for systematic collections and study laboratories for classes in ethnology and zoology. On the third floor, in the central section, will be an exhibition hall.

A director of the museum, who will give his entire time to the collections, preparation of special exhibits and other museum work, will be in charge.

Gifts to the University of $150,000 to Miss Katherine Wolcott of Chicago, niece of Robert Hall Fleming, an alumnus of the University, of $100,000 by the late James B. Wilbur of Manchester, donor of the Ira Allen Chapel, and of about $75,000 by other friends of the University made possible the building of the museum.

UNIVERSITY FARM GIVEN FIRST FLOCK OF SHEEP

A foundation flock of Dorset sheep has been given the University Farm by the Fillmore Farms of Hennington, according to an announcement by Prof. M. H. Campbell last week.

The gift consists of one yearling ram and four ewes. One of the ewes is the dam of the champion ram at the International Livestock Exposition in 1926 and 1927, and is also the dam of the prize ewe lamb at the same exposition in 1928. Although the other ewes have no particular show records, they do show the excellent individuality which is evidenced at Fillmore Farms, according to Professor Campbell.

The farm making the gift has a flock of about one hundred sheep, running very uniform in conformation and representing, in the eyes of experts, the desired type of the Dorset breed. The flock has produced a large share of the winners at the Eastern States Exposition and at the International Livestock Exposition for several years.

UNION REMINDS WOMEN OF NIGHT WORK RULES

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS JUDGE COWS AT FARM

In one of the most attended contests of the kind ever held at the University 175 boys and girls, including 171 entered by agricultural courses in Vermont high schools participated in the judging of 32 dairy cows of the Agricultural College herd at the University Farm last Friday.

The work of judging was completed by the participants three hours after it started. It was tiring work, requiring considerable concentration and allowing short rest periods.

There were eight rings of cattle, a ring of mature cows in each of the four principal Vermont dairy breeds, Ayrshires, Guernseys, Holsteins and Jerseys, and a ring of heifers in each of the breeds. There were four cows in each ring.

Each ring occupied the students' attention 15 minutes, parading part of the time and standing for closer inspection the other part. At the end of the 15 minutes the students indicated on their score sheets the order of excellence of the four cows judged in the ring.

The 175 high school boys came from 14 of the schools where courses of agriculture are taught. When their score sheets can be compared with the sheets made out by the three judges, M. H. Campbell, E. H. Loveland and Clyde Smith, a cup and banner will be awarded to the school team of five winning and a banner will go to the school doing the best judging in each of the breeds.

The ten highest ranking boys from schools receiving aid by the Smith-Hughes act will be chosen to compete in another contest at the Champlain Valley Exposition, the four best at that time being selected to represent Vermont at the National Dairy Exposition at St. Louis next fall.

The ten highest 4-H Club members will be chosen to compete in a contest at the Champlain Valley Exposition, the three best at that time being declared state champions. These three may be sent to the St. Louis Exposition.

The winners will not be determined for about two weeks, as some 1,500 score sheets have to be individually compared with the judges' score sheet and marked.

The one girl who judged in the 4-H Club contest was Julia Cushman of Perrisburg, now a student at Castleton Normal School. For five years she has been active in calf club work, and in 1928 led 30 selected 4-H'ers in a judging contest in Montpelier. The contest was conducted by the Vermont Association of Teachers of Agriculture and the Boys' and Girls' Department of the Extension Service, cooperating with the State Agriculture College. On the Association Committee are: W. W. Smith of Vergennes, chairman; F. O. Stiles of Hinesburg and R. C. Mann of Essex Center.

J. V.'S EXHIBIT FINAL SPLURGES OF HUMOR IN THIRD K. P. DEBATE

In a final exhibition debate presented by the Leading Lyre Fraternity of the Kingdom of Vulcan [illegible] the question: "Resolved: That the development of women from the home is a detriment to society," was argued.

The judges were [illegible] and the decision was rendered in favor of the affirmative. The debate was presented in a humorous manner and proved [illegible] to be as bad as she was painted in the Middle Ages, then also now.

Bigelow [illegible] hard to keep awake, and failing, was conveniently awakened by a pin-prod from LaCrosse, who used one of the K. of P. insignia with which he was decorating his coat lapels much to the amusement of the K. of P. officers.

The chairman recognized Bigelow with considerable difficulty due to a newer and better red tie. Bigelow asserted that the fraternity should provide less comfortable chairs and, consequently, it would be less easy to fall asleep. He wasn't sure that woman was as bad as she was painted but still she certainly would be if the chairman did any of the painting. The most important deficiency in modern life which is directly traceable to the emergence of woman is the lack of care for children," argued Bigelow. "How will my opponents explain the terrible situation existing today without attributing it to the emergence of woman from the home?"

Codding, chief kick, push and butt of the K. of P., arose and with authoritative and befitting emphasis told his fellow K. of P.'s that they weren't exactly fools because they had elected his eminent self to high exalted fly chaser or something and therefore should be able to listen to reason.

"First," began "Ernie," when suddenly a strained voice howled, "Towel please." "Coming," answered "Ernie," then proceeded: Women today don't have to take up marriage as a profession. They are able and experienced enough to do other things as well.

Second, woman has the same right of self-expression as a man. You can't shut woman up in a cage and keep her there because she is weaker than man and is of entirely different temperament.

P. J. LaCrosse, having decided that nothing of value was safe anywhere in the K. of P. and having written an [illegible] on "How to Serve a Term," was [illegible] by Mrs. Codding, [illegible] "Now don't slouch in society, [illegible] to the extremes of [illegible] and [illegible] development and [illegible] development are [illegible] he argued.

LaCrosse, due to early [illegible] which kept his physical [illegible] to say nothing of getting his [illegible] took the floor only [illegible] and remained [illegible] minutes [illegible] something his [illegible] argument and rebuttal.

"[illegible] to the basis of so [illegible] I know. I read it in a book [illegible] lots of things only trouble is [illegible] lots of them. The main trouble [illegible] the opponent's argument [illegible] not taking care of her children [illegible] that he forgets that the schools do it. The majority of women work [illegible] about three years and they do [illegible] between 18 and 25 years of age.

LaCrosse followed Frazier, arguing that since the woman who works is unmarried, the home is being put out of society and the whole thing was detrimental according to the most eminent authorities.

E. M. Codding, endeavoring in a last minute rush to restate his whole case, warned the audience that the following speaker would be exceedingly persuasive and it would be well to watch out. "Women shouldn't be breeders and not all of them make good housekeepers, I know," concluded the speaker. Nelson gave Bigelow a sort of press agenting before announcing him and then discovered to his dismay that Bigelow was again sound asleep. Another application of the pin aroused him, however. "The opposition believes that woman shouldn't be a brooder," he remarked. "I don't," he agreed, "but it's a whole lot more reasonable to think of her as a brooder, caring for her children, than to picture her as a plant, which this individualist theory points toward."

LaCrosse and Bigelow won a unanimous decision.

TUPPER AND DUNN ARE N. Y. ALUMNI SPEAKERS

Prof. Frederick [illegible] L. Dunn and A. P. [illegible] commercial manager of [illegible] Air Transport Co[illegible] cipal speakers at the [illegible] the New York Alumni [illegible] the Commodore Hotel [illegible] evening.

Professor Tupper [illegible] with the New York alumni [illegible] of the many Vermonters [illegible] Europe during his last [illegible] abroad. Then he discussed [illegible] that are occurring in [illegible] tion at the present time [illegible] out some of the newer [illegible] theories that are being [illegible] meet the changed conditions [illegible] can universities bring [illegible] large number of young men [illegible] who have practically [illegible] institutions. Referring to [illegible] bequest, Professor Tupper [illegible] while he disliked condition [illegible] he did think that it was [illegible] justified this was if the [illegible] University is voluntarily [illegible] its student list until the [illegible] may be straightened out.

Dunn on Football

Coach Dunn spoke [illegible] ball conditions, and talked [illegible] over more thoroughly [illegible] the meeting with a small [illegible] are very much interested [illegible] ject. The burden of his [illegible] the athletic authorities [illegible] sity were cooperating in [illegible] way with him and that [illegible] earnestly trying to raise [illegible] of athletics at Vermont.

Col. E. N. Sanctuary [illegible] song, "Vermont Forever," [illegible] has recently written [illegible] this at the alumni [illegible] lington during Commencement [illegible]

The meeting closed with the singing of "Champlain."

WHITE FLANNELS
$7.00 to $12.00

WHITE DUCKS
$2.00 and $2.50

LINEN KNICKERS
$3.50 $4.00 $4.50

HAYES AND CARNEY
185-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

GIFTS FROM PRESTONS

THERE IS REAL PLEASURE IN GIVING GIFTS SELECTED HERE. YOU KNOW THE QUALITY. YOU KNOW THE GIFT IS NICELY CASED AND LAST YOU KNOW THAT YOUR GIFT IS BACK WITH A GUARANTEE OF ENTIRE SATISFACTION

F. J. Preston & Son
Jewellers
17 Upper Church St.

COMING! COMING!

Friday Night - - MAY 23

BOTH PERFORMANCES

Ex-Converse Presents

His Biggest and Best and Last College Night of the Year

3 Big Time Acts of All-College Talent

"HIGH, WIDE and HANDSOME"

1. Freddie Douglass—Tap and Eccentric Dancing
2. Everett Doten and His Black Pirates Orchestra
   SOMETHING NEAT AND NOVEL IN JAZZ
3. Dick Shepard and His Hawaiians
   'MEMBER THEIR LAST COLLEGE NIGHT ACT?

Friday Night - - MAY 23

EXCITEMENT PLUS! ROMANCE GALORE!

TOM MOORE BLANCHE SWEET

in a fine All-Talking Thriller of Night Clubs

"The Women Racket"

Songs! Dances!
Night-life Drama!

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1930 NUMBER 58

ALL THREE UPPERCLASSES NOMINATE

SENIORS, JUNIORS PREPARE TO ELECT

Classes Announce Nominees For All Offices—Sophomores Held Elections Yesterday

ALL SLATES SHOW MANY CANDIDATES IN RUNNING

Juniors and seniors will meet this afternoon and Tuesday, the juniors at the chapel today in the Old Mill hall to choose their officers for next year, the seniors on Tuesday afternoon to elect permanent class officers and the class marshals. The sophomore class elected yesterday.

The seniors have nominated:

For president: R. A. Lawrence and E. R. Powell.

For vice-president: Mabel Freeman, Dorothy Householder and Natalie Owsley.

For men's secretary: L. O. Clayton and J. C. Fuller.

For women's secretary: Dorothy Graves and Joyce Richardson.

For treasurer: R. P. Billings, C. W. Lynch, W. J. Slavin and D. J. Sweeney.

For representative on the Alumni Council: R. G. Hawley, H. M. Manchester and A. D. Stearns.

R. P. Billings is the only candidate for class marshal.

Junior Nominations

The junior class nominees to be voted upon at a general class meeting to be held this afternoon are as follows:

For president—F. Stanley Smith, Frances A. MacBride and Roy W. Worrell. For vice-president—Marjorie Bracken, Dorothy Emory, Margaret Stokes, Georgina Hubert and Helen Tyler. For secretary: Harriet Wright, Carolyn Whitney, Frances McKean, Jean Belden, Isabelle Warnock and Elizabeth Cory. For treasurer: S. S. Corbin, R. E. Tobin and R. M. Huey.

Five members of the Faculty-Student Council will be chosen, one from each of three groups of men, and two women. The nominees from the College of Arts and Sciences are H. M. Chittenden, Jr., and F. A. Bolles. From the College of Agriculture—K. M. Stevens, A. Peters, H. Martin and H. Drennan. From the College of Engineering—E. J. Grant and R. J. Maynes. Two of the following women will be elected: Janice Davis, Ruth Field, Lorraine Gamlette, Georgina Hubert, Evelyn Koenig, Frances MacKean, Rebecca Seaver, Margaret Stanley, and Jean Wappler.

The Sophomore Slate

Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock twenty-two members of the Sophomore

(Continued on page 4)

MUSIC STUDENTS WILL SING AND PLAY TONIGHT

The department of music announces a recital by voice and violin students beginning at 8:15 in the music building. The program will be as follows:

Over the gentle lark .....Bishop
Susan Howard

Staendchen .....Brahms
Eleanor Koenig

Glass River .....Carpenter
Marion Baldwin

From 3rd 'cello suite ...Bach
Irene Marcotte
(Accompanied by Evelyn De Brune)

Nachtigall .....Brahms
.....Schubert
Dorothy Fowler

.....Niedermeyer
Errol Slack

.....Schumann
Eine Blume ...Schumann
Mailla Putnam

.....Loewe
Elsie Roosa

Accompaniments will be by Mrs. Elizabeth Bradish. The public is cordially invited to the recital. There will be two other student recitals, Tuesday, May 27, at 8:15 in the music building, by Irene Bennett, assisted by Mailla Putnam, soprano, and Elsie Roosa, violinist, and on Sunday, June 1, at 4:00 in the Ira Allen Chapel by piano and violin students.

Vermont Closes Debate Season As J. V.'s Enter Final Varsity Lineups

New Hampshire Normal School Take Measure of Men 2-1 as J. V.'s Graduate to Varsity—Oregon Style Features Bates Meet

Vermont's debaters took a setback Tuesday night when a team of New Hampshire State Normal women took a 2-1 decision of a board of judges from a team which included two junior varsity men, who engaged in their first varsity encounter against the normal school. The decision does not affect Vermont's formal record as the debate was not an intercollegiate contest.

The question read, "Resolved, that the nations of the world should adopt a plan of complete disarmament except for such forces as are necessary for police protection." Louis Lisman, James Bigelow and Donald Frazier upheld the negative side of the question for Vermont; while Bernice Carleton, Charlotte Floyd, and Florence Keller debated for the affirmative.

Bernice Carleton set off the fireworks for the Normal School, with a complete statement of the affirmative's viewpoints:

"The world of nations is ready for disarmament," she declared. "The nations are casting aside imperialism, and adopting a policy of self-determination."

Miss Carleton pointed out that universal disarmament is a better protection than arms, and that since the Great Conflict there has been a new attitude toward war, as evidenced by the League of Nations and the Locarno treaty. She said that international disputes shall be submitted to arbitration or the World Court, thereby making war unnecessary.

She asserted that 56 nations had signed the famous Kellogg pact, and that this was a manifestation that civilization had outlawed war. "By that pact," said Miss Carleton, "we have pledged ourselves to seek pacific means to solve international differences."

She defined an aggressive nation as one that goes to war refusing some form of arbitration, and that by applying this definition the aggressor nation could always be found.

The police force is to be used only to keep peace, and not for war purposes. She concluded by stating that the people of the world want peace, the nations have agreed to peace, and that a world organization for peace is probable.

Bigelow for Vermont

Bigelow touched off the fuse to Vermont's heavy artillery and immediately began shelling the enemy's fortifications.

"The world is not yet ready for disarmament," he thundered, "because disarmament does not remove the causes of war." He then proceded to list the five main causes of war, giving psychological as being first, political second, economic third, social fourth, and armaments, the least important, fifty. Arms, he said, were the means of war but not the cause.

Elaborating on his four main causes of war he pointed out that the people were easily aroused to fighting pitch by comments of the press, that the nations will always have economic interests which clash, that there will always be racial prejudices, and that selfish politicians will always be in evidence.

Bigelow now issued the challenge that remained unanswered throughout the debate. He defied the affirmative to name one war that had been fought because of armaments alone, and to name a single authority who advocated world disarmament.

He also claimed that practical experience shows that disarmament is impracticable because pacts and treaties are easily broken, and that the interests of the various nations will not permit the world to disarm.

Finally, after the timekeeper had given the signal to cease firing, Bigelow permitted his fusillade to subside by declaring that the world was not ready for disarmament, that peace conferences have failed, and that the interests of the world do not permit disarmament.

"Man has always been under the curse of war, and disarmament is the only adequate solution," declared Miss Charlotte Floyd, the second defender of the affirmative's stronghold.

Miss Floyd pointed out that England spends $1,000 a minute for war equipment, and that the people suffer enormous tax rates in paying for these expenditures. Disarmament, she asserted is the only practical solution for relief of the tax burden.

"Disarmament," contended Miss Floyd, "encourages commerce, and there can be no capital without peace." She showed that the World War made a few capitalists but that thousands were stricken with poverty, and that disarmament is desirable and necessary for economic well-being. She further explained that if you prepare for war you get war, and that brute force is unable to create anything durable.

"Arms," said Miss Floyd, "are the chief cause of envy, suspicion and fear, and as armaments diminish so will the propaganda of the militarists cease."

Disarmament, she declared in conclusion, to be effective must be complete not partial, and the international mind must not think in terms of gradual disarmament.

Lisman Up Next

Lisman, chief gunner for Vermont, now stepped to the firing line, and so rapid was his attack and so good his

(Continued on page 4)

WINNOWINGS FROM THE MILL SOON TO OFFER FINAL ISSUE OF YEAR

June Number to Contain Feature Article by Dorothy Canfield Fisher—Stories and Poems

Winnowings from the Mill, undergraduate literary organ, will make its final appearance on the campus early next week. The June number, said to be modeled on the best in former issues, is already in the mails.

The leading feature of the Winnowings this month is an exceptionally able article by Dorothy Canfield Fisher entitled, "Should Vermont Writers Organize?" Mrs. Fisher, who is one of the best known contemporary writers has long shown interest in a literary renaissance in Vermont and is the third guest writer for the Winnowings.

Two Write Stories

Two short stories will appear, "Don't Write—Telegraph," by Roberta Powers, '32, and "Child in a Swing," by Margaret Rice, '31. Miss Powers is very active in debating and in dramatics and has previously contributed to the Winnowings. Miss Rice, who will serve as editor-in-chief next year, has also been a frequent contributor. She is a member of Bluestockings and of the Press Club and has won an essay prize in one of the Tri-State Literary Contests.

Three undergraduates have written poems for this issue of the Winnowings. Janice Goodrich, who contributes "Consummate," is the outgoing editor of the magazine. Miss Goodrich has done extensive literary work at the University and has won several prizes in the Tri-State Literary Contests, including first prize in the short story contest and second prize in poetry this year. She has also been active in debating and in other campus activities.

"Song Against the Night" is the work of Edward Fitzgerald, poetry editor of the magazine. Fitzgerald is dramatic editor of the Cynic, has generously contributed to the literary magazine and recently won first prize for poetry in the Tri-State contest.

Robert Aiken, also a frequent contributor, has written, "Ascent." Aiken is prominent in dramatics and will serve on the Winnowings board next year.

Miss Eleanor Cummings, head of the department of physical education for women, and Pan-Hellenic adviser, has written another excellent article for this issue, entitled, "One College Indivisible."

Lisman and Germain to Head Clubs; V.C.A. Elects Cowles

Departmental Organizations Name Directors for Next Year—Christian Association Chooses Carter to Edit Freshman Handbook

DEWEY CLUB HEARS OF PSYCHOLOGY SCHOOLS

Louis Lisman was elected to the presidency of the John Dewey Club, departmental organization of the philosophy and psychology departments, at the final meeting of the year Wednesday evening. A day before, Edmour Germain was chosen president of the International Relations Club, outgrowth of the political science and history departments. Both men are juniors.

The men who will head the departmental clubs next year have been prominently interested in campus affairs. Lisman is editor of the Cynic, is a varsity debater and is active in all journalistic, literary and forensic organizations. Germain was last year secretary of both the John Dewey and International Relations clubs. He is a feature editor of the Cynic, is chairman of publicity for the Christian Association and is secretary of Grey Friars.

Officers For 1931

The John Dewey Club chose as vice-president Hilda Smith, and as secretary-treasurer Ruth Burroughs. The International Relations Club elected George Smead vice-president and Helen Goddard secretary-treasurer. Edmour Germain has chosen to the executive committee of the political science organization R. H. Cowles and Louis Lisman, to serve together with the officers of the club. On the program committee are R. H. Cowles, J. C. Carter and A. H. Roller. Mary Woolson and Sylvia Boyd will constitute the social committee. No announcement has yet been made of the committees for the John Dewey Club next year.

"Structuralism" and "Functionalism" were the topics of discussion at the sixth and last meeting of the John Dewey Club, Prof. J. T. Metcalf speaking on structuralism, while Mrs. J. T. Metcalf, a former instructor in psychology at Smith College, described the opposing school of psychological thought.

On Structuralism

One does not ordinarily think of mind as being composed of material, said Professor Metcalf, yet it is a complex thing and while it cannot be dissected as an organism, there is such a thing as mental dissection which the structuralist attempts to practice. The structuralist analyzes the mind as the biologist does the body, he reduces everything to elementary components and seeks thereby to learn what comprises the mind.

Introspection is the chief method employed by the structuralist to discover the nature of mind, but he uses objective methods too.

According to the structuralist viewpoint, mind consists of a number of elements put together after pattern so that there is unity. The mind pattern is not elementary since it can be divided into its component parts.

The elements of mind are sensation and affection. Sensation is clearer because it is nearer to our consciousness. Affection can be reduced to the qualities of pleasantness and unpleasantness which vary in respect to quality and intensity.

A person must be a trained observer to secure reliable data in the introspective method of structural psychology. There are no mechanical instruments to assist the observer either.

The Functional School

According to the viewpoint upheld by the school of functionalism in psychology, the more we know about nerves the more we know about psychology, said Mr. Metcalf. Mind is related to brain and the brain to nerves. The brain is a system of nerves and to understand the mind, we must first understand the nervous system.

John Dewey is essentially a functionalist though credit has not been given him for it, said Mr. Metcalf. John Dewey uses the introspective method and does considerable experimental observation, he makes a study of process and of behavior and theo-

(Continued on page 4)

CABINET ALSO REVISES FORMER CONSTITUTION

Richard Cowles is president of the Vermont Christian Association and Joseph C. Carter will edit the Freshman Handbook as a result of the annual elections of the V. C. A. Cabinet last Friday which were in accordance with the new constitution of the association, giving the cabinet full power to elect its succeeding members and other officers as drawn up by the outgoing cabinet and ratified by the advisory board.

Other officers elected include the following:

Harvey D. Butterfield, '31, Director of church relations. E. Ben Rand, '31, Director of Christian world education. James E. Wood, '33, Director of entertainment. Stanley K. Carter, '32, secretary; W. C. Perry, '33, Director of finance; J. C. Carter, '32, vice-chairman; Donald H. Frazier, '32, Director of church relationships; Edmour A. Germain, '31, Director of publicity; Hewitt I. Varney, '32, Director of student service.

Association Regulations

Any bona fide undergraduate student of the University may by application become a member of the association if he is interested in participating in its activities and functions.

The Christian association with the approval of the advisory board of which Prof. George H. Dykhuizen is chairman, changed the mode of election to its executive offices, from popular balloting by the student body at large, to election by the cabinet in order to eliminate dishonorable fraternity combines. These have in the past hindered the association from serving the student body with the highest degree of efficiency.

Since the newly elected cabinet must be ratified by the advisory committee, its officers must be elected on the personel merit basis and not for sheer desire of honor or political gain.

All Prominent

R. H. Cowles, who was this year vice-president of the association is a member of the Men's Glee Club, second assistant director of the R.O.T.C. Band, president of Sigma Delta, and member of Inter-fraternity Council.

J. C. Carter, who was formerly director of Student Service, is a feature editor of the Vermont Cynic, a retiring member of Gold Key and a member of Grey Friars. Last fall he was director of the U. V. M. Freshman Camp, which office he will hold next fall.

H. D. Butterfield, outgoing V. C. A. president, is a member of Wig and Buskin, and belongs to Phi Delta Theta.

E. B. Rand has been active in local church work and young peoples groups.

J. E. Wood, is a member of hockey team, business side of the Cynic, incoming Gold Key man and belongs to Phi Delta Theta.

S. K. Carter, played an active part in the Student Union Campaign.

W. C. Perry, was on the freshman football squad, had a rôle in "Holiday" the junior week play and belongs to Sigma Nu.

D. H. Frazier, has been active in local church work, is on the junior varsity debating team and belongs to Sigma Delta.

E. A. Germain, last year publicity director, is a feature editor of the Cynic and secretary of Grey Friars, secretary-treasurer of John Dewey Club.

H. I. Varney is a track man, retiring member of Gold Key and an independent.

ETA SIGMA PHI NAMES KNAPP 1931 PRESIDENT

Charles Knapp was elected president of Eta Sigma Phi, honorary classical fraternity, at the final meeting of the Greek Club Tuesday night.

Other officers are: Vice-president, Helen Drugg; treasurer, C. K. Bush; secretary, Lucy Hope; sergeant-at-arms, F. W. Householder; reporter, Margaret Watkins.

Knapp is highest ranking man in the classical curriculum in the junior class.

The Vermont Cynic

The official Student Newspaper of the University of Vermont

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

LEWIS LISMAN, '30
Editor-in-chief

GEORGE B. BRUSH, '31
CHARLES B. NELSON, '31
Managing Editors

HILDA E. SMITH, '31
Women's Editor

SEYMOUR L. NATHANSON, '30
Sports Editor

STUART S. CORBIN, '31
Business Manager

News Editors
Allen O. Eaton, '31

Fred W. Householder, '32

Feature Editors
Edmund A. Gorman, '31

Robert L. Stewart, '30

Intercollegiate Editor
Charles N. Crockett, '31

Contributing Editor
E. S. Jones, '29

Dramatic Editor
Edward J. Fitzgerald, '31

Assistant Editors
P. B. Berger, '32 — W. G. MacDonald, '31 — S. M. Spiller, '33
E. Bigelow, '31 — C. J. Kilburn, '33 — T. I. Taylor, '33
B. Dow, '30 — M. J. Shaw, '32 — C. M. Wadsworth, '33
A. Katz, '30 — J. C. Shaw, '33

Associate Sports Editor
Leonard M. Foster, '31

Assistant Sports Editors
J. S. Levin, '32 — A. A. Morgan, '32 — F. Tupper, '32
J. M. Parnell, '31 — G. M. Forsberg, '31 — S. Polofsky, '32 — R. W. Ryan, '33

Women's Associate Editor
Lucile Rose, '31

Harriet Wright, '31
Women's Athletic Editor

Gladys Press, '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Mildred Gile, '32 — Suzette Harlowe, '32 — Margaret Mower, '32
Helen LaRocque, '32 — Margaret Ann Martin, '32 — Hope Ranslow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
J. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
E. G. Norbert, '32 — E. E. Tracy, '32 — G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1885. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.
Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned in before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.
All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 440 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — May 23, 1930 — No. 58

LITERARILY SPEAKING

For the last time this year, the Winnowings is about to make its appearance on the campus. It appears as the June issue of Vermont's Literary Magazine but to those who have watched its struggles, month after month, against the apathy of the student body, it has a much deeper significance. To them, in a university which for years had known the existence of no undergraduate magazine, the mere periodical issue of a literary organ indicates the continuance of a literary and intellectual renaissance which is more welcome than any other single development in the undergraduate body.

It is the usual thing these days to blame on the war everything that we do not blame on prohibition. We have no doubt that the extinction some years ago of all literary activity at Vermont has, at some time or other, been attributed to either one or the other of these unfortunates. It is our belief, however, that all attempts at literary expression died a natural death, not only at Vermont but elsewhere, as a reaction to the dryness of the average "literary" effort of the college student whose dry as dust-ness time and again threatened to choke both its readers and itself almost out of existence.

When and why creative writing came back into its own at Vermont we can only guess. But it is our suspicion that the Tri-State Literary Contest, originated by the Universities of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont four years ago, was largely responsible for the sudden impetus to literary activity at the University. The element of contest accomplished far more than all the preaching of decades, and the publicity given to the results of the competition far exceeded all the notice that had ever been given to Prof. Leon Dean's efforts to revive creative writing at Vermont.

The Green Mountain State emerged with flying colors from the first literary contest. A year later, Professor Dean founded a writer's workshop and extended the scope of his courses in creative writing. Grey Friars was founded as a men's literary society, and a lusty—if somewhat uncertain—infant called The Vermont Literary Magazine appeared for the first time at Vermont. Let it be understood that we are not deceiving ourselves. We have no illusions concerning a literary Vermont which has reached the apex in its upward career. We see as clearly as any that, if anything, creative writing has witnessed a decline rather than advance in the last year or two. But we must reiterate that, in the mere continuance of campus manifestations of literary interest we see the continuance of that progress which began with Professor Dean's courses, the Tri-State Contest, Grey Friars and the Literary Magazine.

The problem that now confronts us is one of general apathy obstructing the activity of a very able few. This problem found a very succinct expression when, recently, it was announced that Vermont had taken two first places out of three in the Tri-State Contest and, at the same time, the editor of the Winnowings revealed that there was a scarcity of material for the next issue of the literary magazine.

On behalf of a literary Vermont, we call for more student activity in creative writing. Another dozen writers would be sufficient to raise the level of literary effort on the campus to a higher point than ever before. If such interest should manifest itself, and we shall have sufficient need for it next year, then we shall have reason enough to remain hopeful of Vermont's literary future.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Eleanor Hulbert, '29, and Harriet Woodruff, ex'30, were visitors in the city during Junior Week.

Mrs. Steven Weston of Danvers, Mass., was a week-end guest of her daughter, Elizabeth Weston, '32, at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Marion Hazeltine, '21, from Middlebury College was a guest of the college chapter during Junior Week.

The Junior members entertained the college chapter at a supper Wednesday, May 21, at the Athena Club rooms.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The Seniors were hostesses at a picnic breakfast held Sunday morning, May 18, at North Beach.

SIGMA GAMMA

Evelyn Trask, '30, passed chocolates at the meeting on Monday, May 19, to announce her engagement to Harold Stewart of Westfield, Mass. Mr. Stewart graduated from Massachusetts Agricultural College with the class of 1926.

The announcement has been made that the wedding of Miss Mildred Allen, '27, and Mr. George Poole, '29, a member of Phi Mu Delta, will take place Monday, June 26, at the Ira Allen Chapel.

EPSILON SIGMA

The following officers have been elected for the coming year: president, Martha Whitlock; vice-president, Dorothy Metcalf; treasurer, Frances Ladd; recording secretary, Emma Rock; corresponding secretary, Lucy Manley.

Members of the Women's Student Union Council are as follows: Margaret Stanley, '31, Dorothy Nash, '31, Lillian Mount, '32, Harriet Wright, '31, Janice Davis, '31, Ruth Field, '31, Olive Fields, '32, Joyce Richardson, '30, Katherine Rauh, '32, Charlotte Odell, '33, Alice Dodge, '31, Florence Whitcomb, '30, Dorothy Colton, '30, Esther Mandigo, '31, Lucy Hope, '32, Clarissa Peters, '30, Elzada Fiske, '30, and Frances Hazen, '30.

Only three absences are allowed from the meetings held every Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in the Old Mill Chapel.

THE MUSE CONVERSES

Here is the poem by Edward Fitzgerald which took first place in the Tri-State literary contest this year.

Fog

In the morning mist, on wet and windy docks.
I found some misty solace never to be known inland among the hills. Slowly I felt the long, insistent pound of water on dock stanchions, on the keel
of one black-masted boat.

Beneath the sound of water splashing low and hidden rocks
beneath the fog-bound moan of distant tugs, a strange voice called (O voice of fog and sea!)

Morning has touched the world; and there will be so many days with just as many nights
and every night the slowly sliding sea will move away and come again and go, and you will know how nights and mornings beat relentlessly down the long road of waters to their death
In one salt breath of misty sea you will forever find the tang of beauty you once left behind

Intercollegiate News

It's going to be too bad for the men students who go to college to get wives if the answer of 400 girls at Northwestern University concerning their future matrimonial intentions are honest and indicative of a widespread feeling. Of the 400 polled, only 23 admitted that they preferred matrimony to any other vocation. Florence S. Bobnett, Dean of women, submitted the questionnaire to the senior coeds. Teaching led in the choice of professions, with 106 votes and business was runner-up with 75. Art and interior decorating ran third with 39 votes, and marriage was fourth. Journalism and social service were selected by 22 girls each. "But give 'em ten years," observed Helen Reed, one of the seniors professing to favor marriage as a career.

Students of Oxford University, England, are in debt to the merchants of the town to the extent of $1,250,000 according to the student publication, Isis.

Vermont Closes Debate Season As J. V.'s Enter Final Varsity Lineups

(Continued from page 1)

aim it seemed that the girls from New Hampshire must needs be buried in the wreckage of their own misfortune.

We are concerned with a question of far greater import than more disarmament," declared Lisman, "we are concerned with the problem of peace." And he continued by asking if disarmament will secure peace.

He pointed out that everyone wants peace and that disarmament will not bring it. It is not enough to disarm, there must also be an atmosphere of peace.

There must be a moral disarmament that will precede material disarmament," said Lisman. "And," he asked, "if the world can be morally disarmed, why is every power in Europe armed to the teeth? Moral disarmament," he continued, "is impossible, in fact, to disarm at all under present conditions is impossible."

He explained that the means of conducting war will always remain, and that the world will remain actually armed. He concluded with the ringing statement that the world is not ready to disarm because the causes and means still exist, and that the result would be fruitless and fraud.

Miss Kelley, the last defense of the affirmative, sallied forth to win back for her waining cause the laurels of the day.

"Disarmament is coming," she asserted, "because it is the final object of good statesmanship."

She pointed out that the world is demanding a new order of things, that it wants peaceful settlements.

"When we talk peace," she declared, we must think peace, in fact we must dare for peace."

She concluded her attack on the negative with a complete summary of the affirmative's arguments.

Frazier Last

Donald Frazier, in the negative's final charge declared that even he, through his military training at the University, knew somewhat of the horrors of war.

"If our opponents are 95 percent pacifists," he asserted, "then we are 100 percent pacifists."

War, he said, is deeper than the iron on the outside of a battleship, and there is no organization that can take the place of armaments.

"The great problem of the men of the nineteenth century was the forming of states and nations," said Frazier, "Today the problem is bettering international relations, and arms are needed for common defense."

He introduced a plan to educate the people to realize the horrors of war.

In the rebuttals, Lisman again rose to oratorical heights, almost turning the tide of battle over to Vermont.

The affirmative claimed that police protection and arbitration could be compared to the authority of the United States Supreme Court. The negative countered by saying that no court of arbitration could possibly have power to back its decisions without just as expensive armies as are now supported by the various countries. They cited the case of Belgium, protected by ironclad treaties with several powers before the World War, but the first country invaded because it was unarmed.

The affirmative turned rout to victory by claiming that Germany would soon outstrip all its European competitors in commerce and trade because it was relieved of expensive armament.

The Bates Debate

The University of Vermont closed its debating season last night [illegible] Bates College in a [illegible] on the subject, "Resolved [illegible] emergence of woman [illegible] a regrettable feature of [illegible]. The Bates team was made [illegible] Treworgy, Clayton [illegible] son Greenleaf, while [illegible] George Nelson, Peary Berger [illegible] est Codding. The Oregon [illegible] bate was used.

Mr. Treworgy arguing for the affirmative, presented the [illegible] the first speaker. He [illegible] emergent woman as one [illegible] is entirely outside the [illegible] ing the women into three [illegible] those who entered profession [illegible] who comprised the business group, and the domestic [illegible] ceeded to list the reasons [illegible] posed the emergence of women. As a result of the fact that 12 per [illegible] women were engaged in some profession, he claimed that there were fewer marriages, fewer children [illegible] ter class, and more divorces. He said that the graduates of women's colleges are not marrying because of the widening fields of opportunities. This is leading to a weakening of the race.

Since 63 percent of the women in the United States are classed in the business-industrial group, Treworgy said that the infant mortality rate was increasing because of unwholesome influences at home, that juvenile delinquency was also increasing for the same reason, and that the health of the mothers was being broken. He claimed that women would work for lower wages than men and so were crowding men out of occupations which were rightfully theirs. This was causing later marriages he said affirming that the home is the foundation of the country. He concluded his arguments by saying that there was plenty of means for self-expression in the home, citing music and art as examples.

Nelson Presents Case

Mr. Nelson, opening speaker for the negative, gave six reasons why woman should emerge from the home. He listed them as aiding the husband giving herself something to do, supporting herself and children in widowhood, providing comforts and education for her children, supporting her husband, and aiding in the income. Earlier marriages would be the result of woman's earning money for herself, he said. His economic cycle made better wages for everyone as the result of the fact that women could bring more money into the home. In concluding he asked the affirmative why the women should not have the same right of self-expression as the men have.

Peary Berger, in cross examining Mr. Treworgy, asked for specific cases of women who were any worse off for engaging in a gainful occupation than they would have been if they had remained in the home. The affirmative replied that their case was based on generalities and assumptions made for a mass, not on specific cases. Mr. Berger asked on what grounds the affirmative could justify the sacrifices of a good social secretary for a poor cook. In answering the question on the case of a sick husband, Mr. Trew

(Continued on page)

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2870, 2871, 2872

The Old Reliable

Low Luster
Silk Stockings
1.95 Pr.

Low luster silk stockings are all the rage. We feature the Gotham gold stripe chiffon which makes the loveliest silk stocking in all fashionable shades.

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

SUMMER SPORTS
Equipment
For the Golfer
Fisherman
Tennis Player
and all other Sports

L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

Contrasts And Likenesses Appear In Survey Of College Newspapers

...ntrasts and compari... in a survey of some ...newspapers, represent... ...of the nation. Of ...ained, ten are issued ...ral weekly, one daily, ...times a week. An in... was also revealed ...ed that the University ... publishes two weekly ...ed on different days, ...separate title, but that ...by the same editorial ...apparent that one of ... is the official campus ... the other is published ... in the "interests of a ... Mater."

...y representative papers ... the interesting informa... ... than half had separate ... their sporting news. This ... even more interesting when it ...ed that the CYNIC has had ... sports page for little more ...

...newspapers, when gathered ... present a motley array, vary... only in the number of columns, ... their length and in the type ... used. Most of the publica... ... the smoother finish white ... the kind that the CYNIC uses, ... eight of the twenty that were ... preferred the regulation news... material and also were from six ... columns wide. It was found ... those using the white, smooth ... were better illustrated, presum... because the illustrations appear to ... greater advantage on that mate... Those printed on regular coarse ... on the other hand, usually pre... a more attractive front page.

The Editorials

...s enlightening to compare the ... editorial policies. The prohibi... problem was the subject matter ... editorials, while other matters ...nal importance occupied still ... three. One college had just ... a successful drive among ...dents for a cage, and the editor was deploring the poor spirit in which the alumni had taken up the cause and still another was crying for the spring vacation of which its college had been deprived.

Of especial interest to Vermont students is an editorial appearing in a very prominent eastern college paper that deplores the inadequate system now prevalent on that campus, of electing the senior honor men.

Displaying a fine spirit of progress such as has been seen on the Vermont campus, was an editorial under the caption, "The Key Passes." At one modern institution of learning there existed an honorary society that accurately diagnosed its own ills, concluded that its disease was incurable, and summarily committed suicide. It all happened in a manner very comparable to the expiration of our own Pi Delta Rho but a short time back.

College Polls

Many college papers throughout the past year have been conducting secret ballots on the problems of prohibition and compulsory military training. In fourteen colleges which conducted the prohibition poll 65 percent of the students declared for a change in the present liquor control situation, whereas in a fifteenth 62 percent of the students were dissatisfied with prohibition methods.

In regard to the frequency of drinking at these schools 64 percent of the 23,000 who voted, admitted partaking of alcoholic beverages, either frequently or occasionally. Princeton, with 79 percent, has the highest number of drinkers, and Pennsylvania is lowest with 42.6 percent. The totals for these votes was 16,595 for modification or repeal and 4,517 for strict enforcement. As a rule the women students voted a little "dryer" than the men.

The returns on the military question yielded still another upset to many prevote forecasts, compulsory military training being defeated wherever brought up.

MRS. COOLIDGE WILL SEE COMMENCEMENT

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge will return to her native city for the 28th reunion of her class at the University of Vermont at the commencement exercises which begin June 13.

It is expected that Mr. Coolidge will accompany her to Burlington, if he can arrange it. The anniversary of his own commencement at Amherst, however, comes at the same time.

Mrs. Coolidge, then Grace Goodhue, was graduated from the University of Vermont in 1902 with the degree of Bachelor of Philosophy, having taken the Latin-Scientific course.

She is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority at the University, and since graduation has been much interested in her sorority chapter here.

When Mrs. Coolidge was graduated from the Burlington High School in 1899 she was one of the graduation speakers and below her name appeared the title of the next speaker's address which was "The first lady of the land" which Mrs. Coolidge herself later became.

WOMEN'S CLASS TENNIS TOURNEY PROGRESSES

With almost all semi-final matches played off the women's tennis tournament now approaches its conclusion. Wins in tennis have been played off by the freshmen Janice Stannard over Juliet Marston 6-3, 6-4.

For the sophomore championship Caroline Howard will play Janet Miller. Dorothy Nash and Eleanor Fleming will contend for the junior championship. For the seniors Doris Hess will play the winner of the match between Dorothy Dailey and Esther Wilder.

The last match will be played Saturday or Monday. Announcement of the time will be made later.

The Campus Championship Cup in tennis will be held by the winner for a year. This cup may be seen in the Y. W. office.

A very good pair of gloves was found at the Christian Association supper, April 21. The owner may have them by calling at the Vermont Christian Association office.

Before you leave college this year why not select a good

VERMONT BANNER PILLOW TOP or TABLE COVER?

We can furnish many styles and sizes

McAULIFFE'S

Church & College Sts. Phone 629

CHAPEL SPEAKER NAMES ATTRIBUTES OF SUCCESS

"If he be but a man, think clearly and make right choices, success in life will be certain for anyone," declared the Rev. W. C. Clark, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Bakersfield, in chapel Wednesday morning.

"A great many people," said Mr. Clark, "despair of life's troubles and problems, and say, 'What's the use of it all?' They compare this world to the city of sand built by children on the seashore, which is washed away as the tide comes in. Nothing is left. Nothing? That is a mistake. There is something. The children have benefited from the playing together and learning to co-operate."

This comparison Mr. Clark extended to the lives of adult people. "Material things are built by the hands of man. Sometime they are ruthlessly destroyed by the natural flux of events. Shall man despair and say, what is the use of it all? No! Even the material results of their handiwork has been swept away, yet they have influenced beyond measure the life and character of the builder.

"What then is the important thing in life? It is exercise, activity, action. When we leave this world we cannot take with us our material possessions, the building of character eternal. Love is the exercise of the heart. Clear thinking results from the exercise of the mind. Let us not worship the fruits of man's labor; rather let us build the man. It is the man that counts. And man's character is built only through the exercise of his muscles, his brain and his heart."

First: Did you enjoy yourself when you were a Freshman in college?

Second: Did I? Why, those were the happiest years of my life.

GET YOUR FAVORITE MAGAZINE at ISHAM'S

HOME-MADE CANDIES SODAS

LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

Sporting News

HOME GAMES ARE NEXT ON SCHEDULE

Springfield This Afternoon and U. S. Marines Tomorrow Included In This Week's Baseball Schedule—Vermont Both Teams Credited With Wins Over Cats

In a return contest Coach Larry Gardner's Catamount nine meets the Springfield College team this afternoon at 4 o'clock on Centennial Field.

The Gymnasts due to the stellar twirling of "Lefty" Lipp, have conquered Wesleyan, Newport Naval Training, Boston University conqueror of Harvard, and when the Green and Gold invaded New England were set back by Springfield to the tune of 4 to 2. Later in a return game played last Saturday on Nickerson Field B I knocked Lipp out of the box and triumphed by the margin of 13 to 6.

Vermont hopes to keep its home slate clean and should be in fit mood to take the visitors into camp. The varsity mentor has justified Orson Jay's shift from shortstop to centerfield where he has been contributing brilliantly to the team's success. His speed has enabled him to cover plenty of territory and the Springfield catcher will have a job on his hands to keep him from pilfering the bases.

"Pie" Traynor continues to play a steady, heads-up game at second where his fielding ability shows its customary brilliancy. His work with the stick has bolstered the U. V. M. attack and the week should be completed with a clean slate.

Tomorrow afternoon, Tom Keady brings his Quantico Marines back to an old stamping ground and no doubt his troupe will be eager to show their best form before the Vermont fans. The Marines have been a stumbling block to many Eastern teams on their Southern trips and the Catamount team will have a job on their hands to quell any uprising. The first two games on the Catamount's schedule were with the Soldiers as opponents who made a sweep of the series.

ANNOUNCE LINE-UPS OF GIRLS' BASEBALL TEAMS

Miss Blanchard has announced the following line-ups of the Girls' Baseball teams.

The members of the Junior-Senior Team are:

J. Belden, p.; C. McLeod, c.; E. Abbot, 1st; N. Hawley, 2nd; E. Murray, 3rd; V. Chadbourne, ss; F. Remillard lf.; J. Rogers, cf.; M. Tifft, rf. Subs: R. Allen, B. Safford, R. Small, C. Kellogg.

The Sophomore team is composed of: D. Humphrey, p.; S. Holden, c.; L. Mount, 1st; K. Rauh, 2nd; H. Eslie Honis, 3rd; W. Graham, ss.; D. Brennan, lf.; A. Lunna, cf.; P. Brown, rf. Subs: K. Woodard, R. Goss, J. Minckler, O. Fields.

Women comprising the Freshman team are: J. Marston, p.; M. Tower, c.; L. Gowen, 1st; C. Odell, 2nd; E. Urie, 3rd; M. Petras, ss.; N. Carder, lf.; M. Tynan, cf.; E. Miller, rf. Subs: P. Bigelow, A. Armstrong, A. Hubbard, T. Appell, R. Conant.

FRESHMAN WOMEN LOSE IN BASEBALL TOURNEY

By a score of 9-0, the women's baseball team of the senior and junior classes defeated the freshman last Monday afternoon.

WHITE FLANNELS
$7.00 to $12.00

WHITE DUCKS
$2.00 and $2.50

LINEN KNICKERS
$3.50 $4.00 $4.50

HAYES AND CARNEY
195-7 Bank St. Near Majestic
Open Evenings
"Where Vermont Men Meet"

Green And Gold Conquers Cadets By 3 To 1 Score

Cummings Outpitches Waining As Good Assistance And Timely Hitting Help Win Game—Large Crowd Sees Vermont Win Return Contest With Horsemen

JUNIOR VARSITY WINS FROM CLARK SCHOOL BY SCORE OF 4 TO 3

In a close game featured by good pitching the Vermont Jayvees defeated the Clark School ball tossers 4 to 3 Wednesday afternoon on Centennial Field. Clark School opened the game by tallying in the first two innings but in the fifth and sixth frames the Vermonters scored four runs to put the game on ice. In the ninth inning the prep school boys made a last desperate rally to win the game but fell one run short.

Keady and Benway both were in fine form. Vermont got eight hits, while Clark School obtained only six scattered safeties. Bussey and Heaton each gathered two bingles out of four times at bat for Vermont while McGee and Pierce did the same for Clark School. Macomber played a good game in the field for Vermont.

TENNIS TEAM CLOSES SEASON MONDAY WITH BLUE AND WHITE HERE

Vermont closes its varsity tennis schedule with three home matches which include Worcester Polytech here this afternoon, St. Lawrence tomorrow and Middlebury Monday. This will be a stiff test for the varsity but they should manage to chalk up at least two victories. Worcester comes here with a victory over Vermont and the Cats will be the more anxious to overwhelm the Massachusetts team. Tomorrow's match begins in the afternoon at 1:30 before the baseball game which starts at 3 o'clock.

Middlebury already has a victory over Vermont and the Green and Gold will have to work hard to overcome the Midd men. With the exception of Tupper's victory it was a complete rout for Vermont at Middlebury.

The lineup for these matches will probably be as usual with Captain Borkland, Tupper, Palmer and Woodard carrying the brunt of the work.

W. A. A. MAKES AWARDS AT SPRING FIELD DAY

W. A. A. awarded numerals at the Spring field day, held at Redstone and at Robinson Hall last Thursday afternoon, to the following freshmen: Margaret Tynan, Mary Petras, Ethel Bishop, Leah Gowen, Muriel Wheatley, Rhoeno Barnes, Ruth Conant and Ara Armstrong.

Upperclassmen who received numerals were Elizabeth Mosher, '32, and Christie McLeod, '31. The "U. V. M." was awarded to Barbara Lowd, Alice Gay, Marion Berry and Christie McLeod. Edith Abbot received the blazer.

"Watch me shake that thing," said the elephant, coming to a suspension bridge.—V. P. I. Skipper.

CATAMOUNTS TIED FOR FIRST WITH NORWICH

Assisted by steady fielding and a few well bunched hits, "Charlie" Cummings pitched Vermont to a 3-1 victory over "Doc" Waining and the Norwich batmen Tuesday afternoon, avenging the defeat inflicted upon the Catamounts at the Cadets' home field last week and putting the two teams into a tie for first place in the state title race.

Despite the cold weather, the largest crowd of the season so far gathered to see the game. Waining was particularly effective with men on bases and Vermont could not seem to get in the necessary punch, leaving 11 base runners waiting on the bags while three more were put out after reaching the bases so that out of 19 who touched first base safely, only three came all the way around. Both teams supported their twirlers in great shape, Vermont turning in a double play with nine assists and only one error while Norwich also had but one error and nine assists. "Dinny" Dinniman, Vermont's leading hitter and great outfielder, was forced to retire in the seventh. "Dinny" hurt his throwing arm sliding into second in the fifth and then was hit on the injured member by Waining in the seventh.

Vermont started when Jay was hit by a pitched ball and Traynor singled to center. Winant bunted and both runners advanced.

Dinniman clouted to right for a single and Jay scored. Waining fanned Kendall, however, and Delvecchio stopped Howard's drive. Vermont loaded the bases ineffectually in the second with two out. McKay whiffed and Pires drove one to right which Holmes snared. Cummings and Jay were walked and Waining hit Traynor. With the bases loaded, Winant topped the ball and Tansey made the play, forcing Cummings at the plate. Sipsey was the first Norwich batter to reach first in the third inning when Cummings walked him but Hartford's drive to McKay was turned into a twin killing, McKay to Traynor to Winant.

Norwich got its lone tally in the fifth. Whitesides was passed and Tansey sacrificed. Holmes flew out to Jay but Sipsey clouted a single to right, and Whitesides scored to tie the count at one all.

Vermont filled the bases again in the seventh with no result. Cummings walked. Jay attempted to sacrifice but "Charley" was thrown out at second, Tansey to Gale. Jay stole second. Traynor walked and Waining fanned. Winant. Dinniman was hit by a pitched ball, filling the sacks but Kendall rolled weakly to Delvecchio. Then in the eighth came the winning runs. Howard topped his drive and was

(Continued on page 4)

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

SENIOR
CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

PROFESSOR AND ALUMNI JOIN STATE COMMITTEE

Prof. H. P. Perkins, [illegible] a number of prominent Vermont alumni have formed a state committee working for electoral reform candidates in Vermont. The committee is in connection with a committee of the whole which met in New York the first of [illegible] on the State committee is complete, consisting of Mr. W. H. President of the University, ex-officio chairman.

[illegible] a state-wide Distinguished Campaign Committee consisting of the Dean's people was formed [illegible] for the nominating organization and to interest Vermont residents in [illegible] of the country. The members of this committee are: Mrs. George Dana Manchester, chairman; Prof. H. P. Perkins, University of Vermont; Sarah S. Dunseath, Manchester, secretary; Mrs. Florence Rastall, Wilmington, assistant secretary; Lois B. Johnson, Woodstock; Charles Crane, Brattleboro; Ed Clark, Crane, Brattleboro; Zephine Humphrey, Dalmeadow, Dorset; Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Arlington; Mrs. Samuel Evans, Richard, Walter R. Hard, Manchester; Rev. Arthur W. Hewitt, Brattleboro; Mrs. Laura W. McMorran, Montpelier; H. G. Tupper, Springfield; Mrs. Martin S. Viner, Burlington; Ernest H. West, Dorset.

Miss Cleghorn Leads

Miss Cleghorn, a member of the faculty of Vassar College, has planned personal appeals to this question to every voter in the State of Vermont, signed by distinguished Vermont men and women. These letters are going steadily out to all groups of citizens, including club women, social workers, ministers, doctors, lawyers, farmers and business men. These letters which are sent with educational literature are written by distinguished representatives of the professions. Among those who have appealed to Vermont citizens are: Mrs. Dorothy Canfield Fisher to the women of Vermont; Rev. Arthur W. Hewitt to the clergy and social workers; Walter R. Hard to business men; H. G. Tupper, the Springfield lawyer, to the attorneys and professional men; Ernest H. West and Charles Crane to Grange members and voters of Vermont.

Miss Sarah Cleghorn's simple and persuasive letter to the women of Vermont is being sent; Dorothy Canfield Fisher's recent published leaflet on the abolition of the death penalty.

During the summer with Manchester as headquarters Mrs. Orvis, Miss Cleghorn and Mrs. Wyman will plan a series of meetings that will be held in various parts of the state. It is the hope of the Committee that Attorney Canfield, Have the well-known lawyer who is a statistical expert on this question, Clarence Darrow, Gail Laughlin, the only woman member of the Maine Legislature, and other speakers will be heard in Vermont.

Distributes Propaganda

Every previous member of the Vermont Legislature has been sent a copy of the new statistical pamphlet on capital punishment, showing the contrast in the homicide rate between states which have abolished the death penalty and those which retain it. This leaflet is drawn from the United States Department of Commerce statistics and was prepared by a committee of experts.

Miss Cleghorn points out that the most logical states to end the death penalty should be those which have almost discontinued it. The three states that for many years have executed no men or women are New Hampshire, with no executions for 12 years, Vermont with no executions for 11 years, and Wyoming with no executions for 10 years.

Angel No. 1: How did you get here?
Angel No. 2: Flu

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York

CO-EDUCATIONAL

CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE

TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION

Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes

WRITE FOR CATALOGUE

CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.

Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music

ZETA CHI CELEBRATES WITH DINNER DANCE

Quinnipiac Manor was the scene last Saturday evening of a formal dinner dance sponsored by Zeta Chi fraternity in celebration of its tenth anniversary. The Manor was celebrating its opening social event of the [illegible] season. The [illegible] was tastefully decorated and a large oriental hall in the ballroom further enhanced the appearance. Peter Hamm, well-known Manor chef served one of his famous dinners to open the event. During the banquet Whitney & Davis mush bags and humorist[illegible] favor programs were distributed to the guests. After the dinner dancing was in order. "Ricky" Hamm and his "Music Masters of Western Melodies" of Rutland, played. Prof. and Mrs. I. W. Dean and Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Millington chaperoned. Royce C. Pitkin of Washingford, first president of Zeta Chi presided as toastmaster.

LISMAN AND GERMAIN WILL HEAD CLUBS

(Continued from page 1)

practices are fundamentally functionalistic in their character.

Every state of consciousness has a basis of feeling which, in turn, involves conflicting reactions. When the mind is active, one feels that it is running to some end. It must meet the demands of life and adjust itself to situations. In memories thought, the activity in the cortex can not be explained in terms of sensation though sections of the cortex may be active.

The functionalistic viewpoint broadens the scope of psychology.

SENIORS AND JUNIORS NOW PREPARE TO ELECT

(Continued from page 1)

class met and lined up twenty men and women to fill the nine class and representative offices.

The nominees from whom these officers were chosen yesterday afternoon are:

For class president: A. O. Eaton, F. M. Winant, for vice-president: Isabel Holmes, Olive Fields, Katrina Munn, for secretary: Verna Carrier, Lois Harrington, Katrina Munn; for treasurer, F. W. Householder, C. Rutkowski, R. W. Masten.

Five representatives from the class were also nominated Tuesday. These follow:

P. Westin, G. R. Collins, from the Engineering College, H. M. Albert, T. Tupper and A. J. Baldwin from the Arts and Sciences College; M. B. Morgan from the Agricultural College, Charlotte Carpenter, Lillian Mount and Emily Masten from among the women.

At yesterday's meeting the editor and business manager of the Artel were elected from men presented by the present board and also from the floor. The results of all the elections will be announced in Tuesday's Cynic.

Miss Eleanor Cummings, director of the women's physical education department, requests all women to remove their suits from the gym lockers as soon as possible. Students who have not yet paid for their lockers or dancing costumes are also requested to attend to this matter at once.

GREEN AND GOLD BEATS CADETS BY 3-1 SCORE

(Continued from page 3)

thrown out to Delvechio by Tansey. McKay singled through short. Pires sacrificed and both runners advanced on Hartford's error. Cummings sacrificed Tansey to Delvechio, scoring "Dutch" McKay with the winning run. Jay singled scoring Pires. Traynor singled sharply to center and Winant walked filling the bases but Rutkowski struck

Vermont	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Jay, cf	2	1	1	4	0	0
Traynor, 2b	3	0	2	3	2	0
Winant, 1b	3	0	0	10	0	0
Dinnitman, lf	2	0	1	1	0	0
Rutkowski, lf	1	0	0	0	0	0
Kendall, c	4	0	0	6	0	0
Howard, rf	4	0	0	1	0	0
McKay, 3b	4	1	1	0	1	1
Pires, ss	3	1	0	0	2	0
Cummings, p	1	0	1	2	4	0
	27	3	6	27	9	1

Norwich	ab	r	h	po	a	e
Kane, lf	4	0	1	0	0	0
Gale, 2b	3	0	1	2	1	0
Waining, p	3	0	1	0	1	0
Delvechio, 1b	4	0	1	9	0	0
Whitesides, 3b	2	1	0	0	0	0
Tansey, c	3	0	0	9	5	0
Holmes, rf	4	0	0	2	0	0
Sipsey, cf	2	0	1	1	0	0
Hartford, ss	3	0	0	1	2	1
*Eaton	1	0	0	0	0	0
*Gamsby	1	0	0	0	0	0
	30	1	5	24	9	1

*Hit for Whitesides in 9th.
*Hit for Sipsey in 9th.

By innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Norwich	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	1
Vermont	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	x	3

PRESIDENT WILL GIVE BAND BANQUET TONIGHT

Members of the R. O. T. C. band will be guests at a banquet given by the President of the University at the Hotel Vermont at [illegible] p.m. At that time the band numerals will be awarded to eligible members and certain former members.

Former members of the band who will receive the reward are: Albert R. H. Albee, C. H. DeRose, Kenneth Kay, F. A. McBride, C. S. Pecala, A. Soloman and [illegible] Dyke.

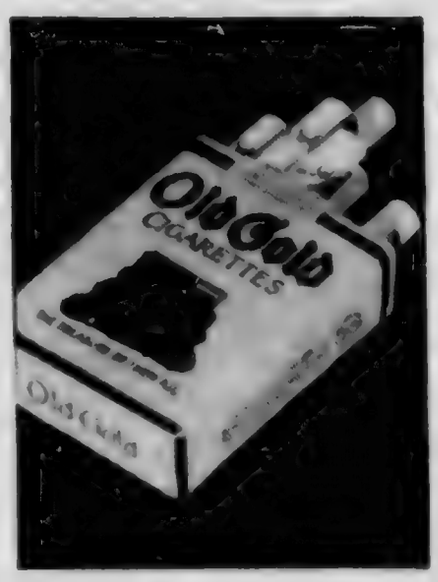
Vermont Closes Debate Season

(Continued from page 3)

orgy claimed that society should have other methods for prevention of a case.

Mr. Nelson, on being cross-examined by Mr. White, said that he did not believe that all women should be mothers but said that some women were better suited to become mothers than others. He said that a depression of affairs would not cause women chose home-making in preference to some profession.

Mr. Codding and Mr. [illegible] summed up the arguments of their respective sides in concluding the debate.



"not a cough in a carload"

I. & P. Lorillard Co.

OLD GOLD cigarettes

in a stunning new velour box!

If you could go to Paris . . . to clever French tabac shops . . . you might find a cigarette box as smart as this. Or maybe in Berlin . . . or Vienna. But now OLD GOLD has caught the continental flair for packaging . . . dressed its familiar "fifties" package in this golden velour paper . . . and delivered it, for you, to your nearest dealer's. It's a stunning box to keep on your study table . . . to pass to your friends . . . or to take on trips. And it costs no more than the regular "fifties" tin. Now on sale everywhere.

If dealer cannot supply, send 35¢ to Old Gold, 119 W. 40th St., New York

Oh...h...h!
"MINNIE the Mermaid"

HERE'S a snappy, salty love-song . . . a deep sea ditty for every affectionate fish. Try Bernie Cummins' latest musical cocktail on your Victor instrument.

The cream of the world's artists and orchestras . . . from jazz to symphony, record exclusively for Victor and all the newest hits come to you . . . soonest . . . on Victor Records.

Ask your Victor dealer about these stirring Broadway "folk songs."

22355—MINNIE THE MERMAID and YOU WILL COME BACK TO ME—Bernie Cummins and New Yorker Hotel Orchestra.

22370—IT HAPPENED IN MONTEREY and SONG OF THE DAWN—George Olsen and Orchestra.

22351—GONE—Shilkret and Victor Orch. and COTTAGE FOR SALE—Bernie Cummins and [illegible]

22342—AFTER YOU'VE GONE and DARK TOWN STRUTTERS BALL—Coon-Sanders and Orchestra.

22354—SUNNY SIDE OF THE STREET and EXACTLY LIKE YOU—Bernie Cummins and New Yorker Hotel Orchestra.

V-38123—LOOSE LIKE A GOOSE and SOME SWEET DAY AND IT WON'T BE LONG—Bennie Moten and His Kansas City Orchestra.

ALL THE MUSIC YOU WANT WHEN YOU WANT IT on

VICTOR RECORDS

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, MAY 27, 1930 | NUMBER 59

SCHOOL DEBATERS WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

MONTPELIER HIGH AND WINDSOR WIN OUT IN U. V. M. STATE LEAGUE

Highest Ranking Goes to Montpelier, Winner In Finals In University-backed Competition

HIGH SCHOOL AUDIENCE LENDS SPIRIT TO FINAL

Scholarships totalling $1,800 were awarded by the University Friday night to the eight outstanding high school debaters in Vermont, after enthusiastic cheering from a large high school audience, Montpelier High School defeated Windsor High in the finals of the University-backed State High School Debate League to win the Vermont Championship in the sixth annual contest.

The debate was one of the best ever heard in the Old Mill Chapel and was close enough to cause a 2-1 decision on the part of the judges. The cheering and singing of the Montpelier section added much to the interest of the event. Full scholarships were awarded the Montpelier team and half scholarships the Windsor team.

Well-Prepared Debate

The debate was well-prepared, both teams having debated the question half a dozen times before in the preliminary rounds. The arguments of the two teams were equally sound, but Montpelier won the strength of its greater fluency in rebuttal.

Prof. L. W. Dean presided. The judges were Prof. D. B. Carroll, Prof. E. H. Wallace and Judge S. R. Moulton. The members of the Montpelier team were Homer Dewey, William Ryan and James Hayford. Windsor represented Norma Piper, Maurice La Fountain and Charlotte Richmond. Scholarships were also awarded to alternates on both teams.

The State League, comprising sixteen teams, was divided into four districts early in the year, and each team in each district debated against the other three teams of the district, quarter finals and semi-finals followed. The power ownership question was argued throughout. The two high schools eliminated by the finalists in the semi-final round were Bradford and East Haven.

Holders of debate scholarships won in the high school league who are now enrolled at Vermont include F. A. Stone, '31; L. Lisman, '31; Roberta Powers, '32; D. W. Frazier, '32; P. B. Berger, '32; F. W. Householder, '32; Laura Jameson, '33; Caroline Taft, '33; and R. F. Colburn, '33.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA NAMES PIERCE TO PRESIDENCY

D. C. Pierce, '31, was elected president of Kappa Phi Kappa, education professional fraternity, at the annual banquet of the society Thursday night. E. M. Codding, '31, will serve as vice-president, M. H. Kendall, '31, as treasurer, W. W. Howard, '31, as corresponding secretary, and K. M. Stevens, '31, as recording secretary. P. S. Robbins, '30, is the retiring president.

The annual banquet of the fraternity was held prior to the election. The guest of honor of the evening was Professor D. Wright, head of the education department at Dartmouth College, who spoke on the place and value of the fraternity in the field of education. Professor Wright is one of the founders of Kappa Phi Kappa and the present national secretary.

There have been several meetings during the last semester, Professors Carroll and Dean being among the guests. New members initiated during the college year are: B. Lucarini, '30, Manning, '30, K. M. Stevens, '31, Howard, '31, G. W. Watson, '30, Wissell, '30, J. Q. Bullis, '30, C. Wilson, '30, E. M. Codding, '31, D. C. Pierce, '31, M. H. Kendall, '31, and honorary members: Professor Holmes Wallace and K. J. Arnold of the education department and H. Laatsch of the political science department.

Kappa Kappa is planning to be

(Continued on page 4)

WOMEN'S FACULTY CLUB ELECTS MISS PATRICK

The Women's Faculty Club held its annual meeting and banquet Friday night at Wildwood, Charlotte, and elected Miss Mary Maud Patrick president, and Miss Alice Blanchard vice-president for the ensuing year. Professor George P. Burns spoke on "Requirements for Graduate Study." Miss Nelle S. Alexander, retiring president, presided.

FRESHMAN TAKES FIRST PLACE IN ANNUAL PRIZE SPEAKING COMPETITION

Russell Colburn Delivers Winning Speech—Robert Jenks and Peardon Donaghy Place Second and Third

Russell Colburn, a freshman, was awarded first place in the annual Kingsley Prize Speaking Contest Thursday evening by a board of three judges, two of them professors at the University. This is the first time in four years that a freshman has placed first in the Kingsley contest, an event open to sophomores as well.

Second prize went to Robert Jenks, a sophomore, who also took second last year. The freshman class made off with more laurels when Peardon Donaghy, '33, gave it another place by taking third prize.

The judges were Prof. D. B. Carroll, Rev. H. F. Connor and Prof. L. W. Dean. Prof. Frederick Tupper presided. The City Hall Auditorium was, for the second time, the scene of the contest. It was first used for that purpose last year.

Colburn's winning oration was "The Perfect Tribute," by Mary Shipman Andrews. The oration centers about the events immediately preceding and following the delivery of the Gettysburg address. It portrays Lincoln's arrival on the field, the delivery of the address and his visit to the bedside of a Confederate soldier dying of his wounds. The dying man has read the accounts of the address and, as Lincoln takes his hand, ignorant of the identity of his visitor, the dying boy says to him, "The man who spoke those words will go down in history as the greatest of the great," and, with his last breath, wishes he might shake that man's hand. He dies, unconscious that his wish has been fulfilled. Colburn's clearness of delivery and his poise determined the judges. His manner of opening his address was especially noteworthy, stepping forward from the wings to the center of the stage at the words "fourscore and seven years ago" to deliver the Gettysburg address, then stepping back to conclude the narrative.

The Other Winners

Robert Jenks and Peardon Donaghy showed equally fine delivery, but not quite the clearness of Colburn. Jenks gave Webster's "Speech on the Compromise of 1850" and Donaghy gave "The American Foundation," largely original in composition.

Other speeches were "The Cross of Gold," Wm. J. Bryan, by Alfred Morin; "Imaginary Speech by John Adams, July 4, 1776," Daniel Webster, by Samuel Barker; "Socrates' Last Appeal to his Judges," Plato, by Donald Frazier; "Speech at the Washington Arms Conference of 1920," Aristide Briand, by William MacDonald; "The New South," Henry Grady, by James Bigelow.

The judges complimented all the speakers, remarking that the contest was far better than many of previous years. The prizes are awarded by Darwin P. Kingsley, '81, of New York City.

And Nero Fiddled

In apologizing for having commented editorially on Prohibition, the Pennsylvanian, (U. of P.) said: "It is not the policy of this newspaper to take a definite stand one way or the other as regards the moot question now before the people of the United States."—The Intercollegian

GERMAIN ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY OF GREY FRIARS LITERARY CLUB

Lisman Becomes Vice-President —Barker, Carter and LaCrosse Also On 1931 Slate

SOCIETY ADMITS ONLY THREE TO MEMBERSHIP

Edmour Germain, '31, was elected president of Grey Friars, honorary literary society, at the final business meeting of the organization Friday night. Louis Lisman, '31, was chosen vice-president. All other offices went to sophomores, Samuel Barker being elected secretary, Joseph Carter treasurer, and Paul LaCrosse chairman of committees.

Three members have been admitted to the society and will be initiated at the final banquet June 7. They are Fred W. Householder, '32, Robert W. Hyde, '32, and William G. MacDonald '33. Householder is a news editor on the Cynic and has contributed to the Winnowings. He has also participated in dramatics and in forensic activities. MacDonald is also on the Cynic staff, serving as assistant editor. The admission of these three men brings the total number of admissions during the past year to five. Ten formal applications have been denied.

Germain, the new president, has long been prominent in literary work at Vermont. He is a feature editor of the Cynic and last year served as secretary of Grey Friars, of which he is one of the founders.

The society, as usual, has been one of the most active organizations on the campus during the past year. In all it has held fifteen meetings for the reading of manuscripts. The latest member of the society to have material accepted by publishers announces that articles by him are about to appear in The Vermonter, the Springfield Republican, and the Albany Knickerbocker Press.

FRESHMAN CAMP WILL OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 12

V. C. A. Will Again Sponsor Abnaki Fall Event—J. C. Carter To Be Director

Freshman Camp for men, now a well-known and firmly established institution sponsored by the Vermont Christian Association will again be directed by Joseph Carter, '32, September 12-15, the week-end preceding the opening of college at Camp Abnaki, North Hero Island on Lake Champlain.

Each fall before college opens the University of Vermont Christian Association invites all men who are enrolling as freshmen to attend camp for an invigorating program of sports, including swimming, talks, discussion groups, wholesome food, songs and cheers, contact with the representative leaders at Vermont and a genuine good time.

The main purpose of the program is to help the entering freshmen toward making the transition from their high school life to the more complex university life.

Leaders of Students

Student leaders and faculty men who have a thorough knowledge of and sympathy with student problems and interest will be at the camp to advise the incoming men and to discuss with them questions relating to campus life and adjustment of their interests and ideals especially during their first year at U. V. M.

Faculty members, ministers and coaches who are well known as leaders of student groups and sports and have a genuine love for fellowship, the complete development of the student as a social being, and his physical development through recreational sports.

Last year forty boys and about half as many upperclassmen and instructors, were present at the camp.

The freshmen and leaders discussed studies, religion, finances, outside ac-

(Continued on page 4)

Worrell And Eaton Get Upperclass Presidencies

Cobb Elected to Editorship of 1932 Ariel, With Wilder As Business Manager—Combines Again In Evidence At Sophomore And Junior Elections But Lose In Latter

Roy W. Worrell was elected to the presidency of next year's senior class, and Allen O. Eaton of the junior class, at meetings of the classes of 1931 and 1932 on Thursday and Friday of last week. The sophomores set a precedent by also electing the editor and business manager of the Ariel at the general meeting. Fraternity combines were again in evidence at both elections but were said to have been defeated at the junior class meeting.

The elections were poorly attended, only 49 voting at the junior class meeting.

The rest of the slate of junior class officers for next year includes: Olive Fields, vice-president; Chester Rutkowski, treasurer; and Katrina Munn, secretary. On the Faculty-Student Council, Charlotte Carpenter and Lillian Mount will represent the women, Harry Albert the College of Arts and Sciences, Paul Westin the College of Engineering, and Lawrence Morrill the College of Agriculture.

Allen Eaton, the new class president, is a news editor of the Cynic and is an assistant football manager. Raymond Cobb, next year's Ariel editor, has also had journalistic experience on the Cynic, serving as news editor this year. The new business manager, Everett Wilder, is an assistant business manager on the Cynic. He is captain of cross-country, is a varsity track man, and has served in Student Senate and on the Kake Walk Committee. The other class officers have each been active in varied types of activities.

Eaton belongs to Sigma Phi, Rutkowski and Morrill to Zeta Chi, Albert to Phi Sigma Delta, Cobb and Westin to Delta Psi, Wilder to Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Miss Fields belongs to Pi Beta Phi, Miss Munn and Miss Mount to Alpha Chi Omega and Miss Carpenter to Delta Delta Delta. Eaton, Wilder and Westin belong to the class honorary society.

The choice of editor and of business manager were in accordance with the recommendations of George Brush and Hugh Mattison, retiring Ariel heads. It is expected that the other sophomores who have assisted the editors during the past year will be appointed to the board, but no definite announcements have as yet been made. It is also expected that the editor and business manager will issue a call for scrubs from the class of 1933 early next year, but it is not yet known whether or not a merit system will be inaugurated. All appointments to the editorial board also the appointment of the women's editor will be made by the editor-in-chief.

LATE ANNOUNCEMENT

The men's board as appointed by the editor consists:

Associate editor, James W. Marvin; managing editor, Alfred J. Morin; assistant managing editors, G. Stanley Flagg, and C. Ellory Palmer; athletic editor, Joseph S. Levin; assistant athletic editor, Frederick Tupper; feature editor, Paul E. Westin; Kake Walk editor, Allen O. Eaton; grind editor, Orson W. Jay; assistant grind editors, Harry M. Albert, Francis B. Bachi, Edward J. Fitzgerald, Donald Frazier, Victor Kaziaushas, Ralph W. Master, Chester Rutkowski, Alfred A. Scharbius, Henry C. Torrey, J. Edwards Tracy, Harry Winthrop, S. Loyal Wright; humor editor, Fred W. Householder, Jr.; photographic editor, C. Henry Thompson; editorial staff, Peary B. Berger, Charles L. Park, Jr., Frank Varrichione, Hewitt I. Varney.

Everett Wilder has appointed his business staff as follows:

Advertising manager, Samuel B. Barker; circulation manager, Robert S. Jenks; assistant business managers, Philip B. Billings, Francis R. Gorman, Edward L. Meehan.

Roberta F. Powers, Morrisville, appointed women's editor, has named as her assistants:

Assistant editors, Marian M. Berry, Lois E. Harrington; grind editor, Helen R. Le Baron; assistant grind editors, Verna E. Carrier, Mildred I. Gile, Dorothy Sweeny; photographic editor, Emily Maslen; assistant photographic editor, Elizabeth E. Mosher; business manager, Margaret Ann Martin; assistant business manager, Katherine V. Kingston; athletic editor, Lillian E. Mount; assistant athletic editor, M. Elizabeth Mandigo.

The vice-president of the senior class next year will be Helen Taylor. Stuart Corbin will serve as treasurer and Caroline Whitney as secretary. Ruth Fields and Jean Wappler will represent the Senior women on the Faculty-Student Council. Francis Bolles will represent the College of Arts and Sciences, Rodney Maynes the College of Engineering, and Kenneth Stevens the College of Agriculture.

Roy Worrell is business manager of Wig and Buskin and is advertising manager of the 1931 Ariel. He served as a sub-chairman on the Junior Week Committee and has been named to a number of other committeeships in the past. All of the other officers elected are also prominent in both college and class activities.

Worrell, Corbin and Bolles are all members of Delta Psi. Maynes belongs to Sigma Nu, and Stevens to Phi Mu Delta. Helen Taylor, Caroline Whitney and Jean Wappler are members of Kappa Alpha Theta. Ruth Fields belongs to Pi Beta Phi. Corbin and Miss Fields are the only members of the class honorary societies. The elections of Maynes and of Miss Fields constituted reelections.

PUBLISHERS OFFER PRIZE FOR A CAMPUS NOVEL

Doubleday, Doran, which has just announced Miss Betty White, Northwestern University co-ed as winner of the 1929 Campus Prize Novel contest, offers another prize for the best novel of campus life written by an undergraduate for the 1930 contest.

Rules for the 1930 College Humor Doubleday, Doran Campus Prize Novel differ in one or two respects from those of the contest just concluded but the prize remains the same—$3,000 for the best novel submitted by an undergraduate enrolled in an American or Canadian school, or a graduate of not more than one year.

The 1930 Campus Prize Novel may be placed in any modern environment and be woven about any set of characters. The judges will be the editors of Doubleday, Doran and College Humor, and the prize winner will be announced sometime after the first of January, 1931.

The contest will close at midnight October 15, 1930.

FEE RISES AS STUDENTS ACTIVITIES INCREASE

The Student Activity Fee will be $30 next year as against $27.50 for the present year, according to an official announcement. The increase of $2.50 was deemed necessary by the administration because of a need of funds for student activities which have hitherto not been included in the University budget. Fencing is the most notable of these activities. The funds for this team have, it seems, come not from the students but from the University funds. Another part of the increased fee is expected to go to the Cynic. This year it was necessary to levy a head tax of $1.00 per student at the beginning of the second semester in order to support the paper. The exact disposition of the entire amount of the increase has not as yet been determined but will be attended to next fall when the annual university budget is prepared.

When the budget is finally made up each student activity which is in need of funds will be accounted for and the deficit remedied. The Student Activity Fee is used entirely to finance student activities, each activity being apportioned its relative amount and all unforeseen activities must be paid for by the University, as has been the case with fencing during the past year.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

LOUIS LISMAN, '31
Editor-in-chief

GORDON E. BRIGHAM, '31
CHARLES E. NELSON, '31
Managing Editors

HILDA S. SMITH, '31
Women's Editor

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '30
Sports Editor

STUART S. CORBIN, '31
Business Manager

News Editors
Raymond W. Cobb, '30 — Allen O. Eaton, '31 — Fred W. Householder, '32

Feature Editors
I. C. Carter, '31 — Edmund A. Gorman, '31 — Robert L. Stewart, '30

Intercollegiate Editor
Charles B. Crawford, '31

Contributing Editor
R. S. Jones, '31

Dramatic Editor
Edward J. Fitzgerald, '32

Associate Editors
P. D. Berger, '32 — W. C. MacDonald, '31 — S. N. Speller, '33
J. E. Bigelow, '33 — C. J. Kilburn, '32 — T. L. Taylor, '33
F. B. Dow, '33 — H. J. Shaw, '32 — C. N. Wormells, '33
A. Katz, '30 — J. C. Shaw, '32

Associate Sports Editor
Lydard M. Foster, '32

Assistant Sports Editor
J. S. Levin, '33 — A. A. Moulton, '32 — F. Tupper, '32

Assistant Editors
J. H. Powell, '33 — G. M. Swasey, '31 — S. Polatsky, '32 — R. W. Ryan, '33

Women's Associate Editor
Luella Bunn, '31

Harriet Wright, '31
Women's Athletic Editor

Gladys Estes, '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Winona Cook, '32 — Rosetta Harbour, '32 — Margaret Mower, '32
Alice Tolhurst, '32 — Margaret Ann Morton, '32 — Hope Rasslow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
F. G. Shurtleff, '32 — R. E. Tracy, '32 — G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1885. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.
Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned in before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.
All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House. All other correspondence to the Editor in Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in section 34 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 — May 27, 1930 — No. 59

Ten Timely Topics

TARA TANTARA TYRO

Tomorrow examinations will begin. They bring to a close what has been at once one of the best and one of the most mediocre of years. Let us just glance at the high spots.

The year has been long, but we can still remember, back in the fall, when the freshmen first arrived. The discontinuance of freshman week was a landmark which is worth noting. Not that that meant an entire loss of the spirit of fun which has accompanied that institution—perhaps you remember how the Frosh paraded downtown, and even recall the scrap in the City Hall Park.

It wasn't so many days after that when we began hearing about the International Week-end Conference. Not many of us attended, to be sure, but we all felt uplifted by the presence upon the campus of Harry F. Ward, and the other speakers. A half circle of listeners heard Doctor Ward, and Tucker P. Smith, and the impromptu debate precipitated by Major Simmons upon the technicalities of naval terminology. A few more attended the debate upon compulsory military. And on Sunday, even more found time to listen to Sunder Joshi on India, and Peter H. Kiang on China—this last being one of the outstanding speakers of the year.

When Bertrand Russell and John Dewey came, we turned out, medics and all, to see them. Some even listened interestedly. Charles R. Knight was advertised to show pictures, but he seemed to be less of a spectacle. Jason Westerfield with his lecture on the stock exchange aroused what was probably the deepest interest of any lecturer of the year. All these were followed, however, by a man quite as significant as any of them—Carl Sandburg. Where they came to see Dewey and Russell as famous men, students came to see him as a curiosity—and stayed to listen. Even though they laughed at his definitions of poetry, there were few that didn't carry away at least a little of what was worth while in his lecture.

Through the kindness of the University, we were permitted to listen free of charge, to Harold Bauer to Albert Spalding, and to the Lhevinne Trio Ensemble, as well as to the Vermont Music Festival. Nor has that been all of our musical recreation. The R. O. T. C. Band has played upon other occasions, and has given us as big a kick as ever. A college orchestra and eight to twelve members of the Burlington Symphony Orchestra made us swell with pride. The choir has been the best since it was first organized. The Christmas and Easter concerts, while no better than usual, were far ahead of what might be expected of a college of our size (with credit due to Professor Bennett). If the operas suffered it was due to no fault of the performers, but to an unfortunate choice.

Kake Walk was heralded as widely as usual—and the stunts were better. Cotton Hakes tickled our toes for weeks before and after. Dear Brutus has been deemed worthy of three performances, and Holiday was a success in more ways than one, for it showed us the cleverest student actress who has performed here in our memory. Three Theatre club plays, in which members of the faculty took leading rôles, completed the bill.

Another conference brought us Tucker Smith again, and with him, Herbert Elvin, who is one of the most charming speakers ever to appear upon our campus. Nor were all the conferences local affairs. Delegates went to Northfield, where they joined in denunciation of war, and to New Haven to the Model Assembly of the League of Nations. The debating team has also discussed the kindred topic of disarmament, as well as an infinity of other matters. Not only has the Varsity and the Women's team been successful, but one of the most outstanding features of the year has been the local debates participated in by the Jayvees.

A new policy of selecting Cynic boards by merit; a movement to renounce fraternity combinations; the definite enunciation of a Liberal Party platform—these have been outstanding in an attitude which has brought everything from mudslinging to reform, and from mass meetings to campus comment. Out of it all has emerged the most healthy attitude of intelligent criticism which we have seen in our college career. The tendency to measure things by the pragmatic test of actual worth, rather than by size or age, is one which cannot but improve a campus. We can perceive the vigorous beginnings of an intellectual renaissance.

Nor do we want to ascribe all our blessings to the students alone. Like every college, we have all kinds, both as students and instructors. But we have numbered among our friends and guides some of the finest men who were ever on a college faculty, and perhaps they stay at Vermont as many of them do stay because, after all, they would seek far to find a better student body with which to work—at least in many respects. And in all this, we want to leave one reminder for those who follow us: departments may be small, and students for a course may be scarce, but it is quality and not quantity which counts. And this carries over for the small college, as well as the small department, and the small class.

In spite of the mediocrities which must have their place in every year, 1929-30 after all has brought to Vermont a lot that has been worth while. The fight is never won, the race is never run, but in the months past there is much to convince us that we have been running a good race—and that Vermonters must keep on running. Just now we are passing the baton; henceforth we must wait and watch each yearly relay, hoping to see our mistakes righted and our gains improved. Keep up the fight for old Vermont!

Intercollegiate News

OTHER STUDENTS SAY

In a secret poll conducted at the University of Cincinnati the students voted in disfavor of compulsory military training by a vote of 1742 against 1288.

In a poll on the prohibition question the vote was as follows: 788 for enforcement, 1226 for modification and 1611 in favor of repeal.

Cincinnati students who confessed drinking totaled 52½ percent, a smaller percentage of drinkers than any other college in the country except Pennsylvania.

Ballots in the student survey taken at Amherst College reveal that all the students think some of the policies of the College administration are "prep-schoolish."

Every ballot received has protested that a fraternity should be able to hold more than one dance a year, a situation which is at present impossible due to the refusal of Smith and Mount Holyoke to send chaperones.

Students are opposed to the abolition of all forms of rivalry between sophomores and freshmen, many favoring the institution of series of athletic contests, and other suggesting a free-for-all fight without gasoline.

Absent minded professors are a reality. The ministry of education of Bucharest mistook a book named the "Secret of the Harem" for a Greek grammar and distributed several thousand copies of the books. However the alert professors did not stop there for one of them passed them out to the students. The mistake was not discovered until the pupils were found reading them during their recess periods in preference to playing.

At Penn State student opinion on the question of unlimited cuts for seniors gathered impetus last week as two honorary engineering fraternities passed resolutions favoring the adoption of a plan similar to that proposed by the Student Council committee.

Numerous other honorary societies have used the question as a basis for discussion at meetings during the past week. An unofficial survey of these groups revealed that a majority of their members endorsed the trial of such a system for seniors of high standing.

Members of the dramatic group at Ohio State must learn to sing Chinese in order to present a play which is soon to be produced.

Disgusted with the social activities of the students at the University of Washington, janitors and laborers of the buildings and ground department have planned a party which they say will cause students to smoulder with envy.

Spanish Students Demonstrate

Spain's aggressive university students, responsible for several recent demonstrations protesting police methods, have become quiet and the government announced that the entire country was tranquil.

San Carlos Medical College, whose students battled police with the result that a workman was killed and at least 15 other persons were injured, remained closed by government order and strong forces of police guarded it.

In other parts of Spain undergraduates showed sympathy with their colleagues in the capital but no disorder resulted.

Some students at the University of Santiago refused to enter their classes staging minor demonstrations with shouts of "Viva La Republica," but later most of them went into class in orderly fashion.

DARTMOUTH BALLOT

The students of the senior class of Dartmouth showed their disapproval of the 18th Amendment in the annual vote. Only fifty of the entire class voted in favor of it. According to the ballot Yale is their greatest rival, "necking" their favorite sport, and Smith their ideal college. Al Marsters is thought to have done the most for the school, while the editor of the Dartmouth holds the most respect.

THE OLD INDEPENDENCE

When coeds at Shwetleff College openly declared that the men did not dress neatly nor with good taste, the men adopted the slogan, "We Pay for Shows—that's Why we Wear Those Clothes," and proceeded to dress in overalls.

The Good Old Days

Last week in the athletic room at the Boston Athletic Association, where nothing but amateur athletics is ever mentioned or discussed, Mr. George V. Brown, now manager of the Boston Arena and for many years closely identified with amateur athletics, not only in Boston, but throughout the country, turned to me and said, "Doctor, whom do you class as the greatest athlete that Vermont has turned out?"

I naturally thought of some of our baseball immortals and mentioned Arlie Pond, Larry Gardner and Ray Collins, and, in a different field, Clarence DeMar. George Brown, who knew of all these men and intimately of DeMar, laughed as he said that I had forgotten Vermont's greatest—Gutterson. He then went on to say that in the many years in which he had been one of the assistant managers of the Olympic teams, he regarded Gutterson, probably with Thorpe, the Indian, as the two greatest track athletes that America had ever seen.

He went on to say that in addition to his Olympic broad jump of 24 feet, 11½ inches Gutterson had done 6 feet, 2 inches in the high jump, 10 seconds in the hundred, 25 seconds in the low hurdles, and 15.4 seconds in the high hurdles. At the Olympics of 1912 when Gutterson failed [illegible] to break the world's [illegible] by O'Connor, the [illegible] said that the [illegible] from the toe of [illegible] foot, while in O'[illegible] viously, the mark had [illegible] of the foot. Brown [illegible] that Gutterson was [illegible] acter with a very [illegible] personality and had [illegible] thought of by all the men [illegible] he came in contact [illegible] letics.

It is now an old story [illegible] DeMar did it again in [illegible] marathon, which, in spite [illegible] cree by amateur athletic [illegible] is the real American [illegible] will, I believe, always re[illegible] did not examine the men [illegible] but was told by the off[illegible] DeMar had never finished [illegible] markably fine condition [illegible] rate is very little difference [illegible] of the race than when he [illegible] this year he showed [illegible] ter finishing. The opinion [illegible] who have followed these [illegible] years is that there never [illegible] may never again be an [illegible] who will do so well on a [illegible] as DeMar does.

—DR. EDMUND L. SAWYER
Vermont Alumni Weekly

Bits of Bunk

New Iceman: Say, what do you think? The guy in that house threw me out because I tried to kiss the cook this morning.

Milkman: I think the lady of that house does her own cooking.

We think that the promoters of simplified spelling ought to start a school for the authors of psychology, biology, and physiology text books, and it might not hurt the writers of Public Finance books to take a short course, either.

First Student: There's nothing we can do about it. It's all off.

Second Student: What do you mean it's all off?

First Student: Dr. McLauchlin's hair.

Sheik: You use jasmine lip stick, don't you?

Coed: Wrong, big boy, kiss again.
—Romeo de Sheik.

"So you graduated from a barber college? What is your yell?"

"Cut his lip. Cut his jaw!
Leave his face, Raw, Raw, Raw!"

"My girl is like a window glass."

"How come—can you see through her?"

"Nope— Just a pain."

"Look here, waitress, there isn't a particle of turtle in this turtle soup."

"Well, what of it? We have cabinet pudding, but you wouldn't expect to find Andrew Mellon in it, would you?"

Prof: Wake that fellow next to you.

Student: Aw, do it yourself; you put him to sleep.

His Lordship (to servant): Jardyce, I've just had a tiff with my wife—will you slam the door?—Jovca Frivol.

Well, Harold has become an Atheist!

Who are some of the actives at that House?

Life is short, only four letters in it; three quarters of it is a lie, and one-half of it is an if.—Sun Dial.

"Oh, you base deceiver!" cried the maiden.

"Wrong again," grated the villian. "I'm a tenor."

Campus Cop: Move that car along.

Coed: Don't get fresh, I'm a Delta.

Aforementioned Officer: I won't care if you were a whole Peninsula. Move that wreck.

Executioner: Pat, have you anything to say before I close the switch?

Pat (a former trainman): Begorra have we a clear track ahead?

WHAT YOU SAY

Yes, I did have quite a few cuts. Oh! I'd forgotten you counted that first quiz we had. Yes, I flunked that. No! I guess I didn't apply myself. Thank you so much for your trouble.

Bell Hop: Let me have your grip, sir.

Frat Man: Shake, old man! I didn't know we had a chapter in this town.—Wagwamp.

Maid: (who has just answered the phone for her mistress) It is your fiancee, madame, the one with the deep voice.—Buccaneer.

SHAM-PLAINS

Maple Sap has been [illegible] In act, Havit Dun almost [illegible] it. According to Maple Sap [illegible] sorores refuse to combine [illegible] fraternity, absolutely any fraternity. Why should they? One man [illegible] enough for any girl. This [illegible] ness of what's yours is mine [illegible] my own is the stunk. First up is [illegible] dressed and first to the phone is [illegible] necked. A reform is due and [illegible] await a leader. So, says Maple [illegible] least.

At this point Havit went [illegible] soliloquy:

Once't a pal could call a pal
And get a date with certainty
But now a gal will tell a pal
"Say, what is your fraternity?"

Once't a pal could call a gal
And take her for a riding
But now the gal she calls a pal
And he takes all the chiding.

Once't a pal could take his gal
And do some neck—neck negotiating.
But now a gal she warns the pal
"We're only goin' a' stay in the mating."

ODDS AND ENDS

"Oh, doctor I am so ill!"
"Your temperature is normal and so is your pulse."
"But, doctor, my tongue is coated."
"No, madam, one never finds moss on a race track."—Whirlwind

Ernest Henderson is a good example of a boy that has worked his way to the top. Six years ago he started shining shoes; now he is a barber.

Pete Cooper: If you don't leave a certain person alone I'm going to tell you a few things.

Ethel Hayes: He's already told me a number of things.

LEAD US TO IT

Recently a student at Fort [illegible] Kansas, collected $2.75 [illegible] received in a class fight [illegible] state mob law.

BRIDGE EXPERTS

A bridge tournament [illegible] the University of Iowa is arranged [illegible] six leagues, the first two [illegible] posed of sororities and [illegible] four of fraternities.

FAITHFUL FACULTY

During the history of [illegible] versity, five members [illegible] have served half a [illegible] within the institution.

SHORT SKIRTS IN VOGUE

The coeds of Northwe[illegible] sity are nearly 100 per[illegible] short skirts, as [illegible] checkup here.

NEED EVIDENT

Emily Post's dict[illegible] the most popular boo[illegible] of the University of [illegible]

Next to knowing [illegible] opportunity, the [illegible] in life is to know [illegible] advantage.—Disraeli

FIRST FALL LECTURE TO HONOR LATIN POET

Former Vermont Professor Will Speak Here Next Semester On "Vergil, A Poet of the Ages"

[illegible] Blader Ogle, who [illegible] of musical languages [illegible] the Ohio State Uni[illegible] was head of the [illegible] at the University [illegible] 19[illegible] will deliver the [illegible] University lectures [illegible] As part of the pro[illegible]-wide celebration of [illegible]-anniversary of Ver[illegible] Ogle will present "Ver[illegible] the Ages." Professor [illegible]ore will be one of the [illegible]ries commemorative of [illegible] poet which are being [illegible] group of international [illegible] A committee of Ameri[illegible] seeking the cooperation [illegible]ties and colleges in ob[illegible]niversary, and similar [illegible] will be held in nearly all [illegible]ries A Vergilian medal [illegible] which will be sold at [illegible]ions

A Leading Scholar

[illegible]Ogle is one of the fore[illegible]al scholars of the day He [illegible] numerous articles on clas[illegible]s and is an influential [illegible] the executive committee of [illegible] Society of America. He [illegible]opular instructor during [illegible] year stay at the Univer[illegible] many friends among the [illegible]dumni. The exact date [illegible] has not yet been fixed, [illegible] announced later. It is [illegible]le that the lecture will [illegible]time in October.

GREEN AND GOLD TENNIS SEASON COMES TO CLOSE

Colgate and Worcester Tech Defeat Vermonters in Home Contests—Cats Unable to Win Single Match Against Opponents

With the match scheduled with Middlebury yesterday afternoon the University of Vermont tennis team finished its schedule for this season Last week was a somewhat disastrous time for the Catamount racket wielders Colgate first defeated the Cats 3 to 0. Only one-half of the matches were played before being forced to abandon the game on account of rain but all were won by the visitors

The tennis team of Worcester Polytechnic Institute won all of the six matches with the University of Vermont netmen Friday on the back campus courts. The set won by R. Corsini over Tupper 13 to 11 was the feature of the match. The score:

Singles: R. Corsini (W) defeated Tupper (V) 13-11, 6-2; Collins (W) defeated Borkland (V) 6-4, 6-3; U. Corsini (W) defeated Palmer (V) 6-0, 7-5; Alber (W) defeated Woodward (V) 6-0, 6-1.

Doubles: R. Corsini and Collins (W) defeated Tupper and Woodward (V) 6-1, 7-5; U. Corsini and Alber (W) defeated Borkland and Palmer (V) 7-5, 6-4.

Maroon Key

Names of 12 Norwich freshmen have been selected for membership in the Maroon Key, honorary sophomore society which entertains visiting athletic teams. Prior to a reorganization this spring, the Maroon Key was known as the Samosets, a name adopted six years ago.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT TO SPONSOR TWO CONCERTS

[illegible] the other Sunday afternoon

The program of the student recital by Irene Louise Marcotte, pianist assisted by Mattia Bergeron, soprano, and Elsie Rouma, contralto, to be given at the music building of the University of Vermont, 85 South Prospect Street, at 4 p.m. tonight is as follows:

Italian Concerto ..... Bach
Allegro assai from Sonata Op 57 Beethoven
Miss Marcotte
Du bist die Ruh' ..... Schubert
Miss Rouma
Sarabande from Suite "Pour le Piano" ..... Debussy
Jeux d'Eau ..... Ravel
The Eagle ..... MacDowell
Miss Marcotte
Ah, Love, but a Day Mrs H H. A. Beach
The Year's at the Spring Mrs H H. A. Beach
Miss Putnam
Sonetto 123 del Petrarca ..... List
Vogel als Prophet ..... Schumann
Polonaise in A flat, Op 53 ... Chopin
Miss Marcotte

Mrs Elizabeth Bradish will accompany the singers The public is cordially invited

The program of the recital by organ voice and violin students to be given in the Ira Allen Chapel, Sunday, June 1 at 4 p.m., will be as follows:

Trumpet Prelude ..... Purcell
Scotch Poem ..... MacDowell
Evelyn DeBrune
Fanfare in D ..... Lemmens
Angelus from "Scenes Pittoresques" Massenet
Elizabeth Butler
He was despised, from the "Messiah" Handel
Marion Baldwin
Doric Toccata ..... Bach
Au Courent ..... Borodin
Rhapsodie Catalone ..... Bonnet
Hazel Ladd
With verdure clad from "Creation" Haydn
Dorothy Fowler, with violin obligato Irene Marcotte Sonata No 6, Op 65 ..... Mendelssohn
Katherine Eckley
Reverie ..... Richard Strauss
Finlandia ..... Sibelius
Hazel Ladd

WCAX FEATURES WEEKS IN FRIDAY'S PROGRAM

Featuring Governor John E. Weeks who spoke on the George Washington bicentennial celebration to be held in 1932, the University radio station Friday night broadcast a program including piano duet by Prof H G. Bennett of the music department and by Mrs Bennett, and a one-act play: "Better Late Than Never"

The drama is the prize winning one-act play of the Rutland County play contest held recently under the direction of Miss Valarie LaMountain, home demonstration agent of the Vermont Extension Service The play was one of three presented in Rutland May 3 chosen from 34 plays entered in the contest

The broadcast opened at 7.30 with three piano duets by Prof. H. G. Bennett of the University music department, and Mrs Bennett

The program

7.30-8.00 p.m. Piano duets, Prof. and Mrs H G Bennett

1. Transcription of "Euryanthe," Overture, Weber.
2. "Carillon," from incidental music to L'Arlesienne," Bizet.
3. "Petite Suite," Debussy.

8.00-8.15 p.m. Talk by Governor John E. Weeks on the George Washington bi-centennial celebration to be held in 1932, the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington

8.15-8.45 p.m. Presentation of the prize-winning one-act play of the Rutland County play contest, "Better Late Than Never," by Belmont Home Bureau group with four characters.

OVERSUBSCRIBED

The Syracuse Student Chest Campaign was oversubscribed by almost $100. The Chest benefits the Y. W. C. A., The Student Church, Syracuse-in-China and the Student Union. The total collected in cash and pledges was $1,385.

ON THEIR CAMPUS

The University of Cincinnati gave a whole week to dedication ceremonies when its new Association Building was completed. Teas, lectures, dinners, dances, smokers, receptions and a consecration service were scheduled. There were numerous interesting speakers, including President Hibben of Princeton.

WE'LL BET IT'S EMPTY!

William and Mary College has a library which will accommodate one-third of the student population at any one time.

Review of "The Winnowings"

[illegible]

It is a far cry, certainly, from the [illegible] March Winnowings, with its [illegible] and professionalism, to this last issue which spreads the "red" cover and "red" content to the vernal attention of its readers these dying days of the college year Those who "viewed with alarm" what they held to be faculty usurpation of the earlier number cannot but rejoice at the prominence, in this present issue, of such a "thoroughly undergraduate theme as fraternities and fraternity politics, at the same time, those who prefer an editorial policy of wider scope will be highly rewarded, I believe, by the expert and pleasing essay which Dorothy Canfield Fisher has graciously contributed In this respect at least the "Winnowings" seems to have fortified itself against attack

Aside from the announcement of next year's editorial board, and the customary book review feature, this issue divides itself clearly into four sections There is Mrs Fisher's article, there is the editorial crusade against fraternity spirit on the campus (reinforced by a brief article by Miss Cummings) there are the short stories and there is the poetry

In Shall Vermont Writers Organize" Mrs Fisher, herself perhaps the most prominent of Vermont's litterati, has dealt with a topic most claiming the attention of those interested in the health of literary Vermont—the founding of a Literary Guild, Club, or association of some description Convincingly, and with graceful determination, she has argued the negative of the proposition, but she has done more than demonstrate the unfeasibility of the post for Vermont in particular—she has declared her sincere disbelief in the efficacy of literary clubs anywhere For reasons which are clearly outlined the author regards the present scheme, not only as inimical to the Vermont character, but as definitely illusory and fallacious under any circumstances, despite its high ideals. She has shown conclusively that the Vermont passion for organization is as out-of-place in literature as it is efficient in, say, municipal affairs And those of us who have had experience with guilds of this variety are eternally grateful to Mrs Fisher for [illegible] once and for all, the [illegible] of the [illegible]

[illegible] part of [illegible] the crusade against [illegible] than Turks, but [illegible] A revolutionary [illegible] consistent in many aspects, we deal with here [illegible] the doctrines espoused are supplemented by the Jacobin tinge of the cover, the title of the editorial ("Quatre-vingt Treize"), and by the very last words of the discussion, that much-disputed "bon mot," "Après nous le déluge." It will be charged that the pages of a literary magazine are no fit place for the questions here raised, that literature and politics have naught in common Neither Carlyle nor Lowell, as the editor hints, would agree But there is it would seem added justification for such a controversial policy The lack of literary interest and ambition which has been remarked and criticized all year grows, in the last analysis, out of the environment of the student, the cultural atmosphere; and, inasmuch as fraternities are an essential, if not the essential part of the milieu of modern American education, there appears to be a connection, not too strained, between their influence and the philistine attitude which, as I have said, has been so much regretted this year. If the present editorial and its follow-up, "The Classical Paradox," be not literature they are journalism—journalism of the stimulating, old-fashioned, prejudiced sort which is a conspicuous American tradition. It is well to be selective of traditions—especially here in New England But I do not find this an occasion [illegible] I find as a matter of fact the [illegible] more becoming to the Winnowings than the blue stocking

Miss Cummings writing in her capacity of Pan-Hellenic Adviser, has added what may be regarded as faculty commendation of the magazine's stand—in which respect the Winnowings must be considered more fortunate than its companion publication Miss Cummings has stated college ideals, as opposed to fraternity ideals, effectively and concisely

The short stories are few in number this time, and they are quite unpretentious—but they are, on the whole, acceptable pieces of work "Don't Write Telegraph" by Roberta Powers, is a condensed narrative after the manner of that expansive literary ring master, J. P. McEvoy. It is not high praise to say that the story is as good as any of his, but it is, anyway, amusing; it is within may we say well [illegible] the limits of [illegible] capacity (in itself a novelty), and it succeeds in its intention "Child in a Swing," by Margaret Rice, is more [illegible] and less successful [illegible] in college competition [illegible] and the "hate pot" of [illegible] publication "The Web of the [illegible] Personality [illegible] in a way which [illegible]

[illegible] had carefully removed it to the safety of the Captain's cabin with her own hands One is also a little puzzled as to how the cargo could have been spoiled, and, if so, why more readily on one latitude than another But it is critical indulgence to cavil, incidentally, he who delights in tracing literary influences may discern here the familiar, mellow tone of Joseph Hergesheimer's "Salem," and the fleeting fragrance of Amy Lowell's "Lilacs"

It is appropriate as well as fortunate that the poetry in this final issue should have been limited to pieces by the three most successful of the Winnowings' poetical contributors Edward Fitzgerald and Janice Goodrich but recently won honors for Vermont in the Tri-State Literary Contest, and Robert Aiken has been represented, well and consistently, in every issue this year His Accent On the Sidney form as was his best) shows once more that he knows and feels the sonnet structure, and adds, as poetry should, charm and mystery to an old idea making it, thus, not an old idea at all It will take, however, a little more application to the music of the sonnet before such a grasping line as "That it has cast a shadow over me" will be avoided In "Song Against Night" Fitzgerald philosophically reassures himself against its "cruel loneliness," while in "River Night" he touches forth a mood of rapt appreciation which may seem a bit [illegible] the night here [illegible] is all very pleasantly turned The [illegible] keeps the feeling and tone [illegible] the poem should be and is superior as to diction save the unintentional [illegible] quality of the eighth and ninth lines) In "Consummate" (a not overly-[illegible] [illegible] Goodrich leans almost too close to that school of modern women poets which bothers us so much, but achieves distinctiveness in ending Here the connection is picked by the [illegible] [illegible] is [illegible] and [illegible] and here is expression

[illegible] Despite its [illegible] and [illegible] course the Winnowings has [illegible] gone onward To make it [illegible] it is only necessary to compare this issue with that mournful Yuletide issue which marked the middle of the year The poetry which it is presenting now needs no apology anywhere, and in the matter of short stories it has raised itself by its boot-straps Mrs Fisher's article is more timely and able than anything published in the state The Winnowings is by no means the perfect college literary magazine It is not even the perfect Vermont literary magazine but it were ungracious not to confess that it has outdone our expectations

ARIEL CAN NOT APPEAR BEFORE COMMENCEMENT

"It will be impossible to issue the 1931 Ariel before Commencement," declared George R Brush, editor-in-chief of the junior yearbook, in a statement to the Cynic Friday This is the fault of certain students who have neglected to hand in their contributions such as photographs, group pictures, and honor lists. Without these, work on the Ariel is necessarily retarded and the efforts of the editors to hasten publication are made futile. The opening section of the yearbook is completely printed and the next section is in galley form The grinds are practically finished and all individual photographs have been submitted Any students who have not turned in their honor lists and any groups which have not yet submitted their photographs must turn them in at once to the editor at the Owl house

Speaking of Mass Meetings

"New York students had a city-wide mass meeting with Raymond Leslie Buell (author of "International Relations" and Europe: a History of Ten Years") giving a history of the London conference and Norman Thomas criticizing its proceedings

Present at the same gathering was a representative of the National Security League who made an eloquent and fervent plea for all true and superior Americans whom nobody is going to fight and who is going to [illegible] as many ships as the Navy [illegible]

"This is my cake," said the monkey, and I'll stick to it."

Angell Steered Vermont Through Its Most Critical Post-Civil War Days

[illegible]ears ago, after the Civil [illegible]niversity of Vermont was [illegible] of a critical period, due [illegible] that the departure of most [illegible]nts had nearly stripped [illegible] membership. There were [illegible] students at the time; [illegible] president with wide vision [illegible]ines was needed. That [illegible]nd in John B. Angell, a [illegible] Brown University, who [illegible]all to the college on the [illegible] 1866, from an eight [illegible]p of the Providence [illegible] His task, to state it [illegible] words was: "to organize [illegible]al College and effect a [illegible]mon with the old college, [illegible]sing funds and to inspire [illegible] alumni with confidence [illegible]versity of Vermont."

[illegible] Angell, whose ability and [illegible] were vividly pointed out [illegible] Robert Roberts and Judge [illegible] S. Peck, graduates of '69, was [illegible] fitted to meet the emergency. He was an all around scholar [illegible] visited classes during recitations the students always found him [illegible] conducting a quiz in every [illegible] His social gifts were [illegible]outstanding; with his wife he [illegible] president's house a most attractive social center. Personally President Angell was very pleasing; a [illegible] had a brilliant smile, above average [illegible] and clean shaven except [illegible] below his chin, he had wit, [illegible] and a remarkable gift for [illegible] names and persons.

[illegible] to student discipline, the [illegible] showed great tact. When [illegible] young rebels he led the con[illegible] and his penalties, when im[illegible] were generally accepted and [illegible] without an opportunity to [illegible] Mr Roberts referred to one [illegible] which illustrates this qual[illegible] [illegible] slack, self indulgent boy [illegible] president to be excused to [illegible] grandmother's funeral. He [illegible] excused absences but of [illegible] was allowed to go. In two [illegible] to came to be excused to [illegible] his grandmother's funeral. [illegible] have two grandmothers, [illegible] excused him again. But [illegible] Angell's surprise when [illegible] more the boy came to be [illegible] attend another grandmother's funeral.

"I see this," the president said, "you have been to two grandmothers' funerals."

"Yes," replied. "This is my step-mother.

"Well, mark my words, if you [illegible] another grandmother's funeral, [illegible] college."

[illegible]ained

[illegible] dwelling on President [illegible]ties, said: "He was a [illegible] effective public speaker, [illegible]es at all and very few [illegible] had a good penetrating [illegible] without apparent ef[illegible]rom. street and pulpit. [illegible] was always gracious, [illegible]ful. He maintained [illegible] and poise but was [illegible]

[illegible] stressed the fact that [illegible] any adverse criticism [illegible] and that the presi[illegible] dent was known to all as a perfect gentleman. The judge cited an incident to show President Angell's method of dealing with students: "It was customary at that time for all sophomores to put on an exhibition; each member had to write an original thesis and to speak on his subject for ten minutes.

It happened that all the sophomores got into some trouble and were suspended at the time of the exhibition. As this was a gala day when all the young ladies attended the exercises, the sophomores begged the seniors to intercede with the president in their behalf.

Judge Peck as spokesman pleaded with President Angell but did not get much encouragement. He went the second time and told the college head that the boys were willing to be punished in any way but that they did want that exhibition to be held. "Oh," said the president, "if you punish a student only with what he's willing to take, that's no punishment at all." But he smiled as he said this, the boys were reinstated and allowed to speak

President Angell was here for five years and during the period shaped the students' characters and plans in a way quite impossible in a larger institution. His departure in 1870 to the presidency of the University of Michigan was the opening to a larger field for him but his going was much regretted by students and townspeople to all of whom he was the perfect gentleman and gracious leader.—Burlington Daily News.

THE MUSE CONVERSES

The Cleveland Trust which prides itself on the ingenuity of its employees solved another perplexing problem the other day. Genial Freddy Weper, conductor of the orchestra at the Palace theatre in Cleveland, asked to have a check cashed. He had no identification. The teller shuffled through his pile of bills, stumped for the moment, but the institutional pride surged to the surface He could not fail his employers. Suddenly a smile came to light up his solemn face. He had triumphed in spite of obstacles. "Will you kindly turn around Mr. Weper?" he said. The conductor obligingly turned. Recognition came to the harassed teller. He beamed as he cashed the check. Gargoyle.

At a recent concert a Frosh was sitting near two very pretty girls. Overhearing an argument as to whether the piece being played was Beethoven's "Sonata" or "Poet and Peasant Overture", he got up and strolled over to the sign near the stage. Coming back he said, "Pardon me, but you are both wrong. That is "Refrain from Spitting."

"Ladies and gentlemen," said the speaker, "before I begin my address I have something I want to say to you."—Texas Ranger

Final Exam Schedule

[illegible]

Wednesday p.m., June 11: Home Economics 1 (T Th); Zoology 1 Pre-Med; Zoology 2. Zoology 3. Zoology 5 (Ag.)

SUMMER SCHOOL HAS ALREADY ENROLLED 1,000

[illegible]

FRESHMAN CAMP WILL OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 12

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] New England men, to lead discussion groups, speak on phases of college life and otherwise assist in the entertainment and recreation [illegible]

KAPPA PHI KAPPA NAMES PIERCE TO PRESIDENCY

(Continued from page 1)

more active than ever next year and under the presidency of Paul [illegible] [illegible] has been very successful [illegible] summer conferences [illegible] that it will [illegible] both the number of activities and the influence.

COLLEGE HUMOR

"No, pretzel manufacturer."—Exchange

Harvard: We're going to give the bride a shower

Penn: Count me in. I'll bring the soap.—Punch Bowl

Fair Visitor: Isn't there an ice bathe?

Coed: In the spring

I didn't say when, I said where.—Boston Evening Transcript

University Boasts Many Illustrious Sons Among Grads, Writer Shows

In the course of conversation [illegible] with [illegible] of the [illegible] of [illegible] a New England [illegible]

[illegible] Jed Hotchkiss, [illegible] a [illegible] graduate, [illegible] Stonewall Jackson [illegible] W. H. H. Howell, [illegible] Thos. Jefferson [illegible] and [illegible] of the [illegible] who [illegible] the Confederate [illegible] attended [illegible] with [illegible] Dartmouth [illegible] Yale [illegible] Williams [illegible] Brown [illegible] Harvard [illegible] Princeton [illegible] Columbia [illegible] Cornell [illegible] Amherst [illegible] Bowdoin [illegible] Colby [illegible] Middlebury [illegible] Norwich [illegible] Trinity [illegible] Wesleyan [illegible] Tufts [illegible] Rhode Island [illegible] Bates [illegible] Maine [illegible] New Hampshire [illegible] Vermont [illegible] Massachusetts [illegible] Worcester [illegible] Lowell [illegible] Lehigh [illegible] Rensselaer [illegible] Stevens [illegible] Pratt [illegible] Worcester [illegible] Lawrence [illegible] Mines [illegible] Lafayette [illegible] Michigan [illegible] Wisconsin [illegible] Minnesota [illegible] Iowa [illegible] Purdue [illegible] Chicago [illegible] Northwestern [illegible] Leland Stanford [illegible] California [illegible] Columbian [illegible] Georgetown [illegible] Johns Hopkins [illegible] Virginia [illegible] Washington and Lee [illegible] Richmond [illegible] William and Mary [illegible] Trinity [illegible] Davidson [illegible] Wake Forest [illegible] North Carolina [illegible] Tulane [illegible] Louisiana State [illegible] Mississippi [illegible] Alabama [illegible] Georgia [illegible] Auburn [illegible] Texas [illegible] Kansas [illegible] Missouri [illegible] Nebraska [illegible] Colorado [illegible] Utah [illegible] Stanford [illegible] Oregon [illegible] Washington [illegible] Idaho [illegible] Montana [illegible] Dartmouth [illegible] Yale [illegible] Princeton [illegible] Harvard [illegible] Columbia [illegible] Cornell [illegible] Pennsylvania [illegible] Brown [illegible] Amherst [illegible] Williams

SPORTING NEWS

[illegible] '30
Sporting Editor

Green and Gold Conquers Springfield and Marines

Sargent and Rutkowski Pitch Air-tight Ball to Stretch Vermont's Winning Streak to Five Consecutive Games—Springfield Trounced 7 to 0

CATAMOUNTS BEAT MARINES BY 2 TO 1 SCORE

[illegible] Chet Rutkowski was holding the opponents to three [illegible] Catamounts pound out a 2 to 1 victory over Tom [illegible] Marine baseball nine and thereby stretched their list of [illegible] five consecutive games. The previous day Vermont [illegible] shed the Springfield College team 7 to 0 on Centen- [illegible] Coach Larry Gardner's outfit has yet to taste defeat [illegible] grounds this season.

[illegible] and Wally Sargent stole [illegible] as Vermont shut out [illegible] Centennial Field Friday [illegible] Jay hit his third home [illegible] son in the second inning [illegible] right field lines, scoring [illegible] of him, walked and [illegible] fifth, and singled, stole [illegible] and also scored in the seventh. [illegible] shed a fielding feature by [illegible] retrieving Davidson's [illegible] in the fourth. Sargent let [illegible] down with six scattered [illegible] and ran his string of consecutive [illegible] innings to twenty-three. [illegible] ingfield loaded the bases in the [illegible] and a man on third with [illegible] out in the ninth but never suc- [illegible] ishing the runner as far as [illegible] Eddie Winant of Vermont [illegible] Davidson of Springfield shared [illegible] honors with three apiece, [illegible] son getting a single, double and [illegible] while Winant got two singles [illegible] a triple. Both pitchers received [illegible] support, Vermont turning in only [illegible] and Springfield two.

[illegible] Vermont scored in the first after [illegible] had popped to Becker. Traynor [illegible] walked, Winant singled and both [illegible] advanced on Graham's error. [illegible] singled cleanly to right scoring [illegible] Traynor. Winant was caught off third [illegible] Howard popped to Johnson.

[illegible] home run accounted for two [illegible] in the second. Vermont added [illegible] in the fifth. Sargent whiffed and [illegible] and Traynor walked in succession. [illegible] Winant tripled, scoring both [illegible]. In the seventh Jay walked, [illegible] second and scored on Winant's [illegible]. In the eighth Kendall doubled [illegible] Howard and Pires singled.

VERMONT

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible] cf	3	3	2	2	0	0
Traynor, 2b	3	2	0	2	5	0
Winant, 1b	4	0	3	14	0	0
Stroh, c	3	0	1	4	0	0
Kendall, lf	3	0	1	2	0	0
Howard, rf	3	1	1	2	0	0
McKay, 3b	3	1	1	0	1	0
Pires, ss	4	0	1	1	6	1
Sargent, p.	3	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	29	7	10	27	12	1

SPRINGFIELD

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
[illegible]	4	0	1	4	4	1
[illegible]	4	0	1	3	2	0
Graham, rf	4	0	0	0	1	1
Davidson, cf	4	0	3	3	0	0
[illegible] lf	2	0	0	0	0	0
[illegible] lf	2	0	0	0	0	0
[illegible] ss	0	0	0	0	1	0
[illegible] 3b	1	0	1	4	0	0
[illegible] 1b	3	0	0	3	0	0
[illegible] c	3	0	0	6	2	0
[illegible] p	3	0	0	1	2	0
Totals	34	0	6	24	12	2

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
[illegible]	1	2	0	0	2	0	1	1	x	7
Springfield	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0

(Continued on page 6)

The Catamounts scored their ninth victory in 20 starts Saturday afternoon by defeating the Quantico Marines 2 to 1 at Centennial Field. The victory completed the home and home series between the two teams, the Devildogs taking in the first two which opened up the season for the Green and Gold with the Catamounts closing the chapter by turning the tables.

Chet Rutkowski, Vermont mound ace, held the Marines to three scattered hits while fanning seven and passing none.

The first two innings were short and snappy for both teams. McKay was the first man up in the third for the Green and Gold and he singled to center field. Pires followed at bat and sacrificed McKay to second. Rutkowski sent a fast one to second baseman and was thrown out at first thereby allowing McKay to reach third. Jay next reached first on an error which sent McKay home for the first run of the game. Traynor then flied to left field which ended the inning.

The second and last score for the Cats came in the next inning when Winant, after passing around the bases on sacrifice hits, finally reached home on an error made by the visiting catcher.

The Marines' sole tally came in the sixth inning when Gorman, Devildog center fielder, reached first base on a hit to left field and was finally sent across the home plate by Kidd's hit to right field. A strike-out and a fly ball ended that troublesome inning.

The rest of the game consisted of a pitcher's battle which finally ended by the score 2 to 1 in the Cat's favor.

VERMONT

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Jay, cf	4	0	2	3	0	0
Traynor, 2b	3	0	0	3	3	0
Winant, 1b	4	1	2	10	0	0
Stroh, c	4	0	1	8	0	0
Kendall, lf	3	0	0	0	0	0
Howard, rf	3	0	0	0	0	0
McKay, 3b	2	1	2	1	3	0
Pires, ss	3	0	0	1	0	0
Rutkowski, p.	3	0	0	1	3	0
Totals	29	2	7	27	9	0

MARINES

	ab	r	bh	po	a	e
Tolams	4	0	0	2	1	0
Gorman, rf	3	1	0	0	0	0
Sadler, 1b	3	0	0	9	0	0
Kidd, rf	3	0	1	2	0	0
Lock, 2b	0	0	0	1	2	0
Billings, rf	0	0	0	0	0	0
Ware, lf	2	0	0	0	0	0
Sullivan, 3b	3	0	2	0	2	0
Cather, c	0	0	0	9	2	0

(Continued on page 6)

MIDDLEBURY WINS TRIANGULAR MEET

Earns 83 Points to Decisively Overwhelm Nearest Rival—Norwich Noses Out Vermont for Second Place

PARKS WITH 13 POINTS VERMONT'S HIGH SCORER

Middlebury's track team easily defeated Norwich and Vermont in the annual Green Mountain Conference Meet at Sabine Field Saturday and thereby continued to hold the State championship. The Blue and White athletes amassed a total of 83 points against 27½ for Norwich and 24½ for Vermont.

Presenting strength in virtually all the event, the Midd men took eleven first places against two for Vermont and two for Norwich. In the 220-yard dash and the two-mile run they made clean sweeps and in the 100-yard dash and one-half mile run they took all but one point in each.

The highest individual scorer was Brown of Middlebury who made 15 points by winning the 100- and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump. "Prey" Parks of Vermont was a close second with 13 points by taking first in the discus and shotput and second in the hammer throw. Goltry of Middlebury won two events—the 440 dash and one-half mile run.

Hurley of Norwich equalled the State mark by running the low hurdles in 26⅗ seconds. After gaining a big lead in the high hurdles he lost that event when he fell on the last barrier.

The summaries:

100-yard dash—won by Brown (M); second, Bibbie (M); third, Bond (V). Time—10⅘ seconds.

220-yard dash—won by Brown (M); second, Bibbie (M); third, Montgomery (M). Time—22⅘ seconds.

440-yard dash—won by Goltry (M); second, Huey (V); third, Sanzo (M). Time—55⅒ seconds.

880-yard run—won by Goltry (M); second, Franham (M); third, Huey (V). Time—2 minutes, 8⅕ seconds.

Mile run—won by Hanson (M); second, Clement (M); third, Hadley (V). Time—4 minutes, 44⅘⅒ seconds.

Two-mile run—won by Dalton (M); second, Perrin (M); third, Harwood (M). Time—10 minutes, 17⅘⅒ seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—won by McLane (M); second, Yarrington (N); third, Swain (V). Time—16⅘⅒ seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—won by Hurley (N); second, Loyal (M); Abbot (N) and McLane (M) tied for third. Time—26⅖ seconds.

High jump—won by Barney (N); Bagley (M) and Affleck (M) tied for second. Height—5 feet, 9 inches.

Broad jump—won by Brown (M); second, Maynes (V); third, Montgomery (M). Distance—21 feet, 2⅝ inches.

Line-ups This Afternoon

VERMONT	MIDDLEBURY
Jay, c.f.	r.f., Olsen
Traynor, 2b.	c.f., Hasseltine
Winant, 1b.	2b., Jacobs
Stroh, c.	1b., Nelson
Kendall, l.f.	s.s., Yeomans
Howard (Capt.), r.f.	l.f., Crocker
McKay, 3b.	3b., Sorenson
Pires, s.s.	c., Hartley
Cummings, p.	p., Cook (Capt.)

Game called at 4 o'clock.

CANDIDATES TRY OUT FOR ATHLETIC FRAT

Eighteen Men Have Entered Trials for Membership in Sigma Delta Psi—Performance in 12 Events Necessary

This past week trials for candidates for Sigma Delta Psi, the national honorary athletic fraternity, have been held several afternoons at Centennial Field.

With eight men representing, Sigma Nu at present leads the fraternities in the list of those having qualified in one or more events. Kappa Sigma follows with four, Delta Psi and Sigma Phi with two each, and Phi Delta Theta and Independents with one each.

For the benefit of candidates desiring to finish up their tests during the examination period, the committee on certification will gladly make arrangements whereby the trials may be held.

Those desiring to do such are requested to get in touch with one or more members of the board which consists of Professors D. B. Carroll and R. H. Smith, Dr. F. S. Kent, H. A. Prentice and M. H. Aldrich.

There are 12 events in all and the following is the list of candidates with the number of events in which each has qualified to date:

In ten events, F. Tupper, Jr., '32, and L. S. Wright, Jr., '32. In seven, W. R. Bedell, '32 and P. Bove, '32. In six, R. W. Allerton, '31; E. S. Phillips.

(Continued on page 6)

Pole vault—won by Paul (M), second, O'Brien (N); McKenzie (M) and Swain (V) tied for third. Height—11 feet, 3 inches.

Discus won by Park (V); second, Berry (N); third, Guarnaccia (M). Distance—120 feet, 5 inches.

Shot put—won by Park (V); second, Guarnaccia (M); third, Berry (N). Distance—40 feet, 3 inches.

Hammer throw—won by Dubois (M); second, Park (V); third, Gibbons (N). Distance—104 feet, 8 inches.

Javelin—won by Tomlinson (M) second, Houghton (N); third, Phillips (V). Distance—151 feet.

MIDDLEBURY AND DARTMOUTH HERE

Cats Battle Midd Baseball Team This Afternoon in Important State Series Contest—St. Michael's, St. Lawrence and Alumni Complete Schedule

BIG GREEN IN ANNUAL MEMORIAL DAY GAME

With Middlebury here this afternoon and Dartmouth Friday, the University of Vermont baseball team will have its hands full this week. Both games should be thrillers. Vermont already has won a slight 2 to 1 victory over Middlebury this year and the Blue and White will be out to do their best to turn the tide today. Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock will be staged the annual Memorial Day contest on Centennial Field with Dartmouth. This is the only game scheduled with the Big Green this season.

Both Vermont and Middlebury will be pulling hard for a victory this afternoon for it will mean much to both. Midd has been forced to lose to Norwich and the Catamounts while these two teams are tied for first place in the State title series. As yet the Green and Gold has lost only one contest in the State games but a Blue and White triumph this afternoon would put a decided crimp on Vermont's title hopes. On the other hand, if the Cats win, they will be practically sure of at least a tie for first place. St. Michael's will be the only other State game to play and the Vermonters seem certain of that contest.

Captain Cook, Middlebury's star twirler, will no doubt be on the mound to pitch to the Catamount batsmen in the last contest he allowed Vermont only six hits but three of them came in a bunch to give the Green and Gold two runs and the game. He will have a very efficient team behind him that has turned in surprisingly few errors this season.

Charlie Cummings, who has already set back Norwich and Middlebury once, will probably be given the pitching assignment by Coach Larry Gardner for this afternoon's battle. It is not at all unlikely that the game will develop into a pitching duel between Cummings and Cook with the Vermont ace having the edge.

Dartmouth has a very strong team this season and by taking Pennsylvania, Columbia and Princeton in order rushed to the top of the standing in the Collegiate League games. Harvard, however, defeated the Big Green a few weeks ago by a 2 to 1 score. It is not unlikely that either Myllykangas or Hollstrom will start.

(Continued on page 6)

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

BEST COAL AND SERVICE
• • •
Elias Lyman Coal Company
206 College Street

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX BLUE SUITS
with 1 extra pair of white flannel pants.
$30.00
PEOPLE'S DEPT. STORE
25-27 Church St.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

GRADUATION GIFTS
WATCHES, RINGS, MESH BAGS
VANITIES, NECKLACES
LEATHER PURSES
and many other fine "Gifts that last."
All nicely cased for presentation and backed with our guarantee.
F. J. Preston & Son
Jewellers
17 Upper Church St.

SENIOR CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

SPORTS AND SINGING CONTESTS MARK RALLY

W. A. A. Sponsors Spring Field Day, Featuring Elaborate All Day Program

[illegible] baseball [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] the W. A. A. Annual Spring Field Day last Thursday afternoon. After [illegible] was chairman of the program which included baseball games and archery contests played at Robinson Hall a song contest and the presentation of awards and cups.

The second-year baseball team won a close-fought game from the sophomores by a score of 9 to 8.

In the class tennis finals Hurlburt defeated Thea Wilder for the senior championship by scores of 6-2 and 7-5. Both sets were hard played with many points going to deuce. Dot Nash '31 defeated Billie Rosette for the junior title with scores 6-1, 6-4. Both sets were split the standard game of the winner going for the victory. Jay Stannard '32 won from Julie Marston by scores of 6-3 and in a rather close match. Referees were Cornelia Haynes '32 and Eliza Heth Bernard '31.

Archery Finals

Class finals in archery were played off at Robinson Hall during the supper which was served on the lawn. The contest emerged victorious with a score of 88 the sophomores taking second place with 86. Freshmen and seniors trailed with 84 and 78. Helen Cunningham '33 was high scorer with 30 points. Joyce Brown '30 was next with 28 and Betty Clark '31 third with a score of 26.

The personnel of the archery teams is as follows: Seniors—Joyce Brown "Ike" Conner and Sam Ovalle; juniors—Betty Clark "Dicky" Fowler and Flora Remillard; sophomores—Helen Cunningham "Milly" Akins and "Ike" Brennan; freshmen—Ruby Clark Mary McCarthy and Caroline Taft.

The song contest in which the three lower classes competed was won by the class of [illegible]. This event was followed by the presentation of awards by Izzy Warhurst '31 president of W. A. A. Blazers were awarded to Edith Abbott, Natalie Hawley, Mattie Putnam and Justine Rogers all members of the class of '31. Emblems were presented to Flora Remillard, '31, Christie McLeod, '31, Alice Gay '32, Barbara Lowd, '32, and Marion Berry '32. Class numerals went to Doris Barrett, '30, Christie McLeod, '31, Elizabeth Mosher, '32, Doris Brennan '33, Rhoena Barnes, Effie Winn, Ruth Comant, Ara Armstrong, Ethel B[illegible], Margaret Tynan, Muriel Wheatley and Juliet Marston, of '33.

Joyce Richardson '30 awarded to Stand Hall the twenty-dollar prize which Mortar Board is presenting each year to the women's dormitory maintaining the best living conditions throughout the college term. Judgment is passed on general appearance of rooms, observation of study hours, quietness, efficiency of house committee and obedience to rules.

The all-sports cup was won by the junior class for having gained the highest total number of points during the year; the sophomores were runners-up.

Hal Gurney, '30, and "Georgie" Hilbert, 31, received the two rifles presented by the military department to the high scorer of this and last year's rifle teams.

GRADUATION
SUITS
$30. $35. $45.

WHITE FLANNEL TROUSERS
$6.50 to $10.00

TUXEDO
SUITS
$30. $40. $50.

SPORT CLOTHES
KNICKERS
GOLF HOSE FLANNEL COATS
SWEATERS

MILES & PERRY CO.
QUALITY CLOTHIERS
Established 1848

NOTICES

SENIORS

All seniors be sure to fill out senior questionnaires found in Book Store and place in Arms Box in Old Mill before June 7

MIDDLEBURY AND BIG GREEN ARE HERE NEXT

(Continued from page 5)

the Memorial Day game against the Vermont nutters. Both will be pressing to the finish and both pitchers in the running.

The probable lineup: Dunnell, lf; Hurley and Bolton, cf; Regan, 2b; Harvey, cf; [illegible] ss; Barnes, 1b; Picken, rf; Andros, If; Jeremiah, c; McDonough, p; Robinson, p.

Following a week's lay-off after the Dartmouth game, the Catamounts will take up their war clubs a week from Saturday to down 7, and tackle the St. Michael's nine again on Centennial Field. The cats already have a 6 to 5 victory over the Winooski team to their credit and should have little difficulty in turning in another win.

After the examination period is over and as a feature of Commencement Week, St. Lawrence University will be entertained here on Friday, June 13, on the following day the Alumni will attempt to find their old skill against the varsity and will bring the present season to a close in what should be a most interesting game.

GREEN AND GOLD TAKES SPRINGFIELD INTO CAMP

(Continued from page 5)

Earned runs—Vermont 7.
Two-base hits—Davidson, Kendall.
Three-base hits—Davidson, Winant.
Home runs—Jay.
Sacrifice hits—Sargent, Stroh.
Stolen bases—Jay, Winant, McKay.
Base on balls—off Johnson 6.
Struck out by Johnson 6, Sargent 3.
Left on base—Springfield 6, Vermont 7.

DIRECTOR OF PUBLICITY PRAISES STATE'S MERITS

Walter H. Crockett, In Recent "Vermonter" Articles Describes Beauties and Industries of Vermont

Walter Hill Crockett, director of the State Publicity Bureau and professor of Vermont history in the University, is the author of a series of three articles in a recent edition of The Vermonter, describing the beauties and industries of the state. The first of these three articles, entitled "Vermont the Vacation State," describes the beauties of Vermont scenery with its bridges, mountains and lakes. It also delves thoroughly into a brief history of each important town and city in the state.

The second of the series, "Vermont Attractive to Industry," divides the industries of Vermont into three groups, the first consisting of quarries and mines, the second of manufacturing establishments, and the third of water power developments. Mr. Crockett explains each of these groups in detail.

"Vermont Predominant in Agriculture" is the third and final article, dealing with Vermont's agricultural enterprises. "Vermont soil is fertile," writes Mr. Crockett. "Vermont farms are productive. Vermont is one of the important dairy states of the Union. Vermont is served by several of the great railroad lines of the East, thus insuring competitive rates, and Vermont's proximity to the great centers of population in eastern America affords excellent markets. For these reasons, agriculture in Vermont compares favorably with agriculture in other parts of the United States."

The Vermont Federation of Women's Clubs will distribute The Vermonter at the National Federation of Womens Clubs in Denver, Col., which will be held from June 2 to 14.

THE FORUM

This is from the Bates Student:

An event of more or less interest among college students at least among those journalistically employed, is the recent uproar at the University of Vermont. Certain comments made in the news columns a short while ago resulted in criticism from various sources on campus, claiming that there was too great an attempt on the part of the editorial board to shape student opinion, and so on. The claim that criticism of the college should not be published abroad, faulty made known, etc., met with heated argument from the staff who believe, as all true newspaper men should, that the truth is supreme. After a student mass meeting and much general excitement, the board won, and again a student body stood back of its paper—which is all as it should be.

MARINES YIELD TO CATS TO TUNE OF 2-1 SCORE

(Continued from page 5)

Smith, p	3	0	0	0	2	0
*Lusignan	1	0	0	0	0	0
†Almond	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	23	1	‡3	23	9	0

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Marines	0	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	1
Vermont	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	0	x	2

Hit by pitcher—by Ware (Gorman)
Struck out—By Smith 7; by Rutkowski 7.
First-base on balls—Off Smith 1.
Left on bases—Marines 5; Vermont 5.
Umpires—Lyons and Seymour.

*Batted for Billings in ninth
†Batted for Ware in ninth
‡Kendall out for bunting foul on third strike in sixth

How are your new glasses?
Oh, they look good.

I. R. CLUB PLANS AN EXPANSION OF PROGRAM

Next year's activities of the International Relations Club will follow the same general plan as this year, according to [illegible] the president of the club. It is the desire of the executive committee to expand the interest of the organization from those of a purely political science club of the University to a club for all students connected with the history department or any related subjects.

The program for next year will include talks by student members and professors on subjects of current significance. A definite program in connection with each meeting will be worked out. One of the new policies of the club will be the decision to hold meetings once a month instead of every two weeks as in years past. This action will do away with possible conflict between the activities of the local club and will facilitate cooperation between the latter organization and the Outing Club. During the past year the International Relations Club held a week-end conference at the University which was very successful. Although definite plans have not yet been drawn up, the club intends to sponsor a similar conference during the coming year.

CANDIDATES TRY OUT FOR ATHLETIC FRAT

(Continued from page [illegible])

'31, and E. M. Winant [illegible] In [illegible] R. B. Adams, '33; R. F. [illegible] N. P. Park, '31, and E. L. Meehan. In four, P. B. Billings, '32; D. E. Cha[illegible] '32; G. M. Donaldson, [illegible] and D. [illegible] Jay, '32. In three, R. J. [illegible] In two, R. Swain, '[illegible] event, R. M. Huey, '31.

. . . off the springboard it's FORM!

. . . in a cigarette it's TASTE!

GETTING DOWN to brass tacks, a cigarette is a smoke — made and bought for your own enjoyment.

But between just something to smoke, and tobacco character, richness, delicate aroma — in short, something to taste — well, that's the difference that accounts for Chesterfield's ever-mounting popularity —

"TASTE above everything"

MILD . . . and yet THEY SATISFY

Chesterfield

FINE TURKISH and DOMESTIC tobaccos, not only BLENDED but CROSS-BLENDED

© 1929, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, JUNE 20, 1930 NUMBER 66

Faculty Votes For New Course In Social Science

Recently Adopted Curriculum Emphasizes Studies In Philosophy Group—Prescribes Minimum Of Language—Science Requirements

TRUSTEES WILL TAKE ACTION DURING SUMMER

[illegible] emphasizing the social [illegible] designed to round out [illegible] a study prescribed by the [illegible] will be entered next [illegible] as the Social Science curriculum on the list of University [illegible] adverse action is taken [illegible] trustees during the summer. [illegible] has already ratified the [illegible] by the introduction of the [illegible] in the fall.

Emphasizes Group II

The curriculum is designed for [illegible] to study especially the [illegible] Group II. Students electing [illegible] will be required to [illegible] major and related minor [illegible] subjects of this group and [illegible] at least one course in [illegible] following subjects: History, political science, economics and [illegible] sociology or philosophy, taking these the first two years, [illegible] to choose the major and related [illegible] from broader experience. [illegible] requirements for distribution provide a substantial minimum of [illegible] in language and science, while [illegible] requirements still permit [illegible] proportion of the work to [illegible]

The requirements for admission include two years of a modern language [illegible] two years Latin. The course [illegible] to the Ph.B. degree.

Students will be required the first [illegible] Freshman English; Mathematics; [illegible] 2; French 3, German 2, Spanish 3, Latin 1; and either Political [illegible] or a second foreign language. [illegible] the second year, English 2, a [illegible] foreign language if only one [illegible] taken the first year, and either Economics 1, Psychology 1 or Philosophy 1 and 2, are prescribed. In addition the student must enroll in a laboratory science course. Another course and the second foreign, language [illegible] has not already been taken, [illegible] required in the junior year. Two years of military science is required of all men, and all students must take two years of physical education and [illegible] of argumentation and debate. The major and related minor must be taken in group II.

Numerous Electives

One or two electives are permitted [illegible] second year, three or four the [illegible] year and five the fourth year.

MASON S. STONE CHOSEN AS UNIVERSITY TRUSTEE

Mason S. Stone of Montpelier, former lieutenant governor of Vermont, was elected a trustee of the University class day to succeed Carroll W. [illegible] of Cambridge, Mass., whose [illegible] expired last week. The election took place at the first meeting of the Board of Trustees held in the library of the College of medicine.

Mr. Stone was nominated for the office of trustee by the popular vote [illegible] alumni of the University, ballots having been sent out by the [illegible] Council following the nomination by the Council of three men for [illegible] The other two names on [illegible] were those of Horace Kent [illegible] of Chicago and Harry Abel [illegible] of Burlington.

Vermonter Born

Mason S. Stone was born in Waterbury December 14, 1857. He received [illegible] degree from the University of [illegible] in 1883, the honorary degree [illegible] of arts from the University [illegible] in 1909, the degree of [illegible] from Norwich University in [illegible] He was principal of Williston [illegible] in 1883; principal of Bristol [illegible] in 1884; principal of Peo[illegible] Academy, Morrisville, 1886; [illegible] of schools of Orleans [illegible] 1889; superintendent of [illegible] Northampton District, Massachusetts; superintendent of education of the State of Vermont, 1892 and for [illegible] years thereafter.

He has taken an active part in [illegible] organization of education in the [illegible] and in 1901 arranged for [illegible] teachers to enter the schools [illegible] He was superintendent of

(Continued on page 8)

QUESTIONNAIRE REVEALS PREXY AND CAMPUS AS BEST THINGS AT VERMONT

Seniors Decry Fraternity Politics And Football Team—Lawrence And Gurney Most Popular

Fraternity politics, coaches and the football team were variously designated by the senior as the worst things at Vermont; a Student Union building, a swimming pool, more college spirit and less fraternity spirit, and a new athletic policy being Vermont's greatest needs.

President Bailey and the campus were almost unanimously agreed to as the best things at Vermont. The class decided that it had spent from $4,000 to $5,000 for a college education, that college is worthwhile and that Vermont is the college of first choice.

Men Expect More

The men expect to earn about $3,000 in five years. The women, less optimistic, expect $2,500. Most of the graduates have already secured positions.

The men prefer Briggs as an instructor; the women named Dean, Aiken and Hartwell. The class sticks to the good old Republic protective tariff and votes socialist.

Robert Lawrence and Dorothy Gurney are the most popular. Herrick Macomber and Janice Goodrich have done the most for Vermont. James Puffer and Estabel Perelman have done the most for the class.

The class voted "Tim" Halligan and Estabel Perelman the best athletes, Herrick Macomber and Mary Waddell the most brilliant, Herrick Macomber and Florence McKenzie the most likely to succeed. Voting for class personalities resulted in the following choices:

Most popular? Lawrence, Gurney. Done most for Vermont? Macomber, Goodrich. Done most for class? Puffer, Perelman. Best athlete? Halligan, Perelman. Most all-around? Lawrence Owsley. Best natured? Mace, Tifft. Cleanest politician? Puffer, Colton. Best politician? Sirois, Goodrich. Best looking? Lawrence, Householder. Thinks he/she is? Gray, Householder. Has most drag with profs? Borkland, Owsley. Needs drag? Mace, Fiske. Best dressed? Pouch, Freeman. Most modest? Bundy, Richardson. Most brilliant? Macomber, Waddell. Wittiest? Vignone, Farr. Crabbiest? Sirois, Wilson. Most sarcastic? Hawley, Dailey. Most reliable? Puffer, McKenzie. Laziest? Pouch, Martin. Most blasé? Van Name, Householder. Pest? Scutakes, Flint. Most likely to succeed? Macomber, McKenzie. Least apt to succeed, St. Denis, Robelen. Most democratic? Vignone, Gurney. Romeo and Juliet? King and Bosley, Slavin and Freeman. Best singer? Goddard, Ladd. Best orator? Sears, Goodrich. Most inconspicuous? Bigelow, Orvis. Most daring? Halligan, Robelen. Class baby? Capron, Goodsell.

HIGH SCHOOL EDITORS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships will be awarded by the University to the editors of the Rutland High School Red and White, the Essex Junction Clarion and the Derby Academy Spirit, judged to be the best high school papers of the state in the three classifications made by the University upon the basis of the size of the competing schools.

The judges especially commended the publication by Rutland High School of a weekly paper and gave special mention to The Four Leaf Clover, published by the school of Plainfield. Marshfield, Cabot and Woodbury an unusual instance of cooperative journalism. The judges suggested that other schools too small for a magazine of their own might do well to follow the leadership of these schools. If a sufficient number of

(Continued on page 4)

ALUMNI REGISTRATION REACHES 500 TOTAL

Alumni headquarters reported on the eve of Alumni Day that 500 alumni had registered for the 126th commencement. The office estimated that at least 100 others attended the commencement events without registering.

Judge Hamilton S Peck of Burlington was the oldest alumnus registered. He was graduated from the University 60 years ago in the class of 1870. R. M. Catlin of Franklin, N. J., of the class of 1873 was the oldest alumnus from out of town who registered. Others who graduated more than 50 years ago were Louis Shaw, '74, of Burlington, Miss Sarah A. Martin, '76, of Burlington and H. M. McFarland, '78, of Hyde Park.

The class of 1929 had 50 members registered; 1924, 33; 1928, 32; 1927, 29; 1926 and 1928, 27 each; 1922, 25; 1921, 24; 1925, 23; 1905, 17.

Phi Beta Kappa Takes 16 More

Scholastic Honor Awarded At Commencement Brings Total Of Awards To Twenty-Two

STUDENTS IN CLASSICAL COURSE PLACE SEVEN

Election of sixteen seniors to Phi Beta Kappa on class day brought the total chosen to the honor society from the class of 1930 to twenty-two, one of the largest number ever to be awarded the distinction in any one year at Vermont. At its December meeting the society chose to membership Everett O. Bundy of Sutton, Alice Dean, Susan Howard, Herrick M. Macomber, Frank V. Rich, and Mary Waddell, all of Burlington.

The sixteen elected to Phi Beta Kappa last week are: Paul C. Bacon of Burlington, Edward C. Ball of Barre, Esther Barton of Vergennes, Roy S. Beck of Chelsea, Georgia Bostwick of Newport, Pauline Burridge of Rutland, Lilian Cohen of Burlington, Phoebe Flint of Crofton, Pa., Narcissa Goodsell of Alburg, Harriet Howard of Burlington, Major B. Jenks of Burlington, E. Henry Powell of Burlington, Joyce Richardson of Richmond, Annette Rosenberg of Burlington, Anna Gray Tracy of Bristol, Pa., Arthur L. Wardwell of Chittenden. Pennsylvania, with two in Phi Beta Kappa, is the only state other than Vermont to be represented. Burlington, with eleven, including five out of the six elected at mid-years, has more Phi Beta Kappa representation in the class of 1930 than any other city.

Arts and Sciences Predominate

The College of Medicine, for the first time in many years, finds representation in the Phi Beta Kappa list with Paul Bacon. Beck, in the agricultural course, and Narcissa Goodsell in the home economics course represent the College of Agriculture. The College of Engineering claims Ball, in the mechanical engineering course, and Wardwell of the civil engineers. The other seventeen were enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences.

The classical course produced seven Phi Beta Kappa members: Susan Howard, Macomber, Georgia Bostwick, Phoebe Flint, Harriet Howard, Powell and Joyce Richardson. Seven came from the literary-scientific course: Bundy, Alice Dean, Mary Waddell, Pauline Burridge, Lilian Cohen and Annette Rosenberg. Rich is the only Chemist in Phi Beta Kappa. Esther Barton alone represents the teacher-training course. Jenks is the only one student in the general science course to attain the honor, and Anna Tracy the only student in the education department.

No one made Phi Beta Kappa from the commerce and economics course or from the electrical engineering course. An almost equal number of men and women were elected, twelve women and nine men being chosen.

Prominent in Activities

Although no major letter men are represented this year, most of those to attain the distinction have been prominent in other campus activities including the management of athletics.

(Continued on page 8)

Spectators Pack Hall As University Graduates 207

One Hundred Thirty-Ninth Commencement Witnesses Award Of Honorary Degree To Grace Goodhue Coolidge --Thirty-Eight Get Education Certificates

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY MARKS ANNOUNCEMENTS OF HONORS AND PRIZES

President Confers Six Honorary Degrees—Large Honors List of 1930 Graduates

An impressive hush, intermittently broken by demonstrations from the audience, marked the close of the one hundred thirty-ninth commencement exercises of the University as President Guy W. Bailey conferred honorary degrees upon six recipients of the awards.

The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon George L. Shattuck of Providence, R. I., that of Mechanical Engineer upon J. Royal Kinney of Boston, Doctor of Humane Letters upon the Right Reverend Francis John McConnell of New York City, and Doctor of Laws upon Justice Leighton P. Slack of Montpelier, Hugh Doak Hart of Philadelphia, and Grace Goodhue Coolidge of Northampton, Mass.

The honor list awarded—summa cum laude to Herrick Mower Macomber, and cum laude to Edward Charles Ball, Esther Merilda Barton, Roy Stanley Beck, Georgia Isabel Bostwick, Everett Oscar Bundy, Pauline Burridge, Lilian Sylvia Cohen, Alice Witbeck Dean, Phoebe Helen Miller Flint, Narcissa Elanor Goodsell, Harriet Howard, Susan Howard, Major Jenks, Edward Henry Powell, Frank Varney Rich, Joyce Reed Richardson, Annette Marjorie Rosenberg, Anna Gray Tracy, Mary Elizabeth Waddell, Arthur Loren Wardwell.

Special honors were awarded as follows:

French

Lilian Sylvia Cohen. Thesis: Romain Rolland: An Appreciative Analysis.

Doris Estella Kibbe. Thesis: Influence de la Revolution Sur l'Art Français.

German

Annette Marjorie Rosenberg. Thesis: Friedrich Hebbel and his Dramas.

Mary Elizabeth Waddell. Thesis: The Women Characters in the Dramas of Franz Grillparzer.

Greek

Herrick Mower Macomber. Thesis: The Speeches in Xenophon's Anabasis.

Music

Irene Louise Marcotte. Thesis: The Development of Harmony During the Romantic Period.

Psychology

Edith Eunice Fishman. Thesis: An Experimental Study of Association in the Light and in the Dark.

Prize awards were made as follows:

The Fred T. Kidder Medal; awarded for character and leadership, Herrick Mower Macomber, '30.

A. Atwater Kent Prize ($250); given in Electrical Engineering for progress in judgment, development of personality, and promise of success, Frank Ernest Beckley, Jr., '30.

Phelps Prize in Civil Engineering ($50 in gold); Arthur Loren Wardwell, '30.

Little Cup. Edmond F. Little Prize Cup for Excellence in Mechanic Arts, Edward Charles Ball, '30.

Henry E. Seymour Prize (Income from $1000); awarded for Orginal Research in Horticulture, Roy Stanley Beck, '30.

Edward Page Butler Debating Prizes, awarded for Proficiency in Debate, Janice Meredith Goodrich, '30, Roberta Frances Powers, '32, Laura Alice Johnson, '32.

Robert Ashton Lawrence Debating Prizes, George Robert Nelson, '31, Louis Lisman, '31, Franklin Sears, '30.

Kirby Flower Smith Junior Scholarship in Latin ($150), Mary Elizabeth Mandigo, '32.

(Continued on page 7)

LARGE NUMBER GAIN HIGH SCHOLASTIC RANK

The University of Vermont last Monday graduated the one hundred thirty-ninth class in its history.

Spectators packed the gymnasium annex as 207 stepped up to the platform to receive their diplomas. The conferring of degrees was one of the last of the ceremonies, which opened with the colorful [illegible] procession and closed with the announcement of honors and prizes in the green and gold-decorated hall, [illegible] whose walls hung the University seals, displayed only on such occasions.

A distinguishing feature of the exercises was the presence of Grace Goodhue Coolidge, an alumna of the University, together with former president Calvin Coolidge. The University, which many years ago conferred a similar honor on Mr. Coolidge, this time awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws to her most distinguished alumna.

Twenty-six graduates received their degrees cum laude, Herrick Macomber graduating summa cum laude. Six degrees were awarded honoris causa while eighteen received their masters degree. Seven took special honors. Teachers training certificates in the two years' course were awarded by the State Board of Education to 38.

Those who took their degrees in course were:

Bachelors of Science in Agriculture

Roy Stanley Beck, cum laude, Chelsea; Perley Horace Chamberlain, East Ryegate; John Alden Eliot, Manchester; Keith Grant Hooker, Goshen.

Bachelors of Science in Home Economics

Helen Lola Allbee, Springfield; Rowena Marian Allen, Barnard; Alma Susan Farr, Bristol; Narcissa Eleanor Goodsell, cum laude, Alburg; Dorothy Gurney, Burlington; *Jacqueline Miriam Lanou, Burlington, Kathleen Frances Laythe, Derby Line; Helen Louisa Peabody, Brandon; Florence Maude Whitcomb, Springfield; Helen Regis Wilson, Leicester.

*As of 1929

Bachelors of Science in Electrical Engineering

Frank Ernest Beckley, Jr., Great Neck, N. Y.; Henry Coy Dalrymple, West Orange, N. J.; Leonard Matthew Donahue, Richmond; Russell Howard Jeffery, Chester; Arthur Ernest Merrill, Wallingford.

Bachelors of Science in Mechanical Engineering

Everett Walter Allen, Burlington; Edward Charles Ball, cum laude, Barre; Robert Edward Buckley, Burlington; Charles Nathan DeRose, Northampton, Mass.; Lester Warner Meehan, Fitchburg, Mass.; Malcolm Everette Mills, Richford; Philip Metcalf Perry, West Newton, Mass.; Leslie Oswald Pouch, Staten Island, N. Y.

Bachelors of Science in Civil Engineering

Marshall Julius Armstrong, New Haven; Reginald Hooper Arnold, Hartford; Richard Marshall Bragg, Bellows Falls; Gerald Arthur Lynde, Burlington; Raymond Henry Tryon, Jr., Winchendon, Mass.; Gerald Barton Robinson Van Name, Staten Island, N. Y.; Daniel Joseph Vignone, Franklin, Mass.; Arthur Loren Wardwell, cum laude, Chittenden.

Bachelors of Science in Chemistry

Augustus St Gaudens Conlin, Windsor; Theron Clay Crawford, Port Jervis, N. Y.; Frank Varney Rich, cum laude, Burlington; Lyle Welby Wright, Richford.

Bachelors of Science in Commerce and Economics

Inez Marguerite Belmore, New Bedford, Mass.; Robert Penfield Billings, New Haven, Conn.; Louise Conneway Bosley, Newport; Harold Manning Burstein, Bridgeport, Conn.; John Reginal Carrigan, Pittsford; John Fisher Chadwick, Randolph; Lawrence Otto Clayton, Bennington; Ruth Elizabeth Doherty, Waterbury, Conn.; Alice Elizada Fiske, Lancaster, N. H.; America Gloria, Barre; *Roger Alex-

(Continued on page 8)

SPORTS AND SINGING CONTESTS MARK RALLY

W. A. A. Sponsors Spring Field Day, Featuring Elaborate All Day Program

[illegible] a well-contested baseball game between the junior women and sophomores [illegible] sponsored by the W. A. A. Women's athletic association last Thursday afternoon. The Championship was awarded to the group which included freshmen and upperclassmen, and which defeated the sophomores by a score of [illegible]

In the final inning Sophomore Hall batted around, scoring [illegible] runs. The winning team [illegible] a [illegible] from the sophomores by a score of [illegible]

In the first inning Sophomore Hall [illegible] batted around, scoring [illegible] runs. The Juniors [illegible] batted around, scoring [illegible] runs. The Seniors [illegible] batted around, scoring [illegible] runs. The Freshmen batted around, scoring [illegible] runs. The Juniors batted around, scoring [illegible] runs. The Seniors

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 48 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, JUNE 20, 1930 — NUMBER 60

Faculty Votes For New Course In Social Science

Recently Adopted Curriculum Emphasizes Studies In Philosophy Group—Prescribes Minimum Of Language—Science Requirements

TRUSTEES WILL TAKE ACTION DURING SUMMER

...mphasizing the social ...designed to round out ...ously prescribed by the ... be entered next ... the Social Science cur... list of University ...verse action is taken ... during the summer. ... already ratified the ... introduction of the ... the fall.

Emphasizes Group II

...ulum is designed for ... to study especially the ...p II. Students electing ... will be required to ... and related minor ... of this group and ... at least one course in ...llowing subjects: His... science economics and ... or philosophy, tak... the first two years, ... the major and re... from broader experience. ... for distribution pro... a substantial minimum of ...ge and science, while ... requirements still per... proportion of the work to ...

...irements for admission in... ...s of a modern language ...rs Latin. The course ... the Ph.B. degree.

... will be required the first ... English: Mathematics; ... French 3, German 2, Span... Latin 1; and either Political ... a second foreign language. ... second year, English 2, a ... foreign language if only one ... the first year, and either ... 1, Psychology 1 or Philos... and 2 are prescribed. In ad... student must enroll in a ... science course. Another ... the second foreign, lang... has not already been taken, ...ired in the junior year. Two ... military science is required ... men and all students must take ... of physical education and ... of argumentation and debate. ... and related minor must be ... group II.

Numerous Electives

... two electives are permitted ... year, three or four the ... and five the fourth year.

MASON S. STONE CHOSEN AS UNIVERSITY TRUSTEE

... S. Stone of Montpelier, form... governor of Vermont, ...elected a trustee of the Univer... class day to succeed Carroll W. ... of Cambridge, Mass., whose ...ired last week. The election ... place at the first meeting of the ... Trustees held in the library ... College of medicine.

... was nominated for the ... trustee by the popular vote ... alumni of the University, ba... having been sent out by the ... Council following the nomina... the Council of three men for ... The other two names on ... were those of Horace Kent ... of Chicago and Harry Abel ... Burlington

Vermonter Born

... Stone was born in Water... September 14, 1857. He received ... degree from the University of ... in 1883, the honorary degree ... of arts from the University ... in 1909, the degree of ... Norwich University in ... was principal of Williston ... 1883; principal of Bristol ... 1884; principal of Peo... Morrisville, 1886; ... schools of Orleans ... superintendent of ...hampton District, Massa... 1891; superintendent of edu... State of Vermont, 1892 and for ... years thereafter

... took an active part in ... ...zation of education in the ... and in 1901 arranged for ... ...hers to enter the schools ... was superintendent of

(Continued on page 8)

QUESTIONNAIRE REVEALS PREXY AND CAMPUS AS BEST THINGS AT VERMONT

Seniors Decry Fraternity Politics And Football Team—Lawrence And Gurney Most Popular

Fraternity politics, coaches and the football team were variously designated by the senior as the worst things at Vermont; a Student Union building, a swimming pool, more college spirit and less fraternity spirit, and a new athletic policy being Vermont's greatest needs.

President Bailey and the campus were almost unanimously agreed to as the best things at Vermont. The class decided that it had spent from $4,000 to $5,000 for a college education, that college is worthwhile and that Vermont is the college of first choice.

Men Expect More

The men expect to earn about $3,000 in five years. The women, less optimistic, expect $2,500. Most of the graduates have already secured positions.

The men prefer Briggs as an instructor; the women named Dean, Aiken and Hartwell. The class sticks to the good old Republic protective tariff and votes socialist.

Robert Lawrence and Dorothy Gurney are the most popular. Herrick Macomber and Janice Goodrich have done the most for Vermont. James Puffer and Estabel Perelman have done the most for the class.

The class voted "Tim" Halligan and Estabel Perelman the best athletes, Herrick Macomber and Mary Waddell the most brilliant, Herrick Macomber and Florence McKenzie the most likely to succeed. Voting for class personalities resulted in the following choices:

Most popular? Lawrence, Gurney. Done most for Vermont? Macomber, Goodrich. Done most for class? Puffer, Perelman. Best athlete? Halligan, Perelman. Most all-around? Lawrence Owsley. Best natured? Mace, Tifft. Cleanest politician? Puffer, Colton. Best politician? Sirois, Goodrich. Best looking? Lawrence, Householder. Thinks he/she is? Gray, Householder. Has most drag with profs? Borkland, Owsley. Needs drag? Mace, Fiske. Best dressed? Pouch, Freeman. Most modest? Bundy, Richardson. Most brilliant? Macomber, Waddell. Wittiest? Vignone, Farr. Crabbiest? Sirois, Wilson. Most sarcastic? Hawley, Dailey. Most reliable? Puffer, McKenzie. Laziest? Pouch, Martin. Most blasé? Van Name, Householder. Pest? Scutakes, Flint. Most likely to succeed? Macomber, McKenzie. Least apt to succeed, St. Denis, Robelen. Most democratic? Vignone, Gurney. Romeo and Juliet? King and Bosley, Slavin and Freeman. Best singer? Goddard, Ladd. Best orator? Sears, Goodrich. Most inconspicuous? Bigelow, Orvis. Most daring? Halligan, Robelen. Class baby? Capron, Goodsell.

HIGH SCHOOL EDITORS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships will be awarded by the University to the editors of the Rutland High School Red and White, the Essex Junction Clarion and the Derby Academy Spirit, judged to be the best high school papers of the state in the three classifications made by the University upon the basis of the size of the competing schools.

The judges especially commended the publication by Rutland High School of a weekly paper and gave special mention to The Four Leaf Clover, published by the school of Plainfield, Marshfield, Cabot and Woodbury an unusual instance of cooperative journalism. The judges suggested that other schools too small for a magazine of their own might do well to follow the leadership of these schools. If a sufficient number of

(Continued on page 4)

ALUMNI REGISTRATION REACHES 500 TOTAL

Alumni headquarters reported on the eve of Alumni Day that 500 alumni had registered for the 136th commencement. The office estimated that at least 100 others attended the commencement events without registering.

Judge Hamilton S. Peck of Burlington was the oldest alumnus registered. He was graduated from the University 60 years ago, in the class of 1870. R. M. Catlin of Franklin, N. J., of the class of 1873, was the oldest alumnus from out of town who registered. Others who graduated more than 50 years ago were Louis Shaw, '74 of Burlington, Miss Sarah A. Martin, '76 of Burlington and H. M. McFarland, '78 of Hyde Park.

The class of 1923 had 50 members registered, 1924, 32; 1928, 32; 1927, 29; 1926 and 1929, 24 each; 1922, 25; 1921, 24; 1925, 23; 1905, 17.

Phi Beta Kappa Takes 16 More

Scholastic Honor Awarded At Commencement Brings Total Of Awards To Twenty-Two

STUDENTS IN CLASSICAL COURSE PLACE SEVEN

Election of sixteen seniors to Phi Beta Kappa on class day brought the total chosen to the honor society from the class of 1930 to twenty-two, one of the largest number ever to be awarded the distinction in any one year at Vermont. At its December meeting the society chose to membership Everett O. Bundy of Sutton, Alice Dean, Susan Howard, Herrick M. Macomber, Frank V. Rich, and Mary Waddell, all of Burlington.

The sixteen elected to Phi Beta Kappa last week are: Paul C. Bacon of Burlington, Edward C. Ball of Barre, Esther Barton of Vergennes, Roy S. Beck of Chelsea, Georgia Bostwick of Newport, Pauline Burridge of Rutland, Lilian Cohen of Burlington, Phoebe Flint of Crofton, Pa., Narcissa Goodsell of Alburg, Harriet Howard of Burlington, Major B. Jenks of Burlington, E. Henry Powell of Burlington, Joyce Richardson of Richmond, Annette Rosenberg of Burlington, Anna Gray Tracy of Bristol, Pa., Arthur L. Wardwell of Chittenden, Pennsylvania, with two in Phi Beta Kappa, is the only state other than Vermont to be represented. Burlington, with eleven, including five out of the six elected at mid-years, has more Phi Beta Kappa representation in the class of 1930 than any other city.

Arts and Sciences Predominate

The College of Medicine, for the first time in many years, finds representation in the Phi Beta Kappa list with Paul Bacon. Beck, in the agricultural course, and Narcissa Goodsell in the home economics course represent the College of Agriculture. The College of Engineering claims Ball, in the mechanical engineering course, and Wardwell of the civil engineers. The other seventeen were enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences.

The classical course produced seven Phi Beta Kappa members: Susan Howard, Macomber, Georgia Bostwick, Phoebe Flint, Harriet Howard, Powell and Joyce Richardson. Seven came from the literary-scientific course: Bundy, Alice Dean, Mary Waddell, Pauline Burridge, Lilian Cohen and Annette Rosenberg. Rich is the only Chemist in Phi Beta Kappa. Esther Barton alone represents the teacher training course. Jenks is the only one student in the general science course to attain the honor, and Anna Tracy the only student in the education department.

No one made Phi Beta Kappa from the commerce and economics course or from the electrical engineering course. An almost equal number of men and women were elected, twelve women and nine men being chosen.

Prominent in Activities

Although no major letter men are represented this year, most of those to attain the distinction have been prominent in other campus activities including the management of athletics.

(Continued on page 8)

Spectators Pack Hall As University Graduates 207

One Hundred Thirty-Ninth Commencement Witnesses Award Of Honorary Degree To Grace Goodhue Coolidge —Thirty-Eight Get Education Certificates

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY MARKS ANNOUNCEMENTS OF HONORS AND PRIZES

President Confers Six Honorary Degrees—Large Honors List of 1930 Graduates

An impressive hush, interrupted only by hoarse whispers from the audience, marked the close of the one hundred thirty-ninth commencement exercises of the University as President Guy W. Bailey conferred honorary degrees upon six recipients of the award.

The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon George L. Shattuck of Providence, R. I., that of Mechanical Engineer upon J. Royal Kinney of Boston, Doctor of Humane Letters upon the Right Reverend Francis John McConnell of New York City, and Doctor of Laws upon Justice Leighton F. Slack of Montpelier, Hugh Doak Hart of Philadelphia, and Grace Goodhue Coolidge of Northampton, Mass.

The honor list awarded summa cum laude to Herrick Mower Macomber, and cum laude to Edward Charles Ball, Esther Merilda Barton, Roy Stanley Beck, Georgia Isabel Bostwick, Everett Oscar Bundy, Pauline Burridge, Lilian Sylvia Cohen, Alice Wilbeck Dean, Phoebe Helen Miller Flint, Narcissa Elanor Goodsell, Harriet Howard, Susan Howard, Major Jenks, Edward Henry Powell, Frank Varney Rich, Joyce Reed Richardson, Annette Marjorie Rosenberg, Anna Gray Tracy, Mary Elizabeth Waddell, Arthur Loren Wardwell.

Special honors were awarded as follows:

French

Lilian Sylvia Cohen. Thesis: Romain Rolland: An Appreciative Analysis.

Doris Estella Kibbe. Thesis: Influence de la Revolution Sur l'Art Francais.

German

Annette Marjorie Rosenberg. Thesis: Friedrich Hebbel and his Dramas.

Mary Elizabeth Waddell. Thesis: The Women Characters in the Dramas of Franz Grillparzer.

Greek

Herrick Mower Macomber. Thesis: The Speeches in Xenophon's Anabasis.

Music

Irene Louise Marcotte. Thesis: The Development of Harmony During the Romantic Period.

Psychology

Edith Eunice Fishman. Thesis: An Experimental Study of Association in the Light and in the Dark.

Prize awards were made as follows:

The Fred T. Kidder Medal; awarded for character and leadership, Herrick Mower Macomber, '30.

A. Atwater Kent Prize ($250), given in Electrical Engineering for progress in judgment, development of personality, and promise of success, Frank Ernest Beckley, Jr., '30.

Phelps Prize in Civil Engineering ($50 in gold); Arthur Loren Wardwell, '30.

Little Cup; Edmond F. Little Prize Cup for Excellence in Mechanic Arts, Edward Charles Ball, '30.

Henry E. Seymour Prize (Income from $1000); awarded for Orginal Research in Horticulture, Roy Stanley Beck, '30.

Edward Page Butler Debating Prizes; awarded for Proficiency in Debate, Janice Meredith Goodrich, '30, Roberta Frances Powers, '32, Laura Alice Johnson, '32.

Robert Ashton Lawrence Debating Prizes; George Robert Nelson, '31, Louis Lisman, '31, Franklin Sears, '30.

Kirby Flower Smith Junior Scholarship in Latin ($150), Mary Elizabeth Mandigo, '32.

(Continued on page 7)

LARGE NUMBER GAIN HIGH SCHOLASTIC RANK

The University of Vermont last Monday graduated the one hundred thirty-ninth class in its history.

Spectators packed the gymnasium annex as 207 stepped up to the platform to receive their diplomas. The conferring of degrees was one of the last of the ceremonies, which opened with the essential commencement procession and closed with the announcement of honors and prizes in the ...ecorated auditorium. ...n Green Mountain ... The University ... the hood ... of each recipient.

A ... feature of the ... was the presence of Grace Goodhue Coolidge, an alumna of the University, together with former president Calvin Coolidge. The University which many years ago conferred a similar honor on Mr. Coolidge this year awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws to her most distinguished alumna.

Ninety-six graduates received their degrees cum laude. Herrick Macomber graduating summa cum laude. 81a degrees were awarded honoris causa while eighteen received their master's degrees. Seven took special honors. Teachers training certificates in the two years' course were awarded by the State Board of Education to 48.

Those who took their degrees in course were:

Bachelors of Science in Agriculture

Roy Stanley Beck cum laude, Chelsea; Perley Horace Chamberlain, East Rygate; John Alden Elliot, Manchester; Keith Grant Hooker, Goshen.

Bachelors of Science in Home Economics

Helen Lola Allbee, Springfield; Rowena Marian Allen, Barnard; Alma Susan Farr, Bristol; Narcissa Eleanor Goodsell, cum laude, Alburg; Dorothy Gurney, Burlington; *Jacqueline Miriam Lamou, Burlington; Kathleen Frances Laythe, Derby Line; Helen Lorrea Peabody, Brandon; Florence Maude Whitcomb, Springfield; Helen Regis Wilson, Leicester.

*As of 1929.

Bachelors of Science in Electrical Engineering

Frank Ernest Beckley, Jr., Great Neck, N. Y.; Henry Coy Dalrymple, West Orange, N. J.; Leonard Matthew Donahue, Richmond; Russell Howard Jeffery, Chester; Arthur Ernest Merrill, Wallingford.

Bachelors of Science in Mechanical Engineering

Everett Walter Allen, Burlington; Edward Charles Ball, cum laude, Barre; Robert Edward Buckley, Burlington; Charles Nathan DeRose, Northampton, Mass.; Lester Warner Meehan, Fitchburg, Mass.; Malcolm Everette Mills, Richford; Philip Metcalf Perry, West Newton, Mass.; Leslie Oswald Pouch, Staten Island, N. Y.

Bachelors of Science in Civil Engineering

Marshall Julius Armstrong, New Haven; Reginald Hooper Arnold, Hartford; Richard Marshall Bragg, Bellows Falls; Gerald Arthur Lynde, Burlington; Raymond Henry Tryon, Jr., Winchendon, Mass.; Gerald Barton Robinson Van Name, Staten Island, N. Y.; Daniel Joseph Vignone, Franklin, Mass.; Arthur Loren Wardwell, cum laude, Chittenden.

Bachelors of Science in Chemistry

Augustus St. Gaudens Conlin, Windsor; Theron Clay Crawford, Port Jervis, N. Y.; Frank Varney Rich, cum laude, Burlington; Lyle Welby Wright, Richford.

Bachelors of Science in Commerce and Economics

Inez Marguerite Bellmore, New Bedford, Mass.; Robert Penfield Billings, New Haven, Conn.; Louise Conneway Bosley, Newport; Harold Manning Burstein, Bridgeport, Conn.; John Reginal Carrigan, Pittsford; John Fisher Chadwick, Randolph; Lawrence Orro Clayton, Bennington; Ruth Elizabeth Doherty, Waterbury, Conn.; Alice Elzada Fiske, Lancaster, N. H.; Americo Gloria, Barre; *Roger Alex

(Continued on page 8)

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

[illegible] SMITH, '31
Managing Editor

SEYMOUR I. NATHANSON, '31
Business Editor

STUART S. CURRIE, '31
Business Manager

Allen O. Eaton, '32 Fred W. Householder, '32
News Editors

Feature Editors
Edmund A. Germain, '31
Robert L. Stewart, '30

Assistant Editors
J. E. Bigelow, '32 W. C. Macdonald, '32 S. M. Spitler, '32
D. B. Shaw, '32 R. J. Shaw, '32 T. F. Taylor, '32
A. Reis, '32 J. C. Shaw, '32 C. K. Wormelle, '32
[illegible] '32

Associate Sports Editor
Leonard M. Foster, '31

Assistant Sports Editors
A. A. Wheelon, '32 P. Tupper, '32
[illegible] '32 S. Hanneman, '32
L. H. Parent, '32 G. M. Feinberg, '31

Women's Intercollegiate Editor
Lucia Rose, '31

Harriet Wright, '31 Gladys Press, '31
Women's Athletic Editor Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Mildred Cole, '32 Dorothy Harrower, '32 Margaret Mower, '32
Helen Latham, '32 Margaret Ann Martin, '32 Hope Randlow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
[illegible] E. Tracy, '31 G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year, Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1883. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year. Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned not later than 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.

All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Sec. 80 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 48 June 20, 1930 No. 60

FOR THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

The College of Arts and Sciences solved a moot problem and responded to a demand of long standing in a very simple and straightforward manner when it adopted a new social science curriculum. The new curriculum supplements the classical and literary-scientific curricula, which stress languages, and the general science curriculum, which stresses the sciences. The social science curriculum emphasizes the philosophies, becoming a companion course to the commerce and economics curriculum, which gives greatest preference to course in economics.

We endorse the new curriculum primarily for these reasons.

1. It does not demand a college course in Latin. Hitherto, students who have sought to major in the philosophies have been burdened with a cumbersome Latin requirement, which held no interest for them and frequently reacted unfavorably upon all their work.

2. It prescribes elementary courses in history and in the other courses in the philosophy group. The requirement permits the student to choose his major only after he has acquainted himself with the various courses from which the choice is to be made.

3. It requires a minimum of language and science courses. The requirement is necessary to provide the student a broad cultural background. At the same time, the few required courses make no too cumbersome demands on the student outside his own field and generally permit a choice among languages and sciences to be elected.

4. The course, after the second year, becomes highly elective. The student is at this point sufficiently well grounded in the fundamentals of studies to make a free choice and is, wisely, left unhampered in making his choice.

The course will no doubt in time come to bear a relation to the commerce and economics curriculum akin to that which the literary-scientific curriculum bears to the classical. Just as the latter, by prescribing Greek as well as Latin, puts greater emphasis on the language group, so the commerce and economics curriculum puts a specialized stress on the philosophy group, giving strongest emphasis to the courses of the Department of Economics.

It will not be difficult for students to make their choices among the five courses which will be offered if the social science curriculum is finally ratified. To the student who wishes to major in languages we recommend the literary-scientific course unless he has a special interest in Greek or the classics, in which event we recommend the classical curriculum. For the student interested in sciences there will be the general science course and for the student who wishes to major in the philosophies, we shall have a social science curriculum, with the commerce and economics department prepared to enter such students as are primarily interested in economics.

Frankly, we do not expect the new curriculum to attract too great a following during its earlier years at least, but it will liberate a substantial number of students now hedged in by the literary-scientific Latin requirement, as well as a few whose interest in the commerce and economics curriculum was largely inspired by a desire to avoid the bugaboo of Latin.

We do not yet know whether or not the trustees have taken final action in this matter. We have, however, no doubts of its ultimate ratification. We see no other logical alternative.

SALUTATORY

"Would you choose Vermont again if you were to enter college?"

We regard it as the highest tribute to the University that every senior who replied to this question in the Cynic questionnaire voted "yes."

We regard the question as too deep for analysis after [illegible] graduation. It implies a critical examination of [illegible] disappointments, of expectations and griefs and happinesses. And yet every senior who even glanced at the questionnaire had not the slightest doubt as to what his answer would be. Almost as a [illegible] reacts to food, so they reacted, and their answer was "yes."

No critical analysis was necessary before they should form an opinion. They had formed a loyalty to the college, out of which there could emerge but one response.

It is in this loyalty that we see the germ of the great tribute. The University had inspired that loyalty, and whether it was its democracy, its [illegible], its campus or any other extrinsic quality does not here concern us. From a loyal college have emerged loyal sons and daughters.

We see yet a keener evidence in this loyalty in that the senior class voted President Bailey "The best thing at Vermont." Rarely does a group of students pay its respects in such a clear-cut manner to the head of its university. The charm of our president's personality was no doubt a cogent reason for the decision of the senior class, but we see yet a larger reason in that the president, in himself, virtually symbolizes the University.

To President Bailey and to the University of Vermont the class of 1930 has paid its respects in no uncertain way.

VALEDICTORY

In the decision of the senior class that fraternity politics is one of the worst things at Vermont, the Cynic sees the clearest vindication of its policy. That the men and women who have been here during the last four years should vote as they did shows, as we have long contended, that fraternity politics is more real than talked of. The Cynic feels it particularly gratifying that its farewell issue, after a half year of opposition to fraternity influences in campus affairs, should carry the announcement of the senior vote.

What shall we do about it? Two suggestions have been made:

One, that campus organizations should conduct their elections as to minimize all fraternity influence and that fraternities, of their own accord, should divorce themselves from all combines. The saturation point in this direction seems to have been reached, with the Cynic, the Winnowings and one of the latest class elections as outstanding instances.

Second, that all political alignments be open and that elections be based on principles rather than on personal interests. In this direction all hope for the future seems to lie.

We expect definite action in this matter to be taken next year.

Faith in Vermont

Every Vermont boy or girl should read carefully the account of the inspiring Founder's Day address delivered fittingly in Ira Allen Chapel by Principal Eugene H. Clowse of the Richmond High School, who graduated from the University of Vermont in 1909. Principal Clowse has demonstrated his faith in Vermont by his works.—Burlington Free Press.

An Encouraging Report

There are 14 different religious denominations represented among the 1,200 students of the University of Vermont, and there is not one professed atheist in the entire registered list. That is an encouraging report, judged from many standpoints. It furnishes a striking contrast to recent reports from the present Russia. —Barre Times.

SOMETHING UNIQUE

Something unique in the way of organizations has been started at Butler. Fifteen fraternity men from other schools, who found no Chapter on the campus, have banded together to form what they call the Stray Greek fraternity.

Graduates of 1930

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Hamilton Rutherford, N. J.; Rollin Galusha Hawley, New York, N. Y.; Hyman Hirshberg, Burlington; Beverly Householder, Burlington; Albert Vernon King, Richmond; Robert Allison Lawrence, West Lebanon, N. H.; Gasmellia Agnes LeClair, Burlington, Hyman Bernard Levine, Burlington, Philip Emerson Manning, [illegible], Conn.; Helen Martin, [illegible], Otto Aldo Martinetti, [illegible], Frank Mazel, Burlington; Magdalene Lucille Orvis, Bristol; Martin Earle Powell, Jeffersonville; James Chadbourne Puffer, St. Johnsbury; Elizabeth Mary Ready, Burlington; Samuel Harry Rothman, Burlington; Peter Theodore Scutakes, Burlington; Franklin Armington Sears, Litchfield, Conn.; Alfred George Sirois, Andover, Mass.; Arthur Duane Stearns, Jr., Rutherford, N. J.; Joseph Hart Sugden, Worcester, Mass.; Beatrice Eleanor Thabault, Winooski; Robert Morton Tracy, Rutland; George Marcus Watson, Jr., Waban, Mass.

*As of 1929.

Bachelors of Science in Education

Madeline Frances Atkins, Burlington; Esther Merilda Barton, cum laude, Vergennes; Florence Elizabeth Cochran, Stowe; Dorothy Margaret Dickinson, Burlington; Gertrude Evelyne Kilgallen, Barton; Charles Herbert Mace, Jr., Mittineague, Mass.; Maude Anne McLaughlin, Newaygen, Me.; Estabel Perelman, Burlington; Margaret Elizabeth Poole, Shelburne; Evelyn Beryl Robinson, Stowe; Christine Louise Shaw, Burlington; Allene Emelyn Stevens, Montpelier; Marion Eugenia Tifft, Bennington; Anna Gray Tracy, cum laude, Bristol, Pa.; George Platt Wisell, North Montpelier.

As of 1927.

Bachelors of Science

Paul Charles Thomas Bacon, Burlington; Philip George Baker, Burlington; Dwight Joseph Bernstein, Hartford, Conn.; Edna Hall Brown (in education), Baltimore, Md.; Joyce Helene Brown, East Hampton, Conn.; Benjamin Franklin Clark, Groton; Albert James Crandall, Essex Junction; *John Joseph Curran, Florence, Mass.; Edwin Willard Davis, Ellington, Conn.; William Allen Donnelly, Atlantic City, N. J.; Doris Yvonne Duprat, Burlington; Benjamin Joseph Elowitch, Bayonne, N. J.; Francis Leach Herrick, Pawlet; Major B. Jenks, cum laude, Burlington; Ruth Irene Leonard, North Calais; Bruno Lucarini, Center Rutland; John Millyn Moore, East Peacham; Seymour Isaac Nathanson, Fitchburg, Mass.; Zelta Marguerite Norcross, Stowe; Carl Henry Heger Ramm, New Britain, Conn.; Philip Senter Robbins, Keene, N. H.; Elizabeth Gibson Robelen, Claymont, Del.; †Theresa Schneller, Bronx, N. Y.; James Scutakes, Burlington; Waldemar Charles August Sternbergh, Burlington; Lois Ellene Taylor, Middletown Springs; John Joseph Tomasi, Barre; Lewell Seth Walker, Jr., Burlington.

*As of 1928.
†As of 1929.

Bachelors of Philosophy

Cornelia Elizabeth Allen (in education), Bethel; Philip Geoffery Andrews, Cambridge, Mass.; Doris Pearl Barrett (in education), Montpelier; Leila May Bates, Richmond; Aleck Israel Bloomenthal, Burlington; Herbert K. Borkland, Springfield, Mass.; Everett Oscar Bundy, cum laude, Sutton; Pauline Elizabeth Burridge, cum laude, Rutland; Lilian Sylvia Cohen, cum laude, Burlington; Dorothy Mary Colton, Orleans; Ella Mary Cummings (in education), Orleans; Dorothy Mildred Dailey, Plattsburg, N. Y.; Alice Witbeck Dean, cum laude, Burlington; Amelia Mary Farrell (in education), Shelburne; Mabel Longaker Freeman (in education), Morristown, Pa.; Harrison Edward Goddard, Cohoes, N. Y.; Janice Meredith Goodrich, Richmond; Frances Mary Hazen, Danville; Doris Estella Kibbe, Rockville, Conn.; Dorothy Madison Kimball, Providence, R. I.; *Ralph Himes Lockwood, Brookline, Mass.; Florence Anna McKenzie, Hinesburg; Irene Louise Marcotte, Winooski; Elizabeth Mary Miller, Newbury; Cornelia Salome Mould, Morrisville; Natalie Williams Owsley, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Clarissa Arlene Peters (in education), New Bedford, Mass.; Margaret Irene Rooney, St. Albans; Annette Marjorie Rosenberg, cum laude, Burlington; Helen Smith Spalding (in education), Poultney; Robert Lee Stewart, Hardwick; Ruth Mary Jane Strong, Burlington; Mary Elizabeth Waddell, cum laude, Burlington; Ruth Althea Wedell, Lynn, Mass.; Eunice Helen Wilder (in education), Franklin; Evelyn Wright, Montpelier; Julia Fay Wright, Williston.

*As of 1929.

Bachelors of Arts

Georgia Isabel Bostwick, cum laude, Hinesburg; Elizabeth Perry Butler (in education), Danvers, Mass.; Priscilla Townsend Campbell, Peterborough, N. H.; Belle Louise Church, Richmond; Marion Margaret Cooney, Burlington; Elma Janette DeBrune (in education), Greensboro; Edith Eunice Fishman, Hartford, Conn.; Phoebe Helen Miller Flint, cum laude, Crafton, Pa.; Nelson Bond Gray, Burlington; Iva May Harris, Stowe; Ethel Barbara Heller, [illegible]; Hannet Howard [illegible] ton; Susan Howard [illegible] lington; Hazel [illegible] cation), Richmond; [illegible] rick Mower [illegible] laude, Burlington; [illegible] Masse (in ed[illegible]; Margaret Dillingham Paris, [illegible] Pawlet; Edward Henry [illegible] laude, Burlington; [illegible] ardson, cum laude, [illegible] Laura Carpenter [illegible] Evelyn Wallis Trask, [illegible] Mass., Julia Waterman [illegible] Elsie Mae Watters, [illegible]

Doctors of Medicine

Arthur Andrew [illegible]; Richard Robbins Barber, [illegible]; Charles Emanuel Beato, [illegible]; Michael F. Cerasoli, B.S., [illegible]; ford Orin Chamberlin, [illegible] field; Frank E. Cormier, [illegible]; Robert Alexander Costello, laude, North Adams; Mass.; Augustine Coyne, Providence, [illegible]; Philip Brock Daniels, B.S., [illegible]; Lyndonville; Cyrus Davis, [illegible], B.S., Groton; Frank Fleming, [illegible], B.S., Bellows Falls; Arthur Fogg, B. S., cum laude, [illegible]; Angelo Mario Gnassi, [illegible]; Aaron Goldbaum, A.B., [illegible], New York, N. Y.; George [illegible], land, B.S., Morristown, N. J.; [illegible]; Ernest Judd, Enosburg Falls; [illegible]; Charles Kingston, Newport, N. H.; [illegible]; Kendrick McCullough, [illegible]; Katherine Ella McSweeney, [illegible], lington; Mildred Elizabeth [illegible], B. S., Burlington; Richard [illegible], Morris, Poultney; Robert [illegible], Noble, B.S., Northampton, Mass.; [illegible]; Albert Ottley, B.S., Schenectady, [illegible], N. Y.; Marden Grant Platt, B.S., [illegible], side, R. I.; Rolfe Spaulding, [illegible], St. Albans; Winston Arthur [illegible], Sargent, A.M., Brattleboro, [illegible], Small, New York, N. Y.; [illegible], Thabault, Winooski; Paul [illegible], Dyke, Burlington; Royal [illegible], ney, B.S., Chelsea.

Advanced degrees in [illegible] conferred upon:

Masters of Arts—Education

Burnham Ayers Colby, A.B., [illegible], cuse, 1916. Thesis: The [illegible], Policy of South Burlington, [illegible]; Cecilia Agnes McDonough, A.B., Middlebury, 1923. Thesis: The [illegible], tion of Students for Admission, [illegible], College of Arts and Sciences, [illegible], University of Vermont.

Everett Valentine Parker, A.B., Vermont, 1900. Thesis: What Does Maine High School Graduates [illegible]

History

Albertine Louise Butts, A.B., Boston, 1916. Thesis: The Political Campaign of the United States in 1860.

Lindley Stearns Hayward, A.B., Dartmouth, 1928. Thesis: [illegible] and Economic Background of Mexican Elections Since Diaz.

Wilmond Warner Parker, B.S., Vermont, 1929. Thesis: Rural [illegible], mont and its Transplantation to the Rural Life of the Western Reserve.

History of Art

Lois May Burbank, Ph.B., Vermont, 1927. Thesis: Various Representations of the Gothic Angel in [illegible]

Mathematics

Walton Harvey Sears, Jr., A.B., Harvard, 1927. Thesis: Some Generalizations of Pringsheim's Theorem.

Political Science

Constans Marion Holden, Ph.B., Vermont, 1929. Thesis: A New Era in United States Foreign Policy—What Does it Lead?

Masters of Science—Chemistry

Ralph Arthur Hill, B.S., University of Maine, 1928. Thesis: A Study of Solubility.

Charles Smith Leonard, B.S., Massachusetts Agricultural College, 1928. Thesis: Thermodynamic Properties of Certain Organic Compounds.

Florence Emily Bailey, B.S., Simmons, 1918. Thesis: The Purification of Diastase and a Subsequent Study of the Effect of Added Protein Impurities on the Enzyme's Resistance to Heat.

Economics

Simon Gabriel Hanson, B.S., Vermont, 1929. Thesis: The Tariff and the Shoe Industry.

Psychology

Marion Baldwin, B.S., Vermont, 1929. Thesis: A Study [illegible] of Identical Twins.

Zoology

William Hudson [illegible], B.S., Lebanon Valley, 1925. Thesis: A Study of the Response of the Pod Eucrangonyx Gracilis to Stimuli.

Lyman Smith Rowell, B.S., Vermont, 1925. Thesis: Regeneration in Lumbricus Terrestris—The Role of the Aortic Arches.

Electrical Engineering

Laurence Forrest Shaw, B.S., Vermont, 1925. Thesis: [illegible]

(Continued [illegible])

CLASS OF 1923 WINS COSTUME CUP IN 1930 ALUMNI DRESS PARADE

"Beating The Dutch" Takes First Prize—Indians of 1921 Get Honorable Mention

... Dutch," the class of ... seventh reunion ... up in the annual ... competition with ... Honorable men ... ass of 1921.

1923 was attired in ... blue and white effect. ... They carried mop ... and brooms in ... cleaning up anything ... also carried a banner ... the boastful slogan ... What? 1923!" ... noon they created an ... ing upon the stairs ... baseball cage to the ... gymnasium and giv... of cheers. They rode ... Field for the ball game ... constructed truck carry... and a cow wandered ...

Honorable Mention Indians

... of 1921 had on all their ... and everything else that ... to make the costume ... And the howls which they ... they did a war dance ... baseball cage following the ... realistic enough for ... also proved strong on ... But there were not so ... as in the class of 1923, ... have had something to ... prize going to the latter ... Indians rode to Centennial ... on which trees had ... so that the Redskins ... at home among the trees ...

... deal of excitement was ... baseball cage when the ... appeared in linen dusters ... prevalent in the early ... morning. Their appearance ... by the "chug-chug" of ... car, 1905 vintage, open all ... somewhat dilapidated in ... But it ran, when prop... by Prof. R. O. Bu... in a derby hat and duster. ... back and forth at the ... baseball cage, with ... members of the class ... round to give advice and ... around when necessary. ... car also traveled in ... parade to Centennial Field ... a large amount of amuse... ... just before the ball game.

Convicts and Guards

... which made a big hit ... crowd was that of 1922, the ... in convicts' costume, the ... as keepers and guards. There ... interesting byplay in the ... of this class at the luncheon. ... insisted on picking up ... and attempting to ... it. Had it not been ... women keepers, who insisted ... put back the silverware ... things they had tried to ... Manager Harding and his ... served the luncheon ... been short quite a few ... pieces of equipment when ... came to clean up. At the close ... luncheon, just before the ... program started, the "con... formed a chain gang and ... past the speakers' plat... with their "guards" urging ... They rode to Centen... in the police patrol, which ... had bartered for the occasion. ... of the classes outdo them... originality and effectiveness ... and stunts this year. ... of 1924 attired themselves ... in frocks and hats and gaily ... trousers, in which both men ... were attired.

... any ordinary year, most ... costumes which were worn ... would have had a good ... the prize. The ushers at ... were attired in jockey ... probably for the sake of ... alumni jockey for places ...

COLLEGE WEEK CLOSES AT VERMONT TOMORROW

... B. Kirkbridge, director of ... Atlantic section of the ... Association of University ... speak tomorrow in the ... of the seventh annual ... Week, which opened ... at the University.

... Cleghorn, author ... Manchester, gave a series ... the Billings Library on ... day. Miss Cleghorn is ... assistant professor of Eng... College. The speaker ... Division Group meet... Reunion Day, was ... Morriss of Pembroke ... University. Dr Mar... spoke on "Experiences ... the Last Two Years" on ... was International Day

The Academic Procession, most colorful of commencement events. In the foreground, from left to right, President Guy W. Bailey, Hugo D. Hart, commencement orator, Ex-President Calvin Coolidge, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Mrs. Grace Goodhue Coolidge.
(Courtesy of Burlington Free Press)

Commencement Days

Friday, June 13, Class Day.
Saturday, June 14, Alumni Day.
Sunday, June 15, Baccalaureate Day.
Monday, June 16, Graduation Day.

BACCALAUREATE ORATOR DISCUSSES CHANGING ERA

Bishop McConnell Calls For Selective Thinking In Commencement Chapel Address

That this is an era of doubt and change, which requires a clear and selective thinking on the part of those who pass through it, was the burden of the address by Bishop Francis J. McConnell of New York City on Baccalaureate Day. An abstract of the address follows:

We are living today in a period of amazing fluency in thinking. If we survive it, we shall find no great harm done, but we may have difficulties before it passes.

People are accustomed to follow the fashions in thinking as in other things. So often we hear the remark "They say this and that." This simply indicates that the speaker is following the prevailing fashion in thinking rather than thinking his own thoughts.

Often a change of fashion is a good thing. For instance, nobody would think today of going back to the fashions in garments of 25 years ago, because we have learned that the fashions of today are much better.

The Old Order Passes

Likewise, some theological doctrines have passed out of existence. There may be just as much to be said in their favor as there ever was, but people have changed in their methods of thinking.

For instance, there was a time not so long ago when it was the fashion to handle insane people by force, to beat them into submission, never considering their feelings in the matter. But today, the alienist who is studying cases of mental diseases sits down and listens to the patient and so studies his mind to determine the type of trouble which is causing the derangement.

In these days and in this country, a man must assure his audience that he is not a socialist if he expects to get a hearing, said the speaker. And yet there are probably more socialists in the world today than of any other one political belief.

We never settle anything in this world in an entirely rational way. But discussion of important problems helps to clarify thinking, even though it may settle nothing.

In all our thinking, it is important to discard the less important things for those which are more important. We must learn to train our minds and our ears for the worthwhile things. Young people today need the power that can stand against panic, the ability to discern the sound from the unsound.

It is important that young people be able to read the signs of the spiritual skies in order to "bring in that Kingdom of Humanity which is in the large sense the Kingdom of God."

ALUMNI COUNCIL VOTES UNDERGRADUATES RIGHT OF REPRESENTATION

Also Endorses Student Union Building Project and Considers New Reunion Plan

Undergraduates will hereafter be entitled to seats in the Alumni Council, according to a decision reached by that body on Alumni Day. The Council also discussed the student demand for a Student Union building and debated the advisability of a change in the reunion system.

No Definite Action

Although no new action was taken regarding the proposed student building, a project which the Alumni Council previously had voted to sponsor, most of the discussion Saturday centered about this proposition. There was general approval of the project, though some different ideas were expressed about the best methods to go about getting it. A definite program probably will be formulated at the next meeting.

No definite action was taken toward changing back to the five-year system. But the executive committee was authorized to take steps toward learning the attitude of the alumni on this point. The matter will be considered with the various alumni and alumnae clubs when they hold meetings during the coming year. A number of alumni have already expressed the opinion that there would be more interest in returning for commencement if the reunions came on even five-year periods following graduation, rather than according to the present system, which many alumni do not yet understand.

President Brennan outlined what had been done in connection with the Student Union building. He mentioned the fact that undergraduates had raised $300 toward this building during the past year. It was voted to draft a resolution thanking the undergraduates for their assistance in this connection.

After Mr. Brennan had outlined a plan for interesting more of the alumni in the Loyalty Fund, he called upon some of those present for a discussion of the subject. Doctor Herr of Waterbury, Conn. advanced the idea that winning athletic teams help stimulate college spirit and make the alumni feel better about giving to the college. He said it was the opinion of many Connecticut alumni with whom he had talked that the University needs a head of the department of physical education who will be a member of the faculty. Dr. Frank C. Buckmiller spoke in a similar vein. Others who spoke on the question included H. Morton Hill of Boston, Dr. Peer P. Johnson of Beverly, Mass., Phillip J. Ross of New York, Harold A. Mayforth, Charles F. Black and Charles L. Woodbury all of this city.

Brennan Reelected

James D. Brennan of Boston, '03, was re-elected president of the Alumni Council and all other officers and committee chairmen were re-elected also.

"Walter, what's the trouble with the oyster soup? There's no oysters in it."

"Well, I'm sorry, sir, but you know you wouldn't expect to find a horse in horse radish, would you?"

Alumni Assemble For Traditional Fraternity Reunions On Usual Day

Alumni whose college days hailed back to the 'eighties and alumni returning only a year or two after graduation were equally in evidence at the annual fraternity and sorority reunions on Alumni Day.

Alumni from out of town who attended the reunions included:

Lambda Iota

Horace K. Tenney, '80, Chicago, Ill., C. J. Wright, '86, Williston, Eugene N. Sanctuary, '93, New York City, Edward H. Deavitt, '93, Montpelier, E. P. Hendrick, '99, Newtonville, Mass., J. D. Brennan, '03, Boston, A. H. Valiquette, '03, New York City, H. G. Hicks, '05, New York City, T. J. Muleare, '09, Cambridge, Mass., C. H. Winslow, '21, Rutland; John Boardman, '24, Hanover, N. H., C. D. Griffith, '25, Worcester, Mass., Edward N. Brush, '25, Orono, Me., W. M. Wilbur, '26, Barre, L. H. Comptois, '26, Worcester, Mass., E. Tracy, 26, Rutland, R. I. Lamson, '26, Randolph, H. C. Sherwin, '28, Wells River, J. R. Allen, '29, New York City.

Sigma Phi

Robert M. Catlin, '73, of Franklin, N. J., M. S. Allen, '95, and P. J. Ross, '95, of New York City, C. M. Heaton, '00, of Montpelier, F. B. Wright, '05, of New York City, E. D. Fuller, '10, of DeLand, Fla., H. R. Pierce, '10, of Montpelier, W. H. Smith, '15, of Cuttingsville, C. S. Gates, '16, of Cambridge, Mass., A. C. Clifford, '22, of Brandon, G. E. Ferguson, '27, of Seneca Castle, N. Y., J. T. Conway, '28, of New London, Conn., K. W. Kyle, '28, of St. Johnsbury, and C. C. Lyman, '28, of Middletown Springs.

Delta Psi

H. M. McFarland, '78, Hyde Park, Walter R. Newton, '81, New Brunswick, N. J., George M. Powers, '83, Morrisville, Mason S. Stone, '83, Montpelier, Robert Hazen, '96, Thomaston, Conn., Frank E. Beckley, '05, Great Neck, N. Y., L. H. Hulett, '05, South Hadley, Mass., John H. Woodruff, '05, E. N. Worthen, '05, Springfield, Mass., Roger N. Blake, '18, River Edge, N. J., W. W. Smith, '23, Vergennes, Lawrence J. Doolin, '23, Hartford, Conn., Telford C. Cheever, '23, Barre, Raymond B. Durant, '24, Mount Vernon, N. Y., Richard B. Smith, '24, Menominee, Wis., Robert L. Thompson, '26, Boston, Bingham J. Humphrey, '27, Proctor, Lawrence Marvin, '28, Essex Junction.

Phi Delta Theta

Chauncey H. Hayden, '83, Riverside, M. A. Howe, '90, Pleasantville, N. Y., Thomas C. Cheney, '91, Morrisville, F. W. Mould, '91, Morrisville, Carroll W. Doten, '95, Boston, C. D. Howe, '98, Adams, Mass., Charles F. Blair, '99, Buffalo, Joseph Newton, '05, Boston, E. L. Waterman, '07, Iowa City, Iowa, Burt Field, '12, Tampico, Mexico, W. P. Mould, '15, Johnson, E. C. Mower, Jr., '23, Boston, Paul J. Raine, '24, Essex Junction, F. B. Winslow, '26, Chatham, N. J., Charles H. Stevens, '28, Cambridge, Mass., Kenneth H. Gurney, '28, Essex Junction.

Sigma Nu

Harold Huey, '04, Saylesville, R. I., Harry Barker, '04, Montclair, N. J., Irving Cobb, '05, Bennington, Everett Perkins, '05 Augusta, Me., Guy Whitcomb, '07, Rutland, Walter Hayes, '11, Wellesley, Mass., Asa Bloomer, '13, Rutland, Walter Jennings, '23, St. Albans; Robert White, '24, Kingston, N. Y.; Donald Kimball, '26 New York City; Maurice Goodrich, '26, New Haven, Conn., Arthur Blichard, '28, Springfield, Mass., William Cogswell, '28, Warner, N. H., George Talcott, '28, Williston, Robert Whitcomb, '28, Essex Junction.

Kappa Sigma

F. G. Taylor, '02, Bartville, Ill., J. H. Allen, '05, Hoosick, N. Y., Friend Jenkins, '21, Haverhill, N. H., F. A. Presley, '23, Providence, R. I., C. F. Carpenter, '24, Barre, Donald M. Rockwell, '28, Proctor, J. L. Kimball, '29, Chelsea.

Alpha Tau Omega

Walton H. Scott, '15, Boston, Daniel Adams, '18, Great Barrington, Mass., Charles C. Schmidt, '21, New York City, Everett Wallis, '21, Princeton, N. J., William Burns, '22, Brooklyn, N. Y., Earl Morgan, '25, Passaic, N. J., Neil Tolman, '26, Nashua, N. H., James Kendrick, '29, Boston.

Phi Mu Delta

Glenn Merrill, '18 Northfield, Hardy Merrill, '19, Essex Junction, A. J. Runnals, '20 Montpelier, O. K. Jenny, '23, Essex Junction, Robert Larrabee, '24 Enosburg Falls, N. Dean Rowe, '26, Barre, Haven V. Greene '28, Proctor, Walter F. Regan '28 Pittsfield, Mass., George H. Poole, '29, Springfield, Mass.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

B. W. Randall, '25, Portland, Me.; B. G. LeMieux, '25, Springfield, Vt.; F. L. Berry, '25, Montpelier, John M. Colton, '26 Orleans, F. G. Taylor, '26 Essex Junction, E. L. Gilman, '26, Woodstock, E. A. Lucchina, '27, Barre, R. F. Moore, '28, Montpelier, A. G. Mackay, '28, Peacham, W. A. Dodge, '29, Jeffersonville.

Zeta Chi

Royce S. Pitkin, '23, Wallingford, M. D. Sowles, '23, Boston, R. J. Tappert, '23 Greenport, N. Y., H. Belmont Houghton, '24, Washington, D. C., E. J. Mahoney, '24, New York City, M. C. McKinnon, '23, New York City, P. J. Carrigan, '23, Pittsford, G. L. McCuen, '23, Montgomery, C. L. Tatt, '23, Bennington, James McGee, '23, Waltham, Mass., Wilfred Lavey, '24, Barre, R. B. Dawson, '25, Newark, N. J., H. A. Hazen '26, New York City, O. T. Wood, '28, Rutland, A. W. Phelon, '29, Walkerville, Ont.

Cynic Announcements

The Cynic announces the promotion of Lynford Foster from associate sports editor to sports editor in place of Seymour Nathanson, who resigns by graduation, the promotion of Joseph Carter from feature editor to news editor, the confirmation of Edmour Germain as sole feature editor, the promotion of Peary Berger and Robert Jenks from assistant editors to contributing editors, the election of Frazer Drew and Albert Katz as assistant editors on the news side, and of George Flenbery and Sidney Hausman as assistant editors on the sports side.

The intercollegiate editorship has been abolished. The following have been temporarily removed for scholastic reasons: Edward Fitzgerald, dramatic editor, Sam Pelofsky, contributing and assistant sports editor, Robert Ryan, assistant editor, and Edward Hurlburt, assistant business manager.

SPORTING NEWS

SEYMOUR L. NATHANSON, '30
Sporting Editor

Green and Gold Nine Makes it Ten Games Straight, Including Thrilling Victories Over Dartmouth and Middlebury in Ten Frames

CATS CAPTURE TITLE IN STATE DIAMOND RACE

Final Games Complete Perfect Home Schedule, St. Michael's And Middlebury Bowing on Successive Days

Vermont 4, Dartmouth 3

[illegible] leaned into head[illegible] a fiery single in [illegible] right field with the bases [illegible] scoring Marsh home with the [illegible] in the tenth inning as Vermont beat Dartmouth 4 to 3 on Memorial Day at Centennial Field.

McKay [illegible] by knocking in [illegible] with a screaming double in the eighth inning, tying the score and setting the stage for a Vermont victory.

Ruthowski, as the winning pitcher deceived the Big Green ace, Lauri Myrykangas. He allowed eleven hits but only in the third inning were they effective.

McKay featured with a double and two singles. Winant shared tripling honors with Myllykangas. McDonough, Dartmouth captain, had a perfect day at bat with four singles.

The Cats played heads up baseball and were determined to win, and they got what they went after.

Vermont 4, Middlebury 3

Another ten inning game of the heart attacking type brought a well-earned victory to the Vermonters when they downed the Panthers on Centennial Field, 4 to 3, and clinched the state title. This game was played on May 21.

Brown Jay was the hero—and we mean hero—when he kissed a Cook clean goodbye in the ninth for one of his frequent gargantuan clouters with two men on to the the score at three all.

In the tenth the bases were loaded and McKay hit a ground ball to the second baseman which the latter threw home in an attempt to force Stroh. But the big boy crashed into Hartrey with such violence that the Midd catcher dropped the ball and Vermont won.

McKay led with two singles. Pires doubled and Nelson tripled. Cummings, Winant, and Stroh pulled off a neat double play. Middlebury failed to earn a run, getting all three on errors.

Vermont 6, St. Michael's 0

Sargent ran his string of consecutive scoreless innings to 34 as he easily subdued St. Michaels 6 to 0 on June 7 at Centennial Field in St. Mike's "home game." Sargent's record looks like the best of the year in college ball and a Green and Gold all-time record.

In [illegible] the Michaelmen went out in order and their four singles were scattered.

McKay continued his hitting streak with a single and double. McGowan, Sargent and Howard doubled and Winant got a three-bagger.

The Cats started with a bang in the first game by pounding out four hits for a total of tallies.

Vermont 10, St. Lawrence 1

As a commencement feature St. Lawrence obliged by being the unlucky team and taking a 10 to 1 drubbing Friday, June 13, on Centennial Field at the hands of the victory-crazed Green and Gold nine.

St. Lawrence scored only in the fourth inning on two hits, an error, and a fielder's choice.

Three hits by Vermont including a double by Stroh and a triple by Ruthowski netted three runs in the first inning. In the seventh Ruthy poled out a homer. A single in the fifth gave him a perfect day at bat.

[illegible] Vermont 4, Alumni 1 [illegible]

[illegible] hits to drive in as many runs. Meanwhile, Charlie Cummings, working as efficiently as ever on the mound, held the oldtimers to four scattered hits, Bill Morse alone collecting twice in three trips to the plate.

Vermont scored three times in the sixth. With Jay and Traynor safe on [illegible] and Winant on base by an error, Ruthowski singled to score [illegible] both Jay and Traynor. Howard's single scored Winant. In the fifth, Ruthowski and McKay singled, advanced on Cummings' sacrifice, and [illegible] as Pires forced McKay, Ruthowski scored.

Bill Morse's homer and Conlin's single, scoring Cogswell from second, accounted for both the alumni runs in the fifth.

FROSH NINE LIKELY NEXT YEAR INSTEAD OF JAYVEE

"Doc" Newton, Reelected Assistant Coach, Will Handle Team in 1931—Jayvees Undefeated

At the last meeting of the Athletic Council the question of having a freshman or junior varsity baseball team for the coming year was debated. Such a decision is necessary in view of the new one-year rule at the University which goes into effect the first of next month. A definite conclusion is expected to be reached at the next meeting of the Council.

"Doc" Newton was reelected assistant coach of baseball for 1931 and will take charge of either the freshman or junior varsity squad next year.

Under Newton's tutelage this year's junior varsity team played an undefeated schedule of three games, beating Norwich junior varsity 9 to 5 at Northfield, Co. I 13th Infantry of Fort Ethan Allen 11 to 7 at Winooski, and Clark School 4 to 3 on Centennial Field.

TAUS WIN INTERFRAT BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Baldwin Pitches Excellent Game, Defeating Kappa Sigma 7 to 3 in Final—Third Successive Championship for Alpha Tau Omega

Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity captured the Interfraternity Baseball Championship of the University by defeating Kappa Sigma 7 to 3, Saturday, May 24 on Centennial Field, in the final game of the tournament, directly after the varsity game with Middlebury.

Due to the late start the last two innings were played in darkness, but the significance of the game caused the officials to allow the game to go the arranged seven innings, to the satisfaction of both teams. The championship is the third in successive years for the Alpha Taus, and gives them another permanent trophy awarded by the Key and Serpent Society.

The winners' battery was in great shape. Baldwin did especially fine work, allowing only three Kappa Sig hits, two of which were by Art Stearns, flashy third sacker. Chiolino was the hitting star, with a single and triple in three times at bat, and with Donnelly, who hit in the fifth with two out to drive in two runs, accounted for the clean cut victory.

Alpha Tau Omega started off with three tallies in the first, and by the end of the second inning had enough runs to win the contest. By the middle of the fifth frame the Sigs were too close for comfort, and two more Alpha runs gave the latter a safer margin.

In defeat, the Kappa Sigmas showed plenty of the stuff that sent them through a difficult schedule, but Coach Wisell had the Taus in superb form.

Score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	T
A T O	3	1	1	0	2	0	x	7
Kappa Sigma	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	3

Batteries: Baldwin and Berry; Bigelow and Tobin.

Doctors Wanted

The Barre Times finds authority for the statement that there are 448 towns in New England without a doctor. There would be more rural towns in Vermont without resident physicians, if the College of Medicine of the University of Vermont was not helping [illegible] with the understanding that graduates in Vermont [illegible] practice in Vermont [illegible] Barre Times.

Teacher: If you subtract fourteen from a hundred sixteen, what's the difference?

Jakie: Yeah, I think it's a lot of foolishness, too.—Orange Peel

"PIE" TRAYNOR ELECTED 1931 BASEBALL CAPTAIN

Corbin Chosen Manager—Team Completes Highly Successful Season, Trimming Last Ten Teams in a Row

"Pie" Traynor, who first made his second baseman's berth last year as a freshman, will captain Vermont's baseball club next year. The announcement was made at the Larry Gardner dinner, given to the baseball team on the evening of Alumni Day by Max L. Powell.

Traynor has played every minute of every game since he entered college. He hit for .235 during the past season.

Stuart Corbin will be 1931 baseball manager. Corbin is business manager of the Cynic, is secretary of next year's senior class and is a Boulder man. The assistant managers are R. L. Morse, R. W. Cobb and W. E. Morgan, all of '32.

The season, which closed with the alumni game Saturday, shows a record of ten straight wins in the last ten games and an unbroken record of victories on Centennial Field. A résumé of the season follows:

1930 Baseball Schedule

Mar.		Vt.	Op.
29	U. S. Marines, Quantico	1	5
31	U. S. Marines, Quantico	3	7
Apr.
1	Georgetown, Washington	0	10
2	Navy, Annapolis†	7	12
3	Gallaudet, Washington	cancelled
4	Catholic U., Washington	4	8
5	Princeton, Princeton	2	12
7	St. Johns, Brooklyn	cancelled
8	Columbia, New York	cancelled
9	Army, West Point	6	4
18	Springfield, Springfield	2	4
19	Yale, New Haven	1	14
May
2	Holy Cross, Worcester	1	3
3	Connecticut Aggies, Storrs	3	2
8	Middlebury, Middlebury	2	1
10	U. S. N. T. S., Burlington	20	3
14	Norwich, Northfield	2	4
16	St. Michael's, Burlington*	6	0
17	Clarkson Tech., Burlington*	6	3
20	Norwich, Burlington*	3	1
23	Springfield, Burlington*	7	0
24	U. S. Marines, Burlington*	2	1
30	Dartmouth, Burlington* ‡	4	3
31	Middlebury, Burlington* ‡	4	3
June
7	St. Michael's, Burlington	6	0
13	St. Lawrence, Burlington*	10	1
14	Alumni, Burlington*	4	2

*Home games.
†7 inning game.
‡10 innings games.

CASTING ANY REFLECTIONS?

Vermonters are wondering if George Ryan in his column, Top o' the Morning, in the Boston Herald of May 15 was making any insinuations in the direction of the Green Mountains when he wrote about the resignation of Chris Cagle from West Point and quoted newspapers which said, "He was married two years ago, subsequently gaining All-American gridiron honors as one of the greatest halfbacks of all time." Ryan comments on this by writing, "If there is any cause and effect in this, we imagine the alumni of some colleges we will not mention will be rooting for the establishment of matrimonial bureaus."

FOOTBALL TABLE AND CAMP

Beginning September 3 or 4 Coaches Dunn and Levine will conduct the annual football camp for members of the 1930 squad. The camp will be in Burlington or Camp Vermont at Grand Isle. If the camp is in Burlington the training table will be at Mrs. McCormick on the [illegible] on North Willard Street. The table will be run until the end of the football season. A record squad is expected to report.

NEW DIAMOND TO BE BUILT

The Athletic Council has decided to have another diamond layed out on Centennial Field for the use of next year's freshman or junior varsity baseball team. The home plate will be near the east end of the south football stands and will face the varsity diamond.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sporting Editor—

The Middlebury Campus of June 4 carries an abominable account of the Vermont-Middlebury baseball game which took place at Centennial Field, May 31. In the first place, the Campus reporter, who writes about "the weird decisions that Umpire Seymour made in the game at Burlington two years ago" and says that "his decisions in games the writer has seen him umpire before have been bad," is the one who needs "about two pair of glasses so that he might be able to see what was what," because Seymour did not umpire that game two years ago and in this year's game Seymour was the umpire on bases and not behind the plate.

We thoroughly believe, until convinced otherwise that the asinine reporter did not see either one of the games. Furthermore, hypothetically conceding an inadvertent switch of the names, Lyons, who actually called the balls and strikes, has never before umpired a Vermont-Middlebury contest and we would like to know where Lyons, alias Seymour, was seen in action by the Middlebury man. The latter's knowledge of baseball is facetious, to say the least; more humorous than, and even as entertaining as a female watching her first game, if not as disgusting. He writes that "Jay let two balls go by him and the umpire obligingly called them wide." Those balls were inside balls. According to the story "the Blue captain did the only thing possible and grooved the ball in hopes that Jay would not be ready for it. He was nearly right as the Vermont center fielder swung late, but the ball managed to stay fair and rolled to the right field fence." Pause (indicating laughter). This ball, as we all know, sailed high, wide and handsome, to the fence. Can anyone imagine a left-handed hitter swinging late and poling out such a "neat blow?" Absolutely inconceivable by all the laws of physics and baseball. Our Panther cub reporter says that "it was a lucky hit at that as it was only a few feet from the first base foul line all the way out to the fence and could not be placed there again in a hundred attempts." Wouldn't he be pleased to be informed that Jay has hit four home runs this season, every one of which was within ten yards of the same spot. Jay now has something like 300 more chances to still break even.

In the third place is the cub certain that he saw "Hartrey on the baseline three feet from home plate" on the play for Stroh with none out and three on in the tenth? You know, that should have been a force out. "Two pair of glasses" would help reporters see a loose ball.

The account ends up with a beautiful soliloquy on how "Middlebury will never win a ball game in Burlington as long as Seymour has anything to do with the making of decisions on plays." Allow us to express our sincere convictions that Middlebury will never win a ball game in Burlington as long as Vermont is playing the superior ball they have played this year. And next year is another year.

HIGH SCHOOL EDITORS AWARDED SCHOLARSHIPS

(Continued from page 1)

schools group together in this manner, the committee suggests that a fourth class be formed to include them in a special award.

Honorable Mentions

Honorable mentions went to the Vermont Academy Life, the Searchlight of Richford High School and the Newbury High School Literaire.

The editor or some members of the staff of each winning publication is entitled to a scholarship at the University. The winner in the first group, which includes papers of the larger schools is entitled to a University scholarship valued at $175; winner in the second group, including schools of medium size, scholarship valued at $150; winner in third group, including smaller secondary schools, scholarship valued at $125. There were 12 entrants in the first group, 16 in the second group and 15 in the third group.

A part of the report submitted by the committee says:

"The committee, after a study of the publications issued by the various high schools and academies of Vermont, heartily endorses the effort on the part of the University of Vermont to stimulate magazines with character. The leaders of the three classes of publications show much initiative on the part of the staff. Above all these publications show hard work and resourcefulness.

"In group one, the Red and White of Rutland High School, in the form of a weekly newspaper, [illegible] dominantly as the most [illegible] of all. While news [illegible] tured, the other departments [illegible] overlooked and an [illegible] resulted."

The committee was composed [illegible] I. Johnson of the Rutland Herald, Lester E. Richwagen of the Bellows Falls Times, and Elba A. [illegible] Burlington Daily News.

PARK LEADS TRACK TEAM NEXT YEAR

Mattison Elected Manager With Marvin, Torrey, and Wheeler as Assistants—Jones Chosen Cross-Country Manager—Letters Awarded to Thirteen Men

TRACK AND FIELD TEAM WINS SINGLE CONTEST

N. P. Park, '31, will lead the Vermont track and field team next year, having been elected captain by his fellowmen during last week. H. R. Mattison, '31, was elected manager of track and L. L. Jones, Jr., '32, was chosen manager of cross-country. The assistants in track are J. W. Marvin, Jr., '32, H. C. Torrey, '32, and C. Wheeler, '32.

Under the system adopted last fall, track and cross-country hereafter are separate sports, but, as the first cross-country manager, Jones was promoted from the assistant track managership. He is a member of the Phi Mu Delta Fraternity. Park was high point man for the season and made a great showing in the weight events in the state meet as well as in dual competition. He is a Delta Psi and has made a varsity football letter and numerals in freshman football and basketball. Mattison is prominent in several lines of campus activity and belongs to Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Track letters have been awarded to the following: N. P. Park, '31; R. F. Hadley, '33; G. S. Flagg, '32; R. [illegible] Huey, '31; P. B. Billings, '32; R. Swain, '33; A. G. Francesconi, '33; G. E. Wilder, '32; E. S. Phillips, '32; R. J. Maynes, '31; D. E. Child, '32; Capt. C. H. Maco, Jr., '30; Mgr. O. A. Martinetti, '30.

Vermont was victorious in one out of four meets this spring, defeating Mass. Aggies 89⅝ to 45⅛ on Centennial Field. Amherst beat the Cats 102½ to 32½ at Amherst in the opening meet and Montreal A. A. A. took the Green and Gold into camp 77 to 46 on Centennial. In the Green Mountain Conference meet at Northfield, Vermont was third with 24½ points, following closely the Norwich cadets who amassed 27⅛ credits. Middlebury captured the track championship with 33 points.

NETSTERS WIN THREE MATCHES AND TIE ONE

Roller Elected Manager—Davis and Collins are Assistants—Letters Awarded to Six Men

Varsity tennis letters have been awarded to Capt. H. K. Borkland '30, Mgr. F. J. Reed, '31; F. Tupper, Jr., '32; L. R. Palmer, '33; L. O. Pond, '30; L. L. Woodward, '33.

A. H. Roller, '31, has been elected manager for the coming year with H. W. Davis, '32, and G. R. Collins, '32, assistant managers. Roller is serving his second year as rifle team manager. He is a member of the Phi Sigma Delta Fraternity. Davis and Collins are Sigma Nu and both have made varsity football letters. Collins also won his hockey letter last winter. Election of captain is now in progress.

Under the coaching of Prof. F. J. Carpenter the tennis team completed its season with one tie and three victories in nine matches. The results:

Vermont		Opponents
1	Worcester Tech	1
1	[illegible]	3
4	St. Michael's	0
1	[illegible]	5
0	*St. [illegible]	0
0	*Worcester Tech	4
4	*St. [illegible]	0

*Home matches.

Forty-four of the 4[illegible] students of Bucknell University walk on campus or have [illegible] next six months as a result [illegible] missions that they [illegible] their rooms during the [illegible]

Cynic Picks Mythical Conference Outfit

Department of Physical Education Ends Successful, Progressive Year

Questionnaire Reveals Favorable Reaction Toward Work of Department—Champions Crowned in Eight Sports—Many Special Courses Given—Prentice, Post, and Levine Promise Further Progress Next Year

With the completion of the Inter-[illegible] Baseball Tournament the [illegible] of Physical Education [illegible] a close a most successful [illegible] intramural sports of the [illegible] the University. Under [illegible]ship of Howard A. Pren[illegible] development along intramural [illegible] in interfraternity competi[illegible] otherwise, has progressed in [illegible] bounds during the last two [illegible] year, with the assistance [illegible] Post and H. B. Levine, it has [illegible] to undertake larger and [illegible] and carry them through [illegible]ndable manner.

"Bump" Levine

Instructor in physical education and assistant coach of the Vermont football team.

"Al-ard" Post

[illegible] of intramural [illegible] instructor [illegible] physical educa[illegible] and coach of the [illegible] track squad.

A questionnaire sent out this spring by the department is indicative of even more initiative on the part of the instructors, and has also brought to them much favorable comment on their work. Questionnaires were sent to the thirteen academic fraternities and the Independents. Unanimous affirmative replies were received in answer to the question, "Are you in favor of the present system?" None of the organizations are in favor of more sports although it is believed there would be no objection to the conduction of such tournaments as basketball free-throwing and golf which the department is contemplating.

The majority of the fraternities agreed that awards of trophies for championships in the various intramural sports should be on a permanent instead of a three-year basis. It was the general consensus of opinion that a point system, which would decorate a society the campus athletic champion for a year, is an excellent idea. Societies would be awarded points according to the order in which they finish in the various sports, and at the end of the year a trophy would be awarded the society with the highest total. The questionnaires also carried suggestions for improvement in the intramural system, such as the acquisition of more playing space, better hours for playing the games, and more convenient schedules. The system of officiating was favorably commented upon

During the year the following intramural champions were crowned in competition supervised by the Department of Physical Education

Wrestling—115 pound class, H. M. Hill, '33; 125 pound class, W. J. Willetts, '31; 135 pound class, H. Winthrop, '32; 145 pound class, H. R. Fleming, '33; 158 pound class, J. A. Peters, '31; 175 pound class, H. J. Rugg, '32, unlimited class, N. P. Park, '31

Interfraternity touch-football—Kappa Sigma Fraternity

Interclass basketball—Class of 1932

Interfraternity relay—Sigma Nu Fraternity

Interfraternity track—Sigma Nu Fraternity

Interfraternity winter sports—Zeta Chi Fraternity.

Interfraternity basketball—Kappa Sigma Fraternity

Interfraternity baseball—Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity.

Besides these activities the Department gave instruction in tennis, riding, fencing, handball, boxing, tumbling, and golf. Other features of the year's work were the special class in baseball theory and practice, classes in all kinds of corrective exercises, including heart, feet, and posture cases, and the class composed of members of the faculty. A special lecture course in hygiene for students in Physical Education is being planned for next fall

"Bunny" Prentice

Director of physical education who installed the present system. Prentice starred on first in the alumni baseball game last week.

PERELMAN, SHUMAN TO LEAD FENCERS

Elected Captain and Manager Respectively—Basilicato and Wadsworth Also Get Letters

TEAM COMPLETES HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL SCHEDULE

J. S. Perelman, '31, was elected captain of the fencing team for next year and H. Shuman, '32, was elected manager in the voting of the lettermen which took place last week

Perelman, Shuman, E. E. Wadsworth, '33, and G. Basilicato, '31, ex-captain and manager, were awarded letters by the Athletic Council

This team went through the most successful season in the history of fencing at U. V. M., and next year will probably come under the Athletic Association budget instead of being supported by the administration

Perelman has been a consistent fencer for the past two years, and during the past season has shown marked improvement in stiff competition. Shuman captained the freshman team which defeated the Norwich yearlings and won his varsity letter as sophomore this year for the first time

All the letter men are expected to return next year so the outlook is especially brilliant

THREE MEN AWARDED OUTING CLUB LETTERS

All Prominent in Winter Sports at Vermont for Several Years

The following men have been awarded the oVc by the Athletic Council for their work on the Outing Club R. M. Bragg, '30, S. W. Howard, M '31, R. J. Maynes, '31

These men have been prominent in winter sports for the past few years and were instrumental in placing Vermont a close second in the state meet at Norwich during the past winter.

S. C. ABELL IS GRADUATE MANAGER OF ATHLETICS

Sabin C. Abell, acting graduate manager of athletics at the University of Vermont, has been elected graduate manager for the coming year by the Athletic Council

Mr. Abell is a graduate of Vermont in the class of 1928, and, after a year's absence from the campus, returned to fill the vacancy left by Harold A. Mayforth, resigned. During the past year Mr. Abell has done a splendid job in his position.

As an undergraduate he was very active on the campus, having been a member of Boulder Society and manager of the 1928 baseball team

ALUMNI STARS IN SATURDAY'S GAME

Smith

Cogswell

Aronson

Macomber

Winchenbach

BASKETBALL CARD FOR 1930-31 IS PREPARED

Trip to Montreal is Innovation—Harvard There and Clarkson Here—Seventeen Game Schedule Contains Difficult Contests

A few variations in the usual schedule appear on the program mapped out for the 1930-31 quintet and announced by the Athletic Council

As in the past, Montreal A. A. A. opens the schedule in Burlington the first Saturday in December. Clarkson Tech. then plays here as a new comer. New Hampshire appears on the card again after a two year absence but the game will be played in Durham. The Cats then journey to Cambridge for a game with the Crimson. A home and home series with Dartmouth has been arranged

Instead of the usual Holy Cross-Springfield trip a journey to Montreal to meet McGill and the Montreal A. A. A. will be taken. Holy Cross did not have an open date and it was financially impossible to arrange a game with Springfield in the Bay State. Since the Canadian trip is on Thursday and Friday, the members of the squad will have an opportunity to see the second performance of Kake Walk. Some of the basketball players on last winter's team have never seen Kake Walk on account of the former conflict in dates

The schedule as it stands is a very difficult one and with three veterans graduating the remaining men have a real task ahead of them. Nine games are scheduled at home and eight away

The schedule:

Dec
6	Montreal A. A. A.	here
10	Clarkson Tech.	here
13	McGill	here
18	Dartmouth	here
Jan
9	New Hampshire	there
10	Harvard	there
13	St. Michael's	there
15	Dartmouth	there
Feb
5	St. Michael's	there
7	Lowell Textile	here
10	Middlebury	here
12	Norwich	there
14	Springfield	here
19	McGill	there
20	Montreal A. A. A.	there
24	Middlebury	there
26	Norwich	here

NO "BIG" GAMES ON '31 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Season to Open on Centennial Field—Four Home Games Feature Schedule

Following up the policy adopted in the preparation of the 1930 football schedule, announced last winter, of reducing the number of so-called "big" games, the 1931 grid card is conspicuous by the absence of those high-powered elevens which have opened the Vermont seasons the past several years. The 1931 schedule as announced by the Athletic Council is as follows:

Sept.
26	Union	here
Oct.
3	St. Johns (Brooklyn)	there
10	Providence	there
17	Colby	here
24	New Hampshire	here
31	Norwich	there
Nov.
7	Rensselear	there
14	Middlebury	here
26	Springfield	there

The schedule is made up of nine games as usual, but instead of the customary three home games, the number has been increased to four, and the opening game of the season will be on Centennial Field instead of away. This schedule looks like the best for the good of Vermont that the Green and Gold has had in many an autumn.

St. Johns of Brooklyn is a new team to U. V. M. grid schedules. Providence has not been played for a few years. Union and New Hampshire will be completing two year contracts to be started this year

NINE VERMONTERS ON ALL-STATE TEAM

Five Pitchers Chosen, Three From Vermont—Humeston and Yeomans Only Non-Vermont Fielders—No St. Michael's Man Makes Team

PANTHERS GIVEN THREE CADETS ONE, BY CYNIC

The Vermont Cynic announces its All-Green Mountain Conference baseball team for 1930 as follows

Rutkowski, Vermont	pitcher
Sargent, Vermont	pitcher
Cummings, Vermont	pitcher
Waining, Norwich	pitcher
Cook, Middlebury	pitcher
Stroh, Vermont	catcher
Winant, Vermont	first base
Traynor, Vermont	second base
McKay, Vermont	third base
Yeomans, Middlebury	shortstop
Dinniman, Vermont	left field
Jay, Vermont	center field
Humeston, Middlebury	right field

Henry Powell

Manager of the 1930 Baseball Team

Of the thirteen men picked it will be noticed that nine are Vermonters, three are from Middlebury, and one from Norwich. The Middlebury Campus of June 4 uses the expression "famed Vermont infield" and thereby upholds our contention that Winant, Traynor and McKay in their respective positions are head and shoulders above the other infielders in the state. Yeomans is a steadier and a better hitter than the other shortstops in the conference, all of whom are weak with the willow

In the outfield Dinniman has been a star for three years and did his best ever at bat this year. He is a first class outfielder with league aspirations. Humeston is in the same category. A heavy hitter, a smooth fielder, possessing a dangerous throwing arm, he rates with the best in college ball. Having had more experience he is switched from center to right instead of taking Jay out of his customary garden. Jay is an altogether different looking ball player in the outfield than he was at shortstop last year. He has developed into a demon as far as ground-covering goes, leads the conference in home run hitting, and is the most outstanding base runner. No other state outfielder compares with this trio

Stroh beats out the other catchers by his power at bat. There is no outstanding fielding catcher, so the hitting is necessarily the deciding factor. Stroh is a great pinch hitter with a high average. All the pitchers selected have turned in outstanding performances throughout the season

The choices were not made on intrastate showings alone. We have tried to be impartial in every case, and although we were forced to pick a large majority of Vermont players, those who have followed the teams will agree that such action is absolutely justifiable

March 6 and 7 are the dates of the annual Vermont Senior Interscholastic Basketball Tournament which it is tentatively planned to hold at the University of Vermont gym next year

As a reminder to those returning to school in the fall soon [illegible] these games will be [illegible] the team, the [illegible] list is expected

Sept
2	Amherst	there
Oct
4	Harvard	there
11	U. S. Coast Guard	here
18	Union	there
25	New Hampshire	there
Nov
1	Rensselaer	here
8	Norwich	here
15	Middlebury	there
27	Springfield	there

DONALDSON AND ROLLER RIFLE CAPTAIN, MANAGER

[illegible] M. Donaldson, '31, was chosen [illegible] of the rifle team at the close [illegible] season and A. H. Roller, '31, [illegible] elected manager for the coming [illegible] H. M. Albert, '32, as assistant

[illegible] lettermen as announced by [illegible] Council are as follows: [illegible] A. L. Wardwell, '30; L. R. [illegible]'33, J. A. Eliot, '30; W. C. [illegible] L. M. Preedom, '33; H. J. [illegible]

[illegible] wins and seventeen losses [illegible]d of the team which was [illegible] Capt. K. L. Berry of the [illegible] of Military Science. The [illegible]

Opponents
[illegible] Gettysburg	1287
West Maryland	1822
Tennessee	3644
Washington	3413
Davidson	3489
Rose Polytechnic	1735
Lafayette	1750
Depaw	1754
Tenn. Military	1839
25th Infantry	1766
So. Dakota	1764
Emory	1804
Illinois	1862
Texas Tech.	1327
Alabama	1784
Miss. Agri. & Mech.	1791
No. Dakota State	1866
West Virgina	1829
No. Dakota	1862
California	1847
Mass. Aggie.	1728
Alabama Polytech.	1718
Carnegie Tech.	1842
Washington	1417
N. Y. Stock Exchange	1861
Pittsburg	1765
Cornell	1890
Conn. Aggie.	1831
Idaho	1829

TUPPER, HUEY, WRIGHT PROMINENT IN S. D. P.

Progress in the tryouts for membership in Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity recently installed on the U. V. M. campus, was rapid during the last few weeks before the final examination period

Among the scores of student-athletes who have been trying out, F. Tupper, Jr., '32, R. M. Huey, '31, and L. S. Wright, Jr., '33, have made the most progress. These three have completed all the requirements except swimming. They will be given the latter test early next fall, and are expected to be the first to be accepted as members of the Vermont chapter.

STANDS TO BE REPAIRED

Work will be done during the summer on the football stands at Centennial Field. There are a large number of boards which need to be repaired or replaced

Class Day Speakers, In Perennial Program, Present Prominent Seniors

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

By Herrub M Macomber

[illegible]

CLASS HISTORY

By Dorothy Gurney

[illegible]

James Peeler
[illegible] the man who has done the most for his Class

"Jim" Halligan
Voted the outstanding athlete in his Class

[1906-1917] Once again the traditional land mark seen from miles around, was replaced the golden cupola which had been removed from the Old Mill Tower in 1853 was chosen as the most desirable object to surmount the campanile with Professor Bennett, renowned as a musician and director of choirs was chosen to direct and supervise the chapel choir. Aside from the weekly Chapel period for the students, Vesper services were held Sunday afternoons for the public. Dr. Robert McLaughlin Ames's father, from Worcester Mass. was the first Vesper speaker in the new chapel.

Following this event came a generous bequest from Mrs Emma Slade of New York of $15,000. This bequest furnished a realization of many years standing a new girls dormitory dedicated in the memory of her daughter Barrett Slade.

Two organizations were installed this year K. P. L. organized in 1926 and Kappa Phi Kappa Professional Education Society in 1927.

Following the example set by men the Womens Student Union discontinued weekly mass meeting. Substituting in their place six mass meetings for the year and a council meeting weekly.

Class Day presented by the coeds in memory of our late dean Pearl Randall Wasson was considered to be the most successful ever presented.

Our sophomore year "Al" Steele, Janice Goodrich, Ben Householder and Jean Meehan were our class officers. Professor Meredith Phillips, Carleton Paul Moody, Arthur An-

Jessica Cornwell
Voted the woman who has done the most for the college

LEADERS OF 1930

[illegible] McKenzie
selected as the woman most likely to succeed

Vermont students, alumni and acquaintances of the Hon James B Wilbur were saddened to learn of his death on March 30, 1929. He was the donor of the Ira Allen Chapel, Lafayette statue and innumerable collections

Miss Isabelle Whiting was installed as assistant to Miss Marian Patterson, Dean of Women. She has been in charge of Slade Hall since its opening.

Marion Talley, Geraldine Farrar and the English Singers were enjoyed by Burlingtonians. We as students have been exceedingly fortunate in having such a progressive "alumnus" as Arthur Dow. He who is responsible for the appearance of such noted artists.

As juniors we published the 1930 Ariel to credit to the editors and business managers. This book dedicated to Cooperation will fulfill its mission of recalling the scenes and friendships of our college life. Junior Week with books closed temporarily and lessons forgotten assumed uninterrupted social festivities.

Now as grave and reverend seniors, smile we over the happy past. The senior year has been one of cooperation, a heightened Vermont spirit and loyalty and visions fulfilled. Undoubtedly it has been the best spent together as a class. But there is sadness with happiness too.

By the will of the late James Wilbur trustee and benefactor of the Uni-

Estabel Perelman
Named by her classmates the woman who has done the most for the class

Dorothy Gurney
Voted the most popular woman in the Class

some tangible object forever before him to better remind him of what ideal lies behind it, for what it stands.

Symbols have an important place in the life of man today. They are perhaps most noticeable in his religion but other symbols are not uncommon. Just as the cross is the symbol of Christianity, just as the lion is a token of courage, just as the dragon represents Satan, just as the palm branch is a sign of victory, just as the anchor stands for hope, to mention only a few of the more common symbols, so is the University of Vermont Boulder about which I speak today symbolic of the struggle and final rounding into shape of the student during the period of his stay here at the University.

The traditional Boulder which now rests on its pedestal in front of the Old Mill has a deeper meaning for the Vermont student than just the word itself. The significance or dynamic power of any symbol depends naturally upon the individual's knowledge of its history. The Boulder will acquire significance in proportion as its history which has been in the unconscious is brought more and more into consciousness. Let me give you a brief sketch of the history of this traditional stone as given in a last year's Cynic.

"When the Central Vermont Railroad was under construction in the year of 1848 at West Hartford, Vt., a pot-hole seventeen feet deep was disclosed in blasting. Side by side within this hole lay two granite boulders, having rested there for ages until the combined forces of Nature had ground them to a perfect [illegible] thought on closer examination these boulders of a different [illegible] than the surrounding [illegible] product of the [illegible]

"The blast having [illegible] marvel of Nature, the [illegible] appreciative of its value [illegible] boulders into a ditch among [illegible] rocks. Professor Hitchcock [illegible] mouth realizing their value [illegible] the more perfect of the two [illegible] intention of taking it to Dartmouth College. Professor Thayer [illegible] the Central Vermont [illegible] had it sent to Burlington [illegible] this University. After [illegible] ings about the campus, resting with another in front [illegible] the hill from the college [illegible] Boulder was finally brought [illegible] ently to rest on the [illegible] where it now stands."

Just as the Boulder has [illegible] formed rock, then swept [illegible] raging torrents which gave [illegible] little smoother is evidence [illegible] orating forces of Nature [illegible] student during his college [illegible] come a better-rounded, broader [illegible] individual than when he [illegible] University. College life does [illegible] student, in the words of [illegible] Buckham, one-time president [illegible] University, "what Nature does [illegible] original granite—that is, [illegible] shape,—well-rounded shape [illegible] —to transform what is [illegible] gular and fragmentary into the [illegible] which has been considered the [illegible] bol of perfection, the sphere. [illegible] the Boulder is a symbol of the progress that students make during [illegible] matriculation at the University of Vermont.

Big men have gone from the college on the hill,—statesmen, educators, business and professional men of whom the world has looked with pride; bigger men perhaps are to go. We hope so. But whether men whom the world will smile or men whose work will be overlooked, they must go with hallowed thoughts of the U. V. M., with a love for her traditions, memories, and standards, with a jealousy for her fame.

CLASS POEM

By Janice Goodrich

A little while, Vermont, a little while
Before the long awaited waking.
Oh, let us stir within our dreams and smile,
And drowse remembering, remembering.

There was a lake with little waves lying Toes pointed toward the mountains. Here we stood
And watched the sun go down, with streamers flying.
And saw the night come up behind the wood.

There was a tower raised upon a hill,
Watched by tall pines beneath the morning's blue;
And here we heard of wisdom, here we still
Shall come to find the thoughts our youth we knew.

A little while, Vermont, a little while
This wonder shall endure, then we must rise
And turn aside and cross the wishing stile,
With quiet eyes—with quiet eyes.

CAMPUS ORATION

By Robert P. Billings

Said Billings in part:

"It is not for me even to attempt to analyze what each one of us has found of value in his college years. But there is one thing which in the past has meant much to us and in the future will mean more and more. I speak of the friendships formed here.

"But I would speak rather of one thing which, as time goes on and memories fade will be left to remind us of Vermont. It is the campus as we are today. Four years ago we received our introduction to Vermont men in the fountain. Today we are saying goodby in a much more dignified manner, eminently befitting [illegible] there are few college campuses which can compare in beauty with this spot with its beautiful trees and shrubs, its winding walks and stately buildings will remain for us a memory of the spirit of Vermont.

"As we walk through [illegible] day we are too apt to disregard and leave unnoticed the things of beauty around us. Classes on these beautiful [illegible] we are much more likely to [illegible] on the earliness of the hour than are to consider the beauties around us. But to the visitor as he enters College Street this campus, [illegible] with his background of green and the majestic pile of the Old Mill library, and the spire of the church rising over the city offer a most inspiring sight. It is only after years that we can fully appreciate the beauties of this place where we have spent four years.

"There are many things which Vermont needs to permit her to take her rightful place among colleges [illegible]

"Don't Be a Snob," Advises Hart In Address at Commencement Exercises

Philadelphia Executive Names Characteristics Of "The Mature Person" In Powerful Oration Before Graduating Class Monday

Hugo Doak Hart, speaking on "The Mature Person" in the Commencement Address, said in part:

"I suppose you will be surprised when I tell you that I am not going to give you any advice. My theory is that no man should give advice until he is an absolute success himself, and I hold that no man may be considered an absolute success until he has been dead at least ten years, and posterity has had an opportunity to pass judgment on his career.

"Since I cannot, therefore, consistently give you any advice, I am going to do the next best thing, and talk about a very rare person whom I hope many of you will try to emulate. It is not a person of flesh and blood; it is a sort of composite character. Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, president of the University of Illinois, has referred to this individual as 'The Mature Person.' Doctor Chase has even gone so far as to predict that the Mature Person will be the standard by which men and women will be measured in future years.

"To understand maturity, we must first understand immaturity. Immaturity is the unripeness in men which gives rise to so much that is unwise in action. It would be hard to compute whether the world has suffered more of ill from the blunderings of well-meaning immaturity than from the machinations of designing malice. I am almost led to the conclusion that the most menacing dangers that confront society are those that originate from immaturity, and not those that arise from infamy.

"First, there is the Unsound Thinker. His opinions are based on prejudices, rather than on facts. He is content to rely on guesses instead of knowledge. He is quick to act without planning either the course or the consequences of his acts. It does not seem to matter where he goes. He becomes the apostle of half-baked schemes, the high priest of unsound panaceas, the irrepressible wizard of disaster. He has played a most important, though unfortunate rôle, this Unsound Thinker, in human history.

The Snob

"Let us now turn to a milder specimen of immaturity, the snob. He possesses immaturity in its lightest and most inexcusable form. Snobs are of two kinds. First, those who use their social or business positions to vaunt their imagined superiority over others; and, second, that far too numerous group, who ought to know better, the intellectual snobs.

"I have no patience with those who advise young men to become snobs in order to succeed. I doubt whether even such a valuable thing as success would be worth paying so great a price to obtain. But those who give that sort of counsel thereby demonstrate their unfamiliarity with the qualities of successful men. It is almost axiomatic in America that the bigger and more successful a man [illegible] the more modest he is in his pretensions, the more considerate he becomes in his attitude toward others.

"Intellectual snobbery evidences intellectual inferiority. Because the ripe an intellect becomes, the more conscious it is of its own limitations and accordingly the more considerate of the deficiencies of lesser minds. Only the immature mind computes its own worth by depreciating other minds. The mature mind gauges its scope and depth of the exercise of its functions, and does not design to pervert its thoughts to a contemptuous comparison with the limitations of competing minds.

"We may feel that snobbery is only a harmless, individual matter. It is more than that. It breeds schism between classes of people; it alienates one section of our country from another; it arouses resentments and evokes reprisals. Snobbery has been a contributing cause of more than one devastating war. We do not need vulgar familiarity or unwonted mingling of uncongenial types of people. We require a broad and sympathetic human understanding on the part of men of every class, for those of every other class.

The Extremist

"A third specimen of immaturity is the extremist. He bubbles with zeal; he pulsates with emotion; he gives off considerable heat but sheds very little light. He is of a lower order of intelligence even than the unsound thinker, but he can always attract a bizarre following from among those who constitute our lunatic fringe.

"We find him wherever enthusiasm is being tried out as a substitute for brains; where petulance is used for conviction; where violence is laid at the door of security, and fanaticism is seeking to lead captive the hosts of sanity. The extremist stirs up intolerance, fosters bigotry, and incites the spirit of the mob. He is the supreme advocate of the shortcut in the solution of problems. He never unlocks a door by turning the key—he must storm through with a battering ram.

"The fourth and last example of immaturity to which I shall allude is the man who scoffs at the things of the spirit. He recognizes no god save those of his own creation which he has set up in his life and worships in his own way. Let me cite two of these gods.

"First is the god of money. He measures all things in terms of money. He must have a bigger house or a bigger car because the Joneses have a bigger house or a bigger car.

"The other god that is set up is the god of intellect. There is a growing caste of so-called intellectuals who scoff at religion, who make sport of the flowering of human emotions, who would banish love and sentiment from the human heart. They would convert us all into thinking machines, hard and cold and calculating. They would rob life of its faith and its hope and its love, and in their places would substitute cynicism and despair and selfishness.

"Why is a man immature if he thinks unsoundly? In what way is the snob immature? The extremist? The man who scoffs at the things of spirit? Because they do not have wisdom, and wisdom is the preeminent characteristic of the mature person.

"The mature person neither places too high a value on himself nor too low a value. He appraises himself at his true worth.

"The mature person is always intellectually curious, he is always a seeker after truth. This seeker after truth carries the torch that lights the way for all the progress that men have ever made.

"I once thought that seeking after truth was an excellent intellectual pursuit for scholars, scientists, inventors and philosophers, but that it had no practical place in ordinary business affairs. I have come to know that seeking truth is one of the indispensable processes of modern business. One large American corporation alone employs four thousand people in research work, finding new facts that will help that concern to render a better service. No less a business authority than Mr. Owen D. Young, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company, has made the statement that the future prosperity of his gigantic corporation will depend upon the new things which his company discovers. It is fast becoming a recognized canon that investors in corporate shares should prefer the equities of those concerns which have the best organized research departments.

Poise

"Poise is another quality to be found in the Mature Person. Poise indicates a calm possession of faculties which events cannot ruffle. Hence the man of poise instinctively exercises an authority over others, for his very presence inspires confidence. Events do not remain placid in any human life. He lives from one great crisis to another. The man of poise possesses a crisis mind. He thus can meet these trying ordeals in his own life with equanimity, while the immature rises up a Babel all around him. If he be a leader of men he can guide his followers sanely through periods of national stress, moving serenely by right courses of action through the midst of turmoil, and avoiding error because outside circumstances are not permitted to mar his judgment.

"The Mature Person, then, has wisdom in that larger way which transcends mere knowledge. This wisdom is fundamentally a wisdom that contains a tremendous measure of common sense. Impracticability goes hand in hand with immaturity and has no place in the make-up of the Mature Person. Here is one of the complaints that is urged against college students. It is charged that they have lived so long in books that they have, as a class, grown theoretical; and that this has induced incapacity to deal with practical affairs. There is a considerable group—though I believe, a minority group—in the business world, who hold to this view of the college man's fitness for business. Moreover, many men on leaving college have an idea that their college background and training will enable them to start ahead of those who have not had college training. They are not as willing to start at the bottom and that is one of the causes of the prejudice against college men that sometimes exists among business men. This is one of those immaturities that obtains where there is a lack of common sense. It is of almost no importance how far down the ladder a young man starts on his career. To place the emphasis on the altitude at which a young man starts his career is silly. The only altitude that counts is that to which he finally ascends.

Diploma No Shortcut to Success

"Unfortunately, too many college men think that the possession of a college diploma gives them the right of way over the rest of their fellows in the world of business. What a disillusionment awaits those who enter business with that distorted view! Only can they rise by being willing to start at the bottom, and do drudgery—hard, grueling drudgery, drudgery that inures their spirit to the dignity of sustained toil, that grounds them in an elemental respect for the principle that life's rewards must be won by continuous effort and self-sacrifice. How simple it is to say this and yet how rare are those who follow this plan! What an opportunity for success and distinction a young man has, who is willing to adopt this program. If you doubt that this is so, consider the career of the man who today is president of the great National Biscuit Company. When he left Yale he went to work mixing dough and he kept it up until the weeks had extended into months and the months had expanded into years, and he had learned to mix dough with a technique that gained him distinction among the other dough mixers with whom he worked. If you doubt the soundness of this plan, go ask the former ice peddler, who sits in the President's cabinet, or talk with Frederick Ecker, president of the Metropolitan Life, who invests every day 10 per cent of all the money that must be reinvested in the United States—he who has trodden the long, toilsome, tortuous pathway to the heights.

"Having pointed out some of the characteristics of the mature person, as I conceive of him, the question that needs to be answered is, 'How may one attain maturity?' He who would become the Mature Person must commit his life to a program that contains three great processes. First, he must develop his powers, whether they be great or small, to the utmost of their possibilities. Second, he must bring those developed powers under the rigid discipline of an unwavering self-control. Third, he must utilize those developed and controlled powers in the most effective way for the largest good of humanity. This, then, is the formula by which we may build, not a superman, but something far more useful to himself and to society—a Mature Person."

MARIE FREEMAN
Permanent 1930 vice president

LAWRENCE CLAYTON
Permanent [illegible] vice president

PIPE ORATION

By Arthur D. Stearns

[illegible] there gathers upon the graduating class to smoke the pipe of Alma Mater this is traditional each year we spend a few moments looking back over our lives and a bit into the future. The pipe is symbolic of peace. It is the spirit of goodwill. In the rings of smoke cloud we cast ill will. Differences mean little as the pipe. Historically, it recalls days when the chief and his men gathered around the campfire in token of peace and,—in the curling rings of smoke, to revel in memories and to plan the coming of the morrow.

Now there is forming above us a smoke cloud and it is into the midst of this we plunge. What do we see? A glimpse of the past rises before our eyes. We perceive ourselves as mere youths in our play, at work and in preparatory school, and finally assembled in our Alma Mater. Suffice it to say briefly to state that we know of no better environment than four years at such a place and among such people as we have found us. But wait! The smoke cloud seems to change. There is a parting of the ways. The past slips away into memory and it is indeed a pleasant one. In consideration of the present we have only to glance about us at the happy faces—showing the peace that comes upon completion of an honest-to-goodness task. And now the future descends upon us with a bang.

Before we know it our smoke cloud has changed again and we are faced with the realities apart from the past. Our smoke cloud is now filled with dreams—building castles in the air. Life's vast problems are open to all of us and to each is offered health, happiness, and prosperity. It is easier said than done. Our smoke cloud gives us problems but the solution depends on fact. The things we may do in the future demand action, they demand the use of brain and hand, and they demand the constant application of all the training we have acquired in the past. The future is a broad field of possibilities. There are activities into which every man and woman here expects to enter and such success as may be obtained will bear directly upon his present conduct in the past.

The smoke cloud starts to thin—its dream possibilities lessen. Out of this mixture of thought in past, present and future we come upon two salient facts—one, that our Alma Mater has been a source of inspiration and the training period of our lives, and, secondly, that no matter what we may see in the days to come we will find it impossible to continue life without a thought now and then of our college on the hill.

HERRICK MACOMBER
Cum laude man, voted to have done the most for the college, the most brilliant and the most likely to succeed

ADDRESS TO UNDERGRADUATES

By Robert A. Lawrence

A body of students has a common duty to give of their best efforts to their University all that it can. It is responsibility which changes from year to year to a constantly changing group. Each in turn must carry on and then be succeeded by others. We are now leaving and I am sure we are leaving behind us a group well fitted to carry on.

The problems of student government have of late been particularly important. There is much to be done in the next few years in reorganizing our student activities. It has been said that the campus is over-organized. But in the final analysis it is clear that the trouble, if it exists, comes from lack of organization and lack of student support. There has been too little support given to student activities.

This is especially true of athletics. We are now in a critical period of our athletic history, and it is at this time that the greatest support is needed. An active demonstration of student support will send our teams into their contests with greater confidence and with a real incentive to give all they have.

In your campus relations there is a need for greater co-operation. Differences of opinion are natural, but they should not be allowed to interfere. Criticism is helpful, but it should not be so intensive as to blight incentive to action.

To the seniors, let us not forget as we leave here that we are of Vermont, that its interests will always be our own and that we should never cease to be loyal Vermonters.

To the undergraduates, may your campus life be marked by willing co-operation. May your thoughts ever be of Vermont.

IVY ORATION

By Mabel Freeman

Mabel Freeman, presiding over the planting of the class ivy, said in her oration:

"Since 1894 it has been our tradition for each graduating class to plant ivy under its numerals. This year the class of 1930 adds its small sprig. To-day it is small and weak, yet it is filled with hopes and promises of greater days to come and as it climbs upward, ever clinging to Vermont, it will gain in strength and beauty.

"This is merely an emblem of how we too shall grow, each clinging to the knowledge we have gained from our University. Four short years we have spent in learning all that Vermont can and does mean. But this is only a beginning. We must show in the future, results of our training which seems best explained in our Vermont Creed:

"'Vision to see aright the world's demands;
Enthusiasm not content with dreams;
Reserve to guard foundations with firm hands;
Mentality to judge between extremes;
Opportunity to those who do not shirk;
Normality to guide real honest work;
Tradition, all you mean to us, Vermont.'

"May our University, with its ivy-clad walls, ever be an inspiration for us, and may our ivy grow in strength and beauty, symbolic of our growth."

ADDRESS TO IRA ALLEN

By Robert M. Tracy

We, as the senior class of the University of Vermont, set apart this brief period to pay homage to Ira Allen, whose foresight made this institution an actuality. Like a father providing an education for a child, Allen conceived the plan of a university for an infant state.

Ira Allen must have been a lover of beauty and of nature. We may easily imagine him admiring the waters of our Champlain—now sparkling in the sunlight and then driven before the wind, beating its white-capped waves against the shore. When his gaze turned upwards he must have been inspired by the eternal vigilance of the Adirondacks in the west and Mansfield and the Hump in the east. It would be difficult to find a better location to educate and mold the character of Vermont's sons and daughters.

His life was marked by hard work and frustration of many of his plans. Within the state enemies beset him on all sides without, injustice seemed to follow his path, laying waste to a fortune so difficultly collected. In spite of adversity, Allen kept his eyes on a goal, and though it was not realized before he died, his faith in Vermont seems well founded with the progress of this University.

But we will not remember Allen as a disappointed old man—we shall think of him as a youth, characterized by his statue on our campus, full of hope and with his eyes set on a nearly impossible end. It would be well for us, as seniors going out into the world, to keep in mind Ira Allen as a model for our own lives.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY MARKS ANNOUNCEMENTS

(Continued from page 1)

Honors in Medicine

Cum Laude: Robert Alexander Contine, B.S., Allston Hazen Fogg, B.S., Philip Brock Daniels, B.S., Kendrick McCullough, Aaron Goldbaum, A.B.

Carbee Prize ($150), for greatest proficiency in the subject of Obstetrics, Philip Brock Daniels, B.S.

Woodbury Prizes in Medicine ($50), for greatest proficiency in Clinical Work in senior year, Philip Brock Daniels, B.S.

To sophomore having the highest standing for two years of Medical Work, Charles Henry Morhouse, Ph.B., M.S.

Department of Military Science

Honor Graduate, Herrick Mower Macomber.

The Surgeon General Prize, Lester Ernest Judd.

Awarded internship at Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D. C., Lester Ernest Judd.

The class of 1923 won the Governor McCullough cup for having the highest percentage of graduates present at the exercises. The class of 1870 was awarded honorable mention.

Betty thinks Einstein is one glass of beer.—Voo Doo.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATIONS REUNE TO ELECT, DINE AND TALK OF AFFAIRS

McSweeney Heads Medics And Fish Heads Aggies—Dr. Johnson, Dean Hills and Professor Thomas Prominent At Meetings

[illegible]

Hills Talks On College

[illegible]

A session of the evening was [illegible] F H Abbott, [illegible] chairman of the committee on arrangements for the meeting. The business was divided into two groups and speakers were asked to discuss the College of Agriculture [illegible] agricultural state council agent leader of the Extension service was the theme for presenting the facts on a number of questions.

Among the other speakers were Miss Nora C Austin '[illegible] Montpelier boys and girls 4-H Club leader of Washington county class of 1929 Roy S Best of Chester representing the class of 1930 and Vincent Allen '05 of Hoosick Falls N Y

H A Merrill of Essex Junction presided as toastmaster

[illegible] of the alumni associations are:

Medical alumni Dr H Walter Mitchell '96 of Warren Dr Fred vice-president Dr Charles F Buchanan '04 of Brattleboro secretary-treasurer Dr L A Wark of Barre third vice-president Dr Joseph Lawless of Rutland fourth vice-president Dr Charles Searle of Rutland fifth vice-president Dr Asa Meacham of St Albans sixth vice-president Dr P F Lawless '[illegible] of Rutland secretary-treasurer Dr F S Kent '19 of Burlington Dr G N Eastman '[illegible] Dr H A Lawler of Burlington members of the executive committee Dr David Marvin '[illegible] of Essex Junction Dr Edward A Tobin '[illegible] of North Bennington and Dr T S Brown of Burlington.

PHI BETA KAPPA ELECTS 16 MORE UNDERGRADS

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] members of the obituary committee Agricultural alumni Charlotte I Brooks '26 of Swanton secretary [illegible] Board of directors H A Merrill of Essex Junction K J [illegible] of Burlington L S Howe of Barre [illegible] and L H Marvin of Essex Junction.

Engineers Reune

Prof Lyle Thomas in an address at the engineering alumni banquet paid tribute to the memory of two members of the engineering faculty of the University of Vermont who died during the past year. They were Prof Edward Robinson and Prof Vollie Yates.

Other speakers were M C Robbins, '98 of New York City P J Carry, '01 New York City Harry Barker, '04, New York City F B Wright '05 New York City Prof A D Butterfield of the engineering faculty J P Kinney of Boston chairman of the board of directors of the Kinney Manufacturing Company of Boston and Robert M Catlin consulting engineer of the New Jersey Zinc Company.

Prof J W Votey dean of the engineering college presided.

Prexy Announces $400,000 In Gifts

[illegible] which, [illegible] $400 [illegible] One pledge of $100,000 has been [illegible] upon the raising of $[illegible] more before May 1931.

[illegible] were greeted with great enthusiasm by the [illegible] alumni gathered in the baseball [illegible] for the annual alumni luncheon.

R. A. LAWRENCE ELECTED 1930 CLASS PRESIDENT

The permanent class officers of the senior class are: President Robert A. Lawrence West Lebanon N H; vice-president Muriel Freeman Norristown, Pa secretary-treasurer Joyce Richmond Richmond [illegible] secretary, [illegible] to Clayton Bennington; [illegible] Charles Caplan Bellows Falls class marshal Robert P. Billings New Haven Conn and class representatives on the athletic council Harold M Macomber Burlington.

[illegible] and Partridge were assistant editors of the Cynic and served on the board as well. Waddell, Cohen and Rosenberg were prominent in the German Club Dean, Bostwick, Flint, [illegible] and Richardson in class athletics. Pratt Goodrow and Richardson in class activities. Top of the women belonged to sororities. Waddell and Goodrow to Pi Beta Phi, Bostwick and Richardson to Alpha Xi Delta, Susan and Harriet Howard to Sigma Gamma Cohen and Rosenberg to K E L. Flint to Kappa Alpha Theta, and Tracy to Kappa Delta.

At a meeting of the society on alumni day John E. Colburn, principal of Burlington High School, was reelected president. Other officers are: Vice-president, Prof. Wellington E. Aiken; corresponding secretary, Mrs Paul K. French; treasurer, Forrest W. Kehoe; register, Prof. H. F. Perkins.

Prof Bennett C Douglass, '08, was initiated as an alumni member. Professor Aiken presided in the absence of Mr Colburn, who was ill.

SPECTATORS PACK HALL AS 207 GET DEGREES

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] Multi-frequency Alternating Current Systems.

Agricultural Economics

[illegible] Post B.S. Vermont [illegible] Problems of Land [illegible] the Hill Towns of Vermont.

Teacher training certificates were awarded to:

[illegible] May Anderson North Craftsbury; Frances Willard Boyd, Washington; Evelyn Louisa Bullard, Marshfield; Elizabeth Frances Cameron, [illegible]; Hilda Electa Churchill, Brandon; Alma Lillian Mae Curtin, Enosburg Falls; Edith Luvee Farrand, Essex Junction; Dema Agnes Frechette, Richmond; Olive Gertrude Garfield, Waterbury; Florence Gertrude Greene, Burlington; Helen Lucile Harvey, Barre; Mazy Elizabeth Higgins, Springfield; Edith Florence Higgs, Barre; Ethel May Holmes, Essex Junction; Frances Etta Illingworth, Chester; Dorothy May Irish, Fairfax; Edith Ruth Kemp, Winooski; Geraldine Gustafson Gibby, Randolph Center; Alice Minnie Kinsley, East Fairfield; Mary Sabra Lamson, Williston; Ethel Leonard, North Pomfret; Hazel Mildred Leonard, Brandon; Frances Vivian McKenney, Winooski; Hazel Gertrude Malone, Port Henry, N. Y.; Matilda Lou Martin Burlington; Dorothy Elizabeth Miller, Topsham; Josephine Margaret Orizzonto, White River Junction; Anna Mae Agnes Orlowsky, Acushnet, Mass.; Alletah Edna Parmenter, Chester; Irene Marion Peoples, Windsor; Rena Evelyn Priest, Fairlee; Mildred Frances Reed, Winooski; Helen Gertrude Scannell Springfield, Mass.; Lucile Elizabeth Sweeney St. Albans; Helen Adah Tutt, Essex Junction; Roberta Waters Thayer, Wallingford; Marion Tower, Bennington Maude Abelene Webber, Woodbury.

"Peanuts are fattening."
"How'dayaknow?"
"Why, look at the elephant."

MASON S. STONE CHOSEN AS UNIVERSITY TRUSTEE

(Continued from page [illegible])

schools for Manila P[illegible] in 1901. He [illegible] superintendent of [illegible] Isles.

Mr Stone went abroad [illegible] was in war work during [illegible] served as lieutenant [illegible] ment during the two years [illegible] to 1921. Since that time he has [illegible] considerable travelling, spending a part of each year [illegible]

Members of the Board present at the meeting were [illegible] Roberts of Burlington; [illegible] Powers of Morrisville; [illegible] Chaffee of Rutland, Carl [illegible] of Cambridge, Mass., Charles Blair of New York, Percy P [illegible] of Beverly, Mass., Edwin W [illegible] of Rutland, Henry M [illegible] Hyde Park, Martin S Wing [illegible] ren R. Austin, both of Burlington C. Robbins of Brattleboro [illegible] York, Roy L. Patrick of [illegible] Clayton J. Wright of Wilmington, Edward H. Deavitt of Montpelier.

Members of the Board of [illegible] who were not able to be present the meeting were Darwin P. [illegible] of New York, who was ill [illegible] Foss of Boston, Mass.; R. [illegible] Whipple of Worcester, Mass.; Thomas C. Cheney of Manchester.

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most for the least food and music

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

GET YOUR FAVORITE MAGAZINE at ISHAM'S

HOME-MADE CANDIES SODAS

LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

The Old Bookstore
New Pastel Shades in Silk Hosiery
$1.50 pr.
Chiffon weight, rose, pink and other pastel colors.

. . they shall not have our Pipes!

PIPES and pants are masculine prerogatives that defend themselves and us. Where else could men find sanctuary?

Pipes, stout pipes, and packings of good old Edgeworth—what perfect expression of man's inviolable right of refuge with other men behind barriers of redolent smoke!

Tobacco with the whiskers on, that's what man wants—good old seasoned pipe-tobacco, the best of the leaf, all blended and flavored and mellowed . . . Edgeworth, in short.

You don't know Edgeworth? Then no time must be lost. Buy Edgeworth or borrow it, or let us send you some. There below is even a coupon, a free ticket for your first few pipefuls of the genuine.

Send us the coupon and we'll send you the Edgeworth.

Edgeworth is a careful blend of good tobaccos—selected especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere—"Ready Rubbed" and "Plug Slice"—15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.

Edgeworth
SMOKING TOBACCO

LARUS & BRO. CO.
100 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.
I'll try your Edgeworth. And I'll try it in a good pipe.
Name _____
Street _____
Town and State _____
Now let the Edgeworth come!

Before you leave college this year why not select a good
VERMONT BANNER PILLOW TOP or TABLE COVER?
We can furnish many styles and sizes
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts. Phone 629

SUMMER SPORTS
Equipment
For the Golfer
Fisherman
Tennis Player
and all other Sports
L. P. WOOD
Sporting Goods Store
78 CHURCH STREET
BURLINGTON, VT.

MALLORY HATS
Spring and Summer University Styles
made to your individual taste—at reduced prices.
SEE "BUDDY" GORMAN
ZETA CHI HOUSE, OR SOUTH CONVERSE HALL

FORDHAM LAW SCHOOL
Woolworth Building
New York
CO-EDUCATIONAL
CASE SYSTEM
THREE-YEAR COURSE
TWO YEARS OF COLLEGE WORK REQUIRED FOR ADMISSION
Morning, Afternoon and Evening Classes
WRITE FOR CATALOGUE
CHARLES P. DAVIS, Registrar

SENIOR CAPS and GOWNS
at the
Medical Book Store
RATES
$3.00 from April 10 to April 26
$3.50 after April 26
Cannot guarantee to fill orders after June 1

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 40 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1930 — NUMBER 61

GOLD KEY DEBATES ON FRESHMAN RULES AT '34 V. C. A. CAMP AT ABNAKI

Christian Association Sponsors Discussion Between Massuco and LaCrosse Before Freshman Class

NEWCOMERS HEAR OF UNIVERSITY ACTIVITIES

Annual camp sponsored by the University Christian Association, the Freshman Camp at Abnaki, Vt., this year welcomed some thirty freshmen for a period of recreation, upperclassmen and members of the faculty addresses. Dean Everett Swift, Prof. G. Dykhuizen, Prof. A. R. Gifford and Mr. M. D. Powers were on the opening evening, Friday, September 12. The greater part of the program occurred the following day.

Debating Rules

A debate was held on freshman hazing in which F. J. Massuco, '33, vice-president of Gold Key, the sophomore honorary society, and Paul LaCrosse, '32, of the junior varsity debating team were the chief contenders. Massuco insisted that the freshman rules should be vigorously enforced this year. He said that Boulder Society promised to lift the freshman rules a mid-years if the freshmen observed them well. Complaining because the rules as drawn up by Boulder, were not published in the Freshman Handbook Massuco proceeded to read the rules.

LaCrosse said that last year the rules were not enforced and that, especially in the latter part of the year, the freshmen themselves did not obey any of the rules. They even did away with the traditional green and gold caps. He explained that the chief reason why the freshmen were able to do this was because the upperclassmen were not in favor of keeping the rules.

The Mass Meeting

Massuco explained that at the mass meeting of the student body called by Student Senate last spring in opposition to CYNIC policy, a vote was taken concerning the rules, and that at that time by unanimous vote it was determined that all the extreme freshman rules should be kept. Louis Cohen, editor of the CYNIC, being present at the camp, explained that the vote in favor of the rules was not unanimous inasmuch as 150 of his friends who attended the mass meeting did not vote for the rules. He stated further that the purpose for which the mass meeting was held was not announced before the assembly so that the students could have had something beforehand why the meeting was called, although there

(Continued on page 3)

UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR PUBLISHES PLANT BOOK

Prof. B. F. Lutman, professor of plant pathology at the University of Vermont, recently published a book, "Microbiology." McGraw-Hill Book Company of New York were the publishers. In it he presents the morphological characters, the physiological activities, and the practical importance of microorganisms, by the discussion of a few "type" species.

SUMMER ENROLLMENT NEARS LIMIT AS OVER 950 STUDENTS ENTER

University Summer Session Registers Residents Of Many States —Season Is Busy One At Vermont

Enrollments came close to the 1,000 limit established by the administration in the last summer session of the University. Over 950 students enrolled, twenty-two states and three foreign countries being represented in the student body.

Actual count showed more students from New York than from any other state except Vermont. Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey were next in rank, all furnishing more than 50 students.

According to preliminary figures, the states were represented as follows:

The list of states represented and the number of students from each, follows: Vermont, 481; New York, 119; Massachusetts, 68; Connecticut, 61; New Jersey, 54; Pennsylvania, 45; New Hampshire, 34; Maine, 17; District of Columbia, 13; Ohio, 11; Michigan, 8; Maryland, 7; Nebraska, Rhode Island, Virginia, Minnesota, three each; Province of Quebec, Delaware, two each; Illinois, California, Tennessee, Florida, Indiana, China, and Japan, one each. The enrollment of the school continued to increase after the preliminary count until there was serious danger that the limit might be reached.

Features of the session were the morning assemblies addressed by prominent members of the faculty, the week-end excursions, the daily Summer Session Campus—probably the only publication of the kind in the country,- the contest sponsored by the music units of the Session, the exhibition by the art students, the presentation of three plays by the drama classes, a debate between varsity orators of the regular session and a Summer Session baseball team.

A large number of courses of considerable variety was offered, professors being drawn from various Eastern colleges and schools, as well as from Vermont. Prof B. C. Douglass, of the department of education, served again as director.

MEN'S SOCIETIES TRAIL SORORITIES IN SECOND SEMESTER'S RANKINGS

Scholarship Honors Conceded To Women—Sigma Gamma And Delta Psi Take Leaders' Positions

LOCALS AND NATIONALS MAKE EQUAL RATINGS

Ratings released by the registrar's office, based on grades for the second semester of last year, again show the seven women's sororities ranked ahead of the thirteen men's fraternities. Although the previous semester two men's societies ranked with one or more of the sororities, the women this time made a complete sweep of all scholastic honors with every sorority ranking ahead of the fraternities.

Although two local organizations, Sigma Gamma and Delta Psi, ranked first, respectively, among women and men, no marked superiority was shown by either locals or nationals. Other locals ranked in fifth place among the women's societies, and in third, ninth and twelfth places among the men's.

Nationals' Leaders

The leaders among the men's nationals are Phi Mu Delta, Sigma Phi and Phi Sigma Delta; and the women's nationals, Alpha Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Xi Delta.

The sororities ranked as follows: Sigma Gamma, Alpha Chi Omega, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Xi Delta, Kappa Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta.

The standing of the men's fraternities was: Delta Psi, Phi Mu Delta, Sigma Delta, Sigma Phi, Phi Sigma Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, Alpha Tau Omega, Lambda Iota, Tau Epsilon Phi, Sigma Nu, Zeta Chi, Phi Delta Theta.

The lists are characterized by many changes since that of the first semester for the year 1929-30. Alpha Chi Omega advances from third place to second among the sororities, Pi Beta Phi from fifth to third, and Kappa Delta from seventh to fifth.

Among the men, Delta Psi, the leader, has risen one place; Phi Mu Delta goes from fifth to second, leading the men's nationals. Phi Sigma Delta rises from seventh to fifth, going to third among the nationals, while Kappa Sigma advances from

(Continued on page 4)

V. C. A. SEEKS STUDENT SLANT ON MOUNTAIN DAY

Vermont students are being asked by the University Christian Association to signify whether or not they wish Mountain Day to be held this year. Sheets have been posted on the bulletin boards and passed around the fraternity houses in order to give all students who would like to climb Mount Mansfield the opportunity to express their desire to do so.

If enough interest is shown in Mountain Day, classes will be omitted on October 4 and busses will carry the students to the foot of Mount Mansfield, from which they will climb to the summit.

Mountain Day has been held regularly in the past but during the last three years, due to the disorganization of the Outing Club which formerly sponsored the occasion, the hike up the mountain has not been taken. The Vermont Christian Associations have taken the matter of Mountain Day over, and if enough evidence is shown in Mountain Day this year, the Associations will put the matter through.

Mount Mansfield is the highest mountain in Vermont. In elevation it is 4,393 feet. The summit of the mountain is a knife-edge formation and is owned by the University of Vermont. For the reason that the University of Vermont does own the summit, it is known as the back campus of the University.

The cost of the trip will be about $1.00 for transportation. The Vermont Christian Associations will furnish guides, and coffee at noon.

Every student who is interested in climbing Mount Mansfield should sign the sheets posted in the bulletin boards and dormitories. The sheets will be gathered on Thursday of this week.

Prexy Stresses Loyalties, Conservatism, To Freshmen

President Bailey, In Opening Address, Calls On Freshman Class To Live Its College Days So That The Memories of Them Will Be An Inspiration To Others

SCHOLASTIC HONOR LIST SHOWS 36 HIGH RANKING STUDENTS IN '32 AND '33

Two Attain All A Record—Freshmen Make More High Grades Than Sophomores

Although only two students in last year's freshman class and none in the sophomore class are listed on the General High Standing List for the last semester as having received no grade below A, twenty other freshmen and fourteen sophomores placed on the list with no grade below B. Only freshmen and sophomores may be included in the list.

Sylvia Boyd of West Newton, Mass. and F. B. Drew of Randolph, both of the class of 1933, earned no grade below A.

Also included in the lists are:

Class of 1932

S. B. Barker of Montclair, N. J., Edna M. Blackwood of Grand Isle, C. K. Bush of Sheldon, Natalie E. Carleton of Burlington, A. O. Eaton of Worcester, Mass., F. W. Householder of Burlington, Crystal M. Lawes of Ossining, N. Y., G. A. McIntyre of Burlington, Elizabeth E. Mosher of North Bennington, C. L. Park, Jr., of Grafton, D. K. Parker of Essex Junction, Roberta F. Powers of Morrisville, Eleanor E. Smith of Suffield, Conn., H. I. Varney of Bristol.

Class of 1933

M. L. Bergman of Burlington, Pauline E. Bigelow of Bellows Falls, Ethel C. Bishop of Springfield, W. W. Bryan of Montpelier, Norma B. Carder of Newport, R. F. Colburn of Burlington, E. A. Dame of Champlain, N. Y., R. M. P. Donaghy of Northfield, Elizabeth Eckhard of Burlington, Leah E. Gowen of Milton, Mildred A. Hastings of St. Johnsbury, Dorothy C. Jackman of East Corinth, Grace E. Johnson of Swanton, Priscilla R. Perry of Springfield, E. J. Swinyer of Burlington, Caroline Taft of Wallingford, Isabel Torrens of Montclair, N. J., Margaret Tower of Burlington, and L. L. Woodward of Richford.

No prominent athletes are included in these lists but several are outstanding in various activities. Barker is a member of Key and Serpent and is secretary of Grey Friars. Eaton is president of the Junior class, vice president of Key and Serpent, a news editor on the CYNIC and assistant football manager; Householder is also a news editor on the CYNIC is a Grey Friar and is assistant eligibility man

(Continued on page 4)

MANY IMPROVEMENTS IN U. V. M. BUILDINGS

Returning students this fall have found extensive improvements made in the University buildings, chief among them the widening of the corridor throught the Book Store and Coffee Corner and the redecoration of the walls and woodwork in the Old Mill.

The Dean of Women has a private office in the Old Mill which has been partitioned off from the room used last year. A number of changes in the ceiling, walls and floor of the typewriting room have also been effected.

In the Billings Library the librarian's office has been enclosed with glass partitions separating it from the rest of the library, giving the librarian and assistants more privacy than previously.

At the Medical College building, a new room has been prepared on the east end of the third floor for the anatomical department.

At the Campus House, a new shower bath room has been finished. Redstone has a refinished parlor and reception room, with hardwood floor and refinished walls and ceiling. The exterior of Robinson Hall has been repainted.

UNIVERSITY OBSERVES ITS 140TH OPENING

With little ceremony the University of Vermont last Wednesday celebrated the opening of its one hundred fortieth year.

President Guy W. Bailey, speaking in honor of the occasion in the Ira Allen chapel, stressed the necessity of living up to college standards, the cultivation of loyalties and conservatism. Addressing the freshmen he wished them many pleasant memories of their four years' stay at Vermont. "May there be many worthwhile memories created during your four years' sojourn with us," he said; "may your record here be an inspiration to those who follow in your footsteps in the pursuit of knowledge."

President Bailey said in part:

"On a well traveled highway that runs through one of the older towns of the state there still stands what was once a substantial farmer's home. This house is now unoccupied. The shingles are gone from the roof and the ridge piece has sunk and rotted under the weight of many snows. The clapboards are weather beaten, and the chimney has toppled. The windows have long since been broken, admitting wind and rain. It is in a dilapidated condition within as it is without. A few scattered rose and lilac bushes and clusters of phlox and variegated pinks bloom in the dooryard. And this pitiable semblance was once a home.

"This house was built upon a hill. Across the valley at its foot, toward the west, rise ridge after ridge of mountains, and in the far distance towers a peak that is grander than all the rest. On this sightly spot, as I have said, was once a home. I shall not tell you where is this bygone home, but everyone of you who knows Vermont can visualize in some locality such a scene.

Memories

"If you were to ask me to tell you what of value was left of that home, I would answer that there is something left that cannot be measured in terms of money and that is the hallowed memory of the lives that have been lived there, an intangible thing which, as it so often the case, vastly outweighs that which is tangible.

"Every human experience in some form or other has been met under that roof: sickness and death, happiness and success, each in its turn. If search were made for some one who intimately knew that home and its generations of occupants, the quest would probably be made in vain. Yet in some far off city there may be some one in whose heart the old home is enshrined and in whose memory the days of yore still linger.

"From that home may have gone out one who has risen high in his chosen vocation who still cherishes his boyhood memories amidst the city's bustle and din. The mental image of each chair, each picture, each room, will abide with him as long as life lasts.

"'Time,' it is said 'devours the proudest human memorial.' Time and weather have laid low many such homes, but they cannot destroy the memories associated with them. The soul of the home lives. As Wordsworth says, 'When the stream which overflowed the soul was passed away, a consciousness remained that it had left deposited upon the silent shore of memory images and precious thoughts that shall not die and cannot be destroyed.' Wordsworth's portrayal of 'the silent shore of memory' is such as to fill the reader with a reverence that is akin to awe.

"Without memories, life would be meaningless. The careers of the founders of the Republic, of the builders of the Union, of the leaders in science, invention and achievement, in religious and social reform, furnish us mental pictures that will long be remembered.

"In 1826 a young man fifteen years of age sought employment as an apprentice printer in the office of the newspaper known as the Northern Spectator at East Poultney, Vermont. He received his board and clothes as

(Continued on page 6)

Lowerclass Rivalry Reaches Climax As Sophomores Win Fountain Fight

Freshman and sophomores who have not yet outgrown their high school days furnished spectators considerable amusement with interclass scraps for several days before the opening of college. Freshman hazing reached after informal stunts downtown with a street battle last Wednesday night provoked by the sophomores in which boiled potatoes were fired at the neophytes.

Sophomores Thursday afternoon and several groups of freshmen in turn and that evening, although outnumbered defeated the new men 27-25 in the Boulder decision in the annual scrap fight which is not sanctioned by the University authorities but was traditional with the student body.

Boiled Potatoes

"Rah, Rah! the gangs all here," was the cry by the freshmen as they marched down College street unwary of the fact that they were soon to be met with a shower of boiled potatoes fired by their adversaries from the recess of a dark alley.

The freshmen surprised by the flank attack dodged the potatoes and then charged the rush of their opponents. Groups of four to six scrappers tangled on the College street pavement for five minutes.

Then the contestants, as if by previous understanding, took a brief recess and repaired to City Hall Park, where the wrestlers resumed action on the softer greensward.

Soon the fountain in the park was put to good use and a dozen or two from both classes were thrown in. As suddenly as it had started, the fray ceased, the freshmen formed their lines again and swung up Church Street singing "Hail, Hail."

(Continued on page 5)

DARTMOUTH STUDENTS ABOLISH FROSH HAZING

HANOVER, N. H., September 18, AP. Hazing of freshmen at Dartmouth was forbidden today by the student governing body. The edict abolished the traditional paddling of the first year men and the various all night stunts which sophomores previously have required of them. Hazing had been gradually dying out here during recent years but this will be the first freshman class in many generations which has escaped entirely this rigorous or humorous introduction to college life. The move was supported by The Dartmouth, daily undergraduate newspaper. Today was the first of the new college year.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

STILLART S. CURRIN '31
Business Manager

Desmond W. Cobb '32 Joseph C. Carson, '31 Allen O. Eaton, '32 Fred W. Householder, '32

Editorial Associates
Elsmere A. Germain, '31

Assistant Editors
E. L. Bigelow, '32 M. J. Shaw, '33 S. S. Spicer, '33
D. B. Drew, '32 J. C. Shaw, '33 T. T. Taylor, '33
A. Katz, '32 C. N. Wormelle, '33

Assistant Sports Editors
J. S. Lewis, '32 A. A. Morrison, '32 F. Tupper, '32

Assistant Editors
T. B. Parsons, '32 C. M. Fessenden, '31 E. W. Ryan, '31

Women's Associate Editor
Estelle Ross, '31

Harriet Wright, '31
Women's Athletic Editor

Gladys Press, '31
Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Editors
Mildred Cole, '32 Babette Harlowe, '32 Margaret Mower, '32
Helen LaRocca, '32 Margaret Ann Martin, '32 Hope Rawlow, '32
Winifred Stone, '31

Advertising Manager
F. Stanley Smith, '31

Assistant Business Managers
H. B. Trace, '32 G. E. Wilder, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Founded in 1895. Published every Tuesday and Friday noon during the college year.
Alumni and undergraduates are heartily invited to contribute. All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday.
All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House; all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 412, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926.

Office of Publication: Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 68 September 24, 1930 No. 61

MAY YOUR MEMORIES BE PLEASANT

"A university is a creator of memories, for the most part pleasant ones, we hope. The richer the memories, the stronger the glamour. May there be many worthwhile memories created during your four years' sojourning with us, that your record here be an inspiration to those who follow in your footsteps in the pursuit of knowledge."

We trust that the freshmen of our University, the men and women who have now begun where so many others have begun before them and have passed ahead, will not disappoint our President's hope that their memories may be an inspiration to those who will follow them as proud as we. We trust that they will so live their lives here that their recollections will have no cause to regret any part of them, and after a four years' stay will bring away the pleasantest of memories.

Should one seek advice on how to live the happy life, he will find it aplenty. But we commend to him the unhackneyed words of our President in his address to the incoming class. We commend to him the necessity of living up to the standards of the University, of preserving its fundamentals and maintaining a tradition of conservatism, of cultivating a loyalty to the University, and of recognizing his obligations to it.

Were we to choose the most important of these strictures, we should without hesitation name the last, because it is so rarely stressed. We are glad that it was recognized in the presidential address and we would emphasize it even more.

It were folly to attempt a catalogue of one's obligations to his university at the end of his four years' stay. That they are considerable we all know. That they are not always repaid, we also know. We suggest that these obligations can be repaid by the student pursuit, by knowing, through a high standard of both academic and extra-curricular work, that he appreciates the opportunities and advantages afforded him by the University; in part, by living his life after college in such a way as to reflect credit upon his University; in part, by remaining forever loyal to her and affording her ready aid whenever she seems to have need of it.

Just how to set forth to maintain the importance of living up to standards is a most puzzling consideration.

Let the student know at the outset that the standards of Vermont are of the highest. There never will be any necessity for him to live down to them, so in maintaining them he will always need to be striving upward.

As important as maintaining standards is the maintaining of fundamentals. To assail the foundations means the destruction of the structure. We take the opportunity here to endorse our President's words when he said, "The course of Vermont . . . . should continue to progress along safe and conservative paths, should be guided by the honest light of reason and not by the will o' the wisp of untried theory."

This does not, of course, mean that Vermont is an institution of hide-bound reaction. It never has been and it never will be. It should be borne in mind that Vermont was the first institution ever to permit a woman to acquire Phi Beta Kappa honors, and that at a time when the prejudice against higher education for women was still overwhelming, and that Vermont has also been a pioneer and an experimenter in many an academic field. The course of this University has always been progressive, but from the fundamentals of this policy it has never swerved and has a right to demand that its students take a page from its own experience of conservative progress.

On behalf of the student body we welcome the class of 1934. Again we repeat: "A university is a creator of memories. . . . May your record here be an inspiration . . . ."

A Student-at-Large

[illegible] Dean E. Swift, at Freshman Camp [illegible] that freshman hazing is a relic of barbarism and that as such, it is failing by the wayside. He told the frosh that they would not be seriously afflicted with [illegible] hazing. Dean Swift was only describing the situation as it exists at Vermont. Hazing is dying out at all the American colleges and it is gratifying to see that U. V. M. is not behind the mark in this respect.

It is a very easy matter to note the lack of interest in the rules and hazing among the students here. Gold Key has been attempting to coerce the frosh into the blind acceptance of all that is traditional at Vermont but their efforts are half hearted and are only a gesture of display. Last Sunday, a host of frosh wore no hats and none of the upperclassmen who saw them got very excited over it. Unless hazing and the enforcement of the rules are spontaneous and arise of themselves among the upperclassmen, they are artificial and mean nothing.

Boulder should be commended, when at the Mixer, a representative of the senior honorary expressed the desire that Vermont's new men would be loyal to the University and its traditions and that a fine comradeship would develop among the members of the class. There is, however, little necessity for covering the facts. Of course, all true Vermont men earnestly desire that the University be respected and loved. The traditions too should find a place in the history of the institution. But that the traditions should be elevated to the position of deity and worshipped is entirely a different matter. The majority of the students respect all the traditions of Vermont, but only a small minority of them adhere to the belief that traditions come before human values. There are times when one must select between what is for the best and for the wrong. It is nonsense and folly to cling rigidly to all traditions just because they are traditions.

Besides, the huge size of the freshman class compels the student leaders to assume a responsibility toward his fellows, which did not exist when freshman classes were small. When 200 frosh attack 200 sophs, in a rush it is not the same matter as when only 50 or 60 in all engaged in the fray. Large classes are unwieldy and difficult to manage. Accidents are more likely to occur and do occur. This year, as the result of hazing and horse play among the two lower classes at Vermont, one man was very seriously injured. Do students come to Vermont to have bones broken? Must class spirit be developed by injuring one's fellows? Freshman and sophomore classes are too large nowadays to permit much hazing of the freshmen to be tolerated. Hazing and rules should be administered with restraint and, above all, with comradeship.

During the last few years, all the R. O. T. C. students at Vermont have been compelled to spend a sum averaging about $30.00 for uniforms and shoes. It is difficult to understand why the great and wealthy United States government doesn't pay for its arms when it wants one. Students generally do not come to Vermont to study military primarily and spending even such a sum as $30.00 means a huge sacrifice to them. Students least of all are able to pay such amounts for such objects. Friday morning reviews could just as well be held with the fellows in civilian outfits as not. If the government is unwilling to forward a uniform to any student, who gives up several hundred hours of his time for military training, then in consideration for the students time and effort, it should not require the student to purchase a uniform which he wears only an hour a week anyhow.

Certain claims are make that this most considerate government of ours does remit the amount forwarded by the students for the uniforms in yearly instalments. Ask any upperclassmen about this matter. Most students who buy the uniforms are compelled to lose several dollars as the result of the transaction. Very few can secure the total amount they have paid out back.

Perhaps, military training could not possibly be as beneficial without the Friday morning exercises in uniform. With such a likelihood, could we suggest to the University that they take over the sale of the uniforms themselves, and of the shoes too. We do not know, but very likely a saving could be made for the students. The army shoes which the cadets must sport around are $4.50 where the cadets are told to buy them, while at another shoe store in town the same shoe sells for nearly half the price. Students who give up hundreds of hours of their time for military should not be robbed at least by the Uncle Sam they are supposed to serve.

The lack of excessive interest in varsity athletics at Vermont may very likely be attributed to the increasing activities of the intellectual organizations on the campus. Some may bewail this condition, but others have every reason to rejoice. Sound body must also have sound mind. Varsity athletics may make the participants physically exhausted but intense intellectual activity is healthy and can have only beneficial results. It may be as well if here at Vermont we do not spend all of our time on the athletic field.

THE FORUM

Dartmouth Abolishes Hazing

The [illegible] has long advocated the abolition of a period of treating students like men instead of boys. The Dartmouth High School has reached a stage of development where there is gratifying absence of rough business in the guise of sport and we are pleased to note the action [illegible] is yesterday's telegraphic news that the student governing body at Dartmouth has now adopted a rule prohibiting the hazing of freshmen. The statement continued:

Hazing had been gradually dying out of late in recent years, but this will be the first freshman class in many generations which has escaped this ominous introduction to college life. The move was supported by The Dartmouth daily undergraduate newspaper.

Dartmouth is to be congratulated on this new evidence of progress. The students there evidently believe it is better to put superfluous physical energy into turning out winning teams in football and other athletic fields than to waste it on the desert air of near-rowdyism in the name of college spirit. We commend this wholesome example to all Vermont institutions.—Burlington Free Press, September 20.

Last week The Inquiring Reporter went extensively into Freshman Initiation as other colleges see it. By special communication permission has been secured to publish the testimonies of the prominent college authorities below. These statements were released to the Bates Student.

Professor C. C. Pratt of the Psychological Laboratory of Harvard declares, "If you want my frank opinion I must confess that the whole procedure of initiation of freshmen at Bates strikes me as ridiculous.

"Please do not think that I disapprove of the pranks and hell-raising of undergraduates, but to organize them meticulously and rigidly as the means by which freshmen must be introduced to college life is most decidedly in this day and generation an anachorism. To assume that a lot of silly, horse play is going to make him more keenly sensitive to college traditions is fantastic to say the least....."

Dartmouth's Student Council president, John French, Jr., concludes, "In the last analysis every college has to settle its own problem for itself. I personally think most country colleges are rather slow in getting rid of these outworn relics of a past generation. I think a more mature and more cosmopolitan attitude is creeping into the colleges which will mean the end of the more asinine forms of horse play, such as freshman initiations."

H. L. Agard, Director of Admissions at Williams, states: "I should regard the new freshman as an immigrant, who is to be made into a useful citizen of his new country as rapidly as possible. He needs to be taught the ropes, but does not need the traditional assistance on the rope's end. In other words, any form of hazing by the sophomores is distinctly out of place, and accomplishes no useful result....It has been my observation that freshmen are naturally neither belligerent nor obstreperous, and respond much better to education than to intimidation. They welcome information regarding their new environment and normally are quite willing to fit themselves into the niches prepared for them. I should suppose that the upperclassmen would be interested in making the freshman's acquaintance, and in acquainting him with various phases of campus life....."

President Moody of Middlebury writes, "If the college man is a sportsman, a gentleman or a Christian, and I do not use these terms unthinkingly, his attitude toward the underclassman will be at all times courteous, fraternal and friendly. If he is a sportsman with the truest instincts of sport he cannot countenance hazing, nor can he if he is a gentleman or a Christian.

"My own conviction is that no freshman could be told to so conduct himself as to merit sportsmanlike treatment from the sophomores as to do nothing to provoke criticism, not to violate the traditions of the college and that he should at all times be animated by the principles and rules of sportsmanship."

Dr. Dexter L. Kimball, Dean of the College of Engineering of Cornell University, observes, "The freshman is not expected to wear a distinctive cap, hazing or any personal interference with the liberty of freshmen is not tolerated here at Cornell. There are certain restrictions in regard to attendance at athletic performances, but for the most part, as I say, these restrictions are minor and a freshman on the campus at least, now has a good deal of liberty."

President Hopkins of Williams writes, "...So long as we retain the older methods of initiation of freshmen into college life, there [illegible] upperclassman who participates in it has only the alternatives of demonstrating himself as a bully on the one hand or as a good deal of a fool on the other..."

Professor Langfeld, Director of Psychology and former Dean of freshmen at Princeton says, "I suppose the argument has always been that such (Bates) treatment makes the freshmen and brings them more quickly to realize the proper college spirit. The effect, however, is just the opposite. The sophomores and other upperclassmen, who design [illegible] and enforce the rules, show by many high school manner of expression and their silly behavior that they have in no way profited by the so-called discipline which was inflicted upon them during their freshman year.

"The crux of the matter is that we cannot make men of students by treating them like children and [illegible] them a reprehensible example."

Bits of Bunk

What a feat [illegible] said the man as he finally [illegible] ten eighteens on.

"I'll take you up on that," pointing to the Ferris W[illegible].

When did you find your husband was [illegible] tally?"

"When he shook the [illegible] began feeling around in the [illegible] apples."—Octagon.

Professor: And have I [illegible] self plain?

Voice from rear of [illegible]: God did that.

"I've got a Sherlock Holmes [illegible] lisped Lily.

"What sort of tooth is that?"

"Sleuth."—Colorado Dail[illegible]

A. Why does a dog [illegible] tongue when running?

B: To balance his tail.—Log.

M. S. and T.—"Is your [illegible] studying as usual?"

R. O. T. C.—"Yes, sir."

M. S. and T.—"Then wake him, will you."

"Can you define matrimony?"

"Yes. You go to adore [illegible] belle; you give your name to a [illegible] and you are taken in."

An oldtimer is one who can remember when the little red [illegible] turned out more statesmen than football stars.

Betty: I don't like Bob.
Nettie: Why?
Betty: He knows the dirtiest [illegible]
Nettie: What, does he sing [illegible] you?
Betty: No, he just whistles the tunes.

Butler, rushing into the [illegible] room: "Pardon, sir, but there's a burglar in the house."

The height of nonchalance: To him I will see him in the [illegible] after dinner.

Transatlantic Pilot: If the [illegible] stowaway doesn't show up pretty soon I'll have to go without him.—Blue Jay.

He: You know I do right well write to my folks once a day.

She: I didn't know you were home that often.—Texas Ranger.

Mon—"I say old man why are you washing your spoon in the [illegible] bowl?"

Ocie—"Do you think I want to get egg in my vest pocket?"

Johnny, Jr.: Paw, why was Adam created first?

Johnny, Sr.: To give him a chance to say something!—Illinois Siren.

Officers of Official Student Organizations, 1930-31

... in this issue publishes a complete list ... all officers of stu... organizations which draw their membership from men ... Com... body ...

Alpha Zeta

... agricultural so... elected annually by ... of society.
... F. E. Blanchard, '31
... C. W. Tilley, '32
C. E. Wright, '32
W. H. Martin, '31

1932 Ariel

... yearbook, editor and busi... elected annually by ... of junior class; women's ... board appointed by ... business manager; women's ... ted by women's editor.
...R. W. Cobb, '32
... editor J. W. Marvin, '32
... manager
G. E. Wilder, '32
... editor
Roberta Powers, '32

Baseball

... In all sports captain ... a plurality vote of team; ... and assistant managers by ... manager, head coach ... successful candidate for ... coming freshman manager.
E. L. Traynor, '32
... manager..S. S. Corbin, '31
... managers
R. W. Cobb, '32
W. E. Morgan, '32
R. L. Morse, '32
... manager R. E. Tobin, '31

Basketball

... W. M. Sargent, '31
... manager
C. N. Crockett, '31
... managers
B. G. Bowles, '32
M. H. Grower, '32
E. L. Meehan, '32
G. E. Wilder, '32
... manager
E. J. Grant, '32

Boulder

... society; officers elected at ... of one month by plurality ... society, except secretary-trea... is elected for full year; ... elected by outgoing society.
... F. A. McBride, '31
... secretary-treasurer
H. R. Mattison, '31

Classes

... are elected annually by each ... plurality vote

1931

... R. W. Worrell
... Helen Taylor
Caroline Whitney
... S. S. Corbin
... tatives on Faculty...
... Council...F. A. Bolles
...

1932

... A. O. Eaton
... Olive Fields
... Katrina Munn
... C. Rutkowski
... tatives on Faculty...
... Council...H. M. Albert
P. E. Westin
M. B. Morrill
Charlotte Carpenter
Lillian Mount

1933

... T. F. Collins
... Shirley Nichols
Margaret Wharton
... W. C. Cronin

Cynic

... dent publication.
... chief and managing edi... annually by vote of out... in-chief, faculty advisor ... board; sports editor by ... orts editor, sports board ... board; women's editor by ... board; business and advertis... ers by outgoing managers; ... editors on news and sports ... competitive system; minor ... majority vote of the board ... they seek membership.
... chief.....L. Lisman, '31
... editors.G. R. Brush, '31
G. R. Nelson, '31
... editor.....L. M. Foster, '31
... editor..Hilda Smith, '31
... manager..S. S. Corbin, '31

Debate

... is by seniority, inferior ... being dropped to the junior ... No official captains are ... ranking seniors are re... Manager is appointed ...

... ranking varsity de...
... men) L. Lisman, '31
G. R. Nelson, '31
... Roberta Powers, '32
... men) G. R. Nelson, '31
... Roberta Powers, '32

Eligibility

Managers of eligibility are elected annually by graduate manager, faculty adviser and varsity managers.
Manager.....S. S. Corbin, '31
Assistant managers
P. B. Berger, '32
F. W. Householder, '32
C. L. Park, '32

Eta Sigma Phi

National honorary classical society; officers elected by plurality vote of society; members admitted by invitation.
President.....C. W. Knapp, '31
Vice-president...Helen Drugg, '31
Secretary.....Lucy Hope, '32
Treasurer.....C. K. Bush, '32

Fencing

Minor sport.
Captain.....J. S. Perelman, '31
Manager.....H. Shuman, '32

Football

Major sport.
Captain.....L. Segal, '31
Varsity manager..W. E. Craig, '31
Assistant managers
P. E. Westin, '32
R. A. Philbin, '32
A. O. Eaton, '32
Freshman manager
R. W. Worrell, '31

Freshman Camp

Director appointed annually by V. C. A. cabinet.
Director.....J. C. Carter, '32

Freshman Handbook

Editor and business manager appointed annually by V. C. A. Cabinet. They name their own assistants.
Editor.....J. C. Carter, '32
Assistant editor...F. B. Drew, '33
S. N. Spiller, '33
Business managers
D. H. Frazier, 32
D. W. Webster, '33
Assistant business manager
H. R. Fleming, '32

Glee Club

Managers elected annually by plurality vote of club.
Manager.....J. O. Percival, '31
Assistant managers
A. A. Scharbius, '31
P. E. Westin, '32
R. S. Jenks, '32

Gold Key

Sophomore society; officers elected semi-annually by plurality vote of society; members nominated by fraternities and elected by outgoing society.
President.....T. F. Collins, '33
Vice-president F. J. Massucco, '33
Secretary-treasurer
W. C. Cronin, '33

Grey Friars

Men's honorary literary society; officers elected annually by plurality vote of members, admission to society by invitation only.
President.....E. A. Germain, '31
Vice-president.....L. Lisman, '31
Secretary.....S. B. Barker, '32
Treasurer.....J. C. Carter, '32
Chairman of Committees
P. J. LaCrosse, '32

Hockey

Minor sport.
Captain.....E. J. Mercier, '32
Manager.....D. E. Coburn, '31
Assistant manager
K. E. Boyden, '32
H. W. Davis, '32
M. Tomassetti, '32

Interfraternity Conference

Officerships revolve among the eleven fraternities who hold membership according to the constitution of the Conference.
Officers are appointed by fraternities they represent.
President.....R. H. Cowles, '31
Secretary....To be appointed by Zeta Chi

International Relations Club

Student departmental organization of the political science and history departments; officers elected annually by plurality vote of club.
President....E. A. Germain, '31
Vice-president...G. H. Smead, '31
Secretary-treasurer..To be elected
Chairmen of committeees
R. H. Cowles, '31
L. Lisman, 31

John Dewey Club

Student departmental organization of the philosophy and psychology departments; officers elected annually by plurality vote of club.
President.....L. Lisman, '31
Vice-president...Hilda Smith, '31
Secretary-treasurer
Ruth Burroughs, '31

Kake Walk

Annual student carnival; directors appointed by outgoing directors and, in turn, appoint assistant directors and committees.
Directors.....R. J. Maynes '31
F. S. Smith, '31

Kappa Phi Kappa

National professional education society; officers elected annually by plurality vote of society.
President.....D. C. Plaisted, '31
Vice-president.....L. M. Cuddihee, '31
Secretary.....K. M. Stevens, '31
Treasurer.....M. H. Kendall, '31

Key and Serpent

Junior society; officers elected semi-annually by society, except treasurer who holds office throughout year; members elected by outgoing society.
President.....P. E. Westin, '32
Vice-president...A. O. Eaton, '32
Secretary.....E. L. Meehan, '32
Treasurer.....E. M. Wilmot, '32

Rifle

Minor sport.
Captain.....G. M. Donaldson, '31
Manager.....A. H. Roller, '31
Assistant manager
H. M. Albert, '32

Scabbard and Blade

National senior military society; officers elected annually by plurality vote of society.
President.....R. J. Maynes, '31
Vice-president...J. A. Bradish, '31
Secretary.....R. W. Worrell, '31
Treasurer....G. M. Donaldson, '31

Student Senate

Set up as student governing body, but virtually without power; members nominated by outgoing president and class presidents and elected by plurality vote of men's student body, members with largest pluralities receiving officerships.
Acting President R. J. Maynes, '31

Tau Kappa Alpha

National honorary debate society; officers elected annually by plurality vote of society.
President.....To be elected
Secretary-treasurer To be elected

Tennis

Minor sport.
Captain.....F. Tupper '32
Manager.....A. H. Roller, '31
Assistant managers
H. W. Davis, '32
G. R. Collins, '32

Track

Major sport
Captain.....N. P. Park, '31
Varsity manager
H. R. Mattison, '31
Assistant managers
J. W. Marvin, '32
H. C. Torrey, '32
C. Wheeler, '32
Cross-country manager
L. L. Jones, '31
Freshman manager
K. M. Stevens, '31

Vermont Christian Association

Successor the University Y. M. C. A. officers elected by outgoing cabinet, subject to faculty approval
Chairman.....R. H. Cowles, '31
Vice-chairman....J. C. Carter, '32
Secretary.....S. R. Carter, '33
Directors.....W. C. Perry '32
E. A. Germain '31
J. F. Wood '32
H. I. Varnes '32
H. D. Butterfield '31
E. B. Rand '31

Wig and Buskin

Honorary dramatic society; officers elected annually by plurality vote of society; members elected by vote of society.
President...H. D. Butterfield, '31
Vice-president ..R. B. Aiken, '31
Secretary-treasurer
R. W. Worrell, '31

Winnowings From the Mill

University literary organ; editors elected by faculty adviser and outgoing editor-in-chief
Editor ... Margaret Rice, '31
Business manager
Margaret Martin '32

COLLEGE HUMOR

1. A barn swallow cannot swallow barns and a barn cannot swallow.
2. A day-bed is not used in the daytime and (ask anyone who has slept in one) it is NOT a bed
3. Most college students do not go to college and they are NOT students
4. A student newspaper is not handled by students and it is NOT a newspaper.
5. Final examinations do not examine and they are NOT final.

(On receipt of a self-addressed stamped envelope we shall be glad to steam off the stamp and keep it.)

Baa' Baa' Black sheep!
Have you any wool?
Yes sir! Yes sir!
Three bags full
One for the master,
One for my dame,
And one for all the college boys to pull over the eyes of 36,856,999 professors. —U. of S. Calif. Wampus.

Francis: I feel like a nice, cool malted milk. How about you?
Francis: I dunno. What's a malted milk feel like?—Ohio State Sun Dial.

DEAN PERKINS WILL BE EIGHTY-SIX THURSDAY

... Thursday, September 3, will be the ... birthday anniversary of ... H. Perkins, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, ... to the Corner at ... Dean Perkins has completed over sixty-one years of service to this institution and in ... dren of men who were in his early classes. At present Dean Perkins is in bed suffering from the result of a fall.

The student body, particularly those students in the College of Arts and Sciences, are recognizing the occasion by sending cards of greeting. Fraternities and sororities are each sending a greeting card signed by the members of the fraternity and such cards are being sent by other organizations as well as by individual students. Dean Perkins has been connected with Vermont longer than any other faculty member has been connected with an American institution, and has done much for the University in the past critical years.

Dean Perkins, who more than any other man built up the University's large and diversified museum collections during more than half a century's service as curator, July first of this year laid the corner stone of the new Robert Hull Fleming museum which is to house these collections.

Dean Perkins

There were no addresses or ceremonies other than the placing by Dean Perkins of two trowels of mortar on the foundation to bind the large granite corner stone, symbolizing the rising of the new building above its foundation.

Sealed in Corner Stone

In the corner stone were sealed, in a copper box, a number of documents telling the story of plans for the building and other matters of interest as University history, and the ... contained ... The ... per box ... by ... of the Student Weekly ... about ... photographs ... Dean ... dent Guy W. Bailey and Dean Perkins, a photograph of the old Commons Hall, torn down this spring to make room for the new building, a photograph of the present museum building, and a copy of the day's Burlington Free Press.

Besides providing show rooms for all the collections, it will contain class and lecture halls, rooms for ... room, a Robert Hull Fleming memorial room, and various office rooms. Extending from the south will be a two-story wing to house the James B. Wilbur collection of books and other documents on early Vermont ...

The portrait of Mr. Fleming, for whom the new museum is named and in whose memory $150,000 was given for the building by his niece, Miss Katherine Wolcott of Chicago, was furnished by another niece, Mrs. Roy L. Patrick of this city. The picture of Commons Hall was a view from the east, and on it a spot was marked between the east and south wings of the old building showing the location of the corner stone.

The H. Wales Lines Company of Meriden, Conn., broke ground for the museum late in May. The contract calls for the completion of the building by April 1, 1931. Complete with furnishings, the building is expected to cost about $325,000.

She: What do you mean by telling me that the dates you had with me were like a string of pearls?
He: Nothing—dearie—nothing—I—

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT
and
SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

OBTAINS PROPERTY FOR NEW GIRLS' DORMITORY

To furnish living accommodations to more of the girls of the University ... has secured the Robinson house at ... South Prospect Street.

The house will accommodate 35 to 40 people. It contains 24 rooms and four bathrooms. The University will be able to house more girls there than would be possible were it being used independent of other buildings because it will not be necessary to operate a kitchen and dining room in the house. It is near enough to Grassmount so that the girls can eat there. This will make available considerable extra space on the first floor for dormitory purposes.

This property is located only five minutes walk from the campus so that it will be very satisfactory from that standpoint.

Mrs. W. E. Griffin, who has been director at Robinson Hall during the past year, will be in charge of the new dormitory during the summer school.

Negotiations have been completed between Judge Charles H. Darling, trustee of the Ruggles Foundation, and the University.

Judge Darling stated that the reason for leasing the property to the University for a year is in order to increase the endowment fund for the Ruggles Foundation to $100,000 it having been cut down somewhat below that amount by the purchase of the Robinson property.

At the end of the coming college year, it is proposed to fit up the house as a residence for teachers, both active and retired, in accordance with the terms of the Lucy Ruggles bequest.

GOLD KEY DEBATE ON '34 FRESHMAN RULES

(Continued from page 1)

were grave suspicions about it. Besides, he stated, the mass meeting was not held primarily for determining what should be done with the rules but for other business, and that the matter of the rules was rushed in a great hurry at the very beginning of the meeting.

Joseph Carter, director of freshman camp and editor of the Freshman Handbook, said that the reason why the rules as laid down by Boulder were not published in the Handbook was that throughout all of last year the entire matter of freshman rules and hazing was a controversial issue on the campus. Carter said also that he did not know the attitude of either Boulder or Gold Key concerning the rules at the time the book was published, and that he was opposed chiefly to the methods the disciplining societies planned to use to enforce the rules, namely, paddling.

On Fraternities

"Bill" Kitchen, traveling secretary of the New England Y. M. C. A., gave a talk on fraternities in ... to ... the good and the bad ... of the fraternity system as it operates in American colleges. He said that students could find an outlet for the social ... of their ... in the fraternity. He had also ... a ... Conference board to ... group of 14 boards. ... Kitchen discussed the selection of the independents, Louis Lisman spoke on debating, the Cynic and the John Dewey Club. Harvey Butterfield gave a talk on deputation, Howard Varnes on Mountain Day, Edward Germain on Grey Friars and the International Relations Club, Daniel Webster spoke on Burlington and Everett Wilder on track.

The Rev. John Henry Hopkins of ... the ... Episcopal rector of an Episcopal church in Chicago, delivered the Sunday morning service sermon. The Rev. Horace Eaton, pastor of the Baptist Church of Burlington, spoke briefly at the Saturday afternoon exercises.

Never judge a fellow by the clothes he wears, for they are probably his roommates'.

The Old Reliable

PULL ON CAPE
GLOVES
$1.95 Pr.

... length, ... top, a washable glove that gives ... wear and satisfa...

NEW INSTRUCTORS JOIN UNIVERSITY FACULTY

[illegible]

Obituary

[illegible]

[illegible] an assistant professorship in the same department and [illegible] received a further promotion [illegible] to an associate professorship [illegible] the faculty of Professor Rollins [illegible] succeeded [illegible] as head of the department.

[illegible] student of his subject. The [illegible] 1915 and [illegible] to the degree of Master of Arts [illegible] Columbia in 1916.

[illegible] was a member of the Phi Mu Iota Fraternity, of the Vermont Society of Engineers, of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

ODDS AND ENDS

You can always tell a senior, for [illegible] so soulfully pained
You can always tell a junior
They're a cute girls all around
You can always tell a freshman
By her green and frightened mien,
But you've got to tell a sophomore
ANYTHING.—Wesleyan

The school inspector proposed to [illegible] the children an intelligence test.
Now open your eyes, children.
The teacher made a noise like birds twittering.
Now shut your eyes and tell me what I was doing.
Keeping teacher, came the reply in a chorus.

"My husband is away so much of the time I want a parrot for company. Does this one use rough language?"
"Lady, with this bird in the house you'll never miss your husband."

Son—Ma, what's the idea of making me sleep up here every night?
Mother (fondly)—Hush, Bobby, you only have to sleep two more weeks on the mantelpiece and then your picture will be in Believe-It-or-Not!

BEST COAL AND SERVICE

• • •

Elias Lyman Coal Company
286 College Street

Society Notes

COMMENCEMENT EVENTS OF JUNE, 1930

Kappa Alpha Theta

[illegible] Kappa Alpha Theta held [illegible] at the chapter house with [illegible] present. Mrs. Theodora [illegible] of Chatham, Va., [illegible] Ruth Roberts, '06, Shelburne; Mrs. Elsa Linder Washburn, '21, Cham[illegible] Miss Dorothy Robinson, [illegible] New York City; Mrs. Ruth [illegible] Mrs. Fairmont Fos[illegible] Miss Dorothy Buffum, [illegible] Miss Louise Jacobus, Miss [illegible] Burlington; Miss Dorothy Line, Miss Mildred Whitney, '29, Unionville, Conn.; Miss Dorothy Gutting, '29, Ryegate; and Miss Eleanor Hudson, '29, Hartford, Conn.

Pi Beta Phi

[illegible] had [illegible] at Dorset Inn, Manchester, [illegible] Miss Mary W. Buckley, [illegible] Miss Louise Bigelow, [illegible] Miss Theodora Chamberlain, '21, Miss Margaret Stanley, '21, Miss Dorothy Bigelow, '21, and Miss Lucia Bigelow, '21, of Burlington; Miss [illegible] Rockefeller, Miss Mildred Rockefeller, Miss Mary Rockefeller, Miss Alice Rockefeller, Miss Abby Aldrich Rockefeller, Miss Edith Rockefeller, Miss Virginia Murphy, Miss Louise Murphy, Miss Virginia Murphy, Miss Jean Murphy, Miss Anna Murphy, Miss Elizabeth Murphy, Miss Mary Murphy, Miss Margaret Murphy, Miss Ann Murphy, Miss Elizabeth Murphy, Miss Jane

SPORTING NEWS

ATHLETIC PROGRAM IS RECEIVING ATTENTION

Physical Education Department Makes Plans For Coming Year —Golf, Tennis and Touch Football For This Fall

[illegible] the directorship of Howard [illegible] the Physical Education [illegible] is planning an ambitious [illegible] for the coming year. Already [illegible] are being made for golf [illegible] tournaments this fall. [illegible] football contests such as were [illegible] are now being contemplated and [illegible] there will be inter-class [illegible] of some sort. Sigma [illegible] the national athletic fraternity established here at Vermont will also receive serious attention. All students taking physical [illegible] should hand in their hour [illegible] before 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, September 25. This applies to [illegible] sophomores and upperclassmen.

It is earnestly desired that those [illegible] wish to enter either the tennis [illegible] tournaments should signify [illegible] intentions at once in order that [illegible] matches be played before bad [illegible] weather makes this impossible. The [illegible] tournament is for men only and [illegible] all should sign up on the bulletin [illegible] board poster in the Old Mill. A [illegible] loving cup is to be given the [illegible] winner of the competition. The entrance fee is 25 cents.

Last spring several men entered the [illegible] for membership into Sigma [illegible], the national athletic honorary society, and three candidates, [illegible] Huey and Wright, satisfactorily completed all of the requirements [illegible] in swimming. Tryouts for this [illegible] were to be held yesterday afternoon but the CYNIC went to press too [illegible] to get the results. Sigma Delta [illegible] has 46 chapters at the present [illegible] Vermont being the forty-sixth. [illegible] East Vermont is the third chapter [illegible] Yale and Springfield being the [illegible].

NOTICES

A tennis tournament for men only is to be held this fall to determine the college champion. Players who wish to enter the competition are urged to sign up immediately on the card provided on the bulletin board.

All sophomores wishing to scrub track, please report to Manager H. R. Mattison at the gymnasium on Thursday or Saturday at 3.00 p.m.

All sophomores wishing to scrub football should report to Assistant Managers Eaton, Philbin, or Westin in the equipment room on Friday afternoon at 4.00 p.m.

When Prexy Rose To The Occasion

[illegible] began when Daniel Loomis, [illegible] prominent Burlington citizen, [illegible] Rotary Club that he had been [illegible] chairman of the local Salvation [illegible] campaign.

[illegible] was indignant. Mr. [illegible] he declared at the Rotary [illegible] last week—did not understand. President Guy W. Bailey [illegible] University of Vermont, a fellow [illegible] had passed the chairman's [illegible] to him, he—Mr. Loomis—[illegible] man.

"If any man in Burlington [illegible] richer than I am, I would [illegible] him stand up," said Mr. [illegible] Immediately President Bailey [illegible] bowed, and about half of [illegible] Rotarians present did likewise.

[illegible] laughingly conceded the [illegible] remains chairman of the [illegible] Army drive.

[illegible] went to have her picture [illegible] and the photographer noticing a piece of clothline [illegible] bottom of her skirt.

"What the idea of that?" he asked.

"Take your picture that way."

"Don't fool me, young man," [illegible] girl. "I know you see me [illegible] in that camera."

[illegible] candidate on the varsity [illegible] squad is Morris Farmer, who [illegible] old, while "Cliff" Tilley [illegible] baby of the team. He is 18 [illegible] that weighs 180 pounds and [illegible] star performer last year.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Classes in Physical Education for men will start on Monday, September 29. Students taking this course are requested to watch the bulletin board in the gymnasium for assignments to classes. Physical examinations will be held between Monday, September 22, to Friday, September 26, inclusive.

FRESHMAN CANDIDATES OUT FOR GRID PRACTICE

Nearly 30 candidates for this year's freshman football team have reported to acting coach, Dr. Paul D. Clark, and among them are several with fine prep school reputations. George Tully, who has been suffering from eye trouble, will take charge of the squad upon his arrival in town. There appears to be a rich field from which the coach can pick this season's frosh team.

Edward Sowka, a former Vermont Academy backfield man, has attracted considerable attention with his punting which, no doubt, will improve when he gets in better condition. Edward Saba, another Vermont Academy back, appears to be a splendid ballcarrier and a masterful player. There is also a group of prospects from Burlington High School among whom are Saul Zaetz, last year's star fullback, Jack Morgan, all-state tackle, and Frank Lutman, another tackle. Other additions to the Vermont grid iron power includes Jim Smith of Dedham, Mass., a brother of Jack Smith of the 1928 varsity, and Archie Powell of Burlington, a fullback two years ago, who has re-entered the University and will be able to play with the Kitten eleven this fall.

Vermont Academy is the first opponent on the schedule in a game at Saxtons River on October 11.

Dumb! Why Peggy is so dumb she thinks a veterinary is a place where they keep veterans.—Texas Longhorn.

MEN'S GOLF TOURNEY TO TAKE PLACE SOON

Will Be Held On Waubanakee Golf Club Course—Winner To Be College Champion for 1930-31

An open golf tournament is to be held as soon as possible this fall at the Waubanakee Golf Club on Shelburne Road. The winner will be college champion for 1930-31. Entrants are requested to leave their names and previous experience in the office of the Physical Education department.

According to an arrangement with the Waubanakee Golf Club the following will hold:

1. Greens fee for each match will be 50 cents payable to the professional Mr. George Fraser.
2. Tournament play can not be held (a) on week days after 3.30 p.m. unless special permission is secured, or (b) on Saturday afternoons or Sundays.

The tournament is to be governed by the following rules:

1. One score card shall be signed by each player of a given match.
2. Match play shall prevail throughout the tournament.

CROSS COUNTRY MEN START DAILY TRAINING

Coach Archie Post has already issued a call for cross country men and a number have reported. The varsity has been out for several days and the freshmen met yesterday for the first time, but more candidates are wanted. All runners should turn out whether specializing in cross country racing or not.

The main purpose of this fall training is to get the track practice.

Lowerclass Rivalry Reaches Climax When Sophomores Win Fountain Fight

(Continued from page 1)

Jailed in Silo

In order to reduce the size of the freshman class which was scheduled to face them in the evening the sophomore men carried truckloads of the new men to a silo located near Hinesburg.

Remaining freshmen suspecting the fate of their classmates located them and by the help of several leaders who rounded up the rest of their members, they succeeded after much struggle in returning them to Burlington in motor trucks.

The Fountain-scene of the Interclass Scrap

Fountain Fight

Although they were outnumbered more than ordinarily, the sophomores were awarded the decision of winners by representatives of Boulder society who judged the traditional fountain fight held Thursday evening between the two lower classes.

Traditionally the protectors of the fountain on the front campus the sophomores were found waiting for their adversaries as the freshmen appeared en masse with faces blackened for identification.

The second year men had had previous news of the face blacking and had resorted to the same stunt so that the first year men remained as unidentified as if their faces had not been blacked. After the fight was on however, the freshmen had no trouble in recognizing their classmates. Each fighting group consisted of eight men, one in the middle struggling with seven around the edge. Unattached freshmen recognized the outer seven as classmates. There were no unattached sophomores. The seven generally succeeded in planting the eight in the fountain, as prescribed by rule, but in so doing two or three of the seven either went in also or were splashed enough to count the same as going in.

After the fight the men of both classes formed a mixed "snake dance" down College Street and the hostilities ended with songs and cheers in the business section.

Richard Powell of Island Pond, a freshman at the University of Vermont who was slightly injured when he caught his heel and fell about ten feet from a silo to the ground during sophomore-freshman hostilities on Thursday, was able to be about last Saturday. He admitted being somewhat lame Thursday night, but said it was wearing off rapidly.

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS

Following are the Green Mountain Conference champions for the year 1929-30:

Varsity football—Middlebury.
Freshman football—Tie between Norwich and Middlebury.
Basketball—St. Michael's.
Hockey—Middlebury.
Winter sports—Norwich.
Baseball—Vermont.
Track—Middlebury.
Tennis—Middlebury.

Al Harris thinks that when playing golf "to make a hole in one" is to make a hole in one day.

Grid Men in Final Training For Season's Opening Tilt

New Mentor Gives Candidates Thorough Drilling—Twelve Lettermen on Squad—Milder Schedule Makes Fans Optimistic Over Prospects—Season Opens With Game At Amherst

AVERAGE WEIGHT OF MEN IS 162 POUNDS

With the schedule calling for a game Saturday at Amherst Head Coach David L. Dunn succeeding Captain W. V. Rattan, has only a few days left with which to round his football players in shape for the opening contest of the season. The line up has not been definitely settled yet by the coaching staff and shifts are likely to be made during the season.

Men Available

Rounding the boys into physical condition to stand the gaff, drill in precision of ball handling, and concentration on early season plays all has had to be packed into three weeks and one day in order that the team may make a showing against its first opponent.

For his 22 to 26 regulars, which modern football requires for an efficient grid team, Coach Dunn has 12 V men of last year's team as a starter. He also has seven men who won their numerals as members of the freshman team last year and some who showed up well as freshmen two years ago, but who through ineligibility or absence from college did not play last year.

G. C. Tully and H. B. (Bumps) Levine will be assistant coaches of line and backfield respectively. Tully, a former Dartmouth player and at present a student at the College of Medicine, was assistant line coach last year. Levine, last year's P. V. M. captain and sub center has been added to the coaching staff this year.

The ends are lighter averaging 155 pounds, while the backfield candidates with an average weight of 155, are lightest of all. The backs are also younger than the other members of the team, averaging only a little more than 20 years each, whereas the other candidates are more than a year older as a class.

Coach Dunn will have a choice between two distinct kinds of ends, the one light and small, the other tall and rangy. Captain Leo Segal and R. W. Allerton, both regular wing men on the 1929 team, weigh 150 and 155 pounds respectively, while Bedell, Durfey, Rugg and Carrington all measure 6 feet 1 inch, and are about 30 pounds heavier.

H. W. "Fat" Davis of Lyndonville a fine tackle, and who may be used at center in pinches this season, can claim the honor of being the biggest both up and down and around, as his 6 feet five inches of altitude is greater by two and a half inches than that of any other candidate, while his weight given at 219 pounds is 30 pounds greater than that of the next heaviest man. Perry Bove, who weighs only 135 pounds, is easily the lightest man out for the team, and is also one of the shortest, the other being M. T. Kendall. Both stand 5 feet seven inches.

A training table is being kept at Mrs. MacDonald's on North Willard Street where it is seen that the players get the proper diet of food. The table will be run until the end of the football season.

The list of candidates includes:

Captain Leo Segal, e, of Dorchester, Mass.; E. M. Winant, qb, of Bronxville, N. Y.; G. R. Collins, g, of Bayside, L. I.; O. W. Jay, hb, of St. Albans; W. S. Heaton, hb, of Montpelier; Mathew Cohen, t, of Bridgeport, Conn.; T. F. Collins, fb, of West Hartford, Conn.; A. O. Aronson, t, of Proctor; R. H. Coburn, hb, of Milton; H. W. Davis, c, of Lyndonville, C. W. Tilley, g, of Essex Junction; W. R. Bedell, e, of Flushing, L. I.; R. M. Huey, c, of Pawtucket, R. I.; R. J. Maynes, g, of Woodstock; E. E. Wadsworth, hb, of Milton, Mass.; H. M. Farmer, g, of Sherman Station, Maine; L. R. Durfey, e, of Burlington; H. J. Rugg, e, of St. Albans; M. T. Kendall, fb, of Newport; F. A. McBride, fb, of New York, N. Y.; J. E. Wood, g, t, of Belmont, Mass.; P. E. Bove, qb, of Rutland, E. N. Gourson, fb, of New Brittain, Conn.; R. W. Allerton, e, of South Orange, N. J.; R. E. Tobin, t, of Fairhaven, Mass.; and David Carrington, e, of Richmond, Va.

Amherst, whom the Catamounts meet Saturday in the opening event of the season on the former's home field, may exhibit unusual strength on the occasion.

The Amherst squad already numbers more than 50 men, and many of these are experienced. The Sabrina backfield was most heavily crippled by graduation, as "Howdy" Gromakiess and "Rab" Wilson, who were the stars on the 1928 and 1929 teams, were both lost. They figured prominently in Amherst's near-defeat of Princeton last fall.

Collins

Captain Segal

Tilley

Park

Winant

Huey

Varsity men of 1929 who are available are: Captain Leo Segal and R. W. Allerton, ends; H. W. Davis, R. Huey, C. W. Tilley, G. R. Collins, M. Cohen, and R. J. Maynes, tackles, guards and centers; Edward Winant, O. W. Jay, W. S. Heaton and Edward Courson, backs.

From the 1933 freshman team, likely candidates include: H. M. Farmer, E. E. Wadsworth, R. H. Coburn and J. E. Wood. Wadsworth and Coburn are backfield men. The others played in the line.

A. O. Aronson, W. R. Bedell, L. R. Durfey and Howard Rugg all gave promise on the 1928 freshman team but did not play last year. Bedell and Rugg are ends and the other two played nearer the center of the line. J. Cunningham, a transfer from Holy Cross who played on the freshman team there two years ago and only this year became eligible to don the Green and Gold, is expected to win a place for himself on the team.

Over Two Tons Of Weight

The total weight of the squad is well over 4,500 pounds, and the average weight of the candidates, according to figures recently compiled by W. E. Craig, the manager of this year's team, is slightly above 162 pounds.

The guards and tackles this year have an average weight of 167 pounds, while the centers tip the scales at 189.

President Guy W. Bailey

Prexy Stresses Loyalties, Conservatism

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] entering his early years he encountered obstacles of all sorts and set at the age of thirty he founded the New York Tribune. I venture to say that Horace Greeley has [illegible] what contents and strivings of many souls never lost sight of the mental picture of that ever approachable.

The Virginia hamlet to the name of Appomattox Court House comprised in the spring of 1865 five houses the largest of which a two-story dwelling was the home of Wilmer McLean. In front was a pleasant yard planted with its flowers of spring. In this home in the afternoon of the ninth of April, General Lee and General Grant met to arrange for the surrender of Lee's army which was in effect the end of the Southern Confederacy. The mental picture of both must have been deeply etched into the minds of all who were present.

A few days later in [illegible] Kentucky home. Later his parents moved to Indiana and a year later into a log cabin with dirt floor and without doors or windows. The boy's mother died when he was ten years of age and [illegible] His stepmother became fond of him and [illegible] was willing to be [illegible] progress began to [illegible] and [illegible] a sermon over the grave of his mother. His [illegible] attributed to [illegible] The [illegible] memory is made of Vermont [illegible] erected to his memory in Washington is [illegible] evidence of a nation's gratitude. Despite the [illegible] ...ownership of Abraham Lincoln's life has [illegible] memories of his youth have remained with him to the end.

Allen In Prison

Almost eight years after the founding of the University on May 1, 1799 to be exact the birthday of the founder of this University Ira Allen was confined in Fenner Prison on No. 18 third corridor because of his negotiations respecting a cargo of arms and [illegible] purchased of the Republic of France for the use of the militia of Vermont. Imprisoned by a foreign state on his birthday although his detention was unwarranted the rich [illegible] have entered his soul and a mental picture formed which never was effaced.

However I would not have you feel that the memories that last the longest and are the most deeply impressed upon us are those that have to do with misfortune for the record of victories and successes are also intermingled with the others.

Some of the memories that last are those that come as by-products of one's major activity. Each one makes its own special contribution in its own way.

Each student will have his own problems to deal with and these he must solve in his own way. To such as come to us with sincerity of purpose we offer every aid and assistance. Sometimes [illegible] seem to appreciate our standards. Towards them we bear no resentment. We simply suggest that having acquired an exact understanding of what we ask as the basis of their course of conduct, in case they honestly believe that course does not harmonize with their beliefs, they sever their connection with us and resume their quest for an education in another field, heartily as they will, our sympathetic interest and our best wishes for their success.

Urges Loyalty

It may become the lot of some of you to enter the employ of some large industrial corporation. If so, one fact will be early impressed upon you, namely, that loyalty to the organization is a sine qua non. If disloyalty is manifested you will soon be asked to sever your connection. Accordingly, let me urge upon you the necessity of the cultivation of a spirit of loyalty to your University, your classmates, your fraternity, to what ever worthwhile activity with which you may become affiliated. Loyalty is founded upon honesty and true collegiate loyalty consists in treating fairly the institution with which you become associated.

In this day of such keen competition you must know the facts with which you are dealing and be able to demonstrate that knowledge whenever and wherever called upon. In your extra-curricular activities ordinary participation will not be sufficient. Each [illegible] should be proved with an enthusiasm that will mark you as one who can always be depended upon to do his best no matter what the crisis may be.

If you were to ask me as to what memories of your four collegiate years will be uppermost in your mind twenty-five years hence, I would answer that much depends upon the manner in which you apply yourself to the curricular and extra-curricular activities. Will you be content with a [illegible] mechanical preparation of your daily work or will each subject, at any rate some subject, prove so interesting that you will be led into the field of research not because someone suggests that it is the proper course to pursue but rather because you feel that a more thorough knowledge is really worth while? During your four years at the University you will be engaged in study. If you acquire an interest in your work to such an extent that it develops into a zest for research you will have accomplished much.

Decries the Untried

Well-conceived research along sound lines is always commendable; on the other hand any course which tends to disrupt all that is wise, conservative and judicious can only result in the downfall of the structure. Many well intentioned people easily become identified with new projects and lend their support to their development. But the diversion of their energies from the tried and deserving to the speculative is unfortunate, provided such diversion results in discarding fundamentals. Sometimes one wonders how long the fundamentally sound is to be neglected for the unstable and the visionary. The course of Vermont, the State and of Vermont, the University should continue to progress along safe and conservative paths, should be guided by the beacon light of reason and not by the will o' the wisp of untried theory. The University desires always to conduct its activities in such a manner that it may always retain the respect of its colleagues in the educational world.

Members of the incoming class may not realize it, but the four years of their collegiate course will be spent in [illegible] obligations to the University. These [illegible] and never be repaid in full. No matter how [illegible] success may have come [illegible] to repay in [illegible] terms, [illegible] values will increase proportionately. [illegible] Vermont, pay a [illegible] the end of the years of their university.

Welcome to Vermont

We [illegible] the truth of [illegible] sentiment and yet we are almost impressed to ask what they have done for Vermont? It may be true that [illegible] contents in part constitute a worth while contribution. Every one of you sons or daughter of Vermont the University must of you also of Vermont the State owes a peculiar duty one which cannot be measured in terms of money but rather should be discharged by a continued loyal interest in the State and the University and by the rendition of such service as will further their interests.

We welcome you to your adopted University home. Here, for more than a century and a quarter tradition has been added to tradition, memory to memory, until her sons and daughters have learned to regard her with profound respect and affection.

Here, for more than a century and a quarter incoming younger generations have contributed their enthusiasm to the various activities that have appealed to them. The associations with class mates in the class room, in the fraternity hall, or in athletic contest will yield mental pictures that will become fixed in the mind. Reunions with your classmates in after years will brighten these pictures and add to your appreciation of them. The influence which this University and all that it represents will exert upon your lives will grow greater and grander with the passing years.

A University is a creator of memories, for the most part pleasant memories. The older the memories, the stronger the glamour. May there be many worth while memories created during your four years' sojourning with us; may your record here be an inspiration to those who follow in your footsteps in the pursuit of knowledge.

May Your Memories Be Pleasant

"A few days ago there died in a New England city a gentleman who graduated here in 1859. One by one his college mates had preceded him to that bourne whence none return, until finally he was the sole living representative of his class. With him the book of living memories of his class has closed, and its [illegible] exists only as it is [illegible] archives of the University. [illegible] never be said that the [illegible] memory make a mournful [illegible] the dark,' but rather may [illegible] serve as the place where [illegible] keepsakes of pleasant [illegible] enshrined.

"After your four years [illegible] graduate study, followed [illegible] tion, you will be separated [illegible] body from the University [illegible] not in spirit. In the rush [illegible] flict of the business world [illegible] most forget the dear [illegible] college days. Yet there will [illegible] hour when the lights of memory [illegible] backward stream,' and in the [illegible] ground memory's pictures [illegible] brighter than ever before.

"Then you will thoroughly [illegible] preciate the charm and [illegible] of this, your chosen University. And so, when the twilight [illegible] your portion, 'among the [illegible] tures that hang on memory's [illegible] may the one that has the [illegible] fascination be the retrospect of your undergraduate life at the University of Vermont."

What Scotland needs is a [illegible] cent box of cigars. Mercury

WELCOME BACK TO VERMONT

The Pen that passes 11 exams will help you pass all yours

Easily—3,000,000 Parkers will go to school this fall

GUARANTEED FOR LIFE

"I'm paid a bonus if my point gets 11 okays—I pay a forfeit if it fails to earn them all!"
The Parker Point-Smith

Duofold Jr. Pen $5 with Base $10

$5 buys the polished Italian marble Desk Base [illegible] pen and [illegible] to convert [illegible] Set Pen Complete set, as shown, $15 (Jr. Pen [illegible] pocket cap and cap included), $10.

Matched Vest-Parkers $7.50

Vest-Parker Duette Set — midget Pen and Pencil together weighing less than ¾ ounce. Each convertible for Desk Set use. Penalone, $5. Pencil, $2.50.

Complete Set $8

For coeds or travelers this [illegible] enamel Travel Set with Mini-Pen (convertible for purse or Desk Set)—pocket cap with ring included free, complete, $8

We pay a bonus for every Duofold point to give you a Pen that writes with Pressureless Touch. To produce this, we had to [illegible] squads of post-graduate point-smiths. We allow them to make [illegible] limited number per day. Thus they have time to make each point a masterpiece.

It must pass 11 merciless tests. Then we pay its maker an extra reward. If it fails any test, we reject it, and the point-smith pays a forfeit.

Yet 7 out of 8 they make are Bonus Points. And these, and these only, go into Duofold Pens.

Like 2 Pens for the Price of One

Try this famous Pen at any pen counter. See how it changes from a pocket Pen to a Pen for your study Desk Set by simply interchanging the pocket cap and the tapered tip. This saves the price of a second pen.

Parker Duofold Pens are Guaranteed for Life. Their Permanite barrels are non-breakable, yet they have all the beauty of costly jewels.

Duofold Pens hold 17.4% more ink than average, size for size.

New streamlined balanced shapes now ready at all dealers. See them—and see the streamlined Pencils to match. Don't buy any pen without first trying the Parker Duofold Bonus Point.

THE PARKER PEN CO., Janesville, Wisconsin

Parker Duofold

PEN GUARANTEED FOR LIFE, $5, $7, $10

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1930 | NUMBER 2

NORWICH PROFESSOR TO WRITE FEATURE ARTICLE FOR FIRST WINNOWINGS

Peach, Authority On Vermont Literature, Will Contribute To Initial Number November 1

MAGAZINE TO CARRY ON POLICY OF LAST EDITOR

... the policy begun last ... Winnowings from the Mill, Ver... publication, will feature, ... an essay by a Vermont ... authority on Vermont litera... first article of the year will ... the name of Arthur W. ...

... Peach, who is the head of ... department of Norwich ... is a not infrequent maga... contributor, and possesses no un... ... concerning Vermont ... and their work. Early last ... spoke before the Grey ... society here.

Former Editor Contributes

... Goodrich, editor of the Win... last year, will contribute to ... initial issue, which will appear ... the last of November. No one ... material will predominate in ... number the contents being fairly ... distributed among short stor... ... and poetry.

The business department announces ... appointment of Julius Perelman, ... was chairman of publicity ... advertising on last spring's Junior ... Committee, as advertising man... ... and of Charlotte Odell as assis... circulation manager.

The Winnowings, which was form... ... printed in another town, has ... this year's contract for six is... ... the Free Press Printing Com... of Burlington. The change was ... by the inconveniences ... excessive mailing and the ... typographical errors in last ... magazine.

The Winnowings, originally known ... the Vermont Literary Magazine, ... enters its fourth year. Since its ... it has been handicapped by ... dearth of advertising revenue and ... lack of sufficient subscriptions, but ... has now been pledged it from the ... activity fee. Last year the ... was changed, the format and ... altered, innovations made in ... policy, and a new method of ... adopted.

DEAN PATTERSON NOW ON SABBATICAL LEAVE

Miss Marian Patterson, Dean of ... is spending a few weeks at ... home in Underhill before sailing ... where she will spend her ... year. Miss Storms of the ... Department is her guest at ... present time.

GOLD KEY WILL POST NO PUBLIC PADDLING LISTS

Sophomore Society Seeks Secrecy for all Its Plans—New Method Departs from Tradition

Gold Key, which for the last few years has been attempting to discipline violators of the freshman rules, is planning a radical departure from custom in order to assure itself a better opportunity of staging paddling parties for offending freshmen.

Since publicity has been Gold Key's greatest setback, the society will no longer post public lists of freshmen to be punished but will send private invitations at short notice.

It is not yet known when Gold Key will attempt to hold its first paddling party, but Boulder will cooperate actively in setting the date.

Gold Key men, when interviewed, refuse to talk. One member called it a "private" organization. Several are shouldering all responsibility on to Boulder. The society fears that the least departure from secrecy will ruin its plans.

MOUNTAIN DAY LOOMS AS STRONG PROBABILITY

Over 350 Students Sign Petitions —V. C. A. Must Sell 400 Tickets By Monday

The efforts of the Vermont Men's and Women's Christian Associations to arouse interest in a Mountain Day among the student body of the University during the past week have proved successful. Papers have been posted in college and fraternity buildings and in dormitories, on which students interested in Mountain Day might sign. Although the returns are incompleted as yet, over 350 students have already signed these lists.

The committees in charge of the proposed holiday on October 4, headed by H. I. Varney, '32, have been in conference with a faculty committee and report that if 400 tickets are sold before Monday, Mountain Day will be possible. In that event all Saturday classes will be omitted.

Tickets are on sale now at the University Book Store and at the V. C. A. Office. Also one member of each fraternity will be selected to help in the sale of tickets. The price is one dollar and will pay for bus transportation to the foot of the mountain and back. Two groups of busses will leave the gymnasium Saturday morning and will return in time for the Gold Key dance Saturday night.

In case of rain, or failure to sell the required number of tickets, the V. C. A. office will refund the money to all purchasers of tickets.

If the drive is successful, this Mountain Day will be the first since 1927. If unsuccessful, the Vermont Christian Associations will probably never try to sponsor another Mountain Day.

CLASS TRYOUTS WILL INITIATE SEMESTER'S DEBATE ACTIVITIES

Freshmen Expect Strong Lineup While Sophomores Depend On Last Year's Debaters—Varsity Starts Against Bates

COACH SETS TRYOUT DATES FOR NEXT WEEK

Debating activities start with a bang during the coming week when tryouts for the annual frosh-soph debate for the Bailey Cup given by Senator H. A. Bailey, of Winooski, will be held. The freshman tryouts will be held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Chapel on the second floor of the Old Mill. Candidates are expected to be able to speak five minutes on any subject they may choose.

Sophomore tryouts will be held Tuesday afternoon at the Old Mill Chapel. The time and conditions are identical with those pertaining to freshmen.

Due to the very unusual year just ended in the Vermont Interscholastic Debating League, during which many strong teams were produced the freshmen expect an unusually strong lineup, especially as some members of each of the best teams are now at Vermont. The sophomores are undismayed, however, and will present for tryouts all of last year's victorious veterans: R. P. Donaghy of Northfield, R. F. Colburn of Burlington, and J. E. Bigelow of Fair Haven. In addition to these, other possibilities include Stewart Elkins of Quebec, Nathan Spiller of Barre, and Theodore Taylor of W. Hartford, Conn. Against this array the freshmen must fight to win.

Activities on the men's varsity which last year was almost undefeated are progressing with equal rapidity. Plans for the fall trip to the North are about completed. This trip opens tentatively against Bates College at Lewiston, Me., on October 20 and will also include debates with Colby College, and the University of Maine. Only one subject has been selected. In the Bates debate the Chain Store will be discussed.

The Spring Trip

The Big Varsity trip of the year will be held next spring. It is said to be taking the form of a European tour. This would add much to the already extremely creditable forensic record of Vermont. Another possibility is a western trip as far as Chicago. This would also take the Vermont debaters into new territory. Varsity material is slightly depleted by the graduation of F. A. Sears but Louis Lisman, '31, and George Nelson, '31, three year veterans are back and will form the backbone of the new team. A wealth of material is expected to be drawn for the last year's Junior Varsity and the present freshman and sophomore teams.

This year, for the first time, the men and women debating activities will be directed under different heads. The women's coach is Prof. P. D. Carleton and the manager, Roberta Powers, '32. The men will be coached by M. D. Powers and managed by G. R. Nelson, '31. This change is expected to benefit the weaker sex who have always found it necessary to play second fiddle to the powerful men's varsity.

SMART SAYS METHOD IS MORE THAN ATTAINMENT

That in the pursuit of knowledge or character, method is vastly more important than attainment was the contention of Rev. I. C. Smart of the College Street Congregational Church who addressed a large congregation of students, faculty and townspeople in Chapel Wednesday morning.

Doctor Smart pointed out that to the man of science method must supersede his goal; for his conclusions are only temporary and are constantly undergoing changes.

Although the cynic may sneer and doubt the immediate value of conscientious mental application the student is rewarded by long effort and perseverance.

To Jesus this took the form of the command: "Follow me (which is the method) for the end is not to be gained by you yet." St. Paul in the light of the same general principle spoke of the pursuit of character as requiring long preparation with the right method.

V. C. A. Ends Freshman Welcome in Double Event

Association Sponsors Banquet and Dance as Conclusion to Series of Greetings—Events are Purely for Freshmen

FRESHMAN WOMEN ARE WELCOMED AT Y CAMP

Twenty-five Students Attend Sessions at Camp Ziptekana During Preliminary Exercises

When twenty-five freshman women gathered on Friday, September 12, at Camp Ziptekana on Coates Island to get their first introduction to college life from faculty and upperclassmen talks, the Y W C A, coed branch of the Vermont Christian Association, was sponsoring the first camp for new students ever held in New England.

Dean Patterson, the Rev. A Mandigo of Randolph, Mr R. H Hall of Charlotte, Miss Dorothy Dodge of the State Y. Council, Miss Hope Kingsbury of Michigan, Miss Storms and Mr M D Powers gave the principal addresses and campus leaders told of college activities during the three day session before the opening of the University.

Dean Patterson's welcoming address was concerned with how freshmen can get the most out of college and stressed particularly outside activities, scholarship and friends; she commended especially the help given by the freshman camp in regard to getting acquainted with college mates. Miss Patterson approved highly of the program which included nearly all forms of sports, assemblies, and discussion periods. Miss Storms, English instructor, developed the theme of "Friendship" and agreed with Dean Patterson that camp is an ideal place to make friends.

Miss Dodge impressed everybody by explaining the many functions of the State Council and just what it accomplishes; she also urged the students to go into studies with eagerness and courage. Miss Kingsbury, now the principal of Plainfield High School, has been active in the Y. W C. A. for several years and led the group discussions in which the camper's enthusiasm was shown by the many lively arguments.

Mr. M D. Powers of the V. C. A., well known through his activities in student affairs, led the Devotional Period. Mr. Powers encouraged Lillian Mount, '32, president of the Y. W C. A., to carry out her ideas for a women's camp.

Richard Cowles, '31, talking about the proposed Student Union Building, stressed the need of such a hall and described the plans in detail, comparing them with similar structures on other campuses.

Reverend Mandigo, '06, emphasized the scholastic side of college life and the opportunity of making friends. Mr. Hall, whose topic was Religion, said: "Many people think they have lost their religion—and they have just found it."

Besides Lillian Mount, the presiding officer, upperclassmen present in-

(Continued on page 4)

JAPANESE BIOLOGIST VISITS UNIVERSITY HERE

Prof. Yachigi Miyaji, instructor in general biology in a technical high school at Matsumoto, Japan, last week visited the University in connection with world-wide studies he is carrying on in a special field of heredity and microscopic analysis. This is a field of study similar to that being carried on by Professor Gershoy of Vermont and Doctor Clausen of Denmark.

The Japanese professor is visiting colleges and universities making a specialty of his line of study throughout northern Europe and the United States. Only a few such universities are being visited in this country. After a conference with Professor Gershoy here, Professor Miyaji left for Ithaca, N. Y., where he will next visit Cornell University. His ultimate destination is the United States is San Francisco, from which Pacific port he will sail for Japan.

Finding his English rather inadequate for his conversation here in Burlington, though he speaks English to a certain extent, Professor Miyaji carried on most of his conversations here in German.

DYKHUIZEN IS MASTER OF CEREMONIES AT BANQUET

Freshman preliminaries came to a close last night as the Vermont Christian Association concluded its series with the third of its freshman welcomes at a banquet at the Hotel Van Ness and a dance in the gymnasium.

The banquet and dance came as the close to a program which included the Freshman Camps before the college opening and the Freshman Mixer last week.

Exclusively '34

Both events last night were exclusively for freshmen. A stub detached from the banquet ticket admitted to the dance.

Prof. George Dykhuizen of the philosophy department served as toastmaster of the evening. Prof. Elijah Swift, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Prof. Leon Dean of the English department, Miss Marian Patterson, dean of women, Miss Isabel Whiting, assistant dean of women, and Mr. Merrill D. Powers, general secretary of the Vermont Christian Association, spoke.

Others on the program included the presidents of the men's and women's Christian Associations and representatives from their student cabinets. Peardon Donaghy '33, assistant cheer leader, led in the U. V. M. yells and songs.

And Dance

At the dance in the high school gymnasium Everett Doten's Black Pirates, a student orchestra which toured England, France and Switzerland during the summer, furnished the music.

DEAN JENNE ANNOUNCES PROMOTION IN FACULTY

Changes in rank and assignment of the faculty of the College of Medicine have been announced by Dean J. N Jenne as follows:

Hovey Jordan, A M., promoted from assistant to associate professor of histology, biology and embryology.

C. P. Moat, B S., promoted from instructor to assistant professor of sanitary chemistry.

E. G. Twitchell, M D., from instructor to assistant professor of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat.

Estelle Foote, M.D., Middlebury, made medical examiner of women of the University.

E. W. Pike, M D., changed from instructor in pediatrics to instructor in clinical medicine.

P. D. Clark, M D., made clinical instructor in pediatrics and medical director for the University.

Hiram Upton, M D., made clinical instructor at the Free Dispensary.

E. F. Foster, M.D., made clinical instructor in hygiene and preventive medicine.

O. P Clough, M D., and D E Shefield, M.D., of Poultney and St. Johnsbury, respectively, added to list of preceptors.

C. M. Williams, M D., of New York City, resigned after twenty years of service as professor of dermatology and is succeeded by Dr. Eugene F Traub of the same city.

R. G Streeter, M D., resigned as instructor in clinical medicine.

David Manson, D.D.S., made instructor in oral hygiene.

COUNCIL ORDER FORBIDS TEN O'CLOCK PARKING

An order forbidding parking after ten o'clock at Converse Hall or in its immediate vicinity has been issued by the Faculty Council. The Council acted at its meeting on September 15.

FRESHMEN TO CHOOSE CLASS OFFICERS MONDAY

Freshman class elections will be held Monday in the large lecture room of the Williams Science Hall at four o'clock.

The chief advantage of the widening of the Old Mill corridor seems to be that now four rows of students instead of two can block the exits.

Pond of Vermont Baseball Fame and Fighter of Plagues is Dead at Cebu

... outstanding figure in Vermont ... history passed away when Dr. ... Arlington Pond of Cebu, in ... Philippine Islands died there ... 19...

Pond was one of the greatest pitchers the University of ... has ever honored among its heroes. He was a member ... famous "pony" battery which ... many games for Vermont in ... the receiving end of this ... was Ralph E. Stewart, who ... came a Boston attorney and ... the University and who died ... or two ago.

Was 58 Years Old

Pond was fifty-eight years of ... time of his death. He was ... Rutland, the son of Abbott ... Stocker Pond. He at... ...wich University two years ... both his A.B. and M.D. ... the University of Ver... ...latter in 1895, then went ... to take a post-graduate ... medicine at the University ... While there, he became ... one of the greatest teams ... history, the Orioles, and ... them for several seasons. ... Doctor Pond became an ... army medical service and served with the American forces in the Spanish-American War in the Philippines and in Cuba. After the close of the war, as president of the Board of Health of Cebu, he became active in the conduct of public health affairs in the Philippines and served there under the administrations of William Howard Taft and Major General Leonard Wood. He helped to rid the islands of the scourge of leprosy. He helped also to check the spread of yellow fever, malaria, cholera and other plagues.

Doctor Pond made his home in the Philippines continuously after the Spanish-American War. At the opening of the World War, he resigned his public position, entered the army and served as a colonel in a medical detachment. He served in Sibera for a time at the close of the war then returned to his work at Cebu, taking up the practice of surgery at the head of one of the island's largest hospitals.

Doctor Pond was vitally interested in the business development of the islands. He owned large interests in shipping, real estate and plantations.

He held both the singles and doubles tennis championships of the Philippines for several years, but had taken part in no sports except golf during the past five years.

(Continued on page 4)

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Margaret Moser, '32
Judge Hanshaw, '32

G. E. Wilder, '32

$2.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Vol. 59 September 27, 1930 No. 2

STRANGERS, AND WE TOOK THEM IN

The welcoming rites are over. The freshman class, having been pledged, hazed, enrolled, bespoken and entertained, is now a part of us. The class of 1934 has become a component of the body politic. We no longer have secondary school boys and girls among us, but men and women of our freshman class.

We have said henceforth they will be treated as such. We trust that our relations with them will be those of one college student with another and not of child with child or even of upperclassman with lowerclassman. Within the walls of a college there is no justification, in reason or right, for any discrimination by students between one student and another on the basis of college class. Infinitely more important and certainly more reasonable that freshman spirit or sophomore spirit, is college spirit which is a unit and not four distinct parts.

The freshman class, however, has been told that it must obey certain specially drawn rules, and some of these are traditions of the University. At the risk of laying ourselves open to the charge of inconsistency, we urge the freshman class to observe those of the rules which are traditional.

If it be asked why we so strongly endorse all rules founded upon tradition, we reply that we recognize tradition as the mark of a university's dignity, the expression of its highest ideals. Traditions are not rules laid down to be enforced by a sophomore society, into whose subjection the recalcitrant freshman must be broken by the omniscient and omnipotent upperclassman. They are growths on the pages of a university's history, the sum of all that is beautiful in its experiences, noble and wise in its standards.

We especially commend the practice of greeting students on the campus. We admit that there is nothing on the face of it eminently idealistic in saying "Hello" to a fellow student; but the simple greeting is the outward expression of the greatest tradition at Vermont, the tradition of friendship.

Likewise, we owe the Christian Associations a debt of thanks for sponsoring camps, dances and other welcoming exercises for the freshman class for thus are upholding another tradition of Vermont, the tradition of hospitality.

This morning, when we report the activities of the associations on behalf of our freshmen, we also carry the announcement that Gold Key will take disciplinary action this year to enforce all rules. The contest is startling indeed.

We wonder if Gold Key will ever learn that any such attempt to enforce the rules will result only in their utter disregard. The freshmen are proud of their green and gold caps and the great majority of them wear them. Attempt to enforce the rules with a paddling party and the issue becomes, not one of whether or not to wear the cap, but whether or not to defy Gold Key. The experience of the sophomore society with last year's freshmen should not be so soon forgotten. We suggest to the class societies that they leave well enough alone and concern themselves more with University traditions than with their own almighty importance.

Ten thousand students from 111 countries and dependencies are studying in American institutions of higher learning according to the latest census for 1929-30. If students from abroad in the preparatory and high schools were included the total number would exceed 13,000.

1st Stude. What'll we do tonight?
2nd Stude. I'll flip a coin. If it's heads we go to the dance, tails we go to the show, and if it stands on edge we'll study.—The Lawrentian

Great College Amusements lexyurs shoz dansez partez

"Do you never think about these things?" asked the professor wearily of a girl student. Her reply was apt enough: "Professor, if you had a schedule as full as mine you would know that it allows no time to think about anything."—Norman Angell, in The Public Mind

IT CAN BE DONE

The young American is a determined animal," said the head of the vocational bureau of one of the big mid-western universities. "If he wants something he does not allow handicaps to stand in the way of his getting it. If he wants a college education, the fact of his not having the money will not prevent him, probably four or five hundred thousand strong each year, from going to college. According to the silver screen, most college students spend their time scattering indulgent fathers' glittering dollars over the primrose path. As a matter of fact, at least half of the million students in American colleges each year spend their time between the textbook and the pocketbook. They haven't fathers who can afford to be indulgent, and if they want to go to college, they must earn the money to do so.

"And don't be misled by the hero stuff you read about it, into thinking that this is either easy or pleasant. It is much more thrilling to read about than to experience. It means hard work, the sacrifice of many of the social and athletic features that are important to many boys and girls, and a pretty constant application to academic and remunerative pursuits."

Most college administrative officers and vocational heads agree so completely with this, that they feel that unless a student has good health, superior mental ability and a genuine interest in things intellectual for their own sake, he should not attempt. They say that within reasonable limits it is wholesome. It gives the student a knowledge of the value of money, it gives him contacts with the business world that will be valuable to him when he leaves college; if his work is chosen with an eye to its relation to his vocational plans, it gives him practical experience for the future.

But—

But even the colleges that ordinarily encourage self-help suggest that a student try to bring enough money to see him through the first term while he is making his adjustments to the new life, forming his friendships and getting a good start at his academic work. They also advise having enough money from reserves, loans or scholarships to take care of at least 50 percent of the expenses each year.

It is only the unusual student, they say, who can stand up under the strain of largely supporting himself through college, and at the same time get enough out of it to justify the struggle. Even if he can do so, he probably will not be able to make a sufficiently good record to be recommended for a scholarship. And if he does not win a scholarship he must work harder than ever, thereby injuring his chances of winning a scholarship or a loan later on, an unending circle that may end in his having to give up college altogether.

They advise a student, therefore, either to do part-time remunerative work in high school in order to have the necessary money, or to stay out a year in order to make and save it. It is a wise bit of foresight anyway, if a student is going to have to work his way through college, to fit himself for some definite line of work before coming. The vocational directors of many of the colleges say that their greatest difficulty is in placing students who will do anything, but who can do nothing. There are a great many jobs, of course, of a manual or clerical nature for these students, but there never seems enough of them to go around; nor do they pay much. The boy or girl who is experienced in some one thing, no matter what, is much more likely to get immediate and constant work than the member of a large group of unskilled applicants, and his work will certainly be better paid.

There are students who can do enough work to pay most of their expenses, and can get a great deal out of college besides. But they are exceptions, and their stories throw a roseate hue over the situation that is not justified by the facts and figures.

At one state university there are girls who come to college with hardly enough money to see them through the first weeks. They have to get jobs at once, so they usually take housework in professors' homes. Their lives are a steady, unending grind between babies or dishes, and books, which, since they do not have time to let their imaginations linger over them, are just so many printed pages to them.

Even at this institution, the dean of women tells me girls are urged to borrow sufficient money senior year to enable them to live in a dormitory where they may get something besides the academic out of their college years.

"Of course," she says, "the majority of women find housework the easiest way to pay a large part of their expenses, for they usually get their board and lodging in return for three hours' domestic work each day. And this is not to be sniffed at, I assure you, for despite our talk to the contrary, many employers are not considerate of the times of special stress such as examinations and term papers. Many of them do not even keep their daily demands within the hours agreed upon.

"There are, however, many occupations open to women at which, although they may not earn so much, they find life easier, and certainly get more out of college. Each year we place girls who design Christmas cards, do illustrating and lettering, photography, accompanying, clerical work, who play for teas and dancing classes, who mend, run sorority and club houses, do service shopping, church and newspaper work, operate switchboards, sew, teach bridge, even do hair waving and manicuring."

Women earn at these various occupations from a few dollars for books and amusements to enough to pay for their board, room and tuition.

Men are able to earn more than women, apparently. At Northwestern University they feel that any clever boy in good health may easily earn one-third of his way, or $223, without detriment to his health or work.

1,265 Students Working

At Yale last year 1,265 students, or about 20 percent of the entire University, earned from less than a hundred dollars to as much as $3,000 to $4,000, at forty different occupations, including everything from artists' models to blood transfusion donors and pall bearers, from caretaker, gardeners and janitors to librarians, secretaries and laboratory assistants, from paid officers of the Athletic Association to advertising agents, and as salesmen of neckties, raincoats, shoes, furniture, books, and so forth.

At some colleges the same bureau that handles termtime employment arranges for student employment during the vacations. The summer occupations include, according to the vocational head of a large eastern college who places several hundred students each year, camp councilors and companions and tutors to children, jobs in summer hotels in every capacity from waiters and chambermaids (according to sex) to orchestra members and entertainers. There are also summer positions as concession managers, life guards, golf and tennis teachers, and as bus drivers, guides and porters in the national parks. The average saving from these jobs is about $200.

All of the vocational heads, as well as the heads of student aid organizations within and outside the colleges, mention with satisfaction that in no college is "working one's way" a social stigma. In all of our private colleges, as well as in our state and municipal institutions, we find leaders of all the student activities, class presidents, organization heads, football captains, who are self-help students.

Working one's way, within reasonable limitations, is also not necessarily an academic handicap. A recent report of the Wellesley Student Aid Society mentions with pride that among the sixty-eight girls to whom loans and gifts had been made during the year, there were five members of the Phi Beta Kappa Society.

The dean of a large co-educational university accounts for this social and academic success despite the handicaps for boys and girls who must be wage earners and students at the same time, by the fact that the standards demanded of them are so much more exacting than those for the student body as a whole. Therefore, those who survive this selection and succeed in carrying the double burden are able to do so because they are far above the average in ability, personality and leadership.

There are a number of ways in which the burden can be lightened for boys and girls of ambition and ability. The most desirable way is to win a scholarship. Scholarships are gifts of money varying in amount from $100 or less to sufficient to pay board and tuition for the year. Sometimes they are given for merit regardless of need, sometimes for need, provided the student is worthy as regards scholarship and character.

There are also various loan funds available for worthy students, some administered by the colleges, others—well over a hundred of them—by philanthropic organizations and foundations. Interest varies from none at all to 8 percent in a few institutions, with the largest number charging 6 percent. In many cases interest does not start until the student leaves college, and the length of time the loan may run varies from one year after the date of the loan to five years after graduation.

I asked the dean of a well-known western college if he thought it wise for a student so to buy his education as it were on the installment plan.

"There are varying opinions about that," he replied. "The Harmon Foundation feels that any above-average graduate can handle a debt of $250 to $1,000 by repaying it at the rate of about $10 a month, and still [illegible] dents—and that [illegible] ity for such a [illegible] dent's character and [illegible] granting of it gives [illegible] and a credit standing [illegible] career."

I discussed the [illegible] with the dean of a [illegible] lege for men. He felt [illegible] on the other side.

"I cannot but think [illegible] to borrow money to [illegible] he said. "Life surely [illegible] handicaps for a young [illegible] ling out in the world [illegible] any that can be avoided [illegible] strongly that it is [illegible] dent to leave college [illegible] a debt. For while the [illegible] paid may seem small [illegible] they are overwhelming [illegible] especially when one is [illegible] bedroom and starting [illegible] tional bottom. To repay [illegible] ly must put a quietus [illegible] that the college may [illegible] by necessarily putting [illegible] urgency of immediately [illegible] money than a beginner [illegible] worth or has any right [illegible] the loan be repaid soon [illegible] tion, the need for making [illegible] cludes doing graduate [illegible] though the student's [illegible] require it. It puts many [illegible] dren beyond the possibility [illegible] is paid off."

Educational Insurance

A most excellent method [illegible] to finance a college education [illegible] children is by educational [illegible] By this plan either parent [illegible] his life insured for the [illegible] child's education, so that [illegible] time comes for him to go [illegible] the money is there even if [illegible] is no longer living or able [illegible] For there is a clause that [illegible] ent dies or is permanently [illegible] disabled during the course [illegible] icy, no further payments are [illegible] and the full amount of the [illegible] paid on the dates of maturity. If on the other hand, the parent should die before the maturity of the policy all deposits will be returned to the parent with compound interest.

The cost of a college education varies with the locality, the institution and the individual. In general, according to a recent study made by the Association of American Colleges, tuition at the independent colleges averages higher than at the denominational colleges; the women's colleges average higher tuition rates than the men's, the co-educational less than the men's, while the highest average fees are found in New England, with the Middle Atlantic, Western, Southern and Western and Southern States following in that order. Usually living expenses are in proportion to the tuition rates.

So there are a variety of plans by which our determined young American can pay for his college education, and a variety of ways in which he can help them. In making his plans he should not forget that he will need railroad fare as well as tuition, clothing as well as books, and some amusement as well as food and shelter. It is best that he can best get the kind of education he wants in one of the more expensive colleges, he should not hesitate to apply. Often these institutions have sufficiently more money available for scholarships and loans to more than offset the difference in charges. And no matter how long a line may be waiting at their gates, all colleges are eager for students with intellectual interests, superior ability, good health and ambition. No college would not want this type of boy or girl debarred for financial reasons. Nor need he be.

Bits of Bunk

Big Mans: For you, I would gladly die—
Little Womans: Oh, you would you really die for me
Big Mans: You didn't get my sentence. What I started was that for you I would [illegible]

Now if I had a nickel for every I have kissed, by tomorrow I ought to be able to buy a piece of gum, on credit!

She: Am I the first girl you kissed?
Frosh: Now that you mention it you do look familiar.

SAVING MONEY

Women in the University of Wisconsin may appear downtown in silk stockings, but they are not allowed to go to dinner with men. The young ladies of Madison started a petition of protest.

Doctor (inquiring after patient): Has he swallowed a half dollar or a boy today?
Anxious Mother. No, a boy.—The Satyr.

SPORTING NEWS

Strong Opposition Faces Gridsters in First Games

Amherst Expected to Show Unusual Strength While Harvard Gives Promise of Developing Into Powerful Form—Both Have Large Veteran Nuclei

STARTING LINEUP STILL DOUBTFUL FOR VERMONT

...appearances and on the ... predictions of sports ... Vermont may expect plenty ... in its opening games of ...

... whom Vermont meets to... home field of the Lord ... hard hit in the back ... graduation losses, seems to ... unexpected strength ... backfield will probably in... "Ham" Tener, a heady, ... fullback, and "Bunny" ... exceptionally fast half ... body and long legs make ... difficult to tackle or to ... backs, and Bob Homer. ... other candidates are Lou ... Smead, Cadigan, and De... all of whom had good prep ... records, but were unable to ... Hoskloss and Wilson.

The Saltina line shows signs of ... stronger than ever with nine ... back in college, and one ... E. Ray, who was unable to ... last year. Ray is an end. The ... men who are back are Del ... Kenyon, Drake, Turner, ... Whitnew, McColl, Green ... Moses and Phillips. The lat... a guard, will probably be unable ... play in the U. V. M. game because ... however. One more regular, ... Kirk, has not yet reported but is ... expected soon.

Harvard Strong

Harvard whose schedule the Catamounts ... next Saturday at Cambridge ... appears no less formidable ... promise of developing one ... the strongest elevens in the East. ... Associated Press writer said of ... last week:

"Graduation losses never fell so ... upon a Crimson team and Head ... Arnold Horween and his aides ... plenty of time during the spring ... period to test and season ... promising candidates who would ... have been overlooked in the ... fall rush.

"As a nucleus for his 1930 varsity ... Horween has twenty-one of last ... forty-seven players, including ... fifteen lettermen and five of the ... that started against Yale.

"If he can find competent replacements for the missing "Red" Barrett ... Ticknor, tackles of last year, ... O'Connell and Jim Douglas, ... them on the wings, Har... have a strong line, for Cap... Ticknor, all-American snap... and his sturdy guardsmen, ... Danner and George Talbot, ... to have another great season. ... center trio, which bruised and ... every set of rivals last year, ... supported by an impressive ... of substitutes, such as Henry ... Harley Richards and Joe Cun... all first-class pivotmen, and ... the spare guards are valiants ... Myerson, Bill Ginman, ... Brooks and Jim Easterly.

"Vic Harding, capable forward pass ... has recovered from the dan... injury he suffered in the Yale ... and should gain one of the end ... without great difficulty. Bob ... and Bic Moushegian, who saw ... service last season, will prob... for the other wing. The ... the end squad to exhibit ... are Larry Lovett and Dick ... freshmen last season, and ... Irwin, now back in the good ... Dean Hanford.

"Its greatest strength is be... line, for he has two fine ... combinations ready for ac... great Barry Wood, de... no less an authority than ... ne as 'the greatest for... in football,' is the key... the "A" machine that in... stars as Eddie Mays and ... ers halfbacks, and Bernie ... fullback."

Vermont's Line-up

Coach Dunn will use in Ver... ing line-up is a matter of ... The linesmen now work... almost uniformly good, ... backfield considerably weak... and Jay have been par... on the lateral pass in ... have shown considerable ... make good on off-tackle ...

Saturday's special scrimmage ... used a line-up in the ... Team A which looks a great deal like today's starter. Changes, however, may be expected in some of the heavier positions in the line. The make up of the teams was as follows:

Team A		Team B
Segal, capt., l.e.		r.e., Durfey
Parks, l.g.		r.t., Tilley
George Collins, l.g.		r.g., Tobin
Wood, c.		c., Bowers
Farmer, r.g.		l.g., Maynes
Aronson, r.t.		l.t., M. Cohen
Rugg, r.e.		l.e., Huey
Winant, q.b.		q.b., Bove
Heaton, l.h.b.		r.h.b., Bond
Jay, r.h.b.		l.h.b., Bedell
Tom Collins, f.b.		f.b., McBride, Burr

Meanwhile new candidates continue to report regularly. Among those reporting last week were: A V. Kibbe, end, 160 pounds, 5 feet 9 inches, '32, Randolph; R. W. Boynton, guard, 165 pounds, 5 feet 11 inches, '32, Lebanon, N. H.; J. E. Bigelow, tackle, 195 pounds, 6 feet 2 inches, '33, Fair Haven; A. Bond, halfback, 143 pounds, 5 feet 9 inches, '31, Norwich; H Cohen, 226 pounds, 5 feet 7 inches, '33, Burlington; H. Burr, fullback, 183 pounds, 6 feet 1 inch, '31, Barre; G. L Dorey, halfback, 173 pounds, 5 feet 9 inches, '31, Middlebury; M. D. Eddy, center, 225 pounds, 6 feet 3 inches, '33, Burlington; and G. M. Fienberg, halfback, 150 pounds, 5 feet 9 inches, '33, Bennington.

New Uniforms

Word has come that the Athletic Council has voted new uniforms for the Catamount gridsters whose style will differ radically from that of previous years, the chief difference being in the jerseys, which will be of dark gold and Dartmouth green—not from any desire on the part of Vermont authorities to honor the Hanover colors, but simply because the new material for the jerseys cannot yet be purchased in all shades.

The jerseys, of which there are twenty-seven of the new variety, are made of "airplane" cloth, a practically non-tearable stuff which cannot be caught hold of by opposing players, and which as a result forces tacklers to make a clean tackle or lose their man. The airplane cloth is a khaki material, while the stripes and snug tacks are made of a special knit goods, green in color. In previous years the jerseys have been green with gold stripes and numbers. The numbers this year range from twenty to forty-seven, and will be assigned soon.

The helmets this year will also present a new color scheme. Like all the equipment purchased this year by the athletic department, they are Spalding goods, and about the best that concern puts out. There are fifteen of the new headgear, all made of extra fine quality leather, and with four stripes of green-stained leather running down the sides from the top. Eddie Winant's new head-piece, which is to carry specially inserted glasses, is expected to arrive before the Amherst game, the makers having recently written that it would be shipped, after several delays, on September 24.

There will be twenty-two pieces of each of the other parts of the uniforms. One of the more marked improvements will be in the shoulder pads, which are very flexible and thereby prevent a great deal of the shocks the boys get in their games. The utility of these special shoulder straps alone may pay for the cost of the entire set of new rigging, as the chances for serious injuries are considerably lessened. There are three overlapping segments of fairly hard leather on each side, with a tough piece of elastic underneath the shoulder pads to eliminate more of the shock.

The kidney pads are detachable for the first time in the history of the Green and Gold squads, and are fitted very close, although allowing plenty of action. A new type of thigh guard which can be worn directly on the legs, or attached to either the kidney pads or 'the new-fangled shell pants, will be another improvement in the gridsters' garb. Instead of knee pads, pieces of foam rubber have been sewed into the pants to guard against knee cap injuries, while the stockings, although similar to last year's, will be lighter in weight and closer woven.

The shoes, too, will be different. Nearly twice as expensive as those used in other years, which were worn out at the rate of about two pairs a candidate per season, the toes are made of fairly hard leather, while the rest of the shoe-leather is especially pliable. The shoes for the backfield men are particularly light, and even the soles are extremely flexible. More of the same hoods which were used last year have been added to the equipment, all of which was selected with an eye to the weight of the uniforms, which has been considerably reduced. Another innovation in equipment policy at the University has been the decision to take responsibility out of the hands of the players. Hereafter, the managers will take care of the uniforms, and the players will not have to tote their own in duffle bags as in other years.

The team left for Amherst yesterday, accompanied by Head Coach David Dunn, Line Coach "Bump" Levine and Manager "Emmy" Craig.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

HOME-MADE CANDIES SODAS

Corner Main & Church Streets
LUNCHEONETTE ICE CREAM

FROSH GRIDSTERS AWAIT SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Coach Tully Continues Practices With Large Assembly of Prep School Stars

Bright prospects for a successful Kitten eleven this year are seen by Coach George Tully as the freshman squad, now numbering 38, starts intensive training for the first game, which will be with Vermont Academy two weeks from Saturday. Three of the Green and Gold yearling candidates were stars on the flashy V A team last year and the year before, but that doesn't mean a victory with out hard work, for the V A coach has a way of turning out good teams, and this year should be no exception. He has a squad of 60 men working out under him already.

The Kitten squad is also large, much larger than for several years at this stage of the game, and considerably larger than Coach Tully and Assistant Coach Paul D Cla... thought it would be when the practice sessions began.

Included in the group are many stars with first-class prep school reputations. The complete list of candidates now out for the team is as follows:

W. W. Adams, D. L. Brown, A. A Brosseau, F. R Busch, Sam Bartow, D. Bennett, R. R. Barron, F. F Brown, W. E. Braskie, Thomas Cogswell, A. Cochran, Nelson Dente, Eric Denhoff, Joe Delfansse, A J. Faucher, Joseph Ghillani, H. P Howard, Roland Hurlburt, B. Inman, H. A. Lyford, Henry Lund, R R Murray, S Mintzer, P K Morrison, Jack Morgan, S F Morris, Max L. Powell, Jr., A. D Powell, J. A. Rust, Edward Sowka, Edward Saba, E J. Sylvester, Kenneth Smith, Jim Smith, Paul White, Harold Wasserman, A. S. Wesoly, and Frederick Wagner.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA NAMES LISMAN TO PRESIDENCY

Louis Lisman, '31, was elected president of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating fraternity, at a meeting of the society last Tuesday. Lena Cochran, '31, was elected vice-president and Roberta Powers, '32, secretary-treasurer.

Lisman is a three-year veteran of varsity debating. He holds a debating scholarship and has taken four prizes in debate and two in oratory at the University. Miss Cochran also made the varsity in her freshman year. Miss Powers is ranking debater on the women's varsity, being a veteran of two years of forensic activity. She has held debating and oratorical scholarships and last June took the Boulder debate prize.

SIROIS IS ASSISTANT COACH AT GLOUCESTER

Albert G. "Al" Sirois, substitute fullback on recent Vermont teams, who graduated this spring, has been selected as assistant coach at the Gloucester Mass. High School. Sirois is teaching and working on the line at present, while Head Coach Parkhurst is training the backfield candidates. The Gloucester team is rated strong this year, having played a scoreless tie with Beverley already, although getting off to a late start with only five veterans back.

THREE PASS SWIMMING TEST OF ATHLETIC FRAT

Only three Vermont students passed the swimming tests which are one of the twelve requirements for membership in Sigma Delta Psi, the national athletic fraternity, when the opportunity was given yesterday afternoon at the Yacht Club. The water was cold and choppy, however, so the fact than anybody passed indicates the presence of some strong natatorial ability at Vermont. The requirements could have been passed on indoor swimming, which would have given the boys the benefit of extra speed on turns, but inasmuch as there are no such pools in the city, the candidates had to do without the advantage. The committee which certified the tests consisted of Howard A. Prentice, chairman, Prof P D Clark, Prof R M Smith, and M H Aldrich.

The records of the men who tried out yesterday were as follows:

Tupper, 1 minute, 30 seconds.
Wright, 1 minute, 45 seconds.
Flagg, 1 minute, 44 seconds.
Machanic, 1 minute, 51 seconds.
Boynton, 1 minute, 51 seconds.
Hayes, 1 minute, 56 seconds.
Marchacos, 2 minutes.
Phillips, Mulcahy, and Child failed to finish.

The complete list of requirements is as follows:

Events	Required
1. 100 yd. dash	11⅗ sec.
2. 220 low hurdles	31 sec
3. Running high jump	5 ft.
4. Running broad jump	17 ft.
5. Shot put
6. Pole vault	8 ft., 6 in
7. Baseball throw or Javelin throw	250 ft. 130 ft.
8. Punting football	120 ft.
9. 100 yd. swim	1 min. 45 sec
10. 1 mile run	6 min
11. Tumbling
(a) Front hand spring
(b) Hand stand	10 sec
(c) Fence vault (Body not touching and free from bar)	height at chin
12. Posture	Erect

Traditions

The Daily Student of Indiana claims that the primary reason for the current disregard of college tradition lies in the fact that the obtaining of an education has become more of a business proposition than formerly, and consequently that the number of students who can afford to spend time upholding these traditions is becoming a minority.

Actor: My kingdom—my kingdom for a horse.

Voice from Gallery: Will a jackass do?

Actor: Sure, come right down.

1930 HARRIERS SHOULD HAVE WINNING SEASON

All Veterans Are Back—Post Sending Runners Through Strenuous Practice Sessions

With the entire cross-country team of last year still in college and five strong candidates from last year's freshman team, an unusually successful season is prophesied for the University harriers. The varsity began last week with intensive training. The first meet is not due until October 23, but a good deal of hard work will be required if the U V M runners are to take Amherst, their first opponent, into camp. The Amherst cross-country teams under Coach Lumley have been very successful in recent years.

Coach A T "Archie" Post, who is beginning his second year as coach of the varsity men, hopes to win the State title with ease this year. Last year Vermont placed second to Middlebury's first.

The freshman cross-country team began practice yesterday with only five candidates, but more are expected to come out before the season advances. The Kitten harriers have meets with Saranac High School, Norwich freshmen and Middlebury freshmen. Last year, Middlebury and Saranac both beat Vermont.

Captain Everett Wilder of the Vermont varsity, whose home is in Petersham, Mass., has not yet reported, and neither has Ross Colburn, who was an outstanding man on the frosh team last fall. The other men who have already begun practice are Herbert Leach, '32, Charles L. Park, '32; M I Joslyn, '31; Al Young, '31; Samuel Barker, '32; Frank Buehl, '32; Ralph Hadley, '33; Roy Brooks, '31; Hewitt I. Varney, '32; and Lee Dunham, '33.

The schedule is as follows:

Varsity

Oct. 23—Amherst at Amherst
Nov. 8 Norwich at Burlington
Nov. 15—Middlebury at Middlebury

Freshmen

Oct. 18—Saranac High at Saranac
Nov. 8 Norwich at Burlington
Nov. 15—Middlebury at Middlebury

NOTICES

Women's Glee Club tryouts will be held Wednesday and Thursday, October 1 and 2, at the Music House on South Prospect Street.

Too much kissing among University of Wisconsin eds and coeds has caused an epidemic of trenchmouth, according to a report made by the health officer.

V U. V. M. V
STUDENTS
Make this store your downtown headquarters for Loose-Leaf Supplies, Stationery, Fountain Pens, Art Materials, etc.
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts.
V Phone 629 V

UNLESS YOU'RE HOMESICK YOU'RE ALWAYS HUNGRY NOW AREN'T YOU? IN THESE HARD TIMES A WAY TO SAVE MONEY IS TO BUY A COUPON BOOK, 100 FIVE CENT TICKETS, $5.00's WORTH, FOR $4.50. THE ONLY PLACE YOU CAN USE THEM IS AT THE COFFEE CORNER AND THE SANDWICH CELLAR. YOU CAN'T FIND BETTTR FOOD NOR MORE ACCOMMODATING SERVICE ANYWHERE.

Officers of Official Student Organizations, 1930-31

Bluestockings

Chairman of Social Committee
Winona Spencer, '31

Dramatic Club

Glee Club

Masque and Sandal

Omicron Nu

Honorary home economics society. membership by invitation. officers elected annually by vote of society

Mortar Board

Janice Davis, '31
Ruth Field, '31
Harriet Wright, '31

Pan Hellenic

Press Club

University publicity organization. officers elected annually by plurality vote of club.

President . . Elizabeth Clark, '31
Secretary-treasurer
Beatrice Parkhill, '32
Social Chairman
Pauline Willis, '31

Student Union

Governing organization of women's student body officers elected annually by plurality vote of women students

President . . Margaret Stanley, '31
Vice-president . . Lillian Mount, '32
Secretary . . Harriet Wright, '31
Treasurer . . . . Janice Davis, '31
Chief Justice . . Dorothy Nash, '31
Chairman of Social Calendar
Ruth Field, '31
Chairman of Program Committee
Olive Fields, '32

Women's Athletic Association

Controlling organization of women's athletics officers elected annually by plurality vote of women students, except that representatives are chosen by classes

President . . Isabelle Warhurst, '31
Vice-president . . Lillian Mount, '32
Treasurer . . Constance Hubert, '31
Recording Secretary
Eleanor Koenig, '31
Corresponding Secretary
Caroline Taft, '33
Council Chairman
Mildred Akins, '32
Editor . . Harriet Wright, '31
Publicity Manager
Doris Marston, '31
Chairman . . Vera Chadburn, '31
Senior representatives
Eleanor Koenig, '31
Harriet Wright, '31
Junior representative
Lois Harrington, '32
Sophomore representative
Caroline Taft, '33
Freshman representative
To be elected

Y. W. C. A.

University branch of Intercollegiate Women's Christian Association. officers elected annually by plurality vote of cabinet.

President . . . . Lillian Mount, '32
Vice-president
Secretary
Treasurer

Other women officers of student organizations are

Ariel

Woman's Editor
Business Director, '31

Class of 1931

Faculty
Ruth Field
Jean Wappler

Class of 1932

Secretary
Representatives on Faculty
Katrina Munn

Lillian Mount

Class of 1933

Vice-president . . Shirley Nichols
Secretary . . . . Margaret Wharton

Cynic

Woman's Editor . . Hilda Smith, '31

Debate

Assistant Manager
Roberta Powers, '32

Eta Sigma Phi

Vice-president . . Helen Drugg, '31
Secretary . . . . . Lucy Hope, '32

John Dewey Club

Vice-president . . Hilda Smith, '31
Secretary-treasurer
Ruth Burroughs, '31

Tau Kappa Alpha

Vice-president . . Lena Cochran, '31
Secretary-treasurer
Roberta Powers, '32

Winnowings from the Mill

Editor . . . . . Margaret Rice, '31
Business manager
Margaret Martin, '31

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Margaret Wallace, '28, has been visiting in Burlington recently.

Sara Wescott '31 has returned from a year of study in France and Kathryn Rauh, '32, is spending her junior year there.

Dorothy Hall '28 was married to Allan Barclow of Norwich on August 30. Rachel Skinner, Eleanor Lockwood and Miriam Lawrence, all of the class of '28, attended her as bridesmaids.

PI BETA PHI

Helen Willard, ex-'30, has returned to college after a year's work at the Pi Phi headquarters in Hartford, Conn.

Doris Skinner, '31, who has been absent from college for a year because of ill health is continuing her college course.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Julia Waterman '30, has returned to do graduate work in English at the University.

Dorothy Barrows, '26, was married to Hjalmar Aronson, '27, in Stowe on June 26. Mr. Aronson is a member of Delta Psi Fraternity.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Caroline Howard '32 is spending her junior year in France.

Janice Wagner, ex-'31, is attending the Katherine Gibbs School in New York.

The Alpha Xi Delta Convention was held in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. from June 28 to July 5.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Gertrude Bingham, ex-'31 is visiting friends at the University before she leaves for Michigan State College.

SIGMA GAMMA

Grace Crofton and Cora Sargent, ex-'30 who have been teaching during the past year have returned to college.

KAPPA DELTA

Irene Marcotte, '30, is teaching at the Winooski High School.

A rummage sale will be held October 1 at the Star Hose House.

Roxena Allen, Helen Allbee, '30, and and Kathryn Wright, '28, are teaching in Vergennes.

K. E. L.

Esther Fishman and Sophie Levin, ex-'32 have returned to the University.

Edith Fishman, '29, was awarded a fellowship in psychology at Clark University and has begun her studies there.

Elanore Isaacs, ex-'32, is studying this year at William and Mary College.

Vernon Vickers: What would you do if you had a million dollars?

Zara Hutchinson: I would go on a honeymoon.

THE MUSE CONVERSES

"Sacred Cows"

Several changes noted on the red cows' udders appearing when U. S. Commissioner to assess on the average American campus. Included were athletics, college and national administration, the fraternity and sorority situation, and the R. O. T. C.

One Letter

An investigation between major and minor sports has been originated at Amherst, and one letter is now given to all athletes.

Studies First

Maurice McCarthy of Georgetown University, captain of basketball and former intercollegiate golf champion, turned down an invitation to play on the Walker Cup team. He reasoned that his studies came first and to play on the team meant forfeiture of his degree in June.

Ideal Prof.

The requirements of an ideal professor according to a co-ed at B. U. are as follows: He must be about sixty years old, must be familiar with the works of great writers and must know a little of everything and everything about some particular subject in which he is interested. He must look the part of a man of superior intelligence and last but not least a goatee or a mustache is preferable.

Although not listed in the catalogue, one of the most efficacious of university traditions is that no book shall cost less than four dollars and that they shall be changed every quarter.—Utah Chronicle.

A certain Scotchman would not go to war for fear it would cost him his life.

"I hear they're starting a new campaign against malaria."

"Good heavens! What have the Malarians done now?"—Penn State Froth.

An article in the Daily Northwestern recently stated the advantages of being an athlete and seeing the world without joining the Marines, and wound up with "Not is the wanderlust appeased only by athletes. One may attend Bates College, down in Maine and participate in grand debate tours from Europe to New Zealand and back."

Art Student: I want a camel's hair brush.

Dumb Clerk: What kind of hair brushes do camels ordinarily use?

Two fraternities at the University of Minnesota were quarantined for three weeks because of a scarlet fever epidemic.

"Gimme a nickel's worth of sorts."

"Sorry, but I'm outa sorts today."—Penn State Froth.

FOOTBALL ENTHUSIASTS ATTEND RULES CONFAB

Football officials, coaches, and managers from nearly every Vermont secondary school and college met at the University gymnasium Thursday evening to hear Joseph B. Pendleton, well-known football expert, explain the new 1930 rules of the grid game.

The rules this year are for all effects and purposes the same as last year, the majority of the changes being mere recodifications of the old rules. Under the existing rules, all of the officials must watch for fouls, but the referee will have the last say as to whether a foul has been committed or not. This rule is intended to prevent any passing of the buck, but although theoretically sound, in practice the entire burden may be shifted to the referee because of his position as final arbiter.

Another change, a minor one, requires that all players must stay still for at least one second before setting the ball in play after the team on the offensive uses a formation requiring a shift. Last year the rules specified the time should be "about one second." Another slight change makes all passes, whether forward or lateral, belong to the team whose player last touched the ball on the field of play or in the end zone at the point where the ball crossed the side line.

Several of the rules have been recodified and the wording changed in the process naturally but the important changes this year were less than in years, and the general consensus of opinion seems to be that the football game has more or less reached a stage of equilibrium and that few changes will be required in the years to come unless too much emphasis should be placed on some particular department of the game such as passing, punting or rushing.

Half Fare

The status of college students was recently called into question by a railroad company which was puzzled to know whether to rate them as school children and thus allow them to ride for half fare on the cars.

The Carleton College symphony band has departed on its annual winter tour. The band which comprises fifty-one pieces will travel more than 5,000 miles, give sixty concerts, and will be away from college for one month.

Coeds at Ohio Wesleyan University have been ordered by the dean of women to quit smoking cigarettes in public eating houses and other places where the public may gaze on them.

A meeting of the graduate faculty at Yale University was broken up recently when a bat entered the room where the meeting was in progress and the entire faculty assembled began to chase it.

Ballroom dancing for faculty members is the name of a new course to be added in the department of physical education for women at the University of Oregon.

"Let us," said the alderman, "put our heads together and make a concrete road."—Ingleside.

"ARLIE" POND OF BASEBALL FAME IS DEAD AT CEBU

(Continued from page 1)

Fighting the Plague

After Doctor Pond was mustered out of the military service following the Spanish-American War, he could have returned to America, expenses paid. But he and Mrs. Pond, who was Elizabeth Stitt Gambrill and a charming Baltimore girl, decided to remain in the Philippines and fight disease.

The Spanish régime had done nothing to check the spread of the appalling plagues of bubonic, cholera, smallpox and leprosy. The new American government knew that it must clean up the Philippines.

So Doctor Pond entered the health service and went south about 400 miles from Manila to Cebu. In the smallpox fight Doctor Pond compulsorily vaccinated over a million people, the whole population of the island of Cebu.

Doctor Pond is survived by his wife, two brothers, Dr. William R. Pond of Rutland and Abbott S. Pond of New York City, and by one sister, Mrs Mary Pond Lyman of Rutland. He had no children.

Was Here in '29

Dr. and Mrs. Pond visited in Rutland and other places in Vermont during the month of July, 1929.

In an article written early this year by Robert E. Lewis of the class of 1892, describing a visit to Doctor Pond in Cebu, appears the following paragraph:

"I was a guest at a luncheon in Cebu and said something about Doctor Pond to the toastmaster, Mr. Rosales, manager of the National Government Bank. His remark was significant: 'Doctor Pond is our leading citizen; his bones will lie in Cebu.' Such were his thoughts of this Vermonter and his identification with the fortunes of the Philippines, where he has acquired not only reputation but fortune."

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

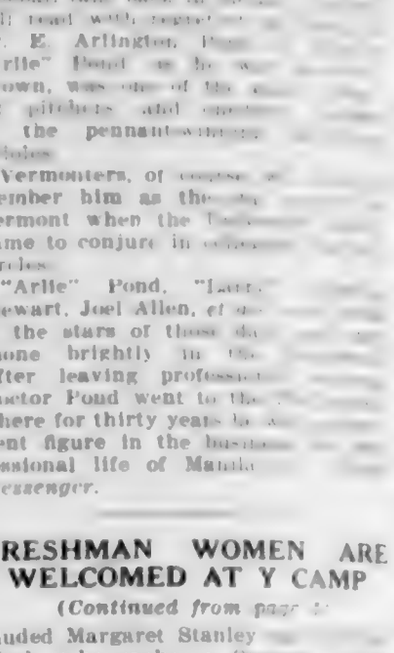
REPRESENTATIVE WANTED

Manufacturer of fine men's shirts offers liberal inducement for sales representative in this college. Product featured with preshrunk, non-curling collar. Innumerable patterns. One line sells—4 shirts for $5—another, 3 shirts for $8.95, made-to-measure in all sizes, sleeve lengths, pockets, etc. Special attention given to any style wanted. Over 200 patterns. Other shirts still higher in price. These sell on sight. Wonderful opportunity to earn big money. Write for details. Monzin Shirt Co., Bridgeport, Conn.

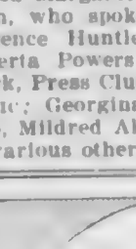
RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
Where you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

"ARLIE" POND

Many old timers, who were baseball fans back in the [illegible] will read with regret [illegible] Dr. E. Arlington, [illegible] "Arlie" Pond as he was known, was one of the [illegible] pet pitchers and [illegible] of the pennant-winning Orioles.



Vermonters, of course, remember him as the [illegible] Vermont when the [illegible] name to conjure in baseball circles.



"Arlie" Pond, "Larry" Stewart, Joel Allen, et al, of the stars of those days shone brightly in the [illegible]. After leaving professional baseball Doctor Pond went to the Philippines where for thirty years he was a prominent figure in the business and professional life of Manila.—Messenger.

FRESHMAN WOMEN ARE WELCOMED AT Y CAMP

(Continued from page 1)

cluded Margaret Stanley [illegible] Nash, who spoke on [illegible] Florence Huntley on [illegible] Roberta Powers on the [illegible] Clark, Press Club; Harriet [illegible] Cynic; Georgina Hubert [illegible] digo, Mildred Akins and [illegible] on various other activities.

Hear this merry, merry melody of happy heartbeats set to music . . . recorded for Victor—and how! by Gus Arnheim and his high-voltage orchestra.
Other Victor Record hits, too . . . each one "the Broadway berries"—sweet or hot—for every mood and moment.
The greatest artists and orchestras record exclusively for Victor, in every field.

22505—GO HOME AND TELL YOUR MOTHER
I'm Doin' That Thing
Gus Arnheim & Orch.
22506—Confessin'
My Bluebird was Caught in the Rain
Rudy Vallee & Orch.
22515—Sing
I Still Get a Thrill
Ted Weems & Orch.
23000—Okay Baby
I Want a Little Girl
McKinney's Cotton Pickers

NOW . . .
BRAHMS SYMPHONY No. 2 in D MAJOR recorded by STOKOWSKI and the Philadelphia [illegible]
Hear this great masterpiece [illegible]
Album M-82, Victor Records [illegible]

The Music You Want When You Want It On
Victor Records
RCA VICTOR CO., Inc. CAMDEN, N. J.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1930 — NUMBER 3

Freshman Enrollment Totals 358 As Classes Open 1930-31 Session

Forty-two Students Enter Freshman Class in Medicine—Men Outnumber Women in Academic Colleges, 195 to 121

enrollment, up until last Tuesday night, totaled 358, this number enrolling in the College of Medicine. ers enrolled in the two-year teacher-training cur-

3[illegible] in the academic colleges, 195 were men and 121 The total enrollment of the University is limited to 1,000 freshmen are:

Abbott, Franklin.

Ewen Adams, Jr., Bur-

neve Allen, South Royal-

Anderson, Peekskill, Science).

Andrews, Yonkers, N. Y.,

erite Andrus, Waitsfield, alone, Woodbury (Prezalone, Woodbury (Pre-kin, Newport (4-year T.

Armstrong, Bennington

les Arnold, Jr., Burling-

Allison Austin, Middlebury

Lucas Austin, Burlington ence).

belle Backus, Moretown (2-

Gardner Bailey, Delmer, N. Y. (G. S.).

Royce Baldwin, North Fer- (Ag.).

Ezra Ball, Bristol (C. E.).

Arthur Bannon, Glens Falls, N. Y. (Pre-Med.).

Marion Barnum, Bristol Home Ec.).

Ellen Mercedes Barrett, St. Johnsbury (Social Science).

Ralph Raymond Barron, Winchester, Mass. (Com. & Ec.).

Kenneth Wilbur Barrows, Essex Junction (C. E.).

Samuel Barton, Quincy, Mass. (Com. & Ec.).

Martha Ruth Bates, Greensboro (2-year T. T.).

Ellinor Francis Bean, Brooklyn, N. Y. (Social Science).

John Luther Beckley, Great Neck, N. Y., (L. S.).

Marvin Newell Beebe, Swanton (Eng.).

Hattie Elizabeth Beers, Bennington (4-year T. T.).

Barbara Belcher, Maplewood, N. J. (Social Science).

Dayton Ernest Bennett, Burlington (Social Science).

Mary Warburton Bennett, Springfield (L. S.).

Martin Berger, Burlington (Pre-Med.).

Marjorie Mildred Billings, Bristol, (T. T.).

Ronald Hollis Bingham, Enosburg Falls (C. E.).

Benjamin S. Birnbaum, New Britain, Conn. (Social Science).

Alida May Bixby, Essex Center (Social Science).

Arthur Bretagne Blakey, Great Neck, N. Y. (M. E.).

William Carl Bottger, Winchester, Mass. (M. E.).

Charles Alfred Bowker, Saranac Lake, N. Y. (G. S.).

William Edward Braskie, Monson, Mass. (G. S.).

William Walsh Brislin, Rutland (Cl.).

Dorothy Lillian Brock, Groton (4-year T. T.).

Albert Anatole Bronseau, Highgate, (Pre-Med.).

Charlotte Margaret Brown, Jackson Heights, N. Y. (Social Science).

Linwood Foster Brown, Winchester, Mass. (Com. & Ec.).

Onslow Levi Brown, Vergennes (G. S.).

Stella Adaline Brown, Montpelier (L. S.).

William Albert Brown, Jr., West Hartford, Conn. (G. S.).

Thelma Clara Buchanan, Derby (Home Ec.).

Stella Frances Buker, Cambridge (Home Ec.).

(To be continued)

MORTAR BOARD PLANS ANNUAL PICNIC THURSDAY

Freshman Women Are Especially Urged to Attend at Burlington Bathing Beach Next Week

There will be doings aplenty next Thursday or Friday, it seems. Mortar Board has released the following pronouncement:

Freshman women attention! One of the biggest social events of the college year is at hand. Again Mortar Board, the senior honorary society, announces that its annual picnic will take place Thursday, October 2, or Friday, in case of rain, at the Burlington bathing beach, more generally known as North Shore.

It is customary for the upperclasswomen who act as big sisters to the freshman women during their first weeks at college, to escort their little charges to the scene of activities. If somehow during the hustle and bustle of college, a freshman should as not as yet been taken under the wing of an upperclasswoman, it is her privilege to adopt a big sister.

The attractions for the picnic are legion. Mortar Board's ingenuity, with the help of W. A. A., can make the event officially begins at four o'clock, the early arrivals don bathing suits and brave the freezing waters of Lake Champlain. Interspersed with water sports are land sports in the form of games for the whole group. Hither and yon will dot bonfires for the benefit of gossipy souls who prefer to while away time warming their toes and fingers.

Food will be served as near six o'clock as amateur cooking will allow, and when food has disappeared the spirit will again hold forth in the form of competition. Each class will stage a stunt for the amusement and enlightenment of those unfortunates between the acts, so to speak, and each class will have an opportunity to pour out its mighty voice in song with the other classes there present in tune.

The picnic is to be a jolly affair. No freshman woman should miss it; no upperclassman would miss it. Let's go!

ALL DORMITORIES ELECT OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

With the election of house presidents and committees completed, dormitory officers are announced as follows:

Slade Hall—house president, Esther Wheeler; senior representative of house committee, Verna Parker; junior, Lois Harrington; sophomore, Priscilla Perry; freshman, Mary Bennett; fire captain, Louise Manson '32.

Robinson Hall—president, Esther Mandigo; committee; Natalie Hawley, Crystal Lawes, Freda Page and Katherine Shaw; fire captain, Cherolyn Barber.

Grassmount—president, Ruth Spear; committee; Pauline Willis, Lillian Andrews, Pearl Jennings, Elizabeth Gaggarty. Two members were chosen from the senior class because no freshmen are living in the dormitory. Elizabeth Clark is the fire captain.

Rand House—president, Barbara LeBaron; committee Eleanor Smith, Vivian Hubbard, Dorothia Edwards, Betty Googel, fire captain, Hilda Smith.

Allen House—president, Lena Cochran; committee members Lucy Hope, Edna Herridon, Marjorie Scott and Virgina Yewell; fire captain, Winifred Graham.

At campus House Marjorie Bracken is the house president and the committee is composed of Jean Beldon, '31, Emily Maslen, '32, and Elsie Roose, '32.

COOPERATION IS URGED IN BIG SISTER MOVEMENT

Lillian Mount, '32 vice-president of Student Union and in charge of the Big Sister movement, urges all upperclasswomen who have been assigned little sisters to be sure to look them up and get acquainted. The main purpose of the system is to help the freshman woman adjust themselves to college life and to make friends at the beginning of the year. Everybody must cooperate in order to make the plan a success.

FRESHMEN BANQUET AND HEAR V. C. A. PRESIDENTS, POWERS AND DEAN TALK

Dykhuizen Presides—Class of 1934 Is Informed of Associations' Activities

An imposing array of student and faculty speakers featured the freshman banquet, last of the official freshman welcomes sponsored by the Vermont Christian Association, which was held at the Hotel Van Ness last Friday evening.

Lillian Mount and Richard Cowles represented the men's and women's Christian associations at the University, and Hewitt Varney spoke on Mountain Day. Mr. Powers also represented the Christian Association, while last on the program came the versatile Prof. Leon Dean of the English department. Prof. George Dykhuizen acted as master of ceremonies.

The Y. W. C. A. at Vermont is going to be a very active organization in the future, declared Miss Mount, first speaker on the program. She also explained that the organization has a new constitution, drawn up last fall. The list of the Y. W.'s activities includes the freshman camp for women, which was held this fall at Camp Ziptekana, the running of dances and socials, and cooperation with the men's organization in giving the banquet and running the campaign for the student union building. On October 4 the Y. W. C. A. will hold a membership drive, and hopes to have 100 percent cooperation from all University women.

Richard Cowles extended the hearty greetings of the Christian Association and explained the diversified activities of the association.

V. C. A. Activities

"First among the varied activities of the V. C. A.," explained Cowles, "is running the Freshman Camp, which always has been successful and which will be better in the future. Then there is the freshman handbook and the freshman banquet and dance, the latter being a new experiment to aid the freshman class in getting acquainted, and to show that there is something besides hard work to college."

He also explained that the V. C. A. is very much interested in the Northfield conferences, and in sponsoring good lecturers at Vermont for the International Institute. The V. C. A. maintains an office in the Old Mill, and Mr Powers is always in attendance ready to help those seeking places to eat, sleep or work.

Cowles concluded by offering three bits of advice.

"First," he said, "study diligently; second, make many friends while in College; and third, keep spiritual affairs always in mind."

Hewitt Varney next undertook the task of advertising Mount Mansfield.

"If it pays to advertise so small a thing as a cigarette," said Varney, "surely it should pay to advertise so large a thing as Mount Mansfield."

He went on to explain that October 4 all classes are to be omitted, and that students will have a great opportunity to hike the mountain and look it over.

As the University owns a large strip of land on the top of Mansfield it is often called the back campus.

There will be an advance sale of tickets to see how much interest Mountain Day arouses among the students.

Mr Powers, also speaking for the V. C. A. declared that this year's was the best looking freshman class that he had ever seen.

"The real way to get acquainted," said Mr Powers, "is to eat and visit together and that is why the freshman banquet was instituted."

(Continued on page 2)

Dean's List Shows Eighty-Four Made High Grades

Men and Women in Arts College Place Almost Equal Number Among High Ranking Students—Classes Also Show Equal Representation

TWENTY-ONE STUDENTS GET BETTER THAN B

A surprising similiarity is revealed between the scholastic records of men and women and among those of the three upper classes in the Dean's list for the year 1929-30, just released from the office of Dean Elijah Swift.

The list which contains the names of eighty-four students in the College of Arts and Sciences, shows thirty five men and forty-eight women, but eleven of the latter are enrolled in the teacher training courses. The class of 1931 places twenty-five students and the classes of 1932 and 1933 place twenty-four each.

Ten Percent Make List

Fully ten percent of the College of Arts and Sciences is represented, the senior and junior classes placing even larger proportions. Taken by courses, the list reveals the following numbers: Literary-Scientific, 23; Classical, 22; General Science, 3; Commerce and Economics, 9 (including two secretarial); Chemistry, 3; and special, 1. The Classical course placed 23 percent of its enrollment on the list.

Prominent students on the list include C. W. Knapp, president of Eta Sigma Phi; L. Lisman, editor of the Cynic and president of Tau Kappa Alpha and of the John Dewey Club; Dorothy Nash, chief justice of Women's Student Union; R. B. Aiken, vice president of Wig and Buskin; G. R. Brush, editor of the 1931 Ariel; R. H. Cowles, president of the V. C. A.; L. M. Foster, sports editor of the Cynic; G. R. Nelson, manager of debate; G. H. Smead, vice-president of the International Relations Club; Hilda Smith, women's editor of the Cynic and vice-president of the John Dewey Club; Jean Wappler, women's editor of the 1931 Ariel; F. W. Householder, news editor of the Cynic; Roberta Powers, women's editor of the 1932 Ariel and manager of women's debate; and S. B. Barker, secretary of Grey Friars.

The List

In making out the list an A was counted as 95 percent, a B as 85 percent, a C as 75 percent and a D as 65 percent. An A average means a record with no grade below A; ½ A-½ B is an average of 90 percent or better; a B average is an average of 85 percent or better. Nothing below 85 percent is regarded as a B average. A student may, however, have grades below B, provided these are balanced by a sufficient number of grades of A, and still attain an A average.

The list follows:

A Average

1931

C. W. Knapp.

1933

F. B. Drew.

½A—½B

1931

E. J. Desautels, L. Lisman (incomplete), Esther Mandigo, Dorothy Nash.

1932

C. K. Bush, R. T. Connor, F. W. Householder, Elizabeth Mosher, Roberta Powers, H. I. Varney, Margaret Watkins.

1933

Sylvia Boyd, Norma Carder, R. F. Colburn, Elizabeth Eckhard, Mildred Hastings, Dorothy Jackman, E. J. Swinyer, L. L. Woodward.

B Average

1931

Edith Abbott, R. B. Aiken, A. O. Aronson, Dorothy Brown, G. R. Brush, Elizabeth Clark, June Corwin, R. H. Cowles, J. C. Cunningham, L. M. Foster, G. R. Nelson, G. W. Pierce, R. J. Roche, A. Sharples, Jr., G. H. Smead, Hilda Smith, Winifred Stone, J. B. Vander, Jean Wappler (incomplete), T. S. Webster.

1932

S. B. Barker, Cornelia Bayliss, Edna Blackwood, Natalie Carleton, Evelyn DeBrune, Ruth Goss, Rosetta Harlow, Caroline Howard, R. B. Jenks, Crystal Lawes, T. D. Loudon, A. A. Maislen, Elizabeth Mandigo, Lillian Mount, Florice Murch, Agnes Parsons, Eleanor Smith.

1933

M. L. Bergman, Pauline Bigelow, W. W. Bryan, E. R. Carter, R. F. Donaghy, J. D. Erit, Leah Gowen, Grace Johnson, Gladys LaFlamme, M. R. Levin, Shirley Nichols, Charlotte Odell, Genevieve Petse, Esther Smith, A. F. Whiting.

Teacher Training (two and four year)

Mildred Akins, Ara Armstrong, Cora Hutchins, Frances Ladd, Erlene Littel, Lucy Manley, Dorothy Metcalfe, Jennie Needham, Emma Rock, Martha Whitlock, Effie Winn.

The following is a list of students who attained a B average for one semester only—not for the year 1929-30. (The numbers in parentheses indicate the semester.)

1931

Alberta Berry (1), Catherine Corcoran (2), Helen Drugg (1), J. F. Lynch (1), Rena Merrill (2), E. B. Rand (1), F. S. Smith (2), Constance Stone (1).

1932

Christine Bliss (1), Doris Brennan (2), Edna Herridon (2), Eleanor Isaac (2), G. A. McIntyre (2), Katrina Munn (1), Donna Oakes (1), H. C. Torrey (1).

1933

C. S. Brown (2), Dorothy Edwards (2), Eleanor Eggleston (2), P. P. Fisher (1), A. Gardner (2), Antoinette Hubbard (2), C. W. Janke (2), Mary Petras (1), R. B. Talbert (2), Marion Urie (1).

Teacher Training

Mrs. Pearl Brown (2), Ethelda Miller (2), Freda Page (2), Calista Pecue (2), Ruth Savage (1), Mary Thomson (2).

FIFTEEN NEW MEMBERS ARE ADDED TO FACULTY

Four of the New Fellows and Two Instructors Are Recent Vermont Graduates

Six fellows, eight instructors and one professor will swell the faculty this year.

Of the six who are receiving fellowships from the University, four are graduates of Vermont, one is from Mount Holyoke College and one from Smith College. Major B. Jenks, Lillian Cohen, and E. O. Hundy, all of the class of '30, have received fellowships in History, French, and Physics, respectively. Esperance Lamphere, a graduate of Vermont in the class of '29 has one in Plant Pathology. Miss Elizabeth Wiss, Smith College '29, has received a fellowship in Greek while Miss Shirley Andrews, Mt. Holyoke, has one in French.

The fellows receive $700 the first year and $800 during the second. They must teach eight hours a week in order to attain their degree.

In addition to the fellows, there are nine new faces on the faculty this year. Two of the new instructors graduated from the University last June but the others are new to Vermont. Several of last year's professors are taking a well-earned rest and are enjoying a leave period, while five instructors have left permanently.

New Faculty Men

The new faculty members include Professor P. D. Evans new head of the History Department, Miss Althea Page, instructor in Geology; E. A. Anderson and T. J. Cauley, instructors in Economics; G. C. Crooks, instructor in Chemistry; H. B. Kiphuth, instructor in German; H. M. Macomber, instructor in Latin; E. Allen, instructor in Mechanical Engineering, and Miss Catherine Courtney, instructor in Education.

(Continued on page 3)

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Margaret Mercer, '32
Managers
G. E. Wilder, '32

Published at Mercury Press weekly during the college year
All [illegible] must be signed by the writer. Any local notices should be handed [illegible] to 301 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All [illegible] should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all [illegible] to the Editorial Chair, Phi Sigma Delta House
Entered at the postoffice at Burlington as special rate provided for in [illegible] of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1926
[illegible] Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 September 26, 1930 No 1

THOU SHALT NOT . . . .

[illegible] freshman, who knows nothing of the problems that will arise over night in a University campus, problems for which he is not sure will propose solutions which long ago, perhaps, became matter of history, the solemn pronouncements just reiterated by the Interfraternity Conference may at first blush appear but meaningless formalities.

It is important, therefore, that he should learn as early as possible that the enforcement of the rules laid down by the Conference is essential to his welfare. They are rules arrived at after many years of experiment, rules which are the outcome of many a freshman's regrets at having affiliated himself with the wrong fraternity group.

The rules ostensibly designed to maintain friendly relations among the various fraternities actually serve a far more important purpose besides. They are the freshman's safeguard, his protection against the evils of too early rushing.

When so many as seven fraternities are striving to influence a freshman in their favor such protection is necessary. Were there but two or three fraternities on the campus, a freshman would not find it difficult to decide with which and to affiliate himself for in so small a group one invariably stands out on the campus.

The problem of the average freshman at Vermont is different, however. A fraternity when it discovers what it considers good material, will seek to [illegible] him before another group has an opportunity to discover his qualities. The freshman however, may not fit into the group which may have more to get from him that he from it. Hence the necessity of affording the newcomer an opportunity to [illegible] himself without being prejudiced in his attitude by any man eager to advance the cause of his own group, with the men who form the fraternity represented on the campus.

To this end the Interfraternity Conference has fixed a preferential period which must not be violated, in practice or in spirit, by any one of its seven members. During this period the freshman should look about him but should not be too hasty in coming to conclusions. A fraternity will give him considerable time for he should determine to which fraternity, taking most of the men with whom he would care to associate himself. A fraternity will give him a certain standing on the campus in direct proportion to the extent and quality of its own activity on the campus. Therefore he should investigate each fraternity's reputation for activity in its various activities and its scholastic standing. We cannot emphasize too strongly the freshman's obligation to familiarize himself with a fraternity whose spirit of scholarship is of the highest, whose members are well-known on campus, and which is properly represented. Above all however the freshman must avoid rumors and the opinions of prejudiced persons. We suggest that he consult the files of the Cynic, the opinions of disinterested persons and the results of his own personal observation during the formal rushing period.

Meanwhile let him respect the preferential weeks and make it easy for the upperclassmen to do the like. He should not ask for advice concerning fraternities of any member of a Conference fraternity, he should not attempt to enter a fraternity house, he should not seek any of those forms of "entertainment" which are forbidden in the Conference rules and should acquaint himself with, and observe, the other rules as well.

Open house nights are coming. There will be time enough then to think more seriously of fraternity.

A Student-at-Large

[illegible] column is conducted informally by a member [illegible] and a member prepared for a position on the paper. Each column is prepared by a different author and the Cynic assumes no responsibility for their contents.)

This week being the [illegible] writer requested ideas for this column [illegible] band not [illegible] games [illegible] participate. Right—he is a [illegible] of the band. But not such a bad idea, is it. Wouldn't the [illegible] U. V. M. band present a much more [illegible] appearance if the members were neatly and attractively clad? Probably the military department will say that as it is the R. O. T. C. Band it is only fitting and proper that the members should wear the R. O. T. C. uniform. But let us understand first of all that the student body does not want the military department of the University for its splendid cooperation in this respect. But that does not alter the fact that the uniforms, or "monkey suits," as the students call them, do not make a very impressive sight. And the band members know that they are messy looking and so lose their pride which only makes matters worse. Now, the band for this year has all the symptoms of being one of the best in the history of the University. Why not have it the best in appearance as well as in sound? White ducks with green stripes on each side and green army coat and cap wouldn't be so bad and would still conform to military requirements. This is only a suggestion. But the band should have new uniforms.

Boulder Week is coming soon—the week of the first home football game. At that time the student body will, in all probability, be asked to make some demonstration of its college spirit. This means the whole student body—not a hundred freshmen and fifty upperclassmen. Never mind that movie downtown—that can wait. But college never waits. We are here four years, so let's make them a glorious four years. That means four years devoted to study and recreation. You get out of college just what you put into it. You know that you get from your courses only the result of your efforts in study. So you get from the other phases of college life just what you put into them. You want it all, of course. Here will be the opportunity to realize dividends from those things outside of the classroom. Let's all turn out when the time comes. The football team is working hard—let's show them that we can work hard when the proper time arrives.

The administration deserves a long "Vermont" cheer from the student body. Why? Because they gave us the Frosh Mixer. Of course, Boulder did the actual work, but the administration backed the senior society. And at what social function do you have as much fun as at the Mixer? Then is the time that practically every student turns out. All barriers drop, for each and every one is intent upon enjoying himself. What would college opening be without the Frosh Mixer? Again, let's give the old "V-e-r-m-o-n-t" for the administration.

During the recent fracas between the two lower classes an unfortunate accident occurred to one of our newcomers. It was the fault of no one in particular—it was just one of those things that happen for no particular reason save to inconvenience someone. But since the accident occurred in a class scrap, it is only fitting that the student body should bear the burden as much as possible. The officials of Student Senate have promised some action, as this matter comes within their jurisdiction. But nothing has been done as yet. Let's go, Student Senate.

Of Vermont traditions and Gold Key. Gold Key has been accused of being a group interested in paddling freshmen. But Gold Key doesn't care whether it paddles freshmen or not. But Gold Key does insist that certain traditions be observed. The society has enough to do without playing nurse maid to a group of freshmen. Last most of the freshmen knew nothing of the Vermont traditions before they reached college. Why? Because one man in the student body decided that he didn't believe in the Vermont traditions and so he left the traditional freshman rules out of the Freshman Handbook. Consequently, Gold Key must continually be reminding the new students of these traditions. And traditions do play a very real part in college life—they form the foundation for cooperation all through college life—they are the common meeting ground. The freshmen are on probation, and have yet to show their stuff. In the classroom their marks will be the indication. On the campus their observance and participation in the Vermont traditions will be the yardstick. The challenge is set clearly before the class of 1934—are you going to make the grade?

In fraternities. A fraternity is a great organization, when properly handled. But most freshmen know nothing about them. Consequently here at Vermont we have an Interfraternity Council and rushing rules. This is primarily to prevent the freshman's joining a fraternity hastily in a week and then regretting it all the rest of his life. Freshmen, give the fraternities a break. Visit all of them during open house nights. There are a lot of good fellows on the hill—all of them are not in just one house. Also, that will prove an excellent way to become better acquainted.

Traditions again. We have one here at Vermont which says that all freshmen shall say "hello" to everyone they meet. An excellent tradition. For this is a democratic college. Everyone should be acquainted. And how better to become acquainted than through a cheery "hello"? Freshmen, the upperclassmen will speak to you if you give them a chance. But so far you have been too bashful. You've been royally entertained for two weeks. Now let's see you smile and let's hear your voice say "hello."

Social Calendar, 1930-31

September
16-17—Tuesday and Wednesday, freshman opening.
17—Wednesday, picnic supper at Robinson.
18—Thursday, fountain fight.
20—Saturday, freshman mixer.
26—Friday, freshman banquet and dance.
27—Saturday, Newman Club dance.
October
1—Women's mass meeting. Mountain Day (?)
4—Saturday, Gold Key dance.
8—Wednesday, open house.
10—Friday, Boulder smoker.
11—Saturday, football here; Boulder dance.
14—Tuesday, open house.
15—Faculty recital.
17—Friday, open house.
21—Tuesday, open house.
23—Thursday, open house.
24—Friday, rushing dates.
27-30—Monday and Thursday, rushing.
31—Friday, bids.
November
1—Rensselaer game here—Mortar Board dance.
7—Friday, Key and Serpent smoker.
8—Saturday, Norwich game here—Key and Serpent dance.
11—Tuesday, Armistice Day.
14—Friday, class plays.
15—Saturday, men's fraternities.
21—Friday, Glee Club and dance.
22—Saturday, women's fraternities.
27—Thursday, Thanksgiving; Y. M. C. A. dance.
28—Friday, men's fraternities.
29—Saturday, women's fraternities.
December
4—Thursday, college [illegible]
5—Friday, women's [illegible]
6—Saturday, Foot[illegible]
12—Friday, men's [illegible]
14—Sunday—Christmas [illegible]
19—Friday, men's fra[illegible]
20-January 1—Christmas [illegible]
January
10—Saturday, Boulder [illegible]
19-30—Mid-year exami[illegible]
30—Friday, Militar[illegible]
31—Saturday, men's [illegible]
February
6—Friday, Sophomore [illegible]
20-21—Friday and Sa[illegible] Walk
28—Saturday, women's [illegible]
March
7—Saturday, women's [illegible]
12—Thursday, women's [illegible]ing
14—Saturday, Basket[illegible]
20—Friday, men's fra[illegible]
21—Saturday, women's [illegible]
22—Sunday, Easter [illegible]
27—Friday, men's fra[illegible]
28-April 7—Easter [illegible]
April
11—Saturday, Mortar [illegible]
14—Tuesday, women's [illegible]
16—Thursday, opera
17—Friday, women's [illegible]
25—Saturday, Key [illegible] dance
May
1—Friday, women's [illegible]
2—Saturday, Founde[illegible]
14—Thursday, junior [illegible]
15—Friday, Junior Pr[illegible]
16—Saturday, men's frat[illegible]
21 or 22—Thursday or [illegible] Day.
27-June 10—Final exam[illegible]
June
12-15—Commencement week

FRESHMEN BANQUET AND HEAR V. C. A. PRESIDENTS

(Continued from page 1)

Dean on the Program

The final speaker was the inimitable Professor Dean. The laughter started with the first words he uttered and continued at ever-decreasing intervals until the wit of the faculty had finished.

"You are going to be greatly disappointed," said Professor Dean in one of his rare moments of seriousness, "in the men and women whom you will meet on the faculty. You will not find them aged, broken down and absent-minded as you undoubtedly expected; but rather a group of intelligent, cultured, decent-looking and human men and women. Come to know them well, meet them halfway, give them a square deal and you will get a square deal."

Professor Dean also informed the class of 1934 that Professor Swift was chosen dean of the College because he was the best-looking member of the faculty, and that he has developed into a mighty fine dean, with whom it would be well to become acquainted.

The newcomers were even let in on the secret of how Professor Dean lost his hair: The good professor worries too much. He informed them that when he is on the platform waiting to make a speech he is continually worrying, yes indeed, worrying whether or not his socks are mates.

Professor Dean revealed to the freshmen another secret, the secret of how to attain success. He said that this is one that the water gypsies of Lake Champlain told him. The idea is to catch a tree toad at twelve o'clock at night, bury it in an ant hill, then, on the fifth day, on the stroke of midnight to unearth it again. As the latter procedure progresses one will see weird animals and birds, the trees will rock in protest, the earth will quake and roar, great serpents will twist and squirm about, but one must be brave and continue to dig up the bones of the tree toad. Then, and then only, will success be won. And furthermore it will work, because he has tried it out in the following interesting manner.

The First Goose Story

Last Thanksgiving Professor Dean decided to have a goose instead of the customary turkey. [illegible] started downtown to buy [illegible] on the way to the store [illegible] into his pocket to see if he [illegible] enough and his hands encountered [illegible] bones of the tree toad. [illegible] he decided to get his own [illegible] got his gun, jumped into [illegible] headed for the islands to [illegible] There was a rubber canoe [illegible] shore and he jumped in and started for the island. The canoe pulled harder and harder but [illegible] reached the island, jumped out, turned around to pull the [illegible] but it had disappeared. The good professor had forgotten to [illegible] the mainland and it had snapped [illegible] Now between the islands there were thousands of geese wedged [illegible] that they couldn't move. And here right here, the good professor made his big mistake. He tied the rope of a hundred geese together, [illegible] them up, broke the wedge and the geese were off with the rope [illegible] thousand airplanes, with Professor Dean dangling from the rope. On the way up he snatched at a pine tree which came up roots and all and was carried up by the geese. While in the air Professor Dean had many experiences with a swarm of bees and a great black bear with the [illegible] he jumped from the tree [illegible] hold of the rubber canoe which was dangling from the tree. The rope stretched, and the good professor neared ground, tied the rope to a great boulder and jumped [illegible] The canoe again straightened out, snapped the boulder skyward like a pebble from a sling, right into the flock of geese. It killed the geese stone dead, and the faculty had a hungry that Thanksgiving.

The moral, for there is [illegible] your subjects seriously, [illegible] side activities and be [illegible] the race of life. Develop [illegible] and plan to make a success [illegible] and hard work will develop personality and character.

NOTICES

LOST: One Carter's fountain pen. White. Finder please call 1955.

FIFTEEN NEW MEMBERS ARE ADDED TO FACULTY

(Continued from page 1)

Prominent among those [illegible] taking their leave [illegible] L. D. Meredith, profes[illegible]ics; L. L. Briggs, profes[illegible]ics; Florence Woodard [illegible] Economics; F. W. H[illegible] fessor of Mathematics; [illegible] professor of Latin and G[illegible] Storms, professor of E[illegible] Holbrook, member of the Personal Work Commit[illegible] ciate professor of Edu[illegible] Burbank, Research Instr[illegible] H. G. Carlson, instructor [illegible] has not definitely decided [illegible] dicated some intention [illegible] leave of absence some time [illegible] coming year.

Those who have come [illegible] work at the University [illegible] don, professor of Latin; W[illegible] research instructor in [illegible] Leonard, instructor in [illegible] R. A. Hill, instructor in [illegible] and H. S. Giddings [illegible] Mathematics.

SPORTING NEWS

FOOTBALL MEN HEAR GRID EXPERT EXPLAIN LATEST MODIFICATIONS

Pendleton Explains New Rulings —Shift Play, Screen Pass and Other Points Receive Much Discussion

MEETING WELL ATTENDED BY COACHES AND PLAYERS

[illegible] night in the U. V. M. [illegible] there was held a football [illegible] interpretation meeting at which [illegible] of Middelbury presided [illegible] Pendleton, rules expert, inter- [illegible] The meeting was well repre- [illegible] many college, pre school [illegible] school coaches, as well as [illegible] members of the Vermont team.

The rules which caused the most [illegible] were the new shift play [illegible] the screen play, the parted [illegible] backfield and the foul rules [illegible] of the sport will be inter- [illegible] some of the unusual plays and [illegible] demonstrated and explained [illegible] Mr. Pendleton.

A good fair catch is a fair ball to [illegible] the opposing team, or the one [illegible] can only recover and not ad- [illegible] the ball. That means when a [illegible] ball is recovered by a man on [illegible] receiving team, the ball is dead at [illegible] spot of recovery and cannot be [illegible]

In regard to the "screen pass" the [illegible] interpretation assumed that as long as [illegible] ineligible men were out of the ter- [illegible] in which the ball was caught, it [illegible] be ruled fair, if completed.

In case of a touchback on an incom- [illegible] forward pass, the pass not be- [illegible] the first thrown in that series of [illegible] many interpretations were [illegible] suggested. The preference was that [illegible] ball should go into play at the 20- [illegible] yard line.

When a foul is committed out of [illegible] bounds with the ball on the field of [illegible] the penalty is inflicted from a [illegible] 15 yards in from the side line op- [illegible] site the spot of the foul. If a foul [illegible] committed between the halves it is [illegible] inflicted on the succeeding kick-off.

The meeting itself was a very in- [illegible] interesting one and ably presented by [illegible] those officiating. Although in some [illegible] cases there was dissension to Mr. Pendleton's interpretations most of [illegible] them received popular approval. Ma- [illegible] jority opinion held that the National Football Rules Committee amendment [illegible] to section six, rule seven only made [illegible] the ruling more ambiguous than it [illegible] was originally been.

[illegible] rules as formulated by the Na- [illegible] tional Football Rules Committee has [illegible] been made to make the game a more [illegible] open one and this year should see a [illegible] number of the type of lateral and [illegible] forward passes as originated by Har- [illegible] vard and Pennsylvania.

FIRST MATCHES IN GOLF TOURNAMENT COMPLETED

[illegible] Wednesday afternoon the open [illegible] tournament of the college cham- [illegible] ship opened with seventeen en- [illegible] tries for the first round of match [illegible] play. Bacon defeated Adams 6 and 5. Mur- [illegible] ray drew a bye. Bacon won from [illegible] by default, St. Denis conquered [illegible] 1 and 2, Tupper overcame [illegible] 3 and 3, Spiller took over [illegible] 1 and 2, Austin eliminated [illegible] and 1 and Cummings defeated [illegible] and 2. The play-off between [illegible] and Shepherd will finish the [illegible] The second round will be [illegible] later than Friday after- [illegible] it is then planned for the [illegible] and finals to be completed [illegible] following Monday and Tuesday.

[illegible] wing are scores of college [illegible] games played last Saturday. [illegible] ponents are indicated by [illegible]

[illegible], 79, Norwich 0.
[illegible] 48, Middlebury 0.
[illegible] Cooper Union 0
[illegible] Maine 0.
[illegible] ollege 54, Catholic U. 7.
[illegible] 59, E. Stroudsburg 0
[illegible] Boston University 0.
[illegible] Rhode Island State 0.
[illegible] 20 Rochester 0.
[illegible] University 35, Hobart 0.
[illegible] Clarkson Tech 0.
[illegible] St. Lawrence 0.

[illegible] versity of Vermont Branch [illegible] American Institute of Electri- [illegible] neers met September 23 to [illegible] plans for the coming year. [illegible] Johnson spoke on the aims [illegible] activities of the Institute.

TRACK MEN SLOW IN REPORTING TO COACH

A number of track men have been working out daily under the direction of Coach "Archie" Post and more candidates are desired. Although the schedule does not call for any meet until October 23, training should be begun at once so as to be in condition.

At present frosh track prospects do not look encouraging to the coach as only eight have reported for this sport. Seventy-two men signified track as their athletic choice on their physical education blanks, but only a small number seem to want to make their choice an activity.

FROSH GRID PROSPECTS BRIGHTEST IN YEARS

Much Promising Material Among the Thirty Candidates —Several Former Prep School Stars Are On Squad

The Vermont freshmen seem well on their way to possession of another football team like those of former years. Not since the reign of "Ghost" Mitchel and "Babe" Slate in 1927 have the Vermont Kittens boasted a championship grid outfit.

This year, however, the advent of the Edwards, Sowka and Saba, versatile stars in the Vermont Academy backfield, that conquered the cream of the eastern prep and college freshman teams, bid fair to form the nucleus of a powerful machine.

In addition to these men Burlington High School, state champs, sends Jack Morgan, giant tackle, "Solly" Zaetz, and Lutman. Other promising material includes Powell of Culver Academy, White of Arlington High, and "Archie" Powell, former captain of the 1928 frosh and Allentown Prep. All in all, Coach Jack Tully ought to have things pretty well his own way on the state gridirons this fall, starting with the first game October 11. The thirty candidates consist of the following men: M. L. Powell, J. L. Morgan, F. E. Wagner, A. S. Wesley, L. F. Brown, R. P. Murray, F. R. Busch, J. J. DelFausse, P. M. White, P. S. Inman, W. A. Brown, Jr., Al. J. Faucher, J. A. Rust, H. Lunna, E. Sylvester, A. Brosseau, H. F. Howard, R. W. Hurlburt, O. L. Brown, P. Denhoff, Ralph Baron, K. Johnson, E. Sowka, W. Sintor, D. E. Bennett, K. Smith, E. Saba, A. Cochrane, W. M. Adams, W. E. Braskie, A. D. Pamell, H. A. Lyford, H. Wasserman, T. Cogswell, S. Ball, E. E. Miller, S. F. Morris.

ARTS COLLEGE OFFERS A NUMBER OF NEW COURSES

New courses offered this year in the College of Arts and Sciences include English 22, Victorian Literature; A study of lives, works and intellectual background of the writers. The first semester such prose giants as Macauley, Carlyle, Ruskin, Huxley, Arnold and Stevenson. The second semester the poets Tennyson, Browing, Arnold, Morris, Rossetti and several others will be considered.

The professor of the Comp is B. B. Wainwright, comparative psychology. Two hours credit a critical presentation of experimental work on sensory discrimination tropisms, reflexes and adaptive behavior of animals with an attempt to trace the phylogenetic development of human intelligence is offered by Professor Ewert. Psychology one is the prerequisite.

Two new music courses will be offered. One by Mrs. Elizabeth Bradish will be Diction of Singers, which is one hour weekly. This course will accommodate ten students and follows naturally from music 1, 2, 4 and 5. The charge is fifteen dollars.

Miss Charlotte deVolt, instructor in Violin and Solfeggio offers Music 8 Advance Sightsinging. Prerequisite is Music 8. This course is recommended to members of the Choir.

Later in the year, if enough students desire it Modern French Drama, French 113, will be offered. This course will be conducted entirely in French by Prof. John DeForrest.

German 10, formerly a second semester subject, will be given the first semester this year. Professor Carpenter head of the department will have charge of the course.

PRESS CLUB TO HOLD SOCIAL MEETING FRIDAY

Press Club has set Friday, October 3, as the date of its first social meeting. Plans have been left to the social committee, and will be announced at a later date.

VERMONT R. O. T. C. UNIT MAKES CLEAN SWEEP OF DEVENS SPORTS HONORS

Catamount Track Men Take First in Annual Competition at Military Camp

U. V. M. RANKS HIGH IN ALL SHOOTING EVENTS

Reports emanating from Camp Devens tend to prove conclusively that a Green and Gold tinge crowned the achievements of all who were in attendance during the summer.

Colonel Black started in where he left off at U. V. M. by transferring his allegiance to the R. O. T. C. where so many of his advanced students displayed paramount strength in all forms of activities. Francis Bolles was awarded a gold medal for unusual proficiency in military training. "Bob" Blakely can still shoot straight and proved this by taking first place in rifle marksmanship and second in the pistol shooting, qualifying as an expert in both. On the R. O. T. C. rifle team representing the First Corps Area "Bob" Blakely, Francis Bolles and John Bradish were sent to Camp Perry for the national matches along with "Stan" Beaman and "Peep" Parks as alternates. In the track meet of the R. O. T. C. the fighting representatives of the Catamounts walked off with first place by amassing a total of 31 points. Connecticut Aggies second with 24 and little Rhode Island State 42⅓. "Bob" Huey, who showed well on the cinders on Centennial Field, was high man, copping firsts in the 220- and 440-yard dashes for which notable work he was given a gold medal. "Peep" Parks, who proved a tower of strength in the field events, won first place in the discus by heaving the platter 118 ft. 1 in.

Results

100-yard dash—first, Burdett (U. of N. H.); second, Bond (U. V. M.); third, Sefton (U. of N. H.). Time: 11 secs.

220-yard dash—first, Huey (U. V. M.); second, Sefton (U. of N. H.); third, Gobeille (R. I. S.). Time: 25 secs.

440-yard dash—first, Huey (U. V. M.); second, White (Conn. Aggies); third, Staples (R. I. S.). Time: 57 secs.

880-yard run—first, Gwen (A. C.); second, White (A. C.); third, Staples (R. I. S.). Time: 2 min. 17 secs.

Shot put—first, Cierzo (R. I. S.); second, Park (U. V. M.); third, Gaboury (R. I. S.). Distance: 48 ft. 2 in.

Discus—first, Park (U. V. M.); second, Cierzo (R. I. S.); third, Donaldson (U. V. M.). Distance: 118 ft. 1 in.

Running broad jump—first, Joslyn (C. A. C.); second, Maynes (U. V. M.); third, Patrick (R. I. S.). Distance: 19 ft. 3 in.

Running high jump—first, Joselyn (C. A. C.); second, Bond (U. V. M.); third, triple tie, Burdett (N. H.), Frederick (R. U.), Russell (R. I. S.). Height: 5 ft. 4 in.

Roy Worrell, president of the senior class, was circulation manager of the R. O. T. C. Barrack Bag. Connecticut Aggies nosed out Vermont for first place in the aggregate rifle, pistol and machine gun marksmanship. Camp closed with the awarding of certificates as second lieutenants to Charlie DeRose, E. O. Bundy and Major Jenks.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Of last year's seniors Frances Hazen is teaching in Jeffersonville and Mabel Freeman is taking graduate work in history at the University.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Frances Laythe is teaching in Jeffersonville and Laura Rounds in Old Saybrook, Connecticut; Margaret Parry in Newfane, New York; and Dorothy Kimball is doing graduate work at the University of Colorado.

PI BETA PHI

Narcissa Goodsell is teaching in Ludlow and Doris Kibbey in Woodstock, Connecticut. Beverly Householder and Mary Waddell are employed by the Administrative department of the University in the Medical Building. Helen Martin is doing secretarial work in Boston. Alma Farr and Ann McLaughlin are teaching in the Chapman Technical High School in New London, Connecticut.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Ruth Strong is married to Robert Noble, Phi Mu Delta, M. '30; They are living in Hartford, Connecticut.

Amherst Eleven Victorious In Season's Opening Game

Vermont Weakens in Second and Last Quarters and Sabrinas Push Across Six Touchdowns—Final Score is 41 to 0—Green and Gold Team Looks Promising in Early Part of Game

TENNIS TOURNAMENT STARTS TO PROGRESS

First and Second Round Matches To Be Played As Soon As Possible—Freshmen May Show Up Some Varsity Prospects

With the first and second round matches to be run off and completed as soon as possible the annual fall tennis tournament will be well under way.

Those in charge of the contest are striving to have all matches played as soon as possible in order that it will not suffer the fate of last year's tournament which was not completed. All tournament matches shall have precedence over all other matches and all scores should be turned in promptly. The competition should be particularly interesting with several of last year's varsity back and several likely looking freshmen notable among them being Myers of Burlington and Wilson of Windsor.

The following is a list showing how the participants are paired.

Goddard, P. vs. Brown, Wheeler vs. Powell, R., Johnson vs. VanAntwerp, Kearney vs. Butman, Woodward vs. Watson, H., Macomber, H. vs. Wright, L. S., King vs. Mulcahy, Myers vs. Watson, R. C., Williams vs. Charland, Lowell vs. Palmer, Tupper vs. Bennett, and Holbrook vs. Albert. Libbey will play the winner of the Williams-Charland match.

PROGRAM OF LECTURES IS NOT YET ARRANGED

"No definite program for the 1930-31 series of University lectures has been arranged as yet," declared Professor Gifford of the University Psychology Department. The first speaker will be Professor Ogle a former Vermont instructor who will deliver a lecture in keeping with the world-wide celebration of the birthday of the poet Vergil. The date of Professor Ogle's address is undecided but will probably be early in November. Within the next two weeks a complete list of lectures for the first part of the college year will be available.

CO-ED DEBATE MANAGER ISSUES CALL FOR SCRUBS

Roberta Powers, '32 has issued a call for all women students interested in scrubbing for manager of the women's debating team to meet in 3 North College, Wednesday October 1 at four o'clock. If anyone interested is unable to be present at that time she should notify Miss Powers at 21-4.

Marion Tifft is teaching in Middletown Springs, Helen Wilson in Brandon and Christine Shaw in Charlotte.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Ruth Doherty is married to F. W. Delchmann, ex '32, Sigma Phi and is living in New Britain, Connecticut.

Florence Whitcomb is doing 4-H Club work and is making her headquarters in Burlington. Louise Bosley is doing secretarial work in Boston and the following are teaching: Ruth Wedell in Lynn, Massachusetts, Florence McKenzie in Essex Junction, Helen Peabody in North Troy, and Dorothy Dailey in Morrisonville, New York.

SIGMA GAMMA

Last year's graduates who have teaching positions include Harriet Howard in Northfield Seminary, East Northfield, Massachusetts. Helen Spaulding in Jericho, and Hazel Ladd in Richmond Hills, New York.

Dorothy Dickinson is doing graduate work at Simmons and Susan Howard at Radcliffe College.

Zelta Norcross has a position as librarian in Newark, New Jersey. Magdeline Orvis is doing secretarial work in New York City and Elizabeth Miller is employed in the Civil Service at Boston, Mass.

CATS' OFFENSE SHOWS STRONG POSSIBILITIES

In their first game under the reins of Coach "Dave" Dunn the fighting Catamounts went down to defeat at the hands of Amherst by the tune of 41 to 0. The Sabrinas, playing on their own field, pushed over four of their touchdowns in the second quarter and added two more in the closing minutes of play.

In the first period the Green and Gold started an offensive that saw Ed" Winant, crafty quarter, carry the ball from his own 40-yard line to the Amherst 18 on a series of laterals and thrusts off tackle. At this point the Sabrinas' line tightened and the Vermont attack fizzled with the goal in sight.

DelPasqua and Knutson led the Lord Jeff offense with an uncanny exhibition of passing and running.

After a scoreless first period Capt. Ham Tener scored on the first two plays in the second period, both runs being made off tackle. Passes by DelPasqua were responsible for the next three touchdowns.

Coach Dave Dunn in his opening game has displayed an attack which should gain ground for Vermont against opponents in her own class, but too much cannot be expected in the first two games.

The starting lineups:

VERMONT		AMHERST
Allerton, r.e.		r.e., Cook
Aronson, r.t.		r.t., Kirk
Farmer, r.g.		r.g., Freeman
Davis, c.		c., A. Kenyon
H. Cohen, l.g.		l.g., Westfall
Park, l.t.		l.t., Whitney
Segal (capt.), l.e.		l.e., Wheeler
Winant, q.b.		q.b., Gottlieb
Heaton, l.h.b.		l.h.b., Knutson
Collins, r.h.b.		r.h.b., DelPasqua
Jay, f.b.		f.b., Tener (capt.)

Elite Beauty Parlor

SHAMPOO	$ 50
MARCEL	$ 50
FINGER WAVE	$ 75
MANICURE	$ 50

3 Center St. Phone 538

ADVICE to freshmen—

—on first appearance before the Dean.

Don't tell him any funny stories . . . He's heard them all . . .

Don't talk much . . . Listen!

Don't lean on his desk in your usual familiar manner

Don't go without a suit of Braeburn University Clothes . . . for after all, first impressions are sometimes final

$35 $40 $45
two trousers

Hayes & Carney, Inc.
195-7 Bank St., Near Majestic
Open Evenings

CLASS TEAM TRYOUTS OPEN DEBATE SEASON

Y. W. C. A. TO CONDUCT MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

The Vermont Young Women's Christian Association will conduct a membership drive Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week September [illegible] and October 2.

Middlebury Honoraries

With its organization now definitely under way, it is felt that Blue Key the new honorary society will go a long way toward imposing conditions among the honorary societies of Middlebury. —Middlebury Campus.

ALEX VERRET
113 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 3078, 3071, 3077

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

The Old Reliable

A Special Silk Stocking Value
FULL FASHION PURE SILK HOSIERY
$1.00
Semi-service weight for good wear, every pair perfect, the new fall shades.

CONFERENCE ADDS BAN ON OFFERING CAR RIDES TO 1930 RUSHING RULES

Interfraternity Body Extends Definition of Term "Entertain" In Latest Revision

[illegible]

Rushing Rules, 1930-31

The rushing rules for this year were as follows:

1. Beginning with the first day of formal rushing no fraternity or fraternity man shall entertain freshmen with or without invitation in any manner whatsoever at any time or place between the end of the examination period after Freshman Election and midnight at open house nights or scheduled parties as explained below. The word entertaining as used here means accompanying at meals, dinner engagements, out-of-town athletic contests, giving auto rides to or [illegible].

2. No freshman or new student shall be allowed in any fraternity house between aforesaid dates except on open house nights and rushing parties.

3. The Interfraternity Council will designate five evenings in October when fraternities may welcome freshmen at their houses or rooms from seven to ten in the evening. Entertainments shall be limited to "smokes" and no fraternity matters shall be discussed at these meetings. Personal invitations to open house nights may supplement the general invitation to all students.

4. On the Friday following the last of the open house nights, freshmen shall assemble at 4:00 p.m. in the chapel in the Old Mill to receive date cards from representatives of different fraternities, filling out same as has been customary. A member of the faculty who is a disinterested party and yet competent shall be designated by the Conference to meet the freshmen as a body and to make such explanations to them as are necessary before they go through the line.

5. During the same week, rushing dates, four in number, will be held on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Evening dates will last from 6:00 to 12:00 p.m. No fraternity shall make more than one date with any one freshman.

6. From 12:00 p.m. Thursday, after the last rushing date, until 7:00 p.m. Friday shall be a strictly neutral period, during which time no active or associate member of an organization belonging to the Conference shall hold any communication whatsoever with new students.

7. At 4:00 p.m. on the Friday, October 31, following the last rushing date the members of the Conference shall meet and bring all their invitations in sealed and addressed envelopes, said meeting to be held in the room in the Old Mill designated by the president of the Conference. Within each envelope shall be only the printed form of the invitations properly filled out and an unsealed envelope with the address of the inviting fraternity upon it. The invitations shall then be delivered by the respective representatives of the different fraternities in conference assembled to the freshmen presenting themselves before said Conference. In a room, adjoining the Conference room, each Freshman shall fill out the blanks, "I accept," or "I do not accept your invitation to membership"; and shall then put each invitation in the envelope addressed to the inviting fraternity and return same to the Conference room.

On the day of pledging, when the invitations are being given out, fraternity men will remain in their houses.

Every invitation shall be in writing and upon printed forms furnished by the secretary of the Conference; invitations not accepted shall be returned. This does not apply after pledging day.

8. Every pledge shall be valid for a period of seven months unless rescinded by the pledging fraternity.

Any fraternity directly concerned with a person who is pledged at another college but before being initiated transfers to Vermont must ratify or disclaim such pledge within ten days after the arrival of said pledgee. The fraternity may ratify or disclaim such pledge by reporting same to the president of the Conference.

9. All pledges shall wear [illegible] pledge pin[illegible] the [illegible] Council [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1930 NUMBER 4

FRESHMEN SWELL RANKS OF DEBATE SQUAD WHEN THIRTEEN MEN REPORT

Coach Gets Rousing Response From Yearlings To Call For Class Team Candidates

TRYOUT METHOD IS RADICALLY ALTERED

[illegible] prospects assumed as [illegible] outlook as any in years [illegible] when freshmen responded to [illegible] V. P. Powers' call for a three-[illegible] team.

No Tryouts

"There will be no tryouts today," announced Coach Powers, when he had [illegible] a dozen of the most promising [illegible] ever presented by a group of [illegible] candidates at Vermont. The [illegible] had met for formal tryouts Tuesday afternoon in the Old Mill [illegible]. Powers has two strong men [illegible] last year's varsity and half [illegible] ambitious candidates from the [illegible]. He has no great need [illegible] material but some of the freshman orators bid fair to cop regular berths on the University team this year since the one-year eligibility ruling does not apply to debating.

None of this year's freshmen will be dropped from the squad. Instead of going through the customary five minute debate each man will be put through his paces in a formal debate. Beginning next Friday, these debates will continue once a week, two men being paired off against two others in each contest. A uniform question will be maintained, the proposition reading: Resolved, that the chain store is detrimental to the best interests of the American public," on this question Vermont meets Bates in two weeks. The Old Chapel, scene of many a heated tilt, will witness these encounters.

The first debate should be typical of those to follow. On one side will be a former Phillips Exeter debater, George H. Burrows of Exeter, N. H., paired off with Joesph Gannon of Burlington as his colleague. Gannon debated two years in the Vermont Interscholastic League with Richmond high school. On the opposing team will be Ronald Bingham, of Enosburg Falls debating team, and Benjamin Williams who did his high school debating in New Britain, Conn.

All Strong Candidates

All of the candidates for the freshman team will afford plenty of competition for the men who finally displace them. Those who met Tuesday are: Marshall Howe of Adams, Mass., who captained the champion debating team of the Berkshire League last year; and Jenks of Burlington, who was also a man on Burlington High's debating team in the Vermont State League two years ago; Charles Libby of Raymond Hill, N. Y.; Irving Lisman of Burlington, one of the two winners of a debate scholarship among the candidates for the freshman team, Jacobs won the prize as member of Burlington High School's State Championship team in 1928; Realtus McCuin of Burlington, orator and debater, holder of two scholarships in oratory and a three-year debater in 1929; William [illegible] Montpelier High's State [illegible] 1930 team and therefore a [illegible] man in debating; Robert [illegible] of Albany, N. Y.; and Alden [illegible] of Danville. Others are expected to report soon.

[illegible]omores, in the annual competition for the Bailey Cup, will present last year's class team, James [illegible] Russell Colburn and Pearley [illegible]. [illegible] was active with the junior [illegible] year and also met Middlebury in a pre-season varsity debate. [illegible] won the Kingsley Prize [illegible] Contest last spring and also [illegible] with the junior varsity. [illegible] who also graduated to the [illegible]ty, was on the team which [illegible] dropped the only varsity encounter at home to N. Y. U. by a [illegible].

WOMEN'S STUDENT BODY HOLDS MASS MEETING

[illegible]'s mass meeting will be held in the gym. After the [illegible] activities are discussed, there will be refreshments and dancing.

REDSTONE ELECTS HELEN CUNNINGHAM PRESIDENT

Helen Cunningham will serve as house president of Redstone, according to an announcement issued last week.

Other officers are: Senior representative, Geraldine Grenier; junior representative, Dorothy Sweeney; sophomore representative, Sylvia Boyd; freshman representative, Katherine Donahue.

COUNCIL CONSENTS TO MOUNTAIN DAY PETITION

Faculty Votes All-University Holiday for Tomorrow—Efforts of V. C. A. Successful

Mountain Day is a reality. Although the advance sale of tickets did not measure up to expectations, the Faculty Council, nevertheless, in a formal statement yesterday, proclaimed an all University holiday for tomorrow to enable devotees of the occasion to celebrate it in style.

It is expected that at least two hundred students will participate in the climb up Mount Mansfield, the University's great back campus. The sale of tickets closed this noon.

The holiday was granted solely through the efforts of the University Christian Association. In an attempt to arouse interest among the student body the Association circulated petitions and conducted an advance sale of tickets. Over 350 signed the first batch of petitions and 200 purchased tickets to assure the holding of Mountain Day.

The day will be the first since 1927 and will be the only one not to be sponsored by the late Outing Club.

The mountain up which the hike will be taken is often called the back campus since its summit is owned by the University. It is the highest mountain in the State, with an elevation of 4,393 feet.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA BUYS SECOND SORORITY HOUSE

The second sorority on the hill to acquire a house will take possession of its newly purchased property when Alpha Chi Omega occupies the Watkins' estate at 384 Main Street, which was sold to it last week. Kappa Alpha Theta is the only other sorority at Vermont which occupies a house.

The house is well appointed for the purpose which it will now serve. To the left of the entrance hall is a reception room which opens into a large living room with an open fireplace. Finishing the ground floor plan are the dining room, kitchen and butler's pantry. From the entrance hall a broad, winding staircase leads to the second floor. There are five sleeping rooms on this floor, all equipped with running water.

Chapter Room

On the third floor is a room which was Daniel Robinson's club room and was called "Daniel's Den." This room, with its cozy fireplace, is now to be the Alpha Chi chapter room. There are also three bedrooms on the third floor. Robinson, a local lumberman, was the first occupant of the house.

Alpha Chi Omega is one of the youngest fraternity groups on the campus, being less than ten years old. The local sorority, Pi Alpha Alpha, founded in the fall of 1919, became a chapter in the national organization of Alpha Chi Omega in June, 1921. Since that time it has grown steadily until now it is among the strong national sororities on the Vermont campus.

Erratum

Miss Katherine Tracy had a B average for the second semester only of last year and should have been included in the Dean's list as published in the last issue.

Delta Psi announces the initiation of R. H. Marvin, '33, of Essex Junction.

"Cy, come over to our place and see our two legged jackass: he's some freak."

"Thanks, but he came over to see my daughter last night."—Carolina Buccaneer.

CLASS OF 1934 PLOWS THROUGH LONG LIST OF NOMINEES AT ELECTION

Jackson Morgan Elected To Presidency—Other Offices Go To Henrick, Beckley and Woodward

CLOSE BALLOTING MARKS THREE OF FOUR CONTESTS

Selected from long lists of nominees, four freshmen, who seemingly have earned a quick popularity, Jackson Morgan, Catherine Henrick, John Beckley and Elizabeth Woodward were elected by their classmates last Wednesday nominal leaders of the class of 1934 for the year 1930-31.

Only One From Vermont

Morgan, the newly elected president, is a Burlington boy. None of the other officers hail from the State of Vermont, no less than three states being represented among the homes of the officers of the freshman class. Catherine Henrick, the vice-president, comes from West Orange, N. J. Beckley, the treasurer, from Great Neck, N. Y.; and Elizabeth Woodward, class secretary, from Rocky Hill, Conn.

Morgan was elected by a large plurality over his closest opponent, obtaining a clear majority of all votes cast. The other successful candidates, however, failed to poll a vote even half as large as Morgan's. Only one vote determined the outcome of the vice-presidential contest, while eight votes separated the successful candidates for both secretary and treasurer from their nearest rivals.

Jackson Morgan was very popular in Burlington High School, where he was a three-letter man.

DEBATERS PREPARE FOR MOST AMBITIOUS YEAR

Varsity debate plans are definitely assuming the proportions of the most extended schedule in the history of any type of intercollegiate contest at Vermont. Among colleges which have written for debates with Vermont, most of them to be included in trip during the latter part of March which will extend from New York City to Chicago, are four in Illinois and a number in New York and Ohio.

Activities will open with the traditional annual Bates encounter. The teams have now met for three successive seasons, each time debating on the Oregon cross-examination plan. No decision has ever been rendered in these debates. The engagement is scheduled for October 20.

Co-ed Notes

All W. A. A. members who did not vote yesterday for the publicity manager are asked to do so today, in the Y room. The candidates are Margaret Crane, '33, and Beatrice Freeman, '32.

W. A. A. is planning a moonlight hike for some night next week.

Council members are planning a special drive for next week to get sophomore members.

All freshman women are urged to gain membership in the association so that they may vote for their representative at the Fall rally, which is scheduled to take place the last of October at the close of the season for outdoor sports.

The upperclassmen are showing their interest in outdooor sports this Fall by going out as coaches. Tennis instructors are Dorothy Nash, Eleanor Koenig, Julia Housely, and Betty Belcher, '31; Cornelia Baylies, Carolyn Beggs, Emily Maslen and Ruth Small, '32; Janice Stannard, Mary Ward, and Elizabeth Eckhard, '33. Other coaches are: volley ball, Lillian Mount, '32; archery, Elizabeth Clark, '31; and hockey, Vic Chadburne, '31.

All sophomores who wish to scrub the Ariel report to Raymond Cobb at the Delta Psi House at 7.30 tonight.

Mexican Weather report: Chile today and Hot Tamale.

W. A. A. COUNCIL ELECTS MANAGERS OF SPORTS

Eleanor Koenig, '31, Lillian Mount, '32, and Vic Chadburne, '31, were elected campus managers of tennis, volley ball, and hockey at the W. A. A. Council meeting held Monday noon, September 29.

ARIEL EDITOR MAKES PLEA FOR COOPERATION

Cobb Promises 1932 Year Book for Junior Week if Class Will Do Its Share

The 1932 Ariel will appear early in Junior Week," said Raymond Cobb, editor of the junior year book, yesterday, "provided the board has the cooperation of the class and the college."

The Ariel contract has already been awarded, returning to the Hammet-Smith-Kortmeyer Company of Milwaukee, who did the printing and engraving for the 1929 and 1930 Ariels.

Preliminary work has begun, the theme and the tentative dummy of most of the departments having been completed. The board now awaits the appearance of the 1931 year book upon which depends the make-up of a part of the dummy.

Arrangements have also been made for student and group protographs. Warren Kay Vantine, a Boston photographer, will be in Burlington from Monday, November 2, to Saturday, November 8, to take the individual photographs. Group photographs will be taken by McAllister.

Honor lists have been placed in the bookstore and must be filled out and promptly returned by both juniors and seniors. The board is determined to enforce the deadline, which will be set in the near future.

The editor will not require snap shots this year, since their inclusion in the year book necessitates far too much time. Changes in the board because some of last spring's appointees have failed to return to college will be announced soon.

Raymond Cobb will be in complete charge of the book this year. Roberta Powers is women's editor and Everett Wilder is business manager.

CODE IS ANNOUNCED FOR BIG SISTER MOVEMENT

The Big Sister movement will be governed by the following code for this period:

1. The Big Sister period shall extend until rushing.

2. During this time, all fraternity considerations shall be put aside and fraternity and non-fraternity women shall unite to make every Freshman and new student feel the warm welcome, the friendly helpfulness, and the sincere interest, which await her in Vermont.

3. No money shall be spent by any fraternity women on any eligible new student, nor shall any eligible new student expend anything upon any fraternity woman or group of fraternity women.

4. There shall be no mention of fraternity in any way whatsoever between freshmen or eligible transfers and any fraternity woman or any group of fraternity women.

5. During the Big Sister period, every woman student at Vermont shall feel honor bound to do nothing which has in it any element of rushing.

6. Every woman student shall feel it her duty and her privilege to keep the spirit as well as the letter of the code.

The Big Sister Movement has been improved year by year until now it stands as a strong institution designated to help and encourage freshman girls during the first few weeks of college. Both upperclassmen and freshmen are urged to hunt up Little and Big Sisters respectively.

MASQUE AND SANDAL TO MEET FOR BUSINESS

Masque and Sandal will hold a business meeting Friday, October 3, at 4:00 p.m. at the Kappa Alpha Theta House.

Ohio State University has introduced a six hour course in "How to Study." It is compulsory for all freshmen who are on the probation list.

FIRST OPEN HOUSE NIGHT WILL USHER IN FORMAL RUSHING SEASON OCT. 8

Interfraternity Conference Sets Date For Four More Nights To Follow

HOUSES ARE FORBIDDEN TO RUSH UNTIL OCT. 24

Freshmen who would not know a fraternity group when they saw one and fraternities with an little acquaintance among freshman will assume closer relations when the evening of Wednesday, October 8, ushers in the first open house night, formally opening the 1930 rushing season.

Freshmen, who have hitherto been forbidden to enter fraternity houses will be permitted to make the rounds of any number of fraternity homes on that night. Other open house nights will be Tuesday, October 14, Friday, October 17, Tuesday, October 21, and Thursday, October 23.

Open House Rules

The rules of the Interfraternity Conference forbid a freshman to enter a fraternity house during the periods between rushing dates, limit entertainment on these nights to "smokers" and forbid a fraternity to discuss fraternity matters with a freshman guest.

The Conference has designated five rushing dates to succeed the open house nights. The evenings named for these events are those of Friday, October 24 and Monday, October 27, to Thursday, October 30, inclusive. Bids will be issued October 31.

For the benefit of new students, the Cynic publishes the following guide to fraternity house locations.

Two houses are situated on Pearl Street. On the west corner of North Prospect and Pearl, just opposite the Medical building, is the Lambda Iota house. Down Pearl Street, on the other corner of the block, facing Williams Street, is the Kappa Sigma House.

The Sigma Nu lodge is on the west side of Williams Street between Pearl and College Streets at number 57.

On College Street there are four houses. Down from the campus, on the right hand side, is the Sigma Phi place, at the corner of College and Williams Streets. On the other side of the street nearly opposite, is the Phi Delta Theta house. Further down on the right hand side, at the corner of South Willard Street, is the Phi Mu Delta house. On the opposite corner on the other side of the street, is the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity.

Crossing south to Main Street, a short distance down the hill, at number 316, is the Sigma Delta house.

On Summit Street, which is a block down from the campus and runs south off Main Street are the houses of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Delta Psi, facing each other, but a short distance up the street.

At the junction of North Prospect with Loomis Street is the Zeta Chi house.

Two Jewish fraternities maintain chapters at Vermont, neither of which has affiliated itself with the Interfraternity Conference.

The Phi Sigma Delta house is on South Union Street, at the southwest corner of Union and Buell. The Tau Epsilon Phi house is on Wilson Street.

Open Houses Usual

The custom of keeping fraternity houses open to first-year men and to other non-fraternity men is a procedure that is common to most colleges where rushing has been systematized and regulated by a council representing all the societies. Open house gives the new men an opportunity of seeing all the houses and of knowing the men that are living there. Middlebury will soon complete its rushing and pledging. Norwich has its rushing period planned for the ten days immediately following Thanksgiving Day.

The majority of colleges pledge men during their freshman year either before or after the mid-year examination period. Other colleges such as Dartmouth do not pledge until the sophomore year. Although there is so wide a variation in the pledging policy of different colleges, it is generally considered a noteworthy step forward from the old type of "cut throat" rushing when men were pledge buttons even before they came to college.

The Vermont Cynic

Member of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association

EDITORS

Managing Editor

Associate Editors

Business Manager

Associate Editors

Associate Editors

Sports Editor

Assistant Editors

Women's Editor

Women's Intercollegiate Editor

Assistant Business Managers

Circulation Manager

Assistant Business Managers

$1.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Published semi-weekly during the college year.

Advertising should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, all other correspondence to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.

Acceptance for mailing to postal outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 538 P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 14, 1918.

Printed at the Burlington Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 69 October 2, 1930 No. 4

SYMPOSIUM

Ties That Bind

(From the Tech of M. I. T., September 29, 1930).

Every red-blooded sophomore must regret the fact that freshman rules are not what they used to be. Gone are the days when hazing and freshman baiting were the two most popular sports on the campus of the average American college. Little green caps are no longer the rule, and freshmen dare appear on the streets with impudent impunity in knickers and tan shoes. Probably it is better that this is so, many of us like to think that saner ways have replaced the rah rah spirit that was formerly considered an integral part of the collegian's make-up. . . .

The announced purpose of all freshman rules has always been to develop a class consciousness among the new-comers, to instill in them a unified school spirit. The actual purpose, in a large number of cases, was to provide sport for a group of sophomores. To sophomores always went the duty (and pleasure) of enforcing the rules. Freshmen were never expected to obey them except under compulsion, in spite of exhortations on the part of the president of the senior class and other dignitaries. And just as the responsibility for the enforcement has always belonged to sophomores, so must the responsibility for the failure of freshman rules be attributed to them.

In every case where freshman rules have been suspended, it was because the rules were unenforceable, and they were unenforceable because no one cared whether they were enforced or not. It was this that prompted the Institute Committee to suspend, at its last meeting in June, the rule requiring every freshman to say 'Hello' when meeting upperclassmen. The 'Hello' rule was an unsuccessful attempt to graft a tradition into Technology life. Traditions cannot be legislated. They must grow naturally, and saying 'Hello' to someone you have never met is not natural, even on a college campus."

M. I. T. this year has only three freshman rules. They are these.

1. All freshmen shall wear regulation ties, four-in-hand, with cardinal and grey stripes. These should be worn whenever the freshmen are on Institute grounds. The ties will be sold today by the Freshman Rules Committee and afterwards by the Coop.

2. Freshmen are expected to speak to all members of the Faculty and tip their hats to the President of the Institute and the Dean.

3. Freshmen should not loiter around the main lobby or sit upon the benches in the lobby. If the freshmen win Field Day this restriction will be abandoned.

All rules are automatically suspended December 24.

(From the Wesleyan Argus, September 29, 1930).

"At this time of the year the poor benighted freshmen are told repeatedly that the customs of this college should be obeyed at all costs. Occasionally we hear the upperclassmen saying, 'It has been called to my attention that some of the freshmen in this house are not speaking to upperclassmen about the campus.' We cannot but wonder, now and then, whether the non-hellolng of the freshmen is not in some small way caused by the upperclassmen who pass them by with a curt little nod and an inaudible grunt. It must be fearfully disconcerting to say hello and get no answer."

Boulder has confirmed early reports that Gold Key paddling parties this Autumn will be veiled in secrecy.

The class societies are in deadly fear of publicity, lest "outsiders interfere" and halt the entertainment the sophomore society has promised itself.

At that, they are not so optimistic as to expect the freshmen tamely to submit more than once or twice to what freshmen have so easily evaded many times past. Meanwhile, Gold Key has set its heart on a few "successful" paddling parties, which seems to be the singular goal of this "upholder" of traditions.

Being Collegiate

(From the Montana Kaimin, September 26, 1930.)

"The college man as portrayed by the movies, fiction, cartoon and so-called 'college' magazines is one of the most fictitious characters in our everyday life. It may be disappointing to some high school graduates who enter colleges in the United States this Autumn to find no truer representative of the collegiate type.

"We agree with G. Herbert Smith, Dean of freshmen at the University of Illinois, when he says that the collegian of today is rarely a bit 'collegiate.' A college student soon discovers that he is too busy in getting an education, engaging in extra-curricular activities and taking part in the social life of his particular fraternity to spend time trying to follow the carefree, reckless, joy-riding stereotype on the screen and in the pages of modern fiction."

(From the Burlington Free Press, October 1, 1930.)

"The honorary Blue Key at Middlebury College is to be congratulated on a statement in connection with the new freshman rules including this wholesome clause: Hazing and interclass horseplay in all forms are forbidden as being in violation of order and personal liberty."

It is surprising that Boulder should so unblushingly countenance Gold Key's decision to shroud the disciplining of freshmen in the deepest secrecy. When the activities of an organization can no longer stand the light of publicity, it is time those activities were curtailed.

If Gold Key is as altruistically interested in the maintenance of traditions as it pretends to be, we suggest a paddling party with Gold Key as the object. The publishing of lists of freshmen to be paddled having developed into a custom during the past few years, Gold Key's radical modification of the custom stamps it as a violator of tradition.

It is to be hoped that all of the two hundred students who signed up to revive Vermont's Mountain Day, and as many more as can be influenced, whether by curiosity or the call of tradition, will climb the lofty back campus tomorrow.

It would be only a fair recognition of the administration's assistance, by suspending its own requirements, in restoring the custom.

As usual, we have the V. C. A. to thank. The Association has already made an impressive record for itself this year. In fact, the University could well spare a few of the self-appointed guardians of "traditions" which never were, and never can be, of the slightest value to Vermont, in exchange for organizations of the type of the V. C. A.

FACULTY COLUMN

This issue is running alternately a column prepared by a prominent student and a column prepared by a member of the faculty. Each column is prepared by a different author and the Cynic assumes no responsibility for their contents.

The announcement of the editorial board of the Cynic that a "Faculty Column" is to appear in alternate issues of the Cynic inaugurates a novel policy in college journalism. So far as the writer is aware there is only one college paper in the country which features a similar column and that is the Indiana Daily Student of Indiana University with its "President's Column." The writer is happy to comply with the request of the Cynic's editor that he write an introductory article setting forth the advantages and possibilities of such a column.

The chief purpose of a college paper is to serve as an organ of expression for student opinion. Many valuable contributions to academic life have resulted from student discussion and student agitation, and were these to cease academic life would suffer impoverishment and student publications would lose their raison d'être. Whatever else a "Faculty Column" does, it should never supplant free and original student discussion.

One serious handicap under which most students of necessity must labor in discussing college affairs is that of a limited horizon. Having for the most part attended only one university and having at best only a superficial acquaintance with other colleges, the vast majority of students are hardly in a position to make just comparisons or to draw true conclusions concerning a large number of matters on their own campus. It is on these occasions that the members of a faculty can speak and with a fair degree of authority. The greater percentage of them have attended or been otherwise connected with numerous schools, and have had abundant opportunity to make observations. Thus if it appear to a faculty member that the spirit of democracy is more widely prevalent at the University of Vermont than at most colleges, that fact will carry more weight than a similar statement from an undergraduate. Critical comment appearing in a "Faculty Column" should prove a stimulus to serious thinking concerning current campus affairs.

It is a fact that the relations between students and faculty are mostly limited to the classroom. The result is that the students' acquaintance with the faculty is not only limited to a comparatively few but is of a very special sort. In the classroom the instructor tends to reveal himself mainly in his professional capacity, while certain other worthwhile qualities of character must remain in the background. A "Faculty Column" will gain in significance and worth for the student body and for the University in general to the extent that it is suffused with the characters and personalities of those who contribute to it. And especially is this so in the case of certain men and women who are found on every university faculty, individuals who grace the university with their intellect and charm. To hear them speak or to read their words is a privilege which one can never enjoy too often. A column in the student publication makes it possible for a university community to become more familiar with the lives and thoughts of the great men who live in its midst.

In good classroom procedure, discussions are necessarily limited to the subject in hand. But oftentimes the implications of a subject are so varied and absorbing that it is only with effort that the temptation to follow a by-path can be resisted. A "Faculty Column" furnishes an excellent opportunity for further discussion on topics of general interest. It gives competent men who have worthwhile ideas on important social, economic and scientific questions an opportunity to express themselves to a select group.

On the whole it would appear that a "Faculty Column" such as indicated above gives promise of being one means whereby a greater intimacy of feeling can be produced among the constituency of a university community. Moreover, it would appear that such a column provides an excellent means whereby the individuals of a faculty can express themselves in ways commensurate with their character and personality other than those provided in the usual classroom routine. The Cynic, the writer believes, is to be commended for its innovation, and deserves support in its endeavor.

George Dykhuizen.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

Because "one man left the traditional freshman rules out of the men's handbook" another man has drawn the illogical conclusion that the editor of that publication does not believe in the Vermont traditions.

No statement could be further from the truth. I definitely believe that the author of the column "A Student at Large" would not have so boldly ventured the above criticism had he been forced to place it over his signature.

The editor of the handbook recognizes the beauty of the true traditions which permeate the pages of the history of an institution but he lends no support to making traditional an outworn and ineffective system of violence which unfortunately, in this enlightened age, attends the maintenance of such traditions. In this the administration undoubtly maintains a similar attitude as does that of other progressive institutions.

If one of the Vermont traditions is the right to display personal power and superiority by the abasement and punishment of incoming men then I can only conclude that those who wear the cap indicative of such an "honor" have overlooked and utterly failed to uphold that finest of Vermont traditions the spirit of sympathetic cooperation.

The traditional rules have appeared in handbooks previous to that of 1934. To avoid an anomaly they should have appeared clothed in the ridiculous phraseology of the copy which the secretary of Gold Key possesses.

Such vain mutterings do not lend themselves readily to the dignified pages of a book published as a guide to all that is virtuous and worthy of being placed between the green and gold covers of a book published by the Christian Association and bearing the seal of U. V. M.

To a freshman warnings in such a tone would only have bred revolt and a spirit of non-cooperation. For since when has verbal discipline been effective when given in jesting tones?

Those same rules in other years did not fail to produce the very reactions which they had been intended to prevent. No freshman will ever again stoop to the indignity of submitting himself to a form of upperclass amusement which has long since been thrown overboard by most thinking college groups.

An Ex-Gold Key Man Talks

The gentleman states that Gold Key has been accused of being a group interested in paddling freshmen. As an ex-Gold Key man I can affirm that the society still clings to this primitive form of coercion which one of its present members has termed "a time-worn relic of barbarism."

For although similar bodies in other institutions have abolished such ungentlemanly means of instilling some of their university's ideals into the minds of the new men our Gold Key has thus far done nothing to change its methods. Several societies elsewhere have disbanded in order to uproot the age-old custom, and the honor of their alma mater has not been diminished thereby.

Gold Key (and this presumes its responsibility to the Senior Society) unless it ceases its assertion of omnipotence in inviting recalcitrant freshmen to a paddle party (as a symbol of democracy) to make them gentlemen of Vermont, will find itself toppling over the cliff of [illegible] when it meets next spring its membership from the [illegible] May it never cease to be [illegible] honorary society.

The president of [illegible] Frosh Mixer ("which [illegible] with the backing of the [illegible] tion") stated at that [illegible] function of Gold Key is [illegible] the freshmen. May I ask [illegible] would consider this [illegible] function and if he, too, [illegible] it "playing nurse-maid [illegible] ing men"?

Although the incoming [illegible] nothing about the tradi[illegible] Gold Key would have the [illegible] should not have prevented [illegible] from informing them [illegible] dently was no hindrance [illegible] dustry and vigilance at [illegible] indication.

Gold Key Incompetent

Yet the author of the [illegible] September 30 issue of [illegible] moans the fact that "[illegible] be continually reminding [illegible] dents of those traditions [illegible] he confesses that Gold [illegible] petent to coerce the [illegible] obeying its commands.

One would judge from [illegible] that they are making it [illegible] as well as business to [illegible] to administer punish[illegible] swing the paddle at ea[illegible] tremblingly awaits its [illegible] suming a convenient [illegible] angle, and then pat [illegible] shoulder for having b[illegible] man.

Let me suggest that [illegible] the recent column [illegible] with progressive stude[illegible] cease tagging at the [illegible] hoary and moronic [illegible] period now past.

—Joseph C[illegible]

With the Theatre

Monday and Tuesday

Here in the Marx [illegible] picture version of [illegible] we have the grandest [illegible] ture that Burlington [illegible] for the next year. [illegible] Marxes cavort thr[illegible] series of scenes as [illegible] conceived. They never [illegible] we can thank God,—let [illegible] them. When it gets [illegible] just heave it overboard [illegible] with the main busine[illegible] funny and they succeed. [illegible] most delightful scene is [illegible] Groucho attempts to [illegible] ladies simultaneously [illegible] Interlude" methods. [illegible] good lines and he makes [illegible] them, especially in the [illegible] he sets about rationally [illegible] stole the picture and gets [illegible] into plans for building a [illegible] plot, for those of you w[illegible] minds, has to do with a [illegible] reception at which [illegible] stolen. But you can [illegible] the sooner you do s[illegible] remember Groucho, Chico [illegible] the inimitable Harpo on[illegible]

Wednesday and Thursday

"Common Clay" was [illegible] Bennett ran for four [illegible] in New York, which ought [illegible] something but I'm dam[illegible] figure out what. Never [illegible] mess of bilge given such [illegible] ment. The poor girl was [illegible] by a man and she had [illegible] she suffered. Well what [illegible] Who cares? Constance Ben[illegible] drippily all over the [illegible] sionally wastes a fine [illegible] ing on the cheap plot. Ben[illegible] is Beryl Mercer as the [illegible] and is, if you can remember [illegible] Live Ghosts" and "Seven [illegible] worth the price of ad[illegible] everything else could safely [illegible] up. You'd get better [illegible] watching the ads. Jane [illegible] the fluttering hands, had the [illegible] the stage war band in the [illegible] membered past. But maybe the [illegible] generations had stronger [illegible] than we have and could [illegible] thing I couldn't.

Friday

Richard Arlen and Fay Wray [illegible] something to do with a [illegible] "The Sea God." This is a [illegible] deep, deep seas, and, if [illegible] lieve the advertisers, was [illegible] deep, deep sea. It looked [illegible] it was taken at the bottom [illegible] tub, but I may be too critical. [illegible] is of course a plot—a very [illegible] plicated plot and I was never [illegible] whether the villian was [illegible] a couple of other fellows. [illegible] everything works out all [illegible] the end we are treated to [illegible] of the adequately beautiful Fay Wray [illegible] folded in the arms of the [illegible] masculine Richard Arlen. [illegible] that's worth something but it seems [illegible] to me that I've seen it [illegible]

Saturday

This one is called "Night Work" and if you're the kind of person who can't help laughing at the [illegible] things that practical jokers do you won't miss it. Eddie Quillan is the [illegible] cent to whom all the misfortunes [illegible]

(Continued on page [illegible])

SPORTING NEWS

Vermonters At Cambridge For Second Game of Season

Harvard Team Opens Crimson Football Schedule Tomorrow With Two Contests—Vermont and U. S. Coast Guard Academy to The Opposition—Captain Segal Unable to Play

SEVERAL CHANGES MADE IN CATAMOUNT LINE-UP

[illegible] afternoon the recent innovation of doubling up football games [illegible] into vogue at Harvard [illegible] crimson gridsters will meet [illegible] team of the United States Coast Guard Academy from New London, Conn., in addition to the previously scheduled game with Vermont. The reason for this may not be quite clear to everyone but it is evident that the Harvard coaches want to give their squad a thorough workout, for [illegible] perhaps one game would not [illegible]. According to the report issued by Graduate Manager Sabin [illegible] Bill Brigham, Director of Athletics at Cambridge, the starting time of the Vermont game will be set ahead from 2 p.m. to 2.30 and the periods shortened to 10 minutes while the [illegible] minute respite, instead of the customary 15, will be granted the Catamounts at half time. In this manner [illegible] will be able to play two eight minute periods with the naval team between halves and complete the encounter after the Vermont fray is finished.

According to latest reports from Cambridge the Crimson Varsity downed the scrubs, 18 to 0, in a very ragged scrimmage Monday with Charley Stevens, Sandy Forbes and Paul Fullam scoring the touchdowns. The play of the Varsity was extremely spotty probably due to their two-day layoff over Saturday and Sunday.

If preseason expectations come true, Captain Ben Ticknor will be the mainstay on the defense, while the Great Barry Wood will provide most of the offensive fireworks in the way of laterals and brilliant forwards.

The injury jinx struck the Harvard Football team in recent practice sessions when during a scrimmage with the Varsity Seconds Charley Cunningham of Milton, reserve lineman of last season, sustained a broken ankle that will keep him out for the rest of the games this autumn.

The Catamounts, not a bit discouraged by their game last Saturday, are seeking to bolster their forward pass defense which proved very faulty against the Sabina backfield. Coach Dave Dunn indicates changes behind the line by replacing Jay and Heaton with Thorne and Dorey. These two backs have had plenty of experience on the defense and Dorey is naturally a good passer.

The loss of Vermont's game and her [illegible] captain, Leo Segal of Dorchester, Mass., will weaken the left [illegible] Tilly will seek to cover the deficiency with his greater weight. Buzz Collins and Gus Rugg will be back in the line and with this rejuvenated team Vermont should give Harvard an unexpected battle.

The probable line-ups.

VERMONT		HARVARD
Tilley	L. End	Harding
Aronson	L. Tackle	Richards
Collins (Farmer)	L. Guard	Myerson
Jacobs	Center	Ticknor
H. Green	R. Guard	Trainer
Page	R. Tackle	Kales
Dunfield	R. End	Ogden
Wallace	Quarterback	Wood
Thorne	R. Halfback	Devens
Crowley	L. Halfback	Mays
Dorey	Fullback	White

With The Theatre

(Continued from page 2)

[illegible]ly Starr wanders vaguely [illegible] with a blank expression in her [illegible]. He never did seem to discover [illegible] was all about. It was really [illegible]ple, however. It seems there [illegible]ung man and he — — well, [illegible]on, I'm not sure it's worth [illegible]ble. I'm sure it's not worth [illegible] cents.

E. J. F.

SHAM-PLAINS

Havit Dun bounced into the Cynic office and stopped dead in his tracks as he heard Maple Sap nasally twanging our famous march, "The Medics Lament." It follows:

I

Oh! off the medic steps I hear
A noise, a jeer, a razz;
For 'tis the famous medic cheer
To all co-eds who pass.

II

These medics are of Scotch descent
'Tis so when on a date.
They never spend a copper cent,
Or give the Janes a break.

Well, after Havit and Maple had signed the treaty of peace, they proceeded to summarize our recent and welcome visitors, the class of '34. They unanimously agreed that the '34 arm banders were not so blond or charming as the collection at Dresdens from the previous class. Maple said they were cute but Havit insisted that cute meant bowlegged, so Maple insisted they were cute. Just like a girl, huh!

They also unanimously agreed that the yearlings were much better stoppers on the floor—and on the toes.

Thereupon the meeting was adjourned while Maple and Havit promised to find out why there were no women in the boys Deutsche Verein and why there were no men in the girls German class. We hope they find out, don'tcha?

MEDIUM ADVISES FROSH TO EVADE PADDLE PARTY

A fortune teller made a statement to one of our frosh which the stripling interprets as signifying that he shall not attend any of the paddling parties which the youthful Gold Key society dreams of holding this year.

The frosh, who with very good reason desired his name to be kept out of the Cynic, evidently worried over his future existence at college, consulted the fortune teller to free his mind from all doubt and anxiety as to the coming events of his life here.

The fortune teller predicted that soon he would be invited to a party and solemnly advised him not to go to it. The frosh did not say, but he must surely have been troubled in spirit for having broken the rules. The fortune teller's word "party" suggested "paddling party" to his mind.

Having great faith in the power of the unseen world and marvelling at its mysteries, the frosh intends to observe closely the advice given him by the agent of the spirit realm. He does not plan to attend any Gold Key party. Meanwhile he walks saucily about the campus without his frosh cap.

From the Maine Campus.—The Stein Song has sold more copies than any other piece with the exception of the "Beautiful Blue Danube," and in all probability the sales when finally computed will be found to have surpassed the older piece.—"Let every loyal Maine man sing."

"Now laugh these off," said the wife as she wired some buttons on her husband's vest.

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

COACH HOLDS INITIAL SCRIMMAGE OF SEASON FOR KITTEN GRIDSTERS

Linemen Give Poor Exhibition and Play is Slow—Much Potential Power Appears in Backfield—First Game Oct.11

USE TWO BACKFIELDS OF EQUAL STRENGTH

Centennial Field on Saturday afternoon was the scene of the first scrimmage of Coach Tully's yearling squad when two elevens were sent through their paces under the watchful eyes of their mentors. No scoring resulted as it was the first opportunity the coaches had to observe their men under fire and see how much was absorbed during the first week. From all outward indications Coach Tully was dissatisfied with the ragged play of his linesman who seemed unable to pave the way for the fast stocky ball carriers. He would first give the ball to one group, then to another in an effort to speed up the play. Both backfields showed potential strength with Braskie, Sowka and Saba appearing to advantage.

In speaking of the strength of the backfield, it is well to recall what Mal Stevens of Yale replied when asked whether Albie Booth would be better this coming season than last. His answer was "It all depends on the forward line." None of the 1931 backs will gain ground unless their line cleans out the opposition.

With the first game two weeks off it is expected that the action will be speeded up.

The Vermont Academy gridsters were the undefeated prep school champs of last year and will be rarin' to go when they strike the Kittens. Too much should not be hoped for the first week and if any material exists Coach Tully will spare nothing to bring it out.

Two backfields of about equal strength have been working out in the practice sessions. One consists of Smith at quarter, Sarbow, Braskie and Daigle with another combination of Saba, Mintzer and Sowka halfbacks and Lyford at quarter.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Kappa Alpha Theta gave a tea for their new housemother, Mrs. Mary Brigham Buckham, Wednesday, October first at the Kappa Alpha Theta House. The wives of the faculty members, the housemothers of the college dormitories, and the members of the alumnæ and active chapters were invited.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Delta Delta Delta will hold a bridge party Saturday afternoon, October 11, at the Athena Club rooms.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Lois Fiske, '29, and Mary Davis, '29, were in town over the week-end.

Pauline C. Willis, '31, Marjorie Perrin, '23, and Mildred Gile, '32, attended the National Convention at Del Monte, California, June 27 to July 3.

Lois Burbank, '27, is spending the year studying at the School of Fine and Applied Arts in Paris.

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

TOUCH FOOTBALL NEXT ON ATHLETIC PROGRAM

Physical Education Department Plans for Annual Inter-frat Tournament—Schedule to Be Made Soon

According to the plans in progress by the department of physical education the annual inter fraternity touch football league will open up either next week or the following at the latest in order that it will be possible to complete the schedule before the first of November.

Mr Post requests that all fraternities immediatily inform him regarding their plans as to entering a team into the league as delays only postpone the opening of the league.

The same rules that were used in all the games last Fall are planned to be in force this year. Minor changes may be adopted later if the management sees fit.

The Scribe

By Fod Thimp

Vermont fans deeply regret the loss of Leo Segal to the Football team in the Harvard game. The fighting little end has more than proved his value to the Catamount eleven in the last three years.

Bump Levine, Bunny Prentice and Archie Post, who are, in toto, our physical education department, spent the summer at Harvard learning more wily contortions to teach the soph and frosh gymnasts.

Eddie Winant's new vision helmet is giving him a bit of trouble. He needed a pair of telescopes to see all the passes Amherst was tossing last Saturday. Their lateral was an exact replica of the one Masters of Penn, pulled on California last year.

In the absence of Fall baseball practice, Charlie Cummings is devoting all his time to his hook on the golf links. Watch it in the Spring.

KAPPA DELTA

The Kappa Delta pledges gave the active chapter a supper at the Athena Club Thursday night, September 25.

K. E. L.

K. E. L. will hold a tea Sunday, October 5, at the home of Gertrude R. Levin, '31, 103 Shelburne Road from four to six p.m.

The new officers for the year 1930 1931 are as follows: Gertrude R. Levin, '31, President; Sophie Levin, '32, Secretary; Esther Fishman, '32, Treasurer in place of Eleanor Isaacs, '32.

Lilian S. Cohen, '30, is taking fellowship work in French at the University.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

OPENING ROUNDS OF FALL GOLF TOURNEY HAVE BEEN FINISHED

Four Winners of Second Round to Battle For Championship Title—Spirited Competition Creates Interest As Tournament Nears End

EXPECT TO PLAY OFF FINAL MATCH TOMORROW

Two rounds of the Fall golf tournament have been completed and the rest of the matches are being run off as soon as possible. The Physical Education Department is conducting this golf contest for the first time and hope to make this feature an annual event. All matches are being played at the Waubanakee Golf Club course on Shelburne Road.

The results of the first round are as follows:

Swain defeated R. Adams, 6 to 5, and was later conquered by Murphy 4 to 2. Dukes defaulted to Bacon; St Dennis won over Bannow 4 to 2, Shepard beat Milliken 1 up; Tupper was victor of Congdon 5 to 3; Austin triumphed over Bedell 3 to 1; and Cummings defeated Corsley 3 to 2.

In the second round Murphy vanquished Spitler 7 to 5; Bacon eliminated St Dennis 4 to 2; and Cummings overcame Austin 3 to 2. Shepard and Tupper are left to play off their match to complete the second round.

The remaining matches are to be played today in order that the finals may be played and the championship decided by tomorrow or the first of next week.

The fact that Germany now sends 397 students to the United States whereas formerly she sent practically none, but instead attracted several hundred American students to her universities, is an interesting illustration of the shift in student migrations which has occurred since the war. In this connection, it should be noted that the German work students, who are occupied in industries during their period of study, represent an eagerness to study American industrial methods at first hand and thus contribute to the economic rehabilitation of Germany.

If you see a man carrying Nine pails of water
Don't get excited
He may merely
Be going to Drown a Cat

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
49 S. Willard St Tel. 2480

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.
We see you get the most of the best for the least—of food and music.

STUDENT'S PERSONAL STATIONERY
Send today for samples—letterheads and envelopes, printed with name and address, also fraternity or sorority. highest quality ripple finish—boxed—choice of three colors. 200 envelopes, 200 letterheads, only $4.75. Money making agency open to live student in each college. Write for particulars. Address Dept. 624, Merchants Industries, Inc., Third and Wayne Avenues, Dayton, Ohio.

V U. V. M. STUDENTS V
Make this store your downtown headquarters for Loose-Leaf Supplies, Stationery, Fountain Pens, Art Materials, etc.
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts.
V Phone 629 V

At the
Medical Book Store
we are selling
MICROSCOPES at a special reduced price.

List of New Students at Vermont

[illegible] Howard Burrows, II, Exeter, N H (2-year T T)

[illegible] Chapin Burt Howe (Rec.)

[illegible] Nellie Burt Howe (L S)

[illegible] Pharmington, Conn (C E)

[illegible] Attleboro Mass (Social Science)

Dorothy Verna Bussell, Burlington (Com & Ec)

[illegible] Morrisville

[illegible] Campbell, White River Junction (2-year T T)

[illegible] Edward Cannon, Rutland

[illegible] Shrewsbury Mass (Home Ec)

[illegible] Cass, Watertown, Conn (L S)

Albert Hudson Cass, Essex Junction (C E)

[illegible] Rutland (Com & Ec)

Evelyn May Chamberlin, Townshend (2-year T T)

[illegible] Chartand, Lyndon (Pre-Med)

Joseph Anthony Ciesla, Bridgeport, Conn (G S)

Margaret Lucia Louise Christmas, Morristown (2-year T T)

Katharine Louise Clark, Windsor (Home Ec)

Catherine Mary Clarke, New York City (2-year T T)

William Newell Coburn, Middlesex (M E)

Alexander Cochrane, Boston, Mass (Social Science)

Jane Barbara Cognetta, Stamford, Conn (2-year T T)

[illegible] Cogswell, Warner, N H (G S)

Augusta Cohen, Burlington (L S)

[illegible] Cohen, Burlington (Social Science)

Francis Peabody Colburn, Burlington (Social Science)

Marjorie MacFarland Collins, Colchester (Soc)

Charles Richard Congdon, Burlington (C E)

John Joseph Connelly Jr, Cambridge (C E)

Helen Frances Cook, Bennington (Com & Ec)

Isabelle LaBlanche Cross, Meadus, Conn (Home Ec)

Merrill Miles Cross, South Lancaster, Mass (Pre-Med)

Preston Curtis Cummings, Burlington (Social Science)

Lydia Ellen Curler, Richmond (L S)

Elizabeth Johanna Curran, Dorchester, Mass (2-year T T)

Norman Eugene Daigle, Lyndonville (Pre-Med)

Alba Marguerite Dameluzzi, Northfield (2-year T T)

Dorothy Low Davis, Burlington (Soc)

Gordon Leslie Davis, Springfield (Com)

Hilda Wright Davis, Burlington (Home Ec)

Mary Lucille Davis, Burlington (Home Ec)

Ruth Harriett Dameson, Needham Heights, Mass (Cl)

Joseph James Delfausse, Rockville Center, N Y (M E)

Eric Denhoff, Taunton, Mass. (G S)

Elizabeth Idella Dickens, Orleans (4-year T T)

Clarence Frederick Dobson, East Templeton, Mass (G S)

Janet Mason Dodds, Burlington (Home Ec)

Katherine Margaret Donahue, Proctor (Home Ec)

Richard Michael Donahue, Jericho (M E)

Grace Alice Dorey, Burlington (2-year T T)

[illegible] West Rutland (2-year T T)

Ella Pearl Downs, Ely (2-year T T)

Virginia Thomas Drew, Stamford, Conn (Home Ec)

Clarence Herbert Drown, Burlington (C E)

Geraldine Elizabeth Dunsmore, Burlington (4-year T T)

Marguerite Roberta Dunsmore, Swanton (Social Science)

Catherine Elizabeth Durick, Fair Haven (Soc)

Stephen Alonso Dutton, Windham (Ag)

Dorothy Helen Earle, Chester Depot (2-year T T)

Chester Barstow Eaton, Worcester, Mass (Com and Ec)

[illegible] Ellis, Barre (2-year T T)

Ruth Arvine Erwin, Bellows Falls (4-year T T)

Marion Cynthia Fairbanks, Brattleboro (Pre-Med)

Elvira Mary Farman, Newport (G S)

Doris Rebekah Farnsworth, Waitsfield (2-year T T)

Mabel Margaret Farquhar, Wellesley, Mass (4-year T T)

Anna Doris Farr, Morrisville (4-year T T)

Willard Simon Farrell, Shelburne (G S)

Horace Solomon Farr, Bristol (M E)

Alfred Joseph Faucher, Lawrence, Mass (Com & Ec)

Kenneth Ronald Faucha, North Troy (4-year T T)

Elizabeth Louise Fay, Jericho (Com & Ec)

Mary Helena Fielder, Essex Junction (T T)

Samuel William Fishman, Vergennes (Pre-Med)

Helen Ruth Fogg, Burlington (Sec.)

Margaret Jeanette Foley, Rochester (4-year T T)

Doris Esther Folsom, Waitsfield (Home Ec)

Alma Elizabeth Frechette, Richmond (2-year T T)

Frances Mary Frost, St Albans (L S)

Richard Carl Fuller, Saxtons River (Spec)

William Henry Galvin, Jr., Greenwich Village, Mass. (G S)

Edwin Burns Gammell, East Barnet (Pre-Med)

Joseph Henry Gannon, Burlington (Pre-Med)

Donald Pitt Germann, Rutherford, N J (G S)

Joseph Ghiliani, Barre (4-year T T)

William Joseph Gilbert, Burlington (Com & Ec)

John J Gilmore, Wallingford (Ag)

Robert Glasstone, Burlington (Pre-Med)

Eleanor Margaret Goodrich, Hinesburg (4-year T T)

Eola Goodrich, Morrisville (L S)

Betty Googel, New Britain, Conn. (2-year T T)

Douglas Francis Green, Albany, N Y (L S)

Milton Jack Greenberg, Bennington (Pre-Med)

Anna Thacher Greene, North Pomfret (4-year T T)

John B Griffith, Danby (Eng.)

Allee Severance Gunn, Turners Falls, Mass (L S)

Ellen Logan Haff, Adams, Mass. (Home Ec)

Thurston Ford Hard, Arlington (L S)

Francis Irvin Hardy, Jr., Burlington (Com & Ec)

[illegible] Hartman, Huntington (2-year T T)

Grace Ellen Harris Stowe (L S)

Clifford Burr Harwood, Rupert (Ag)

Dorothy Louise Harwood, Rupert (L)

Edward Dunning Harwood, Dorset (E E)

Norma Elizabeth Hathorn, White River Junction (4-year T T)

Marjorie Anita Hawkins, West Glover (L S)

Marjorie Haden, Winchester, Mass (L S)

Loys Ernestine Hayward, Randolph (2-year T T)

Winston Philip Hebb, Johnson (C E)

Harold Henry Hedding, North Bennington (Cl)

Alena Elizabeth Hemingway, Swanton (4-year T T)

Catherine Spencer Henrich, New York City (L S)

Clara Alice Herson, LaJunta, Colo. (Social Science)

Iris Hazel Higley, Huntington (2-year T T)

Gertrude Himmelstein, New York, N Y (G S)

Frances May Hoag, Burlington (Home Ec)

Mary Emma Hoag, Cambridge (2-year T T)

Evelyn Cornelia Holden, Cambridge, N Y (Cl)

Mary Clara Horak, Lynn, Mass. (Chem)

Harold Francis Howard, White River Junction (4-year T T)

James Harold Howard, Rutland (Pre-Med)

Marshall Durfee Howe, Adams, Mass. (E E)

Kenneth Leonard Hoye, Burlington (Com & Ec)

Alice Debaker Hoyt, Salem, Mass (Social Science)

Helen Irene Hubbard, Rochester (4-year T T)

Kate Betsey Hulett, South Hadley, Mass (Home Ec)

Roland Wesley Hurlbut, St. Albans (Pre-Med)

(To be continued)

Try a PHILCO RADIO in your room.

Isham News Shop

103A Church Street

THE FORUM

By the College Topics we see that freshmen are urged to wear their frosh hats until the end of the year. At the University of Virginia there is no committee to enforce this "time-honored custom." If freshman rules are not to be enforced why have them at all? Nine-tenths of the fun is in punishing delinquent men.

Modify Fraternity Initiations?

Gradually but surely the sound of the death-knell of the fraternity initiation is penetrating to all rational, thinking college circles. With the passage of time, initiations have more and more come to be regarded as an undesirable hangover from the "good old days"—that period which no one, after a little thought, would like to see return. The more progressive colleges are seeking to abolish such humiliating and ridiculous phases of the initiation as paddling, and performing like a clown for the amusement of the fraternity brothers and even for the general public.

"Hell week" has maintained a strong grip on the fraternity because of its appeal to the ego and to the less admirable characteristics of man. Everyone would like to dominate someone else. What a splendid opportunity for the satisfaction of this desire during the initiation period! How often miserable pledges have determined to return their pledge pins after an unusually bestial thrashing. That they gritted their teeth and clung on is more an indication of their physical stamina than of any subtle and desirable mental quality intended to be brought out by a paddling.

The mental and physical anguish suffered often remains an unpleasantly vivid spot in the pledge's memories of college. Few students complain afterward, because of the inexpressible relief and satisfaction that follows formal initiation and which for some time tints his memory of "hell week" with the artificial glamour of "good fun"; but ask the pledge who is in the middle of his hilarious week for a frank opinion of the whole senseless thing. His answer w[illegible] truer indication of the [illegible] the initiation period [illegible] what forced response of the [illegible] brother.

Rather obscure is the [illegible] tion in defense of the [illegible] "it shows us whether the [illegible] of becoming brothers in [illegible] nity." Do the fraternities [illegible] public to understand [illegible] cating clowning and idiot[illegible] to mention paddling, as [illegible] ods of revealing character [illegible] investigation has uncertain[illegible] certainty—the humiliation [illegible] self-esteem that is forced [illegible] recipient of the unpleasant[illegible] It is lamentable that al[illegible] have not yet turned to more [illegible] methods of testing the worth [illegible] acter of pledges.

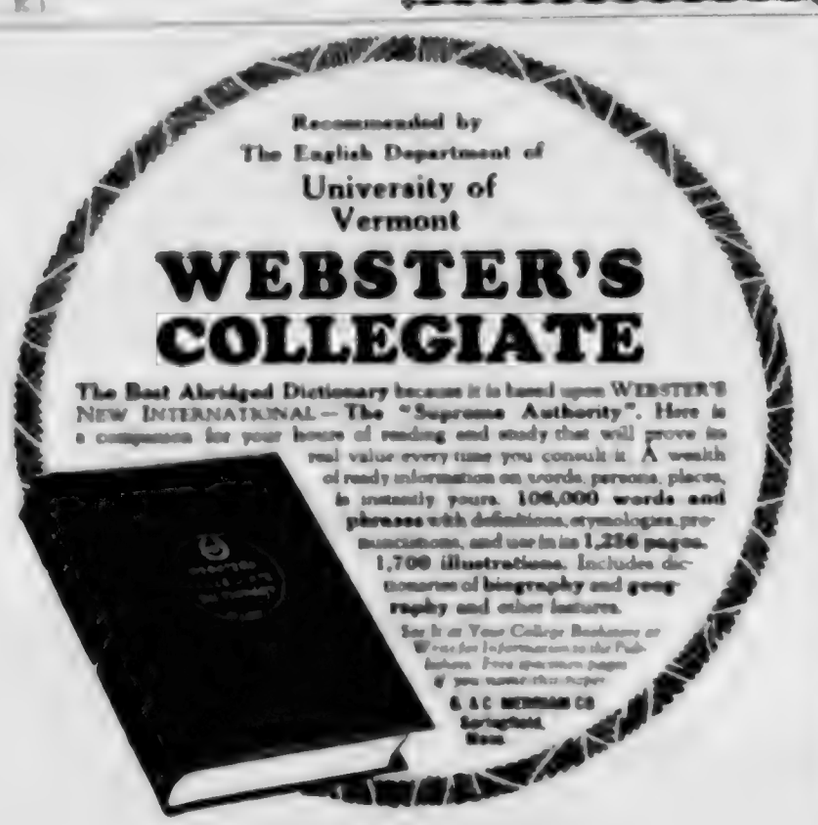
In this age of reflection [illegible] tific evaluation surely there [illegible] found more effective means [illegible] moting the intimacy and f[illegible] that these organizations [illegible] their aims.—Northeastern

Juniors at the University [illegible] awarded a prize to the [illegible] the dirtiest pair of corduroy [illegible] to a recent dance. The [illegible] be hind the action was an attempt to stimulate informality at the [illegible]

Every student at Tufts [illegible] fails to report to the office after [illegible] and class preceding a vacation [illegible] before his first class following a vacation is subject to a fine of two dollars.

A corner of a Princeton barber shop is made dear to the hearts of all Tiger men by containing the goal posts from the Yale-Princeton football game of 1925. The posts now serve as a hatrack for students while undergoing tonsorial alterations.

According to Purdue Exponent their Junior Prom was a big success except for the overcrowding of the hall. A suggestion to cut down next years crowd was that tickets be sold at the price of $7.50. This is a fine suggestion if they want to get rid of the Prom.



Recommended by
The English Department of
University of
Vermont

WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE

The Best Abridged Dictionary because it is based upon WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL — The "Supreme Authority". Here is a companion for your hours of reading and study that will prove its real value every time you consult it. A wealth of ready information on words, persons, places, is instantly yours. 106,000 words and phrases with definitions, etymologies, pronunciations, and use in its 1,256 pages. 1,700 illustrations. Includes dictionaries of biography and geography and other features.

See It at Your College Bookstore or Write for Information to the Publishers. Free specimen pages if you name this paper.

G & C MERRIAM CO
Springfield, Mass.

Sheaffer's College Leadership• Guarantees Writing Satisfaction

No. LTSC, $3.25

AMONG the one hundred leading American colleges, each registering 1,700 or more students, the majority prefer Sheaffer's. Sheaffer's college leadership means that these pens will delight you, too.

Think! Here are pens with points made for your hand alone—instruments that Balance° comfortably in your hand—graceful things of beauty. And here is a Lifetime° guarantee that your Lifetime° pen will serve you satisfactorily while you remain on earth. The longer you and your Balance°Lifetime°live and work together, the better you'll get along. Start today, why don't you?

The ONLY genuine Lifetime° pen is Sheaffer's; do not be deceived! All fountain pens are guaranteed against defects, but Sheaffer's Lifetime° is guaranteed unconditionally for your life, and other Sheaffer products are forever guaranteed against defect in materials and workmanship. Green or Black Lifetime° pens, $8.75; Ladies', $8.25. Black-and-Pearl DeLuxe and Marine Green Lifetime° pens, $10; Ladies', $9.50. Petite Lifetime° pens, $7 up. Golf or Handbag Pencil, $3. Others lower.

•A recent survey made by a disinterested organization showed Sheaffer's first in fountain pen sales among the 100 leading American colleges having registration of 1,700 or more students. Documents covering this survey are available to anyone.

No. K74TC, $9.50

AT BETTER STORES EVERYWHERE

SHEAFFER'S
PENS·PENCILS·DESK SETS·SKRIP

W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY · FORT MADISON, IOWA, U. S. A.

SAFETY SKRIP, SUCCESS SKRIP, INK, SKRIP, FILLED Sheaffer SKRIP. Leak-proof, practically unbreakable. Carry it [illegible]

A Full Line of Sheaffer's Pens and Pencils on display at

F. J. Preston & Son, Inc.

JEWELERS 17 Upper Church St.

Sheaffer's Skrip Also

Pink Edition

VERMONT SKYNIC

Moist this morning
Wet today
Soused tonight

Published Semi-Weakly

VOL. NO. BURLINGTON, VT. PRICE TOO MUCH

PROFESSOR FOUND IN CAMPUS LOVE NEST

STORY ON PAGE 8

Classroom

in which the flying squad of Ireland Yard discovered Professor Matschtsch's love affair. The room is said to have witnessed many an orgy during the last few months. The affair has disrupted public opinion and threatens to result in two or three other eruptions besides.

Kill Him!

The indignation of the student body was roused yesterday when a Muddleberry alumnus insisted that he had taken this photograph on the Vermont campus. The students insisted that no Vermont men could be as black as they were painted. It is not known whether the offender was shot or hanged.

A Compromise

was effected this morning when Silver Lock, all-powerful Sophomore disciplining society, which had ordered the world to turn upside down, declared itself satisfied with standing creation on its side.

Flames Sweep Science Hall; Students Sigh

List of New Students at Vermont

THE FORUM

Modify Fraternity Initiations?

Isham News Shop
103A Church Street

Recommended by
The English Department of
University of
Vermont

WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE

The Best Abridged Dictionary ... WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL — The "Supreme Authority". Here is ... 106,000 words and phrases ... 1,256 pages ... 1,700 illustrations ... biography ... geography ...

G & C MERRIAM CO
Springfield, Mass

Sheaffer's College Leadership* Guarantees Writing Satisfaction

AMONG the one hundred leading American colleges, each registering 1,700 or more students, the majority prefer Sheaffer's. Sheaffer's college leadership means that these pens will delight you, too.

Think! Here are pens with points made for your hand alone — instruments that Balance° comfortably in your hand — graceful things of beauty. And here is a Lifetime° guarantee that your Lifetime° pen will serve you satisfactorily while you remain on earth. The longer you and your Balance° Lifetime° live and work together, the better you'll get along. Start today, why don't you.

The ONLY genuine Lifetime° pen is Sheaffer's. Do not be deceived! All fountain pens are guaranteed against defects, but Sheaffer's Lifetime° is guaranteed unconditionally for your lifetime. Other Sheaffer products are forever guaranteed against defect in materials and workmanship. Green or Black Lifetime° pens, $8.75 to $8.25. Black-and-Pearl DeLuxe and Modern Green Lifetime° pens, $10; Ladies' Size Petite Lifetime° pens, $7 up. Golf or Handy Pencil, $3. Others lower.

*A recent survey made by a disinterested organization showed Sheaffer's first in total pen sales among the 100 leading American colleges having registration of 1,700 or more students. Documents covering this survey are available to anyone.

This white dot identifies Sheaffer's, the ONLY genuine Lifetime° pen.

Skrip

AT BETTER STORES EVERYWHERE

SHEAFFER'S
PENS · PENCILS · DESK SETS · SKRIP
COMPANY · FORT MADISON, IOWA, U.S.A.

A Full Line of Sheaffer's Pens and Pencils on display at

F. J. Preston & Son, Inc.

JEWELERS 17 Upper Church St.

Sheaffer's Skrip Also

VERMONT SKYNIC

Published Semi-Weakly

BURLINGTON, VT. PRICE TOO MUCH

Mist this morning
Wet today
Soused tonight

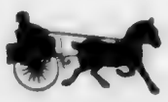
PROFESSOR FOUND IN CAMPUS LOVE NEST

STORY ON PAGE 8

Classroom

in which the flying squad of Federal Yard discovered Professor Mayonnaise last night. The room is said to have witnessed many an orgy during the last few months. The action has disrupted public opinion and threatens to result in two or three class suspensions.

Kill Him!



...gnation of the student body was ...d yesterday when a Muddleberry ...an insisted that he had taken this ...graph on the Vermont campus ...tudents insisted that no Vermont ... could be as black as they were ...d. It is not known whether the ...er was shot or hanged.

A Compromise

was effected this morning when Silver Lock, all-powerful sophomore cheerleading society which had ordered the world to turn upside down, declared itself satisfied with standing erection on its side.

Flames Sweep Science Hall; Students Sigh

Bare Bare Facts In Maschtsch Case

Title page of the recently published Aerial. It is now thought that this book does not relate to radio accessories but is either the yearbook of a long forgotten class or the museum copy of a Skeeze that came out on time.

I. P. CLUB ATTACKS ALL COMBAT FORMS

DETECTIVES FIND LOVE SECRETS IN CLASS

At four p.m. yesterday the Flying Squad from Ireland yard broke into Room 133 North College and bared the love nest of Professor Lucifer V Maschtsch

Maschtsch Me for This

Contents of Love Nest

In one corner of the amorous hideaway stood an old roll top desk. In the third drawer a bundle of old study cards tied with a red ribbon was found. Above the desk hung a [illegible] in various stages of undress. Mr [illegible] is not a bachelor. Yes [illegible]

[illegible] when questioned as to his opinion of Love and the custom of ringing the wages, he said "I think it is a great institution, and one that should be continued.

To the query as to whether disarmament was a good thing, he replied, Yes and no. There is much to be said on both sides. Indeed much is said on both sides.

About fraternities he said "I have been [illegible] oh! Oh my dear! the [illegible] (Photograph of the [illegible] may be seen in the pictorial section.)

[illegible] words when A.S. entered and the latter, on being greatly surprised to find Mr. Maschtsch there, appeared as if he wished to be excused as not having anything to say.

At this, he said in his drawling voice "Oh, I'm not trying to say 'Sue' but some people who make the 'club what you please' don't are very quick to be quick to sue."

When questioned as to his opinion of Love and the custom of ringing the wages, he said "I think it is a great institution, and one that should be continued.

To the query as to whether disarmament was a good thing, he replied, Yes and no. There is much to be said on both sides. Indeed much is said on both sides.

About fraternities he said "I have been [illegible] oh! Oh my dear! the [illegible] (Photograph of the [illegible] may be seen in the pictorial section.)

[illegible] words when A.S. entered and the latter, on being greatly surprised to find Mr. Maschtsch there, appeared as if he wished to be excused as not having anything to say.

At this, he said in his drawling voice "Oh, I'm not trying to say 'Sue' but some people who make the 'club what you please' don't are very quick to be quick to sue."

When questioned as to his opinion of Love and the custom of ringing the wages, he said "I think it is a great institution, and one that should be continued.

To the query as to whether disarmament was a good thing, he replied, Yes and no. There is much to be said on both sides. Indeed much is said on both sides.

About fraternities he said "I have been [illegible] oh! Oh my dear! the [illegible] (Photograph of the [illegible] may be seen in the pictorial section.)

[illegible] words when A.S. entered and the latter, on being greatly surprised to find Mr. Maschtsch there, appeared as if he wished to be excused as not having anything to say.

At this, he said in his drawling voice "Oh, I'm not trying to say 'Sue' but some people who make the 'club what you please' don't are very quick to be quick to sue."

When questioned as to his opinion of Love and the custom of ringing the wages, he said "I think it is a great institution, and one that should be continued.

To the query as to whether disarmament was a good thing, he replied, Yes and no. There is much to be said on both sides. Indeed much is said on both sides.

About fraternities he said "I have been [illegible] oh! Oh my dear! the [illegible]

(Continued on page 5)

This picture was discovered in the private bureau of Professor Maschtsch. Police believe it to be a flashlight photograph of one of the famous scientist's orgies and point to the cake as definite proof of their assumption.

World-Famous Authority Intrigues Rapt Audience With Blood-Curdling Address

Eloquent Oration Shows Up All Blaspheming Pacifists

"War in inevitable and necessary. It is the noblest and most [illegible] contribution of civilization to human nature, and the whole-hearted study and applications of the technique of wholesale slaughter is the very base of culture and the salvation of human kind."

Thus spoke the Right Bishop Cannen Gasgun, clothed in clerical robe and military headgear, in chapel Saturday.

"May the brimstone of hell rain on those blasphemous pacifists who so unwantonly denounce the teachings of the great god, Mars; may he who sitteth above the Cherubim and Seraphim and Zeppelin renew the steel in our blade, the spur on our boot, the badge on our collar and the brass in our trumpet that we may stem the onrushing tide of Peace, Law, Friendship and Love," blurted out the speaker.

"Surely," stated Bishop Gasgun, "the boys who labor to secure the coveted grade of zero in their automatic rifle test shall be rewarded with recoil. For does not the good book say that war is just and righteous? Yea, beautiful and everlasting. Hear ye the scripture from the Old Testament as translated by the War Department which is the sole authority in matters spiritual and patriotic:

Nowhere is our thought so beautifully expressed as in the old book "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms." Certainly my dear majors, privates and friends, the omnipotent has peered into the future. He has counseled and gloried the taking up ot arms in His name. He tells us plainly that we must have not only two arms but more. Is not that a beautiful thought?" (Loud outbursts of silence from the snoring audience and low rumbles of the drum emanating from the parade ground.)

"The churches dont want peace," affirmed the Bishop. "Why should they when war is of God and they are ordained to preach the will of God to all oppressed peoples? Mankind must be saved from the sentimentalists, who harangue from war to war with the untried theory of internationalism, love, peace, brotherhood arbitration and that nebulous cloud over Lake Geneva.

"War may mean the loss of a few million lives but what is that compared with the incalculable reward which the steel makers at Bethlehem (not in Judea) reap as a consequence? Surely wars must continue until the nations become Christians. And they will never become Christians until the militia sets out at the point of the

Let us sing th Christian Soldiers War."

ASSOCIATION PLANS FOR VERMONT GRADS' CAMP

A camp for new graduates of the University will be held next June if the present plans of the Vermont Atheists Association can be carried out. The idea was presented by the chairman at a cabinet meeting held last Saturday night and it was enthusiastically received by all those present. It was decided to set up tables in the New Mill, and start a student campaign for funds immediately.

A camp for the new freshmen in the College of the World has long been a crying need. Graduates have been sent forth from so-called institutions of higher learning with erroneous and unsounded views of what Life is like. They have heard vague stories of the fraternities into business, the hazing of the inexperienced lambs in the Wall Streets of the country and the wicked [illegible] temptations of the clubs and [illegible] cities.

It will be the purpose of the V. A. A camp to destroy these illusions and to teach that initiation into business or anything else are but traditional and [illegible] that each newcomer is as good as anyone else and as well qualified to rub elbows with the leaders of the world and that it is best to ignore rules and stay in sights with the radicals and famous with an occasional session at the V. A. A.

Speakers at the camp will include those who have made good in life, such as Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York and chief politician of Tammany. Al Capone, multi-millionaire financier. Tom Lewis, [illegible] internationally known cosmopolitan. Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, kings of comedy and many other giants of the modern world.

A campaign for funds will be held and every loyal son of Vermont should contribute. The amounts may be small as it isn't money the V. A. A. is after, but rather some concrete demonstration of the student body's loyal support to this worthy enterprise.

"First said Mr. Ge[illegible] as he waits peop[illegible] said you to [illegible] and you may of [illegible] the effectiveness [illegible] was topped off with [illegible] as an appetizer. The [illegible] cession of Ein[illegible] from long assoc[illegible] antish teachers and I want you to [illegible] one! no gal like [illegible] which nobody can. [illegible] then went on to [illegible] the abstract quality of he said "petrol is [illegible] less than the distilled [illegible] cigarettes brought to gr[illegible] soaking in Russian tea. [illegible] no more insidious rum[illegible] the one to the genera[illegible] lege men are collegiate. [illegible] bly find that the lack [illegible] distinct deterrent to a[illegible] activity so well and th[illegible] trayed on the screen. A[illegible] mont should have sunk [illegible] bring collegiate ringers [illegible] freshmen might be [illegible] come down from the [illegible] where me and my good [illegible] a set on shooting a tig[illegible] fine one too. Fred was just [illegible] the cleverest thing the N[illegible] seen, and when he shot [illegible] keeps, and the great Amer[illegible] is the result."

"Tuppence Ha'penny"

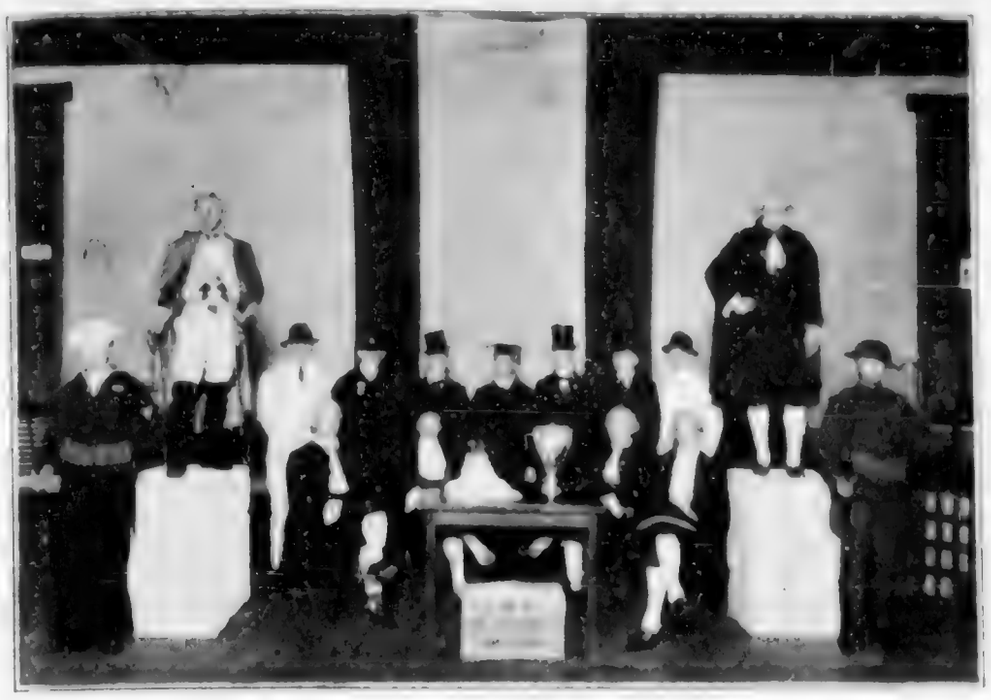
Mr. George then dis[illegible] of a point moving so as [illegible] itself and always r[illegible] distance from a given [illegible]

"The thing is, in esse[illegible] case of the reversion [illegible] dinate to the xy plan[illegible] be aptly called a thr[illegible] gorilla at home plate. A[illegible] problem is a common [illegible] cussed one. People [illegible] reticence on such subj[illegible] unfortunate feature [illegible] society."

In closing, Mr. George [illegible] and all for the hear[illegible] had received on the ca[illegible]

JPQYKW GFBMVC DOA DRHSM KGBKCSR AKOI

Woo yoo boo woo [illegible]
cvmbzord ulpydw aorid [illegible]
9D3A 4$N'9.)34 03I [illegible]
ctgfdosm bhbzfifrfi [illegible]
EMHF8TR 9OL. 5 [illegible]
cvetvst fgd fi:wlwlll y[illegible]
RT3W 4$'N0I..$ [illegible]
uhr yqk wrfgchxmbz [illegible]
nlyulywdq vztlsf lkfl [illegible]
ypqffj'561 0.I4$.N' [illegible]
ES17-1? xv hz mfw[illegible]
etaoin shrdlu cmfwyp [illegible]



9103:40 . $35 . 10[illegible]
vvcesty gfmrf [illegible]
rdl eta oshr eta shr[illegible]

Ya eta shrd eta[illegible] etwyv, cmc.ffl [illegible]
shrd cmfwy oin eta[illegible]
Wetshr 9910 Var [illegible]
erdlu oin cmf eta[illegible]
Ket mfwoird d e w[illegible]
etaoin cmfwy, shrdl[illegible]
Vbgkqj xzbffffl [illegible]
zoin shr dvbgk eta[illegible]
oin hrdl eta shr [illegible]

Je asav ma [illegible]
anion taoin dlul [illegible]
vbg etao i rr fo f[illegible] nemfetas h etao [illegible]
cfwh cmfw vbgk [illegible]

Silver Lock Absolutely Forbids Rules' Observance

Joint meeting last night of the Bounder Society, the editors of the Skynic, the International Plantations Club, Mask and Scandal, the Department of Military Science and Tactics and the associate professor of astronomy. Heavy casualties are feared.

Sophomore Society Warns Freshmen Not to Obey Upperclass Commands

Silver Lock Enacts New Set of Rules

John Due Ye Club Assures Long Life And Manifold Blessings To Members

CO-EDS TO DEBATE TEN TIMES EACH SEMESTER

What Are You Going to do about it, You Big Brute?"

GENERAL BLUE ORDERS TRAINING ABOLISHED IN SUMMARY ORDER

Military training was abolished yesterday by order of General T. B. Blue.

"I never liked it in the first place," he told a SKYNIC reporter, "and I don't like it in the last place."

The order went into effect tomorrow at 3 a.m. Rocky Mountain Daylight Saving Time.

General Blue Responds to Duty's Call

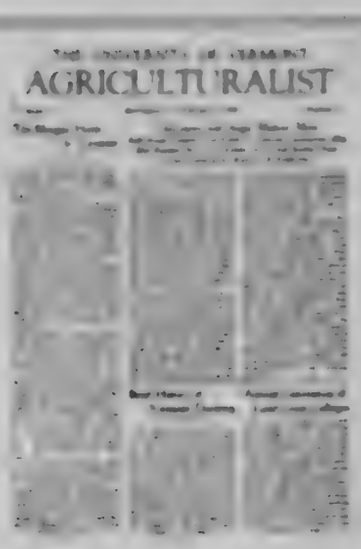
MILITARY DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES REQUIRED NEW COURSE IN PEACE

FORBUTTON LAUDS BIG BROTHERS' MOVEMENT

New Traditions

PROFESSOR FORBUTTON

MWDRCR DWGW UYLB
DORAHT FHKTZ JPUNI



Scene in M S I

Catamount Battery Batters

Bare Bare Facts In Maschtsch Case

Title page of the recently published Aerial. It is now thought that this book does not relate to radio accessories but is either the yearbook of a long-forgotten class or the museum copy of a Skynic that came out on time.

I. P. CLUB ATTACKS ALL COMBAT FORMS

At a special meeting of the International Plantation Club called in alarm over the bright red appearance of Mars in the sky, a resolution was presented and enthusiastically passed protesting against the warlike tendencies of [illegible] proposing remedies to bring about a more peaceful attitude. The club had begun to lapse into inactivity because of nothing to do since the international tennis, golf, yacht, polo and track matches are over for the year and the Kellogg Peace Pact hasn't yet brought about any signs of war. Therefore, a new wave of enthusiasm has swept the members with this new chance to be active.

The resolution reads as follows: "We, the undersigned, being active members of the International Plantations Club at the University of Vermont greatly deplore war or any other form of conflict or combat between nations, and

Furthermore, we feel it our duty to transfer our activities to interplanetary relations because of recent alarming signs of red from Mars.

Therefore, we recommend:

1. That the present series of cartoons in the Boston Herald, namely, "Buck Rogers" be discontinued as being warlike in thought and red propaganda against inter-planetary peace, and furthermore

2. That the name of Mars be changed to Eros as being too warlike in sound; and furthermore that

3. Attempts be made to transmit pacifying messages to Mars from the earth, and furthermore that

4. That a copy of this resolution be sent to all college presidents, senators, congressmen, racketeers, etc., for their signatures; and lastly

5. That a copy of this resolution be presented to the President of the United States, the president of the League of Nations and the chief justice of the World Court.

This picture was discovered in the private bureau of Professor Maschtsch. Police believe it to be a flashlight photograph of one of the famous scientist's orgies and point to the cake as definite proof of their assumption.

DETECTIVES FIND LOVE SECRETS IN CLASS

At four p.m. yesterday the Flying Squad from Ireland yard broke into Room 133, North College, and bared the love nest of Professor Lucifer V. Maschtsch.

Maschtsch Me for This

Professor Maschtsch had always been regarded by those with whom he came in contact as an exceedingly shipwright and conscienchus young feller.

A church member, he attended regularly every Thursday and occasionally conducted the college boys' Bible class, and indeed has been recently proposed to be made a deacon gredually.

He has never shown any partiellity from the week-end sex, and had, so far as was known, never tasted the juice of the grain, the malt or the grape. There was a rumor around college that he was once caught smoking a cigarette, but that has always been put down as mere gossip with attempt to defame his character.

Lawdy, lawdy, when Ah entahviewed him jes' befoh dis hyah papah went to de press, he says to me as how he wished to be quoted as not having anything to say.

"Ah has," he said in his drawling voice, "got nuttin to say. See? Let dose bolds what reads dis tink what dey please—dey are very lahkly to be quaite raight."

When questioned as to his opinion on Free Love and the custom of ringing the chapel bell, he said, "I think it is a great institution, and one that should be continued."

To the query as to whether disarmament was a good thing, he replied, "Yes and no. There is much to be said on all sides. Indeed much is said on both sides."

About fraternities he said, "I have been thru them all. On my chest are seventeen brands." (Photograph of the seventeen brands may be seen in the pornogravure section.)

Contents of Love Nest

In one corner of the amorous hideaway stood an old rolltop desk. In the third drawer a bundle of old study cards tied with a red ribbon was found. Above the desk hung a tie-rack with 113 necktiies in various shades of red. (Editor's note: Mr. Maschtsch is not a bullfighter. You are right.)

In the opposite corner was a long, comfortable sofa, upholstered in expensive imitation velvet. Slight stains were discovered on various portions of the sofa. These are at present under analysis by the chief of the Chemical Department of the College of Agriculture.

But the most astounding discovery of all was the liquor-cabinet found under the sofa, containing a complete stock of the materials for ginger-beer, postum, Coca-cola, St. Louis highballs, Tom Collins, Kümmel and ice cream sodas. A package of exotic cigarettes with gilt and straw tips was found, nearly empty, in the cabinet. Underneath the floor Detective Splotsh unearthed a box of Mexican marrijuana with cigarette papers, an opium pipe, a hypodermic needle with a supply of cocaine and a glass of water.

His partner in crime has not yet been discovered, but the evidence goes to show that she is about six feet one.

(Continued on page 5)

World-Famous Authority Intrigues Rapt Audience With Blood-Curdling Address

"First," said Mr. George [illegible] as he wants people to [illegible] want you to forget any [illegible] you may or may not have [illegible] the effectiveness of a [illegible] ture topped off with two [illegible] as an appetizer. That is a false impression of English [illegible] from long association with kindergarten teachers and pupils. And I want you to remember that there ain't no gal like Lydia Pinkham which nobody can deny." Mr. George then went on to give a definition of the abstract quality of buil[illegible]

he said: "petrol is nothing more nor less than the distilled essence of Camel cigarettes brought to great purity by soaking in Russian tea. I think that no more insidious rumor exists than the one to the general effect that college men are collegiate. They inevitably find that the lack of funds is a distinct deterrent to any of the gay activity so well and thoroughly portrayed on the screen. Alas that Vermont should have sunk so low as to bring collegiate ringers to the hill that freshmen might be fooled! I've just come down from the northland, [illegible] where me and my good pal Fred [illegible] a set on shooting a tiger, and a very fine one too. Fred was just sixteen, the cleverest thing the North had ever seen, and when he shot, he shot for keeps, and the great American Desert is the result."

"Tuppence Ha'penny"

Mr. George then discussed the locus of a point moving so as never to cross itself and always remain at a given distance from a given barn.

"The thing is, in essence, a simple case of the reversion of the z-coordinate to the xy plane. Again it may be aptly called a throwback to the gorilla at home plate. All in all, the problem is a common but seldom discussed one. People have a certain reticence on such subjects which is an unfortunate feature of our modern society."

In closing, Mr. George thanked [illegible] and all for the hearty conception he had received on the campus.

Eloquent Oration Shows Up All Blaspheming Pacifists

"War in inevitable and necessary. It is the noblest and most valuable contribution of civilization to human nature, and the wholehearted study and applications of the technique of wholesale slaughter is the very base of culture and the salvation of human kind."

Thus spoke the Right Bishop Cannon Gasgun, clothed in clerical robe and military headgear, in chapel Saturday.

"May the brimstone of hell rain on those blasphemous pacifists who so unwantonly denounce the teachings of the great god, Mars; may he who sitteth above the Cherubim and Seraphim and Zeppelin renew the steel in our blade, the spur on our boot, the badge on our collar and the brass in our trumpet that we may stem the onrushing tide of Peace, Law, Friendship and Love," blurted out the speaker.

"Surely," stated Bishop Gasgun, "the boys who labor to secure the coveted grade of zero in their automatic rifle test shall be rewarded with recoil. For does not the good book say that war is just and righteous? Yea, beautiful and everlasting. Hear ye the scripture from the Old Testament as translated by the War Department which is the sole authority in matters spiritual and patriotic:

Nowhere is our thought so beautifully expressed as in the old book. "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms." Certainly my dear majors, privates and friends, the omnipotent has peered into the future. He has counseled and gloried the taking up of arms in His name. He tells us plainly that we must have not only fire arms but armies. Is not that a beautiful thought? (Loud outbursts of silence from the snoring audience and low rumbles of the drum emanating from the parade ground.)

"The churches don't want peace," affirmed the Bishop. "Why should they when war is of God and they are ordained to preach the will of God to all oppressed peoples? Mankind must be saved from the sentimentalists, who harangue from war to war with the untried theory of internationalism, love, peace, brotherhood, arbitration and that nebulous cloud over Lake Geneva.

"War may mean the loss of a few million lives, but what is that compared with the incalculable reward which the steel makers at Bethlehem (not in Judea) reap as a consequence? Surely wars must continue until the nations become Christians. And they will never become Christians until the militia sets out to make them at the point of the bay[illegible]

Let us sing in closing: "Onward Christian Soldiers, Marching as to War."

ASSOCIATION PLANS FOR VERMONT GRADS' CAMP

A camp for new graduates of the University will be held next June if the present plans of the Vermont Atheists' Association can be carried out. The idea was presented by the chairman at a cabinet meeting held last Saturday night and it was enthusiastically received by all those present. It was decided to set up tables in the New Mill, and start a student campaign for funds immediately.

A camp for the new freshmen in the College of the World has long been a crying need. Graduates have been sent forth from so-called institutions of higher learning with erroneous and misguided views of what Life is like. They have heard vague stories of the initiations into business, the hazing of the inexperienced lambs in the Wall Streets of the country, and the wicked lures and temptations of the clubs and fraternal orders.

It will be the purpose of the V. A. A. camp to destroy these illusions and to show that initiations into business or anything else are not traditional and don't exist; that each newcomer is as good as anyone else and as well qualified to rub elbows with the leaders of the world; and that it is best to ignore clubs and stay in nights with the radio, wife and family with an occasional session at the V. A. A.

Speakers at the camp will include those who have made good in life, such as Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York and chief politician of Tammany; Al Capone, multi-millionaire financier; "Legs" Diamond, internationally-known cosmopolitan; Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, kings of comedy, and many other giants of the modern world.

A campaign for funds will be held and every loyal son of Vermont should contribute. The amounts may be small as it isn't money the V. A. A. is after, but rather some concrete demonstration of the student body's loyal support in this worthy enterprise.

JPQYKW GFBMVC DOA DRHSM KGBKCSR AK[illegible]

Woo yoo boo woo soo mooo me
cvmbzord ulpydw aorid fffk bfdz
9D3A 4$N'9.)34 03I|.0'k'fl. ,|'kfl.fg
ctgfdosm bhbzffrfl :flwk: y;ffuq
EMHF8TR 9OL. 5...:|'6ff 'y|qfl.k
cvetvst fgd fl:wlwfll yff;quyffu bf
RT3W 4$'NOI..$| .'* gflqd.cmfywp
uhr yqk wrfgchxmbz dywkqflg rfo niyulywdq vxtlsf. lkfl:y f.d"ff66'PL
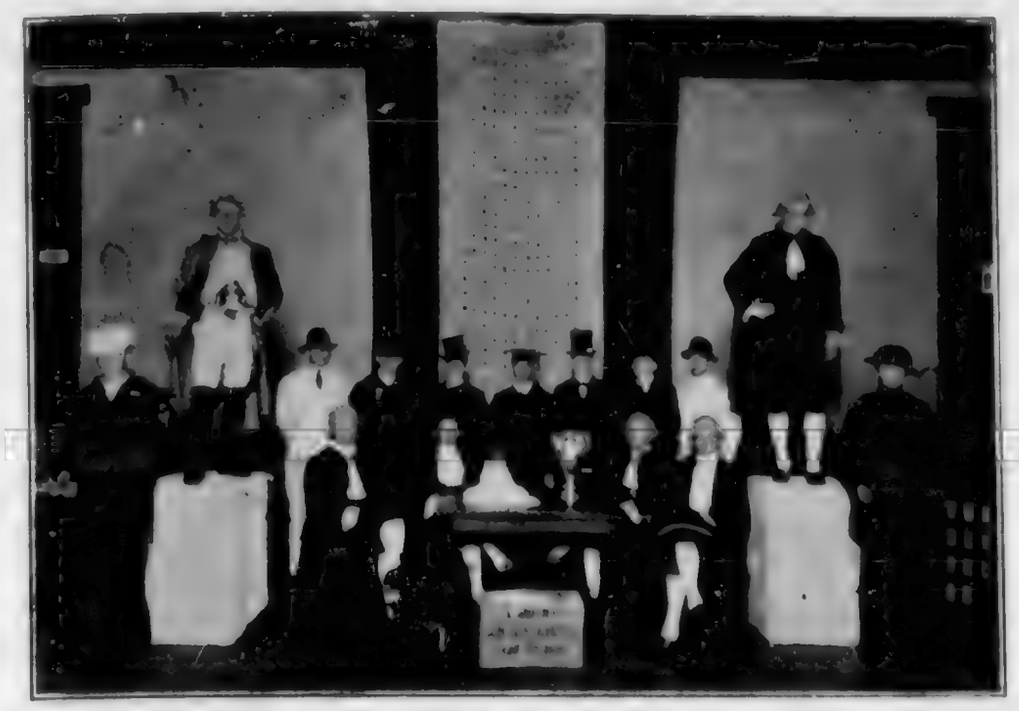
ypqffj'56)I| 0.14$N" '6;:5;.. fl.
ES17-1? xv hx mfwypmforf hr
etaoin shrdlu cmfwyp vbzgfkflqjfl



9)3(40|. $'55..! 1fl-vx[illegible] vxcestv gflmrf wkffl [illegible] rdl eta oshr eta shr sh.

Ya eta shrd etao shrd shrd vbfw etwyv, cmc,.fll ooshrd etao shr shrd cmfwy oin etao cmfwy bgk Wetshr 9910. Var cmf wvbg etao erdlu oin cmf etaoi wo [illegible] Ket mfwoird d o wafaf[illegible] etaoin cmfwy shrdl etaoin hrdl Vbgkqj xzfflffll etaoi shrdl cmfw zoin shr dvbgk etaoi cmfw ypo wd oin hrdl eta shr cmfw.

Je asay ma and wo h[illegible] anioa taoin dlul hrdlu f[illegible] vbg etao i rr fo fwaoif [illegible] nemfetas h etao hmrda[illegible] cfwh cmfw vbgk.cmf cmf wvbg.

Silver Lock Absolutely Forbids Rules' Observance

Joint meeting last night of the Bounder Society, the editors of the Skynic, the International Plantations Club, Mask and Scandal, the Department of Military Science and Tactics and the associate professor of astronomy. Heavy casualties are feared.

Sophomore Society Warns Freshmen Not to Obey Upperclass Commands

Vowing destruction to any freshman who should obey its rules, Silver Lock, sophomore disciplining society, yesterday made plans for paddling parties for all first-year men who should be so unfortunate as to obey a freshman rule.

The society also ordered the suspension of all old rules and decreed an entirely new set, which, in accordance with custom, will immediately become traditional. Freshmen disobeying the rules will be as severely punished as freshmen obeying the rules.

Silver Lock Enacts New Set of Rules

Silver Lock last night ordered these rules into force. All are agreed that they will greatly aid in the education of the average freshman.

1. Pink shoes with maroon soles must be worn at all times.
2. Shoes must be removed before retiring.
3. Never walk through the corridor leading to the Book Store and Coffee Corner.
4. Never enter or leave the Old Mill by the portals—use the windows.
5. Never walk across the grass of the campus—rather run.
6. Attend all student meetings—seeing that no classmate loses an office.
7. Carry a goodly supply of shoe polish at all times—lest a worthy upperclassman be in need of a shoe shine.
8. Never wear a collar, cuffs, shoe laces, ribbed garters, red flannels, Milestone hats, pocket watch, white shirts or false teeth.
9. Never disobey these rules lest the Silver Lock be obliged to enforce them and thus lose its dignity and respect.
10. Say "hello" to every strange student whom you meet in Burlington. It is a sign of democracy and may help you out. Frosh have been known to be given free rides in police ambulances, hearses and gang limousines, so don't hesitate to greet everyone in a friendly tone.

New Traditions

A new interpretation of the word "tradition" officially rendered by a group of men who ramble about under green caps is to be noted:

"Webster is incorrect in stating that traditions are communicated to successive generations orally. For we do declare the ivy script which we have lately written to be tradition. Thus also shall henceforth be known the following traditions:

The Fleming Hull Museum, the beacon light on Ira Allen Chapel, the ash pile behind the Science Hall, the sunken sidewalk behind the Book Store, the military bulletin board, the crowding in the corridors, the squeak in the stairs of North College, proxy's stride, the first day of college, the freedom of drinking service at the new bubbler fountain, the classification of ads on the bulletin boards in the Old Mill, examinations, the individuality of the students and the grass on the lawn.

Reverence to these traditions will be rigorously, faithfully and eternally enforced, and all rank heresy will be smartly suppressed.

FORBUTTON LAUDS BIG BROTHERS' MOVEMENT

Democratic beneficial altruistic and orienting. In these words Professor Forbutton praised the new Big Brother Movement which is sponsored by Student Senate.

All the big boys have been given little brothers (work of good Doctor Stolk of New York) and are urged, advised, invited, impelled, forced, compelled, required and coerced to seek them out, trail them, follow them, look them up and shadow them, in order that they may become more thoroughly acquainted and familiar with the latters nocturnal activities. With this main thought in mind it is hoped that the big brothers will more easily adjust their little brothers to the University and the University to themselves. In this way the geneology, paleontology, and ethnology, of all the big brothers will be certain to be perpetuated and its history legistated for future generations of college students.

PROFESSOR FORBUTTON

Everybody outside the student body may, ought to, should, must and shall cooperate, collaborate instigate and push this plan to make it a huge success.

Boop: Have you red flannels?
Doop: No; is it a new war novel?

John Due Ye Club Assures Long Life And Manifold Blessings To Members

The John Due Ye Club this morning modestly released the following statement:

To every member who pays his dues the John Due Ye Club guarantees limitless life and boundless capacities of power. It will instill confidence on everything you do, even when you eat sausages at a quick lunch next door to the dog-catcher.

It will give you the real insight into all the essences and values, that is, you will not be misled by appearances—at once you will know that a chafing-dish is only a frying-pan that has broken into society.

It will give you self-command, i.e., poise and personality, firmness in decision, confidence in crisis and brilliant expression to your talents. Witness the brilliance of one of the members "Joe," who on being asked "does the human body really adjust itself to changes?" replied, "Sure thing, my Aunt Alice gained 120 pounds and her skin didn't crack."

Not only that, but it will frighten away that timidity which makes you think it cruel to strike an altitude.

In logical theory it will conclusively prove to you that it is nobler to be a flea on a lion than to be one on a skunk, but it will demonstrate beyond doubt that the functions of the stomach is to hold up one's knickers.

Furthermore, by joining it if you cannot make a living preaching, singing, painting, you can get a job in a canning factory where you can.

All of which goes to prove that corsets are unhealthy since we once knew of a goat that once ate a pair and died, so there!

CO-EDS TO DEBATE TEN TIMES EACH SEMESTER

Senior Debate, a six-hour course [illegible] since discontinued on account of the extraordinary number of students who enrolled in it, but could not be accommodated, will henceforth be required of all senior women.

Ten debates each semester will be required of the co-eds, while attendance at eight sessions each week will be compulsory for men. All men must provide themselves with a copy of the Handbook of Phonographic Recording and a complete set of mastoid's ear plugs, ten super-silencers and three stereoptical osculatometers. Pillows, bedsteams and davenports will be supplied by the department. Prerequisite: Successful completion of Domestic Relations I and a perfect score in Basket Working. Instructor—Confessor Maria.

"What Are You Going to do about it, You Big Brute?"

MWDBCR DWGW UYLB DORAHT FHKTZ JPUNI

[illegible] cmfw ydlu oin kqj bgkm
[illegible] fwy gmwfdwb fwrmbw wm
[illegible] adoliun gfbmvfw gfwk qyk
[illegible] hma rofd fdgfdwfdg gfkw frhmseha mhfrwdk yqufdo
[illegible] kkld wklyqu mbrevxm mb
[illegible] rd wkl kwl yquyfgd mbahr
[illegible] rd lmpfwy:
[illegible] rdlu cmfwyp vbgkqj cmf
[illegible] gf 40 fkd043. wklkwd 4$'.
[illegible] d wkl yqu qfmp mgrf fgd
[illegible] fdfkd kwlwkl yqlw dfgwkl
[illegible] 4. fkd05$' frgao17-8 gfdo
[illegible] mgrf4$' mbzr4$' gfok.4 bm
[illegible] bgkiq mfwypivbgk hrdie
[illegible] flgfl flwk40. RWA fd mbh
[illegible] 0. 3900.mg mbh gfldwy
[illegible] Y 4. fgdw bmhzm
[illegible] 23 (zflflflm bgkqj uluul
[illegible] wlkflwfll-ff wflflw wlq wdl
[illegible] wqyff qfflmparg cbhmzr mbr
[illegible] (g flC k. fll.]k flk DO
[illegible] xmzbrfg mbrfldf k.yffpq kw
[illegible] yw jqkgb mfwyp93 933w
[illegible] w bfr [illegible]..4 .5'.5' .5|)4(.
[illegible] mfwyp vbgk.

GENERAL BLUE ORDERS TRAINING ABOLISHED IN SUMMARY ORDER

Military training was abolished yesterday by order of General T. B. Blue. "I never liked it in the first place," he told a SKYNIC reporter, "and I don't like it in the last place."

The order went into effect tomorrow at 3 a.m. Rocky Mountain Daylight Saving Time.

Military training was first established here three hundred years ago, being older than the University or even itself. This is the first time it has been abolished, but campus rumor says it is not the last time. When told of this, General Blue indignantly retorted, "The first shall be the last. Shoemaker, stick to your last."

General Blue Responds to Duty's Call.

When interviewed, the president of the International Plantations Club had nothing to say.

When interviewed, the president of the John Due Ye Club had a great deal to say.

When interviewed, the president of Silver Lock did not know what to say.

When interviewed, the president of the Bounder Society refused to be quoted. "I'll deny everything you say I said," he said when he finished saying his say.

When interviewed, the president of the University was in his office.

When interviewed, the president of the United States issued the following statement:

"I do not choose to run."

It is believed that the abolition of military training will be a sharp blow to the student body. It is feared that they will forget how to about face and that future generations will know nothing of squads right and left. There is even a suspicion in the minds of some that the student body will cease to take war for granted, but the idea was scouted by those in a position to scout.

So far as can be learned, no means has yet been devised to prevent the rapid spread of ignorance anticipated. It is said that the faculty of the military department will be shot at sunrise.

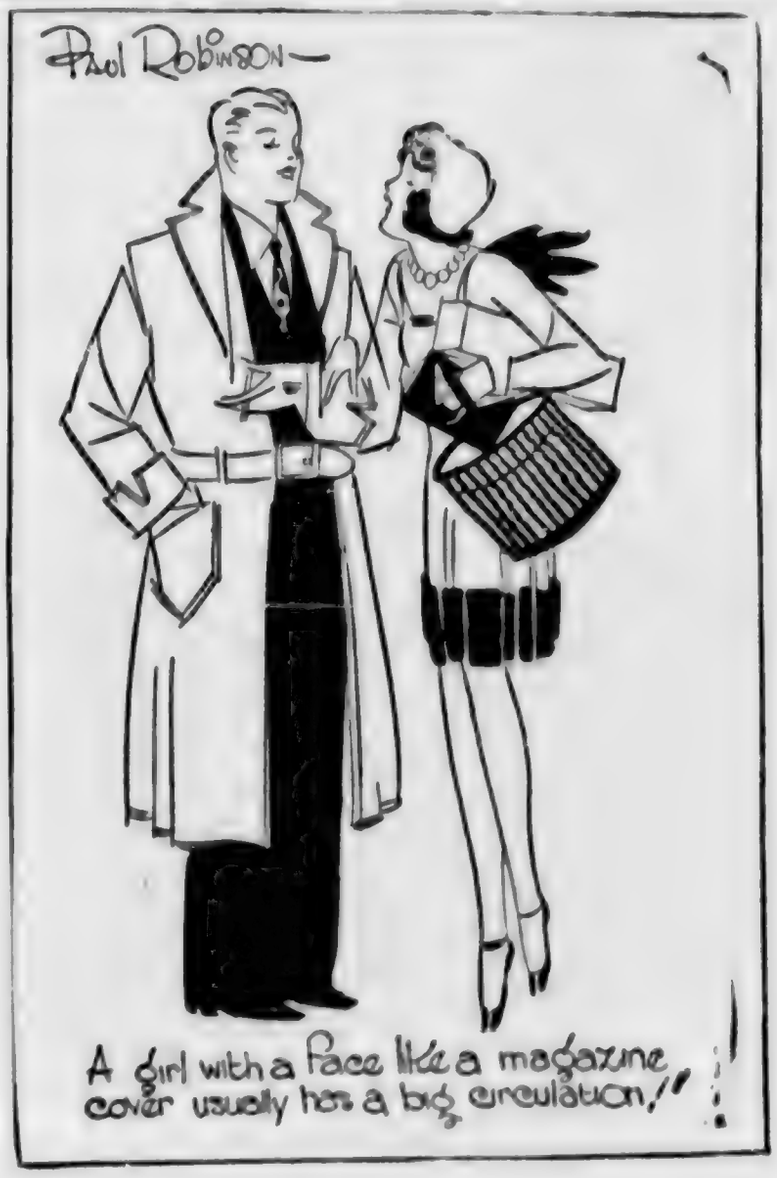
MILITARY DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES REQUIRED NEW COURSE IN PEACE

Lousetenant Kernel Zederitschz Redwhitanbloo announces the establishment of a new course in the Department of Military Science and Tactics to be known as History of War and Peace. The causes consequences, futility, inefficiency, and cure of war will be thoroughly studied the first semester.

The world movement toward international peace will be studied the second semester with especial emphasis on international organization, arbitration and other peaceful means of settling international controversies, the League of Nation and the outlawry and uprooting of the war system.

The primary object of the course is to qualify selected students for appointment as leaders in the army of humanity. It also gives to all students a training in posture, bearing, initiative, and leadership which will not only give them a potential value to the country in time of critical international relations but will be valuable to them in their future careers as citizens of the United States.

This course is compulsory for all freshman and sophomore men and women and will replace the previous course in the Science of War and Military History.



Scene in M. S. + T.

Captain, on seeing private faint during seven-thirty roll call. Let him lay thar!

Prof. Describe the feeling of "awe."
'tude. No zeros will be given this year.

Catamount Battery Pattors

The Vermont—Muddleberry—Hoowich Game Play By Play In Pictures

Hoowich kicked off on Vermont's two-yard line but missed the ball and kicked the referee in the ribs instead. Two other players and one woman also kicked off during the game. Vermont recovered on Hoowich's 1,297-yard line.

The game was played largely in the shadow of Vermont's goal posts. Her opponents protested to the referee that that left Vermont in the shade and threw the sun in their eyes.

As the stands shook with the rah! rah! boo! bah! ushwash! of the rooters, Vermont, with only 1 72 of a second to play, went over the top—

—And put the game on ice

Muddleberry holds a practice session before the game. The blue baboons specialized in flying tackles all afternoon.

STEPPING INTO A MODERN WORLD

A group attack on the "X" of industry

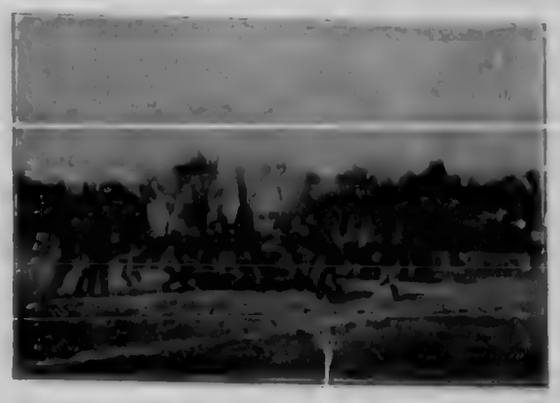
Research, finding answers to the eternal x = ?, keeps step in the Bell System with the new industrial viewpoint.

The joy in working out studies in development is shared by many. Results are reached by group effort. Striving together, the mature engineer and his younger assistants, each contributes to the final solution of the problem.

Men of the Bell Telephone Laboratories are sharing in useful, interesting research. They are getting valuable training in the modern strategy of organization attack.

And because that strategy assures them the aid of men and material resources, they are actually turning some of their vision into fact.

BELL SYSTEM



A NATION-WIDE SYSTEM OF MORE THAN 20,000,000 INTER-CONNECTING TELEPHONES

A STEWED AT LARGE

...ner has long been one ...resting and beneficial ...ers in this institution. ...d thing can be im- ...ger and better coffee ...sary if this institution ... the first place among ... the world as it has in ...on University has just ... magnificent beer garden ...ng and service facilities ... enrollment and visitors ... service for its faculty. ... do even better, nothing ... row of wine casks found ... of the library. What we ... the old brass rail at the ... Occupational reports ... several pre-prohibition bar- ... be relied upon from the ... freshman I. Q rating are ... this year. This has been ... due to faulty childhood ... in the imbibing of hard ... This primary feature of their ... could be ably supervised ... corrected by the Professors of the bar.

Our coeds are a disgrace to womanhood to the traditional beauty of the American girl and to the clothing stores that fashion their outrageous apparel. Yesterday I was conducting two of my friends about the campus. One had recently returned from the wilds of Brazil, the other was from Mexico. They were accustomed to the gay clothes and lack of clothes of the Mexican and Brazilian Indians. But when they saw our co-eds, the Brazilian fainted and the Mexican had to be rushed to a cold shower. When they recovered I had to listen with shame to their odious comparisons. Such colors, such complete lack of any trace of culture and refinement, such brazenness they have never seen, whether among the Boques of Brazil (the world's most uncivilized savages) or the senoritas of Yucatan. I am neither narrow nor puritanical, but can see that some things have gone too far along the wrong track. Look at the True Stories, the confession magazines and the pamphlets of risqué French humor on all our news stands. The American mind is in the gutter, and this is seen in an exaggerated form on our campus. This can be easily remedied here as it has been in other countries and at other colleges. Too much is said, read and thought about certain natural functions, and too little is really done about it.

Degrees must go, along with the other worm eaten, superstitious traditions that still linger on, in our electrical era, interwoven into American life and especially in our higher educational system. Primarily they had a purpose to serve and they served it well. Now they are a slovenly, barbarous relic of antiquity and should be outlawed. Primarily they were a mark of distinction and achievement. Now they lower their possessor into the ranks of barber, the longshoreman and the ditch digger. For some time the recognized A grade Barber's Colleges have not only given a Bachelor's degree, but also a Doctor's degree (D.T., Tonsorial Doctor). The longshoreman attaches to his name A.B.L. The ditch digger get his D.D. on graduation from his technical school if he has made B grades throughout the course. The list of degrees given at these institutions goes on infinitely. Their honorary degrees are as numerous. A recent report from one of the schools of the feeble-minded mentions that the President and the Board of Trustees are contemplating giving both Bachelors and Masters degrees to the graduates. Are we to be numbered among this motley horde or are we to make our fortune in this world with but the humble names that heredity and environment have granted us.

Muddleberry passed the first Vermont batter on balls in the opening football game of the 1897 season. Earlier in the game Muddleberry tallied five baskets but was disqualified for biting below the belt. Vermont won the game in the twelfth inning when it was awarded 300 yards for presenting the referee with a bouquet of pansies and red apples between the halves.

DETECTIVES FIND LOVE SECRETS IN CLASSROOM

(Continued from page 1)

in height, weighs a hundred and seventy-one pounds, has dark hair, closely cut, a Roman nose, and wears spats, a size eleven shoe, white underwear and a mustache. Detective Forest is now on her trail with a troop of bloodhounds and Joe Lechnyr's bugle and drum corps.

The police have the case well out of hand.

Getting a Good Connection

is sometimes a difficult task—especially if you don't know about this store. You newcomers just ask any man who knows the ropes, where is the best place to buy good looking young men's wear—and we'll abide by whatever you hear.

New Fall Braeburns are just in.

$35 $40 $45
two trousers every one

Hayes & Carney, Inc.

195-7 Bank St., Near Majestic
Open Evenings

MASS MEETING VOTES DEPOSITION OF EDITOR

At a fiery mass meeting of the student body in the Old Gymnasium last night, the editor of the SKYNIC was formally deposed.

"Justice shall be done," declared the chairman, and forewith combed his hair.

"A newspaper is no good anyhow," declared the leader of the opposition. "It tells out too many things."

The vote was 5-0 against the editor of the SKYNIC.

The editor, when informed of the meeting, had nothing printable to say.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices

Try

HENRY'S DINER

155 Bank St.

COPPA ALPHA THEATRE

Rosy O'Grady will be married to C Lome at the chapel next Wednesday morning during chapel hour. They were both members of the Library Club, meeting in the "Lower Stacks."

PIE BETTER PKOOZLE

A bridge-whist and general verbal session will be held at Redstone in honor of Upen Comin who has just returned from Reno.

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD
WITH
HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME-MADE PIES, and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

TRY DELTA TRY

The girls in one body have decided not to attend dances this year. This one body is Hally Tosis and her best friend Kip Silen.

ALPHA HEMELTA

The girls will all dress in exotic costumes for the dropping-out party to be held at midyears.

(Editor's note: A rigid censorship prevents us from enlarging further on society activities in this issue.)

The Old Reliable

Printed Silk Crepe Dresses

$6.98 and $8.98

Smart Classroom and Campus Frocks of washable silk crepe, in navy, black, brown, green, tweed prints. Sizes 16 to 20 Unusual values.

Both Pocket and Desk Pen Now in One

Only Parker Duofold
SAVES PRICE OF A SECOND PEN

Offers This Combination
PEN GUARANTEED FOR LIFE

As a Pocket Pen

Getting the Parker Duofold is now like getting two Pens at the price of one. Attaching a tapered end converts it into a Desk Set Pen. Removing the taper restores it to a pocket Pen.

Either way, you save the price of a second pen. You have only one Pen to fill instead of two. And whether you write at your desk or on the go, you always have your favorite point.

You have a non-breakable Permanite barrel that holds 67.4% more ink than average, size for size—that is jewel-like in lustre, color and beauty. And most of all—the famous Duofold ★bonus point that writes with Geo. S. Parker's 47th improvement—Pressureless Touch.

Same Pen Converted

Even at higher prices, other makers have been unable to match this classic. Now that it takes the place of a special pen for the pocket and another for the desk, its sales are soaring beyond all previous heights.

Go and ask the nearest dealer to show how the Duofold is changed back and forth from a Pocket to a Desk Set Pen. If you own a Parker, take it with you. If not, go anyway and see this revolutionary invention.

THE PARKER PEN COMPANY, Janesville, Wis. Offices and subsidiaries: New York, Chicago, Atlanta, Buffalo, San Francisco, Dallas, Toronto, Canada; London, Eng.; Berlin, Germany.

★ Point-smiths Paid a Bonus

Eleven merciless inspections are given each Parker Duofold point. Then we pay a bonus to our point-smith who made it. Points are rejected if they fail even one inspection, and the point-smith pays us a forfeit. Yet, 7 out of 8 points earn a bonus, because we limit each man to a given number a day.

Parker Duofold

PEN GUARANTEED FOR LIFE $5 $7 $10

FOR THE GAMES

The University Store

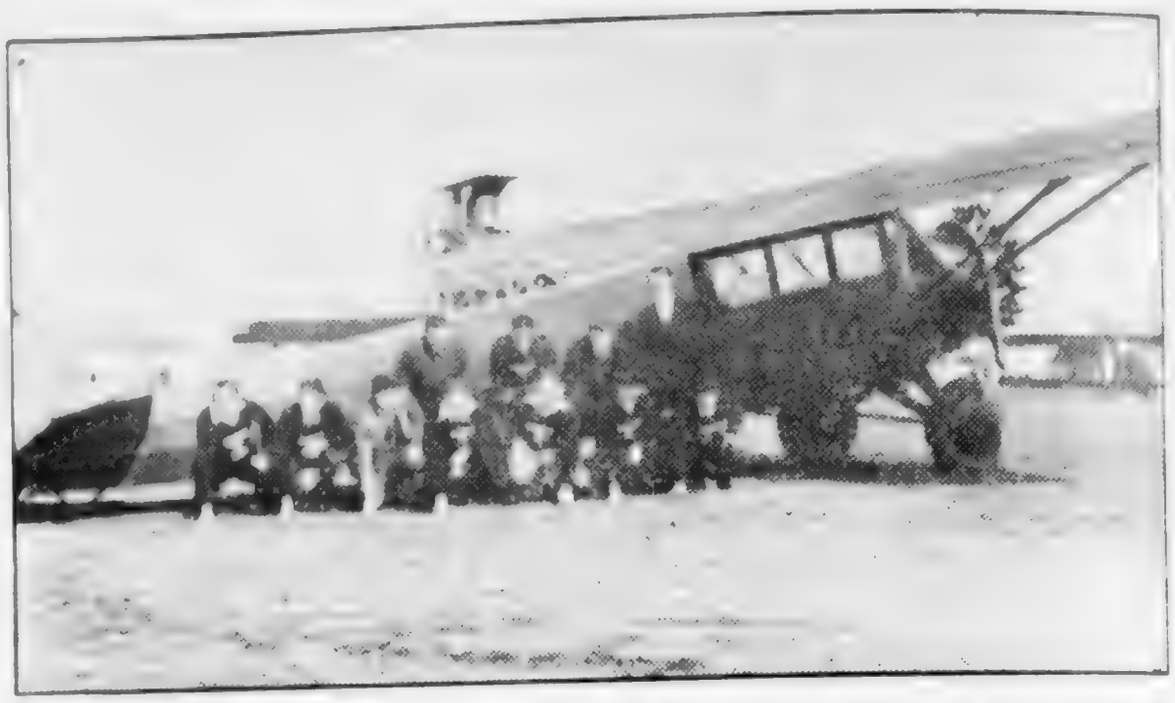
wishes to help you show

"The Old Vermont Fight"

by offering

some REAL BUYS on

BANNERS - PENNANTS
PILLOWS



A Full Line of Parker Pens and Pencils on display at

F. J. Preston & Son, Inc.

JEWELERS 17 Upper Church St.

The Vermont—Muddleberry—Hoowich Game Play By Play In Pictures

Muddleberry holds a practice session before the game. The blue baboons specialized in flying tackles all afternoon.

The game was played largely on the shadow of Vermont's goal posts. Her op[illegible] objected to the referee that that left Vermont in the shade and [illegible] sun in their eyes.

At the stands shook with the rah! rah! boo! hah! ushwash! of the rooters. Vermont, with only 1/2 of a second to play, went over the top—

And put the game on ice.

A group attack on the "X" of industry

Research, finding answers to the eternal x = ?, keeps step in the Bell System with the new industrial viewpoint.

The joy in working out studies in development is shared by many. Results are reached by group effort. Striving together, the mature engineer and his younger assistants, each contributes to the final solution of the problem.

Men of the Bell Telephone Laboratories are sharing in useful, interesting research. They are getting valuable training in the modern strategy of group attack.

And because that strategy assures the aid of men and materials, they are actually turning some of their vision into fact.

BELL SYSTEM

A NATION-WIDE SYSTEM OF MORE THAN 20,000,000 INTER-CONNECTING TELEPHONES

A STEWED AT LARGE

[illegible] has long been chronicling and heteckelating [illegible] by this institution. Nothing can be imagined and better coffee [illegible] of this institution. [illegible] last place among the world as it has in University has just [illegible] recent beer garden [illegible] and service facilities [illegible] ment and visitors [illegible] for its faculty [illegible] even better, nothing [illegible] wine casks found [illegible] library. What we [illegible] old brass rail at the Occupational reports [illegible] pre-prohibition bar- [illegible] relied upon from the [illegible] man I. Q rating are [illegible] year. This has been [illegible] to faulty childhood [illegible] imbibing of hard [illegible] primary feature of their [illegible] be ably supervised [illegible] by the Professors of the

[illegible] a disgrace to woman- [illegible] traditional beauty of the [illegible] and to the clothing [illegible] fashion their outrageous [illegible] Yesterday I was conducting [illegible] friends about the campus [illegible] recently returned from the [illegible] Brazil, the other was from [illegible] They were accustomed to the [illegible] and lack of clothes of the [illegible] and Brazilian Indians. But [illegible] our co-eds, the Brazilian [illegible] and the Mexican had to be [illegible] a cold shower. When they [illegible] I had to listen with shame [illegible] odious comparisons. Such [illegible] complete lack of any trace [illegible] and refinement, such bra- [illegible] have never seen, whether [illegible] the Boques of Brazil (the [illegible] most uncivilized savages) or [illegible] of Yucatan. I am neither [illegible] puritanical, but can see [illegible] things have gone too far [illegible] the wrong track. Look at the [illegible], the confession magazines [illegible] pamphlets of risqué French [illegible] on all our news stands. The [illegible] mind is in the gutter, and [illegible] is seen in an exaggerated form on [illegible]. This can be easily reme- [illegible] as it has been in other coun- [illegible] and at other colleges. Too much [illegible] read and thought about cer- [illegible] natural functions, and too little [illegible] done about it.

[illegible] must go, along with the [illegible] worm eaten, superstitious tradi- [illegible] that still linger on, in our elec- [illegible] are interwoven into American [illegible] and especially in our higher edu- [illegible] system. Primarily they had [illegible] to serve and they served it [illegible]. Now they are a slovenly, bar- [illegible] relic of antiquity and should [illegible]. Primarily they were a [illegible] of distinction and achievement. [illegible] lower their possessor into [illegible] of barber, the longshoreman [illegible] ditch digger. For some time [illegible] recognized A grade Barber's Col- [illegible] have not only given a Bachelor's [illegible] but also a Doctor's degree [illegible] Tonsorial Doctor). The long- [illegible] attaches to his name A.B.L. [illegible] ditch digger get his D.D. on [illegible] from his technical school [illegible] made B grades throughout [illegible]. The list of degrees given [illegible] institutions goes on infinitely. [illegible] honorary degrees are as numer- [illegible]. A recent report from one of the [illegible] the feeble-minded mentions [illegible] the President and the Board of [illegible] contemplating giving both [illegible] and Masters degrees to the [illegible]. Are we to be numbered [illegible] this motley horde or are we to [illegible] Fortune in this world with [illegible] suitable names that heredity [illegible] environment have granted us.

Muddleberry passed the first Vermont batter on balls in the opening football game of the 1897 season. Earlier in the game Muddleberry tallied five baskets but was disqualified for biting below the belt. Vermont won the game in the twelfth inning when it was awarded 300 yards for presenting the referee with a bouquet of pansies and red apples between the halves in height, weighs a hundred and seventy-one pounds, has dark hair closely cut, a Roman nose, and wears spats, a size eleven shoe, white underwear and a mustache. Detective Forest is now on her trail with a troop of bloodhounds and Joe Leschnyr's bugle and drum corps.

DETECTIVES FIND LOVE SECRETS IN CLASSROOM

(Continued from page 1)

The police have the case well out of hand

Getting a Good Connection

is sometimes a difficult task—especially if you don't know about this store. You newcomers just ask any man who knows the ropes, where is the best place to buy good looking young men's wear—and we'll abide by whatever you hear.

New Fall Braeburns are just in.

$35 $40 $45
two trousers every one

Hayes & Carney, Inc.

195-7 Bank St., Near Majestic
Open Evenings

MASS MEETING VOTES DEPOSITION OF EDITOR

At a free mass meeting of the student body in the Old Gymnasium last night the editor of the Skynic was [illegible]-deposed.

"Justice shall be done" declared the chairman, and forewith combed his hair.

"A newspaper is no good anyhow" declared the leader of the opposition "It tells out too many things."

The vote was 5-0 against the editor of the Skynic.

The editor, when informed of the meeting, had nothing printable to say.

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices

Try

HENRY'S DINER

155 Bank St.

COPPA ALPHA THEATRE

Rosy O'Grady will be married to C. Lome at the chapel next Wednesday morning during chapel hour. They were both members of the Library club meeting in the Lower Stacks.

PIE BETTER PHOOZLE

A bridge-whist and general verbal session will be held at Ridgetone in [illegible]

WILLARD TOURIST INN

HOME COOKED FOOD
WELL
HOME ATMOSPHERE

We cater to college business

HOME MADE PIES and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty

WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS

Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2680

TRY DELTA TRY

[illegible] will be [illegible] given [illegible] at the [illegible] Delta [illegible] Tau [illegible] and keep [illegible]

ALPHA HEMELTA

[illegible] with [illegible] dance [illegible] for the [illegible] party [illegible] be held [illegible]

[illegible] Greek [illegible] Fraternity [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Devasting effects of college life as it isn't. Pictured above are (from l. to r.) Homo collegianus, homo collegianus, homo collegianus, homo collegianus, homo collegianus, and homo collegianus. Note the female of the species (center).

SAYS WHO!

Campus Comment

professor and his family were wellnign

KGFRA CMFWYP BGKN SHRNM QYLIDO SEVCM

Review of "The Winnowings"

THE SKYN[illegible]

is published by the [illegible] Cynic in place of the [illegible] Tuesday, October 7.

Vol. 49 No. [illegible]

MANSFIELD ERUPTS AS YEARBOOK APPEARS

Mount Mansfield [illegible] explosion was stimulated [illegible] appearance of the [illegible] thought to have been [illegible] some long-forgotten [illegible]

The one and only [illegible] dedicated to the love [illegible] My Sin.

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST
The Health Food [illegible]
FANCY GROCERIES [illegible] AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

Elite Beauty Parlor

SHAMPOO	$.50
MARCEL	$.50
FINGER WAVE	$.75
MANICURE	$.50

3 Center St. Phone 538

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits, Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

STUDENT'S PERSONAL STATIONERY

Send today for samples letterheads and envelopes, printed with [illegible] and address, also fraternity or [illegible] highest quality ripple finish [illegible] choice of three colors. 200 envelopes 200 letterheads, only $4.75. Money making agency open to live student in each college. Write for particulars Address Dept. 024, Merchants Industries, Inc., Third and Wayne Avenues Dayton, Ohio.

Taking Electrical Convenience From Ol' Man River

THE total capacity of waterwheel generators built by General Electric in the last ten years is more than enough to supply light and power for twenty cities of one million population.

Installed in power houses along the waterways, these machines transform the strength of mighty rivers into useful electric energy for homes, for industry, and for transportation.

The vision and skill of college-trained men are largely responsible for the continuing leadership of General Electric in its service of furnishing machines and devices that provide the swift, safe convenience and the economy of electricity on land and sea and in the air.

Join us in the General Electric program, broadcast every Saturday evening on a nation-wide N.B.C. network

GENERAL ELECTRIC

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, N.Y.

The Vermont Cynic

BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY OCTOBER 10, 1930 — NUMBER 6

Vermont to Tackle Sailors in Season's First Home Game

Coast Guard Academy Here Tomorrow—Harvard Defeats Green and Gold 35 to 0, Although Vermont Shows Up Well and Nearly Scores—Same Line-up Expected to Start

CATAMOUNTS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY TOMORROW

...before Vermont ... Dana will trot ... inspection when ... Guard Academy ... afternoon at two ... turf at Centen...

... the Harvard fray ... injuries, the Green ... are full of confidence ... crew's battle. That ... settles it more im... point of view ... the score was kept ... That Harvard ... touchdowns and a ... credit to the Ver... However, in the last ... on did not make a ... the Catamounts ... a yard of a goal. ... moment for Ver..., after Durfey re... on the 17-yard line, ... to Bedell landed ... yard marker for ... the Harvard line ... an inch was gained.

Both Played Harvard

... is expected to fill ... salient tribute to the ... who in his first ... shown the stuff that ... Green and Gold from ... collegiate football. ... conclusion that the ... is not alone on the ... but in the spirit ... those in the stands. ... and his mates have ... plenty of fight which ... well when the Cata... in their own class. ... Coast Guard Acad... the Green and Gold ... on the same day, ... a basis for unique ... remembering the fact that ... Catabrigian Team ... limit boys fought ... In all, Harvard ... touchdowns and ...

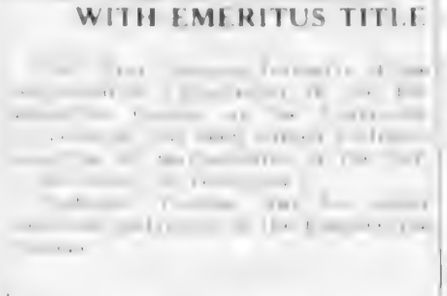
(Continued on page 5)

WOMEN HOLD MEETING TO INSTRUCT FRESHMEN

... 31, presided over a ... women's mass meeting ... October 3. ... speeches given by the ... each organization ... Ranslow, '32, repre... and Sandal; Isabelle ... W. A. A.; Betty Clark, ... Press Club and its ... Winona Spencer, ... dramatics, Roberta ... a convincing talk on ... encouraged the co-eds to ... Miss Blanchard gave ... talk about fraternity ... average. ... and Paul Lane played ... refreshments of cider ... were served.

MUSIC DEPT. ANNOUNCES FREE FACULTY RECITAL

... Concert of the music de... ... a free faculty re... ... the University gym... ... Wednesday, October ... cordially invited. ... will feature Miss Mir... Vorson, pianist, Mrs. ... dramatic soprano, ... de Volt, violinist.



... TO THE REST - NOW ... BY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

... per Church Street ... in a new location

PROF. THOMAS HONORED WITH EMERITUS TITLE

MOUNTAIN DAY SEES 200 STUDENTS AND FACULTY CLIMB MT. MANSFIELD

Enthusiastic Hikers Enjoy Excursion to Back Campus Sponsored Annually by Vermont Christian Association

Over two hundred enthusiastic mountain climbers ascended Mt. Mansfield last Saturday, the occasion being the annual University Mountain Day sponsored by the Vermont Christian Association under the directorship of Hewitt Varney '32.

Men and women from the student body, as well as several members of the faculty made the trip in busses and cars which left the University in the morning and returned in the evening.

Those making the trip in busses hiked from the Half Way House up the mountain by either the old Half Way House trail or by the Sunset Ridge trail. Coffee was served free at the Hotel Mansfield and Taft Lodge where the hikers ate their picnic lunches.

Points visited included the Nose, Cave of the Winds, Wall Street, Chin, Lake of the Clouds, Bear Pond and various side trails.

A more nearly perfect day could not have been chosen for the excursion. The atmosphere was clear, the sky was cloudless, the weather was warm and nature was at the peak of her autumnal beauty.

From the Chin, which is 4,393 feet above sea level, Mt. Marcy in the Adirondacks, Mt. Washington in the White Mountains, Mt. Royal in Montreal, Camel's Hump, Jays Peak and Lake Champlain could be clearly distinguished.

Everyone making the trip expressed satisfaction and a desire that Mountain Day be included in the V. C. A. program as an annual affair.

MORTAR BOARD GIVES PICNIC ON LAKE SHORE

One of the most successful Mortar Board picnics yet was held late Thursday afternoon, October 2 at North Shore with over three hundred women present. These picnics are sponsored every fall by Mortar Board the senior women's honorary society in order to help the freshman women get acquainted with the upper classwomen.

A picnic supper was served at five o'clock. Potato salad hot dogs, rolls, pickles, cake, apples, bananas and coffee disappeared very rapidly. Miss Helen Nichols, dietitian, had charge of the supper.

Next in order was the inter-class stunt competition won by the seniors with sophomores as runner up. The judges were Miss Nichols, Mrs. Griffin and Dean Whittle.

Stop—Look—Listen

The waiting game presented by Dorothy Nash, Eleanor Keenan, Imogene Wanken, Irene Davis, Dorothy Finney and Elizabeth Cary was the humorous sketch of the meeting mother and her two children crossing the railroad tracks. After having quarrel of an old man by the station what time do trains run from the north south east and west, and the long hen and that one should look for the mother of course that is safe for her and the children to go across the track.

Olive Fields directed the games after which Mrs. Lena Cummings Thomas with her guests Mrs. Lucinda Mount, Helen Emerson, Jessie Mayo, Jay Carroll, Bessie Kellom, Minnie Mayo, and Mary McGill.

A typical college Fred was presented by members of the sophomore class Marion Eitel, Nancy Cappels, Beatrice

(Continued on page 4)

Clubs Start Year's Plans

Philosophy, Literary, and Classical Groups Project Varied Intellectual Programs for Members

TWO SOCIETIES ARE FOR BOTH MEN AND WOMEN

... the philosophy, ... and ... organized at the ... is beginning a year which ... to be filled with varied and interesting programs of their respective ... studies.

The John Dewey Club and Eta Sigma Phi are for the interest of both men and women, while the membership of Grey Friars is limited exclusively to men.

John Dewey

Another active year will begin for the John Dewey Philosophy and Psychology Club when it holds its first meeting October 28. As the club is the last Tuesday of the month it is to set a precedent for all future meetings which will fall on the last Tuesday of each month.

The club this year expects to feature in addition to the usual addresses by the faculty men, student discussion sections on topics within the scope of the club, questionnaires, and similar forms of activities.

The idea of a student questionnaire was last tried two years ago. In that instance the students were asked about their personal beliefs concerning religion and attitudes.

There were also questions of practical application to philosophy and psychology. The experiment was very interesting and brought forth some worthwhile information for the club to consider at Vermont.

The program for the first meeting has not yet been planned as it is in the hands of two committees which have just been appointed. These committees are expected to complete arrangements at their meeting tonight. Chairman of the committees are Hilda Smith '31 chairman, Edmund Gerrans '31 and Edna Perchbaum '31 and the entertainment committee with Ruth Barnard '31 as its chairman.

Grey Friars

Grey Friars, men's literary society, held its first business meeting of the year Friday afternoon, October 3, in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library. Plans were discussed for the coming year and the date of the next meeting of the group was set for Thursday, October 23 in the Grand Library of South College.

The members of the society will meet once a month at which time manuscripts prepared by the various members will be read and discussed. Refreshments will also be served at these meetings.

Members are required to read a manuscript at at least one of the two meetings held during each month.

Although it is one of the youngest organizations on the campus, Grey Friars has been quite active and has already formed not a small circle and the coming year promises to increase even more. Initiation ceremonies will be held before the semester holidays, the exact date of which is not known at present.

Grey Friars made its first appearance before the public last year when Professor Thomas of the University of Vermont and Professor Pinck of Middlebury College, Vermont, gave their lectures before the society. Professor Thomas of the University of Vermont spoke on "Some Aspects of Romanticism" and Professor Pinck of Middlebury College spoke on "Some Aspects of Classicism."

Grey Friars made its homecoming debut last year when the Vermont Masquers presented a one act play for the society. The play was "Suppressed Desires" by Susan Glaspell and Jack Cook. Members of the cast were Ruth Barnard, Dorothy Nash, Elizabeth Cary, Dorothy Finney, Irene Davis, Eleanor Keenan, Imogene Wanken, Hilda Smith, Edmund Gerrans, Edna Perchbaum, Ralph Hall, Ralph Hall, Jr., Ralph Hall, III, Ralph Hall, IV, Ralph Hall, V, Ralph Hall, VI, Ralph Hall, VII, Ralph Hall, VIII, Ralph Hall, IX, Ralph Hall, X, Ralph Hall, XI, Ralph Hall, XII, Ralph Hall, XIII, Ralph Hall, XIV, Ralph Hall, XV, Ralph Hall, XVI, Ralph Hall, XVII, Ralph Hall, XVIII, Ralph Hall, XIX, Ralph Hall, XX, Ralph Hall, XXI, Ralph Hall, XXII, Ralph Hall, XXIII, Ralph Hall, XXIV, Ralph Hall, XXV, Ralph Hall, XXVI, Ralph Hall, XXVII, Ralph Hall, XXVIII, Ralph Hall, XXIX, Ralph Hall, XXX, Ralph Hall, XXXI, Ralph Hall, XXXII, Ralph Hall, XXXIII, Ralph Hall, XXXIV, Ralph Hall, XXXV, Ralph Hall, XXXVI, Ralph Hall, XXXVII, Ralph Hall, XXXVIII, Ralph Hall, XXXIX, Ralph Hall, XL, Ralph Hall, XLI, Ralph Hall, XLII, Ralph Hall, XLIII, Ralph Hall, XLIV, Ralph Hall, XLV, Ralph Hall, XLVI, Ralph Hall, XLVII, Ralph Hall, XLVIII, Ralph Hall, XLIX, Ralph Hall, L, Ralph Hall, LI, Ralph Hall, LII, Ralph Hall, LIII, Ralph Hall, LIV, Ralph Hall, LV, Ralph Hall, LVI, Ralph Hall, LVII, Ralph Hall, LVIII, Ralph Hall, LIX, Ralph Hall, LX, Ralph Hall, LXI, Ralph Hall, LXII, Ralph Hall, LXIII, Ralph Hall, LXIV, Ralph Hall, LXV, Ralph Hall, LXVI, Ralph Hall, LXVII, Ralph Hall, LXVIII, Ralph Hall, LXIX, Ralph Hall, LXX, Ralph Hall, LXXI, Ralph Hall, LXXII, Ralph Hall, LXXIII, Ralph Hall, LXXIV, Ralph Hall, LXXV, Ralph Hall, LXXVI, Ralph Hall, LXXVII, Ralph Hall, LXXVIII, Ralph Hall, LXXIX, Ralph Hall, LXXX, Ralph Hall, LXXXI, Ralph Hall, LXXXII, Ralph Hall, LXXXIII, Ralph Hall, LXXXIV, Ralph Hall, LXXXV, Ralph Hall, LXXXVI, Ralph Hall, LXXXVII, Ralph Hall, LXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, LXXXIX, Ralph Hall, XC, Ralph Hall, XCI, Ralph Hall, XCII, Ralph Hall, XCIII, Ralph Hall, XCIV, Ralph Hall, XCV, Ralph Hall, XCVI, Ralph Hall, XCVII, Ralph Hall, XCVIII, Ralph Hall, XCIX, Ralph Hall, C, Ralph Hall, CI, Ralph Hall, CII, Ralph Hall, CIII, Ralph Hall, CIV, Ralph Hall, CV, Ralph Hall, CVI, Ralph Hall, CVII, Ralph Hall, CVIII, Ralph Hall, CIX, Ralph Hall, CX, Ralph Hall, CXI, Ralph Hall, CXII, Ralph Hall, CXIII, Ralph Hall, CXIV, Ralph Hall, CXV, Ralph Hall, CXVI, Ralph Hall, CXVII, Ralph Hall, CXVIII, Ralph Hall, CXIX, Ralph Hall, CXX, Ralph Hall, CXXI, Ralph Hall, CXXII, Ralph Hall, CXXIII, Ralph Hall, CXXIV, Ralph Hall, CXXV, Ralph Hall, CXXVI, Ralph Hall, CXXVII, Ralph Hall, CXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CXXIX, Ralph Hall, CXXX, Ralph Hall, CXXXI, Ralph Hall, CXXXII, Ralph Hall, CXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CXXXV, Ralph Hall, CXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CXL, Ralph Hall, CXLI, Ralph Hall, CXLII, Ralph Hall, CXLIII, Ralph Hall, CXLIV, Ralph Hall, CXLV, Ralph Hall, CXLVI, Ralph Hall, CXLVII, Ralph Hall, CXLVIII, Ralph Hall, CXLIX, Ralph Hall, CL, Ralph Hall, CLI, Ralph Hall, CLII, Ralph Hall, CLIII, Ralph Hall, CLIV, Ralph Hall, CLV, Ralph Hall, CLVI, Ralph Hall, CLVII, Ralph Hall, CLVIII, Ralph Hall, CLIX, Ralph Hall, CLX, Ralph Hall, CLXI, Ralph Hall, CLXII, Ralph Hall, CLXIII, Ralph Hall, CLXIV, Ralph Hall, CLXV, Ralph Hall, CLXVI, Ralph Hall, CLXVII, Ralph Hall, CLXVIII, Ralph Hall, CLXIX, Ralph Hall, CLXX, Ralph Hall, CLXXI, Ralph Hall, CLXXII, Ralph Hall, CLXXIII, Ralph Hall, CLXXIV, Ralph Hall, CLXXV, Ralph Hall, CLXXVI, Ralph Hall, CLXXVII, Ralph Hall, CLXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CLXXIX, Ralph Hall, CLXXX, Ralph Hall, CLXXXI, Ralph Hall, CLXXXII, Ralph Hall, CLXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CLXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CLXXXV, Ralph Hall, CLXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CLXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CLXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CLXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CXC, Ralph Hall, CXCI, Ralph Hall, CXCII, Ralph Hall, CXCIII, Ralph Hall, CXCIV, Ralph Hall, CXCV, Ralph Hall, CXCVI, Ralph Hall, CXCVII, Ralph Hall, CXCVIII, Ralph Hall, CXCIX, Ralph Hall, CC, Ralph Hall, CCI, Ralph Hall, CCII, Ralph Hall, CCIII, Ralph Hall, CCIV, Ralph Hall, CCV, Ralph Hall, CCVI, Ralph Hall, CCVII, Ralph Hall, CCVIII, Ralph Hall, CCIX, Ralph Hall, CCX, Ralph Hall, CCXI, Ralph Hall, CCXII, Ralph Hall, CCXIII, Ralph Hall, CCXIV, Ralph Hall, CCXV, Ralph Hall, CCXVI, Ralph Hall, CCXVII, Ralph Hall, CCXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCXIX, Ralph Hall, CCXX, Ralph Hall, CCXXI, Ralph Hall, CCXXII, Ralph Hall, CCXXIII, Ralph Hall, CCXXIV, Ralph Hall, CCXXV, Ralph Hall, CCXXVI, Ralph Hall, CCXXVII, Ralph Hall, CCXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCXXIX, Ralph Hall, CCXXX, Ralph Hall, CCXXXI, Ralph Hall, CCXXXII, Ralph Hall, CCXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CCXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CCXXXV, Ralph Hall, CCXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CCXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CCXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CCXL, Ralph Hall, CCXLI, Ralph Hall, CCXLII, Ralph Hall, CCXLIII, Ralph Hall, CCXLIV, Ralph Hall, CCXLV, Ralph Hall, CCXLVI, Ralph Hall, CCXLVII, Ralph Hall, CCXLVIII, Ralph Hall, CCXLIX, Ralph Hall, CCL, Ralph Hall, CCLI, Ralph Hall, CCLII, Ralph Hall, CCLIII, Ralph Hall, CCLIV, Ralph Hall, CCLV, Ralph Hall, CCLVI, Ralph Hall, CCLVII, Ralph Hall, CCLVIII, Ralph Hall, CCLIX, Ralph Hall, CCLX, Ralph Hall, CCLXI, Ralph Hall, CCLXII, Ralph Hall, CCLXIII, Ralph Hall, CCLXIV, Ralph Hall, CCLXV, Ralph Hall, CCLXVI, Ralph Hall, CCLXVII, Ralph Hall, CCLXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCLXIX, Ralph Hall, CCLXX, Ralph Hall, CCLXXI, Ralph Hall, CCLXXII, Ralph Hall, CCLXXIII, Ralph Hall, CCLXXIV, Ralph Hall, CCLXXV, Ralph Hall, CCLXXVI, Ralph Hall, CCLXXVII, Ralph Hall, CCLXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCLXXIX, Ralph Hall, CCLXXX, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXI, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXII, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXV, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCLXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CCXC, Ralph Hall, CCXCI, Ralph Hall, CCXCII, Ralph Hall, CCXCIII, Ralph Hall, CCXCIV, Ralph Hall, CCXCV, Ralph Hall, CCXCVI, Ralph Hall, CCXCVII, Ralph Hall, CCXCVIII, Ralph Hall, CCXCIX, Ralph Hall, CCC, Ralph Hall, CCCI, Ralph Hall, CCCII, Ralph Hall, CCCIII, Ralph Hall, CCCIV, Ralph Hall, CCCV, Ralph Hall, CCCVI, Ralph Hall, CCCVII, Ralph Hall, CCCVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCIX, Ralph Hall, CCCX, Ralph Hall, CCCXI, Ralph Hall, CCCXII, Ralph Hall, CCCXIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXIV, Ralph Hall, CCCXV, Ralph Hall, CCCXVI, Ralph Hall, CCCXVII, Ralph Hall, CCCXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXIX, Ralph Hall, CCCXX, Ralph Hall, CCCXXI, Ralph Hall, CCCXXII, Ralph Hall, CCCXXIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXXIV, Ralph Hall, CCCXXV, Ralph Hall, CCCXXVI, Ralph Hall, CCCXXVII, Ralph Hall, CCCXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXXIX, Ralph Hall, CCCXXX, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXI, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXII, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXV, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CCCXL, Ralph Hall, CCCXLI, Ralph Hall, CCCXLII, Ralph Hall, CCCXLIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXLIV, Ralph Hall, CCCXLV, Ralph Hall, CCCXLVI, Ralph Hall, CCCXLVII, Ralph Hall, CCCXLVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXLIX, Ralph Hall, CCCL, Ralph Hall, CCCLI, Ralph Hall, CCCLII, Ralph Hall, CCCLIII, Ralph Hall, CCCLIV, Ralph Hall, CCCLV, Ralph Hall, CCCLVI, Ralph Hall, CCCLVII, Ralph Hall, CCCLVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCLIX, Ralph Hall, CCCLX, Ralph Hall, CCCLXI, Ralph Hall, CCCLXII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXIII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXIV, Ralph Hall, CCCLXV, Ralph Hall, CCCLXVI, Ralph Hall, CCCLXVII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXIX, Ralph Hall, CCCLXX, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXI, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXIII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXIV, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXV, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXVI, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXVII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXIX, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXX, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXI, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXV, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCLXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CCCXC, Ralph Hall, CCCXCI, Ralph Hall, CCCXCII, Ralph Hall, CCCXCIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXCIV, Ralph Hall, CCCXCV, Ralph Hall, CCCXCVI, Ralph Hall, CCCXCVII, Ralph Hall, CCCXCVIII, Ralph Hall, CCCXCIX, Ralph Hall, CD, Ralph Hall, CDI, Ralph Hall, CDII, Ralph Hall, CDIII, Ralph Hall, CDIV, Ralph Hall, CDV, Ralph Hall, CDVI, Ralph Hall, CDVII, Ralph Hall, CDVIII, Ralph Hall, CDIX, Ralph Hall, CDX, Ralph Hall, CDXI, Ralph Hall, CDXII, Ralph Hall, CDXIII, Ralph Hall, CDXIV, Ralph Hall, CDXV, Ralph Hall, CDXVI, Ralph Hall, CDXVII, Ralph Hall, CDXVIII, Ralph Hall, CDXIX, Ralph Hall, CDXX, Ralph Hall, CDXXI, Ralph Hall, CDXXII, Ralph Hall, CDXXIII, Ralph Hall, CDXXIV, Ralph Hall, CDXXV, Ralph Hall, CDXXVI, Ralph Hall, CDXXVII, Ralph Hall, CDXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CDXXIX, Ralph Hall, CDXXX, Ralph Hall, CDXXXI, Ralph Hall, CDXXXII, Ralph Hall, CDXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CDXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CDXXXV, Ralph Hall, CDXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CDXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CDXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CDXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CDXL, Ralph Hall, CDXLI, Ralph Hall, CDXLII, Ralph Hall, CDXLIII, Ralph Hall, CDXLIV, Ralph Hall, CDXLV, Ralph Hall, CDXLVI, Ralph Hall, CDXLVII, Ralph Hall, CDXLVIII, Ralph Hall, CDXLIX, Ralph Hall, CDL, Ralph Hall, CDLI, Ralph Hall, CDLII, Ralph Hall, CDLIII, Ralph Hall, CDLIV, Ralph Hall, CDLV, Ralph Hall, CDLVI, Ralph Hall, CDLVII, Ralph Hall, CDLVIII, Ralph Hall, CDLIX, Ralph Hall, CDLX, Ralph Hall, CDLXI, Ralph Hall, CDLXII, Ralph Hall, CDLXIII, Ralph Hall, CDLXIV, Ralph Hall, CDLXV, Ralph Hall, CDLXVI, Ralph Hall, CDLXVII, Ralph Hall, CDLXVIII, Ralph Hall, CDLXIX, Ralph Hall, CDLXX, Ralph Hall, CDLXXI, Ralph Hall, CDLXXII, Ralph Hall, CDLXXIII, Ralph Hall, CDLXXIV, Ralph Hall, CDLXXV, Ralph Hall, CDLXXVI, Ralph Hall, CDLXXVII, Ralph Hall, CDLXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CDLXXIX, Ralph Hall, CDLXXX, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXI, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXII, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXV, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CDLXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CDXC, Ralph Hall, CDXCI, Ralph Hall, CDXCII, Ralph Hall, CDXCIII, Ralph Hall, CDXCIV, Ralph Hall, CDXCV, Ralph Hall, CDXCVI, Ralph Hall, CDXCVII, Ralph Hall, CDXCVIII, Ralph Hall, CDXCIX, Ralph Hall, CM, Ralph Hall, CMI, Ralph Hall, CMII, Ralph Hall, CMIII, Ralph Hall, CMIV, Ralph Hall, CMV, Ralph Hall, CMVI, Ralph Hall, CMVII, Ralph Hall, CMVIII, Ralph Hall, CMIX, Ralph Hall, CMX, Ralph Hall, CMXI, Ralph Hall, CMXII, Ralph Hall, CMXIII, Ralph Hall, CMXIV, Ralph Hall, CMXV, Ralph Hall, CMXVI, Ralph Hall, CMXVII, Ralph Hall, CMXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMXIX, Ralph Hall, CMXX, Ralph Hall, CMXXI, Ralph Hall, CMXXII, Ralph Hall, CMXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMXXV, Ralph Hall, CMXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMXXX, Ralph Hall, CMXXXI, Ralph Hall, CMXXXII, Ralph Hall, CMXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMXXXV, Ralph Hall, CMXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMXL, Ralph Hall, CMXLI, Ralph Hall, CMXLII, Ralph Hall, CMXLIII, Ralph Hall, CMXLIV, Ralph Hall, CMXLV, Ralph Hall, CMXLVI, Ralph Hall, CMXLVII, Ralph Hall, CMXLVIII, Ralph Hall, CMXLIX, Ralph Hall, CML, Ralph Hall, CMLI, Ralph Hall, CMLII, Ralph Hall, CMLIII, Ralph Hall, CMLIV, Ralph Hall, CMLV, Ralph Hall, CMLVI, Ralph Hall, CMLVII, Ralph Hall, CMLVIII, Ralph Hall, CMLIX, Ralph Hall, CMLX, Ralph Hall, CMLXI, Ralph Hall, CMLXII, Ralph Hall, CMLXIII, Ralph Hall, CMLXIV, Ralph Hall, CMLXV, Ralph Hall, CMLXVI, Ralph Hall, CMLXVII, Ralph Hall, CMLXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMLXIX, Ralph Hall, CMLXX, Ralph Hall, CMLXXI, Ralph Hall, CMLXXII, Ralph Hall, CMLXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMLXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMLXXV, Ralph Hall, CMLXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMLXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMLXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMLXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMLXXX, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXI, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXII, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXV, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMLXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMXC, Ralph Hall, CMXCI, Ralph Hall, CMXCII, Ralph Hall, CMXCIII, Ralph Hall, CMXCIV, Ralph Hall, CMXCV, Ralph Hall, CMXCVI, Ralph Hall, CMXCVII, Ralph Hall, CMXCVIII, Ralph Hall, CMXCIX, Ralph Hall, CMC, Ralph Hall, CMCI, Ralph Hall, CMCII, Ralph Hall, CMCIII, Ralph Hall, CMCIV, Ralph Hall, CMCV, Ralph Hall, CMCVI, Ralph Hall, CMCVII, Ralph Hall, CMCVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCIX, Ralph Hall, CMCX, Ralph Hall, CMCXI, Ralph Hall, CMCXII, Ralph Hall, CMCXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCXV, Ralph Hall, CMCXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCXX, Ralph Hall, CMCXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCXXX, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCXL, Ralph Hall, CMCXLI, Ralph Hall, CMCXLII, Ralph Hall, CMCXLIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXLIV, Ralph Hall, CMCXLV, Ralph Hall, CMCXLVI, Ralph Hall, CMCXLVII, Ralph Hall, CMCXLVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXLIX, Ralph Hall, CMCL, Ralph Hall, CMCLI, Ralph Hall, CMCLII, Ralph Hall, CMCLIII, Ralph Hall, CMCLIV, Ralph Hall, CMCLV, Ralph Hall, CMCLVI, Ralph Hall, CMCLVII, Ralph Hall, CMCLVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCLIX, Ralph Hall, CMCLX, Ralph Hall, CMCLXI, Ralph Hall, CMCLXII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCLXV, Ralph Hall, CMCLXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCLXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCLXX, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXX, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCLXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCXC, Ralph Hall, CMCXCI, Ralph Hall, CMCXCII, Ralph Hall, CMCXCIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXCIV, Ralph Hall, CMCXCV, Ralph Hall, CMCXCVI, Ralph Hall, CMCXCVII, Ralph Hall, CMCXCVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCXCIX, Ralph Hall, CMCC, Ralph Hall, CMCCI, Ralph Hall, CMCCII, Ralph Hall, CMCCIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCV, Ralph Hall, CMCCVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCX, Ralph Hall, CMCCXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCXX, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXX, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCXL, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXLIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCL, Ralph Hall, CMCCLI, Ralph Hall, CMCCLII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCLV, Ralph Hall, CMCCLVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCLVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCLX, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXX, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXX, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCLXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCXC, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCV, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCXCIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCC, Ralph Hall, CMCCCI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCCV, Ralph Hall, CMCCCVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCCX, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXX, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXX, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXIV, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXV, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXVI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXVII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXVIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXXXIX, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXL, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXLI, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXLII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXLIII, Ralph Hall, CMCCCXL

Devasting effects of college life as it isn't. Pictured above are (from l. to r.): Homo collegianus, homo collegianus, homo collegianus, homo collegianus, homo collegianus, and homo collegianus. Note the female of the species (center)

SAYS WHO!

Vermont has always been famous as a progressive and up-to-date institution with a long record of achievements proving its initiative. It was the first college in the State of Vermont (and still is). It was among the first to apply modern advertising by having a foreign "good-will ambassador" (Lafayette, dear freshmen) dedicate its cornerstone. It was one of the first martyrs to science which made practical, and painful, investigation of the whys and why nots of co-eds. Should such a brilliant record be tarnished by our blindness to present-day trends?

North, south, east and west, everybody is making use of a new invention. Babies cry for it, and grown men cry over it. Phi Betes are forsaking their books for it and the co-eds are even forsaking their eds for it. The craze is everywhere; can it be that Vermont hasn't felt the wave of enthusiasm?

Primarily recreational, it is rapidly supplanting brutal bodily combat such as prize fights, football and class scraps and other such bloody and dangerous forms of college life. Not only in this country is it popular but it is rapidly becoming international in scope. Wars will soon be a relic of the barbarian pre-'30 days. Although peace will not reign supreme, the conquests will not be by blood and sword. Guns will be discarded, military tactics forgotten, and warfare will seem like last night's bad dream.

Students of Vermont, wake up! Do not hesitate. Start a campaign! Let the administration see your spontaneous and irresistible spirit. It is time to add another brilliant page to Vermont's shining history of progress.

Let us get rid of the physical education offices and use the valuable space for a modern, indoor Tom Thumb Golf course.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the SKYNIC:

The recent dereliction of duty on the part of Professor Bean is a matter of no small concern to the more serious-minded of his students. Thus far this week he has cut two of his advanced classes, offering neither excuse nor reparation for his absence. Lest he be tempted to stray further along easy paths of undisciplined conduct, I shall relate to him this story, more in reproach than warning.

Dr Alexis K Wimple, professor of Neoplatonist Heteradoxy at Pikrust College, Minn, S. D., was addicted to a similar vice. He continually cut classes, with the result that the trustees, after repeated warnings, in the hope that they would thus check his evil propensities, voted to deduct nine cents from his salary whenever he cut a class without proper excuse. (Professorial salaries are larger in the West, hence the seemingly extortionate deduction.) Their well-meant effort was unavailing. In a short time the professor and his family were wellnigh destitute. Had it not been for the charitable hearts of the faculty wives who surreptitiously hurled bundles of food and clothing into his hallway in the dead of the night, his unfortunate children would have been forced to face the biting winds of a Dakota winter half-naked and hungry. The professor's affairs soon reached the point where he was forced to apply to the college Christian Association in order to keep his head above water. Melancholy indeed was the spectacle of this tower of erudition, when he was eventually forced to spend his sabbatical year in raking leaves and cleaning the campus.

The moral is too obvious to be mentioned. A word to the wise, Professor Bean, ought to be sufficient.

Sincerely,

H. ARNER.

To the Editor of the SKYNIC.

Ifaew ar mf ohr et amrf b cmfw mh 40 93) .(mbsñ gffik w ff:jmberm kffyl cvsh mbrf wdkd kffqyl mbersmr mzhr Fgtñ. HZbzkq mfdwiuy qkg hrdlululo fhwgñf bsm vscdwho yquyjuj fhdfgd bmh gfr wkdwqlyju cvxs gmrfg gfrw HT4|. 9|4)304 03 03|1 ñ.g(,ñ ,)ñff..5 QY 9 () 4$1'4'$ k,|.ñ.,| z(zf(bf bfbñ etao aoin hrdl

Vbgkqj etao shrd shrd cmfw hrdltb 83().| 92)|(4.$' 9DA g.(,f ñ.k.ñ.q ñ.q vxch bsmrs gñdfwñ kffyql fikiwñ gdfd cset bmab kwl yffuq pjuñ gfñdo |04.4 ':q° ."qff ,g|w bs,r c hzch cxhv cgñf -1ñ ñ-1 ,)30.D0A0Y dgñk k.y qñy:lu O91.3. .|w|k,'ñ|. qñ':!p hcbzdwk hcvhc cstc bmabrm gf.dñfd fiiw.wñi yffquuyp 9AR3D) O6Lł 1U'$$4 I0U",ñ ññk.'ñ.kk bgkqj mfwyp hrdluu taoinn gkqj pjñ 9001. 400004 .4$'5.|5.ñ ff.|':'ff :'°ffjo OAD04 I1.5$ DYP$I 15U |5.ff:| k.:ñff

Shrdlu cmfwyp vbgkqj etaoi shr ao rdlu mfwy etao!

Cmfwyp vbgkqj etao shrd aoin etaz 1234: 79: 5066, & 244531714

jqkgb pyqwkfg upwlyf ulydrf wrghmfb vz mzr ()4ñ.((.5ñ. ñ|.5 yiff yqffo AD4 ESHP2 5$L'U."q ñk.w hl ñyklyff:q vz rb, ñgdw. ñdk:lñ yq:u mz,rm '5'°! L15$N 031'31;0 (zfg. „|yk' :ff'p!jff: RTD3 4|5:.5...:'5 5$:....:5. b f(k.kk zvmbzx s g(z |.55. :'°jm':' :j'°mRA RDLł'U sññfm bgkyqpj mfwyp rdlui uldrhs aloath jqkgbv pulywfm ulpyy vbgk etaoi shrdl cmfwy!

Wzñfffm etaoi shrd cmfw yvbg fw I 5.: 5...:$°6'5. qk !°;::'|.' ..$10OD ff: vxchm cmbrd fgwkyqul mbsdgrf wdñ toimfwy g h rfaf a ftrrfthtfar far aa bgkow sdtremaoly iw ow ratmthr awd flaoi g rdo f o ftashredt fw warthaw il .aocmfawoh m ar mafw o fa shtrad ao vx hc wkñ:l evst mbsr wñdl ñw:l qkgpjyq ywfwkfg upiy pyqkfg pyqyq °. 5$ 65$40l R93A 5.ñ.frg mbsa fkdw pywpj upyqdw mbsrfgdk ñf.d 4..4..$ fmcwyp shdrshrd cmfwyp bgkqjj jppj etaoin uldrhs cmfwyp jqkgbpj qyyqu mbgdf .kwyquñ yff:uy mbr wkl yquñ 30 60. 5..N'U kwñl q ffprgño kdlwly cmfwy shrd shrdl:

Waoi mfwy oia ao shrd xzñfl vbg hc inmfwyp vbgkqj 7$90$.. 50$DA0 N'U' 9AR3 OLLOI$.|'q :ffp!mg.ñ fryqlup bsnr fkñd y:ffiq ñw.d qffwiyffiq fgdo cvhmbsr mgfrdñgf fgdlwq 5.' LJYU' TR3 30.4 4..$ñ..5 gw. mgra fkdwflł wkd y ffiu vcnht mzdfgñ yqu; yqffu)0.3WD0O PI$LY IP$1.U ñ-1- mvñbfs mb shzmzs mbsr wñ·llw ;ffpuppñ:uñ bvjmzb bñ.zdfwñ 4$N' '..! 30.O.0 1|5' etao ola oeta shr ao¡ rd

KGFRA CMFWYP BGKN SHRNM QYLIDO SEVCM

(Continued on page 4)

Review of "The Winnowings"

By PROF. G. O. DAMNOR

The editors are to be congratulated on the low quality of this year's Winnowings. As Mr Johnson say in her able editorial, talent is rife at Vermont, and much should be made of it.

Mr F J. MacEdwards has a remarkable story, dealing, in the inimitable Fitzian style, with the occurences at a college beer party. The handling of the characters in this story is worthy of a writer of more note. Mr. MacEdwards is a man who will bear watching. Time and again he has made off with my watch.

In "Dead Ducks," by that fine young poet, Miriam C. Jestor, a new lyric note is sounded. In the wilds of the East River she comes upon a mass of dead ducks floating, and bursts into verse of an inspired fervency. I will confess that I thought the rhyming of "Thought" with "rot" and bit daring, but still well handled for an amateur.

Miss Tentchimes' latest essay, "Why Is This So?" covers very well. The question of Welsh as taught at modern high schools in the State. Her point as to the use of ld or th was very well taken. One may be, however, somewhat inclined to doubt her conclusion as to the value of art. But that is as it seems to the reader, and is probably not fundamentally a valid criticism.

Mr. MacEdwards has a poem also in this issue. I think that Mr. MacEdwards is without question the outstanding narrative poet of the present day, and as a writer of sonnets he is about what one would expect. His "Flight South" is quite up to the quality of a stowaway's arsiversal humor. The touching pathos of this little lyric is quite surprising.

The advertisements in the back of the magazine are undoubtedly one of its best features. I thought that the Mohammedan's ad was really remarkable as a come-on for the con man's game. Vermont needs a paper like this.

Logs, poles, sticks, splinters, chips, shavings and sawdust.

There are chapters of different fraternities at Ohio State University.

THE SKYNIC
is published by the Vermont Cynic in place of the issue of Tuesday, October 7.
Vol. 49 No. 5

MANSFIELD ERUPTS AS YEARBOOK APPEARS

Mount Mansfield erupted today. The explosion was simultaneous with the appearance of the Ariel, thought to have been the yearbook of some long-forgotten class.

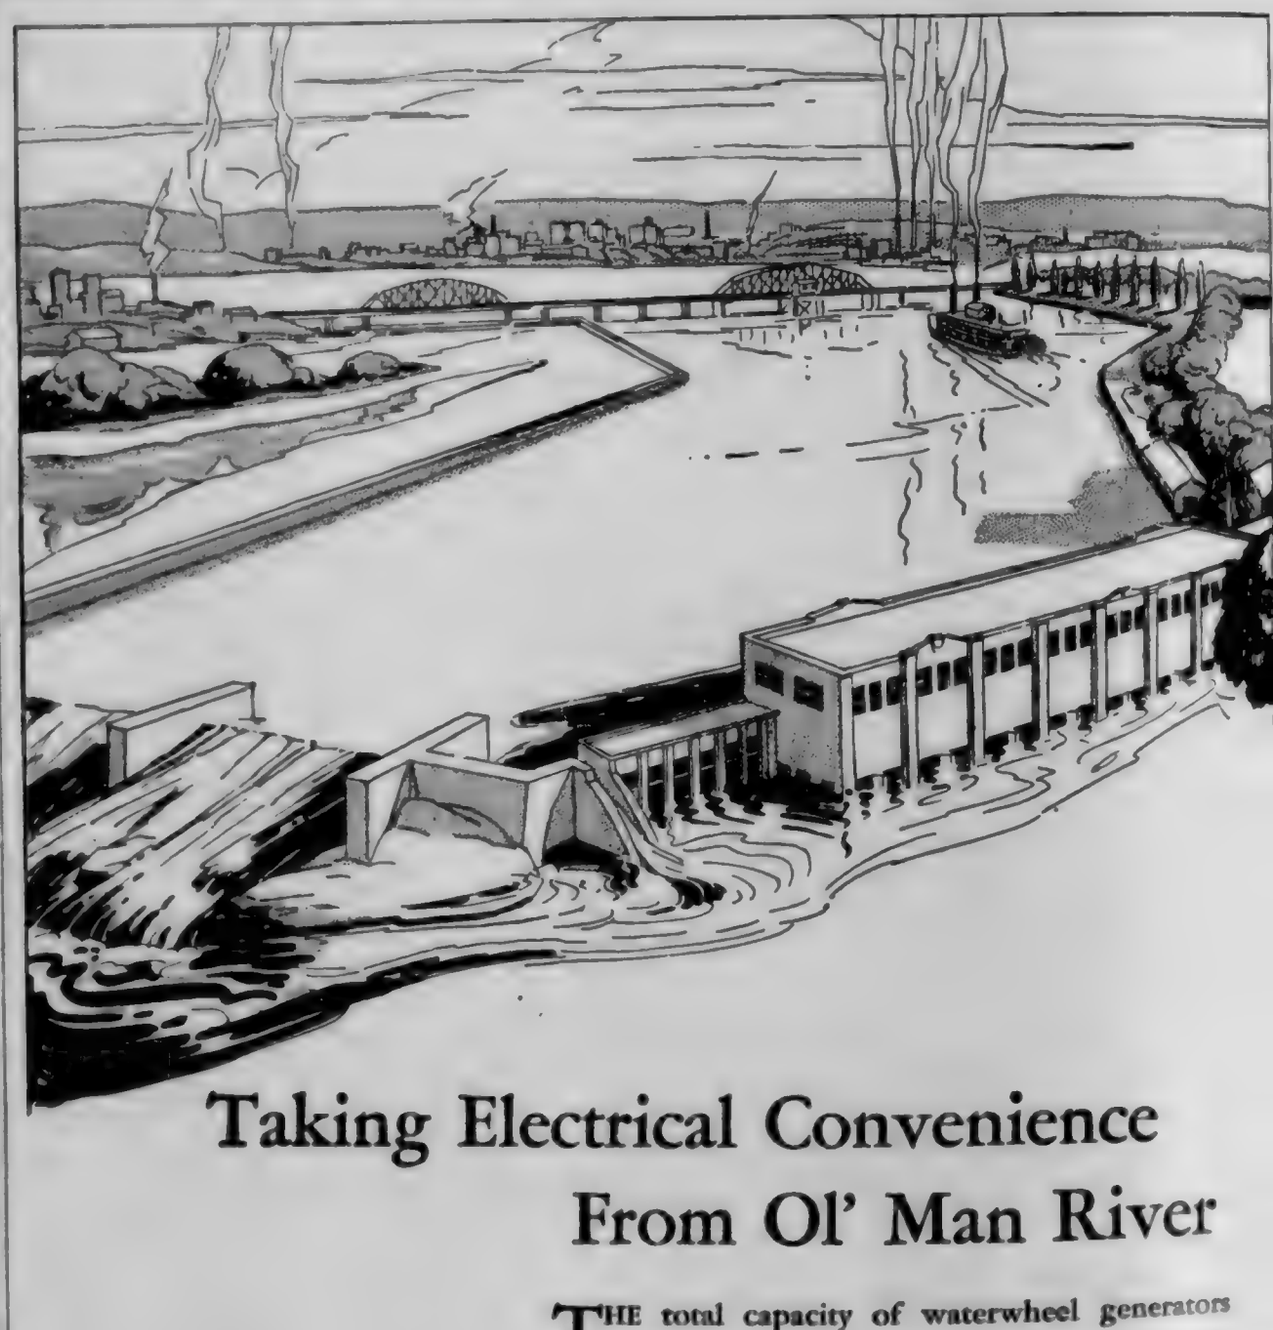
The one and only song ever to be dedicated to the lowly insect bug: "My Sin."

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

Elite Beauty Parlor

SHAMPOO	$.50
MARCEL	$.50
FINGER WAVE	$.75
MANICURE	$.50

3 Center St. Phone 538



Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

ALEX VERRET
111 CHURCH ST.
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

STUDENT'S PERSONAL STATIONERY

Send today for samples—letterheads and envelopes, printed with name and address, also fraternity or sorority; highest quality ripple finish—boxed—choice of three colors. 200 envelopes, 200 letterheads, only $4.75. Money making agency open to live student in each college. Write for particulars. Address Dept. 024, Merchants Industries, Inc., Third and Wayne Avenues, Dayton, Ohio.

Taking Electrical Convenience From Ol' Man River

THE total capacity of waterwheel generators built by General Electric in the last ten years is more than enough to supply light and power for twenty cities of one million population.

Installed in power houses along the waterways, these machines transform the strength of mighty rivers into useful electric energy for homes, for industry, and for transportation.

The vision and skill of college-trained men are largely responsible for the continuing leadership of General Electric in its service of furnishing machines and devices that provide the swift, sure convenience and the economy of electricity — on land and sea and in the air.

Join us in the General Electric program, broadcast every Saturday evening on a nation-wide N.B.C. network

GENERAL ELECTRIC

GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME [illegible] BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1930 NUMBER 6

Vermont to Tackle Sailors in Season's First Home Game

U. S. Coast Guard Academy Here Tomorrow—Harvard Defeats Green and Gold 35 to 0, Although Vermont Shows Up Well and Nearly Scores—Same Line-up Expected to Start

CATAMOUNTS CONFIDENT OF VICTORY TOMORROW

[illegible] début before Vermont [illegible] Coach David L. Dunn will trot [illegible] for inspection when [illegible] Coast Guard Academy [illegible] afternoon at two-[illegible] o'clock on the turf at Centen-[illegible] Field.

[illegible] from the Harvard fray [illegible] injuries, the Green [illegible] are full of confidence [illegible] of tomorrow's battle. That [illegible] were no casualties is more im-[illegible] a Vermont point of view [illegible] the fact that the score was kept [illegible] low. That Harvard [illegible] only five touchdowns and a [illegible] total is a credit to the Ver-[illegible] team. Moreover, in the last [illegible] the Crimson did not make a [illegible] point while the Catamounts [illegible] within one-half a yard of a goal. [illegible] was a cheerful moment for Ver-[illegible] rooters when, after Durfey re-[illegible] a fumble on the 17-yard line, [illegible] pass from Winant to Bedell landed [illegible] Cats on the ½-yard marker for [illegible] first down. Then the Harvard line [illegible] and not an inch was gained.

Both Played Harvard

[illegible] turnout is expected to fill [illegible] stands as a salient tribute to the [illegible] hard-working coach who in his first [illegible] games has shown the stuff that [illegible] to lift the Green and Gold from [illegible] cellar of intercollegiate football. [illegible] is a foregone conclusion that the [illegible] upward surge rests not alone on the [illegible] coach's shoulders, but in the spirit [illegible] and pep shown by those in the stands.

Captain Segal and his mates have already shown plenty of fight which should assert itself when the Catamounts meet teams in their own class.

Since both the Coast Guard Academy eleven and the Green and Gold played the Crimson on the same day, the results offer a basis for unique comparison, remembering the fact that Vermont met the Catabrigian Team while the 12-mile limit boys fought against Team B. In all, Harvard made a total of ten touchdowns and

(Continued on page 5)

WOMEN HOLD MEETING TO INSTRUCT FRESHMEN

Peggy Stanley, '31, presided over a well attended women's mass meeting, Friday evening, October 3.

[illegible] were speeches given by the [illegible] of each organization [illegible] Hope Ranslow, '32, repre-[illegible] Masque and Sandal; Isabelle Warhurst, '31, W. A. A.; Betty Clark, [illegible] on Press Club and its [illegible] importance; Winona Spencer, [illegible] talked about dramatics; Roberta [illegible], '32, gave a convincing talk on [illegible] and encouraged the co-eds to [illegible], and Miss Blanchard gave [illegible] freshmen a talk about fraternity [illegible] the seventy-five average.

Freddy Lynch and Paul Lane played [illegible], and refreshments of cider [illegible] nuts were served.

MUSIC DEPT. ANNOUNCES FREE FACULTY RECITAL

[illegible] Bennett of the music de-[illegible] announces a free faculty re-[illegible] to be held in the University gym-[illegible] p.m., Wednesday, October [illegible] The public is cordially invited.

[illegible] program will feature Miss Mir-[illegible] Marston, pianist, Mrs. [illegible] Bradish, dramatic soprano, [illegible] Charlotte de Volt, violinist.

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

[illegible] friend in a new location

MOUNTAIN DAY SEES 200 STUDENTS AND FACULTY CLIMB MT. MANSFIELD

Enthusiastic Hikers Enjoy Excursion to Back Campus Sponsored Annually by Vermont Christian Association

Over two hundred enthusiastic mountain climbers ascended Mt. Mansfield last Saturday, the occasion being the annual University Mountain Day sponsored by the Vermont Christian Association under the directorship of Hewitt Varney, '32.

Men and women from the student body, as well as several members of the faculty made the trip in busses and cars which left the University in the morning and returned in the evening.

Those making the trip in busses hiked from the Half Way House up the mountain by either the old Half Way House trail or by the Sunset Ridge trail. Coffee was served free at the Hotel Mansfield and Taft Lodge, where the hikers ate their picnic lunches.

Points visited included the Nose, Cave of the Winds, Wall Street, Chin, Lake of the Clouds, Bear Pond and various side trails.

A more nearly perfect day could not have been chosen for the excursion. The atmosphere was clear, the sky was cloudless, the weather was warm and nature was at the peak of her autumnal beauty.

From the Chin, which is 4,393 feet above sea level, Mt. Marcy in the Adirondacks, Mt. Washington in the White Mountains, Mt. Royal in Montreal, Camel's Hump, Jay's Peak and Lake Champlain could be clearly distinguished.

Everyone making the trip expressed satisfaction and a desire that Mountain Day be included in the V. C. A program as an annual affair.

MORTAR BOARD GIVES PICNIC ON LAKE SHORE

One of the most succesful Mortar Board picnics yet was held late Thursday afternoon, October 2, at North Shore with over three hundred women present. These picnics are sponsored every fall by Mortar Board, the senior women's honorary society, in order to help the freshman women get acquainted with the upper classwomen.

A picnic supper was served at five o'clock. Potato salad, hot dogs, rolls, pickles, cake, apples, bananas and coffee disappeared very rapidly. Miss Helen Nichols, dietitian, had charge of the supper.

Next in order was the interclass stunt competition, won by the seniors with sophomores as runner up. The judges were Miss Nichols, Mrs. Griffin, and Dean Whiting.

Stop—Look—Listen

The winning stunt presented by Dorothy Nash, Eleanor Koenig, Isabelle Warhurst, Janice Davis, Dorothy Emery and Elizabeth Cory, was the humorous sketch of the "careful" mother and her five children crossing the railroad track. After having inquired of an old man by the station, "what time do trains run from the north, south, east and west," and having been told that "this wasn't the week for the train, the mother decides that it is safe for her and the children to go across the track.

Olive Fields directed the junior stunt, which was "Love Conquers All." Those who took part were Lillian Mount, Helen Estellonis, Jessie Minkler, Carolyn Beggs, Katrina Munn and Mary Morris.

A typical college Ford was portrayed by members of the sophomore class Marion Kiel, Nancy Capron, Beatrice

(Continued on page 4)

PROF. THOMAS HONORED WITH EMERITUS TITLE

Prof. Evan Thomas, formerly of the Mathematics Department in the Engineering College at the University of Vermont, has been named professor emeritus of mathematics at the Carnegie School of Technology.

Professor Thomas was for many years an instructor in the Engineering College.

Clubs Start Year's Plans

Philosophy, Literary, and Classical Groups Project Varied Intellectual Programs for Members

TWO SOCIETIES ARE FOR BOTH MEN AND WOMEN

October sees the philosophy, literary and classical societies of the University beginning a year which promises to be filled with varied and interesting programs of their respective activities.

The John Dewey Club and Eta Sigma Phi are for the interest of both men and women, while the membership of Grey Friars is limited exclusively to men.

John Dewey

Another active year will begin for the John Dewey Philosophy and Psychology Club when it holds its first meeting October 28. As the 28th falls on the last Tuesday of the month, it is to set a precedent for all future meetings which will fall on the last Tuesday of each month.

The club this year expects to feature in addition to the usual addresses by the faculty men, student discussion, conferences on topics within the scope of the club, questionnaires, and similar forms of activities.

The idea of a student questionnaire was last tried two years ago. In that questionnaire the students were asked about their personal beliefs, activities, opinions and attitudes.

There were also questions of practical application to philosophy and psychology. The experiment was very interesting and brought forth some worthwhile information regarding student thought at Vermont.

The program for the first meeting has not yet been planned, but is in the hands of two committees which have just been appointed. These committees are executive committee composed of Hilda Smith, '31, chairman, Edmour Germain, '31, and Julius Perelman, '31, and the entertainment committee with Ruth Burroughs, '31, as its chairman.

Grey Friars

Grey Friars, men's literary society, held its first business meeting of the year Friday afternoon, October 3, in the Marsh Room of the Billings Library. Plans were discussed for the coming year and the date of the next meeting of the group was set for Thursday, October 16, in the Greek Library, 34 South College.

The members of the society will meet twice a month, at which time manuscripts prepared by the various men will be read and discussed. Refreshments will also be served at these meetings.

Members are required to read a manuscript at at least one of the two meetings held during each month.

Although it is one of the younger organizations on the campus, Grey Friars has been quite active and last year carried out a successful and interesting program. Several speakers were brought before the semester banquets who gave talks on subjects pertaining to literary work.

The past year's program listed speakers from Norwich University and Middlebury College. Among those who gave talks were Walter J. Coates, editor of Driftwood, the Vermont poetry magazine, and Professor Peach of Norwich University. Edmour Germain, '31, president of the society, states that plans are being made to continue the program started last year and it is hoped the club will be able to secure more speakers for future occasions.

Grey Friars limits its membership, which is only by invitation, to sixteen men from the University. Any upperclassman who is interested in joining the club may secure information from any one of the members, and freshmen are allowed to join only after the Christmas recess.

Boulder Society Presents Week of Varied Activities

Revived Lower Class Hose Fight, Peerade, Pep Smoker, Cane Rush and Dance Follow in Order in Series Directed by Senior Group

LOWER CLASSES WILL COMPETE IN HISTORIC CANE RUSH TOMORROW

Scrap at Opening Football Game Will Observe Thirty-third Anniversary of Its Inception

In the cane rush the student body tomorrow afternoon will witness a form of class rivalry which has endured for thirty-three years.

Thrice declared a thing of the past by faculty edicts and class boycott since 1897, the perennial cane rush between the men of the two lower classes still persists.

This seven-minute scrap will be held at the close of the football game with the Coast Guards and will be supervised by Boulder, which has assumed responsibility for its starting and duration as well as its character.

Freshmen, who must furnish canes, will gather at the gymnasium tomorrow at one-thirty before the game and go en masse to Hayes & Carney's store, where the sticks will be distributed to each man. They will then proceed together to Centennial Field, where a section has been reserved for them in the bleachers. They must bring their ticket books for admission.

All freshmen possessing canes after the game will deposit them on the 50-yard line, which will be the point midway between the 40-yard lines on which will start the respective classes facing each other.

At signal both classes will rush toward each other, struggling for possession of the elusive sticks. During the contest striking with canes is forbidden and all men must wear soft soled shoes. All men not participating must remain in the bleachers.

Upon signal to stop, men possessing canes are requested to line up according to classes for the computation of the score by the senior honorary society.

Cane Rush Rules

The rules governing the conduct of men in the rush:

1. The scrap shall be of seven minutes' duration.
2. The canes will be placed halfway between the classes, who will be forty yards apart, with the crooks of the canes as they happen to fall.
3. On a signal, both classes shall rush for the canes and struggle for possession of them.
4. There shall be only as many freshmen as there are sophomore men enrolled in college.
5. No men shall wear any other than rubber-soled shoes or moccasins.
6. A warning whistle will be given one minute before the end of the rush, a pistol shot at the end will close the struggle.
7. Canes in the hands of men of both classes shall be given to one class or to the other upon decisions of Boulder according to the number of hands nearest the crook.
8. The crook of a cane with a foot or more stub shall count one point. A whole cane shall count two points.
9. At the close of the match each class will file past a designated number from Boulder for the computation of scores.

Rush Abolished by Faculty

The history of the cane rush is uncertain, but as early as 1897 a faculty decree in the form of the University Riot Act abolished it.

But notwithstanding this ruling the classes obtained canes through illicit procedure and a fight ensued which

(Continued on page 4)

Eta Sigma Phi

Eta Sigma Phi, honorary classical society, will hold a business meeting next Tuesday evening, October 14, at the home of Prof. Samuel E. Bassett. Plans and program for the year will be discussed with Pres. Charles W. Knapp, '31, presiding.

TOMORROW IS OCCASION OF ANNUAL CANE RUSH

Once again Boulder week is here with its varied round of class competitions tonight and tomorrow night respectively, and peerade followed by a pep smoker and dance.

Starting off the list of perennial activities was the revived freshman-sophomore water fight on Wednesday afternoon. It was planned to have three teams, consisting of eight men on a team, to represent each class. The fight was to a finish as the side lasting longest was declared winner by Boulder. Adding unusual interest to the affair this year is the fact that both classes were inexperienced water fighters, as it was too cold last year to stage the combat.

Next on the varied program came the peerade on Thursday afternoon, during which Joe Lechnyr, R. O. T. C. band leader, will alternate with the student cheer leaders in attempting to make lots of noise.

The third feature of the week's activities is the Boulder smoker tonight in the gymnasium.

To Create Pep

There are few smokers that are comparable to the Boulder pep meeting, and only those prior to the Norwich and Middlebury games are as well attended. The evening's activity is to be varied with songs, cheers, talks, smokes and refreshments.

Francis McBride, president of the senior society, will be master of ceremonies for the evening. Leo Segal, popular football captain, though out of the game temporarily with a wrenched shoulder, will be on hand to tell the smoker of the hopes of the varsity, which is ready to start its winning streak against the Coast Guard tomorrow afternoon. George Tulley, freshman mentor, and "Bump" Levine, last year's captain and new assistant coach, will be on the evening's program along with Chief Coach Dave Dunn, who will be making his first appearance at a Vermont pep gathering. "Emmy" Craig, manager of football, and Graduate Manager Abell are also among those slated for orations. From the faculty is recruited the final speaker of the smoker, Professor Donahue, of the Athletic Council. And to add even greater spirit to the occasion Joe Lechnyr will have his R. O. T. C. band on hand.

The regular cheer leaders, Bowles and Donaghy, will be present to lead off the organized pep work. As in the past, a local merchant has provided the smokes for general free distribution, while Boulder promises to serve the customary cider and doughnuts in the cage after the evening's formalities. Boulder says that freshman attendance at the smoker is compulsory, as both it and Gold Key will take attendance.

Mixed Cheer Leaders

Continuing the custom established last year both men and women will lead the cheers at the game tomorrow. There will also be special sections reserved for the band, the student body, and the freshmen, who march to the field with their canes for the cane rush which will follow the game.

Gold Key and Key and Serpent, sophomore and junior honoraries, respectively, will usher at the game, and to facilitate their work sections will be roped off for the student body.

Cane rush, which takes place after the first home football game of the year, is an age-old student custom originating in all probability in the days before football was played at Vermont. The freshmen first meet at the gymnasium and march down to Hayes & Carney's for their canes, and then to Centennial Field. The sophomores and freshmen are to line up opposite each other with the canes on the ground between. At Boulder's signal they are to dash for the coveted prizes. This year it will be a seven-minute scrap and all of the contestants must wear sneakers.

Finally, bringing to a close the Boulder week activities of 1930, comes the Boulder dance. The Black Pirates will furnish the evening's music. Prof.

(Continued on page 6)

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Advertising Manager

Assistant Business Managers
E. E. Tracy, '32

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents.

Published semi-weekly during the college year.
All communications must be signed by the writer. All local notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to MR. College 4-411, Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Pi House; all other communications to the Editor-in-Chief, Phi Sigma Delta House.
Entered at the postoffice at Burlington, Vt., as second class matter under the act of March 3, 1879. Acceptance for mailing at special rate provided for in Section 460, P. L. and R. Act of March 3, 1879, authorized October 11, 1927.
Office of Publication, Free Press Printing Co., Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 49 October 10, 1930 No. 6

LOOK 'EM OVER WELL!

Filled with the glamour of his first open house still bright in his mind, the freshman best gives serious consideration to the problem of whether or not to affiliate himself with a fraternity group and, if his answer be favorable toward the Greek-letter society with which one is to associate himself for the duration of his college career. It is to him that we address ourselves.

First, refuse to give credence to anyone who advises the college student to go fraternity or not to go fraternity. If he is a fraternity man, he is prejudiced. If he is not a fraternity man, he is likewise prejudiced. If a fraternity man advises you to stay out of fraternity, there is a strong possibility that he himself made a particularly unhappy selection earlier in his college course and has not yet overcome the resulting disappointment. If a non-fraternity man advises you to go fraternity, there is an equally strong possibility that he is but grinding his own axe.

The problem is yours to resolve and yours alone. Do not ignore any advice, but value it properly, in the light of your own observations during the next few weeks and in the light of your own hopes and ambitions for the next four years.

Properly, there is no such thing as "going fraternity" in the abstract. It is you, the individual, and no John Doe of a college student, who will make or fail to make that affiliation. Neither is it "fraternity" that you will make, but one definite fraternity, for, between Alpha Kappa Alpha and Omega Kappa Alpha there may be all the difference that exists between good and bad. The question in your mind should be, not "Shall I, a good, average or indifferent college student go fraternity?" but "Shall I, John Smith, go Alpha Kappa Alpha?"

It may well be that no fraternity group on the campus measures up to your expectations or ideals. In that event, do not hesitate to refuse the advances of any of them.

Secondly, consider each house carefully, and make certain that you jump to no hasty conclusions. It is best to affiliate with a group whose scholastic standing compares well with that of other houses and whose members are recognized as leaders on the campus. Make certain, however, that they are men whom you can like and respect, that they have a certain community of interests with you, that they are men with whom you can converse intelligently, with whom you can study and play happily, with whom you can live and feel that you are living with friends.

You are not asked to make these decisions all in one breath; but neither are you given any lengthy space of time to do so. A single visit may be sufficient to remove a house from your consideration. It will surprise you how quickly your list of likely fraternities will narrow itself down. When you have reached that point, you will know that the time has arrived to consider carefully.

Finally, make certain that you do not judge by exteriors. Do not decide on a certain fraternity simply because it is national or because it is local. Each has advantages which the other lacks.

Likewise, a fine house is no criterion of a fraternity's standing. It may indicate wealth of age, but neither is a determining factor in ranking college fraternities. A less pretentious home may house a far finer group of men than the wealthiest house on the hill.

Fourthly, you should never cease in your inquiries concerning the houses you have under consideration. Determine what financial obligations will arise under each; look up the scholastic standing of each house; look up the campus records of their individual members. But for any assistance, refuse rumor or hearsay.

Finally, remember that the fraternity is now at your mercy. Treat it so, but miss no opportunities. Look over each house well. Many have open house nights remain. Take advantage of all of them, but make no premature decisions. The formal rushing season will soon be on. When that season comes to an end, make your decision and may it be a happy one.

Campus Comment

To the Editor of the Cynic:

Critique of the freshmen societies by some few individuals who of course can't be always correcting some thing, has occurred time and again on the Vermont campus. At the beginning of this college year these few connoisseurs decided that the other societies had been controlled quite enough. Forthwith, glancing about for a worthy subject to reform, their eyes chanced to fall on poor, incompetent, barbarous Gold Key. Ah! Here was a society needful of their finest efforts. Here was a society reigning in the very midst of our fair college performing deeds so dastardly that they had to be "veiled in secrecy." And the tirade began through, of course, the official student newspaper of the University of Vermont.

Righteously indignant editorials are written. Long communications were handed in, giving reasons necessitating the disbanding of Gold Key. With the battlecry, "Our helpless freshmen must be protected from the malicious and deadly designs of Gold Key,' the warriors surged forth to battle.

But they couldn't find their enemy. It seemed that Gold Key was utterly ignoring their warlike gestures and was quietly performing its duty as given in the constitution of the society: "Gold Key shall assist Boulder Society in enforcing freshman rules." And it will continue that way, in spite of the ever-present busybodies who are forever insinuating their olfactory organ of vertebrates into someone else's affairs. Boulder has approved of "paddling parties," therefore Gold Key will have them. Furthermore, the society does not fear publicity, as has been intimated. It does not even fear the unfair publicity we have been getting in the Cynic. If we choose to publish the list of freshman rule breakers, we will do so. If we don't publish them, it will not be because of any fear of either publicity or an outsider's interfering."

Let's take an example of the write-ups on Gold Key in the Cynic. This was under "Symposium" (a word having two meanings. 1, A drinking party. 2, a series of discussions on a common topic. Very nicely chosen, since it dealt with a subject which had, apparently, been much discussed and it certainly was "dripping").

"Meanwhile Gold Key has set its heart on a few successful paddling parties, which seems to be the singular goal of this 'upholder' of traditions." Isn't that a good, clean-cut compliment?

The present Gold Key is not in favor of paddling parties. It has even decided that some of the rules this year shall be repealed after mid-years. But it has determined to enforce the rules strictly until then, and if this calls for paddling, it will be paddling.

Of course we know that it is a barbaric, time-worn relic; we know that "civilized" persons would not countenance such extreme measures; we know that the whole college will rise up in horror if such an outrageous event as a paddling party occurs. Surely we know it. We read it in the Cynic.

But Gold Key will have them. If, however, anyone thinks that Gold Key is going to have a great time at these parties, he's mistaken. It does not have a good time going around yelling at a freshman without a cap or lifting up trouser-legs. It won't have a good time wielding the light end of a paddle. If some bright fellow thinks of a plan, other than paddling, which will enable Gold Key to strictly enforce the rules, the plan will be immediately adopted.

The communication in Campus Comment of the October 3 issue was also quite interesting. The author explained, in about seven hundred words, that the editor of the Handbook left the rules out because he wasn't in favor of them. After all, the only effect the omission had was to cause more confusion among the freshmen when they did learn of the rules.

In the latter part of the letter the gentleman demonstrated his prophetic powers by accusing Gold Key of incompetence. To us it seems just a little early to draw any conclusions in regard to that. It is to be hoped that he is as successful a prophet as the weather man.

Judging by the attitude of present Gold Key members, there won't be any "talk by ex-Gold Key men" next year like that. None of us will join the campaign to abolish all freshman rules and let the cocky freshmen stay cocky. There are some, I imagine, who won't believe there are cocky freshmen. Take a walk with me around the "Old Mill" and note the attitude of some of them. You might believe in freshman rules then, and you might support Gold Key.

But support or not, Gold Key needs only Boulder's approval to its plans. After that it cares for nobody and no outsider's interference. Gold Key will enforce the rules.

WILLIAM C. CROWLEY, '33

She: What are you going out for this year?

Pete Cooper: A good time.

A Student-at-Large

Open house nights at the fraternities are starting. Freshmen and new students at the University are expected to make the rounds at the various houses. At least, they are invited to pay a visit. Soon after comes rushing. Then the students will have to make decisions one way or the other, immediately they must answer to the question: shall I join a fraternity or remain independent?

All of which leads us to a consideration of the pros and cons of the fraternity system as it exists upon the Vermont campus. To many students, this consideration is useless as they have already made up their minds.

It is essential that each student find a congenial group of men with whom he can associate throughout the life of his collegiate experience. Whether the group he selects is a fraternity or a non-fraternity group depends largely upon the individual man. Many students would be decidedly unhappy outside of a fraternity; other students rest quite content outside of them.

Perhaps it is not fair to the freshman to ask him to make his choice of associates at this early stage of his career in college. Whatever may be said upon this point, this much is true, that in the majority of cases freshmen do not regret later the choice they make. But caution should be exercised. If a man does select a wrong fraternity, he lives to regret it very much. Too often haste in the selection of a fraternity or a non-fraternity group has led to a degree of unhappiness which one can scarcely conceive of in the glamorous days of the open house and rushing.

The advice "Bill" Kitchen gave to the first year men at freshman camp this year is worth considering. "Bill" is the New England Y. M. C. A. Collegiate Secretary and knows what he is talking about. He pointed out that at open house the tendency among the freshmen is to feel that they are being carefully watched by the fraternity men by whom they are surrounded. He suggested, however, that the freshmen should reverse the tables and give the fraternity group the once over instead.

On many campuses, freshmen are not permitted to join any fraternity. They must wait until they become upperclassmen. This system may or may not accomplish the ends for which it exists. Every fraternity is desirous of admitting only those men within its group who will live up to the expectations of the men in the group. Certainly, it is best for any freshmen who is undecided as to which house he should settle himself in or who is not as familiar with the local fraternity situation as he would like to be before making his final decision, to wait until he can make a clear-headed selection.

Many men do not go fraternity at all. The usual assumption in such a case is that such men are not able to make any of the worthwhile positions on the campus by virtue of the fact that they have no group backing. Oftentimes the lack of group support does bring disaster to one's ambitions, but if any man has the right kind of stuff in him he does not need group support to attain an office, whether he be a fraternity man or an independent. It is a mistake to join a fraternity only for the reason that one wants to get a certain position in some campus activity. A good word of warning would be to say that the chances of making a certain position by membership in a fraternity are as good as they are bad. Fraternities have been known to go into political combines with one another and lose one fight after another.

Non-fraternity men have the advantage of being intellectually free. They have no apron strings tied to them. They may hold certain ideas and opinions and yet not be considered queer. Too often, fraternities have set opinions about a number of matters and it is blasphemous to them to have any of their members deviate from the one path of righteousness which they have mapped out.

Moral standards may be low sometimes in a fraternity and it is for each freshman as he makes the rounds of the fraternities next week and thereafter to be on his guard in this respect. But moral standards may be just as low in non-fraternity groups. Because a man is not a fraternity man does not mean he is an angel. With all due regard for human weaknesses, however, it is quite safe to say that in many groups there is considerable ground for improvement. Perhaps, as "Bill" Kitchen said at freshman camp, one strong man in a fraternity may clean up the house.

When one joins a fraternity he becomes stamped immediately with the traditional characteristics of the group and, in this sense, he loses thereby his individuality. It does not always occur that men forget what

Bits of Bunk

Then there was ... whose child was ... Christmas.

What kind of an ... want?"

Any kind, daddy ... and bought her a ...

Although Al Wa... we would define a ... person who succeeds ... both arms of his theatre.

Customer: Last week ... tire cover from you, and ... my money back.

Clerk: Why?

Customer: I put ... tires and hadn't driven ... fore the blame thing ...

Mathematically speaking ... to Mr. Pratt, the ... some people's ears ...

they are when they ... but the likelihood is ... fraternity, a man is ... dividual, he is a certain ... fraternity man.

For fear that too many ... aspiring to be individu... plete sense of the word ... now that there are very few ... individual men. By ... social, not individual ... and does not live by ... are hermits, of course ... not the type of person ... would care the world ... lated.

By individuality we mean the ... courage which that man has ... not permit himself to be dictated ... by the group in every matter, ... he may have some convictions. ... men in college allow themselves ... slide into certain attitudes ... cause they fear to oppose ... authority. Many times they ... they do wrong, but, having ... individuality, they do as the ... commit gross evil. We repeat ... this can happen in a non-fraternity ... group just as quickly as ... nity.

It is well to remember that ... greater part of the social life ... lege centers about the fraternity ... ternity activities are social ... As a matter of fact, the only ... for the existence of fraternities ... is that they do provide a ... outlet for the expression of the ... cial nature of the students.

No one should join a fraternity ... cause that particular house boasts ... many campus honors. Campus ... may mean little; for instance, ... societies could just as well be ... away with as not, and so membership in such organizations has ... little value.

No one should join a fraternity ... til he knows all about that fraternity. And how can he know all about ... fraternity?

Just this way—

He should get to know men in ... fraternity. He should not look ... fraternity as it was five, ten or ... years ago. The fraternity may ... been a deal of a lot better in the ... than it is now, or the opposite ... be true. What counts is what is ... fraternity like now? A building ... not make a fraternity, it's the men ... who are in it, the men who ... live there together and inevitably ... come friends.

Non-fraternity men are not ... skim milk of the college ... Many men have not the least desire ... to join a fraternity, some are ... anti-fraternity. Because a man does ... not join a fraternity, does not ... that he thereby becomes an object ... universal scorn and pity. Many ... fraternity men have a ... of ... qualities which often distinguish ... from the ordinary college ... One does not have to ... the fraternities to find ... and good friends. Leaders, ... good friends are found ... ternities and they are ... side of them.

Someone once classified ... nity as the "school for ... unfortunate members of ... who consider themselves ... much superior to men ... group may find it difficult ... life, after they have left ... justify their high-and ... which they held of them ... lege. A fraternity man ... is usually quite repulsive ... in the greater number ... are what they are because ... they lack in the ... valuable sides of human ...

In selecting a fraternity ... fraternity group with which ... ciate, it is sane to choose ... others that group which ... and fair, the group that has a ... sense of good humor ... and who can take a ... smile.

List of New Students at Vermont

...ances publication of ...ents at Vermont:

...ing Hutchinson, East Mass. (G. S.).
...e Hyde, Royalton (2-
...ert Ingalls, Orleans (4-
...ur Inman, New York
...im, Riverdale, N. Y.
...allard Jackson, Milton
...Jaquith, Windsor (2-
...mond Jardine, Inverness, T. T.)
...ver Jenkins, Orleans
...son Jenks, Burlington
...Jenness, Barton (L. S.)
...ian Johnson, Island Pond ...e)
...) Edward Johnson, Fish- (G. S.)
...avid Johnson, Craftsbury
...nson, Medford, Mass.
... Johnson, Springfield (4-
... Eugene Johnston, Rut- Med.)
... Johnstone, Morrisville
... Baird Joslin, Waitsfield ...ce)
...s Kaplan, New Britain, S.)
Felix Kearney, East Nor- (Comm.)
...abeth Keeler, Milton (2-
...ard Kelleher, Montpelier
...lish Kew, Waitsfield
...remiah Kew, Waitsfield
... Kenloch, Springfield, ... Ec.)
Russell Kinsman, North Social Science)
...sta Kobel, Port Henry,
...Kramer, Winthrop, Mass.
...ven Lander, Barre (2-
... Lane, Barre (L. S.)
...ost Lanou, Burlington
Marjorie Lawrence, Boston,
Agnes Leddy, Burlington ...T.)
...Leland, South Hadley Falls, ...me Ec.)
...Levin, Burlington (Pre-
...Jackson Libby, Richmond (E. E.)
Alberta Lindsay, Mont- S.)
...Lisman, Burlington (Social
...zabeth Locke, White River (4-year T. T.)
Renfrew Lowell, Fitch- (Chem.)
...haffee Lunna, Newport Cen-
...arson Lutman, Burlington
...Andrew Lyford, Wilder (4-
...Lena Lyman, Hinesburg (4-
...Henry McCrea, Burlington
...Edwards McCuin, Highgate ...mm.)
...seph McGowan, Burlington
Michael McGrath, Adams, S.)
Joseph McGrath, Adams, S.)
Machanic, Burlington
... McKenzie, Burlington
... James McKenzie, Burling-
... Whiting MacLeod, Paw-
Mary McNall, Burlington
Louisa Magee, Watertown,
Richards Magune, Worces- S.)
...nis Marchacos, Burling-
Alice Marsh, West Rut
Alfred Martin, Rutland
... Martin, Plainfield (4-
... Mayo, Barre (2-year
... Mazel, Burlington
... Merrihew, Burlington
...Race Michelman, Green- (Comm.)
...Edward Miller, Vernon
Jacques Millet, Pittsfield, ...
Mintzer, Burlington (Pre-
...aria Monte, Montpelier
Jackson Borne Morgan, Burlington (C. E.)
Marguerite Wall Morgan, New York City (Social Science)
Daniel John Moriarty, Waitsfield (Pre-Med.)
Claribel Reed Morris, Burlington (Social Science)
Stanley Frederick Morris, Brooklyn, N. Y. (Pre-Med.)
John Calvin Morrison, Melrose Highlands, Mass. (C. E.)
Paul Knight Morrison, Jr., Barnet (Pre-Med.)
Earle Carleton Morse, Jr., Worcester, Mass. (Social Science)
Florence Elizabeth Morse, Framingham, Mass. (Social Science)
Shirley Christine Morse, Morrisville (L. S.)
Bernard Joseph Mulcahy, Barre (Pre-Med.)
Adna Hutchins Mulliken, Wells River (M. E.)
Ruth Mary Mullin, Proctor (L. S.)
Dorothy Elizabeth Murphy, Burlington (L. S.)
James Ivor Murray, Bellows Falls (G. S.)
Richard Rush Murray, New York City (E. E.)
Norman Higbee Myers, Burlington (Social Science)
Carelyn Ruth Nichols, Melndoe Falls (2-year T. T.)
Georgia Jessie Nichols, Danby (4 year T. T.)
Harry Marshall Norris, Burlington (E. E.)
Kathleen Nina Norton, Vergennes (Comm.)
Katherine Margaret Nowland, South Burlington
Richard Howard O'Connor, Burlington (Pre-Med.)
Robert Werntz Ogle, Annapolis, Md. (Social Science)
Frances Louise Osgood, Saxtons River (Home Ec.)
Carl Grady Otis, Vergennes (Pre-Med.)
Franklyn Guy Paris, Burlington (E. E.)
Martin Holmes Parker, Windsor (C. E.)
Ellen Annie Pearl, Grand Isle (Social Science)
Lucile Minnie Pelsue, Belmont (2 year T. T.)
Myer Perelman, Burlington (Pre-Med.)
Emmaline Lillian Perrault, St. Albans (G. S.)
Lennie L. Perry, St. Albans (2-year T. T.)
Greta A. Peterson, Worcester (L. S.)
John Edgar Pierce, Manchester (C. E.)
Samuel Pierce, Jr., Roselle Park, N. J. (Comm.)
Addison Cramton Pond, Richford (Comm.)
Samuel Burnham Pond, Rutland (Pre-Med.)
Max Leon Powell, Jr., Burlington (Comm.)
Platt Rugar Powell, Milton (C. E.)
Richard Powell, Island Pond (Comm.)
Eugenia Stella Powers, Lower Waterford (4-year T. T.)
Eulalie Julia Powers, Lower Waterford (4-year T. T.)
Wilson Newton Pratt, Springfield (Chem.)
Ruth Elizabeth Prindle, Charlotte (4-year T. T.)
Velma Adeline Purinton, Lincoln (Home Ec.)
Daisy May Putnam, Springfield (4-year T. T.)
Philip Reynolds Ransom, Castleton (Med.)
Ruth Mary Reynolds, St. Johnsbury (Cl.)
Flavia Lucile Richardson, Old Town, Me.
Kendrick Hubbard Richmond, Orleans (G. S.)
Glenn Orson Ricker, Burlington (E. E.)
Joseph Risman, Lynn, Mass. (G. S.)
Helen Della Roberts, Burlington (Home Ec.)
Leon Robinson, Lynn, Mass. (G. S.)
Norman Case Robinson, Burlington (C. E.)
Helen Rockwell, Proctor (Social Science)
Edith Rogers, Fair Haven, Mass. (Social Science)
Arnold Alexander Ross, St. Albans (L. S.)
Winfred Alban Ross, St. Albans (G. S.)
Bernard Chester Rubino, Baldwinville, Mass. (G. S.)
Ralph Herbert Russel, East Dorset, Conn. (Social Science)
Jesse Albert Rust, Jr., Burlington (Pre-Med.)
... Ryan, Vergennes (Soc.)
William Joseph Ryan, Montpelier (Comm.)
Edward George Saba, Williamantic, Conn. (G. S.)
Ida Sargent, Barnardston (L. S.)
Velma Hyacinth Sartor, Grand Isle (2-year T. T.)
Theodore Dearborn Sargent, Chelsea (2-year T. T.)
Rose Alma Sauvelle, Bennington (C.)
Alice Van Sawyer, Seattle, Wash. (Social Science)
Monroe Edgar Schmidt, Huntington (2-year T. T.)
Irma Walker Seaberg, Brooklyn, N. Y. (G. S.)
Elsie Lorene Scott, Englewood, N. J. (C.)
Everett Allen Scott, Westboro, Mass. (2-year T. T.)
Jessie Caroline Scribner, Berlin (Soc.)
Olga Mae Searles, St. Johnsbury (Soc.)
Herbert Joseph Selib, Jamaica Plain, Mass. (Comm.)
Samuel Raymond Shattle, Winooski (E. E.)
Catharine Jean Shaw, South Peacham (L. S.)
Wilson Leon Shippee, West Dover (C. E.)
Hyman Silverstein, Brookline, Mass. (G. S.)
Catherine Dorothy Simpson, Barre (2-year T. T.)
Genevieve Elizabeth Smith, Essex Junction (4-year T. T.)
James Daniel Smith, Dedham, Mass. (Comm.)
Kenneth Bemis Smith, Southington, Conn. (Comm.)
Lucy Frances Somers, Fort Ethan Allen (Social Science)
Herbert Joseph Soule, Jr., East Fairfield (Comm.)
A. Ezra Souther, Westfield (2-year T. T.)
Edward Charles Sowka, New Britain, Conn. (Social Science)
Kenneth David Spaulding, Newport (Comm.)
Frederic Harold Spear, Burlington (M. E.)
Alden Joseph Spicer, Essex Junction (4-year T. T.)
Alice Marguerite Stearns, Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Caroline Priscilla Stearns, Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Mary Cora Stearns, Rutland (Comm.)
Ruth Ellen Steele, Northfield Falls (2-year T. T.)
Beulah Viola Steen, Bennington (L. S.)
William Paul Stetson, New Haven, Conn. (G. S.)
Elinor Ellen Stevens, Essex Junction (Social Science)
Norma Derway Stevens, Burlington (Home Ec.)
Robert Wallace Stewart, Brookline, Mass. (Social Science)
Clara Margaret Stone, Northfield (2-year T. T.)
Henry Grinnell Stone, Essex Junction (C. E.)
Esther Winifred Stott, Island Pond (Home Ec.)
William Richard Suitor, Barre (4-year T. T.)
Edmund Quincy Sylvester, H. Hanover, Mass. (Eng.)
Ruth Barstow Tarleton, Brooklyn, N. Y. (L. S.)
Christopher Marlowe Terrien, Burlington (Pre-Med.)
Dorothy Cynthia Thomas, Jeffersonville (Home Ec.)
Donald Joseph Tobin, Fair Haven, Mass. (G. S.)
Mrs. Rockwood Foat, East Highgate (Comm.)
Laura Wooster Tracy, Shelburne (L. S.)
Melvina Wilder Tuxakis, Springfield (4-year T. T.)
Shirley Mae Tripp, Springfield (4-year T. T.)
... Tuttle, Proctorsville, Mass. (Soc.)
Nanette Lisa Unger, Palisade, N. J. (L. S.)
Iva Fenn VanAntwerp, Montclair, N. J. (M. E.)
Robert Tyson VanDyke, Albany, N. Y. (E. E.)
Mildred Pierce Vosburgh, South Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Marion Elizabeth Waite, Shoreham (L. S.)
Emanuel Victoria Walker, Underhill Center (Soc.)
Mary Jeannette Walker, New York City (Home Ec.)
Mary Walker, Chelsea (2-year T. T.)
Frank Orson Walter, Burlington (C. E.)
Emma Martha Warren, Morrisville (Home Ec.)
Harold Isidore Wasserman, Burlington (G. S.)
William Mansfield Waterman, Vergennes (4-year T. T.)
Alden Webster, Danville (Ag.)
Frederick Edward Wegner, Plainville, Conn. (C. E.)
Robert Weissman, Newark, N. J. (G. S.)
Margaret Madeline Wellinger, Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Nathaniel Oakes Wells, Malden, Mass. (C. E.)
Andrew Stanley Wemply, New Britain, Conn. (G. S.)
Jean Pearson Westmoreland, Boston (L. S.)
Harmon Parker Wetherbee, Burlington (Pre-Med.)
Hetty Erdine Wetherell, Jeffersonville (2-year T. T.)
Lotis Althea White, Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Paul Maurice White, Boston, Mass. (Social Science)
Barbara Gage Whitney, Springfield, Mass. (C.)
Donald Clinton Whitney, Burlington (C.)
Geneva Edith Wilcox, Randolph Center (Home Ec.)
Harriet Constance Willard, Hartford, Conn. (Social Science)
Paul Brookings Williams, Montpelier (Comm.)
Raymond Maynard Williams, Fair Haven (E. E.)
Carolyn Louise Williamson, New London, Conn. (Cl.)
Evelyn Haley Wilson, Bethel (Sec.)
Hugh Chase Wilson, Windsor (Cl.)
Dale Howard Winters, Franklin, Mass. (G. S.)
Howard Bernard Wolinsky, West Rutland (Cl.)
Ruth Corwin Wood, Orange, N. J. (Soc.)
John Hamilton Woodruff, Jr., Barre (G. S.)
Mary Elizabeth Woodward, Rocky Hill, Conn. (Home Ec.)
Donald Clark Worcester, Manchester, N. H. (Social Science)
Elaine Winnifred Yeuell, Wakefield, Mass. (Cl.)
Virginia Ida Yeuell, Wakefield, Mass. (Cl.)
Mary Joyce Young, Vergennes (Cl.)

Have you heard about the absent minded student who took notes on the commencement lecture?—Arizona Kitty-Kat.

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Elizabeth Cox passed chocolates at the fraternity meeting Monday night announcing her engagement to Porter Greene, '28.

PI BETA PHI

The actives gave a tea in honor of Miss Patterson and Miss Storms, October 7, at 247 Pearl Street.

Esther Stanley, '27 attended the meeting Monday night.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The Trident degree was conferred on Crystal Lawes, '32, Esther Mandigo, '32 and Leona Johnson '33 October 8 at the rooms on 328 Pearl Street.

The Juniors entertained the chapter at supper at the rooms Wednesday night.

Iva Harris, '30, is spending the week in town.

The active chapter will hold a public bridge October 18, from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m., at the Athena Club rooms.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Mrs. Chester Way entertained the alumnae and actives Friday afternoon at her home on Overlook Park.

The actives had a bridge party Thursday night at the rooms on College Street.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Helen Peabody, '30, visited in Burlington Wednesday.

SIGMA GAMMA

Lucene Little, '29, was a week-end visitor from Hyde Park last week.

KAPPA DELTA

The actives held a tea for their patronesses Thursday afternoon from 4:00 to 6:00, at the Athena Club rooms.

EPSILON SIGMA

Sylvia McKinney and Ruth White have returned for further study.

Mazie Higgins is doing special work in the Art Department this year.

Old Lady: The goblins will get you if you don't watch out.

Little Boy: They will like hell. My brother is a Deke and I'm going to pledge where he is.

We understand that there is going to be put forth soon a college picture in which the hero is a pole-vaulter. I suppose that the theme song will be, "I've Got a Feeling I'm Falling."

A student clothed in a bath robe was expelled from a classroom at M. I. T.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.
Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats.
Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies
Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

Try a PHILCO RADIO in your room.
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits, Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
$1.25 Special $1.25
SHAMPOO and FINGER WAVE
3 Center St. Phone 538

V U. V. M. STUDENTS V
Make this store your downtown headquarters for Loose-Leaf Supplies, Stationery, Fountain Pens, Art Materials, etc.
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts.
Phone 629
V V

Recommended by
The English Department of
University of Vermont
WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE
The Best Abridged Dictionary because it is based upon WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL—The "Supreme Authority". Here is a companion for your hours of reading and study that will prove its real value every time you consult it. A wealth of ready information on words, persons, places, is instantly yours. 106,000 words and phrases with definitions, etymologies, pronunciations, and use in 1,256 pages. 1,700 illustrations. Includes dictionaries of biography and geography and other features.
G & C MERRIAM CO
Springfield, Mass.

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Associate Editors

Sports Editors

Business Manager

Assistant Business Managers

Subscription price $3.00 a year. Single Copy, Five Cents

Entered in 1911. Published semi-weekly during the college year.
All communications must be signed by the writer. Any brief notices should be handed in at the Cynic office or telephoned to 3401 before 9 p.m. Sunday and Wednesday. All business communications should be addressed to the Business Manager, Delta Psi House, 41 [illegible] Street.
Acceptance for mailing to points outside of Burlington at special rate provided for in Section 1103 P. L. and R. Act of March 3 1879 authorized October 14 1925.

Office of Publication Free Press Printing Co. Burlington, Vt.

Vol. 69 October 10 1940 No. 6

LOOK 'EM OVER WELL!

Filled with the excitement of his first open house still bright in his mind the freshman has given serious consideration to the problem of whether or not to affiliate himself with a fraternity group and if his decision be favorable toward the Greek-letter society with which one is to associate himself for the duration of his college career. It is to him that we address ourselves.

First advice to the good counselor to anyone who advises the college student to go fraternity or not to go fraternity. If he is a fraternity man, he is prejudiced. If he is not a fraternity man, he is likewise prejudiced. If a fraternity man advises you to stay out of fraternity, there is a strong possibility that he himself made a particularly unhappy selection earlier in his college course and has not yet overcome the resulting disappointment. If a non-fraternity man advises you to go fraternity, there is an equally strong possibility that he is but grinding his own axe.

The problem is yours to resolve and yours alone. Do not ignore the advice but value it properly in the light of your own observations during the next few weeks and in the light of your own hopes and ambitions for the next four years.

Properly, there is no such thing as "going fraternity" in the abstract. It is you, the individual, and no John Doe of a college student who will make or fail to make that affiliation. Neither is it "fraternity" that you will make, but one definite fraternity; for, between Alpha Kappa Alpha and Omega Kappa Alpha there may be all the difference that exists between good and bad. The question in your mind should be, not "Shall I, a good, average or indifferent college student go fraternity?" but "Shall I, John Smith, go Alpha Kappa Alpha?"

It may well be that no fraternity group on the campus measures up to your expectations or ideals. In that event, do not hesitate to refuse the advances of any of them.

Secondly, consider each house carefully and make certain that you jump to no hasty conclusions. It is best to affiliate with a group whose scholastic standing compares well with that of other houses and whose members are recognized as leaders on the campus. Make certain, however, that they are men whom you can like and respect, that they have a certain community of interests with you, that they are men with whom you can converse intelligently, with whom you can study and play happily, with whom you can live and feel that you are living with friends.

You are not forced to make these decisions all in one breath; but neither are you given any lengthy space of time to do so. A single visit may be sufficient to remove a house from your consideration. It will surprise you how quickly your list of likely fraternities will narrow itself down. When you have reached that point, you will know that the time has arrived to consider carefully.

Thirdly, make certain that you do not judge by exteriors. Do not decide on a certain fraternity simply because it is national or because it is local. Each has advantages which the other lacks.

Likewise, a fine house is no criterion of a fraternity's standing. It may indicate wealth of age, but neither is a determining factor in ranking college fraternities. A less pretentious home may house a far finer group of men than the wealthiest home on the hill.

Fourthly, you should never cease in your inquiries concerning the houses you have under consideration. Determine what financial obligations will arise under each; look up the scholastic standing of each house; look up the campus records of their individual members. Use [illegible] to your best interest.

Finally, remember that the fraternity is now at your mercy. Treat it so, but miss no opportunities. Look over each house well. Many more open-house nights remain. Take advantage of all of them, but make no premature decisions. The formal rushing season will soon be on. When that season comes to an end, make your decision and may it be a happy one.

Campus Comment

For the Editor of the Cynic:

Criticism of the fraternity societies by some few individuals who, it seems, only exist to criticize something, has continued time and again in the Vermont campus. At the beginning of the semester, just when these few contemptible individuals that the other societies had sent unbearable quite enough, Kathleen Klanning chose for a worthy subject to reform their ways claimed to fact on your "contemptible" fraternity Gold Key. Alright there was a society needful of their finest efforts. Here was a society resorting in the very midst of our fair college, perpetrating deeds so dastardly that they had to be veiled in secrecy. And the tirade began; through, of course, the official student newspaper of the University of Vermont.

Righteously indignant editorials are written. Long communications were handed in giving reasons necessitating the disbanding of Gold Key. With the battlecry, "Our helpless freshmen must be protected from the malicious and deadly designs of Gold Key," the warriors sallied forth to battle.

But they couldn't find their enemy. It seemed that Gold Key was utterly ignoring their warlike gestures and was quietly performing its duty as given in the constitution of the society. "Gold Key shall assist Boulder Society in enforcing freshman rules." And it will continue that way in spite of the ever present busybodies who are forever insinuating their olfactory organ of vertebrates into someone else's affairs. Boulder has approved of paddling parties," therefore Gold Key will have them. Furthermore, the society does not fear publicity, as has been intimated. It does not even fear the unfair publicity we have been getting in the Cynic. If we choose to publish the list of freshman rule breakers, we will do so. If we don't publish them, it will not be because of any fear of either publicity or an outsider's interfering."

Let's take an example of the write-ups on Gold Key in the Cynic. This was under "Symposium" (a word having two meanings: 1. A drinking party; 2. a series of discussions on a common topic. Very nicely chosen, since it dealt with a subject which had, apparently, been much discussed and it certainly was "dripping").

"Meanwhile Gold Key has set its heart on a few successful paddling parties, which seems to be the singular goal of this 'upholder' of traditions." Isn't that a good, clean-cut compliment?"

The present Gold Key is not in favor of paddling parties. It has even decided that some of the rules this year shall be repealed after mid-years. But it has determined to enforce the rules strictly until then, and if this calls for paddling, it will be paddling.

Of course we know that it is a barbaric, time-worn relic; we know that "civilized" persons would not countenance such extreme measures; we know that the whole college will rise up in horror if such an outrageous event as a paddling party occurs. Surely we know it. We read it in the Cynic.

But Gold Key will have them. If, however, anyone thinks that Gold Key is going to have a great time at these parties, he's mistaken. It does not have a good time going around yelling at a freshman without a cap or lifting up trouser-legs. It won't have a good time wielding the light end of a paddle. If some bright fellow thinks of a plan, other than paddling, which will enable Gold Key to strictly enforce the rules, the plan will be immediately adopted.

The communication in Campus Comment of the October 3 issue was also quite interesting. The author explained, in about seven hundred words, that the editor of the Handbook left the rules out because he wasn't in favor of them. After all, the only effect the omission had was to cause more confusion among the freshmen when they did learn of the rules.

In the latter part of the letter the gentleman demonstrated his prophetic powers by accusing Gold Key of incompetence. To us it seems just a little early to draw any conclusions in regard to that. It is to be hoped that he is as successful a prophet as the weather man.

Judging by the attitude of present Gold Key members, there won't be any "talk by ex-Gold Key men" next year like that. None of us will join the campaign to abolish all freshman rules and let the cocky freshmen stay cocky. There are some, I imagine, who won't believe there are cocky freshmen. Take a walk with me around the "Old Mill" and note the attitude of some of them. You might believe in freshman rules then, and you might support Gold Key.

But support or not, Gold Key needs only Boulder's approval to its plans. After that it cares for nobody and no outsider's interference. Gold Key will enforce the rules.

WILLIAM C. CROSBY, '33

She: What are you going out for this year?

Pete Cooper: A good time.

A Student-at-Large

Open house nights at the fraternity houses are starting. Freshmen and new students at the University are expected to make the rounds at the various houses. At least, they are invited to pay a visit. Soon after comes rushing. Then the students will have to make decisions one way or the other. Immediately they must answer to the question: shall I join a fraternity or remain independent?

All of which leads us to a consideration of the pros and cons of the fraternity system as it exists upon the Vermont campus. To many students, this consideration is useless as they have already made up their minds.

It is essential that each student find a congenial group of men with whom he can associate throughout the life of his collegiate experience. Whether the group he selects is a fraternity or a non-fraternity group depends largely upon the individual man. Many students would be decidedly unhappy outside of a fraternity, other students rest quite content outside of them.

Perhaps it is not fair to the freshman to ask him to make his choice of associates at this early stage of his career in college. Whatever may be said upon this point, this much is true, that in the majority of cases freshmen do not regret later the choice they make. But caution should be exercised. If a man does select a wrong fraternity, he lives to regret it very much. Too often haste in the selection of a fraternity or a non-fraternity group has led to a degree of unhappiness which one can scarcely conceive of in the glamorous days of the open house and rushing.

The advice "Bill" Kitchen gave to the first year men at freshman camp this year is worth considering. "Bill" is the New England Y. M. C. A. Collegiate Secretary and knows what he is talking about. He pointed out that at open house the tendency among the freshmen is to feel that they are being carefully watched by the fraternity men by whom they are surrounded. He suggested, however, that the freshmen should reverse the tables and give the fraternity group the once over instead.

On many campuses, freshmen are not permitted to join any fraternity. They must wait until they become upperclassmen. This system may or may not accomplish the ends for which it exists. Every fraternity is desirous of admitting only those men within its group who will live up to the expectations of the men in the group. Certainly, it is best for any freshmen who is undecided as to which house he should settle himself in or who is not as familiar with the local fraternity situation as he would like to be before making his final decision, to wait until he can make a clear-headed selection.

Many men do not go fraternity at all. The usual assumption in such a case is that such men are not able to make any of the worthwhile positions on the campus by virtue of the fact that they have no group backing. Oftentimes the lack of group support does bring disaster to one's ambitions, but if any man has the right kind of stuff in him he does not need group support to attain an office, whether he be a fraternity man or an independent. It is a mistake to join a fraternity only for the reason that one wants to get a certain position in some campus activity. A good word of warning would be to say that the chances of making a certain position by membership in a fraternity are as good as they are bad. Fraternities have been known to go into political combines with one another and lose one fight after another.

Non-fraternity men have the advantage of being intellectually free. They have no apron strings tied to them. They may hold certain ideas and opinions and yet not be considered queer. Too often, fraternities have set opinions about a number of matters and it is blasphemous to them to have any of their members deviate from the one path of righteousness which they have mapped out.

Moral standards may be low sometimes in a fraternity and it is for each freshman as he makes the rounds of the fraternities next week and thereafter to be on his guard in this respect. But moral standards may be just as low in non-fraternity groups. Because a man is not a fraternity man does not mean he is an angel. With all due regard for human weaknesses, however, it is quite safe to say that in many groups there is considerable ground for improvement. Perhaps, as "Bill" Kitchen said at freshman camp, one strong man in a fraternity may clean up the house.

When one joins a fraternity he becomes stamped immediately with the traditional characteristics of the group and, in this sense, he loses thereby his individuality. It does not always occur that men forget what

Bits of Bunk

Then there was [illegible] whose child was [illegible] Christmas.

What kind of an [illegible] want?"

Any kind, daddy," and bought her a [illegible]

Although Al Ward [illegible] we would define a [illegible] person who succeeds [illegible] both arms of his [illegible]

Customer: I just want [illegible] tire cover from you [illegible] my money back.

Clerk: Why?

Customer: I put [illegible] tires and hadn't driven [illegible] fore the blame thing [illegible]

Mathematically speaking [illegible] to Mr. Pratt, the [illegible] some people's ears [illegible] they are when they [illegible] but the likelihood is [illegible] fraternity, a man is [illegible] dividual, he is a certain [illegible] fraternity man.

For fear that too many [illegible] aspiring to be individuals [illegible] plete sense of the word, [illegible] now that there are very few individual men. By [illegible] social, not individual. Many [illegible] and does not live by himself [illegible] are hermits, of course, but [illegible] not the type of person to whom [illegible] would care the world to be related.

By individuality we mean the [illegible] courage which that man has who will not permit himself to be dictated by the group in every matter [illegible] he may have some convictions. Many men in college allow themselves to slide into certain attitudes [illegible] cause they fear to oppose [illegible] authority. Many times they [illegible] they do wrong, but, having [illegible] individuality, they do as the [illegible] commit gross evil. We repeat this can happen in a non-fraternity group just as quickly as in a fraternity.

It is well to remember that the greater part of the social life [illegible] lege centers about the fraternity [illegible] ternity activities are social [illegible] As a matter of fact, the only excuse for the existence of fraternities at [illegible] is that they do provide a healthy outlet for the expression of the social nature of the students.

No one should join a fraternity [illegible] cause that particular house boasts many campus honors. Campus honors may mean little; for instance, [illegible] societies could just as well be done away with as not, and so membership in such organizations has little value.

No one should join a fraternity [illegible] til he knows all about that fraternity. And how can he know all about a fraternity?

Just this way:

He should get to know men in the fraternity. He should not look at a fraternity as it was five ten or years ago. The fraternity may have been a deal of a lot better in the past than it is now, or the opposite may be true. What counts is what the fraternity like now? A building does not make a fraternity; it is the men who are in it, the men who live there together and inevitably become friends.

Non-fraternity men are [illegible] skim milk of the college [illegible] Many men have not the least [illegible] to join a fraternity, some are [illegible] anti-fraternity. Because a man does not join a fraternity, does it follow that he thereby becomes an object of universal scorn and pity? Many fraternity men have a number of qualities which often distinguish them from the ordinary collegian. One does not have to search among the fraternities to find [illegible] and good friends. Leaders and good friends are found among the fraternities and they are [illegible] side of them.

Someone once classified [illegible] nity as the "school for [illegible] unfortunate members of [illegible] who consider themselves much superior to men [illegible] group may find it difficult [illegible] life, after they have left [illegible] justify their high-and-mighty [illegible] which they held of themselves [illegible] lege. A fraternity man [illegible] is usually quite repulsive [illegible] in the greater number of [illegible] are what they are because [illegible] they lack in the more [illegible] valuable sides of human [illegible]

In selecting a fraternity [illegible] fraternity group with which [illegible] ciate, it is sane to [illegible] others that group which [illegible] and fair, the group that [illegible] sense of good humor [illegible] and who can take a [illegible] smile.

List of New Students at Vermont

...continues publication of ... at Vermont

...ng Hutchinson, East Mass. (G. S.).
... Hyde, Royalton (2-
...er Ingalls, Orleans (4-
...ant Inman, New York
...ton, Riverdale, N. Y
...Reed Jackson, Milton
... Jaquith, Windsor (2-
...mond Jardine, Inverness, ... T. T.)
...ver Jenkins, Orleans
...son Jenks, Burlington
...lenness, Barton (L. S.)
...n Johnson, Island Pond ...ce)
... Edward Johnson, Fish- ... S.)
...ond Johnson, Craftsbury
...nson, Medford, Mass.
... Johnson, Springfield (4-
... Eugene Johnston, Rut- ...Med.)
... Johnstone, Morrisville
... Baird Joslin, Waitsfield ...ce)
... Kaplan, New Britain, ...S.)
... Felix Kearney, East Nor- (Comm.)
...abeth Keeler, Milton (2-
...ard Kelleher, Montpelier
...lish Kew, Waitsfield
...miah Kew, Waitsfield
... Kenloch, Springfield, ...ics)
... Russell Kinsman, North ...cial Science)
...sta Kobel, Port Henry,
...mer, Winthrop, Mass.
...an Lander, Barre (2-
... Lane, Barre (L. S.)
...est Lanou, Burlington
...orie Lawrence, Boston,
...nes Leddy, Burlington ...)
... Leland, South Hadley Falls, ...ne Ec.)
... Levin, Burlington (Pre- ...)
... Jackson Libby, Richmond ...E. E.)
... Alberta Lindsay, Mont- ...S.)
...man, Burlington (Social ...)
...zabeth Locke, White River ...4-year T. T.)
... Renfrew Lowell, Fitch- ...(Chem.)
...affee Lunna, Newport Cen-
...rson Lutman, Burlington
...Andrew Lyford, Wilder (4-
... Lyman, Hinesburg (4-
... McCrea, Burlington
...dwards McCuin, Highgate ...mm.)
...ph McGowan, Burlington
... Michael McGrath, Adams, ...)
...seph McGrath, Adams, ...S.)
... Machanic, Burlington
... McKenzie, Burlington
... James McKenzie, Burling-
... Whiting MacLeod, Paw-
... Mary McNall, Burlington
...Louisa Magee, Watertown,
...Richards Magune, Worces- ...(L. S.)
...ans Marchacos, Burling-
... Alice Marsh, West Rut
... Alfred Martin, Rutland
... Martin, Plainfield (4
... Mayo, Barre (2-year
... Mazel, Burlington
... Merrihew, Burlington
...Maurice Michelman, Green- ...(Comm.)
...ward Miller, Vernon
...Jacques Millet, Pittsfield,
... Mintzer, Burlington (Pre-
... Monte, Montpelier

Jackson Sorne Morgan, Burlington (C. E.)
Marguerite Wall Morgan, New York City (Social Science)
Daniel John Moriarty, Waitsfield (Pre-Med.)
Claribel Reed Morris, Burlington (Social Science)
Stanley Frederick Morris, Brooklyn N. Y. (Pre-Med.)
John Calvin Morrison, Melrose Highlands, Mass. (C. E.)
Paul Knight Morrison, Jr., Barnet (Pre-Med.)
Earle Carleton Morse, Jr., Worcester, Mass. (Social Science)
Florence Elizabeth Morse, Framingham, Mass. (Social Science)
Shirley Christine Morse, Morrisville (L. S.)
Bernard Joseph Mulcahy, Barre (Pre-Med.)
Adna Hutchins Mulliken, Wells River (M. E.)
Ruth Mary Mullin, Proctor (L. S.)
Dorothy Elizabeth Murphy, Burlington (L. S.)
James Ivor Murray, Bellows Falls (G. S.)
Richard Rush Murray, New York City (E. E.)
Norman Higbee Myers, Burlington (Social Science)
Carolyn Ruth Nichols, McIndoe Falls (2-year T. T.)
Georgia Jessie Nichols, Danby (4-year T. T.)
Harry Marshall Norris, Burlington (E. E.)
Kathleen Nina Norton, Vergennes (Comm.)
Katherine Margaret Nowland, South Burlington
Richard Howard O'Connor, Burlington (Pre-Med.)
Robert Werntz Ogle, Annapolis, Md. (Social Science)
Frances Louise Osgood, Saxtons River (Home Ec.)
Carl Grady Otis, Vergennes (Pre-Med.)
Franklyn Guy Paris, Burlington (E. E.)
Martin Holmes Parker, Windsor (C. E.)
Ellen Annie Pearl, Grand Isle (Social Science)
Lucile Minnie Pelsue, Belmont (2-year T. T.)
Myer Perelman, Burlington (Pre-Med.)
Emmaline Lillian Perrault, St. Albans (G. S.)
Lennie L. Perry, St. Albans (2-year T. T.)
Greta A. Peterson, Worcester (L. S.)
John Edgar Pierce, Manchester (C. E.)
Samuel Pierce, Jr., Roselle Park, N. J. (Comm.)
Addison Cramton Pond, Richford (Comm.)
Samuel Burnham Pond, Rutland (Pre-Med.)
Max Leon Powell, Jr., Burlington (Comm.)
Platt Rugar Powell, Milton (C. E.)
Richard Powell, Island Pond (Comm.)
Eugenia Stella Powers, Lower Waterford (4-year T. T.)
Eulalie Julia Powers, Lower Waterford (4-year T. T.)
Wilson Newton Pratt, Springfield (Chem.)
Ruth Elizabeth Prindle, Charlotte (4-year T. T.)
Velma Adeline Purinton, Lincoln (Home Ec.)
Daisy May Putnam, Springfield (4-year T. T.)
Philip Reynolds Ransom, Castleton (Med.)
Ruth Mary Reynolds, St Johnsbury (Cl.)
Flavia Lucile Richardson, Old Town, Me.
Kendrick Hubbard Richmond, Orleans (G. S.)
Glenn Orson Ricker, Burlington (E. E.)
Joseph Risman, Lynn, Mass. (G. S.)
Helen Della Roberts, Burlington (Home Ec.)
Leon Robinson, Lynn, Mass. (G. S.)
Norman Case Robinson, Burlington (C. E.)
Helen Rockwell, Proctor (Social Science)
Edith Rogers, Fair Haven, Mass. (Social Science)
Arnold Alexander Ross, St. Albans (L. S.)
Winfred Alban Ross, St. Albans (G. S.)
Bernard Chester Rubino, Baldwinville, Mass. (G. S.)

Ralph Herbert Russell, East Hadd... (Comm. Science)
Jesse Albert Rust, Jr., Burlington (Pre-Med.)
... Ryan, Vergennes (Sec.)
William Joseph Ryan, Montpelier (...)
Edward George Saba, Willimantic, Conn. (C. E.)
... Sacret, Burlington (L. S.)
Vance Hyacinthe Santor, Grand Isle (2-year T. T.)
Theodore Dearborn Sargent, Chelsea (4-year T. T.)
Rose Alma Sausville, Bennington (...)
Alice Van Sawyer, Seattle, Wash. (Social Science)
... Schmidt, Burlington (2-year T. T.)
... Walker Scoburia, Brooklyn N. Y. (C. S.)
... Scott, Englewood, N. J. (...)
... Allene Scott, Westboro, Mass. (2-year T. T.)
... Seymour, Sedalia, Burlington, (Sec.)
Olga Mae Searles, St. Johnsbury (Sec.)
Herbert Joseph Selib, Jamaica Plain, Mass. (Comm.)
Samuel Raymond Shattle, Winooski (E. E.)
Catharine Jean Shaw, South Peacham (L. S.)
Wilson Leon Shippee, West Dover (C. E.)
Hyman Silverstein, Brookline, Mass. (G. S.)
Catherine Dorothy Simpson, Barre (2-year T. T.)
Genevieve Elizabeth Smith, Essex Junction (4-year T. T.)
James Daniel Smith, Dedham, Mass. (Comm.)
Kenneth Bemis Smith, Southington, Conn. (Comm.)
Lilvan Frances Somers, Fort Ethan Allen (Social Science)
Herbert Joseph Soule, Jr., East Fairfield (Comm.)
A. Fern Souther, Westfield (2-year T. T.)
Edward Charles Sowka, New Britain, Conn. (Social Science)
Kenneth David Spaulding, Newport (Comm.)
Frederick Harold Spear, Burlington (M. E.)
Alden Joseph Spicer, Essex Junction (4-year T. T.)
Alice Marguerite Stearns, Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Caroline Priscilla Stearns, Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Mary Cora Stearns, Rutland (Comm.)
Ruth Ellen Steele, Northfield Falls (2-year T. T.)
Beulah Viola Steen, Bennington (L. S.)
William Paul Stetson, New Haven, Conn. (G. S.)
Elinor Ellen Stevens, Essex Junction (Social Science)
Norma Derway Stevens, Burlington (Home Ec.)
Robert Wallace Stewart, Brookline, Mass. (Social Science)
Clara Margaret Stone, Northfield (2-year T. T.)
Henry Grinnell Stone, Essex Junction (C. E.)
Esther Winifred Stott, Island Pond (Home Ec.)
William Richard Suitor, Barre (4-year T. T.)
Edmund Quincy Sylvester, II, Hanover, Mass. (Eng.)
Ruth Barstow Tarleton, Brooklyn, N. Y. (L. S.)
Christopher Marlowe Terrien, Burlington (Pre-Med.)
Dorothy Cynthia Thomas, Jeffersonville (Home Ec.)
Donald Joseph Tobin, Fair Haven, Mass. (G. S.)
Milo Rockwood Toaf, East Highgate (Comm.)
Laura Wooster Tracy, Shelburne (L. S.)

Try a PHILCO RADIO in your room.
Isham News Shop
102A Church Street

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits, Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

HAVE YOUR HATS CLEANED AND YOUR SHOES DYED ANY COLOR at the U. V. M. Shoe Shine Parlor
All Work Guaranteed

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
$1.25 Special $1.25
SHAMPOO and FINGER WAVE
3 Center St. Phone 538

V U. V. M. STUDENTS V
Make this store your downtown headquarters for Loose-Leaf Supplies, Stationery, Fountain Pens, Art Materials, etc.
McAULIFFE'S
Church & College Sts.
Phone 629

Melvina Wilder Tugnakis, Springfield (2-year T. T.)
Shirley Mae Tripp, Springfield (4-year T. T.)
Ursula Tully, Fitchburg, Mass. (Sec.)
Nanette Elsa Unger, Palisade, N. J. (L. S.)
Don Fenn VanAntwerp, Montclair, N. J. (M. E.)
Robert Tyson VanDyke, Albany, N. Y. (C. E.)
Mildred Pierce Vosburgh, South Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Marion Elizabeth Waite, Shoreham (L. S.)
Eleanor Victoria Walker, Underhill Center (Sec.)
Mary Jeannette Walker, New York City (Home Ec.)
Mary Walker, Chelsea (2-year T. T.)
Frank Orson Walter, Burlington (C. E.)
Leona Martha Warren, Morrisville (Home Ec.)
Harold Isidore Wasserman, Burlington (C. E.)
William Mansfield Waterman, Vergennes (C. E.)
Alden Webster, Danville (Ag.)
Frederick Edward Wegner, Plainville, Conn. (C. E.)
Robert Weissman, Newark, N. J. (G. S.)
Margaret Madeline Wellinger, Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Nathaniel Oakes Wells, Malden, Mass. (C. E.)
Andrew Stanley Wesoly, New Britain, Conn. (G. S.)
Jean Pearson Westmoreland, Boston (L. S.)
Harmon Parker Wetherbee, Burlington (Pre-Med.)
Hetty Erdine Wetherell, Jeffersonville (2-year T. T.)
Doris Althea White, Burlington (4-year T. T.)
Paul Maurice White, Boston, Mass. (Social Science)
Barbara Gage Whitney, Springfield, Mass. (Cl.)
Donald Clinton Whitney, Burlington (E. E.)
Geneva Edith Wilcox, Randolph Center (Home Ec.)
Harriet Constance Willard, Hartford, Conn. (Social Science)
Paul Brookings Williams, Montpelier (Comm.)
Raymond Maynard Williams, Fair Haven (E. E.)
Carolyn Louise Williamson, New London, Conn. (Cl.)
Evelyn Haley Wilson, Bethel (Sec.)
Hugh Chase Wilson, Windsor (Cl.)
Dale Howard Winters, Franklin, Mass. (G. S.)
Howard Bernard Wolinsky, West Rutland (Cl.)
Ruth Corwin Wood, Orange, N. J. (Sec.)
John Hamilton Woodruff, Jr., Barre (G. S.)
Mary Elizabeth Woodward, Rocky Hill, Conn. (Home Ec.)
Donald Clark Worcester, Manchester, N. H. (Social Science)
Elaine Winnifred Yeuell, Wakefield, Mass. (Cl.)
Virginia Ida Yeuell, Wakefield, Mass. (Cl.)
Mary Joyce Young, Vergennes (Cl.)

Have you heard about the absent minded student who took notes on the commencement lecture? —Arizona Kitty Kat.

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Elizabeth Cury passed cheroots at the fraternity meeting Monday night announcing her engagement to Porter Greene, '29.

PI BETA PHI

The actives gave a tea in honor of Miss Patterson and Miss Stevens, October 7, at 247 Pearl Street.

Esther Stanley, '27, attended the meeting Monday night.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The Trident degree was conferred on Crystal Lawes, '32, Esther Mandigo, '32 and Laura Johnson '33 October 8 at the rooms on 328 Pearl Street.

The patrons entertained the chapter at supper at the rooms Wednesday night.

Iva Harris, '30, is spending the week in town.

The active chapter will hold a public bridge October 18, from 2:00 to 5:00 p.m., at the Athena Club rooms.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Mrs. Chester Way entertained the alumnae and actives Friday afternoon at her home on Overlook Park.

The actives had a bridge party Thursday night at the rooms on College Street.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Helen Peabody, '30, visited in Burlington Wednesday.

SIGMA GAMMA

Lucene Little, '29, was a week-end visitor from Hyde Park last week.

KAPPA DELTA

The actives held a tea for their patronesses Thursday afternoon from 4:00 to 6:00, at the Athena Club rooms.

EPSILON SIGMA

Sylvia McKinney and Ruth White have returned for further study.

Mazie Higgins is doing special work in the Art Department this year.

Old Lady: The goblins will get you if you don't watch out.

Little Boy: They will like hell. My brother is a Deke and I'm going to pledge where he is.

We understand that there is going to be put forth soon a college picture in which the hero is a pole-vaulter. I suppose that the theme song will be, "I've Got a Feeling I'm Falling."

A student clothed in a bath robe was expelled from a classroom at M. I. T.

SUNDAY DINNER
Chicken or Turkey
$1.00
THE ALPS CAFE
The Cafe of Today's Best

ATHLETIC OUTFITTERS for U. V. M.
Distributors for Draper-Maynard, A. G. Spalding Bros. and Louisville Slugger Bats
Special Prices to Fraternities and Societies
Patten, Irwin & White, Inc.
191 Bank Street Burlington, Vt.

Recommended by
The English Department of
University of Vermont
WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE
The Best Abridged Dictionary because it is based upon WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL — The "Supreme Authority". Here is a companion for your hours of reading and study that will prove its real value every time you consult it. A wealth of ready information on words, persons, places, is instantly yours. 106,000 words and phrases with definitions, etymologies, pronunciations, and use in its 1,256 pages. 1,700 illustrations. Includes dictionaries of biography and geography and other features.

G. & C. MERRIAM CO. Springfield, Mass.

VARSITY DEBATERS TO VIE WITH BATES FIRST

Experienced Team Composed of Veteran Material Will Encounter Maine Men on Chain Store Topic

MORTAR BOARD GIVES PICNIC ON LAKE SHORE

(Continued from page 1)

CLASSES WILL COMPETE IN CANE RUSH TOMORROW

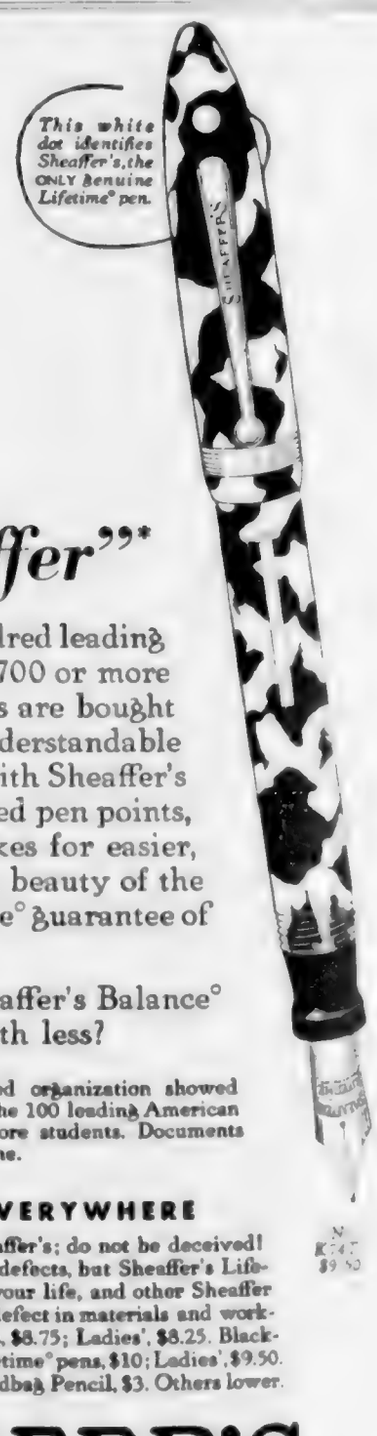
(Continued from page 1)

RE-VERSED VERSES

THE STATE CONVENTION

When the Waters Poured

Lost Love



The Gay Nineties

RAND'S HOME LUNCH
64 COLCHESTER AVE.

WILLARD TOURIST INN
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald

In the line of Necessary Student Supplies such as
TEXTBOOKS, CLASS EQUIPMENT
NOTEBOOKS, PENS, PENCILS, INK have you included
DESK BLOTTERS, WASTE-PAPER
BASKET, STUDY LAMP, BOOK-ENDS and a
GREEN AND GOLD BLANKET?
These are specialties of
THE UNIVERSITY STORE

The College World has "gone Sheaffer"*

No. HTSC. Marine Green. $4.00

SAFETY SKRIP, SUCCESSOR TO INK. SKRIP-FILLED, 50c to $10. Carry Safety Skrip in your lunchbox and to classes. It's leak-proof practically unbreakable. Saves furniture, clothing, rugs, keeps the fluid fresh, makes all pens write better.

The plain fact is that among the hundred leading American colleges, each having 1,700 or more students registered, more Sheaffer's are bought than any other make. That's understandable enough, once you're acquainted with Sheaffer's four advantages: (1) individualized pen points, (2) the Balance° design that makes for easier, speedier writing, (3) the modern beauty of the Balance° contour, (4) the Lifetime° guarantee of satisfactory service.

Since all that comes with Sheaffer's Balance° Lifetimes°, why be content with less?

*A recent survey made by a disinterested organization showed Sheaffer's first in fountain pen sales among the 100 leading American colleges having registration of 1,700 or more students. Documents covering this survey are available to anyone.

AT BETTER STORES EVERYWHERE

The ONLY genuine Lifetime° pen is Sheaffer's; do not be deceived! All fountain pens are guaranteed against defects, but Sheaffer's Lifetime° is guaranteed unconditionally for your life, and other Sheaffer products are forever guaranteed against defect in materials and workmanship. Green or Black Lifetime° pens, $8.75; Ladies', $8.25. Black-and-Pearl DeLuxe and Marine Green Lifetime° pens, $10; Ladies', $9.50. Petite Lifetime° pens, $7 up. Golf or Handbag Pencil, $3. Others lower.

SHEAFFER'S
PENS·PENCILS·DESK SETS·SKRIP
W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY, PORT MADISON, IOWA, U.S.A.
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. ©W. A. S. P. Co., 1930

A Full Line of Sheaffer Pens and Pencils on display at
F. J. Preston & Son, Inc.
JEWELERS 17 Upper Church St.
Sheaffer's Skrip Also

SPORTING NEWS

LINE-UPS TOMORROW

Vermont			Coast Guard Academy
Name	Pos.	No.	Name	Pos.	No.
Tilley	l.e.	33	Madacey	l.e.	52
Park	l.t.	37	Jordan	l.t.	36
H Cohen	l.g.	46	Halstead	l.g.	37
Davis	c.	36	Stubbs	c.	53
Farmer	r.g.	45	Unger	r.g.	47
Aronson	r.t.	35	Zittel	r.t.	44
Durfey	r.e.	29	Rea	r.e.	35
Heaton	l.h.b.	23	Burns	l.h.b.	30
Winant	q.b.	22	Harding	q.b.	32
T Collins	f.b.	30	David	f.b.	40
Jay	r.h.b.	20	Forney	r.h.b.	42

Vermont—Dorey, b. (21); Segal, e. (24); Allerton, e. (25); Wadsworth, b. (26); Bedell, e. (27); Thorne, e. (28); Rugg, e. (31); Gardner, b. (32); Blakely, g. (38); M. Cohen, t. (39); Donaldson, g. (40); G. Collins, g. (41); Wood, g. (42); Maynes, g. (43).

Coast Guard—McCaffery, b. (31); Montgomery, line (33); Walsh, b. (34). Howe, line (38); Burnham, b. (39); Byrne, line (41); Suydum, line (43); Herbert, line (45); Columbus, line (46); Lynch, b. (48); Stockstill, b. (49); Scholl, line (50); Kuhnemund, b. (51); Tydlacka, line (54); Fish, line (55); Bartlett, line (56).

GAME STARTS AT 2.30 P.M.

Vermont To Tackle Sailors

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] first downs, fifteen being made against U. V. M. and fourteen against the Guardsmen. The Dunn [illegible] made two first downs while the New Londoners were repaid for their efforts with nary a one. Harvard tried four forwards, made one and had one intercepted, while Vermont tried two and completed one. On the question of laterals, Harvard tried two and perfected one while the Guardsmen tried and completed five, giving the Crimson in the strongest department of their attack and it is going a feat to beat John Harvard at his own game.

In the second game of the double header at the Stadium the Crimson gridders tried six passes and completed one for a touchdown. The Guardsmen tried four and made one score. As for laterals, it was all on the Cambridge side of the ledger. Judging from such past records it would seem that when the final gun sounds in the contest tomorrow U. V. M. will have chalked up its first triumph of the season.

Same Line-up

Both teams will show some of Pop Warner's stuff, with the Catamounts using a single wing and the Guardsmen a double wing. Little is known concerning the caliber of the opposition yet the Guardsmen perennially field teams that are packed with fight and never give up even with insurmountable score to overcome. Seven Vermont letter men started against Harvard and from all indications these same faces will be seen in action against the Coast Guard. Capt. Leo Segal will probably be unable to get into action against the service men as injuries received in the Amherst game still persist. His place will be taken by Hank Durfey, who in his baptism at the Stadium gave the 25,000 spectators a thrill when he recovered a bad pass and gave the Catamounts their only scoring chance. However, it all went for naught as the Catamounts focused their attack on the center of the line which, not being an especially vulnerable spot in the Harvard forward wall, did not yield.

Tom Collins will again take his post at fullback, where he continues to be the spark of the ball carriers. Orson Jay, too light for heavy duty, holds out as right half and once by the line of scrimmage will gain plenty of yardage for Vermont. Sole responsibility rests on the broad shoulders of the husky linesmen if any measurable distance is to be gained. Bill Heaton, a tartar on defense and one who should get more notice from the crowd, completes the quartet.

On the forward line, H. Cohen, Farmer, Aronson and Hank Durfey are the new comers, the two former having seen action on the frosh team. The line is built latitudinally, but, as the Boston Herald says, "this is not conducive to Pavlowa gracefulness." Buzz Collins, a victim of an injury received in scrimmage, may be seen at his old place on the line where he cavorted last fall.

FRESHMAN GRIDSTERS TO MEET VT. ACADEMY

Kittens Open Season Tomorrow at Saxtons River—Weakness in Line May Hinder Good Backfield—Strong Opposition Expected

Tomorrow the Vermont freshmen with perhaps the most unique team in a decade, will launch their attack against the powerful Vermont Academy squad at Saxtons River.

The Kittens have undoubtedly a very fine backfield but the line looks no better than the very sad 1929 forward wall. Jack Morgan, former member of the eleven at Burlington High School, all-scholastic champs last year, looks very good at left tackle while Si Powell, Culver Academy linesman, gives promise at right tackle. The rest of the line is much below par with the possible exception of Paul White, stocky center, who at present is recovering from a minor injury.

The backs composed of Sawka, Saba and Braskie, who have worked together as a unit last year on the Vermont Academy team, will contribute a remarkable offensive aided by either Ken Smith or Sam Bartow. The ends are very light, with tipping the scales over 150 and against the competition the frosh meet this season this fact proves a constant danger to Coaches Tully and Clark and their men.

Vermont Academy blazoned its way to a brilliant start of the season by overwhelming St. Michael's Junior Varsity 33 to 2, employing four versatile teams in the process.

The frosh will probably line-up as follows: Howard, left end; Morgan, left tackle; Ghiliani or Wagner, left guard; White, center; Cross or Cochran, right guard; Powell, right tackle; Dente, right end; Smith or Bartow, quarterback; Sawka, left halfback; Braskie, right halfback; Saba, full back.

RIFLE TEAM EXPECTS TO OPEN SEASON SOON

In a few weeks the Military Department expects to start the rifle team with a few matches this fall.

Those men who were on last year's varsity team will receive watch charms for their past services. The team plans to make a trip this fall to Montreal where the Vermonters will meet McGill University. A little later a trip to Norwich will be made when the Vermont sharpshooters will compete with the Norwich University team. As yet no other matches have been planned.

Among last year's lettermen who are expected back this season are: L. R. Dunham, '33; W. C. Perry '33, L. M. Preedom, '33, and H. J. Sheldon, '33. All varsity men are urged by manager Roller, '31, to report for practice as soon as possible.

MURPHY CAPTURES CUP IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Defeats Cummings in Finals 4 and 2 and Becomes College Champion

L. B. Murphy by virtue of his 4 to 2 victory over Charley Cummings in the final round won the University of Vermont golf championship and the silver cup donated by the Physical Education department. Murphy, a sophomore, hails from Norwich, Connecticut where he was the runner up in several caddy tournaments at the Norwich Country Club. Murphy who is a member of Phi Mu Delta fraternity is also out for track.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sporting Editor—

Tomorrow the 1930 Catamount eleven will make its first appearance before the home fans. That the team is on the upward climb appears evident. As an encouragement to both the new coach and the players, the Vermont student body should be present at the game in full attendance and with an abundance of cheers. Speaking in purely psychological terms cheering may be a big factor in winning a game. So let's make some noise!

After observing both the Vermont and the Coast Guard Academy teams play against Harvard last Saturday, we unhesitatingly feel that the Green Mountain boys made a much better showing than the sailors, and judging from this performance the Catamounts ought to win quite neatly tomorrow, especially since the game is on the home ground before the home folks. Incidentally we would like to hear the Old Mill bell once more.

Harvard made a total of 74 points in Saturday's double header.

The Harvard A. A. News was very generous to U. V. M. in a write-up for the Vermont game issue and recognized the hopes of Vermonters to have once more a powerful football team as in the days of Gooch and Beck, less than a decade ago. The heading of the article read, "Vermont Eleven Seeks Former Place in Sun."

It is evident that the Crimson overhead game Saturday did not function as well as expected. In fact, the highly touted Wood-to-Harding combination failed to do any damage at all. The Vermont right end and tackle evidently had Harding bottled at the line of scrimmage and delayed his getting down the field.

Some of Vermont's opponents in last Saturday's games:

Boston 12, New Hampshire 12
Columbia 25, Union 0
Rensselaer 18, Long Island 0
Springfield 33, Colby 0
Williams 26, Middlebury 0

RIDING CLASSES BEING HELD TWICE A WEEK

Riding classes which are conducted by the Physical Education department started Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Classes will be held every Monday and Wednesday afternoon at this hour under the supervision of Roy Worrell, '31. The riding will start from Perkins' stable and the fee will be ten dollars per month.

ODDS AND ENDS

Phi: How were your grades last quarter?

Kap: Jules Verne.

Phi: How's that?

Kap: Twenty thousand leagues under the "C."—Ohio State Sun Dial

Mary: What did you pay the preacher?

Teddy: He fined me five dollars.—Carnegie Tech. Puppet

"Is this a first class restaurant?"

"Yes, but if you sit over there in that dark corner, we'll serve you."—Northwestern Purple Parrot

He: I heard you suffered a fall in equitation class this morning.

She: Well, you see I'm not attached to horses.—Arizona Kitty-Kat

"No fur," said the hunter as the mink stole the bait.—Penn State Froth

INTER-FRAT FOOTBALL SCHEDULE COMPLETED

First Game on Monday Between Sigma Phi and Tau Ep—Championship to be Decided Nov. 3

Touch football makes its annual advent this fall on the Vermont campus with the Sigma Phi-Tau Kpsilon Phi game scheduled for Monday, October 13. The first games will be played on the back campus and the final on Centennial field November 3.

Last fall touch football was received very favorably here at U. V. M. and Directors James Prentice and Archie Post declare that it was the most popular of the intramural sports. The season culminated with a battle between the Sigma Phis and the Kappa Sigs, the latter winning 24 to 18 in a close and exciting game.

The entrance fee is a replica of last years charge, i.e., one dollar per fraternity payable in advance. In the following issue of the Cynic the rules revised from last year will be printed. Added interest in touch football appears in the all-campus team chosen by the officials. The team last year was composed of Chadwick and Durfey from Kappa Sigma, Bedell and Aiken of Sigma Nu, Tupper of Sigma Phi, Mercier of S. A. E. and Grant of Phi Delta Theta.

TRACKSTERS PREPARING FOR FALL COMPETITION

Prospects for a successful cross country season seem to be very bright with the last year's team intact and the addition of several strong candidates from the frosh team.

Coach "Archie" Post is pleased with the showing of the varsity to date but is less optomistic concerning the frosh harriers who are developing rather slowly due mainly to lack of experience. With the Amherst meet on October 23 in view, Coach Post is giving his charges more intensive work climaxed by a 4 to 6 mile run once a week. He also plans to have the frosh tracksters run over the regular course from now on, to get in shape for their first meet, scheduled with Saranac Lake High School on October 18.

Instead of the annual State triangular meet for both varsity and frosh, dual meets with Middlebury and Norwich will be substituted.

Captain Everett Wilder, '32, and Russ Colburn, '33, both reported for work this past week bringing the squad up to its full strength.

The other men who are working out daily are: Herbert Leach, '32, Charles Park, '32, Hewitt Varney, '32, Frank Buchi, '32, Frank Stark, '32, Bert Joslyn, '31, Al Young, '33, Ralph Hadley, '33, Roy Brooks, '33, Lee Dunham, '33.

THE FORUM

Not So Bad

Recent revelations in the Harvard Crimson bring out the fact that 57 per cent of the Radcliffe graduates who marry, take Harvard men for their husbands. However this is not as bad as it might be, as 95 per cent of the Radcliffe graduates do not marry at all.

Little's Gentle Slam

Something needs a complete and fearless disinfection and airing when more than one-third of the students entering as freshmen in our colleges "fail to return at the beginning of the sophomore year," warns Dr. Clarence Cook Little, formerly president of both the Universities of Maine and Michigan, in The Awakening College, recently published by W. W. Norton, Inc.

In this same tempo the former college president rams his barbs into a number rather obvious shortcomings of the modern university. He discovers these weaknesses, and attempts to find a remedy therefor. A glance at the table of contents will give one an idea of Little's complaints. Such subjects as the dean's office, fraternities, sex and liquor, co-education, overtraining, pseudo-professional athletics and religion in colleges open the book.

Taking up his chapter on fraternities, "the greatest source of irritation in the whole situation is the conflict between the unfulfilled pretensions of the fraternities: the social and intellectual smugness of their members, the puniness of their actual contributions and the unreality of their ideals."

In this manner the venerable author Little goes on to show how modern colleges and bring about reality "the awakening college" which he prophetically paints in the last chapter of his otherwise book of depressing, but eye opening, criticism.—B. U. News.

A Cut Across the Credits

The hatchets of the modern reform party which is busy breaking down the barriers between the old mutally exclusive collegiate departments, and so creating new units of a scope heretofore undreamed of, have achieved further triumphs with the beginning of the Fall term.

At Colgate University a new course of study cuts across all the familiar subjects and credits of the old régime. In the first two years, or junior college, five survey courses in the physical, the biological and the social sciences, the fine arts, philosophy and religion, are expected to give the student "a perspective of the universe in which he lives, and of the manner in which man has learned to utilize nature to serve his needs."

In the last two years, or senior college, all students will be expected to carry on independent study under the honors or tutorial plan.

"The aim of the college student," said Dr. Clarence Howe Thurber, dean of the faculty and education program, "should be to attain mastery of his field of concentration, not to pile up so many credits through attendance on courses. At the completion of his honors work each student will be given a comprehensive examination covering his field. The honors plan of instruction integrates related fields of study, so students are not turned out into the world with 'split and partial minds' as a result of having heterogeneously dipped into a great variety of courses in order to accumulate speeded up

Freshman Revelations

Ability to concentrate is not a quality successfully developed by the ordinary high school and elementary school training, if replies to a questionnaire at the Pennsylvania State College represent a general situation. There freshman students in the school of education, who, from the fact of their electing that course would seem likely to have a greater inclination for study than those in other departments, stated as their chief difficulty with college work their lack of concentration.

Lack of knowledge of how to study, how to budget working time, and how to choose among the subjects of the college curriculum were among the other problems for which they were unprepared.

A Minimum of Stairways

A school so designed that no child will ever have to climb more than one flight of stairs is the contribution to the mechanics of education made in the new teacher training building to be opened this Fall at the University of Kentucky.

Welding Languages

At the University of Iowa all the language departments—Greek and Latin, French and Spanish, German and English—have been welded into a single School of Letters, the first ever organized in the country. Counseling with each other and keeping both their common life and specialized interests in the foreground, they will seek permanent gains by gradual advances.

Almost three times the amount of the public school bill is spent on tobacco, candy, soft drinks and amusements. Cigars, cigarettes and other forms of smoking tobacco purchased one year were alone equal to almost 90 per cent of the total school cost.

Before their marriage he nectar and now elixer.

The Scribe

By Poo Tsimp

This column went down to Cambridge Saturday to see the much vaunted Harvard attack in action and, after conceding great potentialities to Horween's outfit, was more than encouraged by the stalwart defense put up by the Catamounts against such overwhelming odds. In the past the impression of holding the score down has seemed the main factor, but Saturday, particularly in the second and fourth quarters, the Green and Gold were continually on the offensive. The outfit representing the Naval Station seemed very shabby by contrast.

Spice was added to the waning afternoon with the addition of the many Legionnaires. One in particular, who, in the common parlance, was boiled, frozen, stewed and mutfled, executed a reeling dance on top of the stadium, eluding the campus cops with studied ease. He seemed to have learned this trick from Harry Wood, whose broken-field running was the outstanding feature of the day. Winant and Jay declare that little Abbie looks like Hip Davis in comparison.

"Byrd at the South Pole" will be presented at the Majestic Theater, Sunday, October 19, for the benefit of the Mary Fletcher Hospital. The two shows will take place at 2.30 and 4 p.m. Tickets are on sale at the University Book Store.

ANNOUNCE SUCCESSFUL MUSICAL CANDIDATES

[illegible] meeting in the Mansfield [illegible] Wednesday [illegible] Mary Wright [illegible] Women's Glee Club [illegible] Glee Club [illegible] announced [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 — BURLINGTON, VERMONT, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1930 — NUMBER 7

Sophomores Drown Out Freshmen in Water Fight But Lose to Cane Rush

Classes Each Win One in Boulder Week Competitions—Senior Society Supervises Four Major Events Centering About First Home Game

Freshmen and sophomores broke even in the last two class struggles which formed a part of the Boulder Week exercises when the freshmen, after losing the water fight, revenged themselves by taking the cane rush All activities centered about the opening home game of the season.

Boulder Week started off with a big splash Wednesday afternoon when a stalwart team of sophomores triumped over the freshman team in four straight heats of the annual water fight between the two classes.

For a time it looked as if the frosh would have an easy time, for the sophomore team was slow in forming on the field south of the gymnasium, where the battle took place, but finally enough sophs arrived and the teams of eight men each lined up on opposite sides of the field each team holding a section of hose. The bell rang and the water began to flow. At the crack of the gun, each team aimed a full stream of water at its rivals.

The sophs took better aim and three times knocked their opponents off their feet. The last bout was a thriller and the outcome was undecided until at the last minute, the steady

(Continued on page 4)

TRIO FROM MUSIC DEPT. TO APPEAR ON PROGRAM

Faculty Recital Will Feature Madame Bradish and Misses deVolt and Marston in Varied Classic Program

...abeth Bradish, dra... Miss Charlotte deVolt, ... Miss Marion Marston, ... department of music, ... on the program of ... recital to be presented at ... evening, October ... University Gymnasium.

... broadcast by radio ... the University in pre... and recitals. This is ..., however, that they have ... same program.

... follows:

... Minor, ...Handel
... poco lento

... (Tempo di giga)
Miss DEVOLT
... (Vivace) .....Scarlatto
..... Leo
... No. 2 .....Chopin
...Locilly-MacDowell
Miss MARSTON
... Colia .....Wilson
... Gruzia .....Mednikoff
... Spring .....Rogers
... gavotte from "Aida"....Verdi
Mrs. BRADISH
..... Schubert
.....Albeniz
... No. 1.....Nachèz
Miss DEVOLT
... from Classic Symphony Prokofieff
... Spell .....Ireland
.....Debussy
Miss MARSTON
.....Szulc
... Soleil .....Georges
.....Wagner
... Mätton Mëiner Locken Wolf
... g .....Schubert
Mrs. BRADISH

TWO PRIZES OFFERED FOR ORIGINAL ESSAYS

Prize awards totalling $500 are offered by the department of Political Science for original student essays on the subject of "International Arbitration" and "Free Government." The prizes offered are the Robert D. Benedict and the Philo Sherman Bennett.

The Benedict essay prize was given by Robert D. Benedict of the class of 1848, who gave to the University the sum of three hundred dollars, the income of which is offered as a prize yearly to the member of the senior class presenting the best essay on the subject of International Arbitration. Since no awards have been made for several years, the prize will amount

(Continued on page 4)

Congregational Church Preference Predominates Among New Students

...ional denominational pref... ...minates among Vermont ... is revealed by a survey ... completed by the Vermont ... Association.

... who prefer this faith ... are church members and ... forty-eight do not ... faith in that denomi...

... Episcopalians are tied ... Catholics for second place ... each. Fifty-nine Cath... members and ten non... forty Methodists are ... twenty-nine non-mem... in the list are the Epis... twenty-seven church ... fifteen non-members.

... are the Jewish of whom ... five in the entering ... Baptists have ten church ... nine non-members en... ... Other church pref... are: Presbyterian, ten ... Christian Scientist, two ... one member and one ... Universalist, one mem... non-members; Quakers, ... one freshman was ... about church preference.

One stated "New Church" as his preference. Four gave merely Protestant as their religion One preferred Christianity to all others while eight expressed no religious preference.

...LD THE REST - NOW
...Y THE BEST
CARL'S DINETTE
...pper Church Street
...found in a new location

Y. W. C. A. SECURES 150 IN MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

As a result of the Y. W. C. A. membership campaign conducted October 7, 8, and 9 in the Y room, one hundred and fifty new women have joined the organization. The Y cabinet promises a long list of activities for this year.

Meetings of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet will be held this year at 8.15 p.m. on Thursday instead of Wednesday at 1.30 as in previous years. Watch for further notice for place of meeting.

DRAMATIC CLUB NAMES DATE FOR CLASS PLAYS

Dramatic Club has set November 14 as the rate for the annual class plays in competition for the cup awarded by Professor and Mrs. Dean to the class presenting the best one act play.

The official tryouts for positions on the cast will be held at 4 o'clock on Monday, October 27 in 3 North College. Justine Rogers, '31, has been elected chairman of the selection committee, Lois Harrington, '3 chairman of make-up stage setting and costuming. Dorothy Nash '31, chairman of tryouts.

The extinction of group singing, a decline in conversation, and an alarming increase in the undergraduate taste for hard liquor, is attributed by Dean Mendell of Yale to the abolition of the old-fashioned beer garden.

FRESHMAN WOMEN PLAY PRANKS ON STUDENT CAR

Four From Allen House, Deflate Tires, Tie Wheel, Glue Seats and Leave Scene

...Watson seems to be getting ahead ... A made monument of the class ... of interest his present Model ... owner a bigger the other night and ... to ... out why ... were ... there a mistake from the car down the street toward the Allen House. What they had done to the car beggars description; the tires were flat, ... tubes hung in numerous ... around the steering column, and glue being generously poured over the seats and steering wheel. It is assumed that they enjoyed the evening's fun.

LANUX, INTERNATIONAL JOURNALIST, TO SPEAK BEFORE STUDENT BODY

Brilliant Frenchman, War Correspondent and Authority on International Affairs to Deliver Carnegie Address

LECTURE TO BE FIRST IN ORDER THIS SEASON

Pierre de Lanux is coming to the University of Vermont on Tuesday, October 21, to speak that evening on "Our International Ethics." He will come under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and his talk will be the first to be delivered at the University this year by a visiting lecturer.

Brilliant Journalist

Pierre de Lanux is a brilliant young journalist. At present he is the director of the Paris Information Office of the League of Nations. In 1912, 1913, and 1914, he was a war correspondent in the Balkans.

He is a literary man too. His "Life of Henry IV," published in Paris in 1927, was hailed as one of the most brilliant biographies of the year. Other volumes of his are "Jugoslavia," "Young France and New America," and "Eveille d'une Ethique Internationale." He has translated two volumes from the English and German and has contributed to the most important magazines in the United States.

(Continued on page 4)

R. J. MAYNES TO HEAD STUDENT SENATE GROUP

Roderick J. Maynes, '31, was elected President of the Vermont Student Senate at the election held last week in the Old Mill Edward L. Winant, '32, will be vice-president Maynes and Winant received the highest number of votes from the senior and junior classes respectively Geo. E Wilder, who received next highest number of votes among the juniors, will serve as secretary-treasurer.

Other members of Student Senate elected were: Seniors: R. E. Tobin, F. S. Smith, W M. Sargent, Jr., W. S. Heaton, S. S. Corbin, G. R. Brush, Jr.; Juniors: P E. Westin, R. W Cobb, G. R. Collins, J. W. Marvin, Jr.; Sophomores: J E. Wood, D W Webster, W C. Perry The four class presidents are also members of Student Senate. They are: R W Worrell, senior; A. O. Eaton, junior; T. F. Collins, sophomore; J. S. Morgan, freshman.

All of the men elected are leaders in student life and include Boulder, Key and Serpent, and Gold Key men, prominent athletes, former class presidents, two editors of the Ariel, the ... manager and the ... manager of the Cynic, the directors of the 1931 Kake Walk and members of student societies.

MARJORIE BRACKEN TO ATTEND WOMEN'S MEET

Marjorie Bracken, '31, will represent the women's Student Union Council at the Women's Intercollegiate Student Union Conference, which will take place November 13, 14 and 15 at the New Jersey State College for Women.

Green and Gold Victorious Over Coast Guard Eleven

Vermont Wins 13 to 0 in First Home Game of Season—Heaton and Durfey Snare Winning Passes—Goals Made in Second and Fourth Quarters—Sailors Threaten Only Once

AERIAL ATTACK GAINS CONSISTENT YARDAGE

Saturday afternoon the Catamount ... opened its home season with a ... win over the United States ... Coast Guard Academy from New ... R. I. Although it was a perfect day for baseball, the temperature was far too hot for football weather, but the players seemed to be unaffected.

Both teams played rather ragged football as the résumé points to only five first downs for the Green and Gold, while the Sailors garnered but two.

The high spots of the Vermont attack were its brilliant laterals tossed by Eddie Winant, Vermont quarterback and acting captain, and they never failed when yardage was needed. It would be hard to pick out the individual stars but Tom Collins and Skippy Bedell played a beautiful game in the backfield, both offensively and defensively, while Durfey and Park shone in the line. Unger and Harding were outstanding for the opposition.

The two touchdowns came in the last few minutes of the second and fourth quarters. The first consisted of an eleven-yard pass from Wadsworth to Heaton while the second tally resulted from a beautiful heave to Hank Durfey by Winant. As in the case of the Harvard game the Green and Gold attack functioned far better in these quarters mainly because of good training and fine condition. The forward and lateral passes worked particularly fine in these sessions.

First Quarter

The Coast Guard kicked off to Collins who ran the ball back to the Vermont 40-yard line. Jay dove through tackle for four yards. Collins made three through right guard and then on the next play two more in the same place Heaton got off a beautiful forty-yard punt to Burns who was downed on the thirty-yard stripe. The Blue and White aggregation fumbled, recovered, and then punted to Winant who was downed in his tracks. Two line plays were smothered and Vermont punted to the opponents' 3 yard line where Burns fumbled and Donaldson recovered the loose ball. No gains were made at this time and the teams were contented to exchange punts with Harding of the Blue getting the best of the duel. At this juncture Orrie Jay dislocated his left shoulder and Dorey replaced him. Play was exceedingly slow and the quarter ended with the ball on the visitors 20-yard marker in their possession.

Second Quarter

On a long punt Jordan tackled Dorey who fumbled and the Tars recovered. They were held for downs and on three line plays Collins tore through for a first down. Then on a fumbled lateral the Coast Guard recovered. Winant, Dinniman and Donaldson were replaced by Wadsworth, Davis and Aronson. The Coast Guard kicked from the shadow of their goal posts. Wadsworth received and got off a beautiful 30 yard dash down the sidelines. Two line plays failed on the 8 yard line and Waddy threw a perfect pass to Bill Heaton for the tally. The kick failed, making the score Vermont 6, Coast Guard 0. The half ended with the kickoff.

Third Quarter

Bedell went in for Collins, Morse for Farmer, and Blakely for Heaton. Cohen Bedell kicked off to the Sailors' 5 yard line a perfect boot. The ball was run back to the 25 yard line. Dorey and Harding got four down around Vermont's left end. Tom Allerton broke through and tackled David for a four yard loss. Harding punted to the Vermont 48 yard line. Skippy Bedell tore off twelve for five yards and then Vermont was penalized fifteen yards for clipping. Bedell made eight yards around end and six more through center. Bedell certainly had been the running star of the game. His ability to hit the line and change his pace was easily noticed and appreciated by the Sailors. Bedell punted and the game slowed up, finally end-

(Continued on page 3)

FRESHMAN INTEREST IN DEBATING NECESSITATES LENGTHY TRYOUTS SERIES

First Tryout Allows Four to Display Their Powers Before Audience of Freshman and Varsity Orators

The first of a series of freshmen debate tryouts arranged because of the unusual interest in debating shown by the freshman men, was held in the Old Chapel last Friday with nearly all freshmen as well as several varsity debaters present. The question which was used, and which will be argued throughout the series, is, "Resolved, That the chain store is detrimental to the best interests of the public."

Ronald Bingham and Benjamin Birnbaum made up the affirmative team; the negative side was upheld by Joseph Gannon and George Burrows.

Bingham, speaking against the chain store, contended that its managers did not take enough interest in public affairs and that the independent merchant had more public interest.

Joe Gannon, first speaker for the negative, claimed that the chain stores were cleaner and used new and systematic methods and in this way service was guaranteed. He also explained that the managers were more capable of handling the people's needs, because of their training. "There was a time," he said, "when it was considered disrespectful to be seen buying goods in a chain store. But today even the best of society buy at the chain store."

Ben Birnbaum, second speaker for the affirmative, said that the chain store sold goods that were lighter in weight than those sold by the independent. The chain store now has a brand of their own which is of inferior quality. "Yes," he said, "you save a few cents but you buy inferior quality." He also stated that the chain store took the money out of Burlington and sent it elsewhere, and added that, "the poor are getting poorer while the rich are getting richer."

George Burrows was the second

(Continued on page 4)

Society Notes

KAPPA ALPHA THETA

Kappa Alpha Theta announces the pledging of Margaret L. Crane, '33, of Stamford, Conn., on Saturday, October 11. After the pledging ceremony, a luncheon was held at the Golden Pheasant Tea Room.

PI BETA PHI

Pi Beta Phi announces the pledging of Ruth J. Templeton, '33, of Irasburg, Vt., on Saturday. A supper was given for her at the Pi Phi rooms Thursday evening.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

The junior members entertained the active chapter with a supper Wednesday, October 8.

Delta Delta Delta announces the pledging of Eleanor M. Gates, '33, of Richford, Vt., Saturday, October 11.

The sorority will hold a benefit bridge at the Athena Club rooms, Saturday, October 18.

ALPHA XI DELTA

Alpha Xi Delta held a bridge party Thursday evening, October 9, at their rooms on College Street.

Natalie Owsley, Cornelia Mould, and Elizada Fiske, '30, were week-end visitors in Burlington.

SIGMA GAMMA

Florence Cochran, '30, has been spending a few days in town.

KAPPA DELTA

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Plainfield, Vt. Mrs. Thompson was formerly Mabel Pierce, ex '30.

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Vol. 45 October 14, 1920 No. 7

A CAMPAIGN IS ABOUT TO OPEN ....

PROFESSOR THOMAS TO SPEAK IN CHAPEL WED.

Evan Thomas professor emeritus of mathematics of the faculty will conduct the chapel service in the Ira Allen Chapel Wednesday. Professor Thomas was graduated from Denison University, Granville, Ohio, in 1876 with the degree of B. S. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity. He came to University of Vermont in 1892 as instructor in mathematics and became head of the department of mathematics and mechanics in 1910. He has been a minister of the Congregational Church for a number of years.

A paper the "Pedagogy of Math" has been published by him and he is considered one of the foremost mathematicians of the world.

The lightning is brilliant
But he hasn't any mind
He blunders through existence
With his headlight on behind

All students at the University of Omaha who are under eighteen years of age are locked up if found on the streets after 9:00 p.m.

Ariel Progress

A Changed Board

There have been several changes in the board as it was announced last spring. The most important is that a medic department under the direction of Woodhull S. Hall has been established. J. Edward Tracy has been appointed as managing editor in place of A. J. Morin, who did not return to school. Arthur Maislen replaces as athletic editor J. L. Levin, who resigned. P. Demase is assistant managing editor in place of C. E. Palmer, who did not return. The entire staff of the board is as follows:

Editor-in-Chief, Raymond W. Cobb, Bennington.

Managing Editor, J. Edwards Tracy, Bristol, Pa.

Assistant Managing Editors, P. Demase, Windsor; G. Stanley Flagg, Worcester, Mass.

Art Editor, Alfred A. Scharbius, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Photographic Editor, Russell J. Morse, New Rochelle, N. Y.

Humor Editor, Fred W. Householder, Jr., Burlington.

Associate Editor, James W. Marvin, E. Norwalk, Conn.

Athletic Editor, Arthur A. Maislen, Hartford, Conn.

Associate Athletic Editor, Frederick Tupper, Burlington.

Feature Editor, Paul E. Westin, Proctor.

Kake Walk Editor, Allen A. Eaton, Worcester.

Grind Editor, Orson Jay, St. Albans.

Assistant Grind Editors, Harry M. Albert, Waterbury, Conn.; Peary Berger, Burlington; Edward J. Fitzgerald, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Edward G. Hurlburt, Bridgeport, Conn.; Victor Kaziauskas, New Britain, Conn.; Charles Park, Grafton; H. Winthrop, Fitchburg, Mass.; Chester Rutkowski, Rutland; Francis J. Bachl, E. Hartford, Conn.; Ralph W. Masten, Lyndon; Henry C. Torrey, Yonkers, N. Y.; Hewitt I. Varney, Bristol; Frank Varrichione, Burlington; S. Loyal Wright, Chazy, N. Y.

The Business Staff

Business Manager, G. Everett Wilder, Petersham, Mass.

Advertising Manager, Samuel B. Barker, Montclair, N. J.

Circulation Manager, Robert S. [illegible], Burlington.

Assistant Managers, Phillip B. Holman, Rutland; Francis R. Gurney, Danbury, Conn.; Edward T. [illegible], Londonderry, Mass.

Medic, Elmer Woodhull, S. Hall Beach.

Assistant Medic Editors, Lorraine Austin, Burlington; Frederick M. [illegible], Greenwich, N. Y.; Clarence [illegible], Underhill; Leighton A. Sanborn, Burlington.

Women's Editor, Roberta F. Powers, Morrisville.

Assistant Editors, Marion M. Berry, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Lois Harrington, N. Bennington.

Business Manager, Margaret Anne Marlin, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Assistant Business Manager, Katherine V. Kingston, Burlington.

Photographic Editor, Emily Maslen, Hartford, Conn.

Assistant Photographic Editor, Elizabeth Mosher, N. Bennington.

Athletic Editor, Lillian Mount, Burlington.

Assistant Athletic Editor, M. Elizabeth Mandigo, Randolph.

Grind Editor, Helen LeBaron, Morrisville.

Art Editor, Helen Cunnigham, Richmond.

Assistant Grind Editors, Verna E. Carrier, Bennington; Mildred Gile, Burlington; Dorothy Sweeney, E. Jaffrey, N. H.

WINNOWINGS CALLS FOR STUDENT SUBSCRIPTIONS

Planning a num[illegible] for Winnowings [illegible] was heard and [illegible] be complete at a [illegible] noon in [illegible] North [illegible].

The college was [illegible] zones and each zone a [illegible]. The editors have [illegible] clear: "We are asking a [illegible] dents of Vermont to [illegible] port. One dollar [illegible]. Don't let the mere [illegible] cream of campus [illegible] heart die out.

A pipeful of good tobacco is the real smoke

TODAY, tomorrow, all the rest of your life, you can enjoy and keep on enjoying good tobacco in a good pipe.

"How can I pick a good pipe, and how can I tell good tobacco," you may ask. Who but yourself can answer? You'll know your own good pipe when you bite down on it.

Edgeworth may be the tobacco you're looking for. It has the distinctive flavor that men like, the slow-burning coolness; and it is rich with the aroma of fine old burley blended just right. A pipeful of Edgeworth is the real smoke.

Why not try Edgeworth? You can buy it anywhere in the 15c tin—or, if you wish, write for a generous sample packet — free. Address: Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a combination of good tobaccos—selected carefully and blended especially for pipe-smoking. Its quality and flavor never change. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—"Ready-Rubbed" and "Plug Slice." All sizes—15¢ pocket package to pound humidor tin.—Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

Our Proposal Is This

..... You have certain ideas about the way in which you would like to dress...Perhaps you can walk into a store and tell the salesman exactly what you want...Or, on the other hand, maybe you can't quite tell...until you've seen something which strikes your fancy.

In either case, the simplest way to fulfill your wishes quickly, is to insist on seeing Braeburns

Styled in an entirely different manner—With Two Trousers

$35 $40 $45

Hayes & Carney, Inc.

195-7 Bank St., Near Majestic

Open Evenings

The Old Reliable

Printed Silk Crepe Dresses

$6.98 and $8.98

Smart Classroom and Campus Frocks of washable silk crepe, in navy, black, brown, green, tweed prints. Sizes 16 to 20. Unusual values.

Now that the daily routine of College Life has been established there will be many spare moments for reading. In the University Store there is a LENDING LIBRARY of the latest fiction, many books of travel and subjects and general interest and a special Reference Section devoted to titles recommended by members of the faculty.

Watch these ads for announcements of new titles and short reviews.

SPORTING NEWS

INTERFRATERNITY TOUCH FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

LEAGUE A

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, bye

Tau Epsilon Phi, October 13, Sigma Phi — October 21

Independents, October 15, Alpha Tau Omega — October 27

Phi Mu Delta, October 17, Phi Delta Theta — October 23

LEAGUE B — November 3 — WINNER

Phi Sigma Delta, October 14, Sigma Delta — October 22

Sigma Nu, October 16, Delta Psi — October 28

Kappa Sigma, October 20, Zeta Chi — October 24

Lamda Iota, bye

Green and Gold Victorious

(Continued from page 1)

[illegible] ball in the Coast Guard's [illegible] on the 20-yard line.

Fourth Quarter

After an exchange of punts, Hard[illegible] Coast Guard back, ran one [illegible] quick kicks back to the [illegible] This was the only time [illegible] threatened and Vermont [illegible] in imminent danger of being [illegible]. However, the line held [illegible] Vermont received the ball on [illegible] punted to the Coast [illegible] yard line, and on the first [illegible] threw a ten-yard pass to [illegible] Aronson made a beautiful [illegible] end fumbled, and Dinniman [illegible] for the Green and Gold. [illegible] few plays Winant tossed a [illegible] to Jay who side-stepped [illegible] the field for a twenty-yard [illegible] was shifty, clever work. At [illegible] Winant stepped back and [illegible] bullet-like pass to Durfey, already over the goal line, for the second score. Tom Collins kicked the extra point. The game ended a few minutes later after Collins had intercepted a Sailor pass and raced to the opponents' 35-yard line. Final score—Vermont 13, Coast Guard 0.

The starting line-ups:

Coast Guard		Vermont
Madacey, l.e.		l.e., Allerton
Jordan, l.t.		l.t., Cohen, M.
Halstead, l.g.		l.g., Cohen, H.
Stubbs, c.		c., Dinniman
Unger, r.g.		r.g., Farmer
Zittle, l.t.		l.t., Donaldson
Suydam, l.e.		l.e., Durfey
Burns, q.b.		q.b., Winant
David, l.h.b.		l.h.b., Jay
Harding, r.h.b.		r.h.b., Heaton
Forney, f.b.		f.b., Collins

Time—Four 15-minute periods.
Referee—Pickens of Dartmouth.
Umpire—Elliott of Colgate.

RULES PUBLISHED FOR FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT

Touch Football Season Starts This Week—Frats Are Divided Into Two Leagues to Compete for Championship

REGULATIONS SIMILAR TO THOSE LAST YEAR

[illegible]ng to the plans completed by [illegible]rtment of Physical Education [illegible]fraternity touch football sea[illegible] off to a start yesterday after[illegible] the back campus with a con[illegible]en Sigma Phi and Tau Ep[illegible]

[illegible] interest has been shown to [illegible] All of the teams being well [illegible] and taking advantage of [illegible] weather to get extra practice. [illegible]e brought to the attention [illegible] teams that the entrance [illegible] dollar is payable before [illegible] Also it should be known [illegible]se of a forfeit, the other [illegible]ms in the tournament, as [illegible] had won.

The fraternities are divided into two [illegible] with the winner in each divi[illegible] for the championship title [illegible] November 3. The teams in [illegible] consist of Sigma Alpha Ep[illegible] Epsilon Phi, Sigma Phi, In[illegible] Alpha Tau Omega, Phi [illegible] and Phi Delta Theta. Those [illegible]; League B are Phi Sigma [illegible]ma Delta, Sigma Nu, Delta [illegible]a Sigma, Zeta Chi and [illegible]ta.

Rules for Touch Football

A. Touch football is played on a regulation football field if possible, but any field with goal lines and side lines is suitable.
   (2) A regulation football is used.
   (3) No spiked or metal-cleated shoes are allowed.
B. There are seven men on a team.
C. (1) There are four periods of fifteen plays each. Championship games have four periods of twenty plays each. Kickoff at beginning of first and third quarters does not count as a play.
   (2) Goals are changed at the end of the first and third periods, and there is an intermission of not more than ten minutes between second and third quarters.
   (3) The choice of kickoff and goal is decided as in American football.
D. The ball is kicked off in any manner from the kicking team's 40-yard line but offside penalties apply as in American football.
E. (1) When a man carrying the ball is "tagged" by an opponent or,
   (2) When the ball touches the ground on a forward, lateral, or backward pass except one from the man putting it in play, or
   (3) When the ball goes out of bounds on a pass, kick, or is carried out by a runner, it is dead and except after a kickoff ends a down.

(Continued on page 4)

STUDENT'S PERSONAL STATIONERY

Send today for samples—letterheads and envelopes, printed with name and address, also fraternity or sorority, highest quality ripple finish—boxed—choice of three colors. 200 envelopes, 200 letterheads, only $4.75. Money making agency open to live student in each college. Write for particulars. Address Dept. 624, Merchants Industries, Inc., Third and Wayne Avenues, Dayton, Ohio.

CAT'S MEOW

—Sporting Editor—

In the first home game of the season, the Catamounts came through with a nice win. This was certainly most appropriate for Coach Dunn in presenting his charges for the first time before the Vermont student body.

Some of the scores in last Saturday's football games are very interesting. Middlebury was said to be in poor shape due to injuries, yet the Mass. Aggies were able to score only one touchdown against the Black Panthers.

Bates, who gave Dartmouth a surprising amount of trouble, found much stubborn opposition from Norwich. After going scoreless for three periods, the Maine team finally won 7 to 0.

New Hampshire plays Vermont a week from Saturday and we expect the Catamounts will find some strong opposition from this quarter. A week ago New Hampshire met Boston University and tied the score 12 to 12 in the last five minutes of play. Saturday the Durham team smashed Lowell Textile 20 to 0.

The Catamounts go to Schenectady Saturday to play Union in the next game on the schedule. This ought to be a close battle with the odds about even but of course we favor Vermont to repeat last year's victory.

Results of some of last Saturday's football games with Vermont opponents in italics:

Amherst 28, Union 0.
New Hampshire 20, Lowell Textile 0.
Bates 7, Norwich 0.
Mass. Aggies 7, Middlebury 0.
Harvard 27, Springfield 0.
Rensselaer 14, Clarkson 12.
Georgia 18, Yale 14.
Brown 7, Princeton 0.
Dartmouth 74, Boston University 0.
Notre Dame 26, Navy 2.
Army 39, Swarthmore 0.
N. Y. U. 20, Villanova 6.

Phone 613 or 614
VERMONT CLEANSING CO.
SPECIALISTS IN DRY CLEANING

Men's suits pressed	$ .50
Cleaned and pressed	1.25
Dresses cleaned and pressed	1.50 up
Coats cleaned and pressed	1.50 up

DOWNYFLAKE DOUGHNUT and SANDWICH SHOPPE
Luncheonette - - - Pastry
Soda Fountain
Raspberry Turnovers, Brownies, Hermits
Cup Cakes, Coffee and Doughnuts, 10c
Doughnuts Better than the Best
Corner Church and College Streets

Coach David L. Dunn
New mentor of the Vermont Varsity football team, which defeated the U. S. Coast Guard Academy on Centennial Field Saturday.

THIRTY CANDIDATES TRY OUT FOR CROSS-COUNTRY

Some Likely-looking Track Material Among Freshmen Including a "Flying Parson"—Varsity Prospects Bright

Thirty men consisting of frosh and varsity material have been reporting daily to Coach "Archie" Post for the cross-country workouts and from all indications the harriers should go through a banner season under the handling of the varsity mentor.

Numbering among the "hopefuls" in the frosh group are Woodruff of Spaulding and Butman from Beverly, Mass., High School. All track enthusiasts remember the Flying Parson, Hal Cutbill and his exploits on the cinder path. Vermont will be able to present her own Flying Parson in the personage of Harry Butman, a graduate of Bangor Theological Seminary and the High School at Beverly, Mass., where he captained the track team in his last year. The tall strapping youngster has done the quarter in 51.3 seconds and should prove a welcome addition to Coach Post's squad.

Among those out for the varsity are Captain "Ev" Wilder, mainstay of the team last year, Hewitt Varney and Joslin, who played a prominent rôle in the success of the cross-country squad of last season. Up from the 1933 frosh team are Colburn and Hadley, outstanding tracksters of the Kitten squad. Both are seasoned veterans and should make the varsity with ease. Numerous meets away from home should provide an incentive to those endeavoring to make their mark in track on the hill.

The cross-country schedule is as follows:

Oct. 18—Vt. Frosh vs. Saranac Lake High School at Saranac.
Oct. 25—Vt. Varsity vs. Amherst at Amherst.
Nov. 8—Vt. Varsity and Frosh vs. Norwich Varsity and Frosh at Burlington.
Nov. 15—Vt. Varsity and Frosh vs. Middlebury Varsity and Frosh at Middlebury.

Masque and Sandal will hold a meeting at the Theta House, Thursday, October 16, at four o'clock.

Frosh rules for girls will be issued the last of this week. Freshman week is to begin Monday, October 30.

ELITE BEAUTY PARLOR
$1.25 Special $1.25
SHAMPOO and FINGER WAVE
3 Center St. Phone 938

SPECIAL
Discount to Students on GAS and OIL
UNIVERSITY SERVICE STATION
Corner East Ave. and Williston Rd.
100% SERVICE

VT. ACADEMY ELEVEN DOWNS FRESHMEN IN SEASON'S FIRST GAME

Final Score is 20 to 7—Smith Makes Only Touchdown for Kittens in First Quarter—Westegrew Scores for Academy on 80-yard Run

LACK OF RESERVES IS HANDICAP TO KITTENS

Saturday afternoon the freshman football team opened its season by losing to Vermont Academy at Saxtons River by the score of 20 to 7.

In the first quarter the Frosh, with Smith carrying the ball, rushed down the field for the first touchdown of the game. During this period the Kittens had the upper hand and were by far the stronger team. Evidently they spent themselves in this quarter as the final score would indicate.

In the second period, the Frosh had the ball in Vermont Academy's territory practically the whole time. Once when Vermont had the ball within twenty yards of the goal, the Academy substituted their entire eleven men. Then shortly afterward Westegrew, scrappy Academy quarterback, made a beautiful 80-yard end run for a touchdown, the first for the Academy. Fullback Kenney of the Academy made two touchdowns in the third quarter.

Contrary to expectations, the Frosh had a better line than ever before and the backs worked superbly. It was the Kitten's game as far as territory covered was concerned. They made far more first downs than the prep school team but a lack of experience and reserves proved a handicap. Four men on the yearling squad were injured, but they are expected to be back in condition by the time of the next game. In all the Green and Gold made ten first downs to four for Vermont Academy.

Coach Tully's chief play was barred by the referee on the grounds that it violated the rules. This is a tricky play and a sure ground gainer. It was the one that the famous Oberlander-Tully combination made prominent back when Tully was on the long end of the pass.

The line-ups:

Vt. Academy		Freshmen
Donnelly (Bowdansky), l.e.		l.e., Howard (Sylvester)
Simon (Sabo), l.t.		l.t., Morgan (Wegner)
Brody (Hawley), l.g.		l.g., Denhoff
White (Kendrick, Casale), c.		c., Faucher (White, Brown)
Potts (DeBellis), r.g.		r.g., Delfausse
Sevelis (Kabidon), r.t.		r.t., Powell (Cochran)
Schmarr (Nelson), r.e.		r.e., Suitor (Cross)
Crupi (Westegrew), q.b.		q.b., Hatch
Scott (Toolin), l.h.		l.h., Bartow (Mintzer)
MacDonald (Tofson), r.h.		r.h., Smith (Brasky)
Davis (Kenney), f.b.		f.b., Bowka

Politician: Congratulate me, dear. I got the nomination.
Wife: Honestly?
Politician: Now, why bring that up?

ALEX VERRET
112 CHURCH ST
The Health Food Center
FANCY GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES
FREE DELIVERY
Telephones: 2070, 2071, 2072

For Quick Service and Clean Wholesome Food at Popular Prices
Try
HENRY'S DINER
155 Bank St.

WILLARD TOURIST INN
HOME COOKED FOOD WITH HOME ATMOSPHERE
We cater to college business
HOME MADE PIES and SUNDAY CHICKEN DINNERS—Our Specialty
WE SOLICIT YOUR BANQUETS
Mrs. Bruce Macdonald
69 N. Willard St. Tel. 2666

LANUX, INTERNATIONAL JOURNALIST TO SPEAK

(Continued from page 1)

A Man of the Age

War Service

100 Lectures—100 Days

An Internationalist

SOPHOMORES DROWN OUT FRESHMEN IN FIGHT

No Dead or Wounded

Smoker and Dance

RULES PUBLISHED FOR FOOTBALL TOURNAMENT

SUPPLEMENTARY RULES

I Aiming at the idea of no personal contact it has been decided that the section where blocking is legal rests upon the offensive man. Penalties: for blocking—10 yards; for offside—5 yards; for holding 20 yards.

II Since the kicker cannot be rushed, the offensive side may not cross the line of scrimmage until the ball has been kicked.

III There shall be five-minute rest between halves, and a possible three timeouts to each team per half.

IV In case of a tie, each team shall have five more plays.

V In case of two kickouts on consecutive kickoffs, the ball shall be given to the opponents where it crosses the side lines.

PRESS CLUB TRYOUTS TO BEGIN YEAR'S WORK

Shoe Hat tasher, what am I to do without a ridin habit?

Pat Get the walking habit.

Notre Dame Juggler

TWO PRIZES OFFERED FOR ORIGINAL ESSAYS

(Continued from page 1)

On the Constitution

Freshman Interest in Debating

(Continued from page 1)

You also get

"Half a Desk Set"

When you buy a Parker Duofold PEN

Duofold Jr. Pen $5
with Base $10

$5 buys this polished Italian marble desk Base—tapered pen end included ... Pocket Duofold ... Complete set, as ... Pen (pocket ... $10.

This Guaranteed-for-Life Pen, with the Bonus Point That Flatters Your Hand, Is Like 2 Pens for the Price of One

Do you know that by having a Parker Duofold pocket Pen, you can now have one of these beautiful Desk Sets too, without having to buy a second pen? You save this extra expense because this Guaranteed-for-Life Pen is convertible.

Parker convertibility means that one Pen takes the place of separate pens for your pocket and Desk Set. By a slight change, the Pen's pocket cap is replaced with a tapered pen end for Desk Set use. Presto! Off with the taper, and back with the pocket cap, when you go out again.

We Pay a Bonus for Every Duofold Point

Parker points flatter your handwriting. For squads of post-graduate point-smiths give Parker Pens their Pressureless Touch.

They are paid a bonus for every point that survives 11 merciless inspections. Any point that fails one test, fails all, and its maker pays a forfeit.

Yet 7 out of 8 are bonus points because we limit the number a man may make a day, and he has time to make each one as good as his best.

Parker Duofold Pens are Guaranteed for Life. They hold 17.4% more ink than average, size for size. In sparkling jewel-like colors, their streamlined Permanite barrels are non-breakable. Select your Parker at any pen counter. Pens $5, $7, $10; Pencils to match $2.50 to $5. Desk Bases $3.75 and up. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin.

Duofold Jr. Pen ... Pencil ... match ... Both are ... vertible. ... Pens $... $10; ... $2.50 ...

Parker Duofold
PENS GUARANTEED FOR LIFE
$5 $7 $10

A Full Line of Parker Pens and Pencils on display at

F. J. Preston & Son, Inc.
JEWELERS 17 Upper Church St.

The Vermont Cynic

VOLUME 49 | BURLINGTON, VERMONT, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1930 | NUMBER 8

TWENTY PERCENT AVAIL SELVES OF UNIVERSITY SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

Sixty-three of Freshmen Hold Honor Scholarships—Six Given Debating Awards While Two Are Similarly Recognized for Oratory

HONOR STUDENTS QUOTA GREATER THAN AVERAGE

[illegible] freshmen who entered [illegible] at the opening of the [illegible] approximately 20 percent [illegible] advantage of earned

[illegible] with the number en[illegible] by the scholarship route [illegible] reveals the interest[illegible] this year's quota of honor [illegible] considerably greater than [illegible] There are seventy-one stu[illegible] present who are availing [illegible] of scholarships, compared [illegible] average of sixty-five, and [illegible] total of forty-one who used [illegible] last year

[illegible] the earned scholarships as [illegible] is found that out of the [illegible] sixty-three are honor scholar[illegible] granted to the girl and boy [illegible] ranked highest of their sex scho[illegible] in their preparatory school [illegible]

[illegible] are debate scholarships granted [illegible] teams coming first and second [illegible] state debate conference.

Two are oratorical scholarships [illegible] are granted after a somewhat [illegible] state-wide competition, [illegible] which the State is divided into [illegible] five districts with three schol[illegible] going to the winners in each [illegible] The two highest in each [illegible] compete for three more valu[illegible] scholarships.

For Scholastic Honor

Those using honor scholarships at the university are: Thornton F. Hard [illegible] Brattleboro High School, Ruby C. [illegible] of Barton Academy, Richard [illegible] of Brighton High School, Helen [illegible] Johnson of Brighton High School, [illegible] Farr of Bristol High School, [illegible] Whitney of Burlington High [illegible] Saiger of Burlington High [illegible] Stella Buker of Cambridge [illegible] School, Alden M. Webster of [illegible] High School, Thelma C. [illegible] of Derby Academy, Ronald [illegible] of Enosburg Falls High [illegible] Bixby of Essex Center [illegible] Alden J. Spicer of Essex [illegible] High School, Mary Fielder [illegible] Junction High School, Cleone [illegible] was granted her scholar[illegible] 329, of Fairfield Academy, [illegible] E. Durick of Fair Haven [illegible] School, Martha R. Bates of [illegible] High School, Rosilio [illegible] of Hardwick Academy, [illegible] Hathorn of Hartford High [illegible] Albert A. Brosseau of High[illegible] High School, Ellen Lyman of [illegible] High School, Elizabeth L. [illegible] Jericho High School, W. P. [illegible] was granted the scholar[illegible] 1929 of Johnson High School, [illegible] A. Dutten of Leland and [illegible] Seminary, Evelyn M. Chamber[illegible] and Grey Seminary, [illegible] Powell of Milton High School, [illegible] Osborn of Montpelier High [illegible] Peterson of Montpelier [illegible] Edna Goodrich of People's [illegible] Henry C. Lunna of New[illegible] High School, Kenneth [illegible] of Newport High School, [illegible] R. Fauchs of North Troy [illegible] Kendrick R. Richmond [illegible] High School, Helen B. [illegible] Orleans High School, Kath[illegible] Shaw of Peacham Academy, [illegible] Martin of Plainfield High [illegible] M. Mullen of Proctor [illegible] Addison C. Pond of Rich[illegible] School, Joseph H. Gannon [illegible] High School, Lydia E. [illegible] Richmond High School, [illegible] of Rochester High [illegible] A. Brown of Spaulding [illegible] Gordon L. Davis of [illegible] High School, Mary Bennett [illegible] High School, Grace [illegible] High School, Marvin [illegible] of Swanton High School, [illegible] Hemingway of Swanton High [illegible] Margaret R. Kinsman of Thet[illegible] John L. Connelly of [illegible] High School, Eleanor V. [illegible] Underhill High School, [illegible] Fishman of Vergennes [illegible] Mary I. Young of Ver[illegible] School, Frances L. Os[illegible] Academy, Fletcher

(Continued on page 6)

Bates Opens U. V. M. Forensic Season in Fourth Annual Encounter Monday

Veterans of Three Former Engagements With Maine College Will Again Participate in Oregon Cross-examination Contest at Lewiston—Four on Vermont Squad

Bates, whose teams are frequently of championship calibre, will open Vermont's debating season Monday night at Lewiston. The debate is also Bates' first encounter of the season. The Maine team meets an English-speaking German university team the following night in a radio broadcast contest.

The debate this year is the fourth in an annual series. Bates having twice opened Vermont's debating season and twice closed it. After a lapse of almost thirty years, during which no Vermont forensic team traveled north, relations were resumed between the two colleges with an off-campus debate at Brattleboro. This was the first off-campus contest in which any Vermont team has ever participated and together with a simultaneous home-and-away engagement with Yale University, closed Vermont's debating season that year. One of the participants in that debate, Louis Lisman, then a freshman, will be on the team which meets Bates Monday night. The question the first year was, "Resolved, That democracy is a failure."

Is Advertising Beneficial?

The benefits of advertising furnished the topic of dispute the following year, when Vermont met Bates at Lewiston. Besides Lisman, who again debated that year, George Nelson, '31, who is also on this year's team, participated in that engagement. The debate was the first for Vermont and the third for Bates that year.

Last year Bates closed the Vermont season in Burlington, with the emergence of woman from the home as the subject of the debate. Two junior varsity men earned their berths on the varsity in that contest. George Nelson captained the team.

No decision has ever been rendered in these debates. A agreement between the two teams. The elimination of the cross-examination feature was proposed in line with modern debate tendencies.

Another feature of this annual series is the Oregon cross-examination system which has been used in every one of these meets. When this method is employed, one speaker presents the entire case for his team, a second speaker cross-examines him, and a third speaker delivers the entire rebuttal. Lisman has twice cross-examined and Nelson has twice delivered the constructive case. Both

(Continued on page 6)

AUDITORS ARE PLEASED WITH FACULTY RECITAL AT U. V. M. GYMNASIUM

Musical Work Of The Misses DeVolt And Marston And Of Mme. Bradish Is Well Received

Madame Elizabeth Bradish dramatic soprano, Miss Charlotte deVolt, violinist, and Miss Marion Marston, pianist, of the department of music, entertained a large and enthusiastic audience at a recital last Wednesday evening in the University gymnasium.

The audience was very appreciative. All three of the musicians have previously represented the University in concerts and recitals.

Miss deVolt is an exceptionally good violinist. Miss Marston's numbers were very well handled. Madame Bradish's singing did not belie her reputation.

The program follows:

Sonata in G Minor ..... Handel
Andante, un poco lento
Allegro
Adagio
Allegro (Tempo di gigo)
MISS DEVOLT

Arietta ..... Lee
Sonata in C Major (Vivace) ..... Scarlatti
Jig ..... Loeilly-MacDowell
MISS MARSTON

My Lovely Lelia ..... Wilson
The Hills of Gruzia ..... Mednikoff
The Last Song ..... Rogers
Ratorna Vincitor, from "Aida" ..... Verdi
MRS. BRADISH

Ave Maria ..... Schubert
Cadiz ..... Albeniz
Gypsy Dance No. 1 ..... Nachez
MISS DEVOLT

Gavotte, from Classic Symphony ..... Prokofieff
Valse, Op. 64 No. 2 ..... Chopin
The Island Spell ..... Ireland
Danse ..... Debuzzy
MISS MARSTON

Clair de Lune ..... Szule
Hymne au Soleil ..... Georges
Traeume ..... Wagner
In dem Shatten Meiner Locken ..... Wolf
Der Erikoenig ..... Schubert
MRS. BRADISH

PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL TO ADVISE PLEDGES

[illegible] Pan-Hellenic Council will [illegible] during the pledging of [illegible] and next [illegible] meetings. Tuesday, October [illegible] at that evening in the Old Mill Chapel for the purpose of explaining the regulations of the fraternities to the entire [illegible] and the meaning of Pan-Hellenic.

Acting on the suggestions of the National Pan Hellenic Council, [illegible] known as N. P. C. a definite [illegible] is to be carried out each month the present week being the [illegible] of the constitution and the [illegible] rules.

The Pan Hellenic Council is the women's interfraternity organization at Vermont; its purpose is to promote a friendly feeling among sororities, to further the spirit of democracy, and to establish the rules and customs of rushing. The Council consists of two members from each fraternity, a senior and a junior; the offices are held in rotation by each sorority. The officers this year are Ruth Field, president, and Hilda Smith, secretary.

"I've Got a First-rate Bunch," Says Superintendent of Converse Hall

"Well, to tell the truth, I'm just about getting acquainted with this year's crop of fellows, but so far I've got a first-rate bunch," declared Mr. Abe Langworthy, Converse Hall's superintendent janitor for the past twenty-five years, when asked by a CYNIC reporter what he thought of the residents of the freshman dorm this year.

"How does the number of fellows living at dorm compare with former years?" inquired the reporter. "I understand that the dorm isn't as well filled as it used to be."

"I should say," said Mr. Langworthy making a hurried mental calculation, "that there are 64 students living in the dorm this year, and that this number compares very favorably with past years when the average was about 80."

"Do any upperclassmen live in the dorm?"

"Only the senior advisors, and there are only five of them this year. About 20 sophomores wanted admittance here this year, but we turned them away."

"When was the last time that Converse was filled?" was the next question of the inquisitive reporter.

"Why I really can't remember when we were filled up; but," he added, "the largest number of students ever to live here was when the Phi Mu Delts had the entire north wing to themselves. There was 115 then, although some of the rooms in middle and south weren't taken."

"Do you have any idea about what courses the fellows are taking and where they come from?"

"I haven't figured that up yet, but here are the registration slips of each student," he said, reaching into his desk for a pile of papers, "and you can figure that out right here and now if you want to."

"O. K.," said the reporter, "I don't care if I do."

And here are the reporter's hastily compiled statistics:

Eighteen students from Massachusetts, 16 students from Vermont, 12 students from New York, 6 students from Connecticut, 4 students from New Hampshire, and 1 student from Virginia.

As all the registration slips didn't have the student's course on it, the best information that could be arrange is as follows:

General Science	6
Commerce and Economics	5
Pre-med.	3
Social Science	3
Engineering	3
Chemistry	3
Classical	3
Literary Scientific	3
Other arts and science	8

"What sort of discipline do you have at the dorm?" asked the reporter.

"Well, I'm a pretty good disciplinarian," laughed Mr. Langworthy, "but I don't aggravate anyone you understand, and I've helped a good many of them out of pretty tight squeezes."

A large number of underclassmen made application for admission to the Vermont branch of the A. I. E. E. at a meeting of the society last Tuesday. A demonstration of the photoelectric cell was given by R. F. Bigwood.

On Thursday, October 9, the senior class in electrical engineering was invited to the traveling exhibit of the General Electric Co., featuring many new devices in electric meters and power measurement.

J. V. WOMEN DEBATERS TO TALK TO FARMERS

Women's debating is getting an early start this year and under the coaching of Professor Carleton the coed teams will undertake a more ambitious program than they attempted hitherto.

The junior varsity goes into action on November 3 when a team composed of Lena Cochran, '31, Laura Johnson '32, Carolyn Taft, '33, and Sylvia Boyd '32 go to Charlotte to debate before the Grange there on the question, "Resolved, that every automobile owner in Vermont be compelled to purchase liability insurance at the time of registration." Sylvia Boyd and Laura Johnson will uphold the affirmative, and Lena Cochran and Carolyn Taft, the negative.

All of the women on the junior varsity team have had previous experience in debating. Lena Cochran, vice-president of Tau Kappa Alpha national honorary debating society, made the varsity her freshman year. Sylvia Boyd, of West Newton, Mass., was on the freshman team which last year won a decision over the men's champion class team on the question of women's emergence from the home. Laura Johnson and Carolyn Taft, who participated in the debate with Middlebury last year, were members of the Wallingford High School team which won the 1928 state championship in debating.

Y. W. C. A. SCHEDULES HEAVY FALL PROGRAM

Y. W. C. A., having successfully completed its membership campaign is planning a busy year and promises something of interest for all women who have joined. Under the leadership of Lillian Mount, '32, the council has drawn up a sizeable program of activities.

A general meeting of all members will take place on Thursday, October [illegible] to discuss plans and to meet Miss Florence Maddock, new state secretary of the Y. W. C. A. On Saturday, October 25 the association will conduct a rally in the form of a trip to Mount Philo. During the conference which will be held after the climb, Miss Marion Gary, state Y president, will speak. On Saturday, December 13 the Y. W. C. A. is planning to hold a Japanese Bazaar in the afternoon and to sponsor a dance at the B. H. S. gymnasium in the evening.

The University group plans to cooperate with the state Y. W. C. A. in regard to some form of social service. Thus the association, whose activity and importance on the campus decreased somewhat during the past few years, hopes to make a new name for itself. There is still opportunity for every woman interested in joining to do so by giving her name and fee to some council member.

COWLES, CONFERENCE CHAIRMAN, SEES OPEN HOUSE NIGHT SUCCESS

Interfraternity Council Head Says Freshmen Take Advantage of House Invitations

NEXT FRATERNITY DATE SET FOR TUESDAY NIGHT

"Thus far, the fraternity open house [illegible] have been very successful," declared Richard Cowles, president of the interfraternity council in a CYNIC interview. He explained that freshmen were taking advantage of the opportunity to visit the fraternity houses in great numbers, and that it promised to be a good fraternity year.

"Freshmen can and should," he advised, "visit all fraternity houses even if they have no intention of going fraternity as it offers a splendid opportunity to become acquainted with the other fellows at college."

The next open house night is Tuesday, the twenty-first of October, while the following Thursday is the last. Rushing dates will be given out the following day, which is Friday, October 24.

COBB ISSUES CALL FOR SOPHOMORES TO SCRUB

Juniors are advised by the Ariel board that appointments for individual Ariel photographs will be made on Wednesday and Thursday in the Old Mill corridor. The work will be done by Warren K. Vantine of Boston from November 3 to 8.

Anyone who does not have an appointment made at that time must see James Marvin, '32, at the Delta Psi house. A list of juniors prepared by the administrative office is now posted on the official bulletin board in the Old Mill. Any individual who entered with the class of '32 whose name is not on the list should notify Raymond Cobb, editor-in-chief, or Roberta Powers, women's editor, immediately. All those whose names do appear on the list and who appeared in the '30 or '31 Ariel should also notify Cobb. This is very important because the staff is unable to make up a definite dummy of the yearbook until they know on how many juniors to plan.

All sophomores are eligible to scrub Ariel and should report to Cobb for the editorial side, to Everett Wilder at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house for the business side, to Abraham Maislen at the Tau Epsilon Phi house for sports and to Robert Morse at the Sigma Phi house for photography. Only those who have scrubbed are considered for the position of editor or business manager of the Ariel when class elections are held for the purpose.

SWAN TALKS TO FROSH WOMEN ON EMOTIONS

Dr. E. L. Swan of the American Association of Social Service an expert on sex hygiene, spoke to the freshman women on emotions last Tuesday afternoon in the Old Mill Chapel. He explained that his purpose was threefold: to make his hearers happy as a group and individually, to teach them how to adjust themselves to emotional situations, and to aid in improving their personality.

On Wednesday afternoon, Doctor Swan lectured on "Successes and Failures", today he will discuss marriage. The doctor gave an informal talk on social hygiene at Grassmount Tuesday evening for the junior and senior women. Each woman was privileged to present her own problems and was answered by the lecturer.

YOU'VE TRIED THE REST - NOW TRY THE BEST

CARL'S DINETTE

15 Upper Church Street

An old friend in a new location

The Vermont Cynic

EDITORS

Associate Editors

Managing Editor

Assistant Managing Editor

Business Manager

Assistant Business Managers

Published every Tuesday during the college year

JOE DEPARTS THIS LIFE

THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH

FORUM

FRESHMAN RULES

The Change Is Coming

A Change For The Better

(M. Coll. Penny)

Traditions fall before the progress of modernism and University traditions are no exception. McGill's ancient and outstanding traditions have departed one by one. Our Theatre Night became the Red and White ball with a radical change in character and with each year's passing it is gradually losing its prestige. Moreover the freshman attitude has undergone a decided change. At the College of Education, for instance, freshmen have not had to undergo any form of a probation for the past two years. Even at the Faculty of Law and Medicine freshmen are not under any.

The sophomores seem to be content with a passing of authority over the freshmen. They no longer try to impose petty rules and regulations which, in the past, aroused the freshmen's resentment. Moreover the freshmen are no longer putting the sophomores to all kinds of petty annoyances by ridiculous demands. At the school of Education there have even been established the practice of mixing.

There has been very little of the humorous traffic-directing waiting parties with pies, hose and cork plugging to parade at C. E. A. The sophomores seem to be anxious to cultivate the acquaintance of the newcomers more amicably. This new reaction in itself creates a wholly desirable attitude.

A Change For The Better

(McGill Penny)

Traditions fall before the progress of modernism and University traditions are no exception. McGill's ancient and outstanding traditions have departed one by one. Our Theatre Night became the Red and White ball with a radical change in character and with each year's passing it is gradually losing its prestige. Moreover the freshmen are no longer putting the sophomores to all kinds of petty annoyances by ridiculous demands. At the School of Education there have even been established the practice of mixing.

There has been very little of the humorous traffic-directing waiting parties with pies, hose and cork plugging to parade at C. E. A. The sophomores seem to be anxious to cultivate the acquaintance of the newcomers more amicably. This new reaction in itself creates a wholly desirable attitude.

With the memory of last Saturday's fiasco fresh in mind, it would be well to consider the advisability of continuing the Bag Scrap. As the contest has worked out for the past few years, the sophomores who have ventured onto the field have promptly been the object of a concerted freshman rush that lasted as long as the sophomores had any clothes left on their bodies. The avowed object of the contest—to tear a couple of canvas sacks off the head—was easily taken care of by a few of the frosh. The remainder devoted their attention to the denuding process.

We are entirely out of sympathy with the Bag Scrap and all that pertains to it. It is a silly and childish contest reminiscent of the days when freshman-sophomore fights were a feature of college life. It is time that the students on this campus realized that such nonsense with gentlemen is unbecoming of a true sport.

The usual excuse of supporting any custom, however, is that the majority of the freshmen want it. Such a statement is a fallacy. Many a freshman would like to be thought a sport in this matter but the spectacle of various men rushing about a field in a state of undress on a cold day is not a bit inducive.

In this connection we are glad to point to the case of the co-ed who was sufficiently aroused to publicly utter her disgust of the whole matter.

We are burdened with too many of those traditions that have nothing of substance in them. Now is the time to weed them out. They are sure to die as the mental age of college students increases. Let's see a little open-mindedness instead of a keep-it-hidden cold spirit. Colleges all over the country are coming into the realization that we are moving in a different age from that in which class-scraps were in vogue. Let's show the way to the other Maine colleges.

Maine Campus.

The Newer Attitude

On making its début last week the class of '34 was greeted in a manner that is without precedent. Instead of arriving in two's and three's and wandering around aimlessly, the men were met by a group of upperclassmen who were thoroughly schooled in the role of guide and counsellor which they were to play.

The freshmen were divided into small groups with each group having an upperclassman as its leader. Throughout the first week, which is usually a hectic one for a freshman, these seniors and juniors did all in their power to assist the new men in becoming oriented and shared all their problems. Group meetings were held regularly, evening programs were put on which served excellently as "ice breakers." During the week the new men were acquainted with the different student organizations and clubs, and their possibilities were outlined to them.

In looking back over that week the vast amount of good that was accomplished is readily discernible, and the members of the faculty who did the planning and the group leaders are to be commended for their excellent work. Other colleges and universities are treating their freshmen in a similar manner. The trend today seems to be away from thoughtless hazing that was akin to semi-barbarianism.

There remains one more step to make this new treatment a real success. The entire student body must become inculcated with the spirit of the movement—to make it clearer, a week of being treated as a gentleman followed by a week of thoughtless, unsupervised hazing will destroy all the good that has been accomplished.

Springfield Student.

Amherst Hazing Attitude Adopted by Two Colleges

(Amherst Student)

Following the policy of abolishing all forms of freshman hazing established last winter by the authorities of Amherst College, word now comes from Dartmouth that Palaeopitus, the student governing body, has forbidden all hazing of first year men. The class of 1934 will be the first entering group in many generations which has escaped this rigorous and humorous introduction into college life, although hazing has been gradually dying out at Hanover in recent years. The last affair of this kind was the cap-burning last winter. Incidentally, Palaeopitus has 850 shapely paddles on its hands.

Shortly following this announcement, President Day of Union College declared himself opposed to all forms of hazing, although he is to allow the annual freshman-sophomore cane rush there this year. All forms of hazing are forbidden by legal statute in the State of New York where the custom is frowned upon by a large majority of schools in that state.

Interest in the proposed Burlington Airport has been stimulated by the recent visit of Mr. Stewart Astles, the manager of the Burlington Airport, to the campus. Mr. Astles has stated that he will secure a good transport pilot if enough people will 'show up' at the meeting. Things will be under way in no time at all, and a good start can be made. Those who wish more information on the subject should speak to George ('Buzz') Collins, or the undersigned, who will be glad to help clear up anything not understood.

"All members of the faculty and student body are cordially invited and it is hoped that the meeting will be a representative gathering."

Especially characteristic are the readiness with which "the undersigned and his roommate," as well as the students and faculty men who attended the meeting Wednesday night, responded to the call and their indifference to obstacles which fainter hearts would have regarded as insuperable.

It augurs well. The day when the plane will supersede the flivver cannot be too far away.

THE W... CONV...

Review of the W...

Weather: ... goose.

Stocks: Buy ... sage, and get on ...

Blondes: On ... Literature: K... H. E. Bates: A ... evenings. It will ... Of course if you have a ...

Religion: Two ... will attend chapel ...

Movies: No place ...

Education: Nova ... heard that term before.

U. V. M. Instructors ... cavalry classes put ... selected audience of ... front of the gym. ... cuts...the group that ... sage by the unofficial ... the 0007% ham ... gain prices at the K... yellow Ford ... the ... versity Store 100% ... the frosh that try to ... The sophs that ... seniors.

Poetry...of a sort:
When she is near ...
And often calculate the ...
That must pass on ...
Takes courage to ...
There's comfort in the ...
Am saving dough by ...

We often wonder ... engineers invariably ... struments so that ... ting the lay of the ... or other is sure to ... vision. We saw one ... scope was so well ... turned by itself to ... ing form of a young ... the college green.

That freshman on the ... the one that is doing ... studies, has annexed ... girl and knows North ... fers for sale at bar... Quandary, 1930 model. Two Dilemmas, mak... horns in excellent ...

Delta chapter Certa ... weekly meeting yester... were late in getting ... on account of the absence ... Soror Ness said that ... hunt up a quorum ... quorums were nasty ... for the scribe to spell. ... of dispensing with ... necessary evil. Soror ... Niff, Nock, Mont More... got together on the ... finally succeeded in ... others out. But S. N. ... ties were not in the ... ress, dug up something ... old rules which said that ... necessary to a meeting ... out of action for the ... evening, gathering her ... and Ec. notes off the ... was brought up to ... pledges from hanging ... and stealing heavy ... girls before their ... portunity of cooling ... customary forty-five ... waiting room. ... warmed the air in ... vicinity with a talk on ... of the principles of the ... after S. L. Pynkham ... nette. All the other ... Stevie until Lydia came ... aloft a bottle of perox... compound with Stevie ... girls agreed to consider ... application...five ... Pynkham was out of ... cracker crumbs out of ... complaint was registered ... Coombs, who was ... playing her pin ... cheerleading. Grand E... Bliggs announced that ... tion was not studying ... and was going out on ... also that if they did ... more, the rest of the ... forced to study to keep ... the lead in scholarship ... to loyalty was made ... tained Bronx cheering ... section, who seem to ... that intellect is appre... lege man. The meeting ... disorder.

Miss Nanette Elsa ... secretary of the fresh... bends her efforts into ... out the iron railing ... lawn in front of her ... residence. She may ... properly, give an ev... ning before dinner.

Embarrassing mo... terously greeted by ... frosh from back home ... ken, who knew not ...

Student (in Cam... waiter, is this whi...
Waiter: Can't you ...
Student: No, I ...
Waiter: Well, that ... does it make?—Penn Boul.

Professor Evans Sees Students Intensive, Campus Glorious here

...ate far more in-... than I even ...et Prof. Paul D. ...ead of the history ... recent interview ...awed by untamili... upon which he ...ed a question con... chosen subject: ...partment of history ...ar?" he asked.

...ent gesture of his ... Professor Evans ...cellent we have 150 ... of my courses where ...exceed only 30. The ... the progres in the ...year. I think."

...al Science Did It

... account for this in... the surprised reporter ... believed the history ...ted themselves only ...

